Muleshoe Blanked By Strong Dimmitt Bobcat Eleven, 6-0

Muleshoe's Mules, plagued by fumbles and penalties, fell before the Dimmitt Bobcats here Friday night 6-0 before a standing crowd in their first home game of the season.

Dimmitt's James Cowell scored the only TD of the night early in the first quarter after the Mules had fumbled away the ball on their own 37. The running try for the extra points was stopped and the Bobcats held a 6-0 lead, good for the remaining game time.

Late in the second quarter the Mules managed to mount an offensive, which seemed to be rolling smoothly along. Driving from their own 25, the Mules drove steadily on the ground to the Bobcat 40. In a twinkling of the eye the fortunes of the game changed. Trying to hit his left end, Larry Lumpkin on the Dimmitt 20, Young left fly with his first pass of the game, only to have it intercepted.

In the fourth quarter the Mules started rolling again. From their own 38 they started grinding out yardage, with Young and Pierce carrying the pigskin. After driving down to the Dimmitt 10, the old nemesis, fumbled, again plagued the Mules. With second down and 10 on the Bobcat 10, the ball got away from a Mule ball carrier and the Bobcats recovered. The Muleshoe forward walk stopped the hard running Bobcat offensive, and they were forced to punt. Taking over on the Dimmitt 47, the Mules started clicking again. A pass to Lumpkin was good and carried the Mules down to the Bobcat 35. From that point the Muleshoe backfield lugged the ball to the Dimmitt 20. With time running out, they tried another pass play, only to have Dimmitt intercept on their own 16. From that point the Bobcats ran out the clock on the remaining few plays.

Presbyterians Gain New Pastor

Rev. Finis Hodges

The Reverend Finis G. Hodges was installed as pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Muleshoe Sunday evening by the Presbytery of Plains, in the new church building on the Morton highway. Rev. Hodges comes to Muleshoe from a pastorate at Henderson, Texas.

He is not a newcomer to the plains area of Texas, having attended school at West Texas prior to entering religious training in Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges have two daughters, the oldest a student at Tyler Junior College, and Jeanne, a junior in Muleshoe high school.

Services are held each Sunday at 11 a.m., preceded by Sunday School at 10 a.m.

Jaycees To Play Football Game Against Dimmitt

Muleshoe Jaycees this week accepted a challenge from the Dimmitt Junior Chamber of Commerce to play a football game in Dimmitt October 15.

Muleshoe Jaycee president, Dale Fischgrabe, has requested all members to be present at a practice session this Sunday afternoon at Benny Douglas Field. He said the practice uniform will be old clothes and tennis shoes.

Uniforms for the game have been secured from the Lazbuddie School.

Splawn, Daniel Split Football Contest Money

Howard Splawn, who took second place in the first two kickoff contests sponsored by The Journal and Muleshoe Merchants, finally got a winner this week, only to be tied by Ray Daniel for first place.

Both Splawn and Daniel missed two of the college winner choices and then called the tie-breaker nearest to the correct score. No entrant missing two of the college winners named the Muleshoe-Dimmitt score correctly.

Due to the tie, there is no second place winner this week. Splawn and Daniel split first and second place prize money, taking home $4 each.

Turn to page four, of the second section for entry blanks in this week's football kickoff contest.

Richard Chitwood Wins 4-H Award

RICHARD CHITWOOD

Richard Chitwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Chitwood, senior at the Lazbuddie High School, has been named one of twelve 4-H Club members in Texas to receive the Santa Fe award, which is a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago on November 26-30.

As he was one of four most outstanding of the twelve winners, Richard has also received a $400 scholarship for his outstanding work in 4-H.

Richard joined the Lazbuddie Junior 4-H Club under the supervision of County Agent Joe Jones when he was 9 years old. Since then he has been active in all phases of 4-H work in Parmer County. He is now a member of the County Wide Junior Leader Club and has been elected secretary-treasurer of the District Council for 1962, and has held many offices during this time.

His 4-H projects have included beef cattle, hogs, sheep, cotton and maize crops, recreation, leadership, tractor maintenance and grain marketing.

Richard plans to continue his 4-H Club work at Texas A&M College where he will study agriculture.

'Give me a Mule . . . A Plow . . . A Cow, A Sow, I'll Get Along, Somehow.'

Why the poetic tribute to one of nature's most stubborn creatures? You're the stubborn one if you don't help Waco help Muleshoe get that mule statue.

High Areas Spared Blow To Economy

Freeze Hits Crops Near M'shoe Tuesday Morning

Muleshoe area crops were damaged to some extent by freezing weather Tuesday morning as a hard freeze hit the city and light frost touched other portions of the county.

Tomatoes in low-lying areas were hard hit by the freeze, while the grain sorghum was damaged slightly and cotton survived without any significant damage whatsoever, according to County Agent J. K. Adams and a horticulturist from the state experimental station in Lubbock.

Jack Kyle, assistant horticulturist from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock, visited the Muleshoe area Wednesday afternoon to inspect the tomato crop and found "severe damage to tomatoes in low areas and slight damage in higher areas close to Muleshoe." He said that west of Muleshoe the damage extends out about seven miles.

By "severe" the horticulturist meant almost destroyed, he said. He considered slight damage to be foliage damage, which would not harm the fruit.

Despite the damage to certain fields of tomatoes, Kyle said the crop prospects are good for Bailey County tomatoes.

Kyle, who specializes in vegetable crop research, cultural testing and variety testing, said that "those plants showing slight damage should go ahead and produce a good crop."

Kyle and Adams visited the West Camp area Wednesday and found damage to the tomatoes, grain sorghum and cotton in that part of the county. Cotton damage was mostly in the form of leaf burn there, Adams said.

Adams said that no damage was observed Tuesday in the field four south of Muleshoe, in the Longview area. However, some damage was reported in that vicinity in low-lying areas not visited on the tour.

OTHER VEGETABLES

Adams said, "One field of bell peppers north of town was severely damaged, while another field close by but on just slightly higher ground was unharmed."

Temperatures were reported to The Journal Tuesday morning by Harold Allison to be 28 degrees eight miles east of town and 27 degrees at the All-son ranch where there were icicles on the trees early Tuesday. Thirty-two degrees was reported and 34 degrees was observed, on a thermometer protected by a shed, both in the West Camp area.

COTTON OKAY

"Cotton, the major crop in Bailey County, shows no significant sign of damage," said Adams, adding that the 105,386 acres of cotton in the county should produce over 95,000 bales of cotton this year. Last year's yield was about 90,000 bales.

GRAIN SORGHUM

Adams estimated that 10,000 acres of grain sorghum were damaged by the cold weather, but that there are 160,000 acres of land planted in grain this year and this should not lower the total yield of the county.

The only grain sorghum damaged was to late-planted grain. Adams said, adding that this is further proof of the value of early-planted grain sorghum. He also cited the fact that late-planted grain sorghum in other areas was hard-hit by sorghum midges, while the early-planted grain in Bailey County escaped his blight.

Bagging Will Use Over 300,000 Bales

Cotton gins in the Muleshoe area and throughout 22 counties of the Panhandle are now using an all-cotton bagging to cover cotton bales produced in this area. This is the only area in the cotton-producing states using this type bagging.

When production of this bagging reaches its potential, 300,000 bales of low-grade cotton per year will be utilized in its manufacture, according to Guy Nickels, a director of Plains Cotton Growers.

Nickels, who owns nine gins and one compress in this area, said that Mr. George Pfeifenberger, Lubbock, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, developed the bagging.

Pfeifenberger developed the bagging last year, but this is the first year any of the material has been used. Only 10,000 patterns were available for use this year, while it is predicted that over 200,000 patterns will be available for use next year.

Cotton bagging is expected to create a better market for low-grade cotton. It will cut down the import of jute from Pakistan, India, and other foreign nations.

Jute, which has always been used for bagging, is presently selling for less than the all-cotton bagging, but competitive pricing is anticipated within the next two years.

Improvement of manufacturing techniques will not only lower the price of the bagging, but will also widen the marketing potential.

This bagging is, according to Nickels, full 12-pound bagging which meets every requirement of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Another innovation, according to Nickels, will be forthcoming in the near future. Electronic grading systems will be installed in the gins, with grading being done during the ginning process.

This will eliminate the necessity for cutting grading samples from the bale, which lets in dirt and takes away from the bale. A slightly higher grade of cotton will result from this move.

Nickels is also president of the Plains Ginners.

Mules Given 1 TD Edge Friday Night

For the first time this season, the Muleshoe Mules will come up against a team which does not have them outclassed, and it is expected that the Mules will emerge victorious in the encounter.

Friana has lost five games this year, with no wins, as compared to four losses and no wins for the Mules. The Mules have lost to Clovis, Littlefield, Hereford, and Dimmitt, while Friana has lost to Farwell, Plains, Morton, New Mexico Military Institute and Portales.

According to reports, the Chiefs are lacking in power and are not expected to cause the Mules' losing streak to continue. However, the Mules themselves have not shown that they are a winning team, so there is a possibility of the Chiefs' ending their own losing streak.

The Mules have been playing much stronger teams than has Friana and have not shown up too badly, considering this factor. They have played good ball in most of their games, according to the coaches, and overabundance of mistakes.

Mules may have three men out due to injuries this week, including Dixon Ray, Larry Lumpkin and Billy Gilbreath. Dixon is suffering from an injured knee, Lumpkin from a pulled muscle in the neck or back, and Gilbreath from a mild concussion. There is a possibility that one or more of these men will be able to play in the Friana game, however, if they continue to improve as they have in recent days.

Bailey Voters Veto Weed Control Dist.

Voters of precincts one and two voted 177-75 Saturday against a proposed noxious weed control district in a special election.

Election results were canvassed by the Commissioners' Court of Bailey County. Official results were tabulated with precinct one (Election Building) polls showing a 90-31 vote against the move; Precinct 1-A had a 47-20 majority opposed to the weed control district.

Absentee ballots had four for and none against the proposal. West Camp, in precinct two, had 36-16 against, while the other precinct two box, located in Mays, had a 44 count on the measure.

NEW CHAMBER OFFICERS—Frank Ellis, president and vice president, respectively, of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce. They will take office in January.

Masonic Home To Mark Anniversary

Masons from throughout Texas will gather Saturday, Oct. 7, on the rolling lawns of the Home for Aged Masons at Arlington to observe the home's half-century of service.

The home's golden anniversary celebration will begin with a convocation in the auditorium at 2:30 p.m., followed by a program on the lawn at 3:30, a buffet supper there at 5:45 and musical entertainment by residents of the home starting at 6:30.

The program's principal speaker will be Fred F. DeWaney of Waco, Grand Secretary, Grand Royal Arch Chapter, and Grand Orator, Grand Lodge of Texas. The Arlington home is owned, operated and maintained by the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of the Sir Knights of Texas, and the newest annex of 75 beds and opened for use of residents early this year by the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Texas. Many Masons and Masonic Lodges of Texas helped furnish the annex.

The acreage on which the home is located provides ample space for an orchard, vineyard, vegetable garden, pecan grove, poultry ranch and dairy, in addition to the extensive lawns and flower gardens. One mile away is a 58-acre tract with an orchard and cemetery.

Use of the cemetery has been extended to the Grand Chapter of Texas, order of the Eastern Star, for the use of its Eastern Star Home, also located at Arlington; and to the Grand Lodge of Texas for use of its Masonic Home and School, in Fort Worth.

The anniversary celebration Oct. 7 will take place just four days past half a century from dedication of the home's first building on Oct. 3, 1911.

Marlin Doctor Crusades For Monument to the Mule

MARLIN DOCTOR RESPECTS THE MULE

Mules are like a lot of people . . . treat them kindly, is the view of Dr. J. B. Barnett of Marlin. He is a director of an association aiming to erect a monument to the fast disappearing mule, which played an important role in the development of America. The mule was a source of power and an object of distrust and warniness to most people, but occasionally loved by those who understood "it", one of which was the Marlin doctor. Like a mule? That's capable of constructions. If one says "You're like a mule". Yow! If one asks "You like a mule?" it depends on what a mule has done for you or to you. (Photo Waco News-Tribune)

A noted Texas physician doesn't want the mule to be forgotten. He has become a firm advocate of a statue in Muleshoe to the mule.

And, Waco has caught on. The Waco News-Tribune Friday carried a front page picture of a specimen of the onery mule, with a long story inside about Dr. Barnett of Marlin, who is stirring things up downstate about the statue, and in behalf of Old Beck.

Harry Provence, editor-in-chief of the Waco paper, serves on the Brazos River Authority board and brings home a version of the mule and Marlin posture, one of wary tribute to the unpredictable critter.

Sequel to Dr. Barnett's flying trip to Muleshoe recently to the mule association meeting, the following fine story was written for the Waco paper by John Banta of its staff:

MARLIN—Dr. J. B. Barnett of Marlin, a man who once fought a mule and won, is a top leader in a nationwide movement to erect a monument in memory of mules. Dr. Barnett figures mules played as important a part as anything else in settling and civilizing the West. And there have been monuments to mustangs, to great stallions, to race horses and to longhorn cattle, so why not honor the mule who for centuries pulled man's heaviest loads and helped till his soil.

The Marlin physician fears the mule is on his way out, like the buffalo and longhorn cattle. It won't be long, he says, before kids will have to go to a zoo to see what a mule looks like, and all the time it might have been a mule that made papa or grandpa a doctor or lawyer or politician.

He says many a mule has been worked hard on many a farm to put many a boy through college. "I haven't seen a mule colt in 20 years," says Dr. Barnett. "And I figure here aren't more than 20,000 to 30,000 mules left in Texas, and I'll bet their average age is as much as 18 years."

That's getting up in years for a mule. Dr. Barnett is a charter member of the Mule Memorial Association, and serves on its advisory committee.

The association's objective is to erect a big life-size statue of a mule at Muleshoe, way out in Bailey County on the Texas-New Mexico border.

Million Mule Lovers
The association hopes to raise $10,000 to $15,000 by public donations to build the monument. Dr. Barnett estimates they may already have as much as $1,500. He doesn't expect much trouble in getting the money.

"Why, there must be a million mule lovers in this country," he says.

People who want to donate can send their money to the Mule Memorial Association in Muleshoe. Dr. Barnett says they have a banker serving as treasurer.

"So the money will be safe," he explains. "You know, bankers are supposed to be honest. We're keeping a list of names and how much everybody gives, so just in case the plan falls through we can send the people's money back."

First talk of the mule monument started last spring, with the idea it might be put up at Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth.

City Wants Monument
"You know, Old Will, he was a mule lover as well as a horse lover," says Dr. Barnett, who is an admirer of Will Rogers and has several pictures of the humorist hanging in his office.

But the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce heard about the plan and decided it would be a good thing to get the monument erected in that city. Several letters went back and forth between Dr. Barnett and the Muleshoe chamber. Then little Cindy Smith of the fourth grade at Muleshoe school wrote him a letter on behalf of her class. She enclosed $5 the class collected as a donation to the monument, and she wrote that the class wanted the mule statue in their town very much.

"We have 5,340 citizens here, some cats, dogs, and three mules," she wrote.

That letter swung the deal for Muleshoe.

So last Aug. 25 a meeting of mule lovers was called. Dr. Barnett flew to Muleshoe to attend. Overflow Crowd
"We were going to meet at the chamber of commerce," he said, "but there were so many of us it wouldn't hold us. We had to go over to the courthouse so we'd have enough room."

Dr. Barnett served as parliamentarian; the meeting lasted an hour and 15 minutes, and when it was over the Mule Memorial Association had been formed. They elected Gil Lamb of Muleshoe, president.

They adopted a sketch drawn by Wayne Bryant of Marlin from which the monument will be made. It shows a mule standing in the corner of a barb wire fence looking over the fence into a field of tasseling corn, his ears backed, one hind foot lifted a little off the ground.

V. H. Torrance, Austin writer and historian, moved the sketch be adopted. Dr. Barnett seconded it.

"We had several other sketches," said Dr. Barnett. "One of a mule braying and one of a mule plowing, but we picked this one because it was more dignified."

Site Donated
An inscription on the monument will be a quotation from George Washington Carver, famed Negro scientist. It will say: "I never saw a mule that didn't look like he thought he was thinking."

The Santa Fe Railroad donated a site for the monument. The group also adopted a motto. It is: "Let us bray."

Dr. Barnett says you can hear

"I couldn't get them stopped. So I just headed them into the field and started circling, and they finally run down," he said. Mules, says Dr. Barnett, are a lot like people. Treat them with kindness and they'll usually do what you want them to.

"When you get in a fight with a mule, you usually lose." He said he has had many fights with mules, but won only one.

Won the Battle
It was with an old mule that got to running the young colts and calves and biting them. Barnett said his hired man told him he didn't know what they were going to do with the mule.

"I told him I was either going to kill that mule or break him of it," Dr. Barnett said. He caught the mule in the act of chasing a calf, gave him a good whipping, and told the hired man to keep him in the lot a day or so.

When they turned him out again, there was no more running the colts and calves.

Dr. Barnett said when he flew out to the mule association meeting in Muleshoe recently Mrs. Barnett thought maybe he ought not to get so mixed up with all this mule activity. She didn't care too much about mules, herself. "Mama, I told her, you're a town girl. I'm already into this thing and I'm going to see it through if it costs me a thousand dollars," he said.

"So I flew out there and I met some of the finest people and saw some of the finest crops, and just relaxed and had a good time."

Dr. Barnett gets pretty eloquent when he starts talking about mules, and sometimes quotes verse. One of his favorites is:

"Give me a mule and a plow,
"And a cow and a sow,
"And I'll get along,
"Somehow."

a mule bray three miles on a still morning. He says he has heard that if a mule can't lift his tail he can't let go with a real loud bray, but kind of muffles it in his throat.

He said he knows a guy who was in a mule-drawn artillery outfit in World War I, and this guy said the mules used to bray and give their positions away to the enemy; so an army veterinarian told them to cut the muscles at the base of the mules' tails so they couldn't lift their tails, and they couldn't bray so loud.

Dr. Barnett likes mules because his father, the late W. W. Barnett Sr., farmed about 2,000 acres of land at Oletha in Limestone County and had as many as 40 mules of his own at one time. This wasn't counting the mules owned by renters on the land.

Dr. Barnett's first contact with a mule, as far as he knows, came in 1898 when he was two and a half years old and still wearing dresses, as boys did at that age in 1898.

Busted My Behind

"We had this old pet mule, and my mother said she looked out one day and there I was, running back and forth under that old mule's belly. And he was just standing there and didn't move a muscle to hurt me. She ran out and grabbed me, and I don't think she did anything to that mule, but she busted my behind," he said.

As he got older he drove mules, plowing on the farm and hauling freight back and forth between Oletha and the railroad at Thornton 12 miles away.

"I was in one mule train that had 55 wagons in it."

He said he used to work a mule named Lovin' Henry to a walking plow. Lovin' Henry was a good gee-and-hawing mule, would turn left or right or do nearly anything else on voice command.

"I'd plow the garden with him, and he was just as careful and never stepped on a thing. But we had another old mule that would tromp down half the garden," Dr. Barnett said.

Never Been Kicked

Dr. Barnett said he has never been kicked or bitten by a mule, but had a span of mules run away with him once.

He said he was driving some mules hitched to a wagon, going to the field, and another boy was driving another wagon with mules. They decided to have a race, and Dr. Barnett got to trying so hard to win the race that he started stomping on the dashboard with his feet and got his mules excited and they ran away.

Parmer Farmers Meeting Tonight

Parmer County Farm Bureau members will gather at the PCA office in Friona at 8 p.m. tonight to vote on local, state and national issues in the form of resolutions.

To be decided at the thirteenth annual convention of the Parmer County Farm Bureau are the following resolutions.

STATE

1. CHILD LABOR—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau favors legislation making parents equally responsible for violation of child labor laws. Be it further resolved that we favor a maximum age of 14 years, rather than any higher age for compulsory school attendance.

2. FARM TO MARKET ROAD FUND—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau favors a compromise along the lines suggested by the Texas Highway Department in the use of certain Colson-Briscoe funds for maintenance purposes if this will accelerate ultimate construction of 50,000 miles of FM road construction.

3. BUILDING PERMITS FOR RURAL IMPROVEMENTS—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau opposes proposed legislation that would require building permits for rural improvements and building.

4. STATE REGULATION AND SUPERVISION OF COMMERCIAL INSECTICIDES—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau favors state regulation and supervision of commercial insecticide.

5. TAXES???

NATIONAL

1. BLOC VOTING—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau opposes "bloc voting". That is, the casting of a vote on matters of concern to each member of a cooperative when the membership has not registered a consensus on the subject at hand. Bloc voting too often allows an organization to cast an influential vote, supposedly representing the desire of many members, when it is possible that the membership would have voted a majority in the opposite direction.

2. FARM LABOR-BRACEROS—Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau favors continuation of the Bracero program, but opposes regulations that tend to eliminate the advantage of using braceros.

3. DOMESTIC LABOR—We oppose regulations that would require registration of crew leaders.

4. WAGE AND HOUR—We oppose the application of Wage and Hour law for agricultural labor.

5. Be it resolved that Parmer County Farm Bureau opposes legislation proposed for providing financial medical aid for the aged.

NATIONAL FARM PROGRAM

—Should there be more or less government intervention and control in agriculture? (After a vote, yes or no, on the question on this subject, the vote will be on the original question)

A. Is it possible to have government controlled management programs on some commodities without eventually forcing similar programs on inter-related commodities such as feed grain vs. livestock and poultry? This also involves the principle of whether or not producers of one commodity should be permitted to use powers of government to set the price and regulate production of their commodity where producers of other commodities have no voice in the decision.

B. Will government controlled management programs diminish or even halt the technical advances that have made American agriculture the most efficient in the world?

C. Who should speak for farmers and ranchers—government selected and financed committees, or farmers and ranchers through their own free and voluntary organizations?

D. Is an advertising and promotion program voluntary when the power of government is used to force contribution? This involves the whole issue of producer referendums—do they actually reflect producer preference where they have little choice in alternatives or qualifications of those permitted to vote?

E. Should producers be permitted to sell or lease marketing quotas and acreage allotments or transfer them across county or state lines?

F. Should the benefits or degree of benefits (maximum payments) of government programs be limited to certain producers with the determination to be made by government agency?

G. Should a government agency be given the power and authority to regulate (by dumping surpluses) producers income in the market?

H. What should be the role of government agencies (ASC Committees and employees, county agents, etc.) in proposed, enacted or renewal farm program activities?

I. Is expansion of marketing orders, either to include additional commodities or extending authority to include larger areas, in the interest of a particular commodity or agriculture as a whole?

STUDENTS

Buddy Brocklett, employee of the Muleshoe Co-op, began training as a student pilot at the Muleshoe Flying Service, with Fred Boyd as instructor. Brocklett has flown the Super Cub in aerial maneuvers and began practice in take-offs and landings Sunday.

Brocklett, who has been in training only a short time, is showing rapid advancement in aviation.

Another promising student is Paul Fry of Flag, Texas. Fry began flying recently and has completed several phases of training.

NEW CHEROKEE

A Cherokee, the latest creation by Piper, was flown from the Lubbock Piper Distributor Roy Neal, to the Muleshoe Flying Service last week for a three day showing here.

The four-passenger plane is a low wing design, which greatly resembles the popular Comanche. Features of the craft are the wide, stable landing gear, shorter wing span which gives maximum stability on crosswind landings and a spacious cabin with deep windows which provides and unobstructed view.

The Cherokee was in the air most of the three days that it was here, being flown by local pilots and on passenger hops.

The Journal Staff was given courtesy rides by the Flying Service. Gary Stone, Journal Editor, who holds a Private License, took over the controls and states that he is very impressed with the Cherokee. He said, "it performs beautifully in flight, in stalls and other aerial maneuvers and the climb-out is remarkable."

It will be approximately two months before the Cherokee will be available to the public.

Fred Boyd, Flying Service pilot, flew Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bamert and Greta to Las Cruces, N. M., Sunday afternoon in the Comanche, to get their son, Ricky, who has been visiting there with his grandparents. They returned Monday morning.

Muleshoe Pioneers Tell Of Early Days

Former residents of Muleshoe and members of an area pioneer family, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kennedy, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kennedy were in the Muleshoe area on business and to visit friends Tuesday.

The W. G. Kennedys are from Grady, N. M. His brother, Bob, is the superintendent of the New Mexico Highway Department; they live in Las Cruces, N. M.

He is a former Bailey County judge. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy taught in the first school in this area in 1915—the old Congregational Church Building in Hurley "with only a canvas roof overhead".

Instrumental in furthering progress for Bailey County, Kennedy implemented law changes to organize Bailey County's formation, traveling to Austin for the occasion. He was also instrumental in bringing the REA to Bailey County and was the first president of the REA Bailey County board. Kennedy also served as the first representative of soil conservation law in Texas at the State Legislature.

In 1937, when the United States Supreme Court declared the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional, he was called to Washington, D. C., by the Secretary of Agriculture, where he drafted a new farm program act. This is still the basis of the present farm program system, Mr. Kennedy added.

An interesting note of more recent memorabilia is a result of a connection with the Kennedy family name. Although no relation to the Hyannis Port clan, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kennedy were honored by the invitation of the President of the United States, John Fitzgerald

Kennedy, to his inauguration last January. The Kennedys—along with several others of the same name—did attend the gala ceremonies in Washington and reported that they enjoyed every moment of the trip.

In closing his conversation, Mr. Kennedy added this interesting anecdote: "When under the jurisdiction of Castro County, as Bailey County judge, I had to go to Dimmitt to court to attend to our legal business. On the way over, I had to open 27 (1) gates to get to that county seat . . . (and we did close all those gates too)."

It is hoped that the Kennedys and other pioneers of the Muleshoe area—south north, east and west parts of Bailey County will relate stories of "the good ole days" to The Journal.

Dr. Loden Is Elected To Hi Plains Board

Dr. Harold Loden, General Manager of the Paymaster Seed Farms of the Anderson-Clayton Company at Aiken, was elected to the Board of Trustees and Executive Committee of the High Plains Research Foundation at the Board's semi-annual meeting in Plainview on September 27th. Dr. Loden takes the place vacated by Roy Mack, who resigned recently when he was transferred to Abilene as Director of Personnel for the Anderson-Clayton Company.

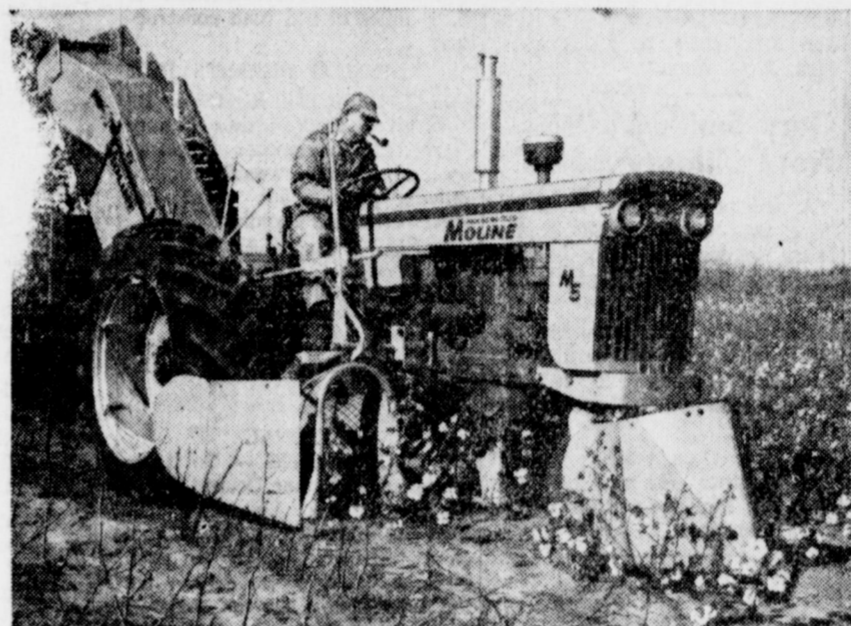

The Board of Trustees set the budget and established the research program for the Foundation for 1952. New research projects added to the program were: grasses and legumes, in which national and introduced grasses and legumes from foreign countries are to be evaluated from the standpoint of the adaptability to this area; several strains of sunflowers are to be evaluated on a limited basis to determine its potential as a crop for the area; another new program is the testing of the carry-over of nitrogen and phosphate, grain sorghums will be used in this test, which will continue until the original fertilizer ceases to increase the yield and irrigation studies on soybeans and castor beans were to determine the most economical irrigation method that will produce maximum profit.

Three foreign countries, ten states and one-hundred thirty-six communities were represented at the Fifth Annual Field Day on September 27th. Over 2,500 were in attendance.

OCTOBER 8-14
FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

YOU, YES YOU, are the most common cause of FIRES!

Last year, in the United States alone, an estimated 2,000,000 fires resulted in losses estimated at $1,541,000,000 . . . not to mention a tragic loss of lives that can never be replaced! Incredible as it seems, most of these fires were caused by people like you . . . average citizens who wouldn't dream of starting a fire deliberately, but who just got careless. Neither you nor your country can afford this wasteful loss of lives and property — be sure you don't give fire a place to start!

WE SALUTE MULESHOE'S FIREMEN FOR A JOB WELL DONE

Court Battle Set On Water Deduction

One more step was taken this month toward a long-sought goal—the goal is a federal income-tax deduction for the depletion of underground water within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

A pre-trial hearing was held in the U.S. District Court in Amarillo, September 25, before Judge Joseph B. Dooley as a prelude to the full-fledged trial which has been scheduled by the Court for January 3 in stipulated facts pertinent to the case.

Marvin and Mildred Shurbet, a farm couple who reside in southwest Floyd County, filed this most-important legal suit. Mr. Shurbet is a former member of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water District.

The Shurbets contend that proper owners who can establish an actual loss in the underground water beneath their land and who are using the water to produce income should be entitled to deduct the cost on their tax returns as the water is exhausted.

The trial of this case will culminate seven years of diligent work by the High Plains Water District.

In 1954, the first of two requests was submitted to the Internal Revenue Service. These requests asked the IRS to consider underground water in the High Plains Water District as a depletable natural resource, thereby making landowners in this area eligible for a tax deduction as depletion takes place.

These requests were submitted to the Internal Revenue through the courts.

HOLY HOUR

Friday, October 6th, is the first Friday of the month; so Muleshoe Catholics will have a Holy Hour with the Evening Mass in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church here in Muleshoe. Ceremonies start at 8 p.m.

Sunday Holy Mass is celebrated at 8:30 a.m. with a 10:30 a.m. Holy Mass in the Earth Theatre in Earth, Texas. The general public may attend all Catholic services.

When Alexander Graham Bell's patents issued in 1876 and 1877 expired in 1894, there were about 270,000 telephones in service in the United States.

Texans Receive $175 Millions In Insurance

"Living benefits" in Texas to policyholders themselves from their life insurance companies were $175,200,000 in 1960, which was 57 per cent of the year's total life insurance benefit payments to the families of this state, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

These payments were in addition to $131,800,000 of death benefits paid to the families of this state, and compare with payments of $153,300,000 in "living benefits" the year before. The living benefits include matured endowments, annuities, disability, cash surrender values paid out and dividends to policyholders.

Last year the total of all payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in this state amounted to $307,000,000 compared with $274,500,000 the year before.

"The use of life insurance benefits for policyholders' own living needs has more than tripled since 1940," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president, commented.

"More and more families have set up life insurance programs which call for specific living benefits for education, retirement, travel, business expansion and mortgage repayment.

These living benefits have now become an important part of the flow of life insurance and will be increasingly important in the future.

For the country as a whole, over $5,000,000,000 will go to living policyholders this year as benefits, nearly four times the annual figure at the end of World War I."

Of the total living benefits received in 1960 by the families of this state, $23,900,000 was for matured endowments; $43,400,000 for annuity payments; $3,800,000 for disability benefits; $68,300,000 for policy cash surrender value payments and $35,700,000 for dividends to policyholders.

VISITED IN LAWTON

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lackey returned Thursday from Lawton where they have been visiting her mother and other relatives.

Bailey Co. Farming Paid Off In 1960

Farms in Bailey County yielded more in 1960, in the way of gross income, than did farms in most parts of the United States. With improved efficiency, thanks to greater mechanization and to more intensive use of fertilizers and insecticides, the average farmer was able to produce and market more than he did in prior years.

Just how he made out, compared with farmers elsewhere, is revealed in a county-by-county survey of farm incomes, conducted by the Standard Rate and Data Service, every section of the country is included.

It shows that the gross receipts in the year of all farms in Bailey County amounted to $19,807,000. The total in 1959 was $19,757,000.

Hire Handicapped, JFK Tells Nation

WASHINGTON — The week of October 1-7 has been designated by President Kennedy as "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week."

This marks the 17th anniversary of the week, established in 1945 to promote hiring of the handicapped.

President Kennedy has called on Federal agencies to "lead the way in the selective placement of physically handicapped persons." He said using the handicapped in productive employment "is sound and necessary, both for the contribution handicapped citizens can make to our national productivity and for the sense of independence and well-being which they can derive from doing a job."

Members of the President's Cabinet and other associate members of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped issued a joint statement urging that workers be measured for employment by their abilities rather than their disabilities. "Nations on this globe," they said, "are watching with more than passing interest America's consideration of her less fortunate sons and daughters."

Maj. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, USMCR, Ret., chairman of the President's Committee, also urged hiring of the handicapped, declaring: "Disabled employees in industry throughout the land have written a record of accomplishment which more than justifies the confidence management has placed in them."

State Fair Is Set Oct. 7-22

All is ready for the 1961 State Fair of Texas, the most eagerly awaited event of the year for millions of Texans young and old. The Fair will present its 16-day "Exposition of Music" Oct. 7 through 22.

Theatrical highlights are Rodgers and Hammerstein's Broadway hit, "The Sound of Music," and the all-new edition of "Ice Capades of 1961."

There will be a spectacular "Torchlight Parade of Music" around the fairgrounds each evening, with bands, beauty queens and floats representing many cities from all over the state in the line of march.

Twenty-five breeds of purebred beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep and goats will be on exhibit in the Pan-American Livestock Exposition Oct. 7-15. The Junior Livestock Show will take place the second week of the Fair. Fine show horses, Shetland ponies, cutting horses, Quarter horses and Arabians will perform in the free horse shows in the Livestock Coliseum.

At least a dozen foreign countries will have exhibits in the Fair, which also features an exotic International Bazaar. Most of the new 1962 model cars will be on display in the Automobile Show. The Agriculture Show will show "Agriculture Touches You." Other exhibits ranging from art to astronautics include a full-size replica of the "Project Mercury" space capsule. The Future Farmers will have a "children's barnyard."

For the ladies, there will be shows several times daily, exhibits of the latest gas and electric appliances, and a fully furnished model home that promises to be a "house of surprises." The Women's Building will of course, house prize-winning displays of needlework, foods, arts and crafts.

There'll be free aerial acts twice daily, scores of band concerts and other special events and, naturally, a monster Midway with every conceivable type of amusement ride.

Highlights events include a gospel song festival Oct. 9, 19.

Area Ground-Water Report Now Ready

Water is being "mined" in the Southern High Plains of Texas at a rate which should not be considered lightly by a multi-million dollar farming operation. Irrigators are warned in a bulletin just released by the State Board of Water Engineers.

However, geologists who investigated ground-water resources in the Southern High Plains area, which contained 4,300,000 acres under irrigation in 1958, reported in Bulletin 6107 that improved water conservation practices offer the only hope of prolonging the life of an underground reservoir which supports the state's largest intensively farmed area.

Bulletin 6107 is titled "A Summary of the Occurrence and Development of Ground Water in the Southern High Plains of Texas."

The investigation covered a 22,000 square-mile area, 250 miles southward from the Canadian River and 120 miles eastward from the New Mexico of 31 counties. About 44,000 wells in the area in 1958 supplied water from the Ogallala formation to irrigate cotton, grain sorghums, and other crops.

Investigators reported that "the estimated amount of water withdrawn from the Ogallala formation in the Southern High Plains so greatly exceeds even the most optimistic estimates of recharge that it must be concluded the water is being 'mined', that is, it is coming from storage. Depth to water measurements show that since large-scale pumping was started about 1938, the water table has declined in practically all of the Southern High Plains except for areas remote from pumping."

It is estimated that 36 million acre-feet of water was pumped from the underground reservoir from 1938 through 1957, and that 160 million acre-feet remained available to wells at the end of 1958. Natural music festival Oct. 10, circus night Oct. 12, Dallas symphony spectacular Oct. 13, East Texas pageant Oct. 17 and al recharge of the reservoir is from precipitation, which probably returns to the aquifer only a fraction of an inch of water a year, the amount depending upon the annual rainfall.

Proposed conservation measures include recharge of the rain-filled lakes and development of supplemental supplies of surface water. The report describes encouraging experiments in recharging by injecting into wells rainwater which accumulates in playas, or shallow, undrained lakes which dot the area.

"It will require the efforts of everyone affected, both individually and collectively, in order to extend the life expectancy of ground water, the life blood of the Southern High Plains," the report concludes.

The bulletin, which reports results of one of the most extensive investigations of its kind ever undertaken in the High Plains of Texas, was written by J. C. Cronin and prepared by the U. S. Geological Survey in cooperation with the Board of Water Engineers. Costs for printing the first 2,000 copies were shared by the Board and the High Plains Under- ground Water Conservation District; copies may be obtained by writing to either: Texas Board of Water Engineers, P. O. Box 2311, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas, or High Plains Under- ground Water Conservation District, 1628 Fifteenth Street, Lubbock, Texas.

Bulletin 6107 is the first report published on the area since a similar study was printed in 1949. The previous report contained data describing conditions through 1948. The new report includes information through 1958 and depicts the large changes in water use which have occurred since 1948.

Sandhills Philosopher:

Will Renew Subscription If It's Not Contrary To World Opinion

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm examines world opinion in his letter this week.

Every once in a while you hear a world leader—though I'd like to say before I go any further that I don't know what a world leader is, the direction the world's going these days, I don't know of anybody who'd like to be accused of leading it—at any rate, you hear one of them say action of this or that nature will be condemned by world opinion. I don't know what they're talking about.

You take Russia. When Russia started testing nuclear bombs again, lots of prominent people said, World opinion will condemn her for it.

Well, she's been testing them right and left for the past few weeks and whatever the world's opinion of her is, it hasn't put a stop to the tests. It's my opinion that it's not world opinion but Khrushchev's opinion and his staff's opinion that decide how many tests are going to be made.

Understand, I'm not in favor of Russia's testing these bombs, as far as I can tell they work too satisfactorily already, the world now has enough bombs on hand to supply the equivalent of ten tons of TNT for each man, woman and child on earth, which as far as I'm concerned is plenty for me, somebody sure has over-rated me, I ain't that indestructible, but so far in the history of man world opinion has been one of the most ineffective weapons imaginable against a dictator bent on holding on to his job.

It's a shame, too. Nothing would suit me more than to decide to get on my tractor and start work on account of it might be contrary to world opinion. I can see real advantage in going into the bank and announcing I'd better not pay off my note on account of world opinion already claims America is too rich and I don't want to add any fuel to that flame.

World opinion some day may be an effective weapon, but right now there are too many countries where you can get into office without being elected.

When my subscription to the Muleshoe Journal comes due, send me a bill and I'll check with world opinion to see if I ought to pay it.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

4th Estate Quotes

Bob Nembre of the Moore County News says "Grass roots" protests about the sale of surplus wheat to Red-dominated countries caused a hasty change in government policy. There also is a new law very pointedly prohibiting such sales. Other evidence of the power still held by the voters is the recent announcement of the Senate Armed Services Committee's decision to make a study of ensnared which led to the side-lining of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

The real story behind the Defense Department's condemnation of speeches by military officers should come to light.

H. M. Baggerly of the Tulla (Swisher County) Herald says While the UN has accomplished many worthy goals which receive little if any publicity, we must recognize the fact that it is not a cure-all, it is not a guarantee against war. It is perhaps worth its existence if it does no more than bring representatives of the nations together to air their own views and to listen to the airing of views of others. It is a good forum where nations can hear their sins exposed as they expose the sins of others.

So far as propaganda is concerned, we would say that we have more to gain than does Russia and her friends.

Intelligent Americans don't blame the UN for its inability to solve all the world's problems just as they don't blame Red Cross first aid units because one did not save the youth's life last Saturday afternoon. They don't blame the medical profession because it loses a career victim.

Ed Eakin of the Quannah Tribune says Today, the editor of the Quannah Tribune, faces a different world. The prospects for complete annihilation of all mankind is no longer the pipe dream of a fanatic but according to our statesmen and scientists a very present possibility.

Recently in a speech in Denver, a man close to high governmental circles predicted a nuclear war by Easter.

We are told that for years our statesmen have been living with the knowledge of this possibility. Finally, it seems, this awesome reality is seeping down into the mind of the average citizen. The question is, has this realization come too late? We do not believe it has; we cannot believe it has. If man does have the power to destroy himself, perhaps he still has the sanity to save himself. An old Testament prophet once said:

Seeking their third victory of the season, the local eleven will play Levelland Friday night.

The Muleshoe Yellowjackets are tied with Littlefield and Sudan for the conference leadership, each with one victory and no defeats.

In winning over Slaton here last Friday night, the Muleshoe gridders served notice that they were out to contest Littlefield and the strong Olton Mustangs for the loop championship.

A large number of local fans are expected to accompany the Yellowjackets to Levelland Friday night.

Bailey County products which were exhibited at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair won seven first places, five went for the second place spots, two thirds and four fourth places.

Some of the displays consisted of turnips, beets, pumpkins, beans, okra, corn, Sudan bundles and many other varieties of vegetables and grains.

Babson Discusses

Investment Value of Children

Babson Park, Mass., October 5. As I look back upon a long and active life I have come to an important decision. Furthermore, this is in connection with investments, of which I should have excellent knowledge; my entire life has been devoted to the study of them.

BABIES VERSUS STOCKS

Babies are probably the world's oldest investments, having survived many thousands of years of wars, massacres, panics, and revolutions: In many nations even today the largest families are believed to be the richest, while a family with no children is looked down upon.

Stocks are only two hundred and forty years old. The first big promotion was that of the Mississippi Bubble, sponsored around 1715-1720 in France by a Scotsman; while the second great stock promotion was the South Sea Bubble, which followed in England under the leadership of Robert Harley and later under Robert Walpole.

Other than in the United States, the sale of stocks (new issues) reached a maximum just before World War I, when London was the world's center of stock trading. World War I gave the London market a great blow; while World War II put New York ahead of all the world's centers.

BABIES VERSUS BONDS

Stocks offer a speculative profit which bonds do not offer. Stocks also benefit from inflation. Interrupted with a few years of deflation, the inflation of currency has been going on for centuries. Since money was first used in Persia and Babylonia 3,000 years ago, bonds suffer through inflation, hence long-term bonds should usually be avoided.

Of a given corporation, however, the bonds should be safer than the stock, provided the bonds are due within about five years. They have a first lien on the company and, in case of trouble, interest on the bonds comes before dividends on the stock. The safest investment of all are healthy, well-trained children. To be doubly safe, take out an insurance policy on each child as soon as it is born.

BABIES AND COMMUNISM

Stocks, bonds, and other

"pieces of paper" such as we recognize as wealth have no value in Russia. Only in bank accounts of the Russian Government Bank can one save money in Russia. Even then, Russia devalues the ruble (or Russian "dollar") whenever it suits her convenience. Savings are not encouraged under any communistic government. The Russian government is supposed to own all land, factories, stores, etc. Well-trained children are the only assets considered.

In view of the above, those of us who have property dread communism. All property would be taken away from us; we would all work for the state, buying our food, our rent, clothes, and entertainment from the state. On the other hand, Russia is gradually becoming capitalistic, while the United States is gradually becoming socialistic. If we can continue fifty years without a World War III, there may not be much economic difference between the East and the West. This especially applies to those here who are living on inherited money and are not actual workers. The income of non-producers will gradually be taken away by taxes of various kinds.

HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND RELIGION

This brings us back to our original thought, that well-trained children are the best security and insurance. Our President Kennedy, seeing this change coming in the distance, is working for legislation to give free medical service to those who deserve it. Already England has "from the womb to the tomb" coverage; while many other countries such as Sweden are trending that way.

I agree with the physicians that such a program is dangerous. I am even opposed to giving free obstetrical services. But some plan could be worked out whereby the family could get a tax reduction, directly or indirectly, on each baby born. With the growing importance of babies, some inducement should be given for the expenses connected with their birth and early years. To bring this about is a basic purpose of the Isabel Babson Memorial in which I am much interested.

Stone's Throw

by GARY STONE

The big rock this week goes out to high school students who are thinking of quitting for one reason or another.

I recently had occasion to try, without success, to discourage a young Muleshoe boy from quitting school to join the Army. It's not that I have anything against the Army, but I don't like to see 17-year-olds in uniform when they should be in the classroom.

If you are thinking of quitting school, remember this. You may think you are a big hero, going off to the wars for your country.

You can be of much greater service to this nation if you get an education—and a high school diploma earned in the service is NOT an education. That piece of paper is practically worthless to you. Don't let anyone kid you into believing you can take short cuts to glory in the service. If you want to serve America, graduate, go to college, learn all you can, THEN join and fight Communism more intelligently.

Today's modern military structure has no room for ignorant children. It should not be a place to send delinquents for correction. It should not be a refuge from an unhappy home-life. It should be a place where a mature person can serve his country with his talents.

You, 17-year-old, what are your talents? What do you know that can possibly be of value to this great nation? All you know how to do is die, which you may do very well. All many of you will learn to do is fire a weapon which you will hold in your lifeless hands if you go into combat.

Certainly, our military services need men who are expendable. Men who will fight on the lines in an effort to hold back the enemy until the brighter men can come into play to win a battle and a war. Men who scrub GI cans in the mess hall. Men who can stand guard duty in the snow. Men who can die valiantly if need be.

If you value yourself only to this extent, then GO. Learn the ways of war and then find yourself in a foxhole on a lonely ridge in a strange country fighting against a strange enemy whose ways you do not understand. And if you die, die with courage and conviction that your life has not been wasted. For, while you are logging around in the mud, those who stayed in school, went to college and developed their talents will be getting ready to win the war.

If you value your life more than this, learn to be something better. Stay in school now and serve America more intelligently later.

Texas Princess Wins Nat'l. Honor

A beautiful 19-year-old, blue-eyed-blond from Sandia, Texas, Miss Louise Knolle, is the new American Dairy Princess. She succeeds Miss Bonnie Sue Houghtaling of Swan, Iowa. Runner-up was Miss Haden Harris of Montgomery, Alabama.

Miss Knolle, an honor student at Southern Methodist University, has served as Texas Dairy Princess during the past 12 months. During this time she has travelled throughout the Longhorn State speaking in behalf of the Texas Dairy industry. Hereafter, as American Dairy Princess, her journeys will be nationwide.

The new American Dairy Princess will spend her year's reign "speaking up for milk" as she travels throughout the nation. In addition to her title, honor and year-long travels, she receives a basic wardrobe for her official trips and a scholarship.

To say that Miss Knolle knows dairying is to put it mildly. She was born and reared on a dairy farm, can milk cows with the best of them and is in partnership with her brother, Charles, in the ownership and management of a herd of registered Jerseys.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knolle, live on the family's dairy farm near Corpus Christi, where the new Princess was born on January 1, 1942.

The coronation in Chicago concluded a program of judging based on a dairy farm background, character, intelligence, poise and personality.

H.S. Girls Work For Better Health

Games for exercise and fun, body conditioning exercises, coordination exercises, developing muscle skills, and team sports are all included in the program for girls gym classes in Muleshoe High School.

There are 125 students enrolled in the Physical Education Department of Muleshoe High School for the 1961-1962 school year. It is a Texas State requirement that girls in high school take 4 semester units of Physical Education. One of these units must be health.

Freshmen and sophomores are generally enrolled in these courses. Since this is a state requirement, students who have some organic deficiency or infection must have a doctor's certificate stating they are incapable of participating in physical activity.

The overall goal of the Girl's Physical Education Department is to help each student, each day, improve her general health and physical fitness.

Physical Education classes also help the student to learn what physical fitness means and what factors are necessary for physical fitness.

Good health practices, safety and first-aid, the functioning of the human body, environmental factors which influence health and individual and family health care are major points studied in health classes.

Since 1918, schools all over the United States have had as an objective of education the development of good health and physical fitness.

The recent President's Council On Youth Fitness stated that strength, stamina, endurance and other desirable physical qualities are best developed through vigorous activity.

All parents are invited to visit the Physical Education classes at any time to observe the program and the activity.

Some Work And Still Draw Social Security Checks

Are you 65 or older and still working? If so, have you visited your social security district office? It is possible that you and your family may be eligible to receive some social security benefits even though you continue to work after you are 65.

John G. Hutton, a manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office, states that because of recent changes in the social security law, there are approximately one million persons 65 or older who would be able to collect some payments despite their earnings. In order to receive any benefits, however, these people must first file claims at the social security office.

Before 1961, a person eligible for social security benefits could not receive any benefits if his total earnings for the year amounted to more than $2080 and if during the year he either earned over $100 a month in wages or rendered substantial services in self-employment in each month.

Beginning with 1961, the amount a person can get in benefits when he works after he files a social security application depends on his yearly earnings and on the amount of benefits payable to him and his family. A person who earns $1200 or less during the year can get all his benefits. This is the same provision as was in effect before 1961. Also, a person can get a social security check for any month of the year in which he neither earns wages of more than $100 nor renders substantial services in self-employment. This is true despite the amount of his total yearly earnings. A person 72 or older can receive all benefits due on his past wages regardless how much he works and earns.

'Producing Clowns' Elite of Buffoons

Clowns, next to elephants, are synonymous with the circus, and the greatest aggregation of funsters anywhere in the world are to be found with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus coming to Lubbock Coliseum Oct. 16-17-18, 1961.

Most distinguished of all of these hopalongs of hilarity are the "producing clowns," those zany inventors who figure out humorous situations and sketches and then build props to emphasize the visual effect of their inventions. Sometimes days, even weeks, are spent putting together a situation that gets an instant's laughter from an audience. Laughs are serious business with these masters of mirth and to achieve applause is their mission in life.

The three best known producing clowns with The Greatest Show on Earth are Paul Jung, who maintains his own "laugh factory" in Tampa, Fla., where he originates and laugh-provoking costumes and properties for the circus, for TV shows and for the nation's leading ice carnivals; Lou Jacobs, who specializes in miniature automobiles; and Paul Wenzel, an expert at constructing comic effects with piano wire. It was Wenzel who fashioned the familiar wire and papier-mache tiger who chased a panic-stricken clown around the arena in previous editions of The Greatest Show on Earth.

Clown make-ups are of many types — whiteface, grotesque, tramp and eccentric variations. By unwritten law the make-up of the individual clown is the personal property of the wearer and is not to be infringed upon by any colleague, handed down from father to

Construction Catching Up To School Shortage

WASHINGTON — If states and communities continue to build classrooms at the present rate, classroom shortage reported by the U.S. Office of Education should be over within the 1960's, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The construction rate actually might accelerate, the Chamber said. School bond sales have been setting records. As the economy grows, there will be more axes for school construction.

But even with the present annual construction rate of 69,900 classrooms (the average rate for the past five years) between the 1960-61 school year, there will have been 489,300 classrooms constructed.

During this period about 112,000 new classrooms will be needed to replace classrooms that are destroyed and that become obsolete. According to the Office of Education, 217,800 new classrooms will be needed to meet expanded enrollments.

Highlights and Sidelights

From Your State Capitol

As the weeks go by and new emergencies arise, Gov. Price Daniel finds more reasons for calling Texas Legislators back to Austin for another special session.

In addition to the Governor's unfinished program, Hurricane Carla has produced other reasons.

It is definite now that the Governor will ask for more money for the Highway Patrol and for the National Guard. He had to advance money to the Guard, from his emergency fund, to pay salaries and expenses of Guard units called up for hurricane duty.

Major General James E. Taylor, the state adjutant general, said that the 2,300 men and 800 vehicles called out for hurricane duty made up the largest peacetime operation in Guard history.

After Governor Daniel's aerial tour of the hurricane-struck coastal area, he estimated that some 3,000 lives would have been lost had it not been for the organization of civil defense, coordinating with local groups, to evacuate the area.

He also estimated $400,000,000 loss to public and private property.

"I can see now that we need to provide more money for the National Guard and we need to provide more Highway Patrolmen, too," said the Governor. "I am sure I will add to the call for a special session."

Rep. C. W. Pearey Jr. of Temple proposed that the legislature permit cities and counties to issue bonds to make loans to disaster victims.

Speaker James A. Turman asked the House general investigating committee to start an inquiry into the payment of insurance claims as a result of Carla. He said many hurricane victims were surprised to learn that much of the damage was not covered by insurance. Adjusters held that their wind-storm and hurricane policies did not include flood damage even though caused by the hurricane.

Governor Daniel, irked over the adjusters' interpretations, urged policy holders not to be too hasty in settling their claims.

Storm Crop Damage Extensive
The U. S. Department of Agriculture at Austin says the recent hurricane caused the most extensive wind and rain damage to crops, fields and pastures, ever experienced.

Of the prospective 100,000 bales of cotton in the fields, about $11,000,000 worth was probably lost, the USDA said. Additional losses will result from grade reductions, the agency states.

January Session
Chances are that Governor Daniel will have legislators back in Austin during January.

Rep. Murray Watson of Mart suggests that Daniel set up a grass-roots committee of citizens to bring in proposals for removing inequities in the new sales tax law for action at the special session.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert continues to explain the law. He ruled that the American Red Cross is exempt from the sales tax on its purchases, since it is an agency of the Federal government.

Calvert is studying a request from some large industrial firms that they be allowed to be "direct" payers of the tax. The theory is that life would be similar if they could keep records and pay the tax once each quarter, instead of paying it hundreds of times a day in the normal course of business.

Tax Dollar Analyzed
Texas Legislative council has taken a new look at where the State's tax dollar comes from and where it goes.

Study reveals that 52 per cent of it is derived from the several types of sales taxes levied in the state, including 15.8 per cent from the new 2 per cent limited sales tax.

Oil and gas production and severance taxes account for 19.1 per cent, business taxes 11.4 per cent, motor vehicle registration fees 9.5 per cent, state property taxes 4.1 per cent, inheritance tax 1.3 per cent, others 2.6 per cent.

Motorists get aped for 33.9 per cent of the tax dollar, including the motor fuel tax at 21.4 per cent, the sales tax at 3 per cent, and registration fees at 9.5 per cent. Nine per cent comes from tobacco taxes and 2.2 per cent from alcoholic beverage levies.

Our free public school system is taking 33.9 per cent of the tax dollar. Highways and roads are next at 26.8 per cent. Public welfare gets 15.8 per cent. Higher education comes in for 9.6 per cent, while health, hospitals and special schools account for 4.5 per cent.

New Farm Roads
A one year program calling for construction of 613 miles of new farm to market roads costing $15,200,000 has been approved by the State Highway Commission.

This was approximately half of the usual program authorized by the Commission, as the result of Governor Daniel's veto of the $15,000,000 for this purpose in the second half of the biennial appropriations bill. Governor Daniel cut out the second year allocation in order that more flexibility might be attained in providing maintenance for the farm roads system.

Since 1949, under the Colson-Briscoe act $15,000,000 annually have been earmarked for construction of farm to market roads, causing all maintenance cost to come out of trunk highway funds.

While this arrangement was necessary for many years, to build up farm road mileage, the highway commission says the problem now is financing the maintenance of these roads. Therefore, at least a portion of the earmarked funds needs to go for this purpose.

Action on this matter is expected in the next special session of the legislature.

Oil Production Cut

Allowable oil production in Texas for October has been reduced by an estimated 48,490 barrels per day, on order of the Railroad Commission. Order was based on estimated market demands.

An eight-day producing pattern was ordered for most of the state. This will result in a total allowable production of 2,683,214 barrels daily.

Eleven out of 12 major purchasers of Texas crude oil had recommended the eight-day pattern. Sun Oil Company suggested nine days of production.

Texas Gets Moon Rocket Lab

Selection of Texas as the site for a laboratory to develop the nation's first moon rocket was hailed by Governor Daniel as one of the most important signs pointing to future progress for the state.

"The Federal government's choice of Harris County for the $600,000,000 space laboratory means that some of the world's most important work in the peaceful conquest of outer space will be undertaken at the location near Houston," said Daniel. "It will attract scientific personnel and plants to the state and increase the importance of the Houston area as center of civilian, military, space, and medical research," he observed.

Retail Sales Increase
Retail sales increased seven per cent during August, the Bureau of Business Research at UT reported.

The impending sales tax which went into effect September 1 was called a major factor in the increase. Namely, buying before the tax went into effect.

It was referred to as a "brick rise" compared to the two per cent decline sales took during July.

Furniture and appliance stores led the field with a 23 per cent increase for August, while the usual increase from July to August is one per cent. Apparel stores also increased, primarily with the back to school rush for clothes. Steady increases were forecast because of a Texas birth rate considerably higher than the national average.

Births in the first six months of this year totaled 121,796 compared with 113,730 during the first half of 1960.

New Medical Science

Two University of Texas scientists are looking into a new branch of medical science through which it may some day be possible to determine in advance a person's susceptibility to certain diseases and ailments.

Dr. Robert J. Williams and Frank L. Seigel, reporting on the new science called "prophecy" in the American Journal of Medicine, say the technique needs only to be developed, that it must be based on increased knowledge about individuality in the areas of anatomy, physiology and biochemistry.

Knowing in advance who might get what, the scientists say it may be possible to avoid such diseases as gout, arthritis, cancer, allergies, and numerous other types of diseases and ailments.

"There is probably no single disease among those mentioned which might not be prevented, at least to a substantial degree, if we knew what the roots of resistance are and took appropriate measures," they said.

Parmer County Farm Bureau News

This is the harvest season for ideas in Farm Bureau, and local Parmer County Farm Bureau members are being urged to participate in the annual process by which the organization decides its positions on hundreds of issues on local, state and national level.

The process begins at the grass roots with discussion meetings attended by Farm Bureau member. The first official step in the process is the county annual convention at which county policies and recommendations on state and national issues are adopted after discussion and debate. The Parmer County Farm Bureau annual convention will be October 5th, at the Production Credit Association office in Friona.

All adopted resolutions pertaining to county-level matters become policies for the local organization for the ensuing year. All approved resolutions dealing with state and national recommendations to the Texas Farm Bureau convention which will be held this year Nov. 12-15 in Galveston. County Farm Bureaus send delegates to the state convention to adopt state policies for the coming year and to make recommendations on national issues for consideration by the national Farm Bureau convention to be held this year in December in Chicago. The number of delegates from a county is based upon the size of the membership of that county. For example, Parmer County Farm Bureau, which has 525 members in 1960, was eligible to send 6 delegates to the state convention last year.

Finally, the policy development process is culminated at the national convention in December where delegates from 49 state Farm Bureaus (all except Alaska) adopt national policies for Farm Bureaus everywhere. Here, too, the size of state delegations is based upon number of members. Illinois, Indiana, and Iowa have more voting delegates than Texas.

This, then, is the Farm Bureau policy development process and it is open to each member of the Farm Bureau. It is with the individual that ideas, which finally become

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

WATCH IT! SCHOOL CHILDREN

Thousands of school children are now trooping back to school throughout Texas. Many of them will be transported by school buses. Most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up school children or allow them to alight. However, we have already had some very bad accidents this year because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that very time.

Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding ten (10) miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children."

What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200.00 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious.

Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious.

When it comes to overtaking and passing moving vehicles, exercise of ordinary common sense will generally keep a driver within the law. For instance, when passing a car it is only common sense to proceed on past it a safe distance before cutting back to the right side of the highway. Also, any driver should realize the danger of increasing his speed while another is attempting to pass him.

In the same category is the prohibition against passing on the right under most ordinary conditions. Of course, you may legally pass on the right in a few specific instances, such as when the vehicle overtaken is making or about to make a left turn, or upon a one-way street with two or more lanes, or upon a four-lane highway.

However, our traffic laws state that even when passing on the right is allowed, it shall be done only under conditions permitting such movement in safety. And, in no event should such passing be accomplished by driving off the pavement or main-traveled portion of the roadway.

Familiar to all are the no passing zones designated by yellow lines placed to one side of the center line on our highways. Not so well known are the restrictions against crossing the center line when approaching within 100 feet of or when traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

A driver should never cross the center line of a highway when the left side of the road is not clearly visible and free of oncoming traffic. Generally speaking, when not engaged in passing another vehicle, one should not drive to the left of the roadway.
