Wilson, O'Donnell Schools Each Awarded $30,000 In TSSAS Funds

Commissioner of Education Lionel "Skip" Meno honored Wilson High School and O'Donnell Junior High School at the Texas Successful Schools Awards Ceremony in Austin this past Saturday, July 17. Robert Williams, Wilson High School Principal, was present to receive the award for Wilson I.S.D.

Both Wilson High School and O'Donnell Junior High received an award of $30,000 for significant performance gains in TAAS results for the 1992-93 school year.

The Texas Successful Schools Awards Systems (TSSAS) identified 1,289 schools out of 6,184 schools statewide for academic performance gain and/or high performance. During Saturday's ceremony, principals of the 124 high performing schools were individually congratulated on stage by Commissioner Meno and received plaques honoring their schools. Another 826 schools received certificates for their high performance efforts.

In addition, 507 schools received monetary awards for their high degree of performance gain. Of these, 376 schools received awards ranging from $30,000 to $150,000 and the other 131 schools met less stringent improvement criteria for awards ranging from $10,000 to $25,000. The award ceremony was supported, in part, by a grant from Southwestern Bell.

The Texas Legislature created TSSAS to identify and reward schools that demonstrate progress or success in achieving the educational goals of the state. During this second year of TSSAS, the awards given out at the ceremony totaled $20 million - twice the overall amount awarded last year. The funds, given to schools that demonstrated a high degree of academic performance gain, are intended for academic enhancement use at the winning schools, and may not be used for any purpose related to athletics.

Tire Slashing, Family Disturbance Calls Answered

Lynn County Sheriff's Office investigated a tire slashing incident at Wilson, and Tahoka Police Department officers investigated a family disturbance call and a report of a stolen vehicle which proved to be a false report this week.

Sheriff's deputies investigated a report of a tire slashing incident at 12:45 a.m. Saturday at the Wilson High School parking lot. David Sandoval told officers that the two front tires and one rear tire had been cut on his car.

In Tahoka, the police department received a call Saturday from a 34-year-old Tahoka man reporting that his 1992 Toyota pickup had been stolen from his residence, but after investigation officers allegedly determined that the man had wrecked the vehicle and then removed it from his residence himself before falsely reporting it as a stolen vehicle. The damaged vehicle was found six miles west of town in a ditch, according to police reports.

Officers also answered a family disturbance call Sunday evening, arresting a Tahoka man after taking a kitchen knife from him.

In jail during the week were ten persons, three on DWI charges and others on application to revoke probation-DWI; judgment and sentence - DWI third offense; possession of marijuana under two ounces and making alcoholic beverage available to a minor; no drivers license and minor in possession of alcoholic beverage; delivery of a controlled substance, two counts for Potter County; assault and public intoxication; and false report to a peace officer.

Two Hospitalized With Injuries In Two-Vehicle Accident

Valerie Lopez, 12, daughter of Richard and Elaine Lopez of Tahoka, was in serious but stable condition Wednesday at Lubbock's Methodist Hospital in Pediatric I.C.U. after being injured in a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of 82nd Street and Avenue P in Lubbock Tuesday morning, July 20.

Lori Rodriguez, 12, also of Tahoka was traveling in the same vehicle as Valerie and was in stable condition at Methodist Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lopez, their children Adrian, 15, and Amic, 12, and Courtney Bailey, 14, all of Tahoka, who were traveling with Valerie and Lori, were treated and released Tuesday.

David Rodriguez, 30, of Lubbock, the driver of the other vehicle, was treated and released from University Medical Center in Lubbock.

Rodriguez was driving north on Avenue P in his Chevrolet pickup truck about midnight when he collided with Lopez's Chevrolet Blazer which was moving east on 82nd Street.

Traffic at the intersection is controlled by a stop sign on Avenue P.

Out of the Woods

The wayward thoughts of Juanell (Wood) Jones

The world is not coming to an end - not before the year 2069. At least, it's not coming to an end because of a close encounter with two very nasty twin asteroids in outer space whose maverick orbital swings will bring them very close to the planet Earth in 2004, 2008, 2012 and 2069. But after that, according to two astronomers at UT at Austin, there are no guarantees. "We can see that during the next 80 years, the asteroids will not hit the Earth. But after that, all bets are off," they say.

Well, that's reassuring news. All this information was included in a press release to our office, entitled "Will The Year 2069 Bring Doomsday To The Earth?" It got my attention right away, and the first paragraph grabbed my eye as well, with a lead-in like this:

"Last December, few Earthlings were aware that two chunks each two miles in width came within 2.2 million miles of forever spoiling Christmas for Texas and everybody on this globe.

"Astronomers are breathing easier now that Toutatis, the name for these twin asteroids, missed a collision with Earth that would have made the largest atomic bomb look like a firecracker.

"Their concern - no, their certainty - is that this creation of outer space is coming back. The next time it does, in the year 2004, it will come close to the Earth again. But then, it will miss this planet by only one million miles, a tiny footstep in space."

Whew! I thought we'd be able to look out our windows and see it whiz by, but a million miles is a little farther than I can see, even with my new glasses. But astronomers say that when Toutatis makes one of its close approaches to Earth, it can be seen with an ordinary telescope.

They've been observing the asteroid's motion from the University's McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis in West Texas. Although Toutatis was discovered in 1934 by a French astronomer, it was not considered important until 1989 when it headed toward Earth. Now (they say) it is being carefully watched by astronomers from all over the world.

According to the press release, asteroids actually are small planets between Mars and Jupiter, ranging from a fraction of a mile to as much as 500 miles in diameter. A collision with the Earth of an asteroid as small as Toutatis could devastate the planet.

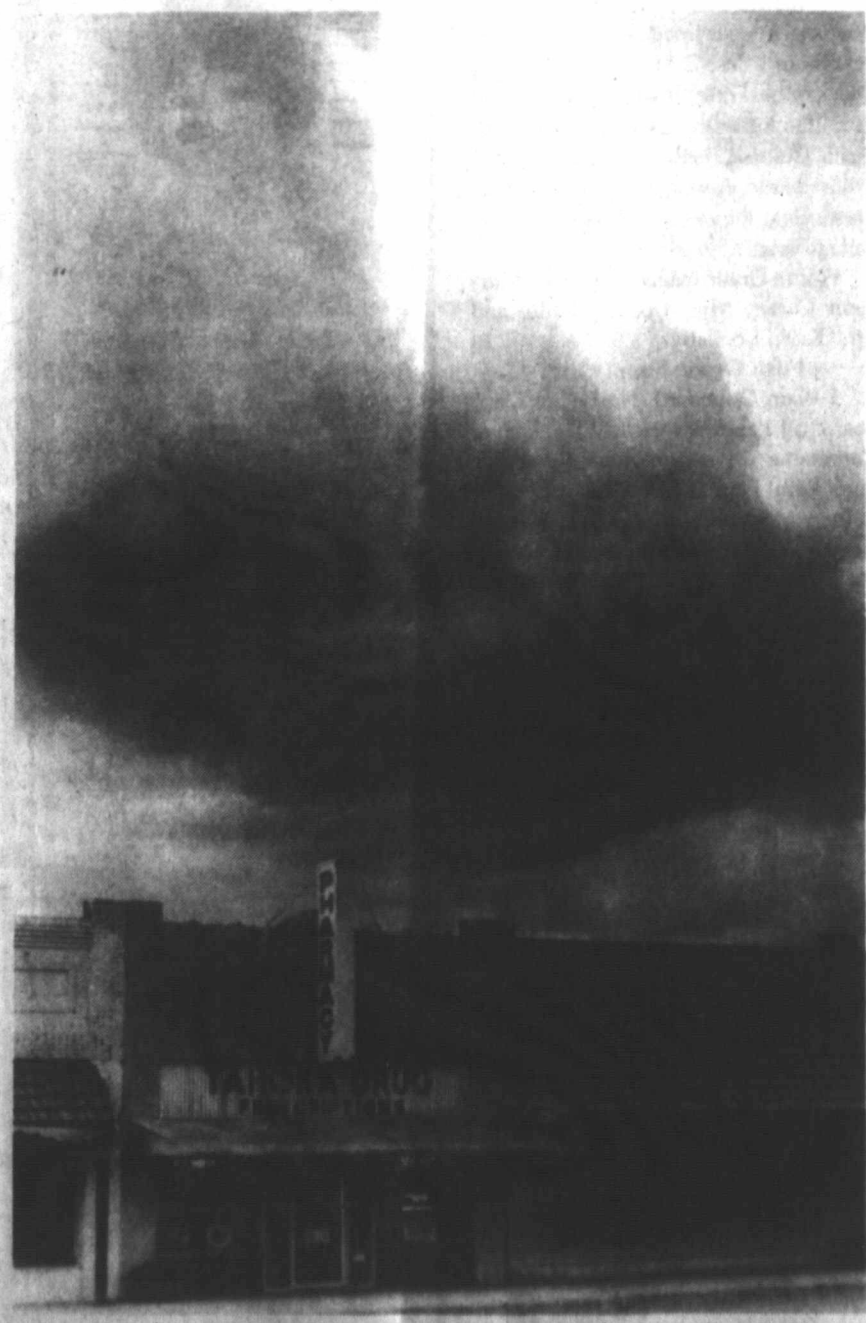

Even small particles from space like meteors could destroy a wide area. A few have struck the earth, including Texas. More than 20,000 years ago, a small meteor fell near what is now Odessa, shattering the limestone bedrock and digging a crater some 500 feet in diameter. Today the crater is a tourist attraction.

Maybe that's what we need near Tahoka ... a big ol' hole as a tourist attraction. Of course, we can't really rely on a meteor falling exactly where we need it, so we may have to improvise a little.

I suppose we could all meet at midnight next Friday night, bring our picks and shovels and bulldozers, and dig us a big, round hole somewhere near the highway where tourists would be sure to see it. Then we could erect a big sign designating it as "The Amazing Meteor Which Nearly Destroyed Tahoka" and urging people from all over to come and pay $20 a whack to take a look at the hole. Or hey! We could dig two holes and call it "The Amazing Twin Meteors Which Nearly Destroyed Tahoka".

I like that idea, especially the "twin" aspects of it. I would even volunteer to have mine and my twin sister's pictures available for publicity on the sign (not that we're destructive or anything). We could even print at the top, Swarzenegger style, in big letters: "We'll Be Back."

Think about it. It could work.

"We appreciate the support of the community in the past," said a spokesperson. "You may contact the Library at 998-4050 on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Board members are Laverne Lewis, Cathy Box, Junie Kregger, Elaine Lopez, Carl Reynolds, Glo Hays, Judy Sanders, and Gilhoie Jan Wells. Judge J.F. Brandon and Barry Pitman are members-at-large.

Your HEALTH TIP

Vitamins Important As You Age

Vitamins and nutrition are thought to be most important for children. However, as we age we do not absorb vitamins from food as well as when we were young. Dr. Chandra of the World Health Organization found that even with a balanced diet, 25% of people over 65 are not getting all their necessary vitamins. He also found that they were less likely to become ill if they took a daily supplement containing recommended vitamins and minerals.

New Law To Help Livestock Producers Overcome Predatory Animal Problems

Governor Ann Richards signed into law a bill that will assist livestock producers in overcoming their problems with predatory animals.

"Livestock losses caused by an increase in predators are putting some Texans out of business," stated Governor Richards. "It's time we take action to protect our livestock and their livelihood."

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Steve Holzhauser (R-Victoria) and Sen. Bill Sims (D-San Angelo), allows county commissioner courts, if they so choose, to augment the federal trapping program by increasing the bounty for predatory animals. The legislation changes the current capped amount of five dollars to $20, unless the Parks and Wildlife Commission approves a higher figure. The bill also prevents the payment of any bounty on animals that appear on any state or federal protected species list.

Rep. Holzhauser explained that the legislation was needed due to the limitations of the federal trapper program. This program allows counties to participate on a limited basis if they pay part of the expense of providing a federal trapper to protect livestock in the county from predators. However, Holzhauser noted, "The limited availability of federal trappers doesn't allow many counties to address the predatory problem to the extent livestock producers feel is necessary."

The bill provides the opportunity to address this problem that is a great concern to many Texans, especially those involved with raising and producing livestock. While it does not require any county to participate, it offers county commissioner's courts the option if they believe the livestock in their county is at significant risk. In addition, this bill allows the county commissioner courts to determine which animals pose a particular risk to the county, rather than limiting the scope to a specific bill because it gives counties the authority to do what is necessary if they have a problem with a particular predatory animal. It offers more local control, which is needed."

Consultation with environmental and wildlife specialists helps commissioners courts produce an accurate assessment of the conditions in each county.

WIND BARRIER- Willie Nieman, Lynn County Farmer, is checking a terrace planted to lovegrass that acts as a wind barrier for spring-planted crops. (see related story)

Wind Stripcropping Can Control Erosion On Cultivated Land

Wind stripcropping is one of the alternatives producers in Lynn County can use to control wind erosion on their cultivated land, says representatives of the Soil Conservation Service in Tahoka. Windstrips that are established following an approved conservation plan meet the requirements of the Food Security Act (Farm Bill). Producers who meet these requirements will remain eligible for all USDA programs and benefits.

Producers who choose windstrips have several different options that will comply with the requirements of the Food Security Act. Annual high residue crops planted as windstrips can either be spring or fall seeded. Other options are planting permanent native grass or introduced grass in the strips.

Willie Nieman, who lives west of Petty, uses perennial grass windstrips with 5 or 6 rows in each strip. These windstrips protect his young cotton from damage, reduces terrace maintenance, and complies with the provisions of the Food Security Act.

Nieman has either 45 or 54 rows of cotton between the grass strips with 5 or 6 rows in each strip. The back toe of all terrace ridges on his homeplace are planted to Ermelo Lovegrass. "I like the lovegrass because it gets off to a good start in the spring, which helps block the wind when it is time to plant," says Nieman.

The front toe of all terraces are planted to cotton. Nieman uses this system because the terraces were built in 1968 to fit six row equipment, but now he farms with nine row equipment. He maintains all blocks and uses furrow dikes which helps conserve moisture. "That terrace maintenance is virtually eliminated," says Nieman. "Once the grass is established you do not have to keep building the terraces up. When we get a big rain the terraces do not wash away, because the grass holds them in place."

He added that when he plowed the terraces every year and planted them to wheat, he had to build the terraces back up about every third year. Also he does not believe he has any problem with insects overwintering in the grass strips.

Nieman stated, "When terraces are planted to grass it is a minor cost compared to the every year cost associated with wheat." The only problem with grass strips Nieman can see is when he does not get a good stand. When the grass is weak it causes a weed problem, if not controlled. "If the stand is good, the only problem with weeds are on the edge; and this can be controlled with chemicals in the spring before the cotton is planted," he explains.

Research has shown that wind stripcropping is an efficient way to control wind erosion on cultivated land. Windstrips can help producers save soil moisture, topsoil and young crop seedlings, says the SCS.

Producers who have questions about windstrips are encouraged to call the local Soil Conservation Service at 998-4507 or come by the office located at 1647 Ave. J, in Tahoka. Producers are reminded that cost-share assistance is available for both terrace construction and seeding terraces to a permanent grass.

LOCAL ASCS EMPLOYEES RECEIVE CERTIFICATES- Several employees of the Lynn County ASCS office received recognition for 15 years of service. Marlin Hawthorne, (left) Chairman of the Lynn County ASC Committee presented certificates to (from left) Peggy Morton, County Executive Director Jimmy Woodard, and Jan Orr. Both Orr and Morton's service have been in Lynn County. Woodard worked four months at the Scurry County office before becoming CED in Lynn County. Orr is responsible for assisting farmers at the counter as they participate in the programs administered by USDA. Morton is responsible for conservation programs such as Agriculture Conservation Program (ACP) and Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT- Bill Langford, Vocational Scholarship Chairman, and Jack Stark, President, present a $1000 college scholarship from the Del Rio Host Lions Club to David Money, son of Idalia Wood Money of Del Rio, and grandson of Mrs. N.E. Wood and the late Mr. N.E. Wood of Tahoka. David is a 1993 Del Rio High School graduate and will attend Southwest Texas Junior College in Del Rio this fall studying drafting and architectural design.

Research Scientists Finding Ways To Cut Erosion, Boost Crop Profits

Increasing the profitability of growing cotton while reducing soil erosion is a challenge that is being met head-on by researchers at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock.

Because the growing season for cotton on the High Plains is marginally short, a late planting or replanting date combined with cool, wet weather in the fall can reduce cotton yields and quality.

Nonetheless, cotton remains the most agriculturally viable crop in the area in terms of both acreage and crop value. Any means of providing it with a better start and protecting it from the adversities of the West Texas weather allows cotton growers to better take advantage of the short growing season.

Research being conducted at the experiment station is providing answers to challenges facing cotton growers. For the past seven years, scientists have been studying cotton growth in conservation tillage systems using crop residue to provide early season protection from the weather.

These conservation tillage systems are gaining acceptance not only in West Texas, but across the United States as well. This is because of their effects in reducing soil erosion, allowing more efficient use of soil water, decreasing costs of production and increasing profitability, said Dr. Wayne Keeling, systems agronomy scientist at the Lubbock station.

Since 1990, agricultural scientists have been able to test such new technology as conservation tillage under the same conditions High Plains farmers are facing. With the development of a 160-acre farm, called the Agricultural Complex for Advanced Research and Extension Systems (AG-CARES) at Lamesa, irrigation, fertility, weed and insect management are now being evaluated in a whole farm situation.

Through such research, a conservation tillage system has been found that has gained acceptance in growing areas with sandy soils west and south of Lubbock. It consists of using wheat or rye as a winter cover crop, Keeling explained.

The cover crop is sprayed and chemically killed prior to planting the cotton. The cotton is then planted directly back into the cover crop residue. This standing stubble from the cover crop protects the soil from erosion and helps the cotton get an improved growing start.

Because of this and other research, interest has increased across the cotton belt in producing cotton in a conservation tillage system.

"Conservation tillage systems in which the crop is planted into the residue from previous crops have shown potential for reducing machinery, fuel and labor use," said Keeling. "It has also shown potential as a means of increasing profit."

The advantage of using conservation tillage systems as compared to a clean tilled soil lies in the erosion factor, he said.

Understanding The Texas Lottery

What happens to the money raised by the Texas lottery? The funds that belong to the state go to the general fund.

When a jackpot is won, the Texas Lottery notifies the State Treasurer's Office of the amount available for investment. The money is from the lottery account within the Treasury, not the state's general revenue fund.

The Treasurer advertises and accepts bids from investment house for best returns. The highest return offered with the least risk is the winning bid.

The Treasurer invests the money such that 19 annual payments of equal size will be made. Investment is made in multiples of $1,000. The first payment will always be slightly higher than the others because it includes any remaining money that was not enough to buy another multiple of $1,000.

The State Lottery Act, Section 5.03 (d) authorizes the investment of funds as necessary to ensure the payment of the installments. It further authorizes the purchase of securities, annuities or other instrument as determined by the treasurer.

To date, the funds have been used to purchase US Bonds. Because the bonds are purchased from the government, there is no private company that could go bankrupt. The act specifies that the investment must "ensure" payment of the annual installments.

The bonds are purchased for the winner but they are not the property of the winner. They remain the property of the State/lottery. The liability for payment remains with the Lottery. Part of the bonds mature each year on the 15th of the month in which the jackpot was won. The annual installment is paid to the winner each year on the same date.

When the Treasurer is unable to invest the funds in a way that will allow the Lottery to pay at least $100,000 per year over the payout period (or $2 million total) to each jackpot winner for a particular drawing, the money in the jackpot prize pool is divided equally among the winners and they are each paid one lump sum.

Wilson PEOPLE Group Discuss Walking Track, Chamber Of Commerce

The Wilson PEOPLE group held their regular monthly meeting. Various topics for discussion came about, one of which was a report on the Southwestern Public Service brochure about Wilson. Dan Cook is in charge of working with SPS to get this brochure completed to be used as a handout for visitors to the city or museum which is in downtown Wilson.

Lynda Williams is in charge of finding out how to get Wilson mentioned in the Texas Highway Department publication. But she has been delayed in this effort because of being unable to get in touch with the proper person. If anyone has an idea of how to get in touch with the proper person, please give Lynda Williams a call.

The group is still trying to find a method of getting the asphalt put down on the walking track in the city park. This is a big job and may cost more money than anyone anticipated. Victor Steinhauser and Roy Isham are on a committee to find an agreeable solution to this final phase of the walking track. Numerous people continue to enjoy the track just as it is, with a caliche base and we encourage everyone to continue walking on it and if you have not tried it, we encourage you to do so.

The group will again apply for community funds from Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Company to be used somewhere in the park. Last year trees were purchased to put along the walking track. The decision where to use the funds will be made at the August 14 meeting and then the application can proceed.

The museum committee has made progress in the restoration of the meat processing plant in the old Mercantile building. Helen Stephenson, a member of the committee, has contacted the Texas Tech Museum in an effort to find someone that can help with knowledge of how to restore the area. This is another project that will require involvement from everyone in the community. Anyone interested in supporting this project with time or money should please contact Helen Stephenson at 628-6313. If this project does not get off the ground in a hurry there is talk of destroying one of the only historic sites left in the city of Wilson.

The community newsletter is being well received. A number of individuals have donated paper for the printing of the paper each month. Anyone interested in donating paper for one of the next publications should please contact Sharon Isham at 628-6283. We thank all those who have donated paper for the newsletter.

The speaker for the morning did not show up for the meeting even though she had been contacted the day before and assured the contact person she would be there to inform the group about the advantages and disadvantages in having a Chamber of Commerce. Donald Klaus agreed to do some research on his own about what is required to start and maintain a Chamber of Commerce. This topic will again be discussed in the August 14 meeting so if you want some input about a Wilson Chamber of Commerce come to the meeting and voice your opinion. We especially encourage business owners in the Wilson community to participate.

The next meeting will be Saturday, August 14, at 9 a.m.

Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church will be holding their annual "Jamaica" on Sunday, July 25 from noon until dark-thirty. There will be food and games for all ages. Several area bands have indicated that they will be there to play for and entertain those in attendance. Radio Station KTLK-LA Tejanita, located at 1460 AM will be doing a live remote broadcast from 2-4 p.m.

Phyllis and Danny Holt hosted a cook-out for Shorty Moore and her grandchildren this past Sunday. The group enjoyed homemade hamburgers and ice cream and a lot of good fun. Shorty's daughter and son, Karla and Brad, also showed up and participated in the get together.

St. John Lutheran Church's Vacation Bible School was held this past week and after it was all over and the workers had a chance to recover from the week, they all decided that the event was a major success. The event hosted an average attendance of 40 children and about 18-20 adult teachers and support people.

The week closed on Friday evening with a closing worship service attended by the children, their parents, and guests.

VBS director Cheryl Wilke would like to thank all of the people who took part during the week, as a teacher, music staff, kitchen staff, child care workers, and all who contributed food, school supplies, or money to help with the cost involved.

A special thanks to the Slaton Pizza Hut and their Friday evening crew, for their generosity with a special deal, the surprise pizza meal for the whole school. The surprise night meal was enjoyed by all there.

The VBS staff said that they were looking forward to seeing all of this year's students and more for next year's school.

Be sure to remember the upcoming Vacation Bible School at St. Paul Lutheran Church. This event will be July 26-30, in the evening. Please contact Pastor Rohde for the exact times and other information.

Ann Davidson hosted a family get-together in her home Saturday, July 17 in honor of the 87th birthday of her mother, Mrs. Pearl Davidson, and in honor of the 35th wedding anniversary of her brother and sister-in-law, Fred and Georgia Davidson, of Gruver, Texas. Mrs. Davidson's birthday and the Davidson's anniversary are both on July 12.

In addition to the honorees, other family members in attendance included Mrs. Davidson's other son, Mason and his wife, Madge, of Abilene, and all of Mrs. Davidson's grandchildren and great-grandchildren: Gordon and Misha Moore and children, David and Courtney of Goodwell, OK; Melinda Cline and children, Adam and Caleb of Liberal, Kansas. Melinda's husband, Mike, was unable to attend. Mark and Gwen Parish and son, Corbin of Earth, and Gail Davidson of Orlando, Florida; two of Mrs. Davidson's sisters, Mr. and Mrs. W.L. England and Mr. and Mrs. L.Q. Sneed, all of Winters also attended.

Mrs. Davidson has been a resident of Wilson for many years and is remembered and loved by many who were able to get through high school math due to her care and devotion.

The Wilson Lions Club met last Thursday in the school cafeteria and after the meal they heard a very informative program presented by Sandy Partian who is involved with the Lubbock Alcohol and Drug Council.

Wilson ISD Names Elementary Principal

The Wilson ISD Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of Milton Wright as elementary principal at the regular board meeting July 6. His resignation became effective July 16, 1993, in order that he might accept a position as elementary counselor in the Frenship School District.

Kelley Hirt has been selected as the Wilson Elementary Principal for the 1993-94 school year. Mrs. Hirt comes to Wilson from Slaton ISD. She received her Masters in Educational Administration from Texas Tech University. Her undergraduate work was completed at Angelo State University with a B.S. in elementary education.

Her husband, Bruce, is a coach in the Wilson school district. He has coached at Wilson for five years. They have two children and live in Wilson.
