MULESHOE ASSEMBLY OF GOD

J. W. FARMER, Evangelist

"WALKING WITH GOD"

As we begin this now year with it's challenges, and pernaps difficulties and problems.

I know of no better way to face them and the uncortainties of tomorrow, than to face them walking with God. We read in Genesis 5:24 "And Fnoch walked with God. and he was not; for God took him."

When you are walking with someone; that implies you are going their way.

Enoch walked with God, He was going God's way, though he was living in the Antedituvian ago whon sin was abounding and Men's hearts were polluted with ovil; yet he walk-

It is further said of Enoch in Hebrows 11:5 By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God. If our lives are to please God then we must endeavor to walk with God as we travel along the journey of Life. It is recorded in Genesis 6:9 that Noah walked with God Noah also lived in a day when the very thoughts and intents of mens heart was on evil continually, but he found grace in the eyes of the Lord.

When you are walking with someone; that implies you help for all the problems and difficulties of Life. For God's word admonishes us in Hebrews 4:16 To come boldly unto the throne of Grace, that we obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

May we earnesly strive to walk with God that our lives may be pleasing to Him.

America Could Use More Frank Hinksons

Hinkson.

Hinkson last week announced his candidacy for United States Congressman for the 18th District of Texas.

It was an ambitious undertaking for a virtual "unknown" in political ranks. But his motives for wanting to be elected, and his entire hopes of receiving the nomination have to be admired.

Hinkson says he believes that steps must be taken to preserve the United States as a nation of free people. He says we are giving our freedoms away for what we think is security, and has made up his mind to try to do something about it.

Back in the days when America was young, there were many people in this country with that ideology. It was that spirit which founded the United States of America.

Unless the country develops a "new breed" of patriots of that nature, our future as a free country definitely is, as Hinkson points Dear editar:

We'd like to differ with Hinkson on one point, however. This isn't intended as a slam against his reason for seeking a national office (he thinks local action would be ineffective).

Maybe that's true if you have irresponsible representatives in Washington, and maybe if we had more people there with his viewpoint, the local voice would be louder. But we maintain that democracy begins at home. If local people will take a more active interest in politics, a more healthful atmosphere could develop on a national scope.

We urge every citizen who is interested in his nation's (or state, county or precinct's) future to make their stand. Responsible citizens need to take an active part in their community's political life. Those who feel they are unqualified to hold office can at least inform themselves and vote for the candidate they would like to have

This aside, we see here an excellent example of how government and government agencies -at various levels- have made a policy of blocking the ability of the railroads to compete for business, and to provide the best of service at the lowest possible cost.

Water carriers around the country have been especially active in attempting to stop railroads from competitively pricing their transportation service. They have claimed that the rails intend to haul the traffic at less than cost. This is absurd on the face of itfor, as one railroad leader has put it, "As financially hard-pressed as they are, the railroads are in no position to carry freight at a

Railroads ask the right to compete, and to be treated with equality under law-nothing more. Only Congress can provide that. So far it has failed miserably.

Test: I Timothy 4:12a "Let no man dispise thy youth, but be thou an example of the believers" These are the words of the elderly St. Paul to a young convert, Timothy. Paul has learned that Timothy is pastor of one of the early Christian churches and he tells him that he is not to let his youth hinder his influence over the older members of the church.

He is to be a Godly example to the ones who have accepted the Gospel, and most of all, an ex-of, convicting those who might be failing God. It was the custom in those days seems to have faith in our younger generation. In reading this text, try to remember another of these younger individuals who probably came under all the attacks that our modern youth face, yet came forth victorious. David, the shepherd lad, was visiting the army camp, bringing food to his older brothers, when he learned that Goliath was defying the armies of Israel. David had not lost faith in God and he knew that if the people would return to God and trust in Him, they would be delivered. We are all familiar with the story, and with the outcome. David went out with much criticism, but with the power of God behind him, and killed Goliath, bringing glory to God. Here was a young lad who was not ashamed of God, faithful example to God. Jan. 28 through Feb. 4 has been designated as Youth Week. Let us have new faith in our young people. Let them see that we have not given them up as lost, but we have renewed confidence in them, and are willing to stand by them and help them.

WASHINGTON, - Historians of the future need only examine current issue of the Congressional Record should they wish to determine the high esteem accorded the late Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex. by colleagues.

The Record-the daily journal of the procedings in Congressalso includes, in its issue of Jan 11, President Kennedy's statement in his State of the Union message that the nation is not the same without Rayburn.

The House Chaplain also re ferred to Rayburn when he delivered his prayer at the reconvening of Congress on Jan. 10. In both the Senate and the House, members also had inserted for publication in the Record many newspaper and magazine articles reviewing the late Rayburn's life and achievments. The House subsequently agreed that on Jan. 18 time should be ample that God would be proud given all members who had not previously done so an opportunity to pay tribute to his memory The Jan. 10 issue of the Record and even in our modern day to also carries a list of all individfeel that our young people are jals and companies who submit-"going to the dogs", and no one ted reports to the House clerk during the third quarter of 1961, as required by the Lobby registration act. The list includes many Texas mean or firms. Virtually every segment of the nation's economy from labor unions to doctors and school teachers is represented.

Reports need be submitted only if a person or company has been active during a quarter period. Thus, a person who often may be active, might not show up in a particular quarterly list. Figures of expenses and salaries often are listed, but they may actually cover only a certain number of days. For that reason the reports are not basis for estimating annual compensation.

One of the most prominent Texans listed is Dale Miller. He lists the Dallas Chamber of Commerce first among the companies and organizations he represents.

He also represents the Intracoastal Canal Association of Louisiana and Texas, the Texas Gulf Sulpher Co., and General Motors Corp. He lists a Mayflower Hotel suite as the local business office for all four clients.

Like his father, the late Roy Miller, a former mayor of Corpus Christi who also represented various Texas interests here, Dale Miller is friendly with virtually all members of Texas congressional delegation.

As his father was a close friend of former Vice President John Nance Garner, Dale Miller enjoys similar relationship with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Miller and his wife, Scooter, ere host at a recent reception here for Johnson and his wife. For many years the Millers gave I Tim. 4:12a Dare to be different, an annual birthday party for

Two former House Texans also were listed in the quarter report-Ben Guill of Pampa, a Republican who repreented the Panhandle for several months in 1950, Guill represents the American Smelting and Refining Company, PROPHET WITHOUT HONOR and Tom Pickett of Palestine. other matals firms. Pickett represents the Association of American Railroads. Other Texas individuals or firms in the report included: Lowell Davis, Mart; Cecil B. plied. "Does he play for the Colts Dickson, former Austin newsman, American Medical Association;

Legal trouble is easier and cheaper to prevent than to cure. Most wage earning, childbearing, paying families don't see much home-buying, installment need for a family lawyer.

Often under prodding, one may get a lawver to write a will. But can you tell a big legal risk from a small one? Can you spot the signs of legal trouble? Check with your family lawyer

1. Your status changes: upon coming of age, marriage, the birth of your children, buying a house, divorce or death. For you may then need to draft or revise your will, change your insurance, or re-figure your taxes.

2. You buy or sell. Look out for flaws in the papers before you go into debt, part with money, or sign anything involving big expenditures or long term obliga-

3. You enter into other contracts Promises, spoken or written, bind you if they call for a "consideration", something of value in re-

4. Someone treatens your rights The law exists to defend them but with some rights you must take action yourself for them to work for you.

When you can bring your lawver "live" facts (e.g. unsigned contracts, vexing tax returns you haven't filed), he can do much more for you, and at a smaller cost than you bring him "cold" facts (mistakes you have made which treaten trouble).

But above all, get both live and cold facts to him at once. time may run out in For many such situations. Your law yer may be able to do something for you today, which he cannot do tomorrow

Tell your lawyer what you want. Tell him all the facts, good or bad, and then keep him informed all along. He is sworn to keep what you tell in confidence, and he cannot serve you well without full knowledge.

.(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform-not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

BAD DAY ALL DAY PEMBINE, Wis. (AP) It was just one of those days for William Anderson, who farms and also has a job in a garage. At 7:30 a.m., a cream separator exploded, cutting his face, neck, arms and legs. We Deliver Anywhere At 9 a.m., a car battery foamed up and splattered his clothes with battery acid. At 2 p.m., a jack handle slipped and cut him on the nose. At 6 p.m., Anderson slipped on ice and sprained an ankle. BIG BAD BILLY NEVADA, Iowa (AP)-A want ad in the Nevada Journal said: "Found. One halfgrown billy goat. Owner may claim same by paying for ad, one partly eaten sack of red clover seed, one chewedup pony saddle, two bales of hav and a broken toe.'

Heavy U. S. Employment Created By Trade With Japan, Economic Survey Reports DOLLAR DISTRIBUTION BY STATES OF JAPAN'S PURCHASES IN 1900

JAPAN "BUYS AMERICAN" IN TEXAS

AND IN ALL THE 50 STATES

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Nearly 200,000 American workers owe their jobs to exports to Japan, according to a nationwide economic survey just released by the U. S.-Japan Trade Council The survey, "Japan Buys American in All 50 States," documents the income and employment benefits of exports to Japan for each State. It estimates that 190,810 American jobs were created by the $1.3 billion U. S. exports to Japan in 1960 and that such employment has increased substantially with the rise of U. S. sales to Japan in 1961 to more than $1.7 billion.

TOTAL U.S. EXPORTS to JAPAN $1,324,762,000

TOTAL U.S. IMPORTS from JAPAN $1,126,529,000

The leading State in terms of jobs-created-byexports to Japan was Texas with 33,800 jobs attributed to Japan's purchases on the American market. California was second, with 20,570 jobs generated by trade with Japan, followed by Mississippi (11,620), Arkansas (10,470) and Alabama (7,180).

The U. S., the study brought out, has exported more to Japan over the last 5-year period than to any other country except Canada. In 1960, exports of $1.3 billion and imports of $1.1 billion provided the U.S. with a surplus of $200 million. This swelled to an estimated $500 million in 1961 as U. S. exports to Japan went over the $1.7

$20-- 50 MILLION

Even greater gains are expected during the 1960s. The Trade Council stated that the U. S. could "anticipate an export market of at least $3 billion in Japan by 1970." The increase is being generated by Japan's current drive to double its own Gross National Product by that date. "This will mean," the Council noted, "substantial increases in sales and jobs for every State in creases in sales and jobs for every State in the Union."

HOW TEXAS SHARED IN THE JAPANESE MARKET IN 1960
Texas led the nation in sales to Japan, totalling $128,181,000. Chief commodities exported were (in millions of dollars): cotton 66, chemicals 22, (synthetic rubber 10), petroleum products 17, metal scrap 7, metals and products 6, agricultural products excluding cotton 5, machinery and vehicles 3.

An estimated 33,800 jobs were created in Texas by these exports, including direct production workers, suppliers and service personnel.

Texas cotton farmers ship well over 10% of their total crop, year in and year out, to Japan alone. The value of U. S. exports of raw cotton to Japan in 1960 exceeded by $145 million the value of Japan's exports of cotton textiles to the U. S.

Over 5,000 Texas cotton farmers reduced root rot damage by deep plowing more than a quarter million acres during 1961 according to year-end reports from county agricultural agents.
