DRIVING ANY kind of vehicle is more fun in Tahoka. New Home, Wilson or O'Donnell than it is in Lubbock, where most residents who own big pickups or SUVs are driving around for no obvious purpose other than to terrorize (or maybe just run over) any Lynn County drivers who have to be in Lubbock for some reason.

And as bad as it is in Lubbock, it is much worse around Fort Worth and Dallas, Houston, New York City, Los Angeles or any big city in the world, where traffic congestion is murder on your brakes and your nerves.

In London, though, a bold mayor has risked his political future with a drastic measure to eliminate congestion in the busiest downtown area. And it seems to be working, in spite of a lot of criticism.

Mayor Ken Livingstone (I don't know if they elect their mayors or just sentence them to serve a couple of terms) was the instigator of a plan to charge motorists to drive into the center of London, where traffic often jammed to a stop and the top speed often was 10 miles an hour. A May 5 Associated Press story said that after three months of charging motorists 5 pounds-about $8-on weekdays to enter an 8-square-mile zone that includes the financial and entertainment heart

"Traffic jams have shrunk, taxis are unusually abundant and red double-decker buses zip along at 7 or 8 miles an hour.

"With 20 per cent fewer private cars clogging the narrow, twisting roads of central London, even the capital's notoriously complaining cabbies are impressed. While they grumble that faster journey times are cutting individual fares, they are happy to spend less time in traffic jams."

Last year when I came home from a trip, I drove on the Interstates through Dallas and Fort Worth, and all along that part of the trip I had this uneasy feeling that I was never going to get home alive. Cars were all driving 98 mph 6 feet behind me, and not slowing down to change lanes or cut in. Of course, in the heart of those big cities, they can't go that fast. Often they can't go at all.

I think Lubbock should charge everybody except me about $5 on weekdays to drive anywhere inside the loop.

THE SECTION ABOVE mentions those colorful double-decker buses which run in London. We have been to London four times, and I don't recall ever riding on one of those. However, we did ride on one on Victoria Island, just north of the state of Washington, and it was an interesting experience.

Some of those double-decker buses had been brought over from England to carry tourists around on the Canadian island. The way the bus wheezed and groaned and shuddered, and made grinding noises when the gears were shifted may me wonder about how they got them there all the way from England. However, I think the one we were on, struggling to get up to the Butchart Gardens, must have been driven across on the ocean floor.

It didn't bother the cheerful little girl driving it, though.

Anyone planning to attend, stated Mrs. Edwards.

The project was paid for through a grant from John P. McGovern, a retired Houston doctor.

Marshall Fitzwater, who worked with McGowan, described the philanthropist as a charismatic and selfmade man. "He's a truly remarkable man," Fitzwater told nearly 100 people gathered for the dedication.

"He has given to hundreds of organizations," he said. "He continues to give. Dr. McGovern believes in examining all of your options."

Moments later, Fitzwater and campus administrator Robert Marshall unveiled a plaque in honor of McGovern.

Bettye Green, a board member of Girlstown, and Lovene Decker Moore unveiled a plaque as a re-dedication of the "Avenue of Opportunity." Mrs. Moore coined the name for the avenue, Mrs. Green said.

The plaque bears the message: "Dedicated to the girls who pass this

Mrs. Green recalled that the avenue was a project of the Caprock District of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

The organization, whose president at the time was Lovene J. Decker Moore, came up with the idea of planting trees on both sides of the road that lead into the campus. In 1969 honey locust trees were planted by the club women in the district. Phebe K. Warner Club participated in this project and was responsible for some of the trees.

"Girlstown has always been an interest of mine." Mrs. Green said. The district adopted Girlstown as a project for a number of years

"The trees are still here," she said. "Lovene, thank you for having the foresight to name the avenue and to beautify the entrance."

Mrs. Green told the girls assembled for the ceremony, "Set your goals high."

Later, visitors, parents, girls, and staff attended a teacher appreciation and senior recognition banquet on Girlstown currently has an enrollment of 61 girls.

NOTICE OF RECEIPT OF APPLICATION AND INTENT TO OBTAIN AIR PERMIT RENEWAL

PERMIT NO. 1269A

APPLICATION New Home Cooperative Gin, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for renewal of Air Quality Permit No. 1269A which would authorize continued operation of the Cotton Gin located on Highway 211, eight miles west of the intersection of Highway 211 and Highway 1730, New Home, Lynn County, Texas. The existing facility is authorized to emit the following air contaminants: particulate matter, nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide and unburned hydrocarbons.

The TCEQ received this application on February 10, 2003. The application is available for viewing and copying at the TCEQ central office, TCEQ Lubbock regional office, and the Lynn County Courthouse, 2nd Floor Clerk's Office, 1600 Avenue J, Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the Lubbock regional office of the TCEO.

The TCEQ executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. Information in the application indicates that this permit renewal would not result in an increase in allowable emissions and would not result in the emission of an air contaminant not previously emitted. The TCEQ may act on this application without seeking further public comment or providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

PUBLIC COMMENT You may submit public comments, or a request for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. The TCEQ will consider all public comments in developing a final decision on the application. The deadline to submit public comments is 15 days after newspaper notice is published. After the deadline for public comments, the executive director will prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the TCEO's jurisdiction to address in the permit process.

After the technical review is complete the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. If only comments are received, the response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will then be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or who is on the mailing list for this application, unless the application is directly referred to a contested

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING You may request a contested case hearing. The applicant or the executive director may also request that the application be directly referred to a contested case hearing after technical review of the application. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. Unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 15 days from this notice, the executive director may act on the application. If no hearing request is received within this 15-day period, no further opportunity for hearing will be provided. According to the Texas Clean Air Act §382.056(o) a contested case hearing may only be granted if the applicant's compliance history is in the lowest classification under applicable compliance history requirements and if Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission may only grant a hearing on those issues raised during the public comment period and not withdrawn.

A person who may be effected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[1/we] request a contested case hearing;" (4) a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the application and air emissions from the facility in a way not common to the general public; (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the facility; and (6) a description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility. If the request is made by a group or association, the one or more members who have standing to request a hearing and the interests the group or association seeks to protect must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing within 15 days following this notice to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

If any requests for a contested case hearing are timely filed, the executive director will forward the application and any requests for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. Unless the application is directly referred to a contested case hearing, the executive director will mail the response to comments along with notification of Commission meeting to everyone who submitted comments or is on the mailing list for this application. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact relating to relevant and material air quality concerns raised during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise. traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this pro-

MAILING LIST In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list for this application by sending a request to the TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. Those on the mailing list will receive copies of future public notices (if any) mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk for this application

INFORMATION Written public comments and requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, TCEQ, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087.
