

Training Session Here Coordinates Efforts Of Local Rescue Personnel

Emergency rescue was the subject for discussion and training here Saturday as members of four local emergency rescue groups met to coordinate efforts in mutually assisting at accident scenes. Members of the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department, Tahoka Volunteer EMS, Lynn County Sheriff's Department and Tahoka Police Department attended the three-hour training session Saturday afternoon, held on the city-owned lot south of the city warehouse.

Availability and location of rescue equipment was shown, as discussion of helpful ways to mutually assist each group was given. "The event was planned to allow emergency personnel to gain additional experience that will help them do their jobs better," stated Steve Miller, Fire Chief of the Tahoka Fire Dept.

A wrecked car was supplied for the training session by Lynnco Automotive for practice as personnel discussed the coordination of rescue of victims from automobile accidents. "We appreciated the opportunity to discuss rescue operations while not in the middle of a rescue," said Donna Raindl, Tahoka EMS. Robbie Roberson, of the Sheriff's Dept., added, "Practice and discussion always help before an emergency situation comes along."

All four emergency groups are equipped with alarms, pagers or radios that allow quick response when an emergency situation occurs. With communication between the groups as they are enroute to the scene, a coordinated rescue can be completed. "By all working together as we arrive, we can be sure all victims receive attention," said Todd Henry, Tahoka EMS.

Other personnel expressed similar views on the training session. "Training such as this allows us to know the capabilities of our equipment and the need for additional equipment before it is needed for an actual rescue," said Jimmy Woodard, Training Officer, Tahoka Fire Department.

This group of volunteers have dedicated their time to helping the residents of Tahoka and Lynn County as well as individuals traveling through the area.

"These people are ready to stop their activities and respond anytime an emergency arises and their help is needed," said one local resident, adding, "We appreciate their dedication and caring concern, and their willingness to take time from their weekend activities to attend training sessions such as this one."

RESCUE TRAINING - Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department, Volunteer EMS, Police Department and Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. personnel attended a three-hour training session in Tahoka Saturday afternoon to learn more about how to give mutual assistance in coordinating rescue efforts. A wrecked car was provided for practice as personnel discussed rescuing victims from auto accidents. Shown here, from left, are firemen Brad Hammonds, Steve Sanders, Math Bartley and Clint Gardner (with axe), and EMS personnel Jonama Allen, Dee Dee Pridmore, Ginger Henry and Todd Henry.

MONDAY MORNING mailbag: We get a lot of unnecessary garbage crammed into our post office box, both for the newspaper and for me, but sometimes we get things we really are glad to get, like checks (rare), notes of appreciation (also rare), personal notes from Julia Roberts (really rare), etc.

Anyway, some of the things which arrived Monday included:

Three letters containing forms showing how much money we made last year, and we need to report this to IRS. None of the letters offered any clues as to where that money went. We sure don't have it now.

A letter from the church to my wife. I didn't open it, but I suspect it's a plea to her to go out and find somebody else to bring to church instead of that guy who just sits there like a lump on the pew most Sundays.

A letter from my bank explaining that my deposits are supposed to be at least equal to my withdrawals.

Bills from several people who want it right now.

Copies of a couple of magazines, including one called Country, which we take for reasons known only to my wife, even though we don't exactly live in the country.

One odd thing about Monday's mail was that there were no letters from Montgomery Ward or any of those places trying to make me believe I have just won a bunch of money. I get these almost daily. If you have a Ward's card or have ever done business with them, they are mailing you something almost every day, about things they have for sale, merchandise or insurance programs.

And people like Publisher's Clearing House are always sending letters which say, in huge black letters that Dalton Wood Has Just Won A Zillion Dollars!

And then, if you have really good eyes you can just make out the line above that one, written in the same size print they used to choose for writing the Lord's Prayer on a pinhead:

If, by some extremely unlikely chance, you should return the winning number, we'll advise you that

People who send out deals like those should be prosecuted for misleading advertising.

Smokers Sought For 'Quit Smoking' Program

The Lynn County Unit of the American Cancer Society (ACS) is looking for area smokers who would like to quit smoking. If ten or more local people are interested in the American Cancer Society's FreshStart program, the ACS will offer the four-week program locally.

FreshStart is a no-nonsense quit smoking program consisting of four one-hour sessions held during a four-week period. The quit smoking group will be led by a trained ex-smoker through the four sessions.

"We usually ask for a $5 or $10 deposit from each group member. The deposit is refundable after they have completed the four-week session, although some decide to offer the deposit as a donation to the American Cancer Society," stated Kathy Psutka, Field Representative, District 3, of the ACS Lubbock office. "However if someone would like to join the group but is unable to give a deposit, we would like them to call anyway," stated Mrs. Loretta Tekell, ACS Lynn County Unit secretary.

If anyone is interested in the program, call Loretta Tekell at 998-

5040 (home) or 998-4600 (office); or call the ACS Lubbock office at 806-792-7126.

Thefts, Assault, Accident, Passing School Bus Reported

Tahoka and Lynn County peace officers and courts acted this week on reports involving an accident in which a 12-year-old girl bicyclist was injured, theft, assaults and an incident in which a Tahoka man was fined for failure to stop behind a school bus which was loading children.

La'Shea Pridmore, 12, was treated and released at Lynn County Hospital after suffering a reported arm injury when her bicycle struck a 1991 Chevrolet pickup which had stopped at the edge of Thriftway parking lot waiting for traffic to clear. Police said the child was traveling too fast to avoid hitting the pickup, driven by Susan Chancy Tipton of Tahoka.

Charges were filed by a Tahoka school bus driver on a Tahoka man for failure to stop behind a school bus which was loading children in the city limits on the morning of Jan. 12, and the man paid a fine on a plea of guilty before Municipal Court Judge Melvin Burks.

Judge Burks, a retired teacher and school bus driver, emphasized that traffic in both directions must stop when school buses are loading or unloading children.

A Brownfield man, 40, was arrested for public intoxication after a disturbance on Allsup's parking lot in Tahoka Sunday night, and also faced charges of possession of gambling paraphernalia. Officers said his vehicle contained two sheets showing he was taking money on football pots, including the Super Bowl, apparently selling the squares at $50 each on a $1000 pot. Another man involved in the disturbance also was arrested for public intoxication.

Rudy Tejada Sr. reported that a window on a travel trailer at his residence had been broken Saturday by a rock which was found inside the trailer.

A Tahoka man complained Tuesday that he had loaned two wheels and tires to another man recently and that the borrower then had sold the items rather than returning them. Charges in the case were pending.

A Tahoka man who first reported that six checks passed by a Tahoka woman at a business in Tahoka were forgeries of his signature later admitted he signed the checks and no charges were filed after the man paid the store the amount of the checks.

John Scott Askew of Wilson reported that a spare tire valued at $150 had been stolen recently from under his 1994 Chevrolet pickup.

Sheriff's officers reported arson was suspected in the burning of a vacant house owned by a Slaton man about 2.5 miles northeast of New Home Sunday.

The sheriff's department also investigated a report of an alleged assault on a 14-year-old boy by a 15-year-old boy at Wilson Tuesday.

In jail during the week were three persons for delivery of marijuana, two for public intoxication, two for driving while intoxicated and one each for possession of marijuana, possession of gambling paraphernalia plus public intoxication and DWI third offense.

LADY DOGS WIN—Tahoka's Lady Bulldogs defeated O'Donnell 45-43 here last week in a non-conference game. Here Micah Smith has the ball. No. 31 for Tahoka is Stephanie Stennett. Lady Eagles here are Sha Anderson (00), Casandra Morton (25), and Regina Morales (11). (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

It had been 13 years since I had seen her, and at least 3 or 4 years since we had even exchanged brief Christmas cards.

She was one of many of the good friends I had made during my high school years almost two decades past, one whose life which for a brief period of four years was deeply interwoven with mine, and with the lives of "the gang" - the other friends with whom we never seemed to be without for long.

For me, a stranger moving into a small town during the Christmas break of my freshman year in high school, it was a joy and a relief to be accepted into the tight-knit group of teenage boys and girls, whose lifestyles may have varied but whose basic values were much the same.

Together, this group of teenage boys and girls learned about caring and sharing, laughing and crying, loving and hurting. We did silly stuff, such as chasing what we were sure was a UFO into the country, until we stopped at the local golf course and climbed onto the hoods of our cars where we leaned back and looked at the stars for hours, talking about endless possibilities and uncertain futures.

We played tennis for hours on end, and when our parents would let us, the whole gang would pile into cars and head for the lake where even though we had no boat we enjoyed ourselves immensely just because of each other's company.

Once, just because we were teenagers and thought we were in pretty good shape, we rode our bicycles from home to a lake nearly 13 miles away on a hot summer day, returning late in the evening, dragging our weary, sunburned bodies through dusty cotton fields as we lugged our bicycles through what had looked like a good shortcut(?) before collapsing gratefully at home and listening to our parents' "I told you so's".

We were all there for each other to talk about our dreams, and to laugh, or cry, about our mistakes. When we graduated, we thought we would always be friends. Miles, and years, would make no difference.

But time, which in the present seems to take so long, passes by quickly - and the opportunities to see old friends who have moved to other places and made separate lives trickle through the years until, one day, more than a decade later, you realize how long it's been.

But the years didn't seem to matter as we greeted each other last Sunday with hugs, smiling through our tears. The miles and the years slipped away as we held each other in the foyer of the funeral home... she grieving for her mother whose life had been taken by cancer. My mother, who had come with me, held her too, as did the small group of friends who remembered what our lives were like, so many years ago.

And so we cried... and smiled... and remembered the good times... and laughed. And we told each other that the next time we got together, it would be for a happy occasion - and it would be soon.

And this time - this time - we won't wait another decade. God bless good friends... and lost friends.

BBB REPORT

The BBB often receives calls from young consumers that are interested in a career as an actor or model and have recently responded to an ad in the paper. The consumer finds out they must pay usually several hundred dollars up-front, with the promise of their name and picture being distributed to talent/modeling agencies. A registration fee or advance fee is the main characteristic that distinguishes a legitimate agency from a phony one. In Texas, agents must be licensed and bonded with the State. Their registration certificate must be posted publicly. An agent may not charge an advance fee or require a performer to use a particular photographer, resume service or take any acting or modeling school courses or workshops. All advertisements, including business cards, must carry the name, address and registration number of the agency. For a free copy of a brochure about acting and modeling call the BBB at 763-0459.

Hospital To Participate In Managed Care Program

Lynn County Hospital Directors approved an agreement last Thursday with Medical Control, Inc. to participate in a managed care program, which will allow the local hospital to be listed as a Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) with that group. The contract between Lynn County Hospital and Medical Control, Inc. will be effective in February.

In discussion with the hospital board, Hospital Administrator Louise Landers told directors that at least two of the major employers in this area were represented by Medical Control, Inc. and that the move to join in the managed care program may bring more patients to the local hospital.

In other business, Mrs. Landers told the board that the second phase of the breezeway enclosure included glass and doors to enclose the area up to where the clinic offices connect with the hospital building, and directors approved of continuing that project. The third phase will complete the breezeway with glass windows and doors to the end of the clinic building, and will be completed sometime in the future.

Directors considered a request by clinic physicians to consider purchasing CAT scanner equipment, but no action was taken. Monthly bills and a financial statement were approved.

Mrs. Landers noted that Dr.

Griffith Thomas was now seeing patients at the O'Donnell Rural Health Clinic on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The O'Donnell clinic is managed by Lynn County Hospital District.

At last month's board meeting, Mrs. Landers told directors of an impending lawsuit against the hospital district involving minority redistricting of voter precincts, but she reported this month that the suit has not actually been filed and that the hospital district was communicating their willingness to comply with redistricting efforts in an effort to avoid the lawsuit.

Present at the two-hour meeting were directors Leland White, Harold Barrett, Boyd Barnes, Norman Ledbetter, Virginia Griffing, Billy Tomlinson and Mrs. Landers. Director Jackie Stidham was absent.

"The Teeth" Escapades

by ABBIE WHORTON THOMAS

(Editor's note: The writer is a former resident of Tahoka who, in 1944, had local dentist Dr. Kenneth Durham make her some false "freak teeth." This series is an account of her experiences.)

The Cousin From Dallas

Myrna Gagnat was engaged to marry Charles Verner. Charles' mother and father were coming to Tahoka to meet Myrna's family for the first time.

They were very influential people from South Carolina and Truett Smith wanted to help Myrna introduce her future in-laws to the Gagnat family. Myrna had a cousin by the name of Fanchone who lived in Dallas.

Truett, a dear friend of the Gagnats, and Brother Nichols, Minister of the Methodist Church, came by my house a short time after the Verners arrived. Truett said, "Abbie get yourself dressed up. Charles' mother and father are here and I told them I had to go to the airport to pick up Fanchone. Myrna's cousin who was flying in from Dallas."

I dressed as a city cousin; black patent-leather high heel shoes, the matching bag with long straps hung over my shoulder, a big brim hat, long dangling earrings, large dark glasses and the freak teeth in place. I carried an Enquirer magazine as if I had read it on the plane.

Truett drove me to the Gagnat's house. He carried my suitcase and Brother Nichols held my arm as if assisting me up the steps. When we reached the front door it was open and we could see the family sitting in the living room. We barged in and Truett said, "Mr. and Mrs. Verner, I want you to meet Myrna's cousin Fanchone from Dallas."

I took hold of Mr. Verner's extended hand with both of mine and gave him a strong Texas hand shake. Mr. and Mrs. Verner sat down on the couch and I sat down between them. The rest of the family, knowing who I was, rushed out of the room leaving us alone. They gathered at the bedroom door so they could see and hear. I was talking so fast telling them

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION—Mern Lewis, left, president of the Lynn County Unit of the American Cancer Society presented Louise Landers, Lynn County Hospital Administrator, with a certificate of appreciation for the use of the hospital meeting room and lunches provided by the hospital for the Lynn County American Cancer Society meetings held in Tahoka. "Mrs. Landers and the hospital has always treated us well and we certainly appreciate all they have done for us," stated Mrs. Lewis. (LCN PHOTO)

The wedding took place on schedule. After a few years Charles was president of the First National Bank of Tahoka. Charles and Myrna Verner left Tahoka when he was appointed president of the First National Bank of Lubbock where he served until his retirement.

New Blood Test May Quickly Identify Heart Attacks

A new blood test should help sort out which people with chest pains have actually suffered heart attacks. The test gives an answer within 2 hours. Existing tests don't work until 12 to 24 hours after the heart damage occurs. The test could also guide doctors when deciding to give clot-dissolving drugs which can stop a heart attack by removing blockage in the heart arteries. Doctors are reluctant to use them unless they know the patients have had a heart attack, since the drugs can trigger strokes.

BBB News
Better Business Bureau

Your Better Business Bureau receives many calls and complaints regarding dry-cleaning services. Some of them develop because the consumer did not fully understand the material content of a garment and others occur because individuals dry clean garments that bear instructions to machine wash. Minimizing the likelihood of damage to your clothing begins with the purchase of the garment. Look for the care label which supplies instructions for dry-cleaning or laundering. Federal law requires that manufacturers attach labels permanently to most garments; exceptions may include totally reversible garments, sheer or fragile articles, clothing that can be washed by the strongest possible methods without damage, and articles that sell for $3 or less. You may think you are extending the life of certain garments, by dry-cleaning them even though the label says machine wash. Be careful, garments labeled as washable might not hold up to dry-cleaning solvents. For your free copy of "Tips on Dry-cleaning" call your BBB at 763-0459.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone who helped me Saturday, Jan. 21, 1995 in my accident. I really would like to thank Susan Tipton for being there before my mom came. I'm really sorry about what happened. I would like to thank Misty Greene for taking care of my brothers. Thank you Dr. Passman for being there for me and the X-ray people for the X-rays. A special thanks to the EMT Squad for doing a great job. Thanks to Sharon Gandy for calling 9-1-1 and helping the EMT people work fast. I don't know your name or who you are but I really appreciate the coats because I was so cold. From this experience I am okay, but I learned an important lesson to always — no matter where you are or what you're doing — always wear a helmet and be careful where you are going. Thanks a bunch.

Love ya'll and
God bless ya'll,
Amber La'Shea Pridmore

WORK PROGRESSES ON NEW FIRE HALL - Construction work continues this week on the new fire hall just east of Tahoka City Hall. The framework is now complete and insulation and siding will go up next, according to City Manager Barry Pittman. The construction phase is expected to be completed by mid-February, and then members of the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department have volunteered to do the plumbing, electrical and heating work on the building. The new fire hall will house all five fire trucks, as well as the department's van. (LCN PHOTO)
