Wreck Injures Four; Arson Reward Offered

Rewards totaling $1,000 have been offered for information leading to the arrest of the person or persons who set fire to hay in a field just north of Tahoka on June 23.

Crime Line, 998-4505, is offering $500 and an individual is adding another $500 to the reward offered for information on the arsonists. Steve Miller, owner of the hay bales, said 123 bales were destroyed, with the loss estimated at $4400.

The identity of informants may be kept secret, if desired, according to Sheriff Jake Diggs.

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated several incidents of domestic violence and disputes, one involving a fight between some teenage girls. Police also arrested two men who were stopped for speeding in a construction zone and wound up with charges of no liability insurance, DWI, driving while license suspended and evading arrest, after one of the men attempted to flee on foot from an officer.

Four persons were taken to Lynn County Hospital emergency room for treatment of apparent minor injuries after a collision at the intersection of U.S. 380 and U.S. 87 east access road Saturday. A Chinese family from Austin in a 1997 Toyota Camry and a 1982 Ford Futura driven by Dolores Garcia Resendez, 43 of Tahoka were involved. The Camry was driven by Hyangyi Choi-Lee, 31. A man and a child in the Camry also were treated, as were the drivers of both cars, all taken to the hospital by Tahoka EMS ambulance.

Six persons were added to the jail population during the last week, including three for public intoxication, one for driving while intoxicated third offense or more, one for DWI first offense and one for unlawfully carrying a weapon.

Assisted Living Center Rates Set; Successor To Dr. Fried Named

By DALTON WOOD

Lynn County Hospital directors last Thursday approved operational policies and apartment rates for the Lynnwood Assisted Living Center tentatively scheduled to open Sept. 1. An announcement is expected soon on when applications and deposits for rooms in the 20-unit facility will be accepted.

The hospital board acted on several major items in the meeting, including approval of the hiring of a new physician's assistant to replace Dr. Bruce Fried, who resigned for a position in Germany, a new computerized medical information network linking the hospital to almost instantaneous data from state and national sources, ordering of furniture and equipment for the kitchen and laundry in Lynnwood, further action pursuing the possibility of building a physical fitness center, and approval of a revised personnel policy manual.

John Benson, a certified physician's assistant with 25 years of experience diagnosing illnesses and treating patients, will begin seeing patients in the former office of Dr. Fried starting about Aug. 1. He has been in practice at Fort Stockton for the last four years. He and his wife have two teenage daughters.

Hospital administrator Dan Powers advised the board that the new computer link, with nine terminals and a server in the hospital here, has been installed at no cost to the hospital for at least three years. He said doctors, nurses and other medical personnel can immediately get answers to any medical questions that may arise, 24 hours a day. He said that X-rays even may be transmitted and read by qualified experts with analysis supplied almost instantly over the network.

Powers also advised that he is seeking a replacement for Nurse Practitioner Rebecca Srygley, who has resigned at the Wellness Clinic, and said efforts to secure funding through grants for a proposed physical fitness center to be built next to Lynnwood are continuing. The board passed a resolution supporting a request for funding for the fitness center. A manual of policies and regulations applying to residents and management of Lynnwood was adopted, including fees for apartments. In formulating the proposed policies, Powers and Lynnwood manager Susie Sosa visited and contacted about a dozen assisted living complexes in Lubbock and in smaller cities on the South Plains.

The $1.7 million facility being constructed on hospital property just north of the hospital will include 10 one-room efficiency apartments to cost residents $1750 per month, eight one-bedroom apartments at $1950 per month, and two larger one-bedroom apartments (with room for two beds, and called a "couples unit") priced at $2850 per month.

Board vice-president Jerry Ford presided at the meeting, as president Billy Tomlinson was present for only part of the session. Other board members present were Dalton Wood, Mike Rivas, Virginia Griffing, Peggy Morton and Joan Knox.

Ports To Plains Trade Route To Go Thru Tahoka, O'Donnell

A final route for the Texas portion of the Ports to Plains international trade corridor was designated last week by the Texas Transportation Commission. The approved route, approximately 830 miles, includes Laredo, Del Rio, San Angelo, Sterling City, Midland, Lamesa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Dumas. In Lynn County, the route will go through Tahoka and O'Donnell on U.S. 87.

In Texas, the final route will serve the Texas/Mexico border, West Texas and the Panhandle.

"This route is an investment in our future," said John W. Johnson, Texas transportation commissioner. "It has a regional impact to the state's infrastructure and has the potential to serve as a crucial trade corridor for Texas and the rest of the country. I applaud the communities along the corridor for their strong local support of the route."

Tahoka City Administrator Jerry Webster said the city has long been looking at the possibility of the trade route going through Tahoka, and hopes that the corridor will bring an economic boost to the city.

"The City of Tahoka has been a member of the Ports to Plains Coalition for the past several years, and as a member has helped fund the feasibility studies. This should be a good thing for Tahoka - we certainly hope that it will promote economic development," Webster said.

While no funding has been set aside for construction, development plans include upgrading the existing route to a four-lane divided highway. The estimated cost for these improve-

PORTS TO PLAINS ROUTE - Traffic will go through Tahoka and O'Donnell (Hwy. 87) on the newly designated route for the Ports to Plains international trade corridor. Estimated to take 20 years to complete, the Ports to Plains Corridor will link the Texas/Mexico border to Denver, Colo.

I ACQUIRE a lot of stuff, through the mails and otherwise, and since there usually is too much for me to process immediately, I store them in cubbyholes around my desk, or in drawers, loosely in three categories:

- Things I Need to Take care of Immediately.
- Things Which Need More Thought, But Need to be Done Pretty Soon.
- Things I Need To Get To Some Day, But I Would Feel Guilty Trashing Them Right Now.

All of these things are sort of intermingled, making it pretty hard to find anything in and around my desk or filing cabinet. Looking for something the other day, I pulled from a nearby shelf a small letter-sized box. The top item was an old computer magazine, and under that, I had no idea until I started pulling things out. By the second item, a copy of The Old Sorehead Gazette, published in Stanton, I had forgot what I was originally looking for. I still don't remember, but among the stuff in the box were these:

More copies of computer magazines and the Old Sorehead Gazette. Some 1999 hospital board agendas and a 1999 Tahoka High School basketball schedule

- A folder about peanuts supposedly curing heart disease.
- A book called How To Do Everything Right. Obviously I put that away intending to read it someday, because it seemed like the right thing to do at the time. I still haven't read it, but among the articles listed on the cover was "Intensity of pain in dentist's office depends on time of day. New discovery: Hours when it hurts least." I'm keeping this book in category 3 above.
- A folder of music given to me by a friend who has a music program on his computer.

Some unused sheet protectors and a scratch pad mostly containing notes on things which have gone wrong with my computer from time to time.

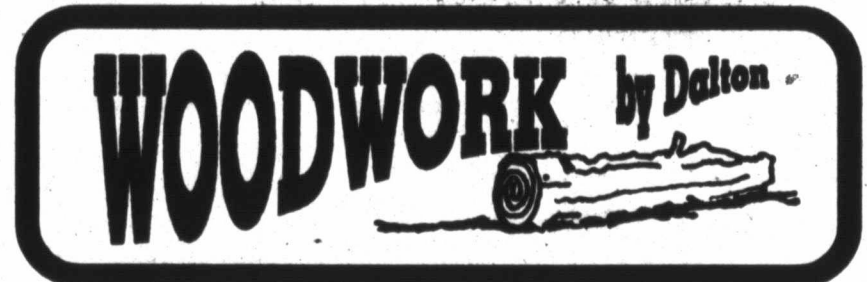

A brochure on an electronic keyboard which I would like to have, only it costs money.

Several pages of jokes sent to me via e-mail, including the following one:

It was a sunny day on the golf course and this guy Mike was lining up his upcoming shot when a voice came over the clubhouse speaker: "Would the gentleman on the ladies' tee please back up to the men's tee!"

Mike continued to work on his routine, taking a practice swing and paying no apparent attention to the speaker. Again came the announcement, "Would the man on the women's tee on No. 5 kindly back up to the men's tee?"

Mike turned and shouted, "Would the announcer in the clubhouse kindly shut up and let me hit my second shot?"

The Ports to Plains Corridor, which is designated as a high priority corridor under the current federal legislation, will link the Texas/Mexico border to Denver, Colo. The corridor has the potential to serve international trade traffic and promote economic development.

The northern segment of the corridor - Dumas to Denver, Colo. - will be mutually selected by the departments of transportation in Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. The northern segment must be selected by Sept. 30, 2001.

New Home Water System Gets Repairs

The City of New Home repaired the chlorinator pump to city water systems this week to ensure safe drinking water for New Home residents, repairing the pump only a few days after the system broke down last week. City officials were required, however, to publish a notice in this week's issue of The News informing citizens to boil water prior to consumption due to the chlorinator failure.

"There is no need to panic," city officials told The News. "By the time the notice gets published, the problem will have already been fixed. This is just following requirements of the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission."

City officials said the chlorinator pump broke down last week, water samples showed the problem, and the pump was repaired by Monday this week. Water samples were being taken again this week, after the city water system was flushed to mix chlorine with the city well water.

Wilson Volunteer Fire Department Tip of the Week: This is the time of the year when a lot of cleaning goes on. Many times solvents and cleaning solutions are used to try to take heavy concentrations of greases and built up dirt off of whatever is being cleaned. Those using solutions should be aware that many of those solutions can give off fumes that are dangerous and could even cause a flash fire if used in the proximity of a flame such as a pilot light on a water heater or a stove. Users of these solutions are urged to read the directions on these products very carefully before use. Many of them suggest that they be used in a well ventilated room or even outdoors only.

More follow-up and pictures taken at the event are anticipated.
