Dan Powers Named Hospital Administrator

Dan Powers of Brownfield has been chosen as administrator for Lynn County Hospital, effective with the retirement of current administrator Louise Landers on Aug. 25.

In a called meeting of the hospital board last Thursday, Powers was elected by a unanimous vote after a motion by Joe Hays to employ him at an annual salary of $57,500. Powers actually will start Aug. 1, giving him time to work with the present administrator on the various aspects of operating the hospital.

Powers formerly operated a hospital management and consulting company in Austin, from 1980-87, supervising nine general hospitals. He was administrator at Terry Memorial Hospital in Brownfield in the 70s and 80s.

Powers is a graduate of Brownfield High School and studied accounting at South Plains College in Levelland and at Regis College in Denver, CO. His most recent employment in the South Plains area was with Merrill Lynch in Lubbock as a financial consultant.

Present at the board meeting at noon Thursday were Powers and Mrs. Landers, board president Billy Tomlinson and members Hays, Jerry Ford, Dalton Wood, Virginia Griffing and Peggy Morton.

Three Vehicles Hauled In After One-Car Wreck Injures Woman

A Lubbock woman suffered injuries in a one-car accident north of Tahoka on U.S. 87 near Poka-Lambro Thursday morning, and the scene was a bit chaotic with two Lynn County EMS ambulances, two fire department trucks, patrol cars, a wrecker and an Aero helicopter eventually called to the scene.

The EMS backup ambulance and a fire department van both broke down with mechanical problems and also had to be towed in, along with the 1998 GMC Jimmy driven by the accident victim, Gina Christian Bowdoin, 43, who was reported in stable condition the next day at Covenant Medical Center.

EMS personnel transferring a patient to Lubbock first noticed the wreck, and stopped at the scene just after the woman's car went into the median and struck a culvert. They called the report in, asking for the backup ambulance so they could continue the transfer, with some of the ambulance attendants and off-duty Lynn County EMTs starting treatment for the woman. The Aero Care helicopter was called, and the backup ambulance personnel arrived about the same time. The backup ambulance broke down about 100 yards short of the scene and the attendants ran the rest of the way. The woman was transferred by helicopter to Lubbock.

MOUNTAINS are pretty. My wife and I like to go to the mountains and see all the beautiful peaks and trees and tourists. But we wouldn't want to live there, because you really can't see much else.

What that means is that we have lived so long in flat country that after a week or more in the mountains we feel all shut in, and long for the land where you can see for miles, including the lights of the next town at night. So we love the mountains, but just like Mexican food and relatives, we don't want them with us every day for the rest of our lives.

Now, however, there may be another good reason for living in the mountains instead of the flat, low land. Arriving on my desk last week in a magazine called Remedy was a report which says: "If all else fails in the battle against high cholesterol, try moving to the mountains. New research confirms that people living at high altitudes develop higher levels of HDL cholesterol (the good kind) than people at lower altitudes.

"Researchers aren't exactly sure why, but other studies suggest that hypoxia, a condition caused by a decreased oxygen supply, could lead to higher HDL levels at high altitudes. Another possibility is that people who live at higher elevations use up more calories per week through exercise than those at sea level."

Well, if they are suggesting that climbing up and down those hills helps your cholesterol picture, seems to me people who live in New England ought to do well in this area, since most of those old houses are two or three-story, and us flatlanders give out in a hurry climbing all those stairs.

Or maybe if just a shorter supply of oxygen is beneficial, we could manage that without moving to the mountains. I hope my wife doesn't read this. She probably would offer to choke me until I am healthier—or at least more agreeable.

KNOTHOLES in the Woodwork: The jerk on Ave. J says his wife got a mudpack and "she looked great for two days. Then the mud fell off." ... Sometimes in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, we read that someone who has been hospitalized after an accident, heart attack or some other trauma, is in "stable condition." I think that means sick as a horse.

Water Authority Building New Pipeline:

Tahoka, O'Donnell Water Quality Should Improve With Underground Well Project

by JUANELL JONES

Nearly 40 years ago, city forefathers here had the foresight to join a fledgling organization which sought to provide water to cities in the northern plains of Texas. Today, the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority pumps massive amounts of water from Lake Meredith to cities in the northern portion of the state, counting on engineering knowledge, computer technology, intricate equipment, and mother nature to bring water through miles of pipeline to 11 Texas cities, including Tahoka and O'Donnell.

During the past several years, the Water Authority has worked diligently on a project which is expected to not only significantly improve the water quality but will assure its member cities an ample source of water for the next 100 years.

The Water Authority purchased water rights and has undertaken the project of laying 31 miles of pipe and digging deep into the earth's core to establish 21 wells to make an additional source of water to the Lake Meredith supply, which is fed by the Canadian River. The new pipeline runs north of Pampa to just south of Fritch, where it will connect the underground water to Lake Meredith, mixing the well water with the Canadian River water and, it is expected, significantly decreasing the salt content (salinity) of the water supplied to all cities who are members of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

"The salt content has been high, but this project should improve our water quality significantly," says Larry Hagood, the City of Tahoka's representative for the past several years on the Water Authority board.

Tahoka and O'Donnell joined the Water Authority during the early stages of development, and also contracted with the City of Lubbock for water treatment. Fees are based on population and water usage, according to city officials here.

"We use approximately 100 million gallons of water a year in Tahoka from the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, paying 10.78 cents per gallon during the winter and 12.68 cents per gallon in the summer, plus a maintenance and operating fee based on population (about $27,000) and a two percent surcharge for replacement of equipment," said Tahoka City Administrator Jerry Webster. He noted that this year's budget allocated $80,000 to the Water Authority.

He explained that although the Water Authority allocates plenty of water to Tahoka—154 million gallons annually—there is not enough pipeline capacity to deliver it during high usage times such as summer months, so the city supplements the supply with their own city wells.

The City of O'Donnell pays about $32,000 a year to the Water Authority, using about 52 million gallons of water annually, according to city sources. Occasionally, city well wa- (See WATER, page 3) ter is used to supplement the water supply during high usage.

"There are days when we use over 100,000 gallons a day easy, but only very occasionally do we have to supplement with city wells," said O'Donnell City Secretary Gustine Bairrington. She explained that several years ago the City of O'Donnell sold 20-25 million gallons of water to the City of Lamesa, a practice which cities whose allotment exceeds their needs are permitted to do through the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority. O'Donnell no longer sells water, although Mrs. Bairrington did say that a decision was made several years ago by the council to sell 45-50 million gallons of water to the City of Lubbock after the new groundwater pipeline is completed, and that should help with expenses.

The water Tahoka and O'Donnell receives through the Water Authority is treated first at the Lubbock water treatment plant before it is piped on down to the Lynn County cities. Tahoka and O'Donnell contract with Lubbock for the water treatment instead of building their own treatment plants, which would be of considerable expense. "We pay the City of Lubbock anywhere from $30,000 to $32,000 a year for water treatment, and believe me, that is saving us millions of dollars if we had to build and maintain our own treatment plant," the Tahoka City Manager said. O'Donnell's cost is approximately $11,000 annually for the water treatment.

In all, the City of Tahoka spends approximately $110,000 a year to supply water to its citizens, and O'Donnell spends about $40,000 annually, but while those figures sound high, city and water officials believe the benefits far outweigh the costs.

"I think the City of Tahoka is getting a lot for its money - we're assured of plenty of water, quality water treatment, and salinity-reducing projects such as the current pipeline the Water Authority is adding. That's cheap compared to some of the problems we would have if we couldn't get water. Some cities on the South Plains [who are not members of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority] are really going to be hurting for water, but we are in good shape," Webster added.

Pictured is a valve which allows access to the new pipeline being laid. The 31 miles of pipeline runs north of Pampa to just south of Fritch.

ing more than three or four years, we shouldn't have any trouble keeping the water level high. The underground water project we are currently working on is estimated to provide water for 50 years if pumping at full capacity. We figure conservatively to last 100 years because we don't expect to pump anywhere near to full capacity," Hagood explained.

That's good news for Tahoka and O'Donnell, and the other member cities whose citizens depend on the water supply.

Elsewhere in the county, New Home and Wilson rely on their own city wells for water, and are not connected to any other supply. City officials at both towns say they currently have a good supply of water and have not experienced any significant problems with their underground wells. New Home is seeking a grant to build another water tower, as the town just has one to serve its needs. Wilson City Secretary Susann Follis said Wilson received good reports at the last testing of the city water supply, with both nitrate and fluoride levels showing a decrease.

Hagood echoed Webster's opinion. "Tahoka just happened to have enough foresight to get on board years ago. There will be some towns hurting, but we won't. We're just lucky as can be that we had people back then with foresight," Hagood said.

The water level at Lake Meredith Dam is higher now than it has been in years, Hagood said, at a depth of about 94 feet. When the underground water is added, Hagood says it should keep the water level high.

"Unless we have an extensive drought that lasts years, and I'm talk-

Digging The Pipeline ...

These photos, taken by Larry Hagood, show the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority's new pipeline being laid between Pampa and Fritch which will supply underground water in addition to the Canadian River which feeds into the dam at Lake Meredith. When completed in 2001, the project not only will assure many more years of water supply but should reduce the overall salinity content and improve water quality significantly.

This extra-large digging machine can dig a hole 8 feet wide by 10 feet deep with one swipe. The machine is so large that when it is moved to another location it must be taken apart and carried in pieces - and it takes eight 18-wheeler trucks to carry it all.

The extra-wide wheels on this excavator allows passage over the large ditch as the dirt is packed in over the finished pipeline. About 10 miles of the 31-mile pipeline has been completed.

Lung Cancer Can Be Prevented

by Doris Collins
CEA-FCS Lynn County

Lung cancer is the chief cause of cancer deaths for men and women. The American Cancer Society estimates that in the year 2000, 164,100 people will be diagnosed with lung cancer and 156,900 people will die from the disease. More people die of lung cancer than of colon, breast, and prostate cancers combined.

Lung cancer is considered to be the most tragic type of cancer because, in most cases, it could have been prevented. Smoking tobacco is responsible for 87 percent of lung cancers. The risk of dying from lung cancer is 22 times higher for men who smoke and 12 times higher for women who smoke than for people who never smoked.

Signs and symptoms of lung cancer can include:

- A persistent cough or wheezing
- Recurring bronchitis or pneumonia
- Pain or weakness in a shoulder or arm
- Chest pain
- Coughing up blood
- Hoarseness
- Swelling of the neck and face
- Streaks of blood in the sputum

Anyone with any of the above symptoms should contact a physician immediately. Smokers should consult a physician about a plan to quit.

For more information on lung cancer, contact a local county Extension Agent.

JESSICA CORLEY
Jessica Corley
Named All-District

Jessica Corley, a member of the Ballinger High School Lady Bearcats, has been named to the All-District 6-3A Basketball Team. She will be a senior at Ballinger High in the fall.

Jessica also received an "Excellent" rating at the Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest held in San Marcos in May. She received a silver medal and Division II (Excellent rating) for her performance on Class I (high difficulty level) vocal solos in State UIL Competition. She will be participating in the Baptist All State Youth Choir later this month.

Jessica is the daughter of Will and Paula Corley of Ballinger. She is the granddaughter of O.B. and Joyce Corley of Tahoka and Mamie Sue Gibbs of Lubbock.

New Home ISD Expects 'Recognized' Rating From State

In their monthly meeting on Monday, New Home ISD board members heard a report from high school principal John Jones indicating that the school district expects to receive a "Recognized" rating from the state for the spring 2000 TAAS tests.

Test scores represent a ten percent gain over last year's scores and are as follows: Reading-95.1% passing; Mathematics-95.2% passing; and Writing-96% passing.

In other business, superintendent Herb Youngblood reported that all ceilings in the elementary building had been lowered and air conditioners had been installed in all classrooms. Work is scheduled to be completed by Aug. 1.

Randy Cavoas from the Texas Association of School Boards presented a report on the Lone Star Investment Pool and trustees then passed a resolution giving Youngblood the authority to invest district money in the fund.

Other action taken during the meeting included approval of a lease for a new ice machine in the cafeteria and approval of student and employee handbooks for the 2000-2001 school year.

CRISTIN CORLEY

She will be a sophomore at Hardin-Simmons this fall.

Wilson Volunteer Fire Department Tip of the Week: Some younger children seem to have a fear of firemen. Some experts seem to think that this fear can be caused by all the noise and flashing lights created by the fire truck as well as the sight of the fireman in his bunker gear and air-pac face mask.

If you sense this fear in your child, make an effort to contact your local fire department and ask if you can bring your child or children by the local fire station to take a tour of the facilities. This will enable the child to see the equipment and the firefighters in an up-close, one-on-one environment. Most fire departments, both big-city paid and small town volunteer, welcome the chance to introduce children to fire safety and to the workings of their equipment. Most of the time a simple phone call can arrange a visit to the station for an individual or a group, and a little planning ahead might let a group of children attend a training session at an area training ground. For more information on department visits, contact your local fire department at their administrative phone numbers, or go by a station and contact one of the firemen.

The Wilson Mustang Booster Club will have their first meeting of the 2000-2001 school year on Thursday, July 13 in the school cafeteria at 7 p.m. Items to be taken care of at this meeting include the election of new officers and to plan for the next Mid-Night Madness event.

Don't forget the Wilson school library and their summer programs. The library will be open from 1-3 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday. There will be special story time sessions for children who will enter the second grade and younger. Contact librarian Mrs. Livingston for more information.

The Wilson Volunteer Fire Department will host a BBQ dinner on Sunday, July 23 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. BBQ and all the trimmings will be served and carryout plates will be available. Cost for the meal is $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

In addition to the meal, department members are selling tickets for a drawing for several prizes. For the guys, they will draw for a 264 cal. Winchester Mag. Model 70 rifle. Then, for the ladies, they will draw for a $50 gift certificate to the Texas Land and Cattle Company. Tickets for the drawings are $5 each or six for $25. During the meal, tickets will be sold for a "Penny Raffle" for a 22 cal. Taurus Model 62 rifle.

All profits from the event will go to help the fire department with their equipment and supplies costs.

The fire department wishes to acknowledge Bob Everett and the Gun Shak of Lubbock for their assistance in securing both of the guns to be given as prizes and to the generosity of the Texas Land and Cattle Company for the assistance on the ladies prize.

Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church of Wilson will hold their annual Jamaica on Sunday, July 23. This annual day of music, food, entertainment and games is for all the people of Wilson and the surrounding area, and will include live music, bingo, and other games for the entire family as well as food of all types.

Tickets are being sold by church members for a raffle. First prize is a color television, second prize is a cash prize of $150 and third prize is a cash prize of $100.

For more information, contact Fr. Malcom Nyland at 792-3943 or 628-6420.

Wilson's First Baptist Church will be in revival from Sunday, July 16 through Wednesday, July 19. Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and weekday services will be at 6 p.m. The revival preacher for all the services will be Herman Cramer and the music program will be led by Paul and Vanessa Cherry.

Special activities for the week include a Sunday lunch after the morning service, Family Night on Monday, Youth Night on Tuesday, and a homemade ice cream feast on Wednesday night.

All area residents are invited to attend these services and "join God in what he is doing."

It's Fifth Sunday singing time at the First Baptist Church of Wilson. On July 30, beginning at 6 p.m., there will be celebration in music on the church lawn. Music will be provided by the First Baptist Church members joined by Juan Cavazos and friends from the Smyer Catholic Church and Bobby and Jane Saied from the First United Methodist Church in Lubbock, along with many other special guests.

All area residents are invited to join this time of praise in music. Since this program will be on the church lawn, those attending probably will want to bring lawn chairs or a blanket to sit on.

From History to Science:

Not all mice are vegetarians. Grasshopper mice aren't. They eat insects, lizards and littler mice. You know what a grasshopper mouse does when it targets its dinner? Points its nose skyward and howls. Like a wolf. Not a loud. Like a real small wolf. (Stolen from the AJ's Pass It On column.)
