Criminal mischief, assault reported

During the last week, Tahoka Police investigated reports of criminal mischief, assault, a missing person and an apparent attempted suicide.

Two glass insulators used to cover Christmas lights at the home of Joe Don Nevill in Tahoka were reported as missing last Wednesday and later found broken. They were valued at $20.

A Tahoka woman advised police Sunday that her teenaged daughter had been assaulted by a 23-year-old woman who was upset about something posted on Facebook.

A Tahoka man reported by his mother as missing Sunday later returned home.

Police answered a call Saturday to a residence where a 37-year-old Tahoka man apparently had attempted to hang himself. The man was taken to a Lubbock hospital for treatment.

Lynn County Jail was holding 30 persons this week, with nine of those held for Hockley County and two for Gaines County.

Latest arrests were three persons for driving while license was invalid with previous conviction, with one of those facing two charges; one for state jail hold on theft of property over $500 and less than $1,500; one for driving while intoxicated plus failure to appear plus hold for immigration; one for possession of a dangerous drug plus expired drivers license plus speeding.

Drivers License office closes temporarily

The Tahoka Driver's License office inside the Lynn County Courthouse has closed temporarily, until further notice. According to information from the Lubbock Driver's License office, the Tahoka DL office is closed due to equipment failure, but is expected to reopen when new equipment becomes available.

No information was available as to when the local office might reopen.

Drivers licenses may be renewed online at the Texas Department of Public Safety website, www.txdps.state.tx.us/driverlicense/.

New trustees sworn in at New Home

New board members took the oath of office at the November meeting of the New Home Independent School District Board of Trustees, following official canvassing of the election results. Travis Smith and Matt Barrington were re-elected to their seats, and Gregg Nieman was elected to a term replacing trustee Paula Ford, who did not run for reelection. After taking the oath of office, the new Board of Trustees elected officers for 2010-

2012, naming Kevin Mitchell as President, Andy Maeker as Vice President, and Rachelle Link as Secretary and Rachelle Link as Secretary.

In other business, Superintendent Leland Zant presented information on the district's Superior rating in TEA's FIRST rating, regarding financial accountability. The board approved TASB Policy Update 88, and appointed Carol White as their representative on the Lynn County Appraisal District

New radiology system in place at hospital

A new picture archiving and communication (PAC) system is now in place in the radiology department of Lynn County Hospital, administrator Jim Morris advised board members at a regular meeting of directors Nov. 23.

Morris said the PAC system replaces the hospital's older first generation PAC system. "The new system addresses many of the criteria required by new regulations, improves the quality of images and increases access by the physicians," he said.

Directors also set the required contribution rate for employee participation in the Texas County & District Retirement System. The item had been tabled at last month's meeting. Members agreed to keep the rate the same as the 2010 rate of 5.68%.

In other business, it was reported that Lynnwood Assisted Living has a current resident census of 23 with 36 on the waiting list. Lynnwood is also anticipating its annual survey with state surveyors expected any day.

The administrator also gave a brief summary of topics discussed at a recent Texas Rural Health Forum held in Austin, and members also approved the monthly financial statement.

Present were members Jannis Horwood, Frances Truehart, Cal Huffaker, James Craig, Nancy Guilliams, Victoria Baker and administrator, Morris. Member not present was Jerry Ford. Others present were Barbara and Jackie Jacques.

Firemen soon brought the flames under control before they could spread in the windy conditions, and traffic was closed briefly on the access road until the fire was contained.

We can share - won't you join us? ... These Tahoka youth are preparing sacks of food for the U Can Share Food Drive that will be held Dec. 6-12 in the community. From left, Callie Nevill, Weston Ausburn, Jacob Tew and Amy Tew are stuffing a sack with packaged food items, ready to place in one of the barrels that will be placed in several locations for the food drive, including Thriftway, Tahoka ISD, and First Baptist and First Methodist churches. Elizabeth Tew is spearheading the U Can Share Food Drive in cooperation with the South Plains Food Bank. All food collected will benefit the local Food Pantry and the Lynn County Pioneers Senior Citizens Center. Local Boy Scouts will haved a canned food drive on Dec. 11 to help with the effort.

NOW THAT Thanksgiving is over, we can all concentrate on Christmas, although some apparently have been thinking about it for quite awhile, as I noticed about three weeks ago that some homes around here already had their Christmas lights in place.

In fact, I visited one home in Tahoka briefly and noticed the lights were neatly strung around the front walk. When I went inside, I asked the lady there if they had decided to string the lights early, or did her husband just forget to take them down from last year. I was being tacky only because at my house I usually just put a red or green bulb in one of the motion lights over my garage.

Christmas is a good season for we who are overweight, because Santa is plump, and it's okay to be jolly and fat for a few weeks of the year. Of course, with all the good stuff that gets passed around at Christmas, by New Year's I may look less like Santa and more like a Sumo wrestler.

A health/diet "expert" on one of the morning TV shows said last week that if a person can get through the holidays and still weigh the same, that's a big triumph, just because there's no weight increase. She said this can be done if one exercises restraint. Of course, she looked like one of those people who could eat an entire turkey with dressing for dinner plus six pumpkin pies and still weigh just 98 pounds.

Christmas is a time for expressing love and sentiment. Still, my favorite Christmas poem is not "The Night Before Christmas," but this little offering from a fictional character called Falstaff Openshaw on an old Fibber McGee TV show years ago:

"I tried to kiss her beneath the mistletoe;

"Her response was not sympathetic.

"She said the only way I could kiss her "Was beneath an anesthetic."

Space Heater Safety

If used properly, space heaters can provide temporary relief during a cold spell, but they should not be considered a permanent solution to a home heating problem. They're too dangerous. The National Fire Protection Association estimates that every year space heaters are associated with more than 25,000 residential fires and 300 fatalities.

Experts say most spaceheater fires are caused by heaters placed too close to curtains, upholstery or other combustible materials. Additionally, every year there are several electric heaters recalled for safety issues. Because of this, experts urge consumers to register new heaters with the manufacturer right away, and they'll be informed of any known safety issues.

If you must use a space heater: The following steps and safety precautions should be observed:

 The space heater should be tested by an independent testing laboratory such as Underwriters Laboratories (UL).

 Use a style of space heater that is fully enclosed by design and has no external surfaces that reach temperatures capable of igniting, such as an oil filled radiant heater.

 Do not store anything within three feet of the unit.
 The leading cause of space heater fires was combustibles too close to the heater.

 The unit should have thermostatic controls and automatic shutoff features.

 The space heater should be plugged directly into an outlet. Do not use a light-duty extension cord or a multi outlet strip/surge protector; it can start a fire with a high-wattage appliance. The unit should be

Never use space heaters to dry clothing, towels or other combustibles.

Never use a space heater with a damaged or frayed cord, & never cover the cord with carpeting or furniture.

Make sure that your smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are working before using a space heater.

Check the cord on an electric space heater to determine if it is very warm or hot. If so, unplug it immediately and try another outlet. If it continues to be hot, contact an electrician.

Improper heating units are often used when a homeowner cannot afford to heat a home properly. For assistance, contact the National Energy assistance Referral line at 1-866-647-6327. Or visit www.energynear.org.

The new T-Bar Drive-In Theatre, built and operated by the Wallace Theatres, was opened Wednesday night, and will be open nightly in the future.

Four feature programs will be shown weekly, according to Lester P. Flood, local manager of the four Wallace shows in Tahoka. Show dates will be Thursday and Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, and Tuesday and Wednesday.

The T-Bar, located a mile north of town on the east side of the Lubbock highway, is new and modern in every respect. It is named in honor of the T-Bar Ranch of Lynn County, one of the oldestranches on the Plains, and is decorated in blue and white, the Tahoka school colors.

The drive-in is the latest idea in show places. Many people prefer attending this type of theatre, since they feel freer to go to the show in their work clothes. They can relax in their cars and smoke or talk while viewing the picture.

The T-Bar has 278 latest type in-car speakers and the newest in sound systems, the best that can be bought in projection machines, and a large 55 by 55-foot screen which may be seen easily from the - August 4, 1950 back ramps.

Eldon Carroll has no love for cats

A Tahoka postal clerk, Eldon Carroll, is reported to have experienced a rather painful surprise one day recently.

Eldon was in a big hurry as he left home. He rushed out of the house, jumped in his car, and was dashing down to begin his work at the post office.

Everything was going along fine until he got within a block of the job, when a stowaway cat leaped from the back seat and landed with all four feet on Eldon's neck. Mr. Carroll leaped, too, but not quite four feet, due to the car top.

Since we try to make this a moral and respected publication, The News refrains from mentioning what the usually mild-tempered postal clerk said. Because of possible repercussions among the humane-minded readers, we will not mention what he did to the

Nevertheless, we can say that Eldon is in the market for a convertible or topless car, just in case he may sometime in the future encounter another stowaway cat, scorpion or snake.

Labor Emergency causes shortened school program Tahoka Schools go on 8:00 to 1:00 hours Monday

In an effort to cooperate with farmers in the current labor crisis, the Tahoka Schools, beginning next Monday morning will go on an 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. basis...

The move was taken by action of the Tahoka School Board Wednesday morning as an emergency measure. The 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. schedule may continue in force one week or as many as six weeks, depending on the demand of the crisis.

The Tahoka district has taken this step in an effort to help the farmers keep their harvest hands and to comply with new Federal Child Labor Laws of 1949, which the U.S. Department of Labor has declared its intention of enforcing.

Some are of the opinion that the law cannot and will not be enforced in this area during harvest season, but most farmers and many of the laborers do not choose to take the chance.

This law merely prohibits the hiring of children under 16 years of age in agriculture during school hours, but does not require the child to go to school. The itinerate laborers' children may remain at their homes until 1 p.m. before going to work, and also may work Saturdays and holidays.

Thousands of farm workers and their children come to this section every fall, most of them from south Texas, to pull bolls. The restriction is causing many of them to go back home.

It is hoped by the Tahoka School Board that the new school hours will help keep these harvest hands here. Usually, boll pullers are unable to get in the field early in the mornings anyway because - October 6, 1950 of the heavy dews.

Bolyard earns TASBO Certification

The Texas Association of School Business Officials (TAS-BO) announced that Tami Bolyard, Business Manager with Wilson ISD, has successfully completed the requirements to earn the designation of Certified Texas School Business Specialist (CTSBS), effective Oct. 25, 2010, specializing in the area of Accounting.

A voluntary certification effort founded in 1985, the TASBO certification program is designed to elevate professional standards, enhance individual performance and designate those who demonstrate knowledge essential to the practice of school business management. TASBO certification is earned through a combination of specified coursework and school business experience. Once it is earned, certification is maintained through continuing education and participation in the profession.

"Certification by TASBO offers school business officials the opportunity to their professional knowledge base, continue their education in the ever-changing rules and regulations of state and federal laws, and establish an additional level of professional recognition and respect," said Gwen Santiago, TASBO Executive Director. "Certification is mark of distinction, a symbol of leadership and accomplishment, and it is highly regarded by others in education as well as school business management. Also, certification offers a competitive edge in to-day's job market."

"Tami Bolyard is to be commended for pursuing professional excellence through TASBO certification," Santiago stated. "The Association is pleased to recognize this outstanding personal achievement."

THANK YOU!

I have to admit the last three months have been a stretching experience for me, as I am more comfortable hiding in my home.

I have been greeted, loved on, charged, barked at and even hiked on. When I ran the museum I thought the "characters of Lynn County" were long gone. While out campaigning I found that they are alive and well through their descendants and a few transplants. I thank all of you that supported me. I am very humbled to have seen the marks by my name on the voting ballots. I am blessed to have had the opportunity to serve in the office two years as a clerk and two years as your Justice of the Peace. Thank you so much for your continued faith in me, I have

Christmas greetings donation deadline is Dec. 13 for PBK fundraiser

Those who want to contribute to the annual Phebe K. Warner Club Community Christmas. Greeting, the club's annual scholarship fundraiser, have until Dec. 13 to make their donations. Contributors' names will be printed in the Christmas issue of the Lynn County News.

This annual fundraiser lets community members send Christmas greetings to friends while contributing to the Lady Dobbins Stewart or Maurice Bray Scholarship funds. This money is often donated in lieu of sending local Christmas cards.

Contributions may be taken to the First National Bank of Tahoka, along with the name of the donor, as it is to appear in the ad.

"Anyone unable to make the trip to the bank may call any Phebe K. Warner Club member to take your contribution to the bank," said a club representative.

Beginning Dec. 1, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District field data collection personnel will make annual depth-to-water level measurements to determine the effect of 2010 pumpage on groundwater levels of the Ogallala Aquifer within the district's service area

These measurements are made in a network of more than 1,200 privately-owned water wells. These observation wells are spaced at a density of about one well per nine square miles throughout the district.

A depth-to-water level measurement is made by lowering a steel tape to a pre-determined depth in the observation well. The first few feet of the tape lowered into each well is coated with carpenters' chalk, which turns a darker shade of blue when it contacts water.

The distance from land surface to the static water level is determined by subtracting the amount of tape with the darker blue chalk from the total feet of steel tape extended into the

After the measurement is made, a blue vinyl sticker with the observation well number, the depth-to-water level measurement, and the date of the measurement is affixed to the well equipment or other appropriate surface near the well site.

High Plains Water District field data collection personnel measure the same wells in the observation well network each year, as long as the individual wells are accessible and continue to provide satisfactory data. The current depth-to-water level measurements in individual wells are compared to those of previous years to determine the average annual change in water levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the district.

Maps showing the location and well number of the observation wells in each county or portion of a county served by the Water District are published each year in The Cross Section. The April issue contains tables listing observation wells in each county within the district and the average annual change in water levels for one year, fiveyear, and 10-year intervals.

"With the Nov. 2 special election complete, district personnel will contact landowners to establish the observation well network in the newly-annexed portions of the district, which include the northwest quadrant of Hockley County, the southwest quadrant of Lamb County, and all of Swisher County. Depthto-water level measurements made in 2011 will not contain these data," said Manager Jim Conkwright.

Tax tips given for holiday charitable giving

The spirit of giving seems to grow during the holiday season, and many donations are made to charitable causes at this special time of year. The IRS reminds taxpayers to keep some important points in mind when making donations with the expectation of deducting them on a federal tax return.

You can deduct donationsonly if you make them to a qualified organization. Most organizations other than churches. and governments must apply to: the IRS to become qualified.

"Search for many charitable." organizations online at IRS: gov with Publication 78," said Clay Sanford, an IRS spokesman in Dallas. "Otherwise." most organizations will be able: to tell you whether they are tax exempt under the Internal Revenue Code and eligible to accept tax-deductible donations." Qualified organizations include nonprofit groups that are religious, charitable, educational; scientific, or literary in purpose, or that work to prevent cruelty. to children or animals.

Sanford added that it is necessary to file Form 1040 and itemize deductions on Schedule A. Be sure to keep good records, too.

"There are recordkeeping requirements for cash contributions regardless of the amount." Sanford noted.

"Remember to keep a written communication from the charity with the name of the charity, date and amount of the contribution or a bank record--canceled checks will work, or bank statements containing the name of the charity, the date and amount."

ATTENTION CRP OWNERS & COTTON GROWERS

The demand for US grown ORGANIC COTTON continues to rise, and our largest customer, Anvil Knitwear, is working with Texas organic farmers to increase the acreage dedicated to ORGANIC COTTON farming.

- ORGANIC COTTON typically sells at a premium to conventional cotton.
- This presents a profitable opportunity for those who have an expiring CRP contract.
- We also have markets for cotton grown in the process of conversion to organic.
