Three Injured In Compress Explosion Monday

Blast Heavily Damages Equipment, Shakes Town
Tahoka was rocked by a near-disastrous explosion at 10:30 a.m. Monday, when something went wrong at the press of the Union Compress and steam blew the piston, weighing several tons, through the top of the building tower.

Though 35 or 40 men and women were working in and around the press at the time of the explosion, only three men were injured. The injured are: L.C. Burleson ... severe head lacerations; Salvador Vertiz and Ben Chappa ... bruises about their heads and bodies. All received treatment at Tahoka Hospital.

E.R. Edwards, manager of the compress, which is owned by Arch S. Underwood and associates of Lubbock, could make no estimate as to the amount of damages to the plant, but it is likely that the damage will run $20,000 or $30,000. The plant will be out of operation for weeks. However, the compress will continue to handle cotton here with cooperation of the Slaton and other compresses.

No one knows exactly what happened to cause the explosion. The crew was pressing cotton. The three injured men and perhaps 10 others were working around the press. Twenty to 25 others were in the building. W.N. Stone, maintenance man, had gone to the second deck above the press to do some oiling, and was standing near the base of the huge cylinder and piston doing the oiling. When the explosion occurred, he was either thrown or jumped through a window and found himself unscratched lying on the building roof.

The 90-inch wide and 10-foot long piston, which weighs many tons, was blown from the cylinder upward and came to rest on top of the other heavy equipment. Top of the tower was blown out and the concussion did other damage to the building. Huge iron discs and fragments were thrown about the place as though they weighed no more than pebbles. That no one was critically injured seems almost incredible.

Two huge push-arms of the press itself, long steel bars a foot or more in diameter, were broken as though they were twigs. A compress mechanic told Mr. Edwards this was the first time in his 40 years experience he had ever head of such bars being broken.

The theory is advanced that something went wrong with equipment allowing steam to build up in the cylinder abnormally and cause the explosion.

Employees in the office a hundred yards away were shaken, and the blast was heard or felt all over Tahoka.

The Fire Department and ambulances rushed to the scene. Fortunately, no fire broke out in the plant, and only the three men required hospital attention.

DECA Wins At State Career Development Conference

Nine Tahoka High School students travelled to Corpus Christi, March 9-12, to compete in DECA's State Career Development Conference (CDC). Abby Wells campaigned and was elected State Secretary of Texas DECA for the 1995-96 school year. Katy Huffaker said of Abby's campaign, "We used computer, promotional, organization, and selling skills to help Abby win this election. It was so much fun to see everybody at the convention wearing one of Abby's labels!"

Marisa Martin submitted her Specialty Store Retailing written event and interviewed with judges regarding the success of this project. This project included Marisa's interactions with Sandra Brown regarding promotional ideas for Mrs. Brown's manicure business.

Drew Stone, Janet Saldana, and Misty Nance submitted their Public Relations chapter written event and interviewed with judges regarding the success of this project. This project included the "Christmas for Kids" open house, hayride, and visit with Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus in December 1994. This project raised over $500 which was donated to the Lynn County "Christmas for Kids" program.

Katy Huffaker attended the conference as an alternate in the Hospitality and Tourism Series event. She was not seated for this event and spent the majority of her time campaigning for Abby's election as DECA State Secretary.

Shannon Garvin, Lisa Martin, and Will Hudgens submitted their Civic Consciousness Project chapter written event and interviewed with judges regarding the success of this project. This project included the hot air balloon raffle and the Lynn County Rifle Raffle in which DECA raised and donated over $5,000 to Jerod Clopton's medical fund. This project won at State CDC and will advance to National CDC in May at St. Louis. Lisa Martin said, "Winning was fun! But the best part of this project was helping Jerod's family. We're especially hopeful that Jerod will get well and all the funds we raised will help this special young man attend the university of his choice in a few years!"

"What a great group of students represented THS last week at DECA's State CDC," said local DECA sponsor Glo Hays. "We succeeded in our endeavors and had fun while doing so. We owe a huge thank you to the mothers who attended this conference at their own expense. They worked so hard to keep everything running smoothly! Helen Saldana, Tommye Nance, and Chloe Jan Wells were lifesavers...especially when we got stranded in Dallas due to inclement weather and had to spend an extra night without luggage!"

"It was a fantastic trip and we're anxious to win first at Nationals with our Civic Consciousness Project," added Mrs. Hays.

TAX FACTS

by JOHN SHARP
TEXAS COMPTROLLER OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Sales Taxes and you at age 65

If you are 65 or older you may qualify for some exemptions from state sales taxes.

You'll, of course, owe sales tax on most items you purchase, but there are some exceptions.

Lawn Mowing

You are 65 or older and retired but you're nowhere near being a couch-potato.

You decide to pick up some extra bucks doing yard maintenance—mowing and the like.

No sales tax will be due on your maintenance work if your total receipts from the service in the most recent four quarters do not exceed $5,000.

Exempt Fund Raisers

If you are 65 or older, sales tax is not due on items you make or put together for sale in a fund-raising drive held or sponsored by a non-profit organization created solely to provide assistance to elderly persons.

However, the exemption does not apply when the organization has had four previous sales or sales lasting at least 20 days during that calendar year.

Hans Mensch, Abby Wells Gain State BPA and DECA Offices

On March 11 an unprecedented event took place - while attending state competition, two Tahoka High School students won election to state offices in their respective organizations. Junior Hans Mensch and sophomore Abby Wells are now representing both Tahoka and Texas as state officers.

Mensch, son of Mike and Linda Mensch, was elected State Parliamentarian of Business Professionals of America (BPA). Mensch competed with 14 other students to gain one of seven BPA state offices. His campaign included posters, name tags, and a speech; each of these promotional techniques focused on the theme, "Let's hit the road running!" Mensch received the third highest number of votes in the election and will begin representing Texas and THS immediately.

In May Mensch will attend the National BPA Conference in Nashville, Tenn. In June he will attend a leadership conference in Trinidad and in July he will attend the annual Office and Business Teachers Improvement Conference in Corpus Christi. Throughout the 1995-96 school year Mensch will attend planning sessions in Austin where he will work directly with BPA's Texas Education Agency (TEA) State Advisor Irma Flores. Mensch's travel expenses will be paid by Texas BPA. His service will end when he attends the 1996 State BPA Conference in Corpus Christi.

Abby Wells, daughter of Jim and Chloe Jan Wells, was elected State Secretary of DECA, a marketing education organization. Abby competed with five other students for the office of State Secretary. Her campaign included posters, name tags, and a speech; each of these promotional techniques focused on the theme, "We can make beautiful music together!" Abby won the election without a runoff and will begin representing Texas and THS immediately.

In May Abby will attend DECA's National Career Development Conference (CDC) in St. Louis, Missouri. In June she will also attend a leadership conference in Trinidad. Throughout the school year Abby will attend leadership conferences and planning sessions throughout Texas. She will work alongside DECA's TEA State Advisor Emmett Eary. Her travel expenses will be paid by Texas DECA. Her service will end when she attends the 1996 National CDC in Orlando, Florida.

"What an accomplishment," said Bill Alcorn, THS principal. "When a student from a small school throws his/her hat into the ring of organizations that boast about 12,000 students, the student understands the difficulties of being elected to those positions. The election of these students to state office indicates THS students have the skills, desire, and gumption to compete in any endeavor anywhere and enjoy success. Congratulations to Abby and Hans! We're behind you all the way!" he added.

Tahoka FHA Students Advance To State Competition Events

Future Homemakers of America, spanning five decades, will celebrate its 50th Anniversary during the 1994-95 school year. The Tahoka Chapter and the Madeline Hegi Chapter of FHA members attended the Region I Conference held in Amarillo on March 3-4, with six students advancing to state competition, as well as two THS students who are serving as regional officers.

The chapter members were among approximately 1300 delegates attending the two-day conference. The youth developed meeting theme, "Rewind to '45 - Fast Forward to '95 with FHA/HERO" was carried out through workshops and general sessions where members discovered ways they can become actively involved in issues facing today's youth. Issues that were addressed at the meeting were: teen parents, dating, gang violence, drunk driving, and other topics.

STAR (Students Taking Action for Recognition) events are competitive events that the members participated in at the regional meeting. These events allow the members to showcase their life skills in different areas of competition. Lynette Trevino, senior at THS and a member of Tahoka FHA participated in the Job Interview/Senior division event. Her event included the preparation of a letter of application, job resume, and ten minute interview. Lynette placed fifth in the competition and will advance to state competition.

• Melissa Engle, eighth grade student and member of the Madeline Hegi chapter, participated in the Job Interview/Junior Division. Her preparation included the same as the Senior Division. She placed second in the competition and will advance to state competition.

Rebekah Curry, eighth grade student and member of the Madeline Hegi chapter, participated in the Illustrated Talk/Junior Division. Her competition included a ten-minute prepared talk on Child Abuse with visuals. Rebekah placed first and will advance to state.

Kalie Krey, Kassidi Andrews, and Melanie Bernal participated in Focus on Children Event/Junior Division. These members of the Madeline Hegi Chapter sponsored bicycle safety clinics for the elementary children. Their competition included a ten-minute oral presentation with visuals of their project with questions asked by the judges on their participation. This team placed second and will advance to state.

Blanda Miller, a junior at THS and President of Region I FHA, presided over Friday night's House of Delegates meeting. The new officer team for Region I 1995-96 school year were elected to lead the region.

Kerri Bryan, a junior, was elected to serve as a Region I officer, V.P. of Programs. Her duties for the upcoming year include assisting the president and in the president's absence perform all duties of the president, serve on the State Executive Council, and develop guidelines and topics for regional workshops, plan the Saturday morning general session, suggest speakers for the region meeting, develop the program and materials for the region meeting, and develop all printed materials to be sent to the home economics chapters in the state of Texas.

Diana Saldana, senior, and Cynthia Solorzano, eighth grader, served as voting delegates from THS and TMS during this session. Amy Garcia, eighth grade student from TMS also attended the conference.

"FHA is a dynamic youth organization that has the family as its central focus," said local sponsor Mrs. Patti Rambo. "FHA is considered the 'best kept secret.' Many people have the opinion that it is only cooking and sewing, but, in fact, the leadership and life skills gained can be beneficial for years to come," she explained.

There are two FHA local chapters. The Tahoka FHA is sponsored by Mrs. Rambo. The Madeline Hegi FHA is sponsored by Mrs. Donna Stone.

Don't Mix & Match When Cleaning Contact Lenses

According to Dr. Charlotte Tlachac of the American Optometric Association, if you change one solution in your lens cleaning regimen, the whole system should probably be reevaluated. The chemicals in the solutions have both positive charges and negative charges, and mixing solutions with different charges can create spots on lenses or cause eye irritation.

Poka Lambro Telephone Cooperative Wins Service Rights In FCC Auction

The Federal Communications Commission ended a three month long auction of part of the nation's airwaves this week. Nineteen companies competed against each other for over 112 rounds in the government's largest auction for the right to provide the next generation of wireless services, called Personal Communication Services (PCS).

Poka Lambro Telephone Cooperative Inc., with offices south of Lubbock, was the only independent small telephone company to participate in the bidding and will be awarded licenses in the Spokane, Washington/Billings, Montana major trading area as well as the Guam and the Northern Mariana Islands area.

Personal communication services are defined as a family of wireless, mobile radio communication services to be used by individuals and the businesses that will utilize small, lightweight, digital portable phones to access any combination of cellular-type phone service along with two-way paging, facsimile, data, and voice communication. The service, whose main distinguishing feature will be one phone number for all services, is expected to compete with existing cellular service when deployed in late 1995 and will eventually rival landline telephone service in both quality and price. Reed Hundt, Chairman of the FCC, has been quoted as saying, "that the U.S. Government has been auctioning off the telephone companies of the 21st century."

Nineteen companies paid more than $7 billion dollars for the 99 licenses. AT&T spent more than $1.7 billion dollars for the ten year licenses to supplement its recent acquisition of the nation's largest cellular company, McCaw Cellular. A consortium led by long distance company Sprint spent the most money - $2.1 billion dollars for 29 licenses that includes New York as well as Dallas and San Antonio. All of west Texas in is the Dallas major trading area license, the largest geographical license area.

Poka Lambro paid $5.8 million dollars for the Spokane/Billings major trading area license, which includes eastern Washington, northern Oregon, northern Idaho, and all of Montana. The company paid a relatively low $3.05 per potential customer (called "pop" in industry terms), compared to over $30.00 paid by PCS PrimeCo, a group of regional Bell operating companies, for Chicago. Poka Lambro will continue to own an equity share in the operation, but will be repaid the entire cost of the licenses and the expense to acquire them through a new wireless communications company, Mainstreet Wireless. Mainstreet already has agreements with three established northwestern telephone companies to operate the personal communications services network on behalf of Mainstreet. Mainstreet's primary investor and owner is Poka Lambro.

According to the FCC, the least amount of money paid for a license was by Poka Lambro, one of the licenses for Guam and the Northern Mariana Islands in the Pacific. Poka Lambro paid only $107,000 or $.61 per pop for the license. According to Poka Lambro General Manager and CEO Mickey L. Sims, "Bidding on the Guam license was a mistake" made by himself in the very intricate auction bidding process. While Poka Lambro has no intentions of operating a system there, Sims states that the company is analyzing several business proposals for others to operate such a system and the cooperative to recover the cost of the license and make a nice profit.

The FCC plans to conduct the next auction for smaller basic trading areas after a recently filed lawsuit over preferences given to minority and women-owned business has been decided. Poka Lambro originally had focused on participation in this upcoming auction, but to gain experience in the process, they had entered the much larger major trading area auction. Sims added, "We want to gain experience, and we did. Since Poka Lambro will have recovered all of their expenses and the price of the licenses, as well as retaining an equity stake in the ventures, I'd say that this was an opportunity worth being involved in."

On Poka Lambro's decision to participate in deploying this new wireless technology, Sims says that their experience in operating their cellular telephone subsidiary, Digital Cellular, has taught them that customers like the convenience of affordable mobile communications. With PCS, such services will be cheaper and provide the quality of existing telephone services. He says he expects service prices to be competitive with existing telephone service for virtually an unlimited number of calls on the local or home cell site, yet cheaper when the same phone with same number is used as a cellular phone when away from the home cell site. Sims adds that the current practice of assigning phone numbers to a geographic location versus to a person will add simplicity for the consumer to the ever-changing telephone industry.

Wrong Social Security Number Could Delay Income Tax Refund

A delay can be avoided for a Federal income tax refund if the correct Social Security number is shown on the tax return. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) will make sure filers have provided the correct number before paying a refund.

In past years, IRS matched the names and Social Security numbers of taxpayers and their spouses. This year, it also will check the names and numbers of all dependents listed on the returns. Dependents age one or older must have a Social Security number.

Filers should also check the Social Security number on the W-2 statement and pay stubs to make sure it matches the one on the card. If there is a discrepancy, tell the employer immediately.

Anyone not having a number, or needing one for a dependent, should call or visit Social Security now to receive the number before the tax filing season begins. Documents are needed that show age, citizenship, or lawful alien status and verify the individuals' identity. Birth certificates and school records are acceptable proofs.

Anyone needing a number for a nonresident alien dependent (under age 18) will need proof of age, identity, and that the child resides outside the country like a school record. In addition, the filer must be the proper

USDA Announces Rates For 1995 Wheat, Feed Grain

Acting Secretary of Agriculture Richard Rominger announced recently that the national average price support rates for the 1995 crops of wheat and feed grains will be at the 1994 crop price support levels.

"This administration has demonstrated its firm commitment to U.S. agriculture by enhancing farm income and implementing programs beneficial to farmers," Rominger said. "Today's announcement is another demonstration of this commitment to producers. By maintaining loan rates at 1994 levels, we will provide producers with greater opportunity to finance their 1995 crops, while also ensuring that potential outlays are minimized."

The following table shows the target prices, and announced price support rates:

Commodity	Target Price	Announced Price Support Rate
Wheat	4.00	2.58
Corn	2.75	1.89
Sorghum	2.61	1.80
Barley	2.36	1.54
Oats	1.45	0.97

Farm Credit Establishes Foundation For Protection Of Property Rights

In response to concerns over challenges to individual property owners' rights, the Farm Credit Property Rights Foundation has been established to promote awareness of private property rights, according to Bill Harmon, president of Lubbock Production Credit Association.

"The Farm Credit Property Rights

Foundation is a non-profit organization created to research and communicate the issues surrounding private property rights," said Harmon. The foundation was formed this winter by the Farm Credit Bank of Texas at the encouragement of PCAs in Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas.

"As property rights are restricted or removed, property owners no longer can produce adequate agricultural income off their land. As a lender, we are extremely concerned over the impact those restrictions ultimately will have, not only on local land values, but as importantly, on the future livelihood of this area's farmers and ranchers," he said.

With more than 20 million acres of land as collateral on loans, the Farm Credit Bank of Texas is equally concerned.

The foundation will focus on obtaining funds to support and further efforts of other non-profit organizations in their protection of property rights through litigation, legislation and education. At the same time, the foundation plans to concentrate its efforts on public education initiatives.

To date, two videos have been produced and are available for use by local organizations, schools, co-ops and civic groups. The first, "Who Owns the Land? When the Environment Collides With the Constitution," gives a brief overview of the effects of environmental regulations on property rights, the economy and society. The second video, "Standing Ground: People, Property & Power," tells the powerful stories of individual citizens whose lives, livelihoods, investments and faith in the American Dream have been destroyed by the abusive enforcement of government regulations.

The foundation is under the direction of a seven-member board of directors.
