THS Tracksters Advance To Regional Meet In Four Events

Tahoka High School track teams competed in the District track meet in Seagraves last Thursday, with four varsity girls qualifying for three regional events, and one from the varsity boys team qualifying for regional competition.

Edward Ramirez placed second in the Long Jump with a distance of 20'4" to qualify for the regional meet, the only member of the boys varsity team to advance from district competition. On the girls team, Shayla Brandon placed first in the 3200m run with a time of 12:59.68, and first in the 800m run in 2:35 to advance to regionals in those events. And the girls 1600m Relay team placed first in district with a time of 4:19.97 to qualify for regionals. The team is composed of Miss Brandon, Katy Huffaker, Stephanie Stennett, and Stephanie Gregory. Jill Jaquess will be going as alternate for the relay team at regionals.

The girls team placed fourth overall at the district meet, with 82 points. The varsity boys finished 5th place with 67 total points, and the junior varsity boys finished 5th with 43 points.

Miss Stennett finished second in the 3200 run for the varsity girls.

Third place finishers included Miss Huffaker in high jump and triple jump; and Miss Stennett in the 400M dash. Miss Stennett also placed fourth in triple jump and Micah Smith placed fourth in the 1600 M run. Fifth place finishers included Rebecca DeLeon in discus; and the 800 relay team of Rebekah Hutton, Abbie Gill, Jill Jaquess and Jennifer Dotson. The 400 relay team of Hutton, Stephanie Thomas, Gregory and Shelia Martin finished sixth and Georgia Williams placed seventh in 300M hurdles.

Third place finishers for the boys varsity team were Matt Garcia in shot put; Drew Stone in 400M dash; Brad Long in pole vault; and Ramirez in 100M dash.

Eric Chapa finished first for the JV boys team in the 3200m run and placed third in the 1600m run.

"We were very pleased with the way our athletes competed. Last year Tahoka finished sixth and this year's improvement has to be directly related to our kids' hardwork ethic. Coach Hinds and I are very proud of our track team, but hate to lose our seniors and their leadership," stated Coach Jimmy Burleson.

Theft, Wreck Investigated

One theft, some family violence incidents and a wreck after which two juveniles were treated for injuries were among incidents investigated by law enforcement officers in Tahoka and Lynn County during the last week.

Sunday afternoon at the intersection of S. 6th and Ave. O in Tahoka a collision involved a 1986 Dodge driven by Kim Renee Childress, 28, of Brownfield and a 1991 Chevrolet Suburban driven by Jamie Luna, 14, of Tahoka. Two passengers in the Suburban, Mario Luna, 13, and Elizabeth Solorzano, 15, were treated at Lynn County Hospital for unspecified injuries.

Tahoka police arrested an 18-year-old Slaton youth, who was jailed on a charge of unlawfully carrying a weapon after a club and knife were found in his vehicle last Thursday.

Ted Melugin of Wilson reported a metal lawn chair and oak porch swing valued at $60 were stolen from his yard in Wilson Monday.

In jail during the week were two persons for driving while intoxicated, first offense, and one each on charges of public intoxication, assault, no drivers license plus no liability insurance, DWI second offense plus unlawfully carrying a weapon, and non-compliance with truancy law.

SOMETIME after I have written this and before you have read it, I will go to Ruidoso, and when I do, I will stop in Tatum, NM at a very good restaurant and be waited on by the same young woman who has brought me my chicken fried steaks six to eight times a year for the last several years.

This time I may ask her what her name is, because I'm fairly sure it is not "young lady," or "hey, you" which are things we have called her on occasion.

She's a good waitress, sometimes the only one in the place, but she always seems to wait on customers quickly and actually comes around again to see if you need something else.

She probably would never be a success in Lubbock, because most of the waiters and waitresses there don't come around much. In fact, I have been so desperate for a refill on my drink sometimes in Lubbock that I felt like grabbing my throat and rolling on the floor, making choking sounds. But that wouldn't have worked either. I've felt at times that I could take off all my clothes and stand naked on top of the table and nobody would notice, except possibly the people at the next table.

Anyway, the woman at Tatum isn't like that. She's very businesslike, and for a year or two, I thought rather reserved. But once when we were there, she spied my Mickey Mouse wristwatch, and exclaimed that "I just love that watch! Mickey Mouse is my favorite person."

I didn't have the heart to tell her Mickey is not really a person, because he really does have qualities superior to most people (like looking the same at age 65 as he did at age 3).

This restaurant is called somebody's Steak House; it's the first one on your right, as you get into Tatum from the east. The waitress probably is part of the family which owns the place. Both the restaurant and the waitress are good ones.

This is the same place where we stopped once and while we were eating there came a heavy rain. The driver of the car (there were two couples) volunteered to run outside and bring the car closer to the door. He dashed out with his keys and while he was fumbling for the lock in the downpour, slipped on the gravel and slid under the car. He told us about it after we all jumped into the car and were on our way.

"Did you break anything when you fell?" asked my wife, showing concern.

"Yes," he growled. "I broke one of the Ten Commandments!"

I hate it when people come up with better lines than I do.

Do Something Positive For Earth Day—Recycle!

(NAPS)—April 22 will mark the 25th observance of Earth Day. Americans who want to do something positive for the Earth should recycle, because recycling offers so many environmental benefits.

According to the Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries, using recycled paper instead of virgin wood pulp to produce a ton of new paper consumes 64 percent less energy and 50 percent less water. It results in 74 percent less air pollution and 35 percent less water pollution. It also saves 17 trees, and creates five times more jobs.

When the steel recycled from old automobiles, obsolete appliances, and used cans is recycled, Mother Earth wins. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) cites significant pluses in using recycled iron and steel instead of virgin ore to make new products: 74 percent energy savings, 90 percent savings in virgin materials use, 86 percent reduction in air pollution, 40 percent reduction in water use, 76 percent reduction in water pollution, 97 percent reduction in mining wastes, and 105 percent reduction in consumer wastes generated.

BBB REPORT

You hear the state lottery jackpot has been raised to $10 million dollars. You've got lotto fever. The next thing you know, there's a brochure in your mail urging you to participate in a lottery in Canada or other foreign country, via convenient mail-order purchase or through a share in a pool of foreign lottery tickets. The soliciting company promises unbelievable odds and high winnings. Before you send in your money - listen to the facts. Purchasing foreign lotteries are illegal. U.S. law prohibits mailing payments to purchase any ticket, share or chance in a foreign lottery. Most of these lottery solicitations come from fraudulent companies that seek exorbitant fees from those wishing to play. If you receive a mailed lottery solicitation that you think may be illegal, give your BBB a call at 763-0459 and turn the entire mail piece over to the local postmaster. Remember, if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

'Special Needs' Children Can Get Help

Who exactly is a child with "special needs?" We know that all children have needs and that every child is special. However, the needs of some children are greater than or different from those of the "typical" child. The special need might be in the area of mental, social, emotional, or physical development. If you are the parent or a friend of a child that might qualify for individual services, call the Special Education Director in your school district, or contact the Child Find Coordinator at the Education Service Center at 806/792-4000.

Tips Given On Dining Out With Children

(Second in a series by Dr. Molly Helminger, Lynn County Child Welfare Board Officer)

Every time you eat out at a restaurant, it is a learning experience for your young children and you. Remember that what does not work one time may work the next. Rest assured, as you all get better at it, there will be better days and better restaurant experiences ahead. Sometimes restaurant employees, as well as parents, get nervous never knowing what to expect. Following are eight tips from parents who have been through it all that can make any eating out experience more enjoyable for you and your children.

Tip 1: Choose a "child-friendly" location. Some restaurants are simply more suitable for young guests. Fast food places, family-style restaurants, coffee shops, or sidewalk cafes are good examples. You will feel more relaxed about dining and you'll often get more help keeping your children happy. Steer clear of "quiet, romantic style" locales that cater to basically adults.

Tip 2: Phone first. If you are going to a restaurant for the first time, call ahead to make sure children are welcome. Ask if they have high chairs or booster seats. If not, you can take a clip-on seat that fits most tables or improvise a booster seat. Find out if you can place your order before you arrive to cut down on waiting time once you are there.

Tip 3: Bring your own special items. You know your children best. If they need special equipment, like a bottle or cup with a spout, bring it along. Diversions in the form of snacks or toys can keep your little ones occupied until your meal comes.

Tip 4: Keep the experience as familiar as possible. If your children eat little or are not used to a variety of foods, order a small portion of a food they do know, split dinners between two or more children, or bring along peanut butter and jelly. It will cost you less, waste less, and in all likelihood, your children will be happier and so will you.

Tip 5: Arrive early. Try to get to the restaurant at an off-peak time. This way you can avoid long waits and crowded conditions.

Tip 6: Try to sit by a window. The activity outside can provide novelty for your children while you are waiting to be served as well as during the meal.

Tip 7: Order the quick fix. If you could not order ahead of time, ask if there are foods that can be prepared quickly. If you must wait for your food, one parent can take restless children for a short walk to the lobby or parking lot.

Tip 8: Bail out when necessary. If all your efforts fail and your children start to misbehave in the restaurant, have one parent, an accompanying adult, or responsible teenager exit with them quickly. Do not allow children to continue to misbehave and spoil the eating out experience for yourself and other customers. You can take home the food the children have not eaten and serve it later. Children must learn there are minimum standards of behavior for eating out. If those standards are not met, there are consequences that will follow.

Pages From The Past...

by Vondell Elliott

The following excerpts were taken from past issues of The Lynn County News.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Lois Weathers came by the News office the other day with a clipping from the Lynn County News about a heavy snow which fell in Lynn County. There was no year dated on it, but it did say the snow-storm fell on Friday, February 16.

After researching a little in an Almanac, I found out the year was 1940 and looked up that issue in our microfilm. The clipping which Mrs. Weathers brought in, showed several photos of the snowfall, and we have tried to reproduce the photo in the lower right corner. The cutline read as follows, and the photo we used is referred to in the cutline as "lower right":

The above pictures of scenes were taken by Paul J. Lawson and Billy Hill on Sunday following the snow-storm of Friday, February 16. Top left: Automobiles and trucks stuck in snow-drifts on highway, 6 miles east of Tahoka. Top right: Jack Corley residence just outside western limits of Tahoka. Center left: Scene on Porterfield street leaving from public square to Santa Fe station. Center right: Frank Mills of the Cattle Raisers Association in front of the Judge Elliott farm home one mile east of Tahoka. Lower left: Another scene on highway east of Tahoka. Lower right: Deputy Sheriff Ed Sanders and Frank Mills of the Cattle Raisers Association on highway 380 west.

Other stories at that time about the snowfall included, in part:

Worst Snow In History Visits Plains Traffic Blocked On Highways Two Days

Although a high wind was blowing from the north when snow began to fall Friday afternoon, it was not unusually cold and nobody dreamed that one of the worst blizzards in the history of this area was on. But before night, cars were stalled in snow drifts on all the highways and many of the lateral roads throughout the country, and the occupants hunting shelter in farm houses, vacant houses, public buildings, or any kind of structure that might afford protection...

Cars were stalled in droves on all highways. In places, from a dozen to twenty cars in a flock could be counted, marooned in the snow.

All the five school buses that transport children to and from the Tahoka schools and most of the other school buses in the county were caught in the storm.... [Telephone lines were down, so no communication could be sent to worried parents]...

Of all the bus drivers out of Tahoka, Leo Jackson, member of the high school faculty, who also drives a bus out into the section of the country northeast of Tahoka, possibly had the most harrowing experience. Leaving the school building with about 30 children in his bus at about 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, he had gone four miles north on the highway and one mile east on a lateral road, leaving the highway just north of the county park. None of the children in his bus had reached their homes when his bus stalled in a snowdrift. Finding it impossible to extricate the bus, he left the children and bus in charge of Jo Lehman and struck out afoot in search of aid. After a long search for help in vain, he finally made his way back to the highway, where he caught a ride into town.

There he reported to Superintendent W.T. Hanes, and Messrs. Hanes and Pace of the school faculty, Henry Maasen and Bascomb McCord of the board of trustees, and Mr. Jackson proceeded up the highway in cars, followed by Mr. Gibson with his motor truck. But the cars had to be left on the highway. The truck reached the marooned bus and took all of the 30 children aboard, but within 200 yards of the highway it stalled.

The men carried the children in their arms from the truck to the highway, where they were loaded into cars that succeeded in fighting their way through the storm and all were safely brought to town reaching here about 7:00 or 7:30 o'clock. Some of them were taken to private homes but about 20 of them spent the night in the courthouse...

Two Men Frozen To Death In Storm

While scores of cars were caught in the snowstorm and stalled in snow drifts last Friday afternoon and night and the occupants compelled to make their way on foot to farm houses or other places of safety, there was no loss of life in this county...

Two men, however, were frozen to death in the Harmony community in the northeastern section of Dawson county, ten or twelve miles southeast of O'Donnell as they tried to make their way on foot from their stalled automobile to their homes.

Caught in the terrific snowstorm as they were returning from Lamesa late Friday afternoon or early that night, Bill Walker and his brother, Hubert Walker, J.L. Martin and John Hemmingway, farmers, were compelled to abandon their car when it stalled in a snowdrift. Hubert Walker and Hemmingway made their way to an abandoned farm house where they spent the night safely. Bill Walker and Martin apparently tried to make their way to their homes. A search for them was instituted Saturday and their frozen bodies were found Sunday morning, three or four miles from the stalled car near a wire fence. The bodies were lying about 150 yards apart and were within a half-mile of a ranch house.

Walker, 39, left a wife and nine children. Martin, 22, was survived by his parents and other relatives ...

Ten Earth Day Tips From CARE

(NAPS)—Earth Day is April 22—a perfect time for you and your family to do something good for the environment. Here are some suggestions from the folks at CARE, the world's largest international relief and development organization, which last year alone planted nearly 9 million trees worldwide.

1) Plant a Tree. Trees battle the greenhouse effect, prevent erosion and the shade they cast on our houses reduces energy costs. Trees also beautify our lives.

2) Create a Compost Heap. Instead of throwing your garbage away, allocate a small area of land in your back yard to throw your organic disposables—everything from used tea bags to old apple cores. Layer the heap with green and brown leaves and keep it moist (but not wet). Eventually, this heap will transform into rich compost—perfect to fertilize your garden!

3) Control Chemicals. All over the world, CARE teaches farmers that there are alternatives to excessive chemical pesticides and fertilizers. Companionable herbs, marigolds, garlic and onion planted between your vegetables can discourage pests. Grass clippings over seedlings will protect them from hungry birds and pesky weeds. Insect-eating bugs like ladybugs and soldier beetles should be encouraged, while natural fertilizers like bone meal, seaweed and wood ash will grow a beautiful "green garden."

4) Watch your Water. Did you know that clean water is one of the developing world's most valuable resources? Since every drop is precious, CARE encourages Americans to take simple water-saving precautions, like turning the faucet off while brushing your teeth. This can save gallons of water. Similarly, turning the water hose off when washing your car—except to rinse—can save up to 100 gallons of water.

5) Unpack Packaging. What's the answer to "paper or plastic?" Neither! Instead, buy your own large, canvas drawstring bag and bring it with you when you shop.

6) Recycled Reading. Don't throw away those magazines! Why not donate old copies of the books and papers you read—including this one—to your local library, doctor's office or nursing home.

7) Energize Yourself. Instead of taking the car to work or to the local video store, try riding your bike. The exercise will do you good and the absence of carbon monoxide your car generates will give our planet a break. If you're an employer, think about giving your employees incentives for car-pooling.

8) Green and Clean. Alternative cleaning sources can help you cut down on harmful chemicals. Baking soda and/or salt can be used for abrasive cleaning. Vinegar and water is a good glass cleaner, and for wood use one part lemon juice with two parts olive or vegetable oil.

9) Have a "CARE for the Environment" clean-up day. Take one day with your kids or grandkids to pick up garbage in your neighborhood. Or organize your school to clean up a local park or playground.

10) Contribute to the Environment's Preservation. Contributions to CARE will help the organization's worldwide environment programs, which each year help millions of people to plant trees, protect the soil, preserve the rainforests and save our oceans. Final Date For 1995 Farm Program Sign Up Is April 28

The final date to make application to participate in the 1995 farm program is April 28, 1995. Operators of farms who wish to be eligible for benefits such as Deficiency Payments, CCC Loan, and Loan Deficiency Payments (POP) must make application to participate by the final date. "We have mailed appointments to all operators of farms in Lynn County," said Jimmy Woodard, acting County Executive Director of the local CFSA office.

"There are several operators that did not keep their appointments and will now need to call to reschedule to meet the deadline. We hope no operators miss this important date," Woodard added. Owners signatures on applications must be returned by May 12, 1995.

Appointments are being mailed to operators to allow the certification or request of measurement service for wheat and other small grains. The final date to obtain an appointment to certify or make a request for measurement service is April 28, 1995. Operators of farms that do not have standing small grain were able to certify to zero acreage while making application for the 1995 farm program. These operators have completed the certification requirement for small grain and will not receive a notice of an appointment.

Operators of farms that receive a notice of an appointment for certification are asked to review the time set and call the local CFSA office if this time is not satisfactory. The appointment can be rescheduled. The operator should bring a drawing of farms showing where small grain is located. This drawing will prove to be helpful and will save the operator time. The operator will need to know if the small grain will be for harvest, left to reseed without harvest or grazing, or will be grazed or baled but destroyed before the hard dough stage. Operators are reminded that wheat should not be certified for harvest if insurance has not been purchased. The minimum level of insurance is the Catastrophe Level. Operators should check with the landowner about the insurance purchases they may have made.

The eligibility for cotton benefits can be lost by certification of wheat for grain without having insurance on the wheat. If a producer has any questions they should contact their local CFSA office.

The 1995 Farm Program requires ACR (set-aside) for farms that are participating in the corn program only. The ACR requirements for the wheat, grain sorghum, or cotton programs is zero for 1995. Farms that will be participating in the 0/85 or 50/85 programs are the only farms that will have acreage that must meet the nongrazing or nonbaling dates of May 15 to October 14. In Lynn County this acreage is usually the blank net in the cotton without grazing or baling possibilities.

The Lynn County CFSA office has the purpose of helping producers obtain maximum benefits possible. Producer benefits are intended to stabilize income and conserve natural resources. If producers have questions or need to request an appointment the telephone number of the local office is 806-998-4501.

GIFT OF APPRECIATION - Texas Farm Bureau District II presented Leland and Barbara White of New Home with this artwork by Kenneth Wyatt, entitled "Pitchfork Remuda," in appreciation for his six years of service as District Director of 17 counties.

Texas Farm Bureau Honors Leland White

Texas Farm Bureau District II State Director Delmas McCormick and his wife, Pauline, presided over an Appreciation Dinner recently honoring Leland and Barbara White of New Home for his six years of service as District Director for 17 counties. The Whites and their family, Debbie White of Dallas and Mike, Carol, Stefanie and Trevor White of New Home, attended the dinner at the 50-Yard Line Restaurant in Lubbock, along with 125 others including current district directors and past directors from throughout the state of Texas.

Although White just concluded his term as District Director for the past six years, he has served on the county board for many years. At the dinner, a "roast" of White was led by TFB President Bob Stallman of Columbus, TFB Executive Director Vernie and Ann Glasson and other staff from Waco, and Past President S.M. True and wife Anna Jean of Waco, followed by board members and others with whom White worked.

The Whites were presented with a gift from District II, a Kenneth Wyatt artwork entitled "Pitchfork Remuda", for their dedicated service. They received several other gifts, including the Texas Flag which was flown over the Capitol on March 2 (Texas Independence Day), a Senate Resolution proclaiming Leland White Day, and a letter, all sent by Sen. John Montford explaining appreciation for White's contribution not only to the Farm Bureau but to the state as well. Other letters of congratulation were sent by Rep. David Counts and Rep. Bob Turner.

"All in all, it was a very fun-filled evening and was much appreciated by the entire family," said White, who added he felt he did not deserve all of the attention. "But I really appreciate it, and I appreciate all the people I tried to serve - it was truly my privilege," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. White also presented gifts of oil paintings by Mrs. White to TFB fieldmen and their wives in appreciation for their service to White. They were Martin and Susan Lefevere of Brownfield, and Chuck and Toyia Senter of Clarendon.

The Whites hosted a brunch at their home Saturday morning, April 1, for board members and wives. Mrs. Hope Huffman, State Director of District 8, and her husband Harlan from McGregor, and Tommy and Ann Walker, past Director of District 10, spent the weekend with the Whites and attended the Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary Auction in Tahoka.

Lynn County Ground Water Levels Declining

declined an average of 1.84 feet in 1994 in 75 privately-owned wells in the observation well network maintained by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in its 571,613 acre service area within the county. This represents a decrease of 157,765 acre-feet of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer last year in the portion of Lynn County within the Water District boundaries.

"Dry soil conditions during the past two years have increased the demand for ground water. In some heavy water use areas, there was a greater amount of decline in 1994 than in previous years," said Don McReynolds, High Plains Water District Technical Division Director.

Ground water levels within the Water District's Lynn County service area increased 0.58 of a foot during the 10-year period from 1985-1995. An average annual decline of 0.25 of a foot was recorded during the five-year period from 1990-1995.

Ground water levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the 6.7 million acre Water District service area had an average decline of 2.15 feet from January 1993 to January 1994. This is a net decrease of about 2,160,750 acre-feet of ground water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the Water District service area. A zero average annual change in ground water levels was recorded for the first time in the Water District's history in 1985. Depth-to-water measurements revealed an average ground water level rise of 0.50 of a foot in 1986; an average rise of 0.90 of a foot in 1987; an average decline of 0.51 of a foot in 1988; an average decline of one foot in 1989; an average decline of 1.06 feet in 1990; an average decline of 0.73 of a foot in 1991; an average rise of 0.14 of a foot in 1992; and an average decline of 1.46 feet in 1993.

A network of 1,184 privately-owned observation water wells is used to determine the annual change in the quantity of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the High Plains Water District. The depth-to-water measurements are taken in January and February of each year in order to allow water levels to stabilize from the pumping during the previous growing season.

By comparing the current depth-to-water measurements with those taken the previous year, McReynolds says Technical Division staff members can determine what changes have occurred in the ground water levels.

Of the 15 counties or portions of counties making up the High Plains Water District, only Randall County recorded an average rise in depth-to-water levels in 1994. The counties with average declines in depth-to-water levels in 1994 included Lynn County.

Maps showing the location and well number of observation wells in each county or portion of a county served by the Water District will be published in the April issue of The Cross Section.

Tables listing observation wells in each county within the District and the depth-to-water levels at one, five, and 10-year intervals are also printed.

Use Earnings Report To Avoid Overpayments

by JIM COOPER

Social Security beneficiaries who are still working are required to report their earnings by April 17 if they are earning more than the earnings limit, they are also asked to estimate their earnings for the current year. They should remember that the reports can be changed at any time if their estimate of future earnings prove too low or too high. The best way to avoid overpayments - benefits to which you are not entitled - is to report any change in your estimated earnings as soon as it occurs.

The annual limit in 1994 was $8,040 for persons under age 65, and $11,160 for persons between age 65 and 69. Benefits are reduced $1 for every $2 in excess earnings for people under 65, and $1 for every $3 in excess earnings for people 65-69. If you are still working at age 70, the earnings limits do not apply so you no longer have to report your earnings to Social Security.

Every year about a million people receive more money from Social Security than they were entitled to receive as a result of unanticipated earnings. Most of these overpayments occurred because beneficiaries who work while drawing benefits earned more than they had estimated and their income exceeded Social Security's annual limits. The annual limits for 1995 are $8,160 for persons under age 65, and $11,280 for persons between age 65-69. People who are overpaid by Social Security are required to return the money, either by direct refunds or by having their benefits reduced to cover the overpayment.

There is a substantial penalty for not filing an annual report of earnings on or before the due date, April 17, 1995.

Because it is difficult to estimate exact earnings for the year, beneficiaries who work are encouraged to call Social Security to adjust their estimated earnings if they get a raise, work overtime, or otherwise increase their income.

It's easy to report excess earnings and other events that would cause you to be overpaid. Visit the nearest Social Security office or call us on our toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, business days between 7 a.m. - 7 p.m.

Aerosol Products: Just The Facts

(NAPS)—Before you left home this morning you probably reached for an aerosol container to apply shaving cream or hair spray. Or maybe this weekend you will use an aerosol cleaning product, or long-distance insect spray. Today, Americans use more than 1,500 different kinds of aerosol products. Because they are effective and easy to use, aerosol products are something we all take for granted. Just think about it: aerosol products can be stored until you need them, they will not spill or leak, and they can be shared hygienically by all members of the family.

In recent years, many consumers have become concerned that the aerosol products they use may be harmful to the environment. In fact, surveys show that 75 percent of Americans mistakenly believe that the U.S. government still allows the use of ozone-depleting chlorofluorocarbon (CFC) propellants in aerosol products. The good news: American-made aerosol products have not used CFCs since 1978, and therefore do not deplete the ozone layer.

Many consumers are recycling, and the best way to dispose of an empty aerosol container is to recycle it. Most aerosol cans are made of steel, and can be recycled like any other empty steel cans. Hundreds of communities from coast to coast are recycling empty aerosol cans, so check with your local recycling coordinator about disposal in your neighborhood.

For more information about aerosol products; send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Consumer Aerosol Products Council, 1201 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Suite 300, Washington, DC 20036.

Learn Your ABC's

Do you know your ABC's? Acceptance, Belonging, and Community. These are three things everyone needs. Everyone means all those with abilities. And everyone has abilities. Often those we might consider with disabilities, have hidden and immensely rich abilities. Are you accepting of those individuals with varied abilities? Are you befriending a special needs individual so that they will feel the pleasure of belonging? Are you involving our community to insure a greater quality of life for everyone? Let's all learn our ABC's.

Plan Now For Your Retirement

by BRUCE WELLS
Social Security Manager in Lubbock
Typically individuals spend about 20 years in retirement so it is important to plan for those years. Not only can Social Security help you financially during retirement years, Social Security representatives can assist in planning for retirement as well.

Almost anyone about to reach age 62 or anyone age 62 or older who plans to claim Social Security retirement benefits should contact Social Security in advance. In fact, Social Security encourages individuals to check into Social Security retirement benefits up to a year before actually planning to retire. Some individuals can get benefits before they stop working.

Before filing for retirement benefits, obtain as much information as possible. Call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, and speak with a teleservice representative. The representative will answer questions, assist in obtaining a benefit estimate, and advise when and how to schedule an appointment.

"When you decide to file for retirement benefits, you might want to do so by phone," said Bruce Wells, social security manager in Lubbock. The completed application is then mailed to the filer for verification, signature, and returned to the office for processing. A birth certificate, and proof of recent wages will be needed at this stage. The original documents or certified copies may be brought or mailed to the office, where they will be photocopied and returned to the filer.

"A few weeks after you file for benefits, you'll be notified by mail by your Social Security monthly benefit amount and the date it will begin," said Wells. "You'll also receive a Social Security booklet explaining your rights and responsibilities as a beneficiary and how to report changes that may affect your benefits."
