Schools Offer Low Priced Insurance

Superintendent of Schools, Neal Dillman said this week that the schools are offering student accident insurance in Muleshoe Schools this year.

This program is a public service of the schools, for the convenience of students and parents. The insurance gives lower rate insurance for school children.

Two plans were offered in a fact sheet sent home with students Wednesday. The first plan is for 24-hour protection for one calendar year, at a cost of $10 per student per year.

Schools Need More Teacher Substitutes

Neal Dillman, superintendent of Muleshoe Schools, this week announced that additional substitute teachers are needed for the school system this year.

Anyone who is interested in substitute teaching should contact the superintendent's secretary as soon as possible, by calling 3-3890.

Dillman pointed out that the system prefers substitute teachers with at least 90 semester hours of college preparation or things will be taken into consideration when the schools require the services of a substitute.

teaching experience. Those interested should leave name, address, telephone number, and preference of level and subject matter to be taught. These will be taken into consideration when the schools require the services of a substitute.

Tour Of Local Farms Planned

Farmers, Grain and Seed Dealers and others are invited and urged to attend a short afternoon tour of early-planted hybrid sorghums planted in demonstrations on the Dee Holley, Jack Little Hryy Lee and Leon Lewis farms.

J. K. Adams, Bailey County Agent, will conduct the tour and explain the comparisons of ten top hybrids and varying rates of fertilization. Refreshments are planned enroute.

Planning Committee Needs Club Names

The planning committee of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade needs a list of all area clubs and the names and addresses of the club presidents.

The committee will appreciate all clubs sending this information to Mrs. Thurman White, 707 West Second St., Muleshoe, or calling 3-3700.

Quota Approved In Wheat Referendum

Texas wheat producers and those in the other 38 commercial wheat producing states voted on August 24 to continue marketing quotas on their 1962 wheat crops. In the nation, 79.4 per cent of those voting favored quotas and in Texas, 78.9 per cent voted yes, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. A two-thirds majority was needed to keep marketing quotas in effect, and to make operative the new wheat stabilization program.

Wheat producers will have to cut their acreage allotments by at least 10 per cent for 1962 and may, if they choose, take out a Plan two provides, accident while students are participating in or attending school sponsored and supervised activities, and while traveling to or from school for classes.

Protection is also afforded the student who is going to or from any school-sponsored and supervised activity, provided he is traveling as a member of a group under the supervision of the school. This plan also includes accidents occurring away from school premises when the student is participating in or attending any activity sponsored and supervised by the school.

Football players in the seventh, eighth, or ninth grades are covered by either of the two plans. High school football players are covered by a school-paid policy which covers football only.

Those students who anticipate participation in other sports will not be covered under this school paid policy, but will be covered by either of the two plans now being offered.

Each student will be given an identification card showing that he is covered by the school insurance policy. In the event of an accident, claim forms are available at any doctor's office or hospital in Muleshoe. These forms will be completed by the treating physician and returned to the school, which will mail the claim to the insurance company.

Dillman said the school system than collecting premiums disclaims any responsibility and mailing claim forms. It will be up to the individual to see that claim forms are completed after an accident.

Protection under the policy is good anywhere in the United States or Canada, Dillman said.

Deadline for returning applications for insurance is Wednesday, September 13. Applications must be returned to the home room teacher before 4 p.m. of that day.

All applications should be returned, regardless of whether the student is to be covered by the policy. There is a blank on the application which should be filled out in the event coverage is not desired.

Experiment Station Open House Sept. 19

"In the past decade, joint work by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, county agricultural agents and other research and educational agencies has added more than $106 million to the economy of a 20-county surrounding the Lubbock substation," said District Agent Welton H. Jones. "And Bailey county farmers, ranchmen and businessmen have come in for their share of the total," he added.

Jones urged Bailey county farmers and ranchmen to continue cashing in on late research information by attending the special field day slated for Tuesday, September 19, at the Lubbock Substation. "Here is a real opportunity to get first hand information straight from the horse's mouth," he said.

Complete information regarding the entire program and directions to the Substation can be obtained at County Agent J. K. Adams' office.

Local Sugar Beet Growers Ask New Quota To Allow Area Crop

Filled with cautious optimism over the prospect of growing sugar beets as a cash crop in this area, five Muleshoe farmers and businessmen returned last week from a hearing held in Denver before the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Those making the trip to Denver were Bobby Airhart, Harmon Elliott, James Glaze, Carl Barnert, and W. B. LeVeque.

They attended hearings at a meeting called by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to refinery at Rocky Ford, Colo., to obtain the views of growers and processors on the desires of the group for restricted acreage on sugar beet production.

It was the consensus of some 150 representatives from the 22 states participating in the hearing, that growers and producers do not want acreage restrictions on sugar beets.

The problem locally, that is throughout West Texas and eastern New Mexico, is getting the Sugar Act changed to allow production of sugar by new growers. The present Sugar Act expires in June, 1962, and has been extended and amended in its present form several times. Locally interested persons, working through the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association, want a new Sugar Act which would give part of Cuba's quota of world sugar beet new growers in the United States.

Among those testifying before the Secretary's Committee, were Jim Witherspoon, Lee Benefield and Henry Sears of Hereford, all of whom have been instrumental in the formation of 31 new sugar beet growers associations in West Texas and N. M.

The group from Muleshoe returned from their trip, which included a tour of the American Crystal Sugar Company's sugar refinery at Rocky Ford, Colo., optimistic over the chances for growing beets in this area, as well as the possibility of there being a sugar refinery built somewhere in the West Texas or Eastern New Mexico area.

A sugar beet refinery, such as the one at Rocky Ford, would process 2500 tons or more of sugar beets each 24 hours, and would employ 300 to 350 men during the manufacturing season, and 2250 men in caring for and harvesting the crop. Such a plant would produce from 6,000 to 7,500 one hundred pound bags of sugar each 24-hours and an additional 2500 to 3000 hundred pound bags of dried beet pulp for cattle feed.

Man Arrested For Hit-Run Driving

Highway Patrolmen James Freemana and John Bentley this week investigated two hit and run accidents involving a local resident.

Lloyd E. Spies, Muleshoe, was arrested Saturday for hit and run early the same morning. He admitted having driven a car borrowed from L. W. Routon, Clovis, which had been involved in two accidents that same morning, according to James Freeman.

The first accident occurred on U. S. 70-84, about eight and one-half miles west of Muleshoe, when Spies allegedly attempted to pass a car driven by Frankie Lang, also of Muleshoe.

The car driven by Spies was reported to have pulled sharply into the front fender of the Lang car. Spies dropped back slightly after the collision, then continuing on about one-half mile.

Progress Slow On Mule Statue Here

"The old gray mule, he ain't what he used to be," because now he isn't gray at all. He has stepped out of the back lot and right into high style, all dressed in bronze. Or at least that is the plan for him.

With headquarters in Muleshoe, the Mule Memorial Association is determined that the passing of the mule from the modern scene shall not go unnoticed or unremembered.

So far, the story of the Muleshoe Mule Memorial Association fund has seen print in such far-away places as The New York Times, the Fort Worth Star Telegram, papers in Chicago, Atlanta, and so on.

And it all started, for Muleshoe, when a fourth grade class at Richland Hills Elementary School heard of the plan by Dr. J. B. Barnett, Marlin, to build a monument to a mule.

Mrs. Middlebrooks' fourth grade class wrote a letter April 26, 1961, to Dr. Barnett saying, "We, the fourth grade students of Richland Hills School are writing you in regard to the Monument to the Mule. We would like very much to have it in our town."

The part of West Texas that has Muleshoe for the County east of Bailey County was a "Ranch" in the early 1900's. The town got its name from the Muleshoe Ranch.

We have 5,340 citizens, some cats, dogs, and three mules. Our boys' football team is called the "Muleshoe Mules", and so is their basket ball team. The girls' teams are called "Mullettes". The emblem for our basketball and football teams and also for our town is a Mule and Muleshoe.

We want to make a contribution to help build this monument. Please, put the monument here in Muleshoe where we believe it belongs and where the citizens would look at it with pride.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs. Middlebrooks Class

Location for the mule has not yet been decided on, but there are several possible sites. The monument is expected to cost about $15,000.

Jaycees Ask Lions, Rotary For Shootout

Dale Fischgrab, president of the local Jaycees, this week issued a challenge to the Lions and Rotary Club.

Challenging the two clubs to a shooting match on the Junior Chamber of Commerce skeet shooting field of honor, Fischgrab and the other Jaycees hoped to sharpen up shooting eyes for the dove season now in progress.

With five shots per man of each five-man team, the match will be scored by the team-score method, with team totals determining the winners.

Contestants will be given time to practice at regular rates prior to the match, with practice scheduled to begin at 2:30 Sunday and matches to start at 3:30 p.m. The skeet range will be open for other shooters after the matches.

Fischgrab stressed the safety of the matches, saying that only one loaded gun will be allowed on the range at any one time, and that gun must be pointed downrange. A safety officer will be on duty to see that all safety rules are followed to the letter.

The shooting match will be held on the east side of the dumpgrounds on the Sudan highway.

First Cotton Sold In Sudan

W. I. Nelson, Sudan, sold the first bale of cotton in Lamb County last week.

Nelson received the ginning free on this bale of cotton and was paid 50 cents per pound by Farmers Co-op Gin in Sudan. The bale weighed 515 pounds when placed on the scales at the Central-Compress and Warehouse at 11:02 a.m. Monday.

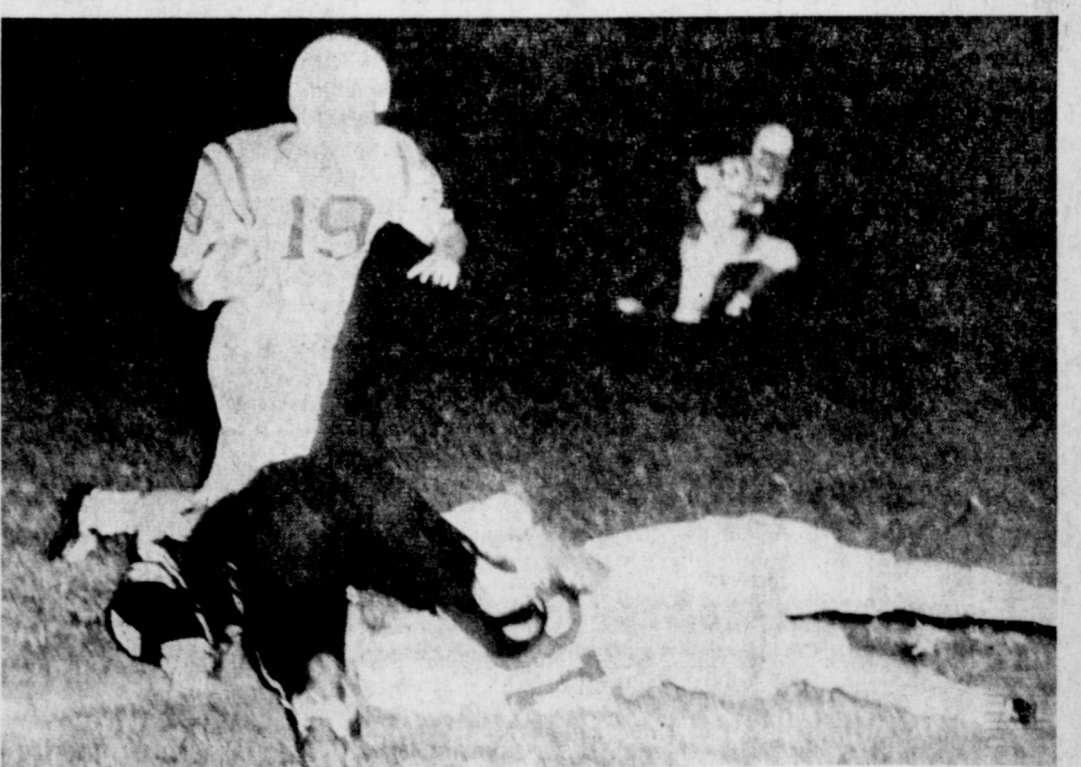

Nelson farms on irrigated land one and one-half miles north of Sudan, on a farm belonging to E. D. Jackson. He has been farming since 1924.

Mules Take On Littlefield Cats

The Muleshoe Mules take on favored Littlefield this Friday night at Littlefield with kick-off time slated for 8:00 p.m. This is the 17th meeting for the Mules and the Wildcats, which started in 1930. The Mules have never beaten or tied the Wildcats so from all indications the Mules will be in for a rough time.

According to Coach Taylor the Mules are in pretty good shape and with a little luck the Mules could bring home their first win.

Last week's encounter with the Clovis Wildcats showed 13 first downs for Clovis and eight for the Mules. The only counter for the Mules was a fifty-four yard scamper by halfback Jerry Gilbreath in the first half. The Mules went down 14 to 6, although they were touted to beat Clovis by two touchdowns.

GOOD BLOCKING by Clovis made a lot of difference last Friday night, when the Clovis Wildcats downed the Muleshoe Mules by a score of 14-6. Here a Clovis ballcarrier is shown taking advantage of this blocking early in the game to make a first down. (Staff Photo)

The Texas Circuit Number nine meet has adopted the theme, "Walk in the Name of Jehovah Forever."

Boyd Lowery, overseer minister of the Muleshoe Congregation of Witnesses, said "Jehovah's Witnesses' organization is designed to teach a unified program with a unified force in all of its 1,561 circuits throughout the world."

"Jehovah's Witnesses maintain," Lowery said, "that if a religion is worth believing it is worth practicing, and at these assemblies we have sessions demonstrating the proper procedure for giving three to eight minute sermons in the house-to-house ministry, 10 to 15 minute backcall sermons for those we find interested and home Bible studies for those who desire this service."

Lowery said, "Communism, materialism and other 'isms' can only be successfully combated with a firm foundation in Bible education and the assembly in Wichita Falls is designed to help us walk in the Name of Jehovah and announce His Kingdom as the hope of mankind."

Principal speakers for the conference will be Weldon L. Mackey, district supervisor of nine circuits in Texas and two in Oklahoma, and Raymond H. Smith, circuit supervisor of the 17 congregations in assembly.

The highlight of the conference will be 3 p.m., Sunday, when Mackey will speak on the subject, "The Twentieth Century in Bible Prophecy."

Mr. and Mrs. White, Mrs. Bert White and Debbie Wagon attended the wedding.

72 Teachers Learn To Teach Phonics

Superintendent Neal B. Dill-School District said that 72 teachers representing nine school systems in Texas attended the Reading Workshop held at the Muleshoe Elementary School Tuesday and Wednesday, August 22 and 23.

Mrs. Gladys Bartholomew, a teacher in the Norman, Oklahoma, Schools and Mr. Lew Adams, Arlington, Texas, were in charge of the course and presented the teaching of reading from a successful phonetic approach, entitled, "Phonetic Keys to Reading."

This new and outstanding program is used widely, not only in Texas, but throughout the United States, by schools determined to help pupils improve their reading, and spelling.

Briefly, the new approach is a balanced reading program that is based on the fact that first grade pupils should have a knowledge of the letters of the alphabet and the 44 basic sounds of these letters before he is taught to memorize words or to learn by sight and repetition.

The child learns the vowels first, then the consonants. Along with these sounds, a few powerful phonetic principles are taught, therefore at the very beginning, a first grader is given the key to unlocking or figuring out words for himself, and does not have to depend upon the teacher, or his parents to "tell" him words; moreover, he does not have to memorize words in order to read.

It eliminates tiresome word drills, needless repetition of the same words, phrases, and sentences found in many first grade books in use. When the basic vowel sounds (long and short) are learned, and all the consonants are mastered, a pattern of word analysis and word form including a systematic program of syllabication, prefixes, suffixes and compound words are taught. This basic and solid foundation is expanded and continued in a systematic manner in grades two, three and four.

Supt. Dillman points out that reading is the very basis of all education and that children taught by this program are able to read independently and widely in any series of textbooks, readers, reference books, etc., and do not have the reading problem or "breakdown" that often occurs in the upper elementary grades with the sight-memory method and only occasional phonics instruction.

Teachers from the following cities or schools attend the workshop: Muleshoe, 35; Sudan, 5; Hereford, 1; Friona, 5; Spade, 4; Springlake, 7; Earth, 5; and Plains, 10.

The following teachers from Bailey County were present: Mmes. Addie Mae Spence, Mary B. Obenhaus, Radie Boone, Kathryn Sanders, Janice Phillips, Lois Killingsworth, Owetha

Finley, Norma Prather, Roberta Stegall, Eva Rogers, Pauline Gwinn, and Letha Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Benefield, and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Laney, and Mmes Gussie Jennings, Lois Witherspoon, Elsie Kendall Estelle Fox, Margaret Slemmons Gladys Everett, Dorothy Beddingfield, Lula Vinson, and Alene Bryant.

Mmes Florene Pough, Joylene Costen, Lucille Shelby, Ruby Lambert, Maxine Harris, Christine Raven, Leota Hargrave, and Mary Maddox.

Also Messrs, Earnest Randall, Milton Oyer, Principal of Richland Hills; and Fred White, Principal of DeShazo.

Bates says that growers who need detailed information on the program should contact the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee men, the ASC office or the county agent. Dept. Of Labor Tries To Solve Age Problem

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg this week expressed the Administration's concern over problems faced by older workers and said the Labor Department has "mounted an offensive" to help increase their job opportunities.

Already, 20 per cent of all non farm job placements made by the Federal-State employment service represent workers 45 years of age and over, the Secretary said in testifying before a subcommittee of the Special Senate Committee on Aging.

He said the Department has taken steps to educate employers on the large potential available to them from the older worker resources of the country, and has been able to relax age restrictions in a number of important cities. In addition, it has initiated a broad program of research aimed at finding out the facts concerning older workers' abilities and productivity.

The Secretary said manpower development and training legislation proposed by the Administration would be a primary tool in providing opportunity to older workers, enabling retraining

Area Boys Enter Football Contest

Registration began Monday (August 28) for the nationwide Punt, Pass and Kick competition, in which Muleshoe area grade school boys, aged six through 10 can compete in a test of football skills for prizes ranging from football equipment to a trip to the National Football League Championship game and a visit to the White House.

Eligible boys may register, without cost, at Muleshoe Motors, between the hours of 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Each must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The Muleshoe competition is scheduled for Saturday, October 6 at the Muleshoe football field.

In order to help contestants train for the Muleshoe punting, passing and place-kicking competition, to be held early in October, each entrant will receive an instruction booklet containing tips by National Football League record-holders Johnny Unitas, Yale Lary, and Paul Hornung.

Pete Rozelle, Commissioner of the National Football League, which is cooperating with the Ford Division of the Ford Motor Company in this national competition, points out that the program will enable all boys to participate in athletic competition.

Briefly, the tactics used in passing the Feed Grain Program were to take what was available from the House and the Senate and to use a Conference Committee to write the legislation.

The Feed Grain Bill as it was finally passed was a less desirable piece of legislation than was the original bill offered by its supporters.

AGRICULTURE ACT OF 1961
It appears from a review of current news from Washington that the Agriculture Act of 1961, often referred to as the Omnibus Farm Bill, has been defeated. The credit for stopping this piece of disastrous legislation goes to the many individual farmers and ranchers who took the lead in educating their Congressional representatives in Washington, D. C.

Barley Is Added To Grain Program

Though barley ranks well down on the list of feed grains produced in Texas, many growers will soon have to make a decision on whether or not to participate in the 1962 feed grain program. Winter barley has been added to the program and seeding time is not far off.

The feed grain program for 1962 is about the same as the 1961 plan, but with winter barley added. The purpose is to reduce the total barley acreage while protecting the farmer with price support and conservation payments, say economists for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

To participate in the barley program a farmer must divert at least 20 per cent of his 1959-60 barley base and at the same time not increase his corn or grain sorghum acreage. The diverted acres must be put to conservation uses, the economists say. Payment for the first 20 per cent of diverted acreage will be figured on 50 per cent of the normal barley yield on the farm. Additional acreage may also be taken out of production at a higher rate of payment.

The economists advise farmers who are eligible to participate in the winter barley phase of the 1962 feed grain program to check with their local county agent or Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office for details on the program.

Cause Of Strokes Is Explained Here

More than 9,000 Texas men and women were fatally stricken last year by strokes. That is one of the most ominous words in the language today. What does it really mean?

The medical term is "cerebral vascular accident," because it is caused by cerebral vascular disease. The body's cerebral vascular system is the brain's network of blood vessels. Thus, cerebral vascular disease refers to diseases of vessels in the brain.

Brain cells require a good blood supply in order to work properly—more so than most other body cells. When something happens to that blood supply, the brain itself is impaired.

That something could be a hemorrhage, thrombus, embolus, compression or a spasm. Each one of those key words is a major cause of strokes.

A hemorrhage (bleeding) is the result of a break in a brain artery which allows blood to escape and damage surrounding brain tissue. Another name for strokes of this type is "apoplexy."

A thrombus is caused by a clot of blood forming in a brain artery, stopping the flow of blood to the part of the brain it supplies. But when a clot is formed in a diseased heart or elsewhere in the body and pumped to the brain to plug an artery, it is called an embolus.

A tumor, swollen brain tissue, or a large clot in another vessel may press upon a brain vessel to stop the flow of blood. This is called compression. A spasm is caused when a muscular artery constricts or tightens up, reducing the flow of blood to a particular brain area.

Most strokes do not produce immediate death. A large number of victims live for many years. An estimated two million people who have had strokes are alive in the United States today—many of them disabled because of it.

Present medical knowledge can prevent some but not all strokes. Certain conditions causing cerebral vascular disease—high blood pressure, for example—can often be helped by modern treatment, and several conditions associated with blood clot formation respond to anti-clotting drugs. Too, blood vessel defects with which some children are born can now be corrected by surgery.

Labor Secretary Lauds Labor For Anti-Communism

Chicago, Ill.—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said that organized labor "has engineered a respect and appreciation" among the uncommitted nations of Latin America, Africa, and Asia that has enabled it to "exercise an enormous influence in the fight against communism."

The Secretary spoke to the convention of the Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers International Union. He praised the union for its enlightened labor management policies which have helped to ease the impact of technological change in the oil industry.

"We live in a country which can boast the highest standard of living history has ever known," the Secretary said. "Your union has justly sought and achieved a fair share of that great abundance."

"But our prosperity is an exception, not the rule in a world where two-thirds of the population is underfed, underclothed, and underprivileged."

"The labor movement in the United States has long recognized this fact, which has become the basis for its policies and programs abroad."

"As a result, it has engendered a great respect and appreciation among peoples. Such high prestige has enabled American labor to exercise an enormous influence in the fight against communism."

"The rising uncommitted nations of Latin America, Asia, and Africa have become well aware of their alternatives—alternatives between the principles of communism and the principles of freedom, between the doctrines of Marx and Lenin and the writings of Jefferson, between the allpowerful State and free institutions in a free society. A part of their awareness is due to the efforts of men like Jack Knight (president of the Oil Workers Union and chairman of the AFL-CIO's Latin American Committee) and his colleagues in the labor movement."

"I am sure that American labor is proud of the Alliance for Progress and the Charter of Punta del Este recently concluded. It represents a progressive way of insuring social and economic justice to the working people of Latin America. The free trade unions of the United States and the free trade unions of Latin America will play an important role in bringing this about."

"Labor's interest in foreign affairs demonstrates that it rec-

Cotton Growers Institute Sees $3 Million Fund

A research and promotion fund approaching $3 million is foreseen by committee chairmen for the Cotton Producers Institute during its first year in the High Plains and District 6 of Texas, California, Arizona, and New Mexico.

Lubbock cotton grower Roy Forkner told the Board of Directors of the National Cotton Council today that initial success in organizing the plan in about half of the 22 counties in the High Plains "gives us confidence West Texas will support the Institute in its first year with at least a million bales of its production."

Russell Giffen of Fresno reported acceptance of the Institute by California growers has been "most gratifying" and that several members of the state steering committee are estimating at least 1,250,000 bales will be signed this year.

In another report, Keith Walden of Phoenix said Arizona is approaching a sign-up on 50 per cent of the crop and that indications are at least a half million bales will be subscribed to the program this year.

A statement by Delmar Roberts, Anthony, N. M., pointed out that based on grower enthusiasm, agreements in hand, and plans under way "we would be disappointed if District 6 of Texas and New Mexico did not contribute $400,000 to the program. Mr. Forkner told the Council Board the average cotton farmer is ahead of his leadership in doing things for himself.

"When you take him a sound, non-political business proposition such as the Institute, the most frequent comment we hear is: 'Why wasn't this program started earlier?'" he explained.

He added that Plains farmers like the idea of a voluntary program organized, financed, and controlled by growers. He commended the Council Board for making Council facilities and available at no charge.

"This has given us the necessary know-how and experienced personnel to inaugurate what now appears to be a very successful-going proposition," he said.

These two aids to kitchen cleanliness are used fully by Mrs. Bell — and her kitchen shows it — it's really clean.

Electric kitchen aids Mrs. Bell in devoting time to her two lovely children, Patty, age 5, and Randy, age 7. With sanitary electric dishwashing, colds are few and far between in the Bell household.

Advanced Standing Testing At Tech

Advanced standing tests in chemistry, algebra, trigonometry and English are being offered at Texas Tech September 12-13 to help talented freshmen students accelerate their college studies program.

The exams are important to students planning to major in science and engineering as well as those majoring in subjects in which ability in English literature and grammar is important.

All students who score in the upper 10 per cent of the College Placement tests may take the advanced standing exams in math and chemistry while those scoring in the top 5 per cent may take the advanced standing exam for English.

Successful completion of any of the examinations will permit freshman students to receive credit for the introductory courses and enable them to take advanced courses sooner.

Placement exams in foreign languages are being offered by Tech's foreign language department September 11. No credit is given for successful completion of the Spanish, French or Latin exams but the students may begin with a more advanced course in the foreign language in which they have a good high school background. They will avoid repeating course work similar to that covered in secondary school language courses.

Entering Tech freshmen that have not already done so will take College Placement exams from 8:45 a.m. until noon September 11. Those students planning to take advanced standing exams must sign up at their academic dean's office no later than 5 p.m. that day.

Tech's chemistry department will give its advanced standing exam from 7:45 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. on September 12. The tests are restricted to those entering freshmen who have had no previous college chemistry and at least one year of high school chemistry with a "B" or better grade average. Passing the exam will permit the student to enroll in a special section of Chemistry 142, and eight semester hours of college credit for Chemistry 14-142 will be given those satisfactorily completing this special course.

The advanced standing test in algebra will be given from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. September 12 to students who score approximately 90 per cent on the College Entrance math exam. The advanced test covers high school algebra, inequalities, determinants and elementary equations. Passing this test will give the student three hours credit in college algebra.

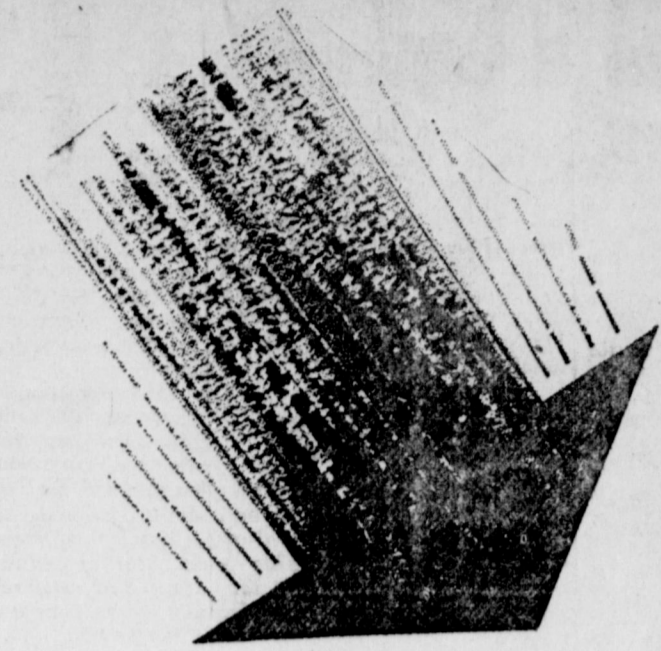

Tests for advanced standing in trigonometry will be given from 1:30 to 4 p.m. September 12 to those scoring 90 per cent on the entrance exam on math. Three semester hours of college trigonometry credit will be given those passing this exam. It covers high school trigonometry, complex numbers and DeMoivre's theorem.

On September 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., the advanced standing English exam is scheduled for those scoring 85 per cent on the English section of the entrance exams. Credit for the first semester of freshman English is given those successfully completing the exam.

"By spending a few hours reviewing high school math course work, good students may pass these exams and earn freshman level college credits," advised Robert L. Newell, assistant dean of engineering, "thereby enabling them to complete degree requirements earlier or to take extra work at the advanced level."

Consideration for others may delay traffic, but it also permits a few people to live out the full length of their normal lives.

Applicant for driver's license: "But, sir, I don't think I deserve a zero!" License examiner: "I don't think so, either, but it's the lowest grade I'm allowed to give!"

Off the Runways

Doings At Muleshoe Airport
By MRS. NOAH KINSER

Two aircraft mishaps have occurred, one on takeoff and the other on landing, with both pilots escaping injury.

Kenneth Precure, piloting a Luscomb, crashed on take-off from a private owned air strip located on the Kenneth Briscoe farm. During the take-off run, loose dirt on the newly constructed runway apparently caused the tail of the plane to begin a side to side movement.

Both factors resulted in lack of sufficient ground speed at the point of takeoff. The Luscomb cleared the ground briefly, then came back down with the propeller hitting the ground. The plane nosed over, damaging the wings, tail and propeller.

Flying the Muleshoe Flying Service Super Cub, Norman Beauchamp was attempting a landing on a rural road near the J. C. Gatewood home when the plane went out of control and careened across a ditch and into a field.

The Cub did not capsize and minor damage was done to the shock covers and the landing struts.

The plane was flown back to the Muleshoe airport by Fred Boyd, A&E Mechanic, for repairs.

Morgan Locker flew to Port Aransas in the Comanche last Monday where he spent three days as the guest of Roy Neal, Piper distributor of Lubbock, at their Sea Gull Cottage on the island.

The Neal family and Locker fished approximately 8 miles out in the Gulf and their catch of King fish and Mackerel ran well over 100 pounds daily.

Locker and Neal fished at night at the edge of the ship channel and noted the passing of many large ships from various ports; the largest being one from Hamburg, Germany.

Locker said the shrimp boats going out to sea at sundown was spectacular. Hundreds of boats leave the shore and could be seen in every direction just as far as they could see. About one-fourth of the nations shrimp boats are based along this coastal area of Texas.

Also on vacation at Port Aransas was the Edwin Nisler family from Maple. Locker visited with them and they had caught several hundred pounds of fish that they were bringing home.

Locker returned to Muleshoe Wednesday night by way of Lubbock, bringing Mrs. Neal home. They brought 500 pounds of fish back.

Christian Science Service

Effective prayer will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance."

Scriptural readings will include the account in Luke of the Master's parable about the two men, one a Pharisee and the other a publican, who went up into the temple to pray.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 21): "What are the motives for prayer? Do we pray to make ourselves better to benefit those who hear us, to enlighten the infinite or to be heard of men? Are we benefited by praying? Yes, the desire which goes forth hungering after righteousness is blessed of our Father, and it does not return unto us void."

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (3): "We are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence steadfast unto the end."

EASTERS VISIT HERE
Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Easter and children and Charles Echem of Pasadena, Texas, visited in the home of her father, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Owen, over the weekend.

They also visited in the homes of her sisters and brothers and other relatives.
They returned home Monday.

Highway Patrol Radar Use Checks Speed, Saves Lives On Texas Roads

by GARY STONE

Department of Public Safety officers this past Labor Day Weekend staged an all-out campaign against traffic violators in an effort to hold down highway fatalities in the state.

This reporter spent two hours Saturday with the local Highway Patrolmen, James Freeman and John Bentley, as they worked the little black box called radar.

About 3:30 p.m., Saturday, Sheriff Clements called at The Journal office and we loaded cameras and notebooks in his car. He headed out the Sudan highway, where the radar was already set up and in operation. We knew the radar car was lying in wait for speeders, yet didn't see the set or the car until we were already on it.

Had we been a speed law violator, we would have been caught before we saw the setup. Not that it was hidden, exactly, because it wasn't. The radar sending-receiving set was in plain sight at the side of the highway and the radar car was parked off to one side. One might say the car was strategically placed so as to be inconspicuous.

Going on down the road, we soon came to the patrol car, or catch car. Patrolman Freeman had two cars pulled over at the time of our arrival. All cars stopped by the Patrol are given tickets if there is a clear violation. Some are only given warning tickets, however, as their violations may not be serious enough to warrant a fine.

While Patrolman Freeman was writing up the ticket on the last car he had stopped, the short wave radio blared as the radar operator, John Bentley, clocked a trailer truck speeding down the highway. As the truck approached, Freeman stopped writing and motioned the truck to the side of the road.

Speeders showed different reactions to being stopped. Some clearly were angry, others were probably thinking of the imminent rise in their insurance rates. Still others were embarrassed. One lady cried and one man laughed. Another man, who has been stopped before by the local Highway Patrol unit, took the whole thing calmly as he received his ticket for speeding at 80 miles per hour. Freeman remarked that this man is a chronic violator and will probably suffer one of two things. He will either lose his license or his life if he continues to flagrantly violate the speed laws.

PURPOSE TOLD
"Our job," said Freeman, "is not to harass the motorist, or to punish him for wrongdoing when he speeds. We are here to slow traffic down to a safe speed." By safe speed, Freeman meant a speed to match road conditions. Slick pavement, such as that caused by rain or ice, will not allow the same speeds as will good road conditions.

SIGNALS MAY KILL
When asked about the various "signals" motorists give when radar is in operation, Freeman again stressed the object of safety. Contrary to rumors, there is no law against hand signals, signals with lights or other such signs given as warning by drivers.

"The only objection we have to these signals," Freeman stated, "is the fact that the warning may keep someone from being stopped only to have him lose his life. The warning may be received by an habitual violator who will speed back up after passing the radar unit. He may later be involved in an accident and cause innocent people to suffer."

Freeman said this defeats the entire purpose of the Department of Public Safety. "The only way we have of controlling these habitual violators is thru tickets. When a violator received a certain number of tickets, he loses his privilege of driving. If not for this one factor, signals from motorist to motorist would be a big help to the Highway Patrol," Freeman continued. "They will slow a driver down who has inadvertently let his speed go higher than he realized."

Freeman went on to say, however, that roadside signboards saying "Radar Ahead" are illegal. Any unauthorized sign on a public roadway is punishable by law.

THEY FACE REALITY
During the two hour radar check on Highway 84, numerous violators were stopped. Some of these received warning tickets, while others were issued citations. During this same two hours, violators were proceeding to speed throughout the remainder of the county, the state and the nation. Certainly not all violators can be apprehended, as Freeman and Bentley admit. They are realists and do not believe they can hope for an absolute control of speed violators. Yet they continue to work diligently in an effort to hold the violations down as much as a manpower shortage will allow.

OVERWHELMED
Highway Patrolmen in the state number about 700. With close to 5 million resident drivers in the state, the odds are great against even substantial control. Each Patrol unit has an average of 300 miles to patrol. Since any one unit can control only about two miles of highway at any one instant, this leaves an average of 298 miles unchecked at all times per unit.

Patrolman John Bentley believes the Highway Patrol does a remarkable job under the circumstances. He cited estimates of a 6 per cent control of violators throughout the state. These

Drivers License Fee Goes Up

AUSTIN—The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded Texas drivers today an increase in license fees has been ordered by the Legislature effective September 1.

The Texas operator's license on and after that date will be increased from $2 to $3 for a two-year period, the commercial driver's license will increase from $3 to $4.50 for a one-year period, and the chauffeur's license will go up from $4 to $6 per year.

The fee for a duplicate of a lost license will remain at 25 cents.

"We urge all drivers to be sure they send the right amount in said Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., DPS Director. "Those which are accompanied by the old fee after September 1 will have to be returned to the sender, causing unnecessary delay and inconvenience."

He said the $3 two-year operator's license will still be lower than the fees in 12 other states, and will be exactly the same as in five other states. He reported Texas now has 4,838,000 currently licensed drivers.

"Incidentally," said Garrison, we would like to urge drivers to take care of their licenses, in spite of the fact that it only costs 25 cents for a replacement. Last year we received 85,000 applications for duplicates of lost or mutilated licenses."

estimates are from hidden checks by Highway Department engineers who set up radar checks for the purpose of designing better highways.

ALWAYS READY

With traffic deaths listed as the number one killer in the state of Texas, Highway Patrolmen such as Bentley and Freeman remain constantly alert and ready for an emergency. Labor Day and other holidays increase the chances for death to find a shoulder to tap.

These dedicated officers know that speeders invite death every day, so they work every day to try to slow speeders down. Radar is the biggest Mansaving device they use in this fight against traffic death.

CHECKING WITH RADAR — Highway Patrolman James Freeman checks with Patrolman John Bentley to determine the speed of an oncoming car. Short wave radio, used in conjunction with the radar

AND ANOTHER SPEEDER FEELS THE PAIN of a ticket being written by Highway Patrolman James Freeman, who operated the stop car in the radar setup Saturday on the Sudan Highway. This motorist, whose violation was not serious enough for a fine, was given a warning

Sales Tax Blues

Muleshoe merchants and customers are, by now, thoroughly confused by the new sales tax. One local store has signs on the cash registers saying, in effect, that the store employees are even more confused by it all than are the customers.

Speculation concerning the eventual fate of the sales tax is a common bit of conversation all over town. Most people seem to think a general sales tax will be put into effect in the next session of the Texas Legislature. Many people think this would be the best thing. Seems to us, however, that a few months ago people were against any kind of sales tax. Now they are resigned to having some kind of sales tax, so they are dreaming up ideas about which kind they would prefer.

Granted, all taxes are abominable to most people, but they are a necessary evil if we are to run our governments. And we suppose the question really is, "Which is the best?"

Nevertheless, we have a sales tax of 2 per cent that is supposed to raise $319.3 millions, according to the estimates.

Consumers will, fortunately, be able to deduct this sales tax from the federal income tax. And most of the basic necessities such as food, medicine, drugs, clothing up to $10, and various other items will not be taxed under the new sales tax law.

It all boils down to this: Our representatives in the Texas Legislature—State Senate and House alike—voted for this law. Since they represent us, they actually voted for us. In effect, WE voted for this law. Now many of us don't like the law. (Would we have liked any other law?)

Yet it is our law. We voted for it, so to speak, so it is our own. Now there is only one thing to do—get used to it, live with it and do the best with it that we can.

Meanwhile, customers should realize that merchants are not yet accustomed to collecting the tax. Mistakes are bound to happen until everyone knows what to tax and how much. Be patient.

For some assistance in learning how much to tax, The Journal is this week printing a tax table. The question of WHAT to tax is still a mystery to some of us, and will be until State Comptroller Calvert issues a statement to settle the issue once and for all.

Babson Discusses:

Supermarkets And You

BABSON DISCUSSES SUPERMARKETS
 Babson Park, Mass., The New York Stock Exchange roughly divides into 50 groups the approximately 1500 stocks which are listed there. The electronics and the oils are the most active, but the retail stores have shown the most steady progress. This group includes the supermarkets, of which there are about 25 large chains.

SUPERMARKETS ARE A MONOPOLY
 A successful supermarket must have three requirements: (1) It must be located in the center of a growing population, (2) it must have a very large parking space, (3) it must be financed slowly out of its own growth. This means that a successful supermarket is more or less a monopoly after a sufficient number of successful years.

As our population increases it becomes constantly more difficult to secure a sufficiently large and central location. Furthermore, these locations are constantly becoming scarcer and much harder to find near the residential sections. At one time we thought that "off street" parking lots would satisfy city shoppers. Unfortunately, however, women with children do not want to travel from an "off street" parking lot to the supermarket. They insist on parking directly on the land of the supermarket where a boy can wheel the purchases to the woman's car and where there is, no time limit or parking fee.

IMPORTANCE OF FOOD
 Food is the most important of all commodities. The farmer should receive more than he does, but his price is not for him to determine. The party who makes money on food is the middleman, who buys when and where food is cheapest.

Another commodity that had had a steady increase in demand is electricity. Hence I like supermarkets as a speculation and the cumulative preferred stocks of public utilities for steady income. To keep track of your investment, buy the common stock of the supermarket with which you trade and the preferred stock of the company which supplies your electricity and bills you each month.

WHAT ABOUT SHOPPING CENTERS?
 Shopping centers are popular at the present time. But only the ones properly located have been successful. Merchants located in these shopping centers are doing much better than the downtown stores. Many of the old-fashioned city stores which have no parking facilities are making most of their money today from their suburban branches that have limited parking facilities. Therefore, the shopping center has its limitations.

If a shopping center is too large, it becomes less desirable to many women shoppers. Many shopping centers today are doing 75 per cent of their business on Friday and Saturday. Then the father, mother, and children all go together and make a day of it. All of this brings us back to the value and convenience of the supermarket which is properly located in a residential district and which has already purchased a large amount of land that will permit free parking for many years to come.

AN INVESTMENT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Young married couples are learning that by living close to a modern supermarket (like the new Stop and Shop Markets) they can get along without cooking. The father can get his own breakfast; lunch is a simple meal; and a freshly baked apple pie and a complete dinner may be secured from the supermarket. As a result, the small houses surrounding the supermarket have almost doubled in price. This increase in demand comes primarily from living so near a supermarket. But, of course, the supermarket is gradually buying houses adjoining its land.

A young married couple should first put their money into simple life insurance, which can now be bought very cheaply. Next, always have a reasonable deposit in a local bank for emergencies. The best plan of all, however—both for the convenience and as a good investment for appreciation—is to own a small house next to the land for a supermarket. Furthermore, if a family decides to move to another city for business reasons, there is always a good demand for such property. In short, I am bullish on good supermarkets and the neighborhoods in which they are located. But one should avoid newly organized supermarkets.

Sandhills Philosopher:

Suggests World's Crises Be Put On Quota, Like Farming

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has an odd notion this week, but there's nothing odd about that.

Dear editor:
 I'm not telling anybody how to run a newspaper, but as a farmer who knows what it is to be a victim or over-production, at least somebody else's over-production, I would like to suggest to the newspapers of this country, especially the big city dailies, that the crisis market in this world is being swamped and if it keeps going like it has the past few months newspapers are either going to have more crisis news than they can handle or the people are going to get tired of reading about it.

In fact, after reading all the headlines about Berlin, Cuba, Brazil and, a few months back, the Congo, Egypt, and all those world-shaking events which sound like they have now faded from memory, I have come to the conclusion that what the world needs is a crisis quota. Running a country is not much different from running a farm; very few people can do it successfully. So, the world ought to be divided up into twelve zones, and only one zone allowed to have a crisis at a time, and that one limited to one month. Any time a crisis can't run its course in a month, somebody it just hogging the news. Thus we'd have only twelve a year, and never more than one at a time. You take a country whose crisis allotment comes in January, and it gets to itching to have one in November, it'll just have to wait. There's nothing worse or harder on newspaper readers than having two or three crises at the same time, not to mention how hard it is on Washington to get enough officials to fly to them, or on the newspapers to find enough reporters to cover them all.

Oh, I know some people will say we could save money by having one diplomat attend to three or four crises on the same trip, but it's asking too much, he'll get home and start trying to remember how much money he promised which country. One crisis a month, twelve a year, ought to be the maximum. Other wise the crisis business is going bankrupt. Over-production can play thunder with the crisis market the same as it can with us farmers, and everybody knows the world can't stand to be in the same shape farming's in.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Today's Meditation

Read Romans 1:9-16

I am not ashamed of the gospel: it is the power of God for salvation to every one who has faith. (Romans 1:16.RSV.)

On one of my preaching errands, a Muslim asked me to tell about the transforming power of Jesus Christ. I gave him the following reply, based on personal experience of Christ's saving power.

The moment a man believes in Christ, his duty lies in the direction of the individuals around him and in the business of life. The battle is never finished in our own salvation alone. We become God's chosen instruments for transforming this world.

The saving power of Jesus must go down into society and change it at the very roots. The very first step that a man takes when he becomes a Christian, after the regeneration of his heart is to carry those regenerating forces into the world. Wherever the Christian goes and whatever he does, the light of that redeeming power is to shine continually. It is to shine on business, on love, on pleasure, on wealth—on everything.

This transforming power is the greatest need in this atomic age.

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee that through Thy Son all men can be transformed. Help us to become channels for the spread of Thy transforming power. In Christ's name. Amen.
THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Christ, the Savior of the world, comes to sinners with His transforming power.

61.3 Per Cent Above $4,000

Local People Are In Higher Bracket

According to a nationwide survey, Bailey County has more of its families in the "over $4,000" income brackets and a smaller proportion of them in the lower income groups than have most places in the West South Central States.

Locally, the trend has been toward bigger incomes in recent years, with the result that families have been moving up to higher brackets.

How they stood at the beginning of this year is revealed by Sales Management in a copy-righted report that details, for every section of the country, what portion of its population falls within each of the income categories.

The report gives a clearer meaning to the term "average income" as applied to a particular community. It shows whether the average represents earnings that are well distributed or whether it represents a few families with high incomes compensating for a large number with meager earnings.

In Bailey County the balance is good and the average relatively high. Some 61.3 per cent of the local households now have cash incomes, after taxes, of $4,000 or more.

That is a better situation than prevails in most parts of the West South Central States, where only 52.2 per cent of all households are in the "over $4,000" brackets. In the State of Texas there are 56.6 percent.

Is the trend toward higher incomes in the United States purely a product of inflation or has it produced real gains for people? The economic reports show that there has been a substantial improvement in living standards for the average American. He has more discretionary income left, after paying for the necessities, than ever before.

The current survey lists 13.3 percent of Bailey County households in the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket. As a unit, they account for 18.3 percent of all local income.

Those with cash earnings of $2,500 to $4,000 a year comprise 22.8 percent of the households. They garner 12.3 per cent of the local income.

The 61.3 percent who are in the groups with earnings above $4,000 receive 83.7 percent of the total income.

It pays to look your best before crossing the street.

Manners, wrote Lord Moulton, noted British jurist and parliamentarian, is obedience to the unenforceable. Like traffic laws, maybe?

Columnist Henry McLemore: "It's entirely possible to be killed at 10 miles per hour, but it's nowhere near as assured as at 70 or 80!"

Nearly all drivers know right from wrong in traffic, but some of them just hate to make a decision.

Stone's Throw

by GARY STONE

Just a few short weeks ago this newspaper attempted to cause some thought on the matter of a new library for Muleshoe. Little action was stimulated by this attempt.

But let someone propose a monument to a mule and everyone is all for it. People get together and work to raise money, worry about whether to have it equipped to bray on the hour, argue over how big it should be and how much it should cost, start telling mule stories and just generally make a big deal of the whole matter.

Perhaps this just proves that mules are more important than children. Or maybe people are just thinking of economies. In the back of many minds is the thought that the mule monument will bring tourists to Muleshoe, that these tourists will spend money and that some of the money will get in each person's pocket. I find this logical and natural. I find it quite practical, in fact.

I am not against the monument to the mule. I am, in fact, all for it, because some of those tourist dollars just might find my pocket, too. But I am also for a new library. How many of my readers are? Will those who donate money for the mule donate a like amount toward a new library? If they will, I have a proposal to make. Wouldn't it be the best thing for the mule if he were in a nice atmosphere such as that around a library? Of course, this would be a novel thing for a mule, but the mule might appreciate it. After all, I have heard my grandfather talk about how muleskinners cussed at those mules. Profanity would, of course, be prohibited in the vicinity of the library and mule, so the mule's ears would be rested from the language he is accustomed to hearing.

My rock for the week is just this: all the stories going around tend to make the mule out to be a very lovable animal. If the mule was so lovable, why did those muleskinners cuss so?

Litterbugs, Beware!

Through Arizona and California on a trip to the coast recently my good wife, dog, and I, observed how determined they are to stop activities of the "litterbug". Here in Texas we are in the midst of a stepped up educational campaign; out there they have signs reading like this "Litterbugs: You may be fined or imprisoned for throwing litter on highways and streets."

Other signs at intervals read: "Litter deposit 1/2 mile." You better carry a litter bag in your car, put everything to be discarded therein, then stop and deposit the accumulation in the designated receptacles.

It's having its results. Highways and highway right of way are as clean as madam's floor. No cigarette butts on these beautiful roads, no candy wrappers, no fruit peelings, no nothing. I believe if the enforcement people were to find an empty beer can they'd pick it up for possible fingerprinting, trace it to wherever fingerprints are recorded, find the culprit and try to send him to Alcatraz. Maybe not quite that but they mean it and don't forget that.

No Boondoggle, Our Roads
The national road building campaign is creating fabulous results. We traveled 80, which becomes 84 at Tucson, Pretty, pretty, pretty is all you can think to say. There are signs like this: "The next 25 miles complete with controlled access."

We're on 84, too, and we're about to four-lane a section of this road in our county, already have completed this work on about 8 miles, east of town, but we won't have controlled access because here 84 or 79 are designated as part of the Interstate Road System. I wish they were. I'm for controlled access.

I told Morgan Locker, our airport man, I'd never cross that expanse of desert again by auto. He said there are too many people on our roads, we ought to get them into the air, and said he'd be very glad to help in the matter, strange as that may seem.

I saw two road camps between Ruidoso and Roswell, their equipment about equalling that of a regiment of Field Artillery. They build sections of the road at a time; in the time it takes to eat a hamburger, the road is ready for travel, or so it seems.

Motels Are Changing
Great motel chains are changing things for tourists. At Las Cruces our room in Holiday Inn faced the swim pool, only a few feet away, with raucous cries and noise galore, not on scintilla of which reached our ears. The place is soundproof. While we ate our evening meal, a group came on to rehearse their upcoming dog show, but though only a glass was between us and the goings on, we heard nothing.

The waitress said the motel is used for such community purposes often. The night before she said, some club staged a dance right where the dog rehearsal was being held, and although they had a live orchestra, no guest had his rest disturbed.

It surprised me, who doesn't get to travel much, that our dog was invited to share our room with us. She ate and drank from containers we placed on the tiled floor of the dressing room; but seemed to prefer to use outside bathroom facilities.

I noted on literature that Holiday now has 190 motels in operation, 150 a building. There are other great chains with units across America. A room in Las Cruces Holiday would rent in a Holiday Inn at Greensboro, S. C. for the same fee, and the management and service would be very much the same.

Well, the motel industry is said to be the fastest growing industry in the U. S. Fortunes will be made in the big chains; fortunes conceivably could be lost by the individual who judges wrong. In some ways, the motels are becoming community meeting places like the hotels were in my young days. The motel is a part of community life.

High Priced Land?
In Chula Vista, a 48,000 pop. San Diego suburb, our niece, a real estate sales woman, told me she had to get and go, for she had an appointment to get buyer and seller together. I said what is being offered for sale. She said 10 acres of local vegetable growing land. I said what's the asking price? She said $60,000, and a bargain, too, for the buyer.

I assured her that potentially good vegetable growing land can be held here in the Muleshoe area for $200 to $500 per acre. She seemed to think there is something wrong with our land.

But there isn't. It's only the market situation that keeps our vegetable growing land from selling for much, much more money. If things go well, who can say what Muleshoe area land is worth now and in the future. With the population growing and more mouths to feed than ever dreamed of, who can say whether our land won't be worth and sell for $1,000 per acre and more.

There must be some 1,500,000 people in the immediate San Diego neighborhood, and it's said to be one of our fastest growing areas. S. D. is already a big industrial manufacturing center, but they have what the papers call "BIG," big industrial growth in the works right now. But to heck with the cities, they're to look at and then come home.

It takes longer to go fishing in Chula Vista, although San Diego's Lake Otay is only 6 miles away, than it does on the Plains. Criminy, that traffic, and when you get to the site you have to drag up and down those steep slopes.

We went out to Point Loma, the southernmost place in the U. S., I guess and climbed to the top of the old, old lighthouse to watch the Navy Carrier Coral Sea come into the bay from the Pacific.

The lighthouse is a feature of the Cabrillo Monument, and I have always wondered why the Federal Government chooses to call certain places parks, other places monuments. The man in charge, Mr. Lessieurs, claims San Saba, Texas, as his home.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS: COUNTY OF BAILEY NOTICE OF EXECUTION SALE

By virtue of an execution issued out of the County Court of Bailey County, Texas, on a judgement rendered in the County Court of Bailey County, Texas, on the 8th day of May, 1961, in the case of Fry & Cox Bros. against W. M. (Bill) Rutherford, in the case of Fry & Cox Bros. and against W. M. (Bill) Rutherford, No. 620 in such court, I did on the 29th day of July, 1961 at 9:30 o'clock a.m., levy upon the following described lots, tracts and parcels of land situated in the County of Bailey, State of Texas, as the property of said W. M. (Bill) Rutherford, to-wit:

All of Lots Nos. 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 44, 46 and 48, Block No. 4, Pear Streets in the town of Progress, Bailey County, Texas, and all of Lots Nos. 25, 27, 29, 31, 33, 35, 37, 39 and 41, Block No. 4, Prune Street in the town of Progress, Bailey County, Texas, as shown by plat of said town of Progress of record in the Deed Records of Bailey County, Texas.

and on the 3rd day of October, 1961, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and 4 o'clock p.m. on said day, at the courthouse door of said county, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said W. M. (Bill) Rutherford in and to said property in satisfaction of said judgement in the sum of $381.99, with interest thereon at the rate of 6% per annum from date of judgement until paid, attorney's fees in sum of $100.00, and the further sum of $13.50 costs of suit and the further costs of executing this writ.

Dated at Muleshoe, Texas, this 17th day of August, 1961.

Dee Clements, Sheriff of Bailey County, Texas 36-3te.

since his wife is a native of that city. He told me the Cabrillo Monument, named for the sailor who first saw California, contains 80 acres and standing away at S. D., I never dreamed there was that many acres in all Point Loma.

But Point Loma must have around 100,000 inhabitants; if you add that population, plus Chula Vista and National City, and other growing centers adjacent, there must be as many people living in the Bay area as we mentioned above.

We drove from Point Loma up the Pacific coast to La Jolla, always my favorite spot. If I could rent an apartment and I could for $2,000 a month, overlooking the Pacific, I'd be living high on the hog, and I'd enjoy watching those green waves break on LaJolla's shore forevermore.

A More Prosperous Community Doesn't Guarantee

Happiness

...but it helps

The recipe for true happiness calls for various ingredients to satisfy different people . . . just as cakes are baked with a variety of frostings and flavorings to please different palates. But . . . with cakes . . . the basic ingredients are always about the same . . . flour, sugar, shortening, etc. Much the same thing is true of happiness.

- No matter what type of trimmings each of us may prefer on our individual happiness, the fundamental elements are about the same for all . . . good health, a good job or a prosperous business, adequate schools for our children, strongly supported churches in which to worship . . . and many good neighbors, friendly and secure.

- These latter things . . . call them the material essentials to happiness, if you will . . . can be assured by a substantial and ever-growing trade volume in our community. Which we, ourselves, can create if all of us spend our money here . . . where we live and make our living. Spending away from home strengthens the foundations of our city neighbors' happiness, and weakens our own.

New Sales Tax Answers Given

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON THE NEW TEXAS LIMITED SALES EXCISE AND USE TAX

(1) When does the tax go into effect?

September 1, 1961.

(2) How much will this new sales tax cost me?

That will depend on how much you earn, how much you spend of what you earn, how you spend it. You may pay substantially more one year than you do the next because you happen to buy furniture or some other major item of taxable merchandise one year and not the next.

On the average, however, the American people spend about 24 per cent of their total income on items subject to this tax. This means that a man with an income of $5,000 a year will spend about $1,200 on taxable goods and will pay an annual sales tax of about $24.

(3) What are the main things on which I will pay the sales tax?

Furniture, household and kitchen appliances, most clothing, restaurant meals and electric and gas utility service.

(4) What are the main things on which I will not pay the sales tax?

Groceries, housing (whether you own or rent), medical and dental expenses, insurance, telephone service, your car and the gasoline you buy to run it.

(5) Why won't the tax apply to a car?

Because motor vehicles have been subject to a selective sales tax in Texas since 1941. That tax is now at the rate of 1 1/2 per cent and will not be increased by the new sales tax bill. Because the state already levies taxes on such things as cigarettes, gasoline and beer, they too will be exempt from the new sales tax.

(6) What about a television set which is already subject to a state tax?

The new sales tax will apply to television sets, but the old state tax has been repealed. Actually the tax on television sets radios, and air conditioners is reduced from 3 per cent to 2 per cent by the new tax bill. The tax on cosmetics is reduced from 2 1/2 per cent to 2 per cent.

(7) How will I pay the tax?

When you buy something that is taxable, the retailer will add the tax to the purchase price. He will determine the correct tax by applying a tax "bracket" stated in the law. For example, purchases under 25 cents will not be taxed. If the price is between 25 cents and 74 cents you will pay a tax of one penny; the tax will be two cents on items costing from 75 cents to $1.24, and so on. Over the long haul, this bracket system is designed to average out to 2 per cent tax on what you buy, and it enables the retailer to collect the tax without the nuisance of stamps or tokens.

(8) Can I get credit for this tax when I pay my Federal income tax?

Yes, this tax is levied on the consumer. Probably the Internal Revenue Service will shortly issue a special bulletin which will provide an easy way to determine how much of a deduction you may take. IRS has done this for all other sales tax states. Of course, you can always keep your own records and use them instead of the standard IRS deduction.

(9) Won't this be difficult for me to collect?

Collection of the new tax will impose some additional responsibilities on you and your employees, but similar duties are being handled with no great difficulty by 1,200,000 other retailers in the 35 sales tax states. Most retailers, including grocery stores, are already collecting taxes and have some experience.

(10) How will I collect this tax?

By a prescribed bracket system which will tell you how much tax to add to any given sale. Briefly you will not collect a tax if the sale is less than 25 cents; if it is between 25 cents and 74 cents you will collect one penny tax; if it is between 75 cents and $1.24 you will collect two pennies and so forth.

(11) Will I have to keep track of the pennies I collect?

No. You will pay the state a flat 2 per cent of your taxable sales. A test run in one large Texas department store indicated that the bracket would actually produce 2.02 per cent. In other cases it might be slightly less, but the vendor discount system will insure that you do not lose money.

(12) What is the vendor discount system?

If you pay the State the tax due on your taxable sales with in the time it is due—that is before the last day of January, April, July and October, you will be permitted to keep 3 per cent of the tax due to compensate you for your time and trouble and to make sure that the bracket system hasn't cheated you. If you will estimate your tax and pay it early, then the State will permit you to keep 3 per cent of the tax due. A warning is necessary, however: If you do not pay the tax when it is due, you lose all discounts and you will have to pay at least 5 per cent penalty, and the longer you delay, the higher the penalty will grow.

(13) Just how do I get the 3 per cent discount?

By the middle of the second month of the quarter, you must estimate and pay a tax for the entire quarter. Let us take an example: You estimate that you will sell $100,000 worth of taxable goods during January, February and March. Before February 15th, you file an estimated tax return with the Comptroller and send him a check for $1,940—$2,000 estimated tax less 3 per cent discount. Then in April you will file an amended or final return. If it shows that you actually owed the state a tax of $2,100, you would permit an additional $99.00—the amount due the State less the normal 1 per cent discount to which you are entitled on taxes remitted at the proper time.

(14) Why was this repayment plan put in the law?

Because in the first year of the new tax there will be collection lag. This device, it is estimated, will reduce the amount of collection lag by about $19 million. In effect the repayment plan reduced the tax needs of the State by $19 million.

(15) What kind of a form will I file with the State?

The Comptroller will devise a form in the very near future. It will probably be simple enough to fit on an IBM card.

(16) Do I have to get a license from the State?

Yes, but there is no charge for this permit. If you now pay the state store tax you will automatically receive an application for a sales tax permit.

(17) Do I have to buy a special cash register that keeps track of exempt and taxable sales?

Not unless you wish to do so.

The Comptroller will work out some reasonable and simple methods often abating you to separate taxable and non-taxable sales. Doubtless he will consult with your trade association as well as with tax administrators in other states in developing these methods.

(18) Suppose I do buy a new cash register, do I pay the tax on it?

You do. In this case you are the consumer and you must pay the tax.

III. Questions from Other Businessmen.

(1) I am a wholesaler, will I have anything to do under this tax?

Yes. In the eyes of the sales tax law you are a retailer. However, most, perhaps all, of your sales will be exempt because you are selling to persons who then re-sell to the general public. When your customers buy from you, they will sign a resale certificate designed by the Comptroller (it may be something you can just print on your usual invoice so as not to have extra paper handling) and this will be your evidence that no tax is due on the transaction.

(2) I am a manufacturer. How will this tax affect my business?

You will not have to pay the tax when you buy machinery, supplies, office equipment, etcetera. If you rent IBM or Remington Rand electronic equipment, you will have to pay the tax on the rental you pay for that equipment.

(3) I am a printer. How will this tax affect my business?

You will have to collect it in most cases. If you print some letterheads for a business firm, you will have to collect the tax on the total amount of the sale assuming you provided the paper. If the customer supplied the paper, then the tax would be due on the amount you charged for that service. There are some exceptions; if you print paper bags then that would not be a taxable transaction since wrapping supplies and containers are exempt.

(4) I am a building contractor. How will this tax affect my business?

You will be viewed as the consumer of the tangible personal property which goes into your construction. This means that you will pay the tax on the lumber, nails and bricks, as well as on your equipment tools, etcetera. Since you cannot collect the tax when you sell the construction (it now being real estate and not subject to tax) you will have to allow for the tax expense when you quote prices. Incidentally, if you have already signed a contract for a construction job to be completed after September 1, you should check with the State Comptroller of Public Accounts to see about a special exemption which will keep you from being charged a tax that you cannot recoup in your price.

—State Affairs Committee West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Read Mark 12:1-12

Have ye not read this scripture: The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner: this was the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?

(Mark 12:10, 11.)

I was trimming the rosebushes at the local hospital. As I was pruning the branches at ground level, I found to my dismay that some of the brown, dead-looking branches I had cut off were alive. Some were even blooming at the top.

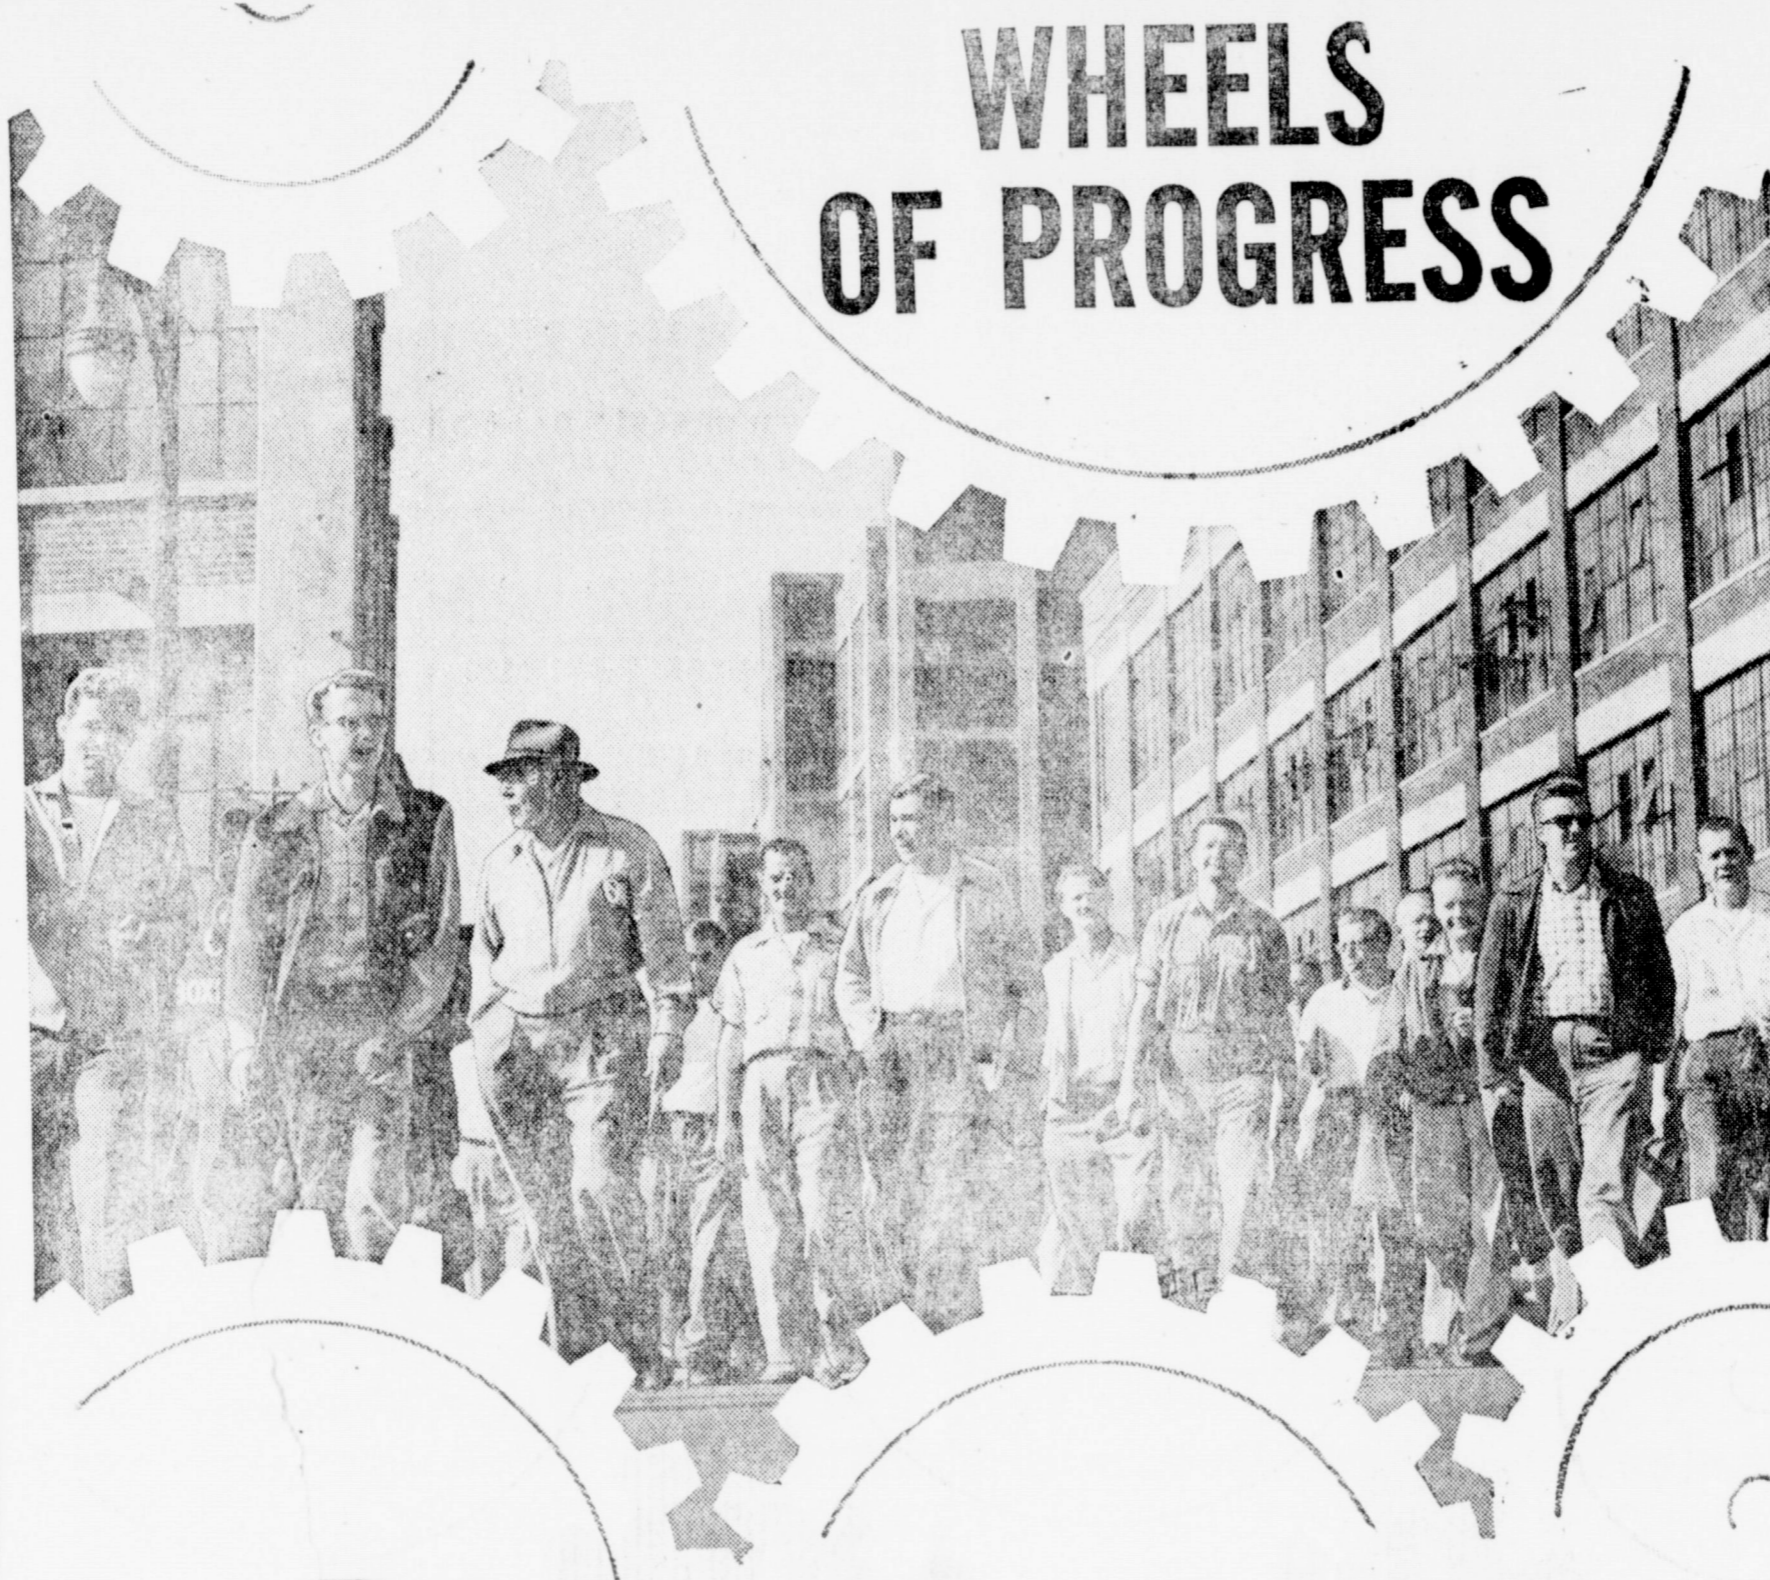

How often do we, in our churches, tend to be snobbish and reject from our various church activities people who are lifeless in appearance or come from some residential district we frown upon. By being snobbish, we can drive people from the church, so that they may never develop their talents for Christ—or even become Christians!

It would be more Christlike for us to see in others their good qualities, talents, and capabilities. It is our duty to God and His church to encourage others to become Christian. Only so can God's plan of redemption find fulfillment in the lives of men everywhere.

PRAYER: Our Father in heaven, forgive us for shunning those who might follow Christ but receive no encouragement from us. Use us today to help others find the way of forgiveness and happiness and happiness through faith in Christ. In His name we pray.
Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Today I will try to bring someone to Christ and encourage him in work for the Master.

WHEELS OF PROGRESS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Nehemiah	4	15-23
Monday	Psalms	128	1-6
Tuesday	Haggai	1	1-6
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	1-9
Thursday	I Corinthians	3	10-17
Friday	Philippians	2	3-11
Saturday	I Thessalonians	2	8-13

Mass production has taught us a new dimension in cooperation. Now three men operate the same machine around the clock. And as the whistle blows at the change of the shift one hand surrenders the lever to another—while the wheels spin endlessly.

The same ready cooperation is becoming characteristic of the work of our churches. A Church School teacher moves to another city. There is another earnest Christian to take over her class. The term of an officer expires. There are equally qualified men ready to serve if elected.

Make willingness one of your virtues as you go to Church each Sunday. Volunteer for one of the humble yet all-important tasks that keep the wheels of spiritual progress forever spinning.
