City Potholes: A report from the Mayor

Unless you live under a rock, you know the current condition of Tahoka streets. We have worked every sunny weekday and some weekends to make progress in this area. My wife has made great effort to show me a few on Avenue N, that could eat her little blue car. I have a friend who has begun fishing out of some close to his house. One resident suggested we open a new 18+ hole golf course down Avenue D. I found one with its birthday written beside it.

All kidding aside, we are concerned also. We only have a few city employees. The amount of material we can haul each day is limited. What we do not get placed in holes each day, we lose. It is no good the next day. We made the decision at City Hall to use the "hot-mix" process, which gives us a more permanent repair. Cold-mix is quicker, but does not last as well.

We will also give up the shotgun approach to patching the holes. Instead, we will begin patching one street at a time, from one end to the other (east to west) - one north side street, then one south side street. Once that is done, one north-south avenue, until we get caught up. Slow and steady, but we will get this done. This letter is not an excuse, but an explanation and to let you know that the Mayor and City Council hear your concern. Thank you for your patience, as we work through this.

John B. Baker, Mayor

Former THS teacher faces charges of indecency with child

Former Tahoka High School theatre arts/speech teacher Beth LeCocq, 31, was charged with indecency with a child after she turned herself in Friday to Lynn Co. Sheriff's Dept., for charges based in Lynn County. She taught at THS for two years, resigning at the end of the school year to accept a position in Sundown. School officials in Sundown reportedly say she has already resigned. No other information was available this week.

Late afternoon sun temporarily blinded a driver and caused an accident which injured the driver last Wednesday. Ralph Edwin Robinson, 86, told police he was unable to see a parked car in the 1900-block of Ave. R, and his 1998 Buick Le Sabre struck the 1994 Chevrolet owned by Elena Martinez of Tahoka. Robinson was treated for injuries apparently not serious at Lynn County Hospital after being transported by EMS ambulance.

Tahoka Police Dept. also took a report of criminal mischief regarding slashed tires, and arrested one person for assault in regard to a family fight.

Mitchell Elrod showed police Sunday that all four tires on his vehicle had been punctured, apparently with a sharp instrument. No estimate of the damage was listed.

On Saturday, a 47-year-old woman and a 31-year-old woman were arrested for striking each other.

Twenty-eight persons were in Lynn County jail this week, including four held for Lubbock County and three for Gaines County. Charges for which new inmates were arrested included public intoxication, disorderly conduct, warrant on failure to appear and on displaying suspended drivers license, grand jury indictment on possession of marijuana, minor driving under influence plus possession of marijuana, sexual assault, driving while intoxicated, assault, warrant on furnishing alcohol to a minor, and possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Football two-a-days start Monday

The Tahoka High School Bulldogs will begin two-a-day football practice on Monday, Aug. 2, to prepare for their 2010 season. Midnight Madness is set for midnight Thursday night (Aug. 5) until 1 a.m. Friday. The Bulldog Booster Club will host "Meet the Bulldogs" at Kelley Field on Thursday, Aug. 26 at 7 p.m. and the Dogs will travel to Crosbyton Aug. 27 for their season opener.

The Dogs will scrimmage Anton here on Aug. 14, and will travel to Seagraves to scrimmage Stanton and Seagraves on Aug. 19.

County seeks disaster relief after flood damage here

Major damage to crops, roads, homes and businesses in Lynn County from heavy rains at the beginning of July has led to the county seeking disaster assistance through the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

In addition, Farm Service Agency office in Lynn County has applied for the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture disaster relief. County judges in Lynn, Terry and Garza counties have sought the relief.

County Judge H.G. Franklin has estimated damage—mostly around Draw and O'Donnell and in the southeast portion of the county—at $4 million to $5 million, although he stressed that it really is too early to put a monetary value on the losses.

It has been estimated that more than 100,000 acres of cotton were lost to flooding. There also were six flooded homes in the county, with two houses considered total losses. Many county roads were closed because of flooding and some were washed out, with five roads scheduled to be reopened this week.

Actual crop loss will not be determined until harvest time when the yield is evaluated.

ANY TIME someone discovers a long-buried shipwreck underwater, or under a beach, it makes an interesting story to most people, including me, because I am always fascinated by such discoveries, and eager for someone to figure out what happened and when.

But who would have ever dreamed that the workers still cleaning up the site of the murders on Sept. 11, 2001, when the twin towers were brought to the ground in New York City by Muslim monsters, would have found the remains of a small ship under the ground where the World Trade Center once stood?

A couple of weeks ago, those workers discovered the remains of a 32-foot ship under the ground, noticed after a backhoe brought up some curved timbers. An archaeologist brought to the scene said the ship apparently was used in the 18th century as part of the fill that extended lower Manhattan into the Hudson River. They are trying to learn more about it, and hoped to recover more of it intact.

The Lynn County Courthouse has been designated as an historical site, and I can't imagine anything other than a really bad tornado which could level it. We pray that will never happen, but if it does, they may discover the remains of a canoe under the building, left over from the last time we had more rain than we did this July.

That would have been the same year Noah left on his big float trip.

SOMEONE at the office was mailed a catalog of Things You Never Wanted Because You Didn't Know They Existed, only they didn't call it that, of course. This is a catalog of items you can order, if you have a lot of room left on your credit card, or in at least one instance, if you are Bill Gates, Donald Trump or one of Obama's czars.

The catalog is called Hammacher Schlemmer, and that's also the name of the company in New York City which sells this stuff. Some of the items in the catalog are pretty strange and some sound pretty good. Here are just a few:

A bladeless fan, a circular thing with no fan blades, but which supposedly blows cool air from a turbine in the base, which draws in air and propels it up to the loop amplifier. Costs $299.

A ballpoint pen which really is a video camera, clipped into your pocket so nobody will know they are being videoed. Just $99.

An indoor device which stops dogs from barking in the house. When the dog barks nearby, it emits an ultrasonic sound, which hurts Fido's ears and startles him into silence. Price is $49.95.

But here's the item that got the attention of the office staff: a two-person submarine that can descend to a depth of 1,000 feet, a climate-controlled pressure sphere that keeps explorers safe on the ocean floor or wherever, with lights, good visibility, radio and other necessary stuff. It costs a cool two million dollars, so you'd better get your VISA card really paid off before you order.

It says the price also includes "comprehensive training." I'm not sure what that means. Maybe they train you to go two hours without breathing.

White Funeral Home owner Billie White-Everett retires after 62 years of service to the industry

Billie White-Everett, longtime owner of White Funeral Homes, has retired after 62 years of funeral service, and was honored with a surprise retirement party on July 23, 2010 at White Funeral Home in Lubbock, Texas. The staff presented her a plaque that read, in part: "This plaque is presented in appreciation for 62 years of untiring service and loyalty to the funeral service industry. Your knowledge, guidance, and friendship will long be remembered, your dedication and leadership will long be followed upon."

As a young woman, Billie Frances Reed worked at a drug store in Littlefield, where she met and eventually married

Retiring ... A surprise retirement party in honor of Billie White-Everett was held July 23, 2010 at White Funeral Home in Lubbock. The staff presented her with a plaque in appreciation for her 62 years of untiring service and loyalty to the funeral service industry.

Martin Melton White. In 1947, Martin graduated from Mortuary School in Houston, and began working for the funeral home in Littlefield, and this is where their service in the funeral home industry began.

In 1955, the couple took an opportunity to manage the local funeral home in Tahoka, making their home here and raising their four children Richard, Randy, Gary and Kim. In 1959, Billie received her funeral director's license and that began a tradition of many years of funeral service.

Billie and Martin purchased Stanley Funeral Home in 1962, located on Main Street in Tahoka. They worked as a husband and wife team until the sudden and unexpected passing of Martin in 1972, after which she alone headed White Funeral Home.

In 1983, Billie married Don Everett, a rancher who also began a new career as a financial advisor and assistant in overseeing White Funeral Home's operations. As the business began to grow another location was built in Idalou, opening on January 1, 1987.

In August of 1994 the Henderson Funeral Home on Broadway in Lubbock became vacant. Billie and Don purchased this funeral home and after remodeling they opened White Funeral Home of Lubbock on January 1, 1995.

Billie and Don have owned and operated funeral homes in Lubbock, Floydada, Lockney, Idalou, O'Donnell, and Tahoka. Billie's motto has always been, "We care for yours as we would have ours cared for."

Wear that Sunscreen

With the hot weather in full swing and more direct sunshine exposure and outdoor activities going; it's a good time to remind everyone to put on the sunscreen. The US Dept. of Health and Human Services makes these recommendations.

When to Apply Sunscreen

- Apply sunscreen approximately 30 minutes before being in the sun (for best results) so that it can be absorbed by the skin and less likely to wash off when you perspire.

- Remember to reapply sunscreen after swimming or strenuous exercise.

- Apply sunscreen often throughout the day if you work outdoors, and wear hats & protective clothing. This includes all the farmers out there.

How To Apply Sunscreen

- Shake well before use to mix particles that might be clumped up in the container. Consider using the new spray-on or stick types of sunscreen.

- Apply enough sunscreen. As a rule of thumb, use an ounce (a handful) to cover your entire body.

- Use on all parts of your skin exposed to the sun, including the ears, back, shoulders, & the back of the knees and legs. Don't forget the lip balm with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 30.

- Apply thickly and thoroughly. Be careful when applying sunscreen around the eyes.

What To Look for When You Buy Sunscreen

- Pick a broad-spectrum sunscreen that protects against UV-A and UV-B rays and has a sun protection factor (SPF) of at least 30.

- Read product labels. Look for a waterproof brand if you will be sweating or swimming. Buy a non-stinging product or one specifically formulated for your face.

- Buy a brand that does not contain para-aminobenzoic acid

(PABA) if you are sensitive to it.

- Try a sunscreen with different chemicals if your skin reacts badly to the one that you are using. Not all sunscreens have the same ingredients.

- Use a water-based sunscreen if you have oily skin or are prone to acne.

- Be aware that more expensive does not mean better. Although a costly brand might feel or smell better, it is not necessarily more effective than a less expensive product.

- Check the expiration date because some sunscreen ingredients might degrade over time.

We all need to be aware of the importance of sunscreen for our children. Each year skin cancers from sun exposures are on the rise, affecting more and more younger people. Start the practice of applying sunscreen to your children daily as you help them brush their teeth in the morning. Soon it will just become routine. Good luck and safe sunning!

Energy efficient upgrade... New energy-efficient windows and doors were installed at Tahoka City Hall last week, replacing the 57-year-old original windows and doors in the 1953 building that houses city offices. Funds for the project came from an Energy Efficiency and Conservation Block Grant passed down to the state from federal stimulus money, according to Mayor John Baker. City Administrator Jerry Webster said the grant was for $23,030, and that the new energy-efficient windows and doors should significantly reduce energy bills for City Hall. I considered him the most compassionate and Christlike Christian leader I had ever known. I wasn't at his level of spirituality. I struggle with sin every day, and try as I may, I fail. But then even David, whom God called "a man after his own heart" (1 Sam. 13:14), was guilty of sin. If men like these fail, what hope could I have of living a righteous life? But as I read the works of Ecclesiastes 7:20, "There is not a righteous [person] on earth" (NIV), I realize that I have been fighting an unwinnable battle. No matter how good I try to be, on my own I can never be good enough. Yet I can be righteous because righteousness doesn't come from me. Righteousness is being pure and upright in God's eyes and our righteousness comes from Christ, who died for us and who lives in us. Righteousness, solely the result of Jesus' sacrifice, is freely given by God. We can do no more than accept God's gift. Though God has radically transformed my life, I am not perfect. I still struggle with sin. But now I am reassured, knowing that when I don't measure up, God still loves, forgives, and continues to lead me -- not because of my actions but because of Jesus' sacrifice. ### Spanish-speaking Interpreter hired for county court

Lynn County Commissioners met Monday morning to consider several issues, moving to accept a contract with Max Mendieta for his services as a Spanish interpreter/translator needed in County Court. The contract will begin Aug. 1, 2010 and end July 31, 2011, at the price of $25 per defendant. All four commissioners voted in favor of the motion. The services will be for county court only, not for district court, according to minutes from the commissioners meeting.

In other business, the county was presented a safety award for the year 2009 by Ron Sheffield, Loss Control Representative from Texas Association of Counties. ## NOTICE OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE

This notice concerns 2010 property tax rates for LYNN COUNTY for the five taxing entities listed below. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Effective tax rates published for county, hospital and cities

Lynn County Appraisal District is publishing the effective tax rates for the cities of Tahoka, New Home and Wilson, Lynn County Hospital District and Lynn County taxing entities in this issue of The News. An effective tax rate is the rate it would take to impose the same total taxes as the previous year. All taxing entities are in the process of discussing budgets and will soon propose tax rates for the upcoming year, based on projected costs and operations figures in each entity. Lynn County currently has a tax rate of 86-cents (.861100) per $100 of property value, and this year's effective tax rate is four cents lower, at 0.826414, according to the figures released by the Appraisal District. The effective tax rate is the maximum rate allowed unless the taxing entity publishes notices and holds hearings, so even if the county chooses to keep the same rate of .861100 it would be considered a tax increase because of the effective tax rate set at 82-cents. Marquita Scott, Chief Appraiser at Lynn County Appraisal District (LCAD), said the reason for the county's effective tax rate being a lower figure is due to several factors. "The biggest factor is in our mineral values," she told The News. "Mineral values increased, and also there is one new well in the county. Last year's mineral value was $24 million for Lynn County, but this year the mineral value is $37 million," she explained. She also said that utility values increased somewhat for the county, and that there is $2 million in new property values, including new buildings or improvements on existing properties. Residential market values in the county remained about the same, but there was a $2 million increase due to the 10 percent cap on property values - that is, residential properties whose value increased again this year because values may only increase by up to 10 percent each year until the property reaches its market value, and certain properties that were capped last year had the additional value added this year. Lynn County Hospital District's effective tax rate is 0.237543, about a penny lower than the current tax rate of 0.247450. The City of Tahoka, however, showed about a penny increase in its effective rate of 0.756543 compared to the current tax rate of 0.747030. "The City of Tahoka lost some value, from taking some properties off the tax rolls due to foreclosures, and a slight decrease in utility values," said Scott. The City of New Home's effective tax rate is 0.456017, a very slight increase over the current rate of 0.450860. The City of Wilson's effective tax rate is 0.77389, which is a slight decrease from the current rate of 0.778810.
