Teenager Faces 10 Charges After Clash With Officers

A 16-year-old Tahoka youth was certified as an adult this week to face charges resulting from a confrontation with law enforcement officers about 11:30 p.m. Saturday after the pickup he was driving was stopped by a Tahoka police officer who said he observed the vehicle driving erratically on U.S. 87. He and a state highway patrolman stopped the vehicle in the exit to FM 400 off U.S. 87 on the north side of Tahoka.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1995

According to the Tahoka police officer, Clint Toby Lara, driver of the pickup, attempted to run over the DPS officer, resulting in a charge of attempted capital murder.

A Tahoka Police Dept. report said Lara has been charged also with aggravated assault after striking a policeman with some handcuffs, unlawfully carrying a weapon - a pistol found in the pickup, first offense driving while intoxicated, possession of marijuana under two ounces, evading arrest and retaliation. In addition Lubbock Police Dept. will be checking on theft charges related to the stolen gun, and citations were issued for no drivers license and failure to drive in a single marked lane. The youth first was taken to the Lubbock Youth Center for juvenile offenders and later, according to Sheriff Jake Diggs, was certified as an adult.

A 16-year-old passenger in the Saturday. pickup also was arrested on charges of public intoxication.

A 21-year-old Midland resident being held in Lynn County jail as a prisoner from Dawson County apparently attempted suicide about 12:45 a.m. Tuesday. Sheriff Diggs said that Ferman Sanchez was found hanging from an overhead cross bar above a shower in the maximum security unit of the jail. He was found by other inmates, one of whom administered CPR to the victim, who later was taken to University Medical Center in Lubbock, where he was in very critical condition Wednesday.

Sanchez apparently had been hanging from the bar with a section of a blanket around his neck for several minutes before he was discovered. An investigation of the incident is being conducted by Texas Rangers at the request of Sheriff Diggs.

Miguel Castro Rodriguez of O'Donnell reported that a mirror on his 1982 Chevrolet Camaro had been broken by the fist of a named suspect. The owner of the Camaro later advised sheriff's officers that the damage was between $800 and $1000.

David Hutton of Wilson told sheriff's officers that a tinted side window on his 1993 Ford van had been broken by someone Friday or

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

On Saturday, a Tahoka police officer was called to the scene of a dispute between neighbors, one of whom claimed the other had raked leaves from their yard out into the street and then over in front of her house. The couple next door complained that the woman had been yelling at them. According to the officer's report, the stated reason the three could not get along was because 19 years ago the woman was picking up pecans which came from her tree but fell in the neighbors' yard and when the neighbor woman came out, purportedly to help, the other told her to "get the hell out of here."

Both parties advised the officer that they had not spoken to each other in about 10 years. The officer told each to stay on their own property. ignore each other and advised them not to speak to each other for another 10 years.

Four persons were jailed during the week for driving while intoxicated, one was held for simple assault and another for public intoxication.

Goal Almost Reached For Funds To Provide Gifts For Needy Children

With time running short, the goal has almost been reached for enough funds to provide Christmas gifts for needy children in Lynn County. Donations amounting to $1,936 have been contributed from many area organizations and individuals to the Lynn County Child Welfare Board's "Christmas For Kids" program, but that amount falls about $600 short of estimated funds needed to provide gifts for 149 children.

"We really appreciate the generosity of so many people in the county. As of this week, this total includes the

Tahoka Teens To Present Living Nativity Saturday Night

In celebration of the Christmas season, a group of Tahoka teenagers will present a living nativity here this Saturday night, with the public invited to view the presentation at the Downtown Mural Park on Main Street, one block south of the red light. The short presentation will begin at 7 p.m., with a repeat performance at approximately 7:15 p.m., ending at 7:30 p.m.

Tahoka High School Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) youth will portray members of the nativity scene, while several FCA members sing traditional Christmas carols which tell the story of the birth of the Christ child. There is no admission fee, and onlookers are invited to join in singing the Christmas carols.

Under the direction of Mrs. Tina Wuensche, FCA youth participating in both performances will include Stephanie Gregory and Kalie Krey, playing the part of Mary; Aaron Long as Joseph; Abby Wells and Rebekah Hutton as the angel; Blanda Miller as a shepherd; and the wise men will be portrayed by Georgia Williams, Bonnie Stennett, Davy Stone, Krystin Kelln and Hans Mensch.

Choir member will include Crystal McAllister, Tancy DeLeon, Abbie Gill, Micah Smith, Shayla Brandon, Mike Rodriquez, Jennifer Dotson, Robin Martin and Courtney Stennett. Jason Dorman will hand out candy canes to young visitors.

"This living nativity is a very special way for our youth to remind area residents of the true meaning of Christmas, and we hope the public will take the time to come by to watch this short presentation," said Mrs. Wuensche.

recent donation of $450 from the Tahoka High School Student Council and BPA Chapter II's Christmas Home Tour and hayride fund raiser, which is very much appreciated. But, figuring a maximum of $25 for each child, we still need almost $600 more to finish purchasing gifts for 149 children here," said Janet Porterfield of the Lynn County Child Welfare Board.

She said that 149 children have been approved for Christmas gifts, noting that another 30 names submitted were not approved. Of these 149 children, 48 have been "adopted" by other individuals and organizations who will provide their Christmas gifts, leaving 141 for the Child Welfare Board to provide gifts for.

To donate funds or toys, contact Mrs. Porterfield at the Lynn County Courthouse Treasurer's Office, or call her at 998-4055.

Tahoka Residents Should Receive Ballots For Toll-Free Calls This Week

Tahoka telephone subscribers should receive the new ballots on proposed Expanded Local Calling (ELC), toll-free to several area exchanges, this week. Telephone users in Tahoka are supposed to vote on service allowing toll-free calls to Lubbock, O'Donnell, Brownfield, Lamesa and Post, and if 70 per cent or more of the ballots returned favor direct calls to those cities, a fee of no more than $3.50 per month per line will be added to residential phone bills, and no more than $7 per line per month for business phones.

In an error attributed to the telephone company, the first ballot mailed two weeks ago to subscribers here was incorrect. That ballot included names of six exchanges for expanded calling, instead of five as they were supposed to, and fees were listed at higher rates. The ballots included the name of Southland, making six exchanges for possible expanded calling. However, six additions of exchanges would cost an extra $1.50 per month on the phone bills, while adding one, two, three, four or five would cost only the $3.50 per month for residential users. The Tahoka City Council stopped the balloting process on that ballot, and requested corrected ballots for subscribers here.

The correct ballots are expected in the mail this week. General Telephone representatives told Cal Huffaker, attorney for the City of Tahoka, that the new ballots should be mailed on Dec. 13, 14 or 15. The deadline for returning the ballots will be 15 dates from the postmarked date, he said.

The ballot, headed "Tahoka Project No. 14636", should be completed by marking "yes" or "no" next to the five exchanges listed, as well as a signature and phone number of the person completing the ballot. Ballots must be returned by mail.

Although the ballot provides a space next to each of the five cities listed, enabling customers to choose which exchanges they want in the service, the monthly cost is the same whether one or five exchanges are marked.

Tahoka city officials and many area businesses are encouraging Tahoka residents to vote "yes" for all five exchanges on the ballot, and to return the ballots within 15 days after receiving them.

After completing the ballot, Tahoka GTE customers may either return the ballot by mail in the envelope which will be provided with the ballot (no postage necessary), or may take their completed ballot to Tahoka City Hall, 1612 Lockwood.

Once approved by voters, it should be noted that ELC service will not be a per-line option for customers to choose, but will be provided for all Tahoka customers across the board, at the monthly fee stated.

EXPANDED LOCAL CALLING: VOTE "YES" FOR ALL 5 CITIES

Customers of GTE in the Tahoka Calling Exchange will soon have the opportunity to vote for Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling.

Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling has been requested by the City of Tahoka on behalf of its citizens. The Petition filed with the Public Utility Commission requests Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling to Brownfield, Lamesa, Lubbock, O'Donnell and Post. This would allow calls to and from these cities without any long distance charges.

The Public Utility Commission has tentatively approved the five cities requested for Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling by the City of Tahoka. This will initiate GTE mailing out ballots to GTE customers in Tahoka asking each to vote for or against Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling to the five named cities. Each ballot returned must be post-marked prior to the expiration of fifteen (15) days from the date of mailing to be considered. Seventy percent (70%) of the ballots returned must vote in favor of the Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling to pass. If the ballots returned vote "yes" by seventy percent (70%) or more on each of the cities, each residence will be billed an additional $3.50 per line per month and businesses will be billed an additional $7.00 per line per month. This charge will be for all five of the requested communities, not a separate charge for each.

Passage of Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling will mean a substantial savings for the citizens in the Tahoka Calling Exchange. Savings will not only be realized by local residences in their long distance calling but also will save taxing entities within the City significant sums in their long distance charges.

A sample ballot is shown below for your information. The City of Tahoka, along with those shown below, ask that you vote "YES" for Expanded Toll-Free Local Calling for the Tahoka Exchange.

Pets Can Pose Family Health Threat

(NAPS)-When a new puppy or kitten comes into the household, most pet owners take the pet to their veterinarian for a health exam, immunizing shots, and treatment for worms. Most pet owners are even aware that an infection of worms can be lifethreatening to a puppy or kitten. However, when it comes to worms or gastrointestinal parasites, pet owners often are not aware of two things: (1) members of the family, especially children, can be at risk of infection from worms in their pets; and (2) dogs and cats can be subject to worm infection and pose a human health threat well past that first worming as a puppy or kitten.

Those diseases that can be transmitted from animals to humans are termed "zoonoses," and worms in dogs and cats pose a "zoonotic threat" to people, especially children. Four common gastrointestinal parasites affecting pets are hookworms, roundworms, tapeworms, and whipworms (dogs only).

Health Threat Comes From A Contaminated Environment

Puppies and kittens can become infected with worms before birth if the mother is infected, and nursing puppies and kittens can become infected from their mother's milk during nursing if the mother is infected. Experts state that almost every puppy and kitten is infected with worms

The health threat to family members from pet-harbored worms comes not only from the pet itself but from the environment contaminated with worm eggs shed by the pet. Older pets can become infected and, without showing outward signs of the infection, carry the infection in their body tissues for months or years. These tissue stages can be activated and migrate to become adult worms in the gut and begin shedding eggs again. The contaminated environment can be the yard, the kennel, the playground, a country field, or the beach. At fault can be a neighbor's infected pet, infected pets that accompany their owners or children to public parks or playgrounds, or an infected dog or cat that roams freely in the neighborhood.

Collected data shows that a significant percentage of four-year-old dogs, treated once for worms early in life, test positive for gastrointestinal parasites four years later.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1995, LYNN COUNTY NEWS, PAGE 5

Other data indicates that five to ten percent of older dogs will test positive for one or more gastrointestinal parasites, possibly contaminating the environment by shedding worm eggs.

Eggs shed by pets harboring worms can exist in the soil for months and years, an ongoing health threat to other pets and people. Particularly at risk are children, notably those one to four years of age with a habit of playing in soil and eating dirt. Roundworm and hookworm infections occur from worm eggs in contaminated soil contacting hands and being passed to the mouth and from skin penetration by hookworm larvae.

Larvae from ingested roundworm eggs subsequently travel to body organs such as the lungs, kidneys, liver, eye or brain where they encyst and potentially cause mild to severe damage. Hookworm infection can occur from ingestion of eggs or via skin contact with hookworm larvae in contaminated soil. Ingested eggs can develop into adult worms in the intestine, causing gut pain and diarrhea. Hookworm larvae can penetrate the skin and cause inflammation.

MAKING FAMILY LIFE MORE FUN

Choosing A Christmas Tree

(NAPS)-In search of the world's greatest Christmas tree? A trip to a choose and cut Christmas tree farm is a great family outing. In addition to the fresh air and fragrant trees, many farms offer special attractions such as sleigh or hay rides, hot cider or a visit with Santa Claus.

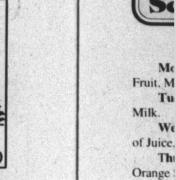

Selecting the family Christmas tree at a choose and cut farm is a tradition you'll cherish.

Most farms offer hundreds of trees in a variety of sizes and shapes, say experts at the National Christmas Tree Association. Once you've made your selection, you won't have to worry about the saw-the farm owner will provide that. They also may help you cut down and load your tree.

Before you set your tree, make a fresh, straight cut across the base of the trunk and place it in a tree stand that holds a gallon or more of water. Never let your tree stand go dry and keep the tree away from heat and draft sources. That way you can preserve the unique beauty and tradition only a real Christmas tree can provide.

'Tis the season to be jolly and generous. In addition to exchanging gifts with family and friends, many individuals display their holiday spirit by making donations to charitable causes. The Better Business Bureau suggests that you give with your head as well as your heart. There are over 300 known local charities in the South Plains that ask for donations especially during the Christmas season. The BBB has an up to date listing of charities that can assist you in exercising good giving practices. Also available is the holiday edition of Give, but Give Wisely which lists national charities. Never hesitate to ask questions about the charity's governance, programs and fundraising. Legitimate charities will be glad

DR. S.H. WINDHAM FOULLY MURDERED Dead Body Riddled By Bullets Found On Ranch Fifteen Miles South Of Brownfield. Desperate Assailant Mortally Wounds Two Other Men, Is Captured And Makes Confession.

One of the foulest murders ever committed in this section of the state was perpetrated early Monday night when Dr. S.H. Windham of this city was shot and killed on his ranch fifteen miles south of Brownfield in Terry County. Less than an hour after the tragedy was enacted, the body of the dead man was found lying 12 or 15 feet from his car, which was standing in the road with the lights burning and the engine still running.

The lights had attracted the attention of parties on the ranch and they went to investigate, and found the dead body, with seven bullet holes in the same, five in the head and two in the body. The alarm was given and officers and other citizens, some of them from Tahoka, hurried to the scene. A search for the perpetrator of the horrible deed was instituted immediately.

Early Tuesday morning a large posse of citizens left Tahoka to assist the officers in running down the criminal. They were joined by many other citizens of Lynn and Terry counties and the search continued practically throughout the day. Blood was found in and on the car, indicating that the Doctor was still in the car when he was first fired upon. The wounds in the body indicated that the shooting had been done by a .22 high power rifle. Several empty shells were found at the scene of the tragedy. Tracks and imprints indicated that a man with a peg leg had been on the scene. He was tracked from the scene about over the pasture, but his trail was finally lost, and most of the searchers gave up the search in the belief that the murderer had made his escape. But the evidence convinced them that a man with a peg leg, whose name is Will Ward and who had been employed on Dr. Windham's ranch for a little more than two weeks, was the guilty man. On Monday morning he called upon Mr. King, the foreman, for his time. After being paid off he had gone to Brownfield, where he bought a .22 high power rifle and two boxes of shells. Then he walked back to the ranch and was seen near the scene of the tragedy about sunset. In the meantime, Dr. Windham had come to Tahoka on business, leaving this city late in the afternoon on the return trip to the ranch. He reached his ranch about dark, it is thought, and as he was driving along the road after entering his ranch, he was apparently accosted and stopped by the assassin before opening fire. What prompted the slayer to make the attack is unknown, as there had been no trouble between the two men, so far as known.

Early Wednesday morning, when Ben McCormack, another hand on the Windham ranch, went out to the barn to feed the stock, he noticed the door of the boiler room near the dipping vat was open. He approached to close the door, and when he did so Ward opened fire upon him from the inside. McCormack drew a pistol and fired at his assailant a time or two and then fled. Ward pursued him a distance of perhaps a hundred yards shooting at McCormack as they ran. McCormack was so badly wounded that he was later taken to a sanitarium in Lubbock, with chances for his recovery very slender. Henry Reed, who was on a horse a half mile away, witnessed this episode, and he saw Ward return in the direction of the barn. He approached to within about two hundred yards, dismounted, and started crawling along the fence toward the barn. A bullet from Ward's gun knocked Reed's hat off and grazed the skin of his head.

Soon hundreds of men from Tahoka. Brownfield, and other points in Lynn and Terry counties began to gather, determined to get the desperate man. As they searched about, he fired several shots at intervals, from his place of concealment. Since he used smokeless powder, it was impossible for them to determine just where he was concealed. One shot penetrated the body of T.H. Moore, and his condition is said to be very grave. Finally, a machine gun was brought from Lubbock and stationed in the barn. It was thought that the hunted n was concealed in the dipping vat, and many volleys were fired into this. Under a heavy machine gun barrage, Arthur Nettles approached and inspected the vat. No man was there. The attention of the crowd was then turned upon the boiler room. Finally Arthur Nettles and J.H. Edwards of Tahoka, Deputy Sheriff A.J. Merrick of Lamesa, Deputy Sheriff Ford of Lubbock, and perhaps one or two others, volunteered to make a rush on the boiler house. They did so and kicked in the door, but found no one inside As Nettles passed to the other side of the building next to a hog shed, Ward came out of it with his gun in hand, the stock raised, and appealed to the men not to shoot, stating that he would surrender. Nettles demanded that he throw his gun down, which he did. He was immediately taken in charge and was carried to the sheriff's office in Brownfield where he made a statement, claiming that he

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1995, LYNN COUNTY NEWS, PAGE 7 killed Dr. Windham because Windham, he charged, was an I.W.W. He was later taken to Lubbock, where he made another written confession to the sheriff of Lubbock county, after which he was placed in the Lubbock county jail.

According to Ward's statement made to the officers, he conceived the idea that the foreman and employees on the ranch were planning to poison him, and he stated that he not only planned and intended to kill Dr. Windham, but also foreman King, Ben McCormack and others on the ranch. He met Dr. Windham in the road Monday night and hailed him, "Where are you going with gun, – going to join the army?" is the question which he says the Doctor asked him. "No, I'm going to kill you" was his reply. Then the Doctor told him to get in the car and go with him on to the ranch house, and as the Doctor turned his head Ward fired. #After I began firing the Doctor got out of the car and started toward me and almost got hold of me and I knocked him down with my gun," Ward further stated. He hid out in the sage brush and cactus Tuesday and slipped to the ranch house that night, concealing himself in the boiler room. When McCormack appeared the next morning he opened fire, three shots taking effect. Then he took refuge in the hog house, where he remained until captured.

Dr. Windham was one of the prominent citizens of Tahoka and of this section of the state. He had been a resident of this city about twenty years. For a number of years he was a successful physician here but went into the cattle business and abandoned the practice of medicine. He had acquired considerable property, among which was the large Terry county ranch on which he was killed. By reason of his long residence and his prominence, he had many friends throughout this portion of the state, who deeply deplore the terrible tragedy that brought him to his grave.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence in the west portion of the city at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. J.T. Howell, pastor of the Methodist Church, and interment followed in the Tahoka cemetery. Perhaps a larger crowd never attended a funeral than that which attended the funeral of Dr. Windham. All the places of business in the city closed up for the occasion and the business section of the city was practically deserted during the funeral hour. A vast throng of friends have the deepest sympathy for the heartbroken wife and little daughter, who have been so sorely bereaved by this tragic death.

[Editor's Note: Dr. Pettey of Lubbock called the News earlier this month and asked us to find the above story. We were curious about Ward's statement in the story that Dr. Windham was an "I.W.W." and asked Dr. Pettey about it. He said he believed it stood for "International Workers of the World," an extremely radical labor organization during that time that was thought to be involved in murders and other nefarious deeds. Dr. Pettey also said he believed the Terry County case was transferred to Lubbock County and that Ward was declared insane and sent to an insane asylum.]
