Area citizens are encouraged to come to the Tahoka High School football field this Friday night for the American Cancer Society Relay For Life event. The fun kicks off at 7 p.m. Friday night (June 21) and continues until 7 a.m. Saturday. Cancer survivors, community members, team members, and all area citizens are invited to attend and participate in the overnight community fundraising walk that raises funds for the American Cancer Society for cancer research.

Teams of people will camp out around the track, and members of each team take turns walking around the track throughout the 12-hour event. Food, games and activities provide entertainment for team members as well as for those who attend to support the event. After opening ceremonies at 7 p.m., the Survivors Lap will recognize all cancer survivors as they walk around the track, and a special Luminaria Ceremony with lighting of candles in bags lining the track is scheduled after dark.

There are several teams who have signed up to participate in the Relay, but anyone is welcome to participate in the event. Come for the opening ceremonies at 7 p.m. and stay to encourage walkers, or walk with them, and support the teams who will have booths with food for sale, games and other activities. Groups are welcome to form new teams to join in the fun, and should contact Julia Allen for more information.

All Lynn County cancer survivors and caregivers are invited to come walk the special Survivors Lap. Anyone interested in participating in this celebratory event should contact Julia Allen, chairman, at Lynn County Hospital District, phone 998-4533 ext. 333.

"Please, if you are a cancer survivor, come join us in the special Survivors Lap to celebrate your victory over cancer," says Allen. "Just call me for more information, and allow us the privilege of recognizing our local cancer survivors," she added.

See the RELAY FOR LIFE SCHEDULE OF EVENTS on Page 4.

THE OFFICIAL SPONSOR OF BIRTHDAYS!

During the Survivors Lap, all cancer survivors at the event take the first lap around the track, celebrating their victory over cancer while cheered on by the other participants who line the track. Relay For Life events also recognize and celebrate caregivers, who give time, love, and support to their friends, family, neighbors, and co-workers facing cancer.

The Luminaria Ceremony takes place after dark, and is a time to remember people who were lost to cancer, honor people who have fought cancer in the past, and support those whose fight continues. Candles are lit inside of personalized bags and are placed around the Relay track as glowing tributes to those who've been affected by cancer. The white paper bags may be purchased at the event, or prior to the Relay For Life at the hospital, Jolly Time Pizza, or The Lynn County News. Bags may be decorated and returned for the event, or purchasers (bags are $5 each) may ask the Luminaria committee to write the designated names on the bags for the ceremony.

An emotionally powerful Fight Back Ceremony inspires Relay participants to take action. The Fight Back Ceremony symbolizes the emotional commitment each person can make in the fight against cancer for ourselves, for our loved ones, and for our community to fight cancer year-round and to commit to saving lives.

This year, the American Cancer Society is observing their 100th year, with the theme "Finishing the Fight." According to ACS statistics, two out of three people now survive cancer, but their goal is to reach 3 for 3.

The ACS provides information and resources for cancer patients, day-to-day help and support groups, and emotional support for cancer victims and their families. As the world's largest private funder of cancer research, the ACS supports the best ideas of the brightest cancer researchers and has been involved in nearly every major cancer breakthrough in the past century, according to the ACS website.

In Lynn County during the past fiscal year, ACS has provided support to local cancer patients in the following ways: Breast Prosthetics - 1 person (prosthetic bras for post-surgery); Cancer Information - 2 people (pamphlets, specific information, etc.); Personal Health Manager - 2 people; Reach to

Storm brings good rain, some crop damage

Lynn County finally got a good rain Monday evening, with 2.45 inches officially measured in Tahoka, and varied but similar amounts throughout the county. The storms were sudden and fierce, and included some dreaded hail that shredded some of the young cotton crops.

In Tahoka, Monday's rain brought the total for the year to 7.15 inches, finally catching up to last year's total at this time, 7.11 inches. Flooding was reported in several places in the county, including under overpasses on highways through Tahoka.

Rainfall reports from individuals with rain gauges in the county varied from about 2 inches up to 4.5 inches measured in one spot on the east side of Tahoka. Several persons reported measuring rainfall at 3 inches or more.

Workers from the Soil and Water Conservation District office in Tahoka made a fast drive-by survey of most sections of Lynn County Tuesday and reported that most of the county's cotton crops appeared okay after the storm. However, they reported crops appeared to be wiped out around the edges of Tahoka, including south by the show barn and further south towards O'Donnell, as well as just west of Lynn County Hospital.

Further west and east of Tahoka, crops appeared okay to the SWCD observers, although some to the east appeared "pecked up a bit." No damage was noted around New Home or Wilson.

There were some unconfirmed reports of crop losses near Draw, and one man who farms in southern Lynn County bordering on Borden County said his crop was destroyed.

Uprooted... This large tree located at S. 6th and Ave N in Tahoka was uprooted after thunderstorms rolled through Lynn County on Monday evening. Several reports indicate high winds and hail were in these storms as they passed through the county. The official rain total was 2.45 inches. (LCN photo by Pam Elrod)

A Tribute to Andrew Nance

BY GORDON SMITH
June 10, 2013

I have just seen the film, "42," about the life of Jackie Robinson who was the first to break the racial barrier that existed in major league baseball. Now that took courage, but no more courage than it took Andrew Nance, a seventeen year old Tahoka teenager to break the racial barrier that existed in the public schools in Texas in 1955. Tahoka was one of the first, if not the first, to integrate in the state of Texas. I was back in Tahoka in July of 2002 for an athletic reunion and had the opportunity to visit with Andrew about his decision to enter Tahoka High School as a junior, which was my senior year.

He told me about his job cleaning the dental office of Dr. Kenneth Durham. Dr. Durham told Andrew that a law had been passed that would allow black students to integrate in white schools. He asked Andrew if he would like to go to school in Tahoka and Andrew replied that he would. Dr. Durham said he would present that request to the school board and they approved.

That first day of school in the fall of 1955 Andrew Nance

was greeted at the high school by Texas Rangers and local law officers to assure his safety. Andrew told me those were fearful days for him and his family... threats, phone calls, car scratched. He said that on one of those first days he was walking to school and passed in front of our house when a local man met him in the street and told him to turn around and go home (not exactly in those words). Andrew said that my mother and next door neighbor, Mrs. John Witt, saw what was taking place and confronted the man telling him to leave Andrew alone and let him go to school. The man left and one of the ladies then phoned the school and told Superintendent Otis Spears about the incident. Mr. Spears came and picked up Andrew and took him the rest of the way to school. That year his junior class elected him as one of their class officers and he ran the third leg on our sprint relay team.

"Andrew experienced several threatening situations during the two years at Tahoka High School, but his step-father, T. B. Bookman, encouraged Andrew to confront threats like a man. Later, as an adult, Andrew said he appreciated his step-father's advice because confronting this adversity during his formative teenage years made him a stronger adult. It particularly helped him as a minister of the gospel. It made him a better man, and he used these challenges in counseling and encouraging young people and adults in his congregations." (from an interview with Andrew Nance by Ken Durham, June 17, 2011)

Andrew Nance died last week. I can only speculate, but I suspect that when Andrew entered those pearly gates he heard the Father say, "Welcome home, Andrew. Well done good and faithful servant." And perhaps Andrew responded, "Father, it's good to be home."

Obituaries by Dalton Woodwork

Marion Otis Spears

Memorial services for Marion Otis Spears of Roswell, N.M., formerly of Tahoka, were held at 11 a.m. Friday, June 14, at Westminster Presbyterian Church with Pastor Randy Nolen officiating. Military honors were provided by Roswell Veteran Honor Guard. He passed away on Wednesday, June 12, 2013. He was 99 years of age and was loved by all who knew him.

Mr. Spears was born in Boswell, Oklahoma on December 8, 1913 to John Marshall Spears II and Nina Gertrude Alewine Spears. When he was nine years old his family moved by train to Tahoka. He served in the Air Force during World War II as a glider pilot instructor. He obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Tech University in Lubbock. After serving as head teacher and principal in several west Texas towns, he was superintendent of Tahoka public schools for three years. He retired from the Texas school system and moved to New Mexico where he was a classroom teacher for three years in Ruidoso area. He then became superintendent of the Quemado, NM school system. After a three-year tenure there, he went to Ilo, Peru, where he was the head teacher for American dependents whose parents worked for Southern Peru Copper Corporation. After returning from Peru, he had various jobs in his retirement including working as a mobile tool salesman to having his own cleaning service with his wife, Christine.

He was preceded in death by his parents, son, Monty Gail, sisters, Winnie Bartley and Lois Jaynes, brother, Wayne, and granddaughter, Wendy Spears Fitzpatrick.

He is survived by his wife of 36 years, Christine of the family home; two sons, Terry Spears and wife, Cheri of Bartlesville, OK.; Tom Spears and his wife, Jona of Grants, NM; one step-son, Barry Williams and his wife, Maria Cristina of Portland, OR; two step daughters, Susan Arvizu and husband, Bobby of Whidbey Island, WA, and Hazel Yoshida of Menifee, CA; step-children, Ian Williams of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada and Shirley Williams Yuen of Victoria BC, Canada; 13 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and numerous nieces and nephews.

AN INTERNET HOME PAGE, called MSN, recently printed some computer-generated photos of what people may look like in 100,000 years, and the most obvious change predicted is that people will have much larger heads and really big eyes.

MSN took a light-hearted view of the predictions, which are attributed to some guy with a doctorate in Computational Genomics, whatever that means. Anyway, this guy showed pictures of a young man and woman as they look today and then showed the same couple with huge round eyes, big heads and darker skin.

Dr. Alan Kwan, whose location was not revealed, said humans messing around with DNA will engineer larger eyes "so we can see in dimmer colonies off Earth and bigger craniums to accommodate super-brains," and people will develop darker skin to handle ultraviolet exposure, and thicker eyelids to adapt to low-gravity environments.

Well, if heads are going to grow larger to handle bigger brains, then I predict that people elected to Congress in the next 100 years or so will find their heads shrinking down to marble-size. And if we accept that people of the future will have huge eyes and big heads, then maybe this explains the Roswell sightings of the 1940s. All the drawings from sources who claim to have seen the aliens who may have crashed a spacecraft show big-eyed, big-headed beings.

So maybe they weren't aliens, but humans who evolved and then figured out time-travel, only to get caught in a dust storm that caused them to crash.

Actually, I doubt there will be any people, bug-eyed or otherwise, in 100,000 years. That's a long time. Our granddaughter says she expects to pay off her student loan by then.

I TOLD MY DOCTOR that certain joints were giving me problems, and he said that at my age, I should know to stay out of those joints. And then he told me he was going to put me on steroids for awhile.

I thought steroids were only for athletes who wanted to cheat, taking something to make them bigger and stronger (and richer, if professional). Later, the doctor told me that these are not the same kind of steroids used to help athletes cheat.

I'm not so sure, though. I dropped one of those little pills on the floor and the dog ate it. Two hours later I saw him out in the backyard doing pushups.

Traffic accident, more family violence in city

Three more incidents of family violence were reported in Tahoka during the last week, and three of four persons arrested in those incidents were female.

A Lubbock woman also was processed at the jail last week on a 106th District Grand Jury indictment for driving while intoxicated, third offense or more. She is Lee Ann Thedford, 34.

Police also investigated a traffic accident in which a man lost control of his 1988 Chevrolet pickup and ran into a tree in the 1200-block of S. Ave. E Saturday. The driver, Juan Gutierrez Jr., 38, of Tahoka, apparently was not injured.

On Friday, police arrested a 16-year-old who struck her mother and reportedly attempted to stab her brother. The case was turned over to juvenile probation officials.

On Sunday a 34-year-old woman was arrested after a 33-year-old man at the same address had suffered apparently minor facial injuries. And a 41-year-old woman and a 37-year-old man were arrested after both suffered facial and other scratches, also on Sunday.

Twenty persons were being held in Lynn County jail early this week, with two held for Andrews County. Latest arrests were for grand jury indictment for driving while intoxicated, third offense or more, possession of controlled substance, driving while license invalid with previous conviction, and DWI third offense or more.

Wilson ISD to interview superintendent candidates

The Wilson ISD Board of Trustees plans to interview candidates for the open superintendent position during a special meeting scheduled for 6 p.m., Tuesday, June 25. The meeting will be in the Wilson school library.

The action was taken during the board's regular meeting June 6. In other business, the board authorized Interim Supt. Byron Shelley to adjust the salary of Principal Brenda Prather. The board also accepted the resignation of girls basketball coach Kasoy Long, approved the 2013-2015 bank depository contract with First Bank & Trust of Wilson, approved a confidentiality agreement with the Teacher Appraisal System, and adopted an updated slate of local district policies.

The board's next regular meeting is scheduled July 9. Official meeting notices are posted on the door of the school library, and on the district's website at <http://wilson.esc17.net/vnews/display.v/SEC/DistrictSchool%20Board> by clicking the "Public Board-Book" link.

Reward for excellence ... THS Principal Jeff Perez presents student McKenzie Dimak with the grand prize of a mini iPad at the end of the school year recently. Dimak was the PBIS (Positive Behavioral Intervention and Support) winner of the reward of excellence for the entire year, chosen from among students meeting qualifications of having no tardies, passing all classes, and no discipline referrals.

Best behavior ... Tahoka High School Principal Jeff Perez presents student Preston Hammonds with a $50 prize. His name was chosen from a group of students that met the qualifications of having no tardies, passing all classes, and no discipline referrals, as part of a program called PBIS, Positive Behavioral Intervention and Support, this past year. Hammonds was the PBIS winner of the reward for excellence for the 2nd semester.

Recovery - 1 person (personal in-home visit to a breast cancer survivor from a trained volunteer, includes handmade underarm pillow, information and support group connection); and Transportation Gas Card - 4 people (gas cards to assist with defraying costs of travel to get to treatment usually in $200 increments).

Since its opening in 2010, two Lynn County citizens have stayed at Hope Lodge while undergoing treatment for a total of 44 nights. "That's a savings to those patients in hotel costs alone of over $5,000, not to mention the gas savings and food costs with the groups in Lubbock that come to provide meals there," stated Keith Patrick with the Lubbock ACS office.

"Every 26 seconds someone calls us at 1-800-227-2345 regarding cancer concerns and for guidelines to reduce cancer risks or detect it early," said an ACS representative. "We are available 23 hours a day, seven days a week, to listen and help at the ACS hotline."

The ACS sponsors awareness campaigns on prevention and early detection of cancer, and educational programs on early detection of colon cancer, breast cancer, and others. They also sponsor prevention programs such as Great American Smokeout, Choose You, and Active For Life. Patient educational materials are also provided through treatment centers.

For more information about the ACS, visit their website at cancer.org.

Greenbelt Bowl participant ... Jacob Arriazola, a recent Tahoka High graduate, participated in the Greenbelt Bowl held last Saturday in Childress. He is shown here with Tahoka coaches Caleb Nies, John Cornelius and Brandon Hopper. The Greenbelt Bowl offers high school football players from smaller schools an opportunity to showcase their football talents for potential colleges. Hundreds of coaches and game officials donate their time and talents to the game each year. Also participating in the Greenbelt Bowl were Zach Paul and Josh Paul from New Home.

The camp is designed to improve fundamentals, such as dribbling, passing and shooting. Camp is free and campers are welcome to come on whichever days they prefer. For more information, call 806-561-4414.

Honoring a veteran... Jay Ibarra, left, District Representative for US Representative Randy Neugebauer, presents US Army veteran Curtis Jester, owner of CDS Beer, Liquor & Wine, with a U.S. Flag that was flown at the State Capital in Austin in appreciation of his service to our country, and in honor of opening his new business in Tahoka.

Burnout
Ephesians 3:14-21
Feeling burnt out, disillusioned, exhausted or lonely? At some point on the road of life we all hit "empty." When it happens to you, it's time to pray Paul's prayer here ~ and expect God to answer it. Ask God to strengthen your inner self ~ because only Christ can fill the emptiness in your heart. Ask God to help you grasp a measure of his immeasurable love for you ~ to experience it yourself so that you may be filled with the fullness of God. His unfathomable love is always the renewing antidote for burnout. It may take time, but God will answer.

Casual Vacancy
by J.K. Rowling

The early death of a small town councilman reveals deep-rooted conflicts in the seemingly idyllic community of Pagford, which rapidly deteriorates in the face of cultural disputes, generation clashes, and a volatile election.

Mad River
by John Sandford

When three teenagers with dead-end prospects begin a Bonnie-and-Clyde killing and robbery spree through rural Minnesota and send footage of some of their exploits to a local television station, Bureau of Criminal Apprehension investigator Virgil Flowers joins a growing number of cops trying to stop them only to encounter a shocking turn of events. (Mystery/Suspense)

FSA County Committee nominations are currently underway

Lynn County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Rodney Schoppa, announced that county committee election nominations began on June 17, 2013. Farmers, ranchers and landowners are encouraged to nominate candidates to serve on their local FSA county committee by the August 1, 2013 deadline.

Elected county committee members serve a three-year term and are responsible for making decisions on FSA disaster, conservation, commodity and price support programs, as well as other important federal farm program issues. County committees are comprised of three to 11 members. Producers may nominate themselves or others as candidates. Organizations that represent minority and women farmers and ranchers may also nominate candidates. Nominees must participate or cooperate in a program administered by FSA, be eligible to vote in a county committee election and reside in the local administrative area (LAA) in which the person is a candidate. To become a nominee, eligible individuals must sign form FSA-669A. The form and more information about county committee elections are available online at fsa.usda.gov/elections.

For more information about county committees, please contact the Lynn County FSA office at 806-998-4501.
