Two Coaches Hired; TISD To Employ Additional Special Education Teachers

by JUANELL JONES

A new slate of coaches for Tahoka Independent School District was finalized Thursday night with two more teacher/coach contracts approved by the Board of Trustees, and trustees affirmed employing two additional professional teaching staff and two instructional aides for the district's Special Education program. A coaching bonus increment schedule, textbook custodian, and food service authorization was also approved during the meeting.

Kirk L. Ellis, 31, of Lubbock, was offered a one-year probationary teacher/coach contract with a $3,000 coaching bonus to fill the position of head girls volleyball coach, assistant girls basketball coach, and secondary English teacher for Tahoka High School. Ellis is a 1985 graduate of West Texas State University and has coached in River Road ISD, Idalou and Slaton.

Steven L. Crosno, 37, of Lubbock was offered a one-year probationary teacher/coach contract with a $1,500 coaching bonus to fill a position as Middle School volleyball coach and Social Studies teacher. Crosno will assist in the girls athletic program at TISD. He was a substitute teacher at Lubbock Christian High School, where he graduated in 1975, and is a 1994 Lubbock Christian University graduate.

Ellis and Crosno complete a slate of six new coaches for the district, who will work under the direction of TISD Athletic Director Darrell Draper and with current head girls basketball coach Cindy Gardner.

The other four coaches new to the district were present at Thursday night's board meeting. Draper introduced Jimmy Burleson, Troy Hinds, Cory Barnes and Robert White to trustees during open forum.

In other business, trustees authorized Superintendent David Hutton to employ two additional teachers and two aides for the district's Special Education program on the elementary and middle school/high school campuses. Salaries for the four Special Ed positions will be provided from state funding designated for that program.

Trustees approved a food service authorization for district personnel, named LaJuana Ashcraft as Textbook Custodian for the school district for 1994-95 and unanimously endorsed Cindy Purdy from Muleshoe as a candidate for the Board of Trustees for Region 17 Texas Association of School Boards. A coaching bonus increment schedule was approved, and several district policies pertaining to student conduct, activities and rights, term contracts, and employee standards of conduct were approved. Pat Williams, a school secretary, addressed the board with questions concerning her salary.

Bookkeeper Loretta Tekell gave a financial report, noting an account balance in all funds of $1,530,765.95 and a 93.64% tax collection to date, with expectations of reaching a 95% collection rate. Trustees approved monthly bills, including a $6,290 expenditure for TASB Superintendent Search Services.

Dr. Duane Carter attended the meeting as his last official duty as superintendent of TISD, and Supt. Hutton scheduled a board training and workshop session for Monday, June 27.

All trustees were present for the 3-1/2 hour meeting which included a two-hour executive session and adjourned at 11 p.m.

Almost $2400 Raised At O'Donnell

A fund-raising event held in O'Donnell Friday and Saturday raised $2388 to benefit the O'Donnell Community Center for needed renovations. "That's Entertainment," a musical featuring a large cast of O'Donnell residents, was presented at the O'Donnell High School auditorium both nights.

Sponsors of the fund-raising event was the 1946 Study Club.

Pork Chops Among Items Stolen Here

One wreck, two assault incidents, a case of forgery and a burglary in which pork chops and ground beef were among the stolen items were investigated by law enforcement officers in Tahoka and Lynn County during the last week.

On Main St. just south of the Lockwood traffic signal Thursday a 1983 Ford pickup driven by Cody Heath Hale, 18, of Tahoka and a 1984 Buick driven by Frances Salinas Flores, 52, of Tahoka, were involved in a collision. There were no injuries.

Sheriff's officers are investigating a report of forgery of several checks on the account of a Wilson business owner. Five checks for amounts totaling about $1500 were cashed at various places in Tahoka, Slaton and Lubbock. A suspect is being sought.

Peggy Morton of Wilson reported a two-year-old self-propelled lawn mower and other yard tools stolen from their residence on Houston St. Tuesday or Wednesday of last week.

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated two assault reports, including one in which a woman complained she was struck in the face by the fist of another woman, and one in which a female said she was attacked by three other acquaintances. No charges were filed in either case.

The home of Sulema Gonzales on Ave. J was burglarized Saturday, and missing were items valued at a total of $140, including pork chops, beef, chicken nuggets, Spanish and country music cassette tapes, a clock radio, small TV set and a Singer vacuum cleaner.

An O'Donnell man was questioned after he reportedly threatened to shoot another man. No charges were filed.

In jail during the week were two persons on charges of criminal trespassing, and two for driving while intoxicated, first offense, one of which included a separate charge of fleeing.

MAYBE THE WAY Lubbock wastes its money seems like something we don't need to be concerned about, living out here in Lynn County, but most of us do pay part of the Lubbock taxes (every time we buy something in Lubbock), and it seems to be incredibly dumb of the Lubbock city council to authorize spending a million dollars to try to influence some military and accountant types in Washington to leave Reese Air Base open.

The first step apparently was to hire some guy to lobby the commission which decides which bases to close and which ones to leave open. Lubbock hired this "military expert" for a cool $10,000 a month, and expects to need his services for about a year.

That figures out to $120,000 a year, somewhat more than most of us get for talking to people and attending parties. Figuring there are about 22-23 working days a month, this also means he earns about $450 a day.

There is a commission in Washington charged with deciding which bases to close every year or so as the military makes these moves to save money under a reduced military budget. But somebody, maybe on the commission, and maybe the Air Force chief of staff, or maybe Hillary Clinton, will likely go down the list and say, "close this one and that one."

In other words, I feel 97 per cent sure Lubbock is just throwing away its money, because no matter how many facts and figures they lay on the commission about how much Reese means to the Lubbock economy, the commission is not likely to be impressed. They are going to close it or not close it according to their own needs and wishes, regardless of the impact on the local community.

Of course, if they could find out who really decides, Lubbock could offer the entire million bucks as a bribe to leave Reese alone.

KNOTHOLES: I heard the other day that "a real mower does the best job of cutting Tex-turf grass." Well, of course it does. A toy mower or a fake mower just couldn't cut it (yeah, I know. They meant "reel" mower)... Rush Limbaugh the other night re-broadcast the incident where a live lobster was chopped in two and cooked, the same incident which had a lot of lobster rights people all upset. One point Limbaugh made which I agreed with is why in the world anybody would want to eat one of those ugly things in the first place.

Thornberry Visits Tahoka

Mac Thornberry, Republican candidate for U.S. Congress, seeking to represent this county in the Congress, was in Tahoka Monday morning to meet with the public at First National Bank's meeting room.

Thornberry grew up on the family ranch near Clarendon, and still lists Clarendon as home. He is a graduate of Clarendon schools, Texas Tech and the University of Texas law school. He has worked for Congressmen Larry Combest and Tom Loeffler and in the Reagan administration. He and his wife have two young children.

"I'm running for Congress because I believe that our country is headed in the wrong direction," he said. "Government is too big, spends too much and is moving away from the basic values that made our country great."

He will be on the November ballot, opposing the current representative from this district, Democrat Bill Sarpaulis.

PREPARING FOR MURALS - Work began this week on buildings downtown surrounding the Lankford park, in preparation for painting murals on the walls depicting Lynn County history. Here, jail trustees scrape a wall on the north side of the park area. The Lankford Park Committee, headed by Amy Preston through the Tahoka Rotary Club Community Service project, plans to have murals painted on the walls surrounding the area where the former Lankford Variety building was razed, and plant trees and grass to make a park in the downtown area. ## Tahoka Gospel Opry No Longer To Be Held

The Tahoka Gospel Opry, held monthly for the last 14 months, no longer can be held, John Webster of the sponsoring Vision Ministries said this week.

The Opry has featured the West Texas Praise Team, also sponsored by Vision Ministries and guest performers and groups from a wide area of Texas and New Mexico. It has attracted an average of more than 200 spectators, many from out of town. "We believe the Opry has been very good for Tahoka, and we regret having to stop it," said Webster. "But expenses of the production have been quite a bit higher than what it brings in, and we recently were advised that the building may no longer be available for the Opry."

"The owners of the building have been very gracious to allow us to use it for more than a year, and we appreciate it."

Webster indicated that at some time in the future, more Gospel Oprys may be offered in Tahoka, but probably not on a monthly basis, and not unless some suitable location for the event could be obtained. In the meantime, he is directing plans for the second Lubbock Gospel Opry, scheduled for July 23 in the Civic Center Theater.

"I want to emphasize to everyone that Vision Ministries will continue, and that the West Texas Praise Team will continue to perform at churches and events, and will assist or lead revivals anywhere," he said. "The singers all appreciate the support and encouragement of our many friends."

The Praise Team will sing at the Greenwood Gospel Opry Saturday night, starting at 7 p.m. at Greenwood Elementary School, and has dates confirmed in July at Azle and Weatherford.

Wells Family Tahoka Citizens Since Town Started, Recall First Houses

Last Saturday marked the thirtieth anniversary of the J.S. Wells family residence in Tahoka. They arrived in this city on August 19, 1903.

"When we arrived here," W.C. Wells states, "you could graze your stock on the public square. We set up a tent on the lots now occupied by dad's house, and the next morning he had a man drilling a well. A few days later he took three or four wagons to Stanton to buy lumber for the house, the fourth residence, I believe to be erected in Tahoka."

"Charley Doak had built a house on the present site of Higginbotham-Bartlett Company. He was Lynn County's first sheriff and now lives at Cedar Lakes, west of O'Donnell. W.R. Hampton, now of Clyde, had built a home, the house just across the street north from the Sunshine Inn. The other was the three-room home of Ben Taylor, located on the site of the old Bob Haynes home. A few other families were living in tents."

"Sweet and King (B.G. Sweet and L.E. King) were building a store building on the present site of J.S. Wells & Sons, and had received several loads of stock for the new business. Dad bought the store from Sweet and King that fall. R.D. Morris had a little store about where Harris & Applewhite's building is, and W.R. Hampton had one on the lot now occupied by the First National Bank, and between the two the post office, about ten by twelve feet, was later built. I believe Mrs. Ed Henderson was the first postmaster."

"However, when we arrived there was no post office here. Mail was brought over to Tahoka from the post office at Lynn in a buggy by F.M. Sherrod."

"Work had just started on Lynn County's first court house, now the St. Clair Hotel building. There was a water well on the north side of the square, but it only produced a stream of water about the size of a pencil, and people had to stand in line to await their turn to get a bucket of water. There was another well about where the city water plant now stands, where we drew water by hand. It took us a half a day to draw enough water to fill up our forty or fifty head of stock. I thought we would starve to death the first year."

"The next morning after we arrived in Tahoka, I went out on the prairie about where 'Buck' Walker's house now is, and killed a big buck antelope. There were lots of antelope on the plains then."

The Wells store is the oldest business establishment in Lynn County, and it is doubtful there is a business house on the entire South Plains that has been in business continuously under the same ownership and management for thirty years. Lamesa or Brownfield had not been established at the time. Mr. Wells bought out Sweet & King, and oldtimers cannot recall any business in Lubbock that has been operating continuously since 1903.

The Wells family has long been prominent in business, politics and social life of this county, and has had a big hand in building our present little city. J.S. Wells was sheriff of Lynn County in the early days and both he and several of his sons have at various times held positions of honor as public officials.

If your bank doesn't know your name ... Forget theirs.

In times like these, you need to know who your banker is today. And who he'll be tomorrow.

You need a banker who knows who you are. With one of those big, out-of-state holding company banks, it might be kind of tough to find a banker who remembers your face, let alone your name.

Truth is, as fast as those out-of-state banks change, it might be kind of tough for you to remember their name.

You don't have that problem when you bank with neighbors. We're one of the "I's of Texas." Your Independent "hometown bank" that helped build this town. And chances are, we know each other already.

You Need to Know

Government bureaucracy is presently bringing about changes that are reshaping and redefining what it is to be an American.

For far too long the majority has remained silent. In the meantime, as we sit idly by, many of our freedoms - the same freedoms our forefathers fought and died for - are one by one being stripped away.

Our desire with this column is to motivate you to take action and let your voice be heard. We wish to inform you of proposed bills and guidelines that are being considered by our elected officials. It will be your responsibility, individually, to take action by phone, letter or personal contact as issues arise.

Many have never been involved in the political process, but we have come to a crossroad. As citizens of the United States, we must find it necessary, as never before, to stand up and be counted.

The excess and abuses of government are bankrupting both our own future and the futures of our children and grandchildren. Together, we can and will rescue our nation - before it is too late.

Lynn County 4-H'er Receives 'Beating The Odds' Award

Felicia Davis, a 4-H member from Lynn County, was among eight 4-H members to receive the Texas 4-H "Beating the Odds" Award during State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 8.

Felicia, who lives in Tahoka, was recognized for her distinguished achievements and significant personal accomplishments in 4-H.

"The 'Beating the Odds' Program, which is sponsored by Anco Insurance of Bryan-College Station, awards 4-H members who have overcome significant obstacles despite having to deal with limiting circumstances," said Dr. Nelson Jacob, 4-H and youth development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The program demonstrates the ability of the 4-H program to deal with the educational needs of highly diverse audiences," Jacob said. "It also shows how 4-H helps build successes out of kids."

Miss Davis has overcome many hardships to become president of her 4-H club in Lynn County. She has participated in 4-H foods and nutrition projects and clothing and textiles over the past two years. For six years, she's been involved in 4-H. Her leadership project record book advanced to state competition last year.

Felicia has something in common with the rest of the award recipients," Jacob said. "They have all faced significant challenges and have come through as winners."

'Texas Country Cleanup' To Aid In Disposal Of Pesticides, Oil, Etc.

Farmers and ranchers across the Texas South Plains will have an opportunity to safely dispose of several unwanted items and help protect the environment, without cost of penalty, June 20-24.

That's when "Texas Country Cleanup" will visit area communities to collect and safely dispose of empty pesticide containers, used motor oil and oil filters, used tires and lead-acid batteries.

The collection is being coordinated by the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission and is co-sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Collection dates and sites are: June 22, Brownfield, Terry County Co-Op Gin; June 23, Amherst, Crossroads Gin, and June 24, Abernathy, Abernathy Producers Co-Op. At each site the collection will begin at 8 a.m. and end at noon. Additional collections will be held in Plainview and the Panhandle area in August.

Empty pesticide containers for recycling will be accepted from commercial, non-commercial and private pesticide applicators. These plastic and metal containers must be high pressure or triple rinsed. Containers that aren't properly rinsed will be rejected.

Agricultural producers also may turn in used motor oil and oil filters, used tires which have a rim diameter of less than 25 inches, and lead-acid batteries.

For additional information contact the local Extension Service office.

major smoke damage and light water damage was done to the rest of the building. The probable cause of the fire was an unnoticed cigarette dropped onto an upholstered chair. No injuries were reported.

The department has also responded to two CRP grass fires. One was on John Henderson's farm and was caused by lightning. They spent about five hours working on the fire. The other was in the Hackberry area and caused by burning weeds blowing into some CRP land. This fire took about two hours to control.

Anyone who has questions about this or suspect that their pet needs treatment should contact a vet for more information.

The Chamber of Commerce will be out again this month to pick a Yard of the Month for July so keep the grass trimmed and the flowers watered and blooming.

Ag Agent Director Addresses Group In Open Forum Here

About 25 people attended a public forum Monday evening at the Lynn County Courthouse to hear Dr. Bob Robinson, District Extension Director-Agriculture, speak on the job responsibilities of a county extension agricultural agent.

Dr. Robinson told the group that no applications for the ag agent position in Lynn County have been filed through the extension service, but that he would be recruiting to fill the position with an experienced agent from within the system, preferably one who holds a master's degree and at least two years experience as an agent. He expects the position to be filled by August 1.

Dr. Robinson opened the meeting with an explanation of an ag agent's duties and how an agent was evaluated in their job performance. Theoretically, he said, extension agents should spend about 25% of their time with 4-H youth programs and 75% of their time with adult programs. "In the real world, however, our agents spend more time in youth programs," he noted.

In the High Plains area, he said, both Lynn and Scurry counties have ag agent positions to be filled. "Lynn County's extension budget is in-line with other counties, and we have good support here," said Dr. Robinson. "This meeting shows that you care, and that will impress ag agents... we're going to get a good agent for you - I will work diligently for that," he added.

He explained the hiring process to the group. "I bring my recommendations to the commissioners court with a salary quote from the extension service, and the court may accept or reject my recommendation. The court receives a list of all applicants prior to this visit - I don't want to bring any surprises," he said.

Starting salary for a county extension agent with a B.S. degree is $20,400, or $21,000 with a master's degree, said the director. Salaries are funded by governmental agencies, with approximately 65% from the state, 10% federal funds, and 25% from county funds. The county also provides office space and travel expenses.

All four county commissioners and County Judge J.F. Brandon were present for the public forum.

Lynn County 4-H'ers Place At State 4-H Roundup Contests

Six Lynn County 4-H'ers received high marks in competition at the State 4-H Roundup contest June 6-10 in College Station. They competed with 4-H'ers from across the state of Texas.

Clay Taylor and Shawn Brewer, both of Tahoka, placed third out of 21 entries, with their Method Demonstration. In the Landscape or Production Horticulture contest, they demonstrated how to properly and successfully graft cacti.

Lynn County's senior Consumer Decision Making team also did well, placing second out of 22 teams. Senior team members are Lee Rash of Tahoka, Cody Donald, Jason Marshall and Brandi Gicklhorn, all of Wilson. Marshall also received the 1st High Individual award out of 93 participants. These 4-H'ers judged classes such as health club memberships, telephone answering machines, apartment leases, and child safety seats.

FELICIA DAVIS
Felicia Davis Wins National Award

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Felicia Davis has been named a United States National Award winner in Honor Roll.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Felicia, who attends Tahoka High School, was nominated for this national award by Mrs. Sherri McCord, counselor at the school.

Her biography will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Felicia is the daughter of Aubrey and Marie Davis.

Local Piano Students Enter Compositions

To recognize the importance of the act of composition within piano study, the National Guild of Piano Teachers sponsors a yearly National Composition Test. This test is totally separate from National Auditions and the compositions are adjudicated by composers/educators.

Eric Arellano of Wilson and Kalah Bartley of Tahoka entered compositions in the Test. Eric's composition was entitled "Leaves of Love" and Kalah's composition was entitled "The Mixer." Both students received excellent ratings and are piano students of Mrs. Onita Steinhauer of Wilson.

Thomas Edison's electric voting machine was first used in an election in 1892

HE INCLUDED YOU

In the Old Testament, the Jews realized that they were the "chosen people" of God. They were extremely proud of that fact and even came to be abusive of it. The promise of the coming Messiah was for them and them only, so they thought.

Peter was finally convinced that Jesus was the savior of all people. "...I now realize how true it is that God does not show favoritism but accepts men from every nation who fear Him and do what is right (Acts 10:34)," Peter said. That, my friend, is GOOD NEWS for you and me. We can be the "people of God" if we respect God and obey Him.

We need to realize that this means the loved and the neglected, the friend and the enemy, the beautiful and the ugly, the stranger and the friend -- all need to hear the message of Peter. Everyone can come to Jesus and be saved!

What a wonderful realization! What a wonderful gift from God! All the blessings that come being a child of God can be yours. They are His gift to His people. Who are His people? You are, if you fear Him (have a respect for God) and do what is right. And what is right, obedience to His word.

We invite you to come worship with us. We are a people who rejoice because "He included us."
