TAHOKA, LYNN COUNTY, TEXAS

VOLUME 99, NUMBER 32

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated cases of criminal mischief and auto theft and arrested two persons on warrants during the last week. The warrants were on cases of burglary of a motor vehicle, with an 18-yearold male arrested, and a 23-year-old male also was arrested on an outstanding warrant

A black 1998 Ford Taurus owned by Mary Rivas of Tahoka was stolen from the driveway of her home on N. 1st St. Monday. Police later learned that the license plate of the car had been checked out by Big Spring police before the theft had been entered. Investigation was continuing.

A 2002 Camaro owned by Stephen Brookshire was reportedly keyed and damaged while it was parked near the Tahoka High School field house Monday. Five other teenagers were listed as suspects, but police said the incident was "cleared by other means."

During the month of July dispatchers at the Lynn County Sheriff's Dept. answered 285 calls, including 117 for the county, 126 for Tahoka Police Dept., 23 for EMS ambulances, two fire alarms and 17 for O'Donnell Police Dept.

Fourteen persons were jailed during the last week, including six for driving while intoxicated, six for possession of marijuana, and one each for public intoxication and assault.

Booths Now Being Reserved For Harvest Festival

Booth reservations are currently being accepted for the Lynn County Harvest Festival, slated for Saturday, Sept. 21 at the courthouse square in Tahoka. Booth chairman is Rebecca Ingle, who may be reached at 806-561-4440. Booths are reserved on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The county event, held the same weekend as Tahoka Homecoming, features food and craft booths, game booths, musical entertainment, street dance, and merchant give-aways, and showcases the annual Harvest Festival Queen and Princess contests.

Harvest Festival Committee Chairman is Jay Dee House.

I READ IT only occasionally, but the "Today in History" feature of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal usually is interesting. The last one I looked at was Monday, Aug. 5, and among the things which happened on Aug. 5, were these:

In 1962, actress Marilyn Monroe, 36, was found dead in her Los Angeles home. Her death was ruled a "probable suicide" from an overdose of sleeping pills.

I never heard of anyone's death being ruled as "probable suicide." Usually the ruling is plain old suicide, accident or homicide. Anyway, the main thing I remember about Marilyn Monroe is her comment when someone asked her if she had anything on at the time she posed for the famous calendar painting. She said, "I had the radio on."

In 1861, the federal government levied an income tax for the first time.

They created a Frankenstein-like monster, which has since grown to be huge and threatening, just so the government can get into a lot of things it should stay out of. In 1884, the cornerstone for the Statue of Liberty was laid on Bedloe's Island in New York Harbor.

Sixty million pigeons celebrated with high fours, or however many claws pigeons have. In 1914, the first electric traffic lights were installed, in Cleveland, Ohio. Twenty minutes later, Horace Rockefeller, driving a new Model T, became the first guy ever to be ticketed for running a red light. (Well, it could have happened). In 1924, the comic strip "Little Orphan Annie," by Harold Gray, made its debut. Hey, I remember that one well. All the people in the comic strip were Democratic members of Congress. I mean everybody, from Annie and Daddy Warbucks down to the dog Sandy, had no eyes. They just had circles, or holes in their heads. In 1957, American Bandstand, hosted by Dick Clark, made its network debut on ABC.

Dick Clark was about 30 at the time. Now he is about 33.

I SENT the following list of Hymns for Older Persons to my preacher, but I really don't expect any of these versions to be announced next Sunday:

- 3. "Nobody Knows The trouble I Have Seeing"
- 4. "Precious Lord, Take My Hand", And Help Me Up 5. "Count Your Many 'Birthdays', Count Them One By One"
- 6. "Go Tell It On A Mountain", But Speak Up
- 7. "Give Me The Old 'Timers' Religion"
- 8. "Blessed 'Insurance"

DARON NORWOOD (Photo from Country Weekly Magazine) Norwood Featured

In Country Weekly

Magazine Article Tahoka native Daron Norwood, who reached country music fame with his mid-1990's hit, "If It Wasn't For Her, I Wouldn't Have You," is featured this week in Country Weekly magazine. The article, entitled "Catching Up With Daron Norwood" is found on page 62 of the Aug. 20, 2002 edition of the magazine. Norwood relates in the article how alcohol and drugs nearly ruined his life, and how he is back on track now "with the help of God, his wife and his family." In 1997, the article says. Norwood founded Keep It Straight, a drug, alcohol and violence program designed to help children and young adults make the right decisions in life, and he continues with the program today, speaking to students in school systems.

He has been living in Florida, but says he wants to return more often to this area, where he still has a home, and hopes to begin a recording project soon.

Wilson ISD Sets Pre-Registration

Officials have set pre-registration dates for all students at Wilson ISD for Tuesday, Aug. 13. Registration times are 8:30-3:30 and 6:30-8:00. Pre-registration is for all students in PreK through 12th grade, not just new students.

Spaghetti Lunch Slated Sunday

The youth group at Tahoka Trinity Church will host a spaghetti lunch at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 11 in the "old building" of the church. Cost for the meal is $4 per plate. Everyone is invited to attend.

Proceeds from the lunch will help pay expenses for the youth to attend "Rock the Desert," a Christian music/youth gathering to be held in Mid-

Corrected Times Released For High School Registration

Tahoka High School students have begun registration for the 2002-2003 school year, with juniors and seniors registering Aug. 7 and freshmen and sophomores registering Aug. 8 (today). A story previously published in the Lynn County News contained incorrect times for freshmen registration. The correct registration schedule is as follows:

Sophomores—Aug. 8: A-G: 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. H-M: 9 a.m. to 10 a.m N-S: 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. T-Z: 11 a.m. to noon. Freshmen-Aug. 8 A-G: 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. H-M: 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. N-S: 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. T-Z: 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Pre-registration forms must be turned in to the high school office by Monday, Aug. 12. Any student who has not turned in the pre-registration form will not be allowed to remain in class on the first day of school (Aug. 21).

PROCRASTINATION, PART I

I meant to write this several weeks ago, but was waiting for the perfect time. Perfect timing, since the subject is PROCRASTINATION! Ever been guilty of it? The word "procrastination" is derived from the Latin word that literally means "forward to tomorrow." Do you ever catch yourself saying:

"I don't know where to begin." "I have a week to get that done."

"I work better under pressure." "I'll start my diet on Monday." "I'm just not in the mood to do

"I've got a million other things to do first.' "Why does the boss give us so much to do?"

Dr. Margaret J. King, with Cultural Studies and Analysis in Philadelphia, says, "Putting things off is a major stumbling block to achievement, both long-terms and in the present." Although it's a common human tendency, putting things off has the potential for serious consequences. Stress, stalled projects, missed opportunities, frustration, emotional exhaustion, anxiety and a blow to the self-esteem are just some of the effects.

We'll get more into the thinking behind procrastination later in this series. For now, it's enough to know that procrastination is the result of three general thought patterns: perfectionism, inadequacy and discomfort. The underlying theme usually goes something like this: The huge, monstrous task 1) challenges your abilities, 2) imposes an unwelcome demand on your time, resources or emotional reserves and/or 3) is difficult and uncomfortable now, but will prove to be much easier or more pleasant later.

Procrastination is a complex, emotionally complicated issue that cannot be resolved in one easy step. But there is a well-researched train of thought that asserts it's entirely

NOTICE OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE

This notice concerns 2002 property tax rates for LYNN COUNTY for the six taxing entities listed below. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at LYNN COUNTY APPRAISAL DISTRIC 1636 AVE. J - TAHOKA, TEXAS 79373

Toxic Mold or Ordinary Mildew? Homeowners Tips Provided

By now most Texans know their homeowner's insurance is going up, by how much and when. The why is also well known: Most have heard horror stories of how some residents have been driven from their homes by something as common and ordinary as mold. And many are wondering how that can happen.

Not all molds are created equal, according to Janie Harris, Texas Cooperative Extension housing and environment specialist. "While some molds can be a serious health threat, others - like the ones responsible for creating cheese and penicillin - are beneficial," she said.

"All mold are fungi. Molds produce microscopic cells called 'spores,' which spread easily through the air. Mold spores are present everywhere - in indoor as well as out-

However, something like 10 percent of the population develop severe allergies to mold, she said. These allergies produce flu-like symptoms, including breathing problems, nasal and sinus congestion, watery eyes, coughing and sore throat, and skin

Some of these allergies can trigger asthma attacks, Harris went on,

"Children, the elderly, pregnant women, people with existing respiratory sensitivities and those whose immune systems are impaired are at higher risk for adverse health effects from mold," Harris said.

And not all reactions to mold are the same either. "Some people are affected when exposed to very little mold, while others may show no adverse health symptoms when exposed to mold. Exposure to high mold spore levels can cause development of an allergy to mold," she continued. "People can react to mold whether it is living or dead. Even when mold has dried out and has stopped growing, the toxins can still be harmful.

The most common problemcausing mold is called "black mold." Harris said, or Stachybotrys atra (S. chartarum). This black mold, which grows on wet cellulose-containing materials, "contains a toxic substance (endotoxin) that can cause serious illness and death in children, especially infants, and some adults," she said. Because of this and other health. potential health problems caused by mold, "it is not safe to live in houses.

with high mold levels," Harris said. Most people can't afford to pack up and move because of mold. So how do they protect their families' health and their homes?

To eliminate mold in the home, homeowners must understand what mold needs to grow and survive. "Mold needs a food source, moisture, mild to warm temperatures, and mold spores to grow," Harris said.

Food sources for mold include "anything organic, such as dust, books, paper and paper products, animal dander, soap scum" - anything that contains organic materials, she

The best way to fight mold is to thoroughly clean the areas where it might grow, Harris pointed out. Experts who studied mold and mildew in homes "found that mold and mildew contaminations was significantly reduced in treatment homes where surfaces were routinely cleaned and disinfected," she said.

These experts suggested steps for controlling mold growth:

Control the amount of moisture in the home's air by maintaining and repairing the plumbing system, air conditioning, roof, etc.

- Clean up potential mold food sources, such as dust and soil.

After cleaning a site where mold has been found, use an appropriate disinfectant to prevent it from grow-

- Prevent mold from entering the house again by keeping possible sites cleaned and disinfected.

- Since people react to mold whether it is living or dead, mold needs to be removed," Harris said. "Small areas of mold - less than a couple of square feet - can be cleaned by the homeowner. Extensive contamination - 30 or more square feet should be assessed by an experienced health and safety professional and remediated by personnel with training and experience handling environmentally contaminated material." First things first, she said. Since moisture is necessary for mold to grow, any leaks or constantly moist areas must be repaired. "To get rid of the mold for good, it is necessary to solve the moisture or leakage problem. Since there are some mold. spores everywhere, and since mold grows on any wet surface, the only way to prevent mold growth is to keep things dry.

"The underlying moisture problem must be identified and fixed!" Harris said.

Dr. Chip Lee, Extension plant pathologist in Stephenville, agreed. "Points to consider in the prevention of house mold deal primarily with the prevention of free moisture in the house," he said. "The most common

MAKING OUR WATER LESS SALTY - Tahoka gets its water from the Canadian River Municipal Water. Authority, which in March began mixing well water with water from Lake Meredith to help decrease the salinity of the water supply to member cities and towns. Tahoka's Larry Hagood, a director on the CRMWA board, toured the new well project north of Pampa recently, taking this photo which shows one of the pumps which pumps 80,000 gallons per minute out of one of two 3,000,000-gallon holding tanks at the well-field. The water is pumped into a 26-mile line which intersects with the main line from Lake Meredith. Hagood says presently the mix is about 38 percent well water.

Just as there are many different fashions, there are also many different ways a child learns. Understanding a child's learning style can help a parent and teacher personalize instruction or homework to ensure peak performance in school and build a child's self confidence. There are three widely recognized learning styles, also known as learning channels: visual, auditory and haptic (kinesthetic-tactile). Sylvan Learning Center, one of the leading providers of supplemental education services to students of all ages and skill levels, provides the following tips to assist parents in determining what type of learning style their child exhibits. Parents can also visit their local Sylvan Learning Center for more detailed analysis of how thei child learns.

When reading the following tips, keep in mind that a child may exhibit more than one of the following learning styles.

How does your child learn?

If you notice that your child easily remembers how things look and can describe something they've seen in great detail, but has a difficult time following verbal directions, he is likely to be a visual learner. To help him learn more successfully, you may

- Encourage him to take written notes to help him remember concepts Keep highlighter markers and colored paper on hand to help him liven up notes and study materials

- Urge him to pay close attention to graphs, charts, maps and pictures Use illustrations to help him

recall information easier

- Create flash cards with him to

If your child prefers listening to stories, music and class lessons, or moves her lips when she reads, she may be an auditory learner. To help her learn more successfully, you may

- Purchase a tape recorder and encourage her to record notes and chapter summaries whenever possible

- Read key concepts and review questions aloud with her

- Urge her to recite aloud important dates, key terms and facts

- Help her make up songs or rhymes in order to increase her ability to recall facts - Have her verbally repeat information to you If you notice that your child is always on the move and may have a hard time sitting still or paying attention, he is likely a haptic learner. To help him learn more successfully, you may want to:

- Incorporate hands-on learning activities whenever possible

- Encourage him to study in different positions (e.g., sit in a chair, on the floor, at a table, etc.)

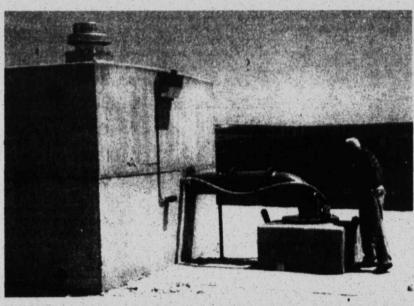

- Take short breaks with hime, even just stretching, after ten minutes

- Urge him to take notes on important facts and rewrite his notes several times

- Ask hime to write key words or phrases with his finger, on the table

- Allow him to walk around while studying for a test

As you prepare your child for the new school year, it's important to remember that he or she will be better prepared for classes if you and the school teacher both understand their learning styles and use this knowledge to help them excel in school and on homework. Sylvan also suggests that you share your observations about your child's learning style with his teachers.

BIG WELL - This is one of the bigger wells at the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority well-field north of Pampa, which provides well water for mixing with water from Lake Meredith, the purpose of which is to decrease salinity content. Notice the large electric cable going down to the well, which pumps 2,680 gallons/minute through a 12-inch pipe. Larry Hagood, CRMWA director of Tahoka, says the well has a 480hp submergible pump that is over 100 feet long.

I have to comment on the end-ofsummer-jamboree: I am so excited that our community is coming together to host such a wonderful Christian event. Often, people of different denominations get bogged down in the little discrepancies and differences and believe their way is the only way. No matter if you call yourself a Lutheran, Presbyterian, Baptist, Catholic, Methodist, or nondenominational, we have to remember that we are all first Christians. Who cares if one baptizes people at different ages or one has grape juice instead of wine for communion? Denominations were man-made, but Christianity is God-made. Let's remember that we all worship the same God, just in different ways. So, I encourage everyone to participate in events at your different local churches. You just might learn some-

The varsity cheerleaders will be teaching some of this year's camp material to the Little Leopards at the traditional Little Leopard Camp on Thursday, Aug. 29 from 3:30-6:30 in the activity gym. Grades K through six are invited to attend. There is a $10 fee which includes all of the instructions, a snack, and certificates. Campers will present a pep rally to their parents at 6:30 p.m.

Forms will be sent home in student's daily folders and are due back to Mrs. Durham by Monday, Aug. 26. The Little Leopards will be presented at the varsity pep rally on Sept. 13.

The sensational killings that have rocked San Francisco appear to be unrelated except in their brutality. But detective Lindsay Boxer senses there's some thread connecting them all. She calls together her friends, newspaper reporter Cindy Thomas, Assistant DA Jill Bernhardt, and medical examiner Claire Wadshburn, and together they discover the link in the murders.

The women realize that the killer is

Spot 'n Tots Clinic Set For August 10

The City of Lubbock Health Department in conjunction with the City of Lubbock Animal Services will provide dog and cat vaccinations and childhood immunizations in August during a "Spot 'n Tots" clinic. The clinics will be held at Animal Services Training Center located at 102 Municipal Drive on Saturday, August 10, from 1 to 5 p.m.

The dog and cat rabies vaccinations will be $7 per animal, which includes a city license. "This is a great opportunity to have your pet vaccinated against rabies. When you vaccinate your pet you also protect your family and neighbors against rabies," said Denise Jones, Educational Officer for Animal Servies. All dogs must be on a leash and all cats must be in carriers for the protection of the pet, other pets, and persons attending the event.

"We are hoping pet owners from surrounding communities will take advantage of the last rabies clinic for this year," Jones said.

James Alexander, Regional Zoonosis Control Veteriharian for the Texas Department of Health, warns the South Plains and Panhandle residents to be careful about rabid animals. Left untreated, rabies often is fatal for humans as well as animals. A bite isn't the only way rabies is transmitted, Alexander said. Anyone who could have come in contact with the saliva of a rabid animal should receive rabies treatments, he said. He also indicated this year Public Health Region I has recorded 16 rabid skunks, compared to one case a year ago. With the continuing high level of rabies makes it imperative that people keep their pets' rabies vaccinations up to date, he said.

The tots portion of the clinic childhood immunizations - will be $5 per child and will be for all children ages two months through 18 years. "This is great opportunity to get your child's shots updated and get a head start on needed immunizations for the upcoming school year. For every child we immunize we protect them as well as the community against a vaccine preventable disease," said Beckie Brawley, R.N., Prevention Manager for the City of Lubbock Health Department.

"Due to a national shortage of tetanus/diphtheria (Td) vaccine, we will not have this availabe for your child's booster dose. All children who are requiring a booster dose of Td vaccine to the upcoming school year have been deferred and will not be excluded from school," Brawley

"Don't forget to bring your child's shot record or letter from their school to ensure the correct vaccine is administered," Brawley said.
