Veterans Day - Nov. 11, 2012

Veterans Day originated as "Armistice Day" on Nov. 11, 1919, the first anniversary of the end of World War I. Congress passed a resolution in 1926 for an annual observance, and Nov. 11 became a national holiday beginning in 1938. President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed legislation in 1954 to change the name to Veterans Day as a way to honor those who served in all American wars.

Shigellosis outbreak at Tahoka Elementary affects 50+ children; state health officials contact parents

by JUANELL JONES

More than a fourth of the students in Tahoka Elementary School's Tubb Building (pre-K through 2nd grade) were absent or sent home last Friday after becoming ill with symptoms including diarrhea and vomiting, and high fever in some of the more severe cases. The illness is believed to be an outbreak of Shigellosis, which is an acute bacterial infection of the lining of the intestines.

Shigellosis is a reportable disease, meaning that an outbreak must be reported to the State Health Department. School officials reported names of students with the Shigellosis symptoms to the State Health Department, who reportedly is contacting parents by phone to check to see if the children still have the symptoms, to watch for fever, asking about siblings who may have been exposed, etc.

"Officially, only two cases of Shigellosis have been confirmed by the State Health Department as of today," Superintendent Steve Burselon told The News Monday afternoon, adding that the illness was confirmed by testing of cultures. "We had a few children absent or sent home last Thursday with the symptoms, but by Friday we had 57 students either absent or sent home, all in the Pre-Kindergarten through second grade campus (Tubb Building). Many of these children had the Shigellosis symptoms, but there are some out with Strep throat as well," he added.

There are 199 students in the Tubb Building, and 122 students in the Gardner Building (3rd-5th grade campus) at Tahoka ISD, with a total of 321 elementary students.

In addition to notifying the state health department, school officials also initiated an outreach to parents, by phone as well as sending a letter home with students on Friday warning parents to be aware of the symptoms of Shigellosis and to carefully monitor their children for signs of the illness, and asked them to keep children home if they became ill. The letter also asked parents to remind children to wash their hands to help prevent spreading the disease.

On Monday, 59 students were reported as absent due to illness, again mostly in the Tubb Building, but some were from the Gardner building as well. Supt. Burselon said two or three high school students may have had some symptoms as well.

"Last Friday, when we realized what we may be getting into, we began disinfecting bathrooms, desk tops, doorknobs and handles, etc. throughout the day," said the superintendent. "After students and staff left for the day, we made another full building sweep, disinfecting everything again. On Saturday, there was a junior high dance in the cafeteria, so we disinfected again on Sunday. We are closely monitoring the situation and will continue with a diligent disinfectant program until we can get past this. Hopefully by the end of this week the number of absences due to this type of illness will be zero," he added.

Supt. Burselon spoke with the younger students during the lunch period in the cafeteria, reminding them to wash their hands each time they went to the bathroom, as well as throughout the day. There are also hand sanitizer dispensers in each classroom, Burselon says, that are available for students and staff.

"I, personally, have not treated any patients with Shigellosis - yet," said Dr. Donald Freitag Monday morning at Lynn County Hospital Clinic, "but my office closed early on Friday. I understand that Melanie (Richburg) and Shannon (Hammonds) at the Family Wellness Clinic have treated several patients with these Wash your hands!

What is Shigellosis?

Shigellosis is an infectious disease caused by a group of bacteria called Shigella. Most who are infected with Shigella develop diarrhea, fever, and stomach cramps starting a day or two after they are exposed to the bacteria. The diarrhea is often bloody. Shigellosis usually resolves in 5 to 7 days. Some persons who are infected may have no symptoms at all, but may still pass the Shigella bacteria to others.

Not this time ... Dearius Poindexter (8) caught three touchdown passes for Hale Center against Tahoka, but this time, Kordell Baker (1) of Tahoka went up and intercepted the pass, a good defensive play which contributed to Tahoka's 27-24 win. No. 4 for Tahoka, also leaping for the ball, is Trystan Hilger. (LCN PHOTO by Abraham Vega)

Bulldogs in playoffs after beating Owls

The Tahoka Bulldogs survived an aerial bombardment from pass-happy Hale Center here last Friday, winning the game 27-24 and nailing down a berth in the playoffs in the process.

Tahoka could wind up tied for the district title with Sundown and New Deal, or as the third seed from District 2-A, depending on the outcomes of the final regular season games this week.

"I am extremely proud of the boys for staying 'together' and persevering to make the playoffs," said Coach John Cornelius. "We still have a shot at a share of the district championship if Sundown beats New Deal and we beat Lockney. Seeding will be decided after the last game. Due to points, Tahoka already has been eliminated from the No. 1 seed, and will be the No. 2 or No. 3 seed, depending on the results of the upcoming games.

"We will face either Sunray or Panhandle in the playoffs; they play each other Friday to determine seeding. There are three tentative playoff scenarios, depending on Friday's outcomes. The first possibility is a game against Panhandle at Dimmitt on Nov. 16; or playing Sunray at Plainview on Nov. 15; or against Sunray at Bushland on Nov. 16," said Cornelius.

The coach added that he feels the team is peaking at the right time, and "we have continued to improve throughout the season ... We are determined to not be satisfied with just making the playoffs. One of our goals is to finish strong, and we are not to the end yet."

Tahoka came from behind three times last Friday before Ke'Shawn Hood raced 23 yards for a touchdown with just 5 minutes left for what turned out to be the winning score. Hood also scored on a 3-yard run in the second quarter. The Bulldogs opened scoring in the first period with a 40-yard pass play from QB Trystan Hilger to Isiah Vega, and John Ryan Barrientez kicked the point.

Hale Center took the lead back in the first quarter when QB Lane Rossi passed

ELECTION RESULTS:

Alcohol sales approved in Tahoka

Packaged alcohol sales will soon be legal within the city limits of Tahoka, after city residents Tuesday voted in favor of the proposition by 427 to 291. The local option election regarding alcohol sales was the only issue on the city ballot for voters to consider.

Early voting numbers had closer margins, with 265 for and 202 against, but on Election Day the vote was 162 for and 89 against. There are a few provisional ballots to certify, but those will not change the outcome.

Tahoka City Council will canvass election results at their Monday night council meeting.

"The legalization will take effect at the time the results of the election are officially canvassed," said City Administrator Jerry Webster, quoting information from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission (TABC). The city secretary, within three days, must certify the results to the Secretary of State and TABC.

The City Council will consider a zoning ordinance and distance requirements from schools/churches for packaged alcohol sales at Monday night's meeting.

In the General Election, Lynn County voters chose Mitt Romney overwhelmingly over Barack Obama for U.S. President, joining other Texas voters in backing the Republican candidate. Overall in the United States, however, President Obama carried the election for another four-year term.

There were no locally contested races, with candidates a shoe-in for their respective positions in the county.

Of 3,867 registered voters in the county, 1,866 (48%) marked ballots in the General Election.

EVERYBODY says television is lousy and there's nothing worth watching on the tube, but then the average American will spend four hours a day watching TV. That's what a writer named Sean Fields said in a story in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal on Oct. 28, and I have to agree that he's probably correct.

He said that few people will admit they really like to watch TV, but nearly everybody does it anyway.

Okay, I admit I watch TV several hours a day, and that I frequently don't like what I am seeing. I especially don't like the way the Dallas Cowboys' football games usually end up. Sometimes I watch the replay of a game the next day, hoping it will come out different.

They say TV is educational, but about the only thing I remember learning for sure in the last year or two is that Doug has mesothelioma.

Some people leave their TV sets turned on almost all day, often with the sound off, just to have something going on. The A-J writer said this is not a good idea, because it significantly runs up your electric bill. I never had thought of that. He said, too, that the power bill goes up even more because it takes more for the air conditioner to offset the heat of the TV.

And I thought there was something wrong with my air conditioner just because it cut off only about 10 minutes a day during the summer. So it's costing me to watch TV, not to mention the fact that my satellite network occasionally screws up my bill (and lots of luck trying to get THAT straightened out).

Television is useless. I can't wait to get home and turn it on.

I WISH I HAD said that Dept.: Reader Gary Brazil wrote in this week that he agrees with my complaints against changing from Daylight Time, saying, "I, too, grow weary of having to stay up until 2 a.m. for the sole purpose of setting my clocks back one hour. To make matters worse, this morning I fell asleep and did not awaken until 3. So I set my clocks back two hours to correct that."

Seven people involved in altercation at residence

Tahoka Police Monday night were called to a residence in the city where a fight reportedly was in progress and eventually wound up issuing criminal trespass warnings to at least six persons, with two others mentioned in the police report, which noted that several persons claimed they had been assaulted by others and were given statement forms to return to the police.

No injuries requiring treatment were reported and no arrests made. Seven persons named in the report as "involved" ranged in age from 19 to 50, and included males and females.

Police also were advised last week by a 24-year-old Tahoka woman that she had been assaulted by a 33-year-old Tahoka man.

On Oct. 30, police arrested a 30-year-old Lubbock man after receiving a call describing a car related to theft of two vehicle batteries. When the car was located, the suspect fled on foot, but was caught about three blocks away. It was then learned that he faced other charges, including a warrant from Lubbock. He was jailed and charged with the warrant, evading arrest, expired drivers license, driving while license invalid, theft and no liability insurance.

Four other persons were jailed in Lynn County in the last week, including three for driving while intoxicated and one for burglary of a habitation. The jail was holding 10 persons early this week, with three held for Gaines County.

Book Fair raises funds for library

I would like to take the opportunity to thank those of you that visited the Book Fair last week. It was a 3-day event raising $4100. These funds will buy books for the Elementary library to keep our data updated with the newest materials for our students. Parent Night during the Fall Festival was a huge success and without you encouraging your children to read, these Scholastic Book Fairs would not be as profitable. A special thanks to my loyal volunteers that gave up their time to help out: Yolanda Aleman, Gloria DeLeon, Carol Miller, Liz Tew and Heather Jester, and Cindy Jolly. Ya'll are a great support system that I could not do without. Thanks again to the parents and students. Keep reading!!!

Thanks from Senior Citizens

While it was all quiet on October 26 at our Kelley Field, we were hosting our first fish fry.

The weather did not cooperate, but that did not stop our awesome volunteers. They set up in the old firehouse building and fried up some of the best fish and fries with onions ever eaten.

Thank you Judge Jerry Ford, Bruce Horwood, Kyle Larpenter, George Whitworth, Lynn and Karla Schmidt, Christian Nagar and Esmeralda Herrera for your tireless efforts. Thank you also to Bob Ballard and Tahoka Coop Gin for providing the oil for the fryers.

And let's not forget our angels in the kitchen: Rosa Longoria, Ruth Silvas, Lupe Vargas and Andrea Aleman. They prepared and served up the delicious coleslaw, black-eyed peas, lemon bars and a beverage, along with the fish and fries, to our guests.

Thank you also Lois Roberts for spending your evening greeting our guests.

Thank you Lynn County News and the City of Tahoka for getting the word out to the community about our fish fry.

Lastly, but by no means least, THANK YOU, THANK YOU to our guests who came out and supported our fish fry.

We were again blessed by everyone's generosity and caring hearts.

to Dearius Poindexter for 40 yards and a touchdown, followed by a pass for 2 points and later by a safety, giving the Owls a 10-7 lead going into the second quarter. Rossi put the ball up a whopping 39 times, completing 24 for 272 yards and three touchdowns, all to Poindexter.

The Bulldogs contributed to the air show, too, as Hilger completed 4 of 12 passes for 99 yards and two touchdowns.

In the second quarter, Tahoka went back into the lead 15-10 when Hood ran for a touchdown and Kordell Baker scored a 2-point conversion. Hale Center regained the lead in the second on a 61-yard pass and 2-point run by Rossi, making it 18-15 Owls at halftime.

In the third, Hilger passed 20 yards to Preston Hammonds for a TD, then Hale Center countered with an 11-yard pass, making it 24-21 at the end of the third. Tahoka's defense kept the Owls from scoring in the last quarter, while Hood ran for the deciding touchdown.

Ray Parmer was counted in on 18 tackles and Mikkel Garza had 10, including three sacks. Several other Bulldogs did very well on defense also.

Hood was the game's leading rusher, with 128 yards on 23 carries. Hilger also had 69 yards rushing, on 15 carries.

symptoms and that some children were admitted to Lynn County Hospital with those symptoms," he added.

"Symptoms include watery diarrhea, nausea and vomiting – and if it is severe we're not talking about one or two loose stools in a day, we're talking about 20 or 30 or 40 loose stools in a day, and fever with a temperature over 101 – and if it is bad enough a child can get dehydrated pretty quickly," Dr. Freitag explained. To help avoid serious dehydration, fluid intake is essential.

People infected with the bacteria release it into their stool. The bacteria can spread from an infected person by fecal oral contamination, such as a person not washing their hands after using the bathroom, which transfers the germs to their hands, and then touching other surfaces and people. Getting just a little bit of the Shigella bacteria into your mouth is enough to cause symptoms.

"There is a 1-4 day incubation period, so if you're going to get it, you will see symptoms pretty quickly. That's why all the kids got it at the same time, and it had the potential of a disastrous outbreak," said Dr. Freitag. "Hopefully, with the weekend away from school and all the kids not being together, the outbreak has already been contained. However, if the kids went home and spread it to other family members, we may see another round of Shigellosis with children and adults. The best way to prevent it – wash your hands, wash your hands, wash your hands!" he urged.

Symptoms include acute (sudden) abdominal pain or cramping; acute (sudden) fever; blood, mucus or pus in stool; crampy rectal pain; nausea and vomiting; and watery diarrhea.

Local child daycare providers have reportedly received phone calls from state health officials advising them to be aware that children in Tahoka are having symptoms of Shigellosis and to advise all parents to keep sick children at home to help prevent spreading the illness.

"I have been in the childcare business for over 27 years. Today is the first time ever that I received a phone call from the State Health Department advising me to be aware of an illness," said Cathy Ross, a local childcare provider. "I reported that I did have one child who was out sick when they called, and then the child ended up in the hospital with it," she added.

Family Nurse Practitioner Melanie Richburg, at the LCHD Family Wellness Clinic, confirmed that three patients with Shigellosis symptoms had been admitted to Lynn County Hospital, but that as of Monday all three had been treated and released. All three cases were children.

"Hospitalization is not uncommon for children with more severe symptoms," Richburg told The News. "Most cases involve a 24-hour admission, to get the IV fluid therapy and keep them from getting dehydrated."

She said that the Family Wellness Clinic has seen several patients with the Shigellosis symptoms, all under the age of 9 years.

"I haven't heard of any adults having symptoms," said Richburg. "Officially, Shigellosis can be confirmed only with culture testing, but if the symptoms are all there we are not testing cultures but are treating presumptively, since they have all been exposed to it. We can't wait until test results are back to treat them. Most cases of the illness

LETTER to the EDITOR

Thanks for the support
I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Tahoka community for supporting me in the participation in the Susan G. Komen 3-Day for the Cure. It was a very humbling experience walking 60 miles in 3 days with amazing friends. Because of your generosity, not only did it help me reach my goal but it will also help in research to save more lives. Again, thank you for making this mission possible, I could not have done it without you. I plan on making this an annual event with the Legacy Makers because we believe everyone deserves a life time.
Rhonda McNeely & The Legacy Makers Team

WISD implements ICU program to help students

Wilson ISD is implementing a new program, called an ICU Program, and is inviting the author of the book, Danny Hill, "The Power of ICU" to Wilson Schools to further implement this program.

Danny Hill will be in Wilson all day Monday, Nov. 12, and then the school is hosting a community/parent meeting that night at 6:30 in the high school auditorium.

"We encourage anyone in education who is interested to please join us, even if you are not from Wilson Schools," said a Wilson ISD representative.

The objective of ICU is to provide for the students a way to have mastery over their subjects rather than just giving up because they are behind or failing. They are given many opportunities to redo or makeup homework.

"We have morning ICU, before class begins, lunch ICU and after school ICU, all with certified tutors or teachers," said a Wilson ISD representative. "The real kick is that students must give up their own time to get their work done. It is not done during instructional time. These two principals got together and began working on the issue of student apathy and ways they could revive engagement and responsibility in students. If a student does unacceptable work, they are required to redo the work until it is acceptable. In this way we are teaching mastery of subjects instead of giving zeros because they didn't do the work," he explained.

See the hospital's new bone density machine at reception today

Area residents are invited to an Open House and reception at Lynn County Hospital this evening (Thursday) to see the hospital's newest piece of equipment - a bone density machine. The reception will be held from 5:30 until 6:30 p.m. in Suite B on the clinic side of the hospital.

The hospital purchased the GE Healthcare Lunar DXA bone densitometry machine that estimates a person's bone density and body composition (lean and fat tissue mass). Scanning can be done on various sites on the body: spine, upper leg, total body, and forearm. The patient's age, gender, population, ethnicity, height, weight, femur neck T-score and the presence or absence of several risk factors also play a part on the final results of the scan, according to Malena Vitolas, RT(R), Director of Radiology at Lynn County Hospital District.

"The machine includes a feature called the FRAX 10-year fracture risk. FRAX provides an estimate of a 10-year probability of a hip fracture and 10-year probability of a major osteoporotic fracture for men and postmenopausal women ages 40-90 years," explains Vitolas.

"Once a patient has an order from a physician, the scan is scheduled at the convenience of the patient," said Vitolas. "After the pre-examination questions, the patient will be taken to Suite B to be scanned. The scan itself lasts only 30 seconds per site," she added.

Once the scan is complete, the results are immediately transferred to the PACS system where they are digitally archived in the patient's imaging records. The results are also stored in the patient's electronic medical records. Both are accessible by their physicians.

"Bone density scan orders from practitioners other than those from LCHD, can also be done here at LCHD. The results are immediately faxed to the ordering practitioner," said Vitolas.

"Implementation of this scanner is going very well. All patients that have been scanned have been very pleased and said they are fortunate that this type of exam can be done here in Tahoka," she added.

We're Backing the Bulldogs!
