

Local Doctor Honored For 21 Years Of Dedicated Service To County Residents

by JUANELL JONES
 Sometimes, after many years of relying on the dependability and reliability of someone, it is within human nature to become complacent, perhaps even insensitive, about the availability of such a person. Take, for instance, the case of a small town doctor who for more than two decades has provided not only professional medical care, but also a friendly shoulder to lean on, a gentle heart to commiserate with, and a dedication devoted to the needs of his patients. Throughout these 21 years, Dr. Wright and his wife, Katrina, have put the needs of his patients first in their lives, delegating their social and family life as secondary to his medical practice. During the past two years, Dr. Wright has been plagued with his own health problems, and although still a practicing physician here, has found himself a patient in the hospital at times and is now forced to consider "slowing down a bit" and taking some much-deserved time off. "I know nearly every single person in this county except those who have arrived in the last two years, and it has been an honor to do so," said the doctor. The honor, however, is for the citizens of Lynn County in knowing the dedicated British doctor who has devoted so much time for their sakes. And, last week in a first-ever award presented by the City of Tahoka, Mayor Jim Solomon bestowed an "Outstanding Citizenship Award" to Dr. Richard F. Wright for his many years of loyal service to all citizens of Lynn County. In a speech delivered to a crowd at the annual Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary Fun/Food Festival held Saturday, April 30, Mayor Solomon apologized for taking so long to honor the long-time physician. "Words cannot express our gratitude for your personal sacrifices and professional dedication over the past 21 years," he said, reading from the plaque which (See Dr. Wright, page 3)

$14,800 Raised At Festival

The citizens of Lynn County proved once again last week that, uncertain economic futures notwithstanding, they support the local hospital, contributing almost $15,000 at the 14th annual Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary Fun/Food Festival and Auction held Saturday. A record high $14,832 has been donated to date, with contributions still coming in, according to Auxiliary President Betsy Pridmore. "The people here continue to amaze me with their show of support and goodwill towards our hospital ... even with area farmers and businessmen concerned with conditions for an uncertain cotton crop this year, people still give and give - they're wonderful," said Mrs. Pridmore. Last year's auction raised $13,000 for the Auxiliary. A good crowd turned out for this year's auction, including Republican candidate for State Representative, Wilma Hogan and her family, who brought a handmade quilt rack to be auctioned for the fund-raising event, and remained throughout the evening for the festivities. Mrs. Hogan, who is from Munday, said, "This [event] is amazing ... we have auctions in our town for fund-raising events, but nothing of this magnitude. I can see that the people of Lynn County are not only extraordinarily talented by the many handmade items here, but quite generous and supportive of the local hospital." Many auction items brought substantial amounts, but the highest bid came in at $1,000 for a painting by local artist Diana Hawthorne, which was purchased by First National Bank of Tahoka. Aside from the auction, many area citizens and businesses also contributed monetary donations. A silent auction table brought in approximately $300, and food booths by 4-H'ers, Phebe K. Warner Club, St. Jude's Catholic Church, Tahoka Volunteer Firemen and Hospital Board of Directors brought in substantial funds as well. Tahoka Elementary staff provided a booth of games to entertain young children at the festival. The highlight of the evening was an emotionally charged moment when Mayor Jim Solomon presented a plaque from the City of Tahoka to Dr. Richard F. Wright in appreciation for his loyal service to the citizens of Lynn County. The crowd See FESTIVAL Page 4

FIFTEEN YEARS and one week ago I came to Tahoka from Slaton and started operating The Lynn County News. In some ways, this seems like a short time; in other ways it seems like a long time. One sorehead who was here when I came told me it seems like forever.

Fifteen years is not a long time to operate this newspaper, since The News is the oldest business in Lynn County, established in 1903. However, 15 years is longer than I ever lived in any other town since I graduated from high school.

These have been good years. Although my wife and I liked every town we ever lived in (seven years each in Sudan, Plainview and Slaton), Tahoka has been the best. Not everybody in Tahoka, New Home, Wilson and O'Donnell is friendly, loyal, helpful, courteous, kind and cheerful, but most of them are. We have many friends in Tahoka and the surrounding area, and this makes us rich. Friends, good health and enough money to meet our real needs and obligations should make anyone happy.

Over the years I have occasionally forgot to put something in the paper when I should have. In keeping with that failing, I forgot to write this last week, which was the real anniversary of our coming to town on April 29, 1979.

I plan to repeat some of this stuff in a column nearest to April 29, 2004.

 BEING A WEEK late writing about our anniversary here doesn't even come close to qualifying me for government job. The U.S. Dept. of Commerce in December released a report called County Business Patterns, 1991, Texas. We were mailed a copy last week.

Yeah, that's right: 1991. The information they have compiled and studied and finally listed is three years old. It tells about how many people were employed in various kinds of businesses in Lynn County during 1991. We're not publishing the entire report, because it's so old nobody cares very much any more. No doubt most of the figures have changed by now, but in 1991 in the county there were 122 employees in retail trade, including Betty Jolly, who works in our front office. These employees were paid $1,214,000 that year, most of which Betty says she didn't get, but it doesn't matter, since all that money has been spent long ago.

Cancer Society Drives Net $2300

The Lynn County Unit of the American Cancer Society has collected about $2,300 from area businesses and residents in the past month. The business drive and golf tournament held recently netted approximately $1,800 and the residential Community Crusade added over $500.

"We appreciate everyone who donated to the business drive and all who volunteered their time and efforts at the golf tournament. We thank all who came out and played at the tournament despite the unusually cool weather," stated Stan Gill, treasurer of the Lynn County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

The local door-to-door Community Campaign fundraiser was held April 26. Directed by Lynn County Extension Agent Rebecca Dimak, surrounding area 4-H'ers went door-to-door soliciting donations and collected an additional $520 for the American Cancer Society.

"We are blessed to have so many wonderful volunteers and generous citizens in our county," added Mern Lewis, Lynn County Chapter President.

All money collected goes to the American Cancer Society and helps to benefit area cancer patients by making gifts and equipment available to them and by aiding in cancer research. Anyone needing information about equipment available to cancer patients may contact Dayton Parker in Tahoka or call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-ACS-2345.

HONORED AT CONVENTION- Mrs. Gwen Cate, Tahoka Elementary Learning Resource Specialist, and student Kassidi Andrews, were honored recently by the Texas Library Association in Corpus Christi. Mrs. Cate was named to the Texas 100 and honored for her publicity efforts concerning libraries. Miss Andrews gave a speech at the convention honoring Phyllis Reynolds Naylor, author of the book Shiloh.

Kassidi Andrews, Gwen Cate Honored At Library Convention

Kassidi Andrews and Gwen Cate were recently honored by the Texas Library Association in Corpus Christi. Kassidi, the daughter of Karen and Sammy Andrews, represented the children of Texas by presenting the prestigious Texas Bluebonnet Award.

Kassidi spoke to a record crowd of over 1400 librarians at the Bluebonnet luncheon in Corpus Christi in April. Kassidi's speech honored Phyllis Reynolds Naylor, author of the book, Shiloh. Shiloh was selected by Texas school children for the 1994 Texas Bluebonnet Award and was also the recipient of the Newbery Medal in 1992.

Kassidi was chosen through a speaking contest at Tahoka Elementary from those participating in the Bluebonnet Reading Program.

The Texas Bluebonnet Program is now in its second decade and attracts more than 220,000 children each year. The purpose is to expose children to a variety of current books and to develop powers of discrimination by helping children identify their favorite books through the voting process. The award is a project of the Texas Library Association and includes school and public libraries across Texas.

Kassidi, whose career aspiration is to be a marine biologist, toured Corpus Christi and especially enjoyed the Texas Aquarium. She was complimented for her accomplishments by the Texas Library Association.

Her response to the praise was one of gratitude and pride. "My most unforgettable memory of the conference was the feeling of success after speaking to so many people. Meeting Phyllis Naylor was a wonderful experience but I will never forget the feeling that I did my job well. I really appreciated the opportunity to present the Texas Bluebonnet Award for the children of Texas," she said.

Tahoka Elementary was chosen for the honor of presenting the 1994 award because of the publicity of the Elementary Learning Resource Center program by Gwen Cate, Learning Resource Specialist. Mrs. Cate was also named at the convention as one of the Texas 100 and honored during the business session for her publicity efforts concerning libraries.

During the year, Mrs. Cate has publicized the LRC on the district level by presenting instructional workshops for elementary and secondary staff.

On the state level, her students have received numerous media awards for their work in prevention of substance abuse.

Hospital Board Accepts Bid For Structure

Lynn County Hospital Board of Directors accepted a bid last week of $6,866 from LDC Construction Co., Inc. of Lubbock for renovations for the ambulance entry covering at the hospital. The new metal structure will be approximately 15'x24' with a metal roof, and will house the new ambulance for the hospital.

In other action at the called meeting last Wednesday evening, the board interviewed a physician candidate and discussed the O'Donnell Rural Health Clinic, reiterating that a family nurse practitioner would be placed in those facilities as soon as possible.

Louise Landers, Hospital Administrator, told The News this week that the physician candidate interviewed last Wednesday, a Dr. Larry Boyd, has since accepted a position at a Denver City hospital, and that the board is continuing to look at other possibilities.

he presented to the doctor's wife as the crowd rose spontaneously to their feet in a standing ovation.

With tears in her eyes, Mrs. Wright accepted the plaque in her husband's honor because, unfortunately, the doctor was unable to attend the event due to being hospitalized for treatment. When Dr. Wright returned home this week to recuperate, the mayor visited him and formally presented him with the plaque, which the doctor accepted with delight.

"I am very glad to have Dr. Wright as my physician and, more importantly, my friend," said Solomon. "He is truly an outstanding man, and was certainly instrumental in keeping the hospital alive, particularly when he was the only doctor here for several months. I know we've had at least eight doctors come and go through the years, but Dr. Wright has always been here," he added.

Dr. Richard F. Wright came to Tahoka from London, England 21 years ago to practice medicine at Lynn County Hospital, ready to embrace the rural West Texas way of life with a no-nonsense British sense of humor and an unflagging devotion to his practice.

Prior to his decision to come to Tahoka, the doctor had visited South Hampton, R.I., Lancaster City, Penn., Abilene, Tx., San Francisco, Calif., and Denver, Colo. In an interview in The Lynn County News June 21, 1973 edition, Dr. Wright said one of the reasons for his deciding on Tahoka was that he didn't feel he was as needed and wanted anywhere else as in Tahoka, and that he liked Tahoka and the surrounding areas, the small town atmosphere, and the friendliness of the people here.

Born in Dublin, Ireland, Dr. Wright went to boarding school, then to Cambridge and London University. He grew up in southern England near the seashore, and had a lucrative medical practice on Hawley Street in London for 10 years. His father was a doctor in the British Navy.

Through contacts he made in London with American oil men and other business leaders, his curiosity about the United States of America was aroused to the point, he said in the earlier interview, where he decided to come and see for himself.

Following his decision to practice in Lynn County, Dr. Wright was welcomed to Tahoka on June 19, 1973 with a large crowd gathering at Lynn County Hospital to greet him. He began his practice on Monday, June 25, 1973, just a few weeks before the new clinic facilities were opened.

Since that time, Dr. Richard F. Wright has seen approximately a quarter of a million patients - that's 40 patients a day, five days a week, for 21 years, plus an untold number of patients "worked into his schedule" without an appointment, and a multitude of emergency room patients in the dark hours of the night.

He estimates he has delivered more than 800 babies into this world, experienced a lot of tragedy and triumph, had a lot of luck (both good and bad) and has made lots of friends and very few enemies. "I've been sustained by friendship and trust, and this county has been very good to me," said the doctor, who, though small in stature, has taken upon his shoulders the burden of caregiver for many of his neighbors and friends during these past two decades.

Now, at a time when Dr. Wright is taking some time off to recuperate from health problems, Dr. Donald Freitag is the other full-time physician on staff at the local clinic. "I'd like to sing Dr. Freitag's praises," said Dr. Wright. "How lucky we are to acquire such a friendly, sensible young doctor. He is a good man, he knows his stuff and is very conscientious," he added.

"I'd like to say, about the hospital, that we have tried to be most things to most people," said Dr. Wright. "If we felt patients needed specialized help, we were not jealous about where they needed to go to obtain that care," he added.

"I believe we have kept the death rate in this hospital at a very low level, considering the number of elderly people in this county. I have seen this hospital come through some very difficult days, and have been continually amazed at how loyal the county has been to the hospital," said the doctor.

In the past several years, in the precious few spare hours available to the doctor, he acquired another interest quite separate from the medical field - literally in the fields a few miles from Tahoka, where he owns grape vineyards.

"People think I came here [to America] for the money," said the doctor, "but I didn't... I came here for the weather! You've no idea how awful it is in Europe. I came here with a few pennies in my pocket, and I now have the largest debt in the county," he added with a wry sense of humor, referring to his grape vineyard efforts during the past 13 years.

"I'm proud to have been a pioneer in the grape-growing industry here, even though it hasn't worked out very well... but at least I stuck it out for 13 years," said Dr. Wright this week. "Through my vineyards, I have been able to identify with the hopes and disappointments of every farmer in the area," he added.

And what, if any, regrets does the good doctor have? "I'm sorry I've not developed a Texas accent," said Dr. Wright in his clipped British tones. "It was just too hard."

Incidentally, even though health problems are forcing him to spend less time with his patients, don't count Dr. Wright down and out just yet. "I've still got one or two more babies I can deliver - I'm not through yet," he said with a smile.

Gary Michael Smith recently enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training in the Navy's Airman Apprentice program.

Gary, son of Eunice Stephens of Tahoka, enlisted under the Delayed Entry Program, and reported to Recruit Training Great Lakes, Illinois in March for active duty, where he will undergo basic training.

Upon completion of basic training, Smith will attend three weeks of schooling at Great Lakes, Illinois in the Airman Apprentice field.

Under the Airman Apprentice Program, persons who have not chosen a specific career field receive general aviation training prior to being assigned to a Navy ship or squadron. Once at their first assignment, they may train in a job, or request additional Navy schooling in a field for which they are qualified.

Smith is a 1992 graduate of Tahoka High School.

USDA Announces Support Level, By Type, For 1994 Peanut Crop

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Commodity Credit Corporation announced the average support levels by type, quality and location for the 1994 peanut crop.

The figures are based on national price support levels of $678.36 per short ton for quota peanuts and $132 per short ton for additional peanuts. Additional peanuts are those peanuts that are produced in excess of the quota established for a farm or on a farm that has no quota.

The quota support level by type for an average grade ton of 1994-crop peanuts will be: $675.30 for Virginia-type peanuts; $682.26 for Runner-type peanuts; $634.46 for Spanish-type peanuts; $675.30 for Valencia-type peanuts from the Southwest area which are suitable for cleaning and roasting; and $634.46 for other Valencias.

The method of computing the price support levels for 1994 crop peanuts and the grades within the types is the same as last year.

For each percent of sound mature kernels in a ton, including sound split kernels, the support level will be: Virginia-type peanuts, $9,807; Runner-type peanuts, $9,615; Spanish-type peanuts, $9,567; Valencia-type peanuts in the Southwest area which are suitable for cleaning and roasting, $10,166; and other Valencias, $9,567.

The loan value for additional peanuts is 19.46 percent of the applicable quota support level. The factor represents the ratio of the $132 per short ton national support level for additional peanuts to the $678.36 per short ton national support level for quota peanuts.

As with the 1993 crop, the price support level for 1994-crop peanuts on which a growth regulator was used will be discounted by 100 percent from the price support level that otherwise would be applicable.

The actual price support levels for an individual lot of peanuts will depend on the percent of the various sizes of kernels in each ton of peanuts and other factors.

THS Agricultural Program Is More Than 'Cows And Plows'

by KRIS BELEW

Texas Tech Journalism Student
While the history and math courses have stayed the same at Tahoka High School, the Agricultural Sciences program has made timely changes.

No longer is the agriculture program considered a 'cows and plows' program. Therefore, the state modified the agriculture program to better represent the agricultural industry as it is today.

In previous years, students were offered four years of general agriculture courses where all topics were covered. Now, courses cover different subjects so the student can focus on a specific area of agriculture.

Five different courses are offered each semester at THS, and Denny Belew, who has been the agricultural sciences instructor for 10 years here, likes to use the "hands on" approach when teaching students. This year 67 students are enrolled in the ag program.

The five courses offered the first semester were as follows:

- Home Maintenance and Improvement: "Students learn to paint up, put up, and fix up," said Belew. Basic wiring and plumbing are also covered.

- Diversified Agriculture: An upper level course where all areas are covered from livestock production to crop insurance.

- Agricultural sciences 101: A basic, freshman course which covers identification of livestock breeds, entrepreneurship, and FFA leadership and parliamentary procedure. Students also build bread boxes; however, they were unable to do so this year due to unforeseen circumstances.

- Animal and Plant Production: A follow-up class which expands on what was taught in 101.
- Introduction to Ag Mechanics: A general course on tool identification and use.

Second semester courses were:

- Wildlife Management: Students take the hunter safety exam. Everyone born after 1970 must pass the exam before hunting in Texas.

- Animal Sciences: Students cover animal nutrition, reproduction, breeds, anatomy and physiology.

- Ag Structures: Students learn to weld, repair farm structures, and this year built barrow houses for the school farm.

- Agricultural Sciences 102: a continuation of 101.

- Advanced Ag Mechanics: Students have built a livestock trailer and a trailer for the band equipment the last two years.

Sophomore Clay Taylor said, "Before I took ag, I did not know the difference in a cutting torch and a welder, but now I know how to use all the equipment at the shop and my own farm."

Belew not only stresses participation in the classroom, but outside the classroom as well. This is where the students apply what they have learned through the FFA program.

The FFA program is primarily involved with livestock showing. This year Tahoka FFA exhibitors won either a Breed Champion or Reserve Breed Champion at every major show in Texas and ended up winning more than $24,000 in prize money. Sixteen lambs and over 50 barrows were on feed this year in the FFA program.

Scholarship is also important in Tahoka ag. For the past 10 years, students who have been through the agricultural program have earned more than $97,000 in agricultural scholarships. Tahoka FFA will offer its own scholarship this year with proceeds made from its barrow jackpot.

Region XVII Non-Traditional Vocational Student of the Year was senior Darla Willis. She said "Ag and FFA have given me more confidence and helped me to grow in the area of leadership."

FFA also has a livestock and dairy judging team, an annual fruit sale at Christmas, and volunteers at the Hospital Auxiliary Fun and Food Festival where they help set up and donate items for auction.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE READERS OF THE LYNN COUNTY NEWS AND ALL OTHER AREA RESIDENTS

Dear friends and neighbors:

Recently it came to our attention that you may have received a letter from one or more "out of town" funeral homes urging you to seek pre-need services from them. In our opinion, this is against the funeral directors' code of ethics.

We do not wish to retaliate by sending letters to residents of other towns where there is a funeral director. We would like you to know, however, that these same pre-need services plus many more are available right here in your home town.

If you have any questions or want to discuss this situation, please call or come by and visit us.

Thank you very much for your continued support and friendship.

Sincerely,

WHITE FUNERAL HOME

spontaneously rose to their feet for a standing ovation when Katrina Wright accepted the "Outstanding Citizenship Award" for her husband, who was hospitalized and unable to attend the event. "Words cannot express our gratitude for your personal sacrifices and professional dedication over the past 21 years... To a truly devoted physician and friend, Dr. Wright, we love you," the mayor recited from the plaque.

Solomon also spoke about his appreciation for Lynn County Hospital and its dedicated staff, ladies auxiliary, and EMS services. "A lot of people don't understand how important this hospital is to this county," said the mayor. "Many lives have been saved through the care given at our local hospital... if we lost the hospital, we would not only lose medical care, which is so obviously important, but the economic impact would be staggering," he added.

The AeroCare helicopter flew in and landed near the show barn facilities Saturday evening, and allowed children and adults alike to view up close the multi-million-dollar medical chopper. Pilot W.J. McMahon, after approval from superiors, offered to auction off a ride on the helicopter, saying that "people here are so nice to us, I want to do something for you, too." The helicopter ride, which AeroCare is not usually allowed to offer, went to high bidder Carol Miller, who said the ride was for their 6-year-old son Cade who was looking forward to the event with great anticipation. The ride is scheduled for this week.

The evening drew to a close at 9 p.m. when the last item was auctioned. "We want to thank the Tahoka FFA and Denny Belew, and Jeri and Lonnie Akard and the community service workers, for all their help in setting up in preparation for the auction, and for cleaning up the facilities afterward," said Mrs. Pridmore. "They were a great help to us," she added.

She also extended words of gratitude to auctioneers Billy Miller and Melvin Edwards, emcees Cal Huffaker and Glo Hays, and spotters Denny Belew, Rex Rash, Stanley Young, Math Bartley and Wesley Boone, who voluntarily donated their time and talents for the event. "A special thanks goes to everyone who donated auction items, or who otherwise helped with the event, and especially to those who attended and donated funds for such a worthy cause," added Mrs. Pridmore.

THS Spanish Classes Sponsor Events For Cinco de Mayo

Tahoka High School Spanish classes, under the direction of teacher Danna Curry, sponsored events for Cinco de Mayo at Tahoka Elementary School this week. Students in Spanish I, 2 and 3 classes read the history of Cinco de Mayo in English and Spanish, read books to elementary students in English and Spanish, played games of Spanish origin with students, and made tambourines, as well as sponsoring a coloring contest for students in grades 1-6, and making piñatas which are on display in the elementary Learning Resources Center.

First place winners in the coloring contest in their grades are Stephanie Ann Leal, kindergarten; Michelle Uptain, 1st grade; Cristal Amador, 2nd grade; Melissa McCleskey, 3rd grade; Sarah Hawthorne, 4th grade; Janet Dotson, 5th grade; and Lorena Pando, 6th grade.

These winners are invited to share a Mexican dinner on Friday prepared by the members of the Spanish 3 class, who are Juan Luna, Diana Saldaña, Jerry Torres and Lynnette Treviño. The dinner will consist of fajitas, enchiladas, rice, queso con salsa (cheese dip), guacamole, chips, and cake.

Cinco de Mayo is celebrated throughout Mexico and the United States. Festivities include parades, breaking piñatas, and reenacting the battle of Puebla.

In 1862 the French accused Mexico of not paying debts to European countries, and thus began the invasion of Mexico by the French armies. Mexico signed a peace agreement with other European countries, but could not meet the demands of the French. France, under the rule of Napoleon III, wanted to build an empire in Mexico.

Napoleon ordered his troops to march to Mexico City. The French troops were stopped by the poorly armed Mexican army led by General Zaragoza in a small town named Puebla. Mexico defeated France in this battle on the fifth of May, which now is celebrated as Cinco de Mayo.

Memorials To ACS Fund Research, Programs

Memorial Day. It is a time for remembrance. It can also be a time to turn losses into victories.

Making an American Cancer Society Memorial donation can help fund the Society's fight against cancer. Contributions will help fund a balanced program of research, education and patient services.

"We call them Living Memorials," said Mack Ray Hernandez, Texas Division income development chairman. "A gift today can help spare others tomorrow."

Contributions to the American Cancer Society fund programs and materials used in local communities.

"The American Cancer Society is the community-based, voluntary organization dedicated to controlling cancer through research, education and service," Hernandez said. "Our programs and materials are managed by local volunteers. That's important for people to know when they contributed to this important cause."

Contributions should include the name of the deceased in whose name the memorial is being made, along with the name and address of the person who should receive acknowledgement of the contribution.

To make a Memorial contribution, contact Sue Tekell at First National Bank. Ms. Tekell is the Memorial Chairman of the local Lynn County Unit of the American Cancer Society or interested persons may call 1-800-ACS-2345.

Playa Basin Research To Be Discussed At Symposium

Playa basins have often been called "The High Plains area's most underutilized natural resource." The more than 19,000 playas scattered over the area constitute a critical element in the water resources of the area and will be the topic of discussion May 18-20 at the Playa Basin Symposium at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Recharge to the Ogallala Aquifer, playa basin modification, infiltration rates, water quality, playas used in stormwater management, playas used in waste management systems, wildlife management, and agricultural production, are just a few of the topics that will be discussed at the symposium.

According to Dr. Lloyd Urban, director of the Texas Tech University Water Resources Center and Chairman of the symposium, "The purpose of this symposium is to bring together as many individuals as possible to share their experiences with each other and with those in attendance — scientists, engineers, land owners, wildlife management specialists, and others who have an interest in and a concern for playas."

Some of the top researchers in their fields will present papers at the symposium.

Senator Teel Bivins will present the keynote address on May 18, to open the symposium. Senator John T. Montford will speak during the luncheon on the same day; and Representative David Counts, Chairman of the House Natural Resources Committee, will speak at the Luncheon on May 19.

May 20, the last day of the symposium, will feature a tour of the High Plains area, visiting playa basins that represent the different uses addressed during the sessions.

Event sponsors will also host a bar-b-que picnic the first night at the Ranching Heritage Center, located on the Texas Tech campus.

Registration costs for the symposium is $45, which includes three meals and all sessions and tours. A copy of the proceedings can also be purchased for $25. Participants are encouraged to register by May 6.

A registration form can be obtained by calling the Water Resources Center at (806) 742-3597.

ARE YOUR NOSE DROPS CONTAMINATED?

Nose drops are helpful in the treatment of adults and children. Most physicians prescribe them. When you get them from your pharmacy they are pure and potent. But as soon as you take out and use the dropper, it is exposed to virulent germs which may enter the bottle, multiply and cause a severe infection. Removal of the protective cap of the spray bottles permits these germs to collect at the top to infect you.

To avoid this, cleanse the dropper and top of the bottle with alcohol before replacing it. Examine partly used nose drops and if the contents become cloudy, or a sediment develops, don't use them. It may be dangerous.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty."

Pages From The Past...

by Vondell Elliott

The following excerpts were taken from past issues of The Lynn County News.

English Opens New "Talkie" Theatre Is One Of Best In The Entire State

The new English Theatre is open. All work on this excellent new building has been completed, and Tahoka now has one of the most beautiful theatre buildings, one of the best equipped "talkie" theatres in all Texas. Those in a position to know, declare it to be the best of any on the entire plains and the best in Texas for its size.

Built of brick, tile and concrete, Egyptian style of architecture, this new building is one of the most valuable additions made to Tahoka in several years, both from a commercial standpoint and from the standpoint of beauty....

The outside of the building is finished in a light gray brick, trimmed with a darker gray, and occupies a ground space of 40x100 feet. Over the entrance at the center front are lights around the border; over this the electric sign bordered with more chaser lights and bearing the word, "English." Four bracket lights also adorn the front.

At the left front of the building is a small store space and on the right the office of Mr. and Mrs. D.B. English, owners and managers of the new show place and also of the other English theatre...

Giving Trial To Irrigation

Louis Shambek Will Operate Pump This Year; Plans To Water Several Acres

Louis Shambek, a prominent farmer residing on Highway No. 9 west of Wilson, has decided to try the virtues of irrigation on his farm.

He recently sunk two wells and installed pumps. One of the wells is a ten-inch hole a little more than 100 feet deep, and the power for pumping is to be supplied by a Ford V-8 engine. The other is a four-inch hole, about the same depth, and a regular gasoline motor is to be used.

Mr. Shambek hopes to be able to irrigate several acres of land with these outfits if the expense does not prove to be too heavy. Many farmers will watch the equipment with much interest.

Twenty-five wells have been drilled in Lubbock County recently, it is said, while there are scores of new wells in Hale, Floyd, Crosby and Lamb counties.

CONSERVATION PRACTICES- Willie Neiman, who lives west of Petty, uses perennial grass windstrips to control wind erosion on his highly erodible cropland.

Conservation Practices Benefit Area Farmers

Willie Neiman, who lives west of Petty, uses perennial grass windstrips to control erosion on his highly erodible cropland. The windstrips protect his young cotton from damage, reduces terrace maintenance, and complies with the provisions of the Food Security Act, according to sources at the Soil Conservation Service in Tahoka.

The back toe of all terrace ridges are planted to permanent grass. Neiman used Ermelo Lovegrass because it gets off to a good start in the spring, which helps block the wind when it is time to plant. Neiman does not have more than 180 feet between the grass strips. The grass strips are a minimum of 16 feet wide.

In addition to using windstrips to meet the requirements of his conservation plan, Neiman also spreads burrs on about 35 acres each year. Neiman said, "The cotton just looks better when the burrs were spread on the field than the areas that did not receive any burrs. Where the burrs were spread, the previous winter, the cotton was not as affected by the drought. When it did rain in August the cotton responded better," he explained.

Neiman said, "The gin manager tries not to send burrs to a field that will cause a big weed problem. Where the burrs were spread this past year, it did not cause any additional weed problems."

He checked the area where the burrs were spread on a regular basis, but extra spot spraying was not required. "When using burrs there will always be some weed seed," Neiman said. To take care of any potential problem he uses an extra quarter of a pint of treflan per acre where he spread the burrs.

After the winds during the end of December, where he had spread the burrs there was not any visible sign of erosion. "The burrs not only reduce wind erosion, but they also add humus back to the soil," he said. Neiman maintains all terrace blocks and also uses furrow dikes to help conserve water.

Producers who have any questions are encouraged to call the local Soil Conservation Service at 998-4507 or come by the office located at 1647 Ave. J in Tahoka. Producers are reminded that cost-share assistance is available for both terrace construction and seeding terraces to a permanent grass.

Rick Perry Is Speaker At RC&D Meeting

Texas Agricultural Commissioner Rick Perry was keynote speaker at the annual meeting of the West-Texas Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) Area, Inc. last Thursday. The event, held at Poka-Lambro Telephone Cooperative's headquarters, involved representatives from 16 counties, including Lynn, and included reports from the West-Texas Board of Directors to sponsors in each county of the accomplishments of the RC&D during the past year.

L.J. Sanders, Jr., President of the West-Texas RC&D, welcomed sponsors to the annual meeting, noting that the host Lynn County RC&D group was one of the most active in the 16-county area.

ASCS Reminds

Foreigners Of AFIDA Requirement

"Foreigners who have bought or sold agricultural land in Lynn County are reminded to report the transaction to our office within 90 days," Jimmy Woodard, County Executive Director of the Lynn County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said this week.

To avoid Federal penalties and monetary fines, foreign owners of US agricultural land must report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases of 10 years or more, and land-use changes to (ASCS) within 90 days.

"The report is required by the Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act, (AFIDA) which is still in effect," Woodard said. Foreign investors are required to file a report if all or part of any agricultural land is sold, or the title is transferred to another person.

Failure to file the AFIDA report could result in a civil penalty of up to 25 percent of the fair market value of the interest held in the agricultural land, he said.

For reporting purposes, agricultural land is any tract of more than 10 acres in the aggregate now in the farming or ranching operation. "This includes land in agricultural use when purchased, as well as land later converted to agricultural use," the ASCS official said.

County government offices, realtors, attorneys and others involved in real estate transactions are asked to notify the foreign investor of these reporting requirements.

about the future of Texas, saying, "I think we can see a truly golden era in the ag industry in Texas, but it's going to take some changes. The future of Texas lies in its agricultural sector - creating jobs and a new wealth."

He explained that other states process an average of 20% of raw products produced in the state, but that Texas processes only 8% of its raw products. "If Texas is going to rely on itself, we must focus on value added processing to create jobs in the private sector. If Texas processed 20% of its raw products, such as cotton, we would see an added 26 billion dollars every year for Texas economy. Right now, we send it somewhere else," he added.

The meeting concluded with a meal provided by Poka-Lambro.

FNB Rated One Of Best In Nation

First National Bank of Tahoka has been notified by Sheshunoff Information Services, a well-known bank rating firm, that they have been rated one of the best banks in the nation for the period ending December 31, 1993.

First National Bank of Tahoka will be included in Sheshunoff's book, "The Highest Rated Banks In America."

Tahoka DECA Group Competes At National Conference

THS DECA members John Quintanilla, Will Hudgens, Doug Smith, Trent Scott, Robbie Webster and their coordinator, Glo Hays attended the DECA National Career Development Conference in Detroit, Michigan, April 22-27. THS senior Scott said, "Representing THS at this convention was a once in a lifetime opportunity for all of us. The whole trip was really cool."

Quintanilla, Texas DECA President for 1993-94, conducted National Officer interviews, attended numerous receptions for state officers, and presented the Texas flag to an audience of about 8,000 national DECA members. These activities conclude his year-long responsibilities as a state officer.

TEA Administrator Emmett Eary, DECA State Advisor, commended Quintanilla highly for his excellent service to Texas DECA during the past year.

Quintanilla said about the past year as State President, "It taught me to learn from yesterday's mistakes, to cherish today's memories, and look forward to tomorrow's adventures. Thanks to everyone at school and within the community for all their support in this endeavor. I couldn't have made it through the year without all the people who stood behind me: my Mom, who has been very inspirational to me and has stood by my side all the way; my Dad, who goes out of his way to help me; Uncle Freddi, Aunt Teresa, and the rest of the family; all the teachers at THS who went the extra mile to help me through the year; and Steve Sanders, who backed me all the way."

Smith, Hudgens, Scott and Webster attended the conference to compete in the Civic Consciousness Chapter Project event. They submitted a 50-page written manuscript to judges prior to the conference; during the conference they orally presented a description of the beach volleyball court they constructed last fall in Tahoka's Mini-Park using the expertise and financial aid of city officials.

Smith, Hudgens, and Mrs. Hays attended a Civic Consciousness luncheon which was sponsored by Seven-Up Bottling Company. At the luncheon they were introduced to this year's Muscular Dystrophy Poster Child and his family. They also heard Seven-Up CEO Tom Beyers speak.

During the luncheon 16 CCP finalists were announced. "We were so disappointed when we didn't get to advance in the competition," said Hudgens. "We became very aware that we should have carried the project one step further by having a volleyball tournament and donating the money to the Muscular Dystrophy Association. We know now what to do to win next year," he added.

Mrs. Hays said, "I was so proud of the work these students did this year. They worked so hard on the project; even if they didn't win at the national level they helped provide Tahoka citizens with an additional recreational facility. They really became more conscious of their civic duty by participating in this event."

While competing in Detroit the participants learned about Canadian currency, the Great Lakes, crossing the border to enter or exit Canada, Texas draws, and what your legs feel like after climbing 50 flights of stairs when the elevators are busy and you're pressed for time. "All in all it was one of the best groups of students I've travelled with. They really kept me hopping," said Mrs. Hays.

While in Detroit THS DECA members learned that the THS Marketing Education program has been selected as a national Model Program internship participant for 1994-96. Tahoka's program was one of two Texas programs to be recommended by TEA; it was one of several national programs to be accepted as a participant.

Mrs. Hays said, "This program will really enhance the marketing education program at THS. The MarkED Resource Center of Columbus, Ohio, will provide training, guidance, materials, and other services to benefit this program. I am thrilled at the prospect of working with such a distinguished staff of professionals," she added.

Milk Stops Coffee From Thinning Bones

A report in the Journal of the AMA backs up previous findings that drinking caffeinated coffee can contribute to osteoporosis (a loss of protein tissue from the bone that causes bones to become fragile and break). This new report states that the damage can be offset by women drinking a glass of milk every day. If you enjoy caffeinated coffee, be sure to have a glass of milk daily.
