Band advances ... Tahoka High School's 3-D Band scored superior marks in the Region 16 UIL Marching Contest last Saturday, and advances to the UIL Area A Marching Contest this Saturday, Oct. 24, at Lowery Field in Lubbock. The band marches at 3:45 p.m., and fans are invited to come watch the competition. Fans must be seated before 3:45 p.m. to watch the Tahoka band perform. If the band scores high marks at the area contest, they may advance to the State Marching Contest in November. The "Terrorific Performance!" is a play on words because the band's theme this year is horror show music.

Sentences follow guilty pleas here

Several persons were assessed sentences by Judge Carter Schildknecht after guilty pleas in 106th District Court in Tahoka Monday.

Mona Vanessa Carter, 39, of Tahoka pleaded guilty of possession of marijuana and was sentenced to five years of community supervision, with the stipulation of two years of imprisonment if the terms of the supervision are broken. She also was fined $2500.

Ricky Barrett Woods, 48, of Odessa was sentenced to a year in jail on judgment revoking community supervision for possession of marijuana in 2007, and was fined $3000.

Jana Marie Antu, 22, of O'Donnell pleaded guilty of driving while intoxicated with a child passenger and was given three years of community supervision stipulating two years of jail confinement if terms are broken, and fined $1000.

Two persons charged with engaging in organized criminal activity in connection with a raid on a location in Tahoka where gambling devices were seized by the state in May 2008 also appeared before Judge Schildknecht. Charges against Santos Salinas (Sally) Saldana, 65, of Tahoka were dismissed "because of prosecutorial discretion and because the defendant has entered into a pretrial diversion agreement" with the state.

Clara Saldana Calvillo, 45, of Tahoka, had been charged with two counts of engaging in organized criminal activity, and these charges were dismissed because of prosecutorial discretion and because she pleaded guilty to a third and lesser charge of possession of a gambling device. That charge is a Class A misdemeanor, and Calvillo was fined $1000 on the offense.

Tahoka Police this week arrested belligerent suspects in two cases involving violence and threats, one a 15-year-old Tahoka juvenile who threatened to retaliate against the arresting officers when he gets out of custody.

The youth was turned over to juvenile officers after police were called to a residence where his girlfriend said he had grabbed her by the arm and caused minor injury last Tuesday. The boy ran from police and was apprehended by two sheriff's deputies, both of whom he threatened "to take care of" when he got out of jail.

On the same day police arrested a 40-year-old Tahoka man who shoved one officer and resisted being handcuffed. Officers were told that the suspect had punched a family member in the face because the victim had come over to the home to eat some birthday cake. He was jailed for assault/family violence and resisting arrest.

Police also arrested a 25-year-old Lubbock man Monday after a traffic stop and charged him with possession of marijuana and driving while intoxicated.

The number of persons in Lynn County jail this week was 40 after five new arrests and normal release of some inmates. Eight of these were held for Lubbock County and one each for Dawson and Garza counties.

The latest arrests were for grand jury indictment on harassment, resisting arrest plus assault, failure to appear on charges of failure to identify a fugitive, bond surrender on failure to identify, and failure to appear on open container violation.

Staying Connected

Being able to communicate with your teen in both directions is more important than ever. Your teen wants more independence but they still need the guidance from you. The challenge becomes setting a balance between allowing them to "grow" but being there for them always.

While activities at school, new interests, and a growing social life become more important to growing kids, parents are still the anchors, providing love, guidance, and support. This connection provides a sense of security and helps build the resilience kids need to handle life's ups and downs.

First of all you should start the communication with your child long before these issues come up. Make sure you talk with your child every day. Begin to talk about everyday "stuff" at an early age. This communication should build a bond of communication you can continue through the preteen and teen years.

You need to remember that you are still a powerful influence in their lives even if they are confiding in others at the same time. Your example says much more than any instruction you give. So make sure you practice what you preach.

Family meals: A shared family meal provides valuable together time. So schedule it and organize it just as you would any other activity. Pick up something pre-made if you have to but sit down together to eat it. Turn off the TV and cell phones. If it's impossible to do every night, schedule a regular weekly family dinner night that accommodates kids' schedules. Make it something fun, and get everyone involved in the preparation and the cleanup. Sharing an activity helps build closeness and connection, and everyone pitching in reinforces a sense of responsibility and teamwork.

Bedtime and goodnight: Your child may not need to be tucked in anymore, but maintaining a consistent bedtime routine helps preteens get the sleep needed to grow healthy and strong. So work in some winding-down time together before the lights go out. Read together. Go over the highlights of the day and talk about tomorrow.

Share ordinary time: Find little things that let you just hang out together. Walk the dog, take a run together, wash the car, bake cookies, rent a movie, watch a favorite TV show, all are opportunities to enjoy each other's company. And are chances for kids to talk about what's on their mind. Riding in the car is an opportunity to connect. When you're driving, kids are more inclined to mention a troubling issue. Since you're focused on the road, they don't have to make eye contact, which can ease any discomfort about opening up.

We will continue this subject and also talk about how kids can connect with their parents in the 2nd half of this article next week. Until then try and practice one of these suggestions or if you are already doing them just keep up the good work.

First Baptist Church in Wilson celebrates 95th anniversary

Members of the First Baptist Church in Wilson observed the church's 95th anniversary with a celebration on Sunday, Oct. 18, with current and former pastors and members taking part in the services and fellowship meal that followed. Current pastor, Billy Parmer, reported that more than 200 people attended the anniversary events.

First Baptist Church was organized on Oct. 18, 1914 in Wilson, with 16 members. The first pastor, J.E. Nicholson, was called on Nov. 15, 1914. He was the brother of Miss Emma Nicholson, the first employed teacher at Wilson, who undertook the task of organizing a Sunday School, from which the church had its beginnings. William Green of Shiner, Tx., a landowner in the community, donated the lots and $500 to build a house of worship on the southwest corner of 13th and Dickson. FBC used this building from Feb. 1916 to Feb. 1926.

The church grew from 16 members to more than 200 in less than 10 years, moving to a new brick basement in 1926, and adding an auditorium by Jan. 1949. Feb. 15, 1953, marked another momentous occasion, when Mrs. L. Lumsden and son, William G. Lumsden, offered a gift to the church in the form of a memorial bell tower. During this construction, a new cry room and pastor's study was built, and on Dec. 13, 1953 the Lonnie Lumsden Memorial Tower and Chimes was dedicated. In Oct. 1956, the church opened the doors of an educational building.

The first pastor's home was built during Pastor W.L. Stewart's (fifth pastor) service to the church in 1923. A new five-room parsonage was built in 1925, and a newer brick parsonage was built in 1958.

During its first 95 years, there have been 30 pastors serving the First Baptist Church in Wilson. H.F. Scott, who was pastor from 1956 until 1965, served the longest term, with nine years at Wilson. The current pastor, Billy Parmer, has served since Sept. 2004.

Facilitator... Dr. Cathy Box (center) was the facilitator for a series of seminars offered at Tahoka Church of Christ, the most recent of which was "Focus on the Family."

"Focus on the Family" seminars provide encouragement, helpful information

A couple of years ago, Tahoka Church of Christ sent out questionnaires to every household in the county asking them "what are your basic needs?" The number one need was "Managing your money," second was "Help with my marriage," and third, "Caring for our children."

Several couples, from several differing faith groups attended from around the county. All of them expressed their appreciation for the information and encouragement they received as a result of the series.

"Dr. Cathy Box was the facilitator for the event. She not only used Dr. Dobson's videos but led the attendees in very useful thoughts and conversations," said Ron Fant, pastor.

"Sunday evening we held the last session with a speaker from Lubbock Christian University. Dr. Beth Robinson, professor of counseling, spoke concerning directing and protecting your children. She spoke in a very down to earth manner which promoted a lot of feedback from the attendees," he added.

"We will look at the list of needs in the near future and sponsor other classes," said the pastor.

Elementary sets Book Fair next week

The Tahoka Elementary LRC will host a Scholastic Book Fair Oct. 26-30, from 8:30-3:30 Monday-Thursday, and 8:30-11:30 Friday. The theme for the Book Fair will be "Destination Book Fair: Read Around the World!"

There will be two special family events during the fair with extended shopping hours. Tuesday evening hours will be 5:30-7:00 p.m. during the Fall Festival. The LRC will open Thursday morning at 7:30 for "Breakfast with Books," when a muffin and juice will be served. An adult must be present during this time. Special door prizes will be held during both of these events.

"Book Fair profits allow us to improve our library and expand classroom libraries, and lets the community be involved in our school," stated a librarian. "The Book fair is a great way for families to connect by reading together and sharing the love of books."

Bulldog Booster Club is great

The Tahoka Bulldog Athletic Booster Club is a great program - a program designed to help our athletes through fundraising. It is an honor and a privilege to represent one's school. Our students are taught to win without boasting and to lose without bitterness. Our students are also learning leadership and citizenship through various school activities. These students are our future! Who else better to help them achieve their goals and dreams other than our own members.

Our members are what make this Booster Club program such a great success. However, they go beyond just being members. They are parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, mentors, confidants, friends and even a shoulder to cry on should you ever need one. But most of all, they are people. People uniting to make a difference in each student's life, in our community.

We encourage you to attend one of our weekly meetings. Join us in the LRC in the high school at 8 pm. The previous week's game film is shown before our meetings at 7 pm in the LRC. Annual membership is $5 per family. Come help us make a difference in our student's lives!

We would like to take this time to send out a big THANK YOU to those of you who volunteered for our most recent activities and fundraisers:

PAW PRINTS: Mark Wuen-sche, Christy & Calee Bingham, Jo Jo Lawson, Shaunda Hood, Jerry Reno, Marty & Dina & Olivia Hammonds, Donald Freitag, Cara & Lara Henderson, Chad Lowdermilk, Sam & Michelle & Shalee Williams, Ricky & Maritia Hall (Thanks also for the wonderful lunch they served), Trace Cook, Hadley Reynolds, Johnnie Rosas, Rusty Cook (a great big thanks for the donation of paint and the use of equipment)

Band performs at Regional contest ... The Tahoka High School 3-D Band scored all 1's in the Region 16 UIL Marching Contest last Saturday in Lubbock. They will march in the Area A Marching Contest this Saturday, Oct. 24, at Lowery Field in Lubbock, for a chance to advance to the State Marching Contest in November.

Tahoka 3-D Band wins Regionals, advances to Area Marching Contest

Tahoka High School's 3-D Band is continuing their quest for excellence this week, scoring superior marks in the Region 16 UIL Marching Contest and advancing to the UIL Area A Marching Contest to be held Saturday, October 24, at Lowery Field in Lubbock.

Last Saturday the Tahoka 3-D Band performed very well at the Region Marching Contest in Lubbock, scoring all 1's from the judges to advance to the Area competition.

"On a day when many good bands received 11's, Tahoka's 3-D Band came through with an outstanding performance that entertained judges and spectators alike," stated directors Carroll Rhodes and Johnathan Smith. "The phenomenal support from Tahoka greatly contributed to the success of the 3-D Band, as no other band had the number of supporters (300+) present cheering them on as did Tahoka. We can never say enough about how much the community's support means to the 3-D Band." According to several band directors, the Tahoka 3-D Band was in the top two in division 1A and some had them first.

The 3-D Band will march at 3:45 p.m. Saturday in the Area contest. Fans who come to support the band must be seated in the stands before the band's performance begins, as no seating is allowed during any band's performance. The finals will begin at approximately 6:30 p.m. The cost of admission as set by UIL is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

"Come support your young people and their efforts as they seek to advance to the State Marching Contest, November 2, at San Antonio for only the second time in school history. The first time was in 2007. Your support is vital!" said Rhodes.

Prop. 11 protects your property

The right to own and use private property is one of the most sacred rights of Texans. The ability of government to abuse this right is one of the most frightening.

Texas voters have the opportunity to protect their homes, property and land by voting for Proposition 11 in the upcoming state constitutional amendment election on Tuesday, November 3, 2009.

Prop 11 will give homeowners and other private property owners peace of mind knowing government will be restricted from using the power of eminent domain except for truly public purposes.

It's your land. Protect it with your vote.

Please join with me and the Texas Association of Realtors, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Wildlife Association and Texas Farm Bureau, along with a broad and bipartisan coalition of statewide organizations and officeholders who are seeking to protect homeowners and private property owner rights by voting for Proposition 11.
