

Targeted & Tagged ... Now Tear 'em Down?

Abandoned property in Tahoka not only looks bad, but can be a scene for illegal drug/alcohol activity, and city officials are looking for cost-effective solutions to tear down places such as these which have been targeted and tagged as abandoned property by the City Fire Marshal. Police frequently find evidence that suggests the abandoned houses have been used for drug activity and other sordid occurrences, and residents here are encouraged to be on the alert for any activity near such places, and to call police immediately to report such activity. Shown here are several properties which the city has targeted: (1) the house between 1917 and 1929 Ave. J; (2) the house in the 2100 block of North 4th, across from the north elementary playground; (3) this house in the 1200 block of North 5th, just east of Loving Chapel; (4) and the house on the corner of North 5th and Ave. E, where police (LCN PHOTOS) have long suspected illegal drug activity.

WHEN THE CENSUS takers counted Texas residents in 1990, they not only missed some adults, but also failed to count 228,360 children under age 17, according to a group called Kids Count Project.

How did they arrive at that number? They supposedly refined figures issued by the Census Bureau earlier that about half the 4 million people missed nationwide in 1990's count were children. Who knows how the Census Bureau arrived at that figure. If they didn't know about all those people in 1990, how come they know now?

Money sent to the states by the federal government for a lot of welfare programs is based on Census figures, so the story from the Associated Press last week estimated that Texas "lost" a billion dollars during the 1990s because of the under-count. Affected were funds for school lunch programs, Head Start classes, special education, school construction, and a bunch of other things where our tax dollars are sent to Washington and some of it filters back down to us after countless politicians have taken their cut, a lot of it benefiting not only people who can't work (which is okay), but also people who won't work (which is not okay).

Anyway, how did they miss counting those kids in the first place? Sure, there are some families who don't even know how many kids they have (or what they are doing). But most do, and apparently the reason a lot of folks are missed are because folks contacted by the Census deliberately lied on the forms. Some may have just figured it is none of the government's business how many kids they have, just like it is nobody else's business how many flush toilets you have.

The story suggested, though, that many children are missed because divorced parents each may think the other listed the children, grandparents may not include children staying with them, and many immigrant families don't want the government to know anything about them, plus some fear the landlord will find out how many people are living in one apartment or house.

I guess I have to support the idea of a Census, which is coming up in 2000, because it is the politically correct thing to do. However, I really feel like the government has too much information about our private lives already.

Okay, you kids go hide in the closet. Here comes the Census taker.

A NEW STUDY reported recently confirms what a bunch of other studies told us for years: People who eat less will live longer. Actually the study indicated that in mice, genes which normally deteriorate with age tended to continue functioning in a youthful way when the mice were underfed. It also was noted that studies in monkeys show a low calorie diet lowers blood pressure and raises levels of "good" cholesterol.

So, a really low calorie diet will help you live longer, or maybe it will just seem longer, with no chicken fried steaks and chocolate ice cream, and besides, you will look like a monkey and behave like a rat.

Ground Attack Leads Bulldogs To Victory

By CASEY JONES

The Tahoka Bulldogs varsity football team launched their season with an emphatic 41-0 shutout Friday over their county archrivals, the O'Donnell Eagles.

Randy White rushed for 152 yards and one Tahoka touchdown while Blandon Hancock gained 112 yards and another touchdown. Together, the two teammates rushed for a total of 264 yards for the Bulldogs.

Senior quarterback Brady Raindl completed four passes for 42 yards and one touchdown pass which was received by Martin Garza. Raindl also ran in a 2-yard bootleg for a touchdown.

In the first quarter, after stopping O'Donnell on downs, Tahoka struck first with a 22-yard fumble recovery for a score by Hancock. At the end of the first quarter, White made an eye-catching (possibly a school record) 96-yard TD run to break the game wide open. After that, the Eagles never seemed to recover.

The Bulldog defense forced five turnovers and capitalized on them twice by scoring touchdowns. Hancock's fumble recovery came first, and later White picked off a pass and took it 35 yards into the end zone to wrap up the game.

The defense limited O'Donnell to 178 total yards and 0 yards passing. Jason Jaquess anchored the defense with nine tackles. Hancock and White each followed with eight tackles. Jaquess and Jordan Vega each forced a fumble.

Coach Troy Hinds will lead his team to Odessa this Saturday to take on Van Horn. Kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. at Ratliff Stadium. There, the Bulldogs will try to build on their impressive start.

City Approves 1¢ Tax Increase, But No Raises For Employees

No salary increases for city employees, including the police department, were included in the 1999-2000 budget which was approved by the Tahoka City Council Tuesday night. The three council members present at the meeting unanimously approved a $1,337,810 budget, as well as a one-cent tax rate increase to 68.5 cents per $100 of property value, and a $3 per month increase

The sewer rate increase is part of a three-year rate increase plan to repay a loan for a new wastewater treatment plant which will be built in Tahoka. The project was approved last year but construction has not yet begun on the new facility which will bring the city up to code on the wastewater plant.

The 1999-2000 budget is approximately $100,000 more than last year's budget, but City Administrator Jerry Webster said that the budget did not include any salary raises for the city's employees, which includes City Hall, Water and Sewer Department, and Tahoka Police Department employees.

"The city does not give cost-ofliving raises to employees. Every raise is a merit raise, and since the budget was already more than last year's, there were no salary increases included for this year," said Webster.

"There wasn't any one big item where we can pinpoint the increase in the budget, but we did put more money in our maintenance and repair fund," explained Webster. "We have

The one-cent tax increase is twotenths of a cent above the effective tax rate. No citizens attended the public hearing on the proposed tax rate

In other business, the council voted to purchase a new vehicle for the police department, and to sell the department's 1990 Lumina which currently does not run. Council members also voted unanimously to contract with Joe F. Hays, CPA, for the city's annual financial audit.

Russell Murph, representing Energas, met with the group to ask the council to suspend for 90 days the rate increase which Energas is proposing, in order for Energas representatives to meet with other cities affected by the proposed rate increase. A committee will then be formed representing the 67 affected cities, which will liaison with Energas in the rate changes. The council approved the request.

City Ponders Dilemma Of Abandoned Property Here A typical house would cost ap-Abandoned property is bad for cities. It looks bad, it's on the delinproximately $3,000 in landfill/con-quent tax rolls, it houses bug and rodent infestations, it devaluates adjacent property, and worst of all, it may be a site for illegal drug/alcohol activity. Nobody wants abandoned houses in their neighborhood ... But, nobody wants to pay to have the houses removed either.

It is a problem which all cities face, and one which is no exception to Tahoka. City officials here are aware of the problem, and are looking for viable, cost-effective solutions to demolishing abandoned

"We have partial funding in place to do some property, but not nearly enough to do all that is needed here," City Administrator Jerry Webster told The News. "We [the city] have the equipment and manpower necessary to demolish these old houses, but the expense comes from waste container rental fees and landfill fees where we have to take the debris," he explained.

Homecoming Program, Parade Needs Participants

Tahoka High School is busy planning homecoming activities and organizers urge any community organization, club, ex-student group or individual that wishes to participate in the 1999 homecoming program and/or parade to sign-up by Thursday, Sept. 23. Participants may contact Gena Stephens during school hours at 998-4538.

Elementary students are encouraged to decorate their bicycles and ride them in the parade as a group. Permission forms will be sent home from school with each child and the forms should be completed and returned to elementary principal James V. Baker by Thursday, Sept. 23.

Homecoming activities will include a program, parade, pep rally, pre-game dinners, and the annual homecoming game featuring the Tahoka Bulldogs taking on the Idalou tainer fees, Webster said, noting that when the city tore down the old community center on South 1st recently that fees amounted to nearly $5,000.

"If we had someplace to put the debris [at no cost], we could tear these houses down every day," Webster said.

He says city officials are in agreement that "something" needs to be done about abandoned property here, and that officials are in the planning stages to find a solution that will be cost-effective for the city.

Right now, the city has targeted several properties, and tagged them as abandoned property by notice of the City Fire Marshal. Tagged with notices during the past week were the following properties: (1) the house between 1917 and 1929 Ave. J; (2) the house in the 2100 block of North 4th, across from the north elementary playground; (3) a house in the 1200 block of North 5th, just east of Loving Chapel; (4) and the house on the corner of North 5th and Ave. E. An abandoned mobile home in the 1800 block of South 2nd is expected to be tagged as well, sources said. Some funding is available in the budget for demolition of such houses, but Webster says there are so many abandoned properties in Tahoka that available funding doesn't even come close to expected costs. However, city officials will continue to target and tag such property with the intention of finding a solution.

A WORD IN SEASON

Sponsored by Tahoka Ministers' Fellowship

We Have A Job To Do

I would like to thank all of the educators, law enforcement officers, and civic leaders who met with the Tahoka Ministers' Fellowship last Tuesday night. This brain storm session was for the purpose of trying to come up with some answers to our many community problems.

As these problems and solutions were discussed at length, it became obvious that we have a great love for our community and the people who make it up. Our youth are rated amongst our highest priorities. We all love and want the best for our kids. Make no question about that!

I believe that we can work together to make Tahoka a better place to live. We all have a job to do, so let's get at it.

As I have reflected over what was said at this meeting, I know without a doubt that God has the answers that we are all looking for.

Love is the first of these answers. The Bible says that "God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son ..." God gave! If God loves us, we should also love one another. If we are to love one another as God loved, we must learn to give of ourselves to others. Let us never forget that God loves us, but as a wiser man than I has said, "love must be tough." God's love is a tough love. God loves unconditionally but when we do wrong, we are responsible. I believe a lack of unconditional love in our homes is what really leads to the ills of our community. The breakdown of the home is the highest, single contributor of the problems of our society. Tahoka is no exception.

This brings us to another of God's solutions, which is responsibility. We must all learn to be responsible citizens of our community. We, as parents, should take on the full responsibility of our families. Let us teach our children a high moral code as they learn right from wrong. Why should we be surprised when our children go down the wrong path when we, as fathers and mothers, have been known to stray? Why should we complain about the disregard of a city ordinance if we, as good citizens, are not willing to comply with other laws? Do we just obey the laws we like and then condemn others for doing the same thing? You can never have privileges without responsibility.

Another answer to our problem is prayer. God answers prayer! On September 15, at 7:00 a.m., our students will be meeting around the flag pole, at the high school, to pray. I want to encourage all the adults of our city to join with the Tahoka Ministers' Fellowship, as we meet around the flagpole of our courthouse. Let us intensify our prayer, as never before, as we expect God to do great things for us.

Respect and forgiveness are two of God's answers that deserve our attention. We must respect authority and others, no matter who they are. You may not agree with what they do, but you can respect them as one created in the image of the Almighty. As people offend us we must learn to forgive. Unforgiveness leads to bitterness.

What can we do? We can pray that God will intervene and bless our town. We can gather in our churches, as never before, for worship of God and the learning of biblical truth. We can make Jesus Christ the Lord of our homes, churches, schools, council meetings, squad cars, and courtrooms as we should have done a long time ago. Then, and only then, will we begin to see the changes in our community that we desire.

She attend college at South Plains. Her only teaching experience is being a substitute teacher at Wilson for a year. That helped her decide that the school system was something that she wanted to be a part of. When asked why she became the secretary, she said that she loves being around the students and being involved in their education and school activities. She also wants to help keep Wil-

Five Texas school boards have been named Texas Honor Boards in the 1999 School Board Awards competition sponsored by the Texas Association of School Administrators (TASA), including Tahoka Independent School District's Board of Trust-

The Outstanding School Board for 1999 will be named at the 1999 Texas Association of School Administrators/Texas Association of School Boards 39th Annual Convention in Houston in early October, after each of the five finalist boards are interviewed by the TASA School Board Awards Committee. The award will be presented at the Convention's Second General Session on Sunday, Oct.

Class 2-A Tahoka is the smallest school district represented in the group of five finalists, with the other four representing Class 5-A schools. The other 1999 Texas Honor School Boards include Carrollton-Farmers Branch ISD, Los Fresnos CISD, Mansfield ISD, and Spring ISD.

Boards. Tahoka I.S.D. represents Region 17, which includes 58 school districts. Each board was nominated for this award by its superintendent of schools, with extensive information detailing certain criteria submitted for review.

The 1998-99 Tahoka Board of Trustees was submitted for the award, including Greg Henley, Brad Hammonds, Joe Calvillo, Carmen Chapa, Ty Askew, Leighton Knox Jr. and Ginger Henry. All but Mrs. Henry still serve on the current board of trustees, with Math Bartley elected to the seat vacated by Mrs. Henry. Former superintendent David Hutton submitted the board for the award. Current superintendent at Tahoka ISD is James Parker.

"The goal of educational excellence is one that will never be accomplished without the dedication of every member of the district's leadership team," says TASA Executive Director Johnny Veselka. "A key element is having a board of trustees that shares a vision of excellence and commits itself to doing what is best for every single child entrusted to its care."

TASA created the School Board Awards competition in 1971 to recognize those school boards that demonstrate outstanding service to the children of Texas. TASA's School Board Awards Committee used the following criteria to select the five Honor Boards: the board's policymaking procedures; adherence to adopted board policies; support for educational performance in accordance with state-established standards; commitment to a code of ethics; public relations efforts, including community awareness; support for educational improvement projects; evidence of harmonious and supportive relationships among board members; provisions of financial support for the school system; participation in workshops and other performance improvement programs; and placement of the welfare of children served by the school system above personal or political mo-

Among the factors that resulted in the recognition of these five Honor Boards were their vision, commitment, and leadership as policy makers; commitment to the improvement of student performance and strong evidence of growth; evidence of strong community support for the district; cooperation among board members and between the board and superintendent; and evidence of successful school-business partnerships.

HJR 44 - HJR 44 proposes a constitutional amendment that would ensure a clear succession in event of vacancies in the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor. Specifically, the amendment would provide that if after qualifying for the office, the Governor is temporarily unable to serve, the Lieutenant Governor shall act as Governor until the Governor is able to serve; but if the Governor is permanently unable to serve, the Lieutenant Governor shall become the Governor for the remainder of the unexpired term. The amendment would require a Lieutenant Governor who becomes Governor to forfeit the office of Lieutenant Governor. The amendment would also provide similar succession procedures when a vacancy occurs in the office of Governor before the newly elected Governor qualifies for office, and when the newly elected Governor is temporarily unable to take office. The amendment also would provide that if there is a temporary vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate will fill the position; but if there is a permanent vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate shall serve as Lieutenant Governor only until such time as the whole senate can convene to elect one of its members to perform the duties of Lieutenant Governor. Finally, the amendment would provide that if the Lieutenant Governor, while temporarily exercising the powers of the Governor, becomes temporarily disabled or unable to serve, the President pro tempore of the senate shall exercise the powers and authority of the office of the Governor until such time as the Governor or Lieutenant Governor reassumes those powers and duties.

First Cotton Bale Ginned At O'Donnell

Farmers Cooperative Association in O'Donnell reported the first cotton bale ginned in Lynn County this week, as far as reporting to The Lynn County News. E.L. Follis Jr., gin manager, reported that Danny Brewer brought in the dryland cotton which was ginned Tuesday morning, Sept. 7, at the O'Donnell facil-

The 460 pound bale was from approximately three acres, Follis said, and made 820 pounds of seed. Brewer planted HS 26 Paymaster, Follis believed.

"We expect to begin ginning here around Sept. 20," said the gin man-

Lynn County Extension Agent Bryan Reynolds told The News that Lynn County farmers planted slightly over 300,000 acres of cotton this year, a record high for the county according to extension office records. Unfortunately, about 100,000 acres were lost to hail, wind and in some cases, flooding. About two-thirds of the cotton acreage is dryland, Reynolds said.

"In the past several years, Lynn County has been running around 260,000 to 280,000 acres in certified cotton acreage. This year, just slightly over 300,000 acres were planted to cotton, which is a record for the county as far as we know," said the county agent.

He said the dryland cotton around the Draw area was looking very good. Prices for cotton this year, however, are reportedly very low.
