

Cotton looking good ...

The 2004 cotton crop for Lynn County is off to a much better start as compared to the last five years, with nearly 14 inches of rain this year – nearly twice the moisture received at this time last year – being one of the biggest factors. Lynn County Extension Agent Bryan Reynolds (in photo at right) shows some of the cotton already blooming on Ty Askew's land just north of Tahoka. Several thousand acres in the county were damaged or lost due to heavy rains, high water and hail northeast of O'Donnell, where producers have replanted fields to alternative crops such as sunflowers or grain sorghum. Overall, approximately 285,000 acres of cotton were planted this year in Lynn County. (LCN PHOTOS)

SUMMER is definitely with us, since we already have had many days where the temperature reached 100 or more. So naturally I got to thinking about what I did in other summers in my life and, of course, I can recall more vividly things which happened 60 years ago when I was a kid than I can things which happened in the last several decades.

I grew up in Jacksboro, a couple of hundred miles east of here on U.S. 380 and summers there are hot and sultry, with blister bugs and incredible humidity and mesquite trees and rattlesnakes out in the country where we youngsters used to go hiking. Of course, when you're 12-14 years old, heat and humidity don't bother you, because that's the only climate you've ever known, and we weren't much scared of snakes and blister bugs, just wary.

We'd take our BB guns, or sometimes even a single shot .22, get our Boy Scout canteens of water and go just looking around out in the ranch country, sometimes walking several miles during the day and taking all afternoon to do it. I don't remember that we ever took any food, but we must have. I know when we ran out of water, we'd scoop some out a creek we knew about and drop in a couple of little white pills which our scoutmaster had told us would make water safe to drink.

There usually were three or four of us boys, and we found snakes, toad frogs and horned toads and varieties of bugs and birds, and once we saw a fox. Looking back, it seems we had great times, but maybe I have just forgot any bad things that happened.

I learned to swim one summer at a place where a fairly deep creek crossed the road near town, a place we called "Water Crossing". Just off the highway the water sloped down to a depth of 10-12 feet, there were trees growing out of the water, and trees and bushes (some with poison ivy) along the banks. It was a gravel bottom and we'd just walk down into the water until it got deep enough to swim in. Only in my case, I just went out until the water was up to my chin and then turned around and tried to swim back.

Frequently we would see snakes swimming in the water. If they got up close, we'd just get out of the water and throw rocks or wait until they swam off.

If that crossing is still there and hasn't changed, there's no way anybody could entice me into that water now.

Anyway, summers were great in Jacksboro in the 1940s, especially if you were 12 years old.

AN OFFICE worker was overheard talking to a friend at dinner: "I won't be in tomorrow. I've used up all my sick days, so I'm calling in dead."

GOING TO IRAQ - National Guard Reservist Richard Hinkle stopped by the Lynn County News Office Monday, on one of his last days in town before leaving for training at Ft. Hood and then deploying to Iraq. A postal clerk at the Tahoka Post Office, Hinkle has 15-1/2 years in military service, including 8 years active duty and 7-1/2 years reserve duty. He reported to the National Guard Reserves in Lubbock for duty, and expects to be sent to Iraq sometime in January. (LCN PHOTO)

Tahoka Postal Clerk Called From Reserves To Duty In Iraq

Richard Hinkle, a postal clerk at the Tahoka Post Office, has been called into reserve duty and will be deployed to Iraq in the next few months. He reported to duty in Lubbock at the National Guard Reserves last week, and says he expects to be sent to Iraq sometime after January.

Hinkle, 33, spent about six months in Iraq in Operation Desert Storm, during his eight years of active military service. He has 15-1/2 years of total service, in both active and reserve duty.

A single man when he served in Desert Storm, Hinkle now has a wife, Shawnette, and a 10-year-old son, Zach, and says he had hoped he would not have to return to Iraq and be away from his family. He is willing to go where needed, however.

He says he has been called to serve approximately 18 months of duty, and that once served this time will use all of his days of active reserve duty.

"I've been called for over 500 days of duty this time, and this will take me over the number of days allowed, so this will be my last time to be called in to duty – unless things change and they decide to call reservists to serve more time," said Hinkle with a wry smile.

Although Hinkle does not live in Lynn County, driving to Tahoka from his home near White River Lake, most Tahokans know his face as the

Cotton Crop Off To Better Start Than In Recent Years

By Bryan Reynolds, Lynn County Agriculture Extension Agent

The 2004 cotton crop for Lynn County is off to a much better start as compared to the last five years. Obviously, rainfall and moisture are the biggest factors to the start of this year's crop.

"We have received 13.68 inches of rain for 2004 as compared to 8.56 inches for the same time last year," said Bryan Reynolds, Lynn County Extension Agent. "Basically we have received more rain this year as compared to all of last year," stated Reynolds.

"Some areas of the county received less than 10 inches of rain last year, so it doesn't take much to get off to a better start," he added.

Cooler temperatures and 2.85 inches of rain officially for June were seen by the area. Some places around O'Donnell received in excess of 6 inches of rain in June. At the same time, the area northeast of O'Donnell probably received the roughest weather in terms of wind, sand, rain, and hail.

clerk at the U.S. Post Office here. He has worked here for nearly a year, since August 2003.

The last time Hinkle was called into active duty was after Sept. 11, 2001, when he worked several months in the security force at the Lubbock National Airport, and then was sent to Guantanamo Bay in Cuba for nearly six months.

He is one of thousands of reservists being called into duty from Texas and reporting at the Lubbock National Guard Reserves for deployment. Hinkle said that another Tahoka man, Gary Strickland, is also in his unit that has been called into service. He says Strickland will probably report to duty on Aug. 14, and will also be among those sent to Iraq.

Now an E-4 Specialist, Hinkle drove an artillery truck when he was in Iraq during Desert Storm. He has applied for infantry school for July 31-Aug. 13, and then he expects to train at Ft. Hood in Killeen for 4-5 months, and then about a month in California, before deploying to Iraq sometime after January 1st.

"Several thousand acres were damaged or lost due to heavy rains, high water and hail northeast of O'Donnell," Reynolds said. Producers replanted those fields to alternative crops such as sunflowers or grain sorghum.

"They simply could not get back in the field for several days after the storms and decided to replant something other than cotton, in many cases due to the lack of growing time for replanted cotton," said the county agent.

Overall, approximately 285,000 acres were planted this year in Lynn County.

Certainly other areas have not received as much moisture and the cotton in those areas continues to lag behind and suffer, but overall, things are looking better than any in recent years in terms of the stage and progression of this crop.

"We had cotton blooming on July 4, which is something we have not seen in a while," said Reynolds. "Producers with the early planted cotton in May took advantage of the moisture available to get the crop up and established before it dried out," said Reynolds. "These fields look good and should progress nicely as we head towards peak bloom in late July and early August," Reynolds said. "Other fields are coming along better now but are a little behind due to it being planted around June 5-10 after enough moisture was received to plant on," he explained.

Although, moisture prospects and progression of the crop are better than in recent years, producers are still faced with some challenging times. One major factor is the price of cotton.

"The U.S. cotton market is now an export market and we are tied to being able to get other countries to utilize our commodities," said Reynolds. This makes for a more volatile situation in terms of marketing and the price received by producers. Other things such as high fuel and production costs continue to challenge our producers on a daily basis.

"Cotton farming is not an easy living but it is a way of life and we should be proud of our Lynn County producers," said Reynolds.

McLelland Named Asst. Principal; Six Teachers Hired At Tahoka ISD

Superintendent Jimmy Parker reported to trustees at their Tahoka Independent School District meeting last week that Jennifer McLelland has been named Assistant Elementary Principal, and that five teaching staff members had been hired. Trustees also approved an additional staff member during the meeting for the new three-year-old program that begins this fall.

Mrs. McLelland, a 10-year teacher at Tahoka Elementary, was reassigned by the administration as Assistant Elementary Principal, at a pay salary of $45,000. She taught sixth grade most recently, and is filling the position vacated by Robert Webb, who was named High School Principal.

Shayla Erickson, of Tahoka, was hired as a teacher for the new three-year-old program to be offered at Tahoka ISD this year. The program is federally funded, and will be offered to those students who meet certain qualifications, according to Head Start program guidelines.

Supt. Parker also informed trustees that five other staff members had been hired, including three coaches. Elizabeth Boyd is the new head girls softball coach, a new program being offered this year in girls athletics, and she will also coach Middle School girls basketball, and teach

PE/Health at high school; Katie Kraft will teach high school Biology and coach Middle School girls basketball and assist in Cross Country and Track; Jonathan Gally will teach U.S. History and be an assistant coach in football, basketball, baseball and track; Regina Oliver will teach Chemistry and Physics at high school; and Lana Bowie will be an elementary teacher, probably in fourth grade.

The superintendent told The News that this should complete the teaching staff openings, although if the district receives grant funding for a reading program there may be an additional person hired at a later date.

Salary schedules were also considered, with trustees approving several changes. The band director's stipend was increased from $5500 to $6000 and contract days increased from 201 to 207 days, and librarian Carol Fancher's contract was increased from 202 days to 207 days. A $1,000 increase was added to the salaries of the Transportation Director and Director of Maintenance, and an additional 50-cents per hour was approved for the salary schedule for maintenance, custodians, and grounds personnel.

Trustees also made a unanimous decision to add a Step 21 to the teacher salary schedule, at $1000 above Step 20. The state mandates a 20-step pay schedule for teachers that generally covers the first 20 years of a teacher's salary. School districts may, at their discretion, add extended pay schedules for teachers who have taught beyond 20 years. Supt. Parker said there are approximately 13 teachers at Tahoka ISD who are at Step 21 or beyond, who have not had a pay raise since 1999 when they maxed out on the state salary schedule.

In other business, the 2004-05 Student Code of Conduct was approved as presented, and trustees moved to join a purchasing coop with Lubbock ISD. A milk bid from Thriftway was approved, and Business Manager Nathan Ehler presented the district's financial report for the month.

A budget workshop was set for August 2 at 6 p.m., and the next regular board meeting was set for Aug. 12.

Six of seven trustees were present for the two and a half-hour meeting that included a closed session of about 45 minutes for personnel discussions. Board President Math Bartley led the meeting, and other trustees present included Valton Stephens, Kent Kahl, Carmen Chapa, Jimmy Dorman and Frank McLelland. Trustee Joe Calvillo was absent.

MR. AND MRS. JEFF GRAHAM (Nee Tonya Forbes)

Graham, Forbes Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Tonya Kay Forbes of Lubbock and Jeffrey David Graham of Shallowater were united in marriage at 7:00 p.m. Saturday, July 3, 2004 at the First Baptist Church in O'Donnell. Ben Edwards of O'Donnell officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Penny Forbes, granddaughter of Charles and Sharon Gass and Mack and Donna Forbes and great-granddaughter of Geardean Vestal and the late Gurnie Vestal, all of O'Donnell. The groom is the son of Randy and Donna Arnold of Crosbyton; and grandson of Billy and Cora Simpson of Crosbyton and Mary Graham of Waco.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white-matte satin faux, two-piece gown which featured an off-the-shoulder neckline adorned with soutache intertwined crystal beads. A full a-line skirt cascaded to the floor from the basque waist and swept around into a cathedral length train, with matching headwork. She carried a clutch style bouquet filled with white tulips and roses encircled with red Gerber daisies.

In keeping with tradition "as something old" the bride wore her late great-grandmother Veneta Brewer's wedding ring; "something new" was her attire; "something borrowed" was her sister's veil; and "something blue" was her garter.

The church sanctuary was decorated with chiffon draped candelabras accented with red Gerber daisies; ferns on white columns marked the altar area; white satin bows marked the aisles and white pillar candles were in the windows. The registry area was filled with assorted glass towers of greenery and red Gerber daisies. Wreaths on the doors marking the entrance to the fellowship hall were placed in memory of the bride and groom's grandparents and great-grandparents.

A buffet reception was held in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Tamara Wilson and Korie Wilson, both of O'Donnell, registered guests. The bride's four-layered cake rested on a footed sterling silver base and was decorated with fresh red Gerber daisies. Servers were Miranda Popcoe of San Angelo and Tara Parker of Lubbock. The groom's three-layered red velvet cake featured the his initials and stood on glass blocks. Servers were Jill Clark and Katy Jo Yates, both of Lubbock.

Double Play

By Robert B. Parker

An astonishing creation -- part novel, part history, part memory ... a gripping crime novel and also one of the most evocative baseball novels ever written.

It is 1947, the year Jackie Robinson breaks major-league baseball's color barrier by playing for the Brooklyn Dodgers -- and changes the world. This is the story of that season, as told through the eyes of a difficult, brooding, and wounded man named Joseph Burke. A veteran of WWII and survivor of Guadalcanal, Burke is hired by the Brooklyn Dodgers manager to guard Robinson. While Burke shadows Robinson, a man of tremendous strength and character suddenly thrust into the media spotlight, the bodyguard must also face some hard truths of his own, in a world where the wrong associations can prove fatal.

The Night Golf event is sponsored by Kristin Box, who will be a freshman at Tahoka High School this fall, to raise funds for her to attend the Texas Young Leaders State Conference in Austin in mid-September. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Box of Tahoka, and was nominated for the honor by her teacher, Shirley Holloway, based on her academic achievement and leadership potential. Student delegates must pay their own expenses for the four-day conference, as well as travel expenses.

Entry fee for the Night Golf is $15 per person, with four-person teams. Call T-Bar Country Club at 998-5305 to enter, or call Kristin for more information at 561-5021. Glow-in-the-dark golf balls will be provided, but golfers should bring their own flashlights.

As a delegate at the TYLSC, Kristin will join other youth from the state in developing team building techniques, time management skills and communication skills, and skills for setting and achieving goals. State legislators and the governor will be notified upon completion of the conference and she will be awarded an official Certificate of Merit.

In addition to the night golf event, Kristin is planning other fundraising events, including a Bake Sale at Thriftway on July 31, and a Spaghetti Lunch to be held at the Church of Christ sometime this month. She is also seeking sponsorship from area service organizations and businesses.

Question: What are the consequences of gossip, backbiting and arguing among God's people?

Answer: God says to settle our differences face-to-face. He tells us not to speak evil of one another. How would we feel if we thought that our tongue was responsible for causing harm to another person's entire life? In the story of Jacob and Esau, their dad was supposed to speak out loud the birthright over the oldest son. The young son deceived his dad, who was blind. He made his dad think he was the oldest. Once the words came out of dad's (Isaac's) mouth he could not take them back. God saw to it the youngest received the birthright. It was a done deal. There is power to destroy people by uttering the wrong words. Words can condemn us or destroy us. Not only that -- they can destroy others. There is no way God will bless gossip or speaking evil of others. Even playing around, words can be destructive. If the body of Christ is to stay strong and be unified, the way God intends, we have to forgive and we have to control what we say about and to others. If we are to fill our pews we have to control our tongues. The unsaved recognize gossip as something a Christian shouldn't be doing. Let's woo them in -- and keep them by our good and decent conversation. GOD BLESS YOU.

New Cardiac Rehab Program Offered At Lynn Co. Hospital

by JUANELL JONES

Chest Pain. Heart Attack. Coronary Artery Bypass.

These are words that no one wants to hear, but if these are words that apply to you, the good news is that patients in this area won't have to add to their stress level by driving to Lubbock's busy medical centers for their cardiac rehabilitation program.

Lynn County Hospital District announces the opening of their Cardiac Rehabilitation Program, located in the west wing of the hospital patient rooms. The new program will provide personal one-on-one attention, flexible hours, and a low-key but highly professional approach to helping patients get back their lives while coping with heart-related problems.

Richard Tamplen is Program Director of the new facility. He has a Masters Degree in Cardiac Rehabilitation, and also has years of experience in actually building treadmills and other types of cardio vascular equipment designed for cardiac rehabilitation. He says he is pleased to be at Lynn County Hospital District to offer the personal attention that the smaller cardiac rehab centers can provide. He will work closely with the patient's physician to ensure that the rehabilitation program is working for each individual patient.

"I have programs that I have developed for rehab patients, but I will also do whatever the patient's doctor has ordered to help them gain back their lives," said Tamplen. "We offer not only physical rehabilitation, but try to help people learn to deal with the stress in their lives and to feel like they do have control over their bodies," he said.

"Most people who have had heart problems are scared that they can't return to their normal lives. When a new patient comes in, we not only talk about their physical condition but also about their hobbies, their family, their diet - I want to learn more about them personally so that we can help them with their stress levels and get back to life," Tamplen explained.

After the initial visit with patients, Tamplen will set up a rehab schedule - usually 36 sessions - and runs a stress test to determine each individual's heart patterns and stress levels. While the cardiac rehab program at Lynn County Hospital District may be housed in a small room with a select number of specialized equipment, Tamplen says he can run the exact same tests that patients would receive in larger centers but that, unlike most larger centers, he can provide one-on-one attention during the entire session.

"I'm here to monitor the entire session, talking with the patient and answering any questions he or she may have," Tamplen stressed. "Right now the smaller patient load ensures one-on-one sessions. Even when we get busier I hope to have no more than two-on-one, where I can visit with both patients while monitoring their progress," he added.

"The small towns are getting really popular for cardiac rehab programs because of the more personal attention to patients - I am looking forward to meeting the people here and working with them," said Tamplen.

Although he does not live in Lynn County, driving here from his home in Ransom Canyon, Tamplen already knows some of the hospital staff because his wife, Gina, is Physical Therapist at the hospital's Physical Therapy/Fitness Center on Lockwood. The couple has three children, ages 6, 5 and 3 years old.

He says that part of the stress of cardiac rehabilitation is that patients must travel to so many sessions to comply with the program, and that hopefully with a location in Tahoka the compliance will not be so difficult, especially for older patients who prefer not to drive in Lubbock.

"This program is not just for people in Lynn County, but any of the further outlying areas where patients needing cardiac rehab are having to travel to Lubbock. Hey, we're not Lubbock - it's easy to get here and parking is no problem," he explained with a smile.

Stress testing is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Lynn County Hospital District Cardiac Rehab center, with the regular monitored exercise sessions offered on Monday-Wednesday-Friday. Tamplen says the program is considered a Phase II program, where patients are continually monitored.

Patients may progress to Phase III at the Physical Therapy/Fitness Center on Lockwood, which offers rehabilitation programs on Monday-Wednesday-Friday afternoons. The Phase III is not continually monitored, but a close eye is kept on progress or setbacks, and any changes are reported to the patient's physician.

"All reports are sent back to the patient's cardiologist, and anytime we see something that may be unusual, we'll run a strip and send it to the cardiologist," Tamplen explained.

To contact Tamplen at the Lynn County Hospital District Cardiac Rehab, call 806-998-4533 ext. 213. The hospital is located at 2600 Lockwood in Tahoka. More information about the hospital is available online at www.lchdhealthcare.org.

DIRECTOR OF CARDIAC REHAB - Richard Tamplen is Program Director of Lynn County Hospital District's new Cardiac Rehabilitation program, which opened in mid-June. Tamplen has a Master's Degree in Cardiac Rehabilitation and says he is looking forward to offering one-on-one attention to patients suffering from heart-related problems. (LCN PHOTO)

County Purchases New Maintainer

Lynn County Commissioners met in regular session Monday morning, approving the purchase of a new maintainer for Precinct 4, at a trade difference of $56,000, to be financed at First National Bank of Tahoka.

A new computer and software for the County Treasurer's office was also approved, allowing the treasurer to purchase the package best suited for that office.

In other business, commissioners joined other counties in Texas in supporting a resolution requesting the Texas Department of Human Services to reconsider the closing of 217 offices throughout the state.

County Judge H.G. Franklin received a letter from the Texas Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC) that said that as a result of HB 2292 changes are being planned that include the closing of more than 200 local offices. One of the offices under consideration for closure is the office in Tahoka that employs three full-time staff, but staff members there said they have not received any official notification that the Tahoka office would close, or the date that such closure might occur.

The letter to Judge Franklin states that changes in the process will include internet access, call centers, mail and fax options; and face-to-face interviews at state field offices, which will be located so that consumer would travel no more than 5 miles for services in urban areas, 15 miles in suburban areas, and 30 miles in rural areas. Mobile offices will also help expand services in rural areas.

"We have not yet determined which offices may be closed or where offices would be located under the new model," said Albert Hawkins, Executive Commissioner, in the letter. "These changes will make the process much simpler for the more than 940 Lynn County residents who receive Medicaid, in addition to those who qualify for food stamps, TANF and other services," he added.

Another letter from the Texas State Employees Union, however, warned commissioners that the proposed changes would make access more difficult and amounts to an unfunded mandate on local governments. That letter asked county commissioners to support the resolution that Lynn County Commissioners approved.

"HHSC's letter to you fails to mention that as a result of its plan, about 4500 employees who staff local DHS offices will lose their jobs," the letter stated. "Any savings that accrue to the state will be offset by increased costs to local governments. People who need the assistance of local DHS workers to navigate the complex application process will not find the same level of help at call centers. Many will fail to complete the process ... others will be frustrated by long waits on the phone while trying to contact call centers and give up. These people will then turn to local governments for help, and local taxpayers will be forced to pick up the tab," the TSEU letter warned.

Family Violence Incidents Top Reports To Police

Incidents of family violence were reported to Tahoka Police during the last week, with one man arrested for striking his wife and two other domestic incidents resulting in warrants and sending cases to city court.

A 20-year-old Tahoka woman was treated and released at Lynn County Hospital Tuesday after the 1997 Chevrolet she was driving was involved in a collision. Carla Jolly was driving the Chevrolet when the collision occurred at the intersection of N. 1st and Ave. K. The driver of the other car involved, a 1987 Mercury Cougar, was Ronald Bright, 38 of Brownfield.

At Sweet Street Baptist Church last weekend, someone removed screens from four windows, broke two of the windows and smeared feces on the wall below one window.

Seven persons were jailed during the last week, including one on a grand jury indictment for sexual assault/incest with a child, three for driving while intoxicated, and others for unlawfully carrying a weapon, possession of a prohibited weapon and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Jail population as of Wednesday totaled 41, with 11 held for Lubbock County and seven for Garza County.

City Approves New Electronic Sign

A new electronic sign will replace the Town Crier sign at Tahoka City Hall, in a joint venture between the City and Tahoka Independent School District. The sign will have a three-line electronic display to announce city and school events, and is expected to be in place by the end of July. Both city and school entities are sharing the cost of the sign, which costs approximately $25,000.

City officials approved a request at their June council meeting by Richard Sanchez to allow a small fireworks display at the Tahoka High School homecoming pep rally and spirit fire, contingent upon Sanchez working with the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. Chief for safety issues.

A request from Pegasus Communications was approved at a special session on July 1, allowing the company to lease space on the city's water tower.

Tahoka City Council members and Mayor Mike Mensch met with city officials at the regular council meeting Monday night, approving Joe F. Hays, CPA as the auditor for the city's finances for 2004. Monthly bills were also approved, and the August meeting was rescheduled for the second Monday of the month.

MEMORIAL DEDICATION CEREMONIES SLATED - Dedication ceremonies will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, July 18 at the Draw-Redwine Memorial, erected at the Draw Cemetery in Lynn County in honor of war veterans who went to school at Draw or Redwine. The annual Draw-Redwine Reunion will held afterwards in Tahoka.

Draw-Redwine Memorial Dedication And Reunion Slated July 18th

Lynn County residents are invited Sunday, July 18, to attend dedication ceremonies of the Draw-Redwine Memorial, followed by the annual Draw-Redwine Reunion. Dedication ceremonies will be held at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the site of the Memorial, a 6-1/2 foot tall granite structure located at the entrance of the small cemetery in Draw.

To reach the Draw Cemetery from Tahoka, drive east on U.S. Hwy. 380 about 7 miles, and turn right at Farm Road 1054 where a sign says, "Draw." Continue south on FM 1054 about 10-1/2 miles, and the cemetery is located on the right, just past the Draw Methodist Church.

The Draw-Redwine Memorial, erected Oct. 15, 2003 in honor of war veterans who went to school at Draw or Redwine, lists 117 men and one woman who served their country in military service. The memorial was paid for by Draw-Redwine exes who met annually for their reunion, donating funds at each year's reunion for the memorial. Sunday's ceremonies will be followed by the annual reunion, to be held at the Tahoka Housing Authority building located at 1400 Ave. K in Tahoka.

Draw and Redwine schools were established in Lynn County during the early years after the county's founding in 1903. Children who lived in that area went to grade school at Redwine and attended high school at Draw.

Historical accounts note that Draw School District was established May 23, 1904, with school colors of red and black and a Longhorn as the mascot. In 1936, the high school at Redwine consolidated with Draw, with high school students attending Draw and elementary students staying at Redwine School. It is not known when Redwine School was disbanded, but in the fall of 1944 the entire Draw School was bussed to Tahoka.

By 1945 or 1946, the children were back at Draw, but in 1947 a petition was approved to consolidate Draw with O'Donnell school district. Jimmie Crawford, an ex-student who now lives in Muleshoe, said that when the Draw School closed in 1947, those who lived in the south half of the district went to O'Donnell schools and those who lived in the north half went to Tahoka schools.

Ex-students began having reunions in the 1950's, with the first events held in Lamesa and then at Tahoka and Post. Currently, the reunions are held in Tahoka on the third Sundays in July, with average attendance of 70-100 people.

"If you plan to attend the reunion, please contact Brenda Furlow at 806-428-3387, as she needs to turn in a head count to the catering service. We hope to see you at the dedication and reunion," said Jimmie Crawford, memorial chairman.
