Audit, Insurance Approved By County Court

A county audit report and an insurance bid were approved by Lynn County Commissioners Court Monday during regular session. Keith Reeger of Love, Hays & Co. presented an auditor's report for the county for the year ending Dec. 31, 1992, saying "You're in good shape as far as your financial statements go," and noting that the county had collected about 97 percent of taxes, which was a good rate. Commissioners approved the audit as presented.

In other business, commissioners opened insurance bids, accepting the only bid submitted, from Walker-Solomon Insurance Agency for liability and heavy equipment. The court also opened two bids submitted for purchasing a 1986 Ford from the Sheriff's Dept., and rejected both bids.

The court approved paying bills, including a $25 annual membership fee to Wes-Tex RC&D.

At the close of the session, Lynn County Home Demonstration Agent Rebecca Dimak gave a short report on current activities to commissioners.

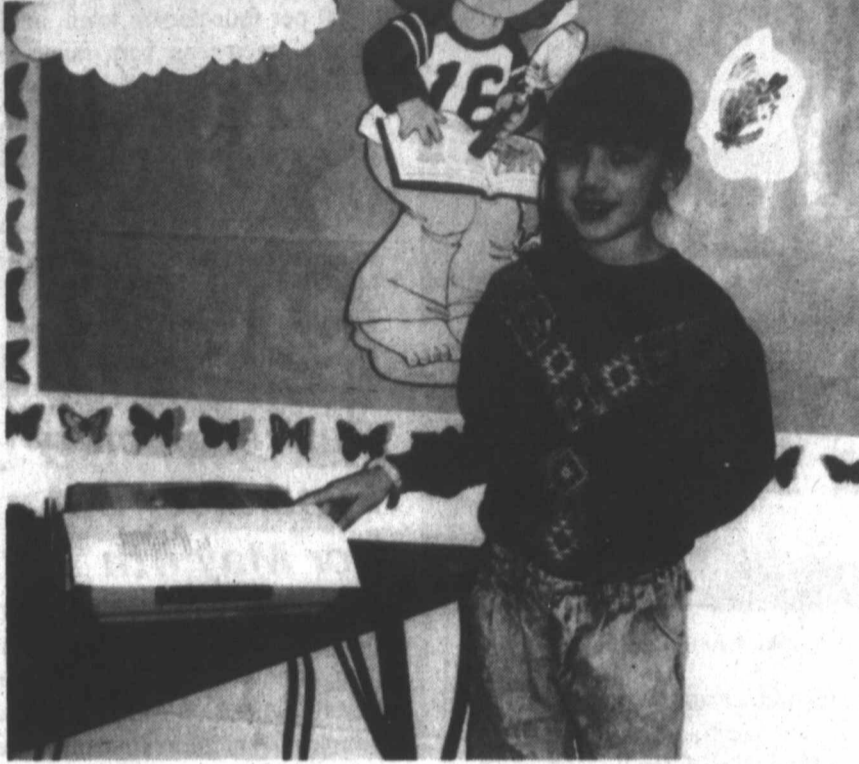

All commissioners were present at the meeting.

County Voters To Mark Choices On Amendments, Local Races

Lynn County voters who didn't vote before the early voting deadline Tuesday will have their chance at the regular election day Saturday. Four ballots will be available, including a special general election ballot which offers three controversial proposed amendments to the State Constitution related to school financing plus a list of 24 candidates for the unexpired Senate term of Lloyd Bentsen.

In the Senate race, Democrat Bob Krueger, who was appointed interim senator by Gov. Ann Richards, is the favorite, but the top two vote-getters on the list which includes Democrats, Republicans, Independents and some with other labels, are expected to be in a runoff for the job. Voters should mark only one.

Proposition 1, which would legalize a County Education District system already ruled unconstitutional by the courts, and which has been called the "Robin Hood" method of taking tax money from the wealthier school districts and giving it to the poorer districts, is the most controversial of the amendment proposals.

Voters in O'Donnell, Tahoka, Wilson and New Home will get ballots on city council and school board elections, and a county-wide ballot on Lynn County Hospital Board members.

For Saturday's election, many of the county's regular voting precincts have been combined. In Tahoka, all voters (Precincts 1, 6, 7, 9, 12 and 14) will vote on all four ballots at the high school business office. At Wilson, all voting (Precincts 2, 8) will be at Wilson Mercantile (Green Bldg.)

At New Home, the school library will be the voting place for all four elections, and Lakeview Gin will have hospital board election ballots and New Home school board ballots. Lakeview voters (Prec. 11) who want to vote on the senate race and amendments will have to go into New Home to vote.

O'Donnell High School commons area is the voting place for precincts 3, 5 and 10, where ballots will be available on all four elections.

Tahoka School board has four candidates for two places: Delia Luna, Jim Solomon, Clint Gardner and Brad Hammonds. The City of Tahoka council election includes Solomon unopposed for re-election as mayor and three persons running for two places on the council, Maurio Marcz, Mike Mensch and Wayne Huffaker.

Wilson city voters will elect three persons to the council from a list of four: Teresa Parish, Donald Klaus, Oscar Ortega and Victor Steinhauer. Wilson ISD ballot lists John Fields and David Wied as unopposed for two seats, but Clyde Wilke announced he is a write-in candidate for school board.

At New Home, school board candidates Andy Fillingim and Russel Barnett are unopposed, as is Mayor J. A. Evans, seeking re-election. Three persons, Leroy Nettles, Leon Hammonson and Jimmie Kieth, are seeking two spots on the city council.

Bobby Joe Furlow and Jackie Stidham are unopposed seeking re-election to the O'Donnell School board. Four persons are running for three places on the O'Donnell city council, including Joylene Roye, Tommy Woolam, Billy Edwards and Rex Little.

Seven persons are on the ballot for four places on the Lynn County Hospital Board. Candidates Lonette Smith, William (Bill) Sawyer, Norman Ledbetter and Harold Barrett join incumbents Ann Wyatt, Leland White and Jackie Stidham on the board.

AN ANNUAL REPORT from the Texas Dept. of Health's Bureau of Vital Statistics received at this office recently confirms what I have believed for years: Among males, nearly everybody is named Michael, especially famous athletes and entertainers.

The list, based on 1991 birth certificate entries in Texas, shows the most popular name for boys born in 1991 was Michael, followed in order by Christopher, Joshua, José, Matthew, David, John, Justin, Daniel and James. It was noted that John and James are always in the top 10 somewhere.

The 10 most popular names for girls born in the same period in Texas were, in order, Ashley, Jessica, Amanda, Sarah, Stephanie, Brittany, Elizabeth, Samantha, Lauren and Jennifer.

Michael was the leader for boys born to white parents, and third on the list for both black and Hispanic male children.

This obviously follows a national trend which must have started 25-50 years ago, since most sports and entertainment males (and some females) are named Michael, including:

Michael Jackson, Michael Jordan, Michael Keaton, Michael J. Fox, Michael Douglas, Michael Learned, Michael O'Keefe, Michael Bolton, Michael Landon, Michael Irvin, Michael Dean Perry, Michael Martin Murphy, Michael Caine, Michael Wilding, Paul Michael Glaser. And a couple of "Mikes", Ditka and Tyson, who probably are named Michael.

And maybe Michael Mouse, Michael Rowyerboatashore, Michael Angelo and Michael Ob Beer?

Tekell-Stice Vows Exchanged In April 24 Ceremony Here

Lana Jan Tekell and Charlie R. Stice, Jr. exchanged double-ring wedding vows at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 24, 1993, in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka. The candlelight ceremony was officiated by Danny Jackson, pastor of Sweet Street Baptist Church in Tahoka.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Tekell and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stice, all of Tahoka.

Registering guests was Jennifer Bingham of Tahoka.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an Illsa design gown from Phoenix, AZ. The top bodice was embedded with pearls and sequins which enhanced the laced v-back and lined the entire cathedral train. The gown featured a fitted waist line which flared into a bubble v-ruffle front and back. Her veil was cathedral length also with scattered pearls and sequins forming a crown piece nesting on her head.

The bridal attire was first won by the bride's cousin, Cheri Bragg Vogeler of Amarillo in her October 1988 wedding.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of small white roses and stephanitis with pearls and needlepoint ivy. It was carried on a mother-of-pearl Bible, a gift brought from Israel by the bride's mother.

Staci House of Tahoka, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Stephanie Shoemaker of Altus, OK, Nancy Tekell of Meadow, sister-in-law of the bride, and Tina Sharp of Sanderson, sister of the groom. Their tea-length dresses were of taffeta and featured semi-fitted shaped fronts, dropped waistlines, flared skirts and shoulder bows.

Timmy Stice of Tahoka was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Coley House of Tahoka, brother-in-law of the bride, Cary Tekell of Meadow, brother of the bride, and Ed Sharp of Sanderson, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushers were Conner Krey and Robert Jackson, both of Tahoka. Ringbearer was Nicholas House of Tahoka, nephew of the bride.

Candlelighters were Jessica House of Tahoka, niece of the bride, and Christi Stice of Wellman, daughter of the groom. They wore tea-length peach colored dresses overlaid with lace. The candelabra were in a setting of English Ivy and fern accented with peach colored bows.

Flower girls were Tara House of Tahoka, niece of the bride, and Kayla Stice of Wellman, daughter of the groom. They wore peach colored dresses featuring v-shaped front waistlines, side-waist ties and enhanced with white lace.

Mrs. Margaret Carter, organist, played wedding selections. Byron Norwood of Arlington sang "The Love She Found In Me," "Cross My Heart," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table featured a white three-tiered cake accented with aqua and peach flowers. Serving were Charla Miller of Post and Channa Craft of Odessa, cousins of the groom. Punch was served from a crystal bowl. The groom's table featured two chocolate horseshoe shaped cakes served by Jonama Allen and Jennifer Patterson, both of Tahoka. A brass coffee service complimented the table.

Kelcy Tekell of Meadow and niece of the bride, offered guests rice bags during the reception.

Assisting in the houseparty were Joy Bragg, Lou Rogers, Margie Jester, Darlene and Marion Thorne, Wayne and Loretta Tekell, ElWanda Grogan, Cheralyn and Sandra Jester, Cheri Vogeler, and Margaret Stone.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, Nev., the couple will reside in Tahoka. The bride is employed with the Lynn County Hospital and the groom with the Soil Conservation Service.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Charlie and Barbara Stice Friday evening in the fellowship hall of the

MRS. CHARLIE R. STICE, JR. (nee Lana Jan Tekell)

THS Tennis Team Finishes Season

by BRENDA ERKFITZ
Texas Tech Journalism Student
The Tahoka Bulldog junior high and high school tennis teams finished up their season on a good note, according to Coach Hulon Kirkland, who is in charge of both teams.

There were two boys varsity doubles teams and one girls junior varsity doubles team. There were also two boys who competed individually and one girl. All of the high school students competed in district play April 6 and 7.

Although none of the high school players received a district championship, Coach Kirkland feels the younger players will definitely be making a difference in the Bulldogs future.

The junior high team was entered in six of the eight events and had three district champs and one third place winner.

Child Abuse Prevention Month:

Child Abuse Case Handling Explained

By Miss Molly J. Helminger,
Lynn County Child Welfare Board
Member and Tahoka Elementary Principal

HOW A CASE OF CHILD ABUSE IS HANDLED
The following diagram is a simplified view of how a case of child abuse is handled.

A suspected case of child abuse goes through a series of four stages where decisions are made about whether a child was abused and how to handle the case. What follows is a brief description of the four stages listed in the above diagram.

STAGE 1: Referral. Referral is the process of reporting a case of suspected child abuse.

1a: Child Abuse Hotline. This hotline is a 24-hour toll-free telephone line established by law to receive reports of suspected child abuse and to relay the information to the proper agency for investigation (1-800-252-5400).

1b: Child Protective Services. CPS is a special unit in each state and local Department of Human Services responsible for investigating child abuse and neglect. (The Tahoka number is 998-4552).

1c: Law Enforcement. The most serious cases of child abuse and those committed by persons outside the family are reported to law enforcement officials for possible criminal investigation and prosecution. Serious cases include homicide, serious bodily injury, sexual abuse and exploitation. Law enforcement officials involved in cases of child abuse are the police, the district attorney, and the courts.

STAGE 2: Investigation. This involves collecting information and evidence about the case. The investigator visits the home, interviews the child, the parents, and other parties who may have information important to the case. Other information will also be collected, such as medical records, school records, other agency records, and any other information important to the case.

2a: Prosecution. Prosecution means there is enough reason to file criminal charges against the child abuser.

2b: Case Withdrawn. This means there is not enough reason for continued agency involvement.

STAGE 3: Case Management. This is the coordination of services to the client. A caseworker monitors the home situation and oversees the delivery of services required to protect the child and treat the family problem.

3a: Alternative Placement. Alternative placement is taking the child from the family because it is believed that the child is in danger of further abuse or because a different setting may better meet the child's needs. Alternative placement may be made with a family relative or involve putting the child into foster care, a group home, an institution, or may result in adoption.

3b: Treatment Services. Treatment services are given to the child as well as the family. A number of services may be used: day care, foster parents, parent education, health care, family planning, psychotherapy, case-work, psychiatric services, counseling, group therapy, or individual and family therapy.

STAGE 4: Case Closed. A case of child abuse is closed when it is believed the child is no longer at risk of being abused.

Representatives on the Lynn County Child Welfare Board include: Jeri Akard, Gwen Cate, Kathy Druessdow, Molly Helmlinger, Dana McKay, Janet Porterfield, Cal Huffaker, Sheri McCord, Joan Knox, JoAnn Cook, Glen Kreger, Shelly Livingston, Mack Lowe, Ken LeBlanc (CPS Specialist), and Robert Rino (CPS Specialist). If any person would like further information please feel free to contact any member of the Lynn County Child Welfare Board. The Child Abuse Prevention slogan for 1993 has been: "Reach Out- Prevent Child Abuse."

BBB Report

Now that spring is here, the home improvement gypsies will blow into town. These gypsies drive beautiful pickup trucks, travel all over the United States and take thousands of dollars out of our community right into their own pockets. The gypsies prey on our senior citizen population — relying on their trusting nature. Your Better Business Bureau would like to offer this warning: If someone knocks on your door to sell you siding, roofing, paving, or a fence job, you should be extremely cautious, in fact, you should be cautious about anyone knocking on your door. If they tell you that you have a bad roof or your home needs repairs, tell them you will check them out with the BBB. Always be cautious if they want up-front monies. If you are not sure of who the peddler is, keep your door locked and call the police to report them in your neighborhood.

If you have filed for bankruptcy, you may be the target of a new credit repair scam, often called "file segregation." In this scheme, you are promised a chance to hide unfavorable credit information by establishing a new credit identity. This sounds great, but file segregation is illegal. If you use it, the FTC says you could face fines or even prison. If you have filed for bankruptcy, you may be told by a credit repair company that you won't be able to get any type of credit for ten years. This is not always true. Sometimes, you will be told that file segregation program is affiliated with the federal government. This is not true. And, you may be told that file segregation is legal. It is a federal crime to make any false statements on a loan or credit application, which the credit repair company may advise you to do.

Local Students Recognized For Outstanding Skill In Home Ec

Tahoka High School students Kerri Bryan and Felicia Davis, recent regional winners in the FHA STAR event competition, received 6th place on the state level recently. The young ladies competed in the Little Friends STAR Event competition in Houston, April 16 and 17.

The title of their project was "Nuts about Nutrition." The young ladies presented a foods demonstration for elementary students encouraging them to eat nutritious snacks. At the contest Kerri and Felicia gave an illustrated presentation of their project. Their sponsor is Mrs. Donna Stone.

Winners from all over the state participated on twelve major categories.

Kerri is the daughter of Joe and Cindy Bryan. Felicia is the daughter of Aubrey and Marie Davis. Each girl was presented with a medal at a recognition session honoring all participants during the last general session of the state leadership conference.

The Little Friends event encourages members to apply their knowledge of child development in planning and carrying out a community service project related to children. These projects were evaluated by such criteria as the extent to which the project applied child development knowledge, the benefits derived by the children, and the quality and clarity of the goals and description of the project.

The STAR (Students Taking Action for Recognition) events program of FHA is based on the belief that all people can be winners. Competition, Evaluation, and recognition all stress cooperation as the basis of success. Both youth and adults work together as managers of the events and as evaluators of the participants.

Off-Season Football Program Prepares Bulldogs For '93 Season

by BRENDA ERKFITZ
Texas Tech Journalism Student
Although football season may not be going on right now, that does not mean the Tahoka Bulldogs are not working hard. Chris Wigington, the head football coach, feels the players and coaches are doing an excellent job.

"The coaches have really motivated the kids and got them working hard and headed in the right direction," said Wigington.

The two assistant coaches are Steve Qualls and David Johnson. The defensive coordinator is Sam Eoff.

According to Wigington, the boys have been working hard for six weeks in rotation groups in the weight room, on the football field, and on mat drills. "It was very hard on them, but they stayed in there and got bigger, stronger, and faster," said Wigington. Johnson is working with the receivers. Eoff is working with the linemen, while Wigington is helping the backs and quarterbacks. There are 44 high school players going through the off-season training and 17 eighth graders.

Wigington hopes to have 60 to 70 players for next season's junior varsity and varsity combined. Although the Bulldogs lost a good senior class, the entire offensive line is returning.

"This group of kids right now has some of the best leadership I've seen since I've been here," said Wigington.

"With the work ethic and leadership I think we'll be better in the fall," added the coach.

SPS Survey Shows Continued Growth In Area Feedlot Industry

Southwestern Public Service Company's annual Fed Cattle Survey indicates another record-breaking year in the area's cattle industry.

The survey shows a six percent increase in fed cattle from 1991 to 1992 — the fourth consecutive year of growth. Feedlots in the SPS service area fed 5,988,196 head of cattle in 1992, compared with 5,644,133 in 1991.

Another trend that indicates steady growth is the total number of feedyards in the area — from 122 in 1991 to 124 in 1992.

"The six percent increase in fed cattle is three times higher than last year's percentage," said Dave Krupnick, SPS manager of agricultural and wholesale marketing. "I think this reflects a positive trend for the area's entire economy."

SPS annually prepares a Fed Cattle Survey including feedlots in its service area, which covers 52,000 square miles. The region includes the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, the Texas South Plains, eastern and southeastern New Mexico and southwestern Kansas.

Other good indicators from the survey are the increases in one-time total capacity, from 2,904,585 to 2,944,575, and the increase in the number of cattle slaughtered at the 12 beef-packing plants in the SPS service area.

Krupnick pointed out that several packing plants are located just outside the service area. "That accounts for the difference between the number of cattle slaughtered and the number fed," he said.

The Fed Cattle Survey includes a chart on the ten-year history of fed cattle, the one-time capacity of surveyed feed lots, as well as information on the number of feedlots with 5,000 head capacity or more. It also has a country breakdown of lot capacity and numbers fed.

Krupnick said information from the survey is used across the country by ag-related industries. "It lets others know how vital agriculture and food-processing are to this area," he said.

Copies of the report and survey are available at SPS office across the company's service area or may be obtained by contacting the SPS Agricultural Marketing Department (806-378-2180) at the SPS headquarters building, Tyler at Sixth Street, Amarillo, TX, 79170.

'Cowboying' Is Hard, But Interesting Lifestyle, Says Tahoka's Son Guin

by BRENDA ERKFITZ
Texas Tech Journalism Student

Some people may wonder what defines a real cowboy, but Son Guin feels they are a breed of their own.

Guin, born and raised in Texas, has been a cowboy all his life. He and his wife, Sis, live in a house north of Tahoka. Guin worked for the Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association as a field inspector for 23 years, but is retired now.

"Cowboying is a hard life, but an interesting life," said Guin. "It's a profession all its own not everyone can do. You've got to want to learn to do it," he explained.

"There is one thing about the cowboy profession — you never quit learning," stated Guin. "I don't care who it is, from a beginner to a top hand, you can learn from him."

"Take a top hand, you can learn from watching, observing and admiring. A beginner, you can learn from his mistakes," said Guin. "A fellow that never made a mistake has never done anything."

"A lot of people think that just

'cause they got a big hat and a pair of boots they're a cowboy," said Guin. "That isn't true."

A true cowboy, according to Guin, doesn't have to tell anyone he's a cowboy. If he's a true cowboy, people will know it. "If he's a good cowboy, he sure doesn't have to tell anyone, because someone else will," says Guin.

Guin commented that over the years being a cowboy has changed a lot. There are still many young men who are just as good as the older cowboys who worked with him. However, there are not as many people making a living out of being a cowboy as there used to be.

"You spend half your life cold or hot," said Guin. "The weather is always bad, it seems like."

In Guin's opinion, there will always be cowboys around.

"As long as there is cattle on the ranches, they're going to have to have cowboys," said Guin. "There's always going to be someone foolish enough to do it."

SELF MEDICATION IS A POTENTIAL DANGER

Even physicians are far from agreement about the practice of self-medication. If everyone went to their doctors at every sign of illness it would be impossible for the medical profession to handle the deluge of patients that would descend upon them. The more seriously ill would suffer most for there would not be enough of the time needed for them.

But, self-medication must be carried out wisely. One good rule is... if certain symptoms keep returning, it is time to have your doctor find the cause. When we notice a customer is often buying a particular non prescription remedy we will always suggest that they should see their doctor.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty."
