Heritage Program Tells Stories Of Civil War

An American Heritage program recalling the Civil War, the emotions of the soldiers of both the North and South, the American people as well as the highlights of the battles and the meetings of famous officers of both armies was portrayed at the annual event held in Muleshoe High School auditorium, Monday May 15.

Two presentations were given with grades eight through 12 attending the 10 a.m. program and grades three through seven attending the 11 a.m. production. Members of the faculty and adults also attended the impressive program.

Following the invocation, Scott Bliss and Rusty Peery, dressed in their Boy Scout uniforms, presented the colors to the accompaniment of the distant drum roll. The audience remained standing while the Muleshoe band played and the choir sang the National Anthem.

The war story was told in colorful drama with the band and choir alternately playing and singing which supplied the aftermath of feeling following the narration of highlights of this historical happening.

The far-away sound of the bugle and the drums was a background for portions of the story.

The first number was the "American Panorama." "The Ballad of the North and South" was presented by the Choir and band. Gary Edwards, a Tech freshman, was the narrator and John Gulley, a junior, Mickey Wilson, a senior, Brenda Tanner, a senior, Neil Finley, a senior and Kerry Moore, speech instructor, were featured in special speaking parts of the ballad. This ballad told the story of the Civil War through songs and instrumental numbers. The following selections were played: "No More Shall the War Cry Sever," "Old Abe Lincoln," "Dixie," "The Bonnie Blue Flag," "John Brown's Body," "The Battle Cry of Freedom," "The Girl I Left Behind," "Yellow Rose of Texas," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "We Are Coming Father Abraham," "Kingdom Coming," "Go Down Moses," "Sherman's March to the Sea," and "My Captain Does Answer." The choir gave the "Statue of Liberty" or "The New Colossus." As a finale the full choir and band rendered "This is My Country."

Neal Dillman, Superintendent Schools, especially encourages this patriotic event each year. Bob Breckenridge, band director, Leasel Richardson, choral director and Kerry Moore, speech instructor, directed the program.

Approximately 120 students participated and over 1700 students and adults saw the performance.

NARRATOR --- Gary Edwards capably handled the narration of the highlights of the Civil War during the American Heritage program Monday.

Why Industrial Development

As you probably gathered from what you have read recently, the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation has asked the community to work with it in an industrial development program. The members of the Chamber of Commerce, most of whom are merchants and businessmen, want more industry because it will mean more payrolls and more people with more money to buy the goods and services they have to sell. It is largely a business proposition to them and it is a good one.

But what does it mean to you? More jobs mean more competition for employees. The plant or plants that the merchants want to come here will be looking for employees. They will look first right here in Muleshoe; they will welcome your application, and if you qualify, they will probably offer you a job. They know that in order to get you to quit where you are working now they are going to have to make that change worthwhile, so their pay scale will be set accordingly. Your boss knows that. He knows, too, that to keep his good employees he is going to have to make staying more attractive than changing. That probably means higher wages. You see, either way it looks like industrial development in Muleshoe can mean a pay raise for you.

Your boss won't mind giving you a raise under those circumstances. After all, new workers with higher pay mean more sales to him. More sales mean more profits, and it is from those profits that your raise will come. Don't let anybody kid you into believing that story that goes around in so many towns that "They aren't going to let in anybody who pays real wages, because they don't want to meet the competition."

The ones that are going to get the most out of this industrial development are the people who work here in Muleshoe. You are going to have better jobs, no matter where you work, and in addition you will have a nicer town. You are going to be able to buy more things (and remember, that is what merchants want, to sell you more things). You have an awful lot to gain from industrial development and nothing to lose.

The Chamber of Commerce will take care of gathering information and mailing out brochures. There is a job that you can do, too. For one thing, you can keep your eyes and ears open for people who might be looking for a new place to locate a factory or who could be good prospects. Another thing you can do is to plug the town to strangers, talk up the good, help fix up the bad. Help keep the town looking nice and let everyone know that you believe that this is the nicest town in Texas with the best people in it.

Emceeding the evening's entertainment will be Bill Brown, Lubbock, who is well-known for his amazing flow of witticisms and laughter provoking stories...and let no one forget his bag of magician's tricks, complete with audience participation, all of which produces a special added attraction to the variety of entertainment.

Drivers who received certificates were: Burel Block, Arthur Bolton, Barbara Burton, Georgia Jackson, Mary Johnson, Louise King, Frank Murdock, Rollie McNutt, Jim Perry, Wendell Speck and George Washington.

The awards were signed by Superintendent Dillman and Texas Safety Association President S. Ross Carr and General Manager J.O. Musick.

Water Meet Set May 24

A mass water meeting is slated for Wednesday, May 24 at 2 p.m. at Koko Palace, Lubbock, where history will be in the making, literally.

An association called WATER, Inc. will be organized... the first step toward an ample supply of water on the Plains for irrigation of 18 million acres (compared to 5 1/2 million under irrigation now) for cities, for industry and recreation.

Engineers say it can be done! Economists say so, Government says so, but the people of the area must show the state and the nation "we want the water," officials stress. "Show them by organizing and working for it. It's not enough to just 'say' we want it and wait for somebody to bring it to us.

Charter and By-Laws for WATER, Inc. are drawn. They will be explained at the meeting and if approved, directors will be elected.

Some engineering studies have already been made, others are in progress. A representative of a major engineering firm will report on these. An official of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation will tell what the Bureau has done and plans to do towards importing water to this area. The U.S. Corps of Engineers will send a man to do the same. A member of the Texas Water Development Board will be on hand to explain that group's part in the project, and it's considered a substantial part.

And, so far as possible within the limits of man's imagination, there will be an analysis of the economic impact that can be expected in the area. Gross annual income from agriculture alone should triple from an average of about $500,000.00 to at least $1,500,000.00, according to the Plains Cotton Growers Cotton Review. This is not allowing for any technical advancements, increased demand for agricultural products or any of the other improvements that area reasonable certainty. A jump in land values can be expected long before the water gets here... in fact the minute it becomes known a contract for water will be signed, and that could be in a very few years if things progress according to plan, the review related.

Experts in the field are saying the possibility is for three to five million acre feet within about 10 years, then 15 to 18 million acre feet (from out of state) in about 20 years. The report stated that power supply breakthroughs, engineering developments and the cry of the world for food could well set the latter part of that timetable up by several years.

Funds Grow For July 4 Program

Funds are swelling for the gigantic July 4 celebration. The mark of some $1,000 has been reached with some $800-$900. lacking for the entertainment which should draw a 10,000 person crowd to town for the one-day celebration.

Those who have not given to the support of the annual event are asked to call the Chamber of Commerce office in order that the program of entertainment may be secured by the deadline set, June 9.

Bob Janca, Chamber manager, said the fireworks for the fabulous display were on order.

If you filed your tax return at 11:59 p.m. on April 17, and have been perturbed that you haven't received your refund, it will pay you to calm down. The electronic machines can compute hundreds of items on thousands of taxpayers returns before you can say "Send me my refund." But the machine can't work on the return until the humans open the mail, check the information on the return, prepare the punch cards, and give the electronic monster a crack at it. Internal Revenue reports excellent progress on sending out refunds, but advises patience.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK, One of the prime topics of discussion in cotton circles today, from producers through the textile industry, is the possible need for increased cotton production in 1968.

The subject is slated for its first formal treatment by producers on May 23 when American Cotton Producers Associates meet in Washington. ACPA is made up of representatives from virtually all of the nation's regional and state cotton producer associations, including Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

Shippers, mills and some producers began calling on the Department of Agriculture to permit additional production in 1967, basing the need on a possible shortage of good quality cotton production 1-1/16 inches or longer.

The stock of such cottons in Commodity Credit Corporation is just about gone and those advocating increased acreage for 1968 contend that privately held stocks plus 1967 production will be inadequate to meet market demands.

V. A. Maudr, president of the Houston Cotton Exchange, said last month "The surplus of longer staple cotton in desirable micronaire is now nearly exhausted and we are faced with an extremely serious problem for this coming season....Not only shall we not have enough desirable cotton for our domestic mills but also for export to our traditional customers...."

"These markets will turn to the foreign growths because the prices of American cotton will be prohibitive due to the fact that our domestic mills will be forced to pay such high prices in order to secure the needed qualities out of the very small crop."

USDA staff economist Frank Lowenstein views the situation in a slightly different light. Speaking to the Cotton Buyers Division of the South Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association about two weeks ago, he said "During the 1966-67 season we estimate that about 39 percent of our supply will be 1-1/16 inches and longer. This is the smallest proportion of the supply in these staple lengths since 1958 and represents about 10.2 million bales."

After stating that the 1966-67 supply of shorter staples, under one inch, was about 32.6 percent of the total, or 8.5 million bales, he said "These proportions are significant, but they do not spell a shortage for the longer cotton during the current season. We expect the carry-over of cotton which is 1-1/16 inches and longer to be well over 2 million bales on August 1, 1967, but CCC will own little of this cotton."

Lowenstein went on to say that the proportion of longer staple cotton in the 1967 crop is expected to be greater, and that together with the carryover should "provide a sufficient supply of cotton 1-1/16 inches and longer."

Even so, at the conclusion of his address he conceded that the 1968 cotton program would likely be modified. "If developments next season (consumption developments) are as good as in the current season, a larger cotton crop and more acreage may be needed in 1968," he said.

Producers naturally favor acreage and production increases if they can be had without disrupting the anticipated benefits from declining surplus stocks. So their greatest concern is that the method or methods used to achieve an increase be one which will not adversely affect income, if and when such an increase is found desirable.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, there are various routes USDA could take. It is generally accepted that an administrative revision of the rules to permit skip-row planting without penalty would bring about a larger crop as well as an improvement of overall quality, and some observers feel such a change is definitely coming.

Reducing the current 12.5 percent of allotments which producers are required to divert in order to participate in the program might also lead to greater planted acreage. But there would be no guarantee of increased plantings unless this move were coupled with a reduction in the payment for diverted acreage to make them economically attractive.

Another method which has been mentioned would be reducing the payment rate on only that acreage, between the minimum 12.5 percent and the maximum 35 percent, which producers may voluntarily divert. This would be a substantial blow to producer income and many believe would create serious administrative problems.

The law requires that payments on mandatory diversion be at least 25 percent of parity, which this year comes to 10.78 cents per pound times projected yield. On acreage voluntarily diverted, the Secretary may set the payment rate anywhere between zero and 40 percent of parity.

It is considered possible, but not very likely in view of the language of the law, that the domestic allotment percentage, now 65 percent of total allotments, could be raised. In effect this would reduce the maximum permissible diversion with payment. But it is difficult to see just how the Secretary would justify such a change under the formula he has been given in the law for calculating domestic allotments.

These, and perhaps others, are some of the possibilities that ACPA will be considering on May 23.

If producers from across the belt can reach agreement on which of the alternative methods would be most desirable, they may be able to significantly influence the Secretary's final decision on the matter.

If not, the best interests of the cotton industry may again play second fiddle to lesser considerations.

The program is now set for a public meeting on May 24 to form Water, Inc., a planning organization which will work toward the importation of water to the West Texas area for use in agriculture, industry, cities and recreation, according to J. D. Smith of Littlefield.

Smith, who is president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is serving as chairman of the Membership and Organization Committee of the new water organization. He said the meeting would begin at 2:00 p.m. in the KoKo Palace, Lubbock, and emphasized the importance of the meeting to all who have a stake in the future of West Texas.

CABLE MUST BE KEPT IN GOOD REPAIR

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Visitors to Cape Kennedy frequently see an old freighter berthed at Port Canaveral.

The ship does not carry ordinary cargo. Her holds contain huge coils of cable and tools to repair or replace sections of a 1,600-mile communications life-line.

Stretched between the cape and Antigua, West Indies, the cable lies on the ocean floor. It links several downrange stations with the cape's nerve center.

The 158-foot ship, operated by Pan American's prime contractor on the Eastern Test range, is skippered by Capt. J.B. Fitzpatrick. He has navigated the maze of islands, cays and treacherous reefs along the cable route through the Bahamas and Caicos Islands for the past seven years.

Pig in the Parlor

Is an ugly junk yard a nuisance? Is a noisy radio a nuisance? Is an odoriferous henhouse a nuisance? Consider this definition by the United States Supreme Court: "A nuisance may be merely a right thing in the wrong place—like a pig in the parlor."

In other words, in complaining about an annoyance, it is not enough for you to point out how it looks, sounds, or smells. You must also show that it is not appropriate to the location.

For in the eyes of the law, when you choose your residence you are also choosing your environment. Choose the amenities and the excitement of the city, and you also choose its clutter and its dirt. They are a normal—even an essential—feature of urban living. As one judge put it:

"Without smoke, Pittsburgh would have remained a very pretty village."

Complaints about nuisances may be judged not only in terms of the general community or the particular neighborhood but even in terms of feet and inches. For example:

A home owner was denied an injunction against cooking odors blown from the house next door, when the court ascertained that there was a space almost 30 feet wide between the two buildings.

But an apartment dweller was granted relief from the cabbage and onion fumes aimed his way by the people directly across the hall.

Of course, to the person annoyed, the mere location of the annoyance is not the whole story. Not every individual has the same "threshold" of irritation. A smell or noise that vexes one neighbor may leave another—equally close to the source—totally unconcerned.

As a practical matter, the law must decide according to average, not individual, tastes and sensibilities. Thus, a court refused to interfere with blasting noises which were irksome only to an especially nervous woman in the neighborhood.

Even if it tried, the law could not please everybody.

Bula P-TA Officers Installed

Mrs. Ed Thompson of Olton, president of Lamb-Bailey Bi-County P-TA Council, was the installing officer for the Bula P-TA Monday night. New officers are Mrs. Keith Hanson, president; Mrs. J. C. Snitker, vice - president; Mrs. L. L. Clawson, secretary; Keith Hanson, treasurer.

Mrs. Terry Blake, president having charge of the meeting Mrs. Bradley Robertson read the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer report was given by Mrs. Bill Sowder. John Hubbard gave the invocation, Mrs. Blake having pamphlets on "Smoking" by medical authorities and was suggested these be given to children in the 6-7-8 grades, ages when the desire for smoking really starts.

"Dedication", was the theme for Mrs. Thompson's remarks for the installation service.

Mrs. Thompson brought out a few points on attitude as a member and as an officer in P-TA work. She compared the duties to parts of our bodies, if one part is injured and can't perform its duties it puts a hardship on other parts, likewise P-TA work. She used the parable of the sower as in Mark chapter 3. When we join P-TA some start out to do everything we can, then fall by the wayside, some find excuses, too busy, etc., But there is always a faithful few, who will serve in any capacity they are asked to do, so be one of the few. We can do something if we will all pull together, and our P-TA work will turn out to be a success.

Following the installation services, John Hubbard presented the retiring president, Mrs. Blake, with a Past President's pin. Mrs. Blake presented Mrs. Thompson with a gift of appreciation from the Bula P-TA.

The new president Mrs. Hanson taking charge and announced the chairmans for different committee for year 1967-68. They are Mrs. J. C. Snitker, program; Mrs. Bill Sowder, membership; Mrs. John Hubbard, hospitality; John Hubbard, legislation; Sandra Austin, publication; Leon Kessler, education for family living; Leo Buscher, character and spiritual education; She also announced there will be a Leadership Course, for all new officers to be held at the Willie Wirehand room in the REA building, Littlefield Tuesday May 16, from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Accompanying Mrs. J. Thompson were Mrs. C. M. Moss, new president of Olton P-TA, and Mrs. John Vauable, Spade, new Bi-County Council president.

If you're planning A WEDDING

If you are a bride-to-be, you should expect to be a little nervous on your wedding day. Don't worry about it.

It may be best not to dwell on relieving anxiety before it occurs, as one bride did.

She saw an advertisement addressed to engaged girls, advising that a particular sedative taken on the wedding day would put her completely at ease. Her mother tried to dissuade her, but, she says her daughter was brainwashed.

The result: Daughter could barely walk down the aisle in her beautiful heirloom wedding dress. She was shaking, twisting, giggling, sobbing as she tried to make responses, none was audible.

It didn't spoil the wedding but it made the guests nervous too.

At the reception, the bride became calmer as the hours went on, and by the time the couple departed for an island honeymoon, she was her own beautiful, calm self again.

Nervousness isn't limited to brides. Grooms have jitters too, sometimes even more than their brides.

A widower planning remarriage has a problem of another sort. Both he and his daughter planned to marry at the same time, each wanting to surprise the other with the news.

"I decided not to tell my daughter the news until our plans were all set. We bought a little house and had been furnishing it, planning that we would be married when my daughter came home from college on her summer vacation.

"Out of the blue, she wrote that she planned to get married, and she chose the same month. What a dilemma! We didn't want our plans to detract from hers; but, meanwhile, we have the house and we're paying rent on two other places."

Dad wanted a quiet wedding, and he can still have one. He can get married right away, and all the congratulations will have been made by the time daughter has her own wedding a few months from now. She'll have two parents instead of one to wish her well.

Another bride-to-be problem is that the bride's family cannot afford to give a large reception, and the groom's well-heeled family more or less expects it because of so many friends. The groom has even suggested that his family share expenses, but the bride says "I don't want that over my head for the rest of my life."

A good alternative to this situation is to have the small wedding reception with immediate family, and let the groom's family give a smashing rehearsal dinner. This can be done as elaborately as they wish, with orchestra, the works. It is the one big expenditure the groom's family may make. The event calls for inviting the entire bridal party, family and as many friends as they wish to ask. It can become a very costly event, if it will make them feel better.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

In modern home planning, you plant your yard to be a back-drop for your living room and a setting for your house. Today we think the outdoors is to look at as well as to live in.

Framed by your windows, your garden becomes an endlessly fascinating picture. This picture changes not only from day to day, but from hour to hour as the sun moves.

A choice plant, a fountain or a fish pond can become a focal point a prime subject, without which no garden is complete.

Plan your garden step by step. Don't try to live with an arrangement you don't like just because it is on the plan. Keep flexible and change your plan if results don't appeal to you.

Contrasts mean drama in gardening. Contrast sun and shade, hard surfaces and velvet soft surfaces.

The latest trend is to lay down foundation planting. Let a few choice, well-kept accents take care of tying the house to the ground.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN--Crucial, make-or-break decisions on state spending confront legislators this week as they enter the windup of their 1967 session.

Senators have submitted a $437,700,000 budget for 1968. This was followed by a bill providing $55,500,000 for teacher pay raises (an average of $640 a year).

House action was delayed by printing problems, but representatives were due to take up the Senate bill and substitute their own appropriations measure calling for $449,400,000 in general fund outlays. House bill would leave about $35,000,000 for such add-on spending as teacher pay raises.

Big unanswered question is whether the House will be able to convince a majority of senators to accept the House appropriations measure without a conference committee.

Speaker Ben Barnes and Gov. John Connally have been working for Senate support of the House bill.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Senate leadership feel differences between House and Senate bills should be worked out as usual -- in a joint conference of five senators and five representatives.

Senate's more-generous figure for teacher pay makes the selling job somewhat harder for the House. But the fact that its bill runs some $12,000,000 over the latest general re-

JESSE T. GEORGE

Representative Jesse T. George, Brownfield-Leveland, area today pointed out that S.B. 465, the milk price fixing bill, would cost the housewives of Texas untold thousands of dollars in higher prices for milk, ice cream, and other dairy products and that it would also add tremendous additional cost to the school districts, counties and other public institutions who could no longer purchase milk on competitive bids.

Rep. George called attention to a statement made by the Atlanta Board of Education in Atlanta, Georgia, where a similar milk price-fixing bill was being contested in court, in which the Atlanta School Board stated that if they were denied the right to buy milk "in an open and competitive market" the board would pay more than $400,000 this year and about $525,000 next year as additional cost for milk supplies for the school system.

Rep. George emphasized that the price of milk was only 99¢ per gallon in the competitive market in Atlanta as reported by the Atlanta Journal in its issue of May 5, 1967, but under the milk price-fixing order the price would have been automatically increased to $1.11 per gallon plus 25¢ for glass containers.

"Our schools in Texas are having a difficult time now in supplying nutritious meals in school cafeterias, and it would be highly discriminatory to add excessive costs to the present food bill for the public schools and hospitals when all of their other expenses are such a problem," George said.

Rep. George stated that although he was not a member of the House State Affairs Committee which will hold a public hearing on H. B. 465 at its meeting held at 7:30 p.m. Monday (May 15, 1967), that he was greatly encouraged by the position to the milk price-fixing bill.

"The consumers should write their legislators and voice their objections to this price-fixing bill which will take money out of their pockets just as much as would a tax bill," George said. "Every hospital and rest-home that is struggling now to meet its bills would be hard pressed to meet rising pay-rolls and higher costs without the burden of higher milk and dairy food prices fixed by the proposed law."

George pointed out that the bill had apparently been passed by the Senate before the public had been told about its effect in increasing milk prices. "It now seems that the members of the House are better informed as to the unfair price increases which this bill would cause, since no House member has yet agreed to handle the bill," he said.

venue forecast of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert weakens the Senate argument for the bigger pay raise.

Outcome will determine whether the Legislature must go into special session this year to finish writing even a one-year-budget.

Still on the unfinished business list: congressional, legislative and judicial re-districting bills.

Governor Connally recommended the measure as an aid to strengthening water pollution control. Bill will create a seven-member board with its own professional staff and provide for local enforcement of water quality standards.

TRINITY BILL PASSES-- Both houses have passed the bill giving the 17-county Trinity River Authority navigation powers and additional tax leeway to further their longtime goal of barge traffic.

Bill by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine increases tax exemption for long-lines trucks and buses. Railroads earlier got an exemption as direct competitors of barges.

Counties of TRA are Anderson, Chambers, Dallas, Ellis, Freestone, Henderson, Houston, Kaufman, Liberty, Leon, Madison, Navarro, Polk, San Jacinto, Tarrant, Trinity and Walker.

STATE PROPERTY TAX NEAR

END? -- The proposed constitutional amendment to phase out bulk of the state's 47 cents per $100 valuation property tax levy by 1977 is near legislative approval.

Senate has passed it and the House Constitutional Amendment Committee has recommended it. Proposal would go to the voters in November, 1968. If measure is approved, all but 10 cents of the state ad valorem tax (that which is earmarked for state college construction) would be wiped out by December 31, 1976.

While this may be cheering news to property owners, it must be noted that the $47,900,000 in revenue must be made up from other sources. VOTER REGISTRATION PLAN IN TROUBLE-- A new registration plan, product of a long study, came out of committee for Senate consideration. It immediately ran into criticism.

Bill would require personal registration with tax assessor-collector or authorized deputy at a public place sometime next year. Voters could register by mail for the big 1968 elections. Once registered in the 1968-69 sign-up, they could renew eligibility by simply signing and mailing back to tax offices a form card between October 1 and January 31 each year. A special supplementary registration period would be held August 15-September 15 during general election years.

Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston assailed the bill as more restrictive than the present law. She hit sections prohibiting roving deputies and outlawing husbands registering for wives and vice versa. Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells acknowledged he will have a problem passing his measure in the Senate as it stands.

WATER QUALITY BOARD APPROVED -- Bill to establish a Texas Water Quality Board to replace the Water Pollution Control Board has been approved.

New Plan To Help Save Whooping Cranes To Start

A new plan to increase the population of endangered whooping cranes by removing eggs from nests in northern Canada for hatching in captivity is being put into effect this spring, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall announced today.

The method was adopted after six years of intensive study on whoopers and related species of cranes by Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and by the Canadian Wildlife Service, Udall said.

"The survival rate of young whooping cranes has been poor during 25 years of checking," the Secretary said. "Only 120 young birds have returned to wintering grounds at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas during that period, and the total adult population was only 43 last winter. All have started northward."

"Considering our present hatchery abilities, the current loss of eggs and young on the nesting grounds, and the loss that takes place before the birds reach maturity, it is our opinion that taking whooping crane eggs from the wild this year is warranted."

Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has developed competence for hatching and rearing cranes during the past six years by working with species of sandhill cranes closely related to the Whooper. Studies have included the development of methods for removing eggs from nests and transporting, incubating, and hatching them under bantam hens or in mechanical incubators. Other studies covered brooding, rearing and all other facets of crane care in captivity.

Under the plan, Canadian Wildlife Service biologists will continue to locate as many pairs of whooping cranes as possible in their remote nesting area near Canada's Great Slave Lake. After eggs have reached the proper stage, a Canadian pilot will fly a team of United States and Canadian biologists to the sites by helicopter. Whoopers normally lay two eggs. This pickup team will remove one egg each from up to six nests, with as little disturbance as possible to the parent birds. Three hours after egg removal, the nests will be resurveyed to see if the adult birds have returned to incubate the remainder. If not, those eggs will also be removed.

The eggs will be flown to Fort Smith, Northwest Territories, where they will be placed in a portable, electrically-operated incubator. When that phase is complete, biologists from the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife will transport the eggs in insulated containers by air to Patuxent Wildlife Research Center near Laurel, Md., home of the Bureau's Endangered Wildlife Research Station. The eggs will be under 24 hour surveillance until hatching is completed.

Secretary Udall said that the plan has the full support and cooperation of the Canadian Wildlife Service, plus eminent ornithologists and aviculturists.

TRANSPORTATION
Rail and air officials foresee transport gains.

Jack Hightower

AUSTIN --- Senator Jack Hightower cast his vote with the Senate majority last week in approving a $55 million teacher pay raise.

The proposed raise was incorporated in a $2.4 billion, one year spending bill to finance state governmental machinery for 1968. The budget was sent to the House.

Although the Senate spending bill is $12.7 over appropriated income from taxes and other revenue, Senate leaders were confident there would be a revised budget estimate which would allow certification of the bill.

A pay-as-you-go provision in the state Constitution prohibits appropriations in excess of projected income estimates.

The Senate proposal provides teachers with an average pay increase of $635 for next year, somewhat short of the goal of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Senators also approved an amendment to the spending bill which would provide a $7,000 boost in old age assistance. The proposal would increase average payments from $62 to $67 per month.

The Legislature has less than three weeks to work out an appropriations bill acceptable to both houses before the current session ends.

In other Senate action last week, Senator Hightower secured passage of a measure which would make it a criminal offense to jump bail.

COLLEGE BARBER

Albuquerque Rodeo Drawing Top Cowboys

An all new rodeo, drawing some of the country's top professional cowboys and featuring some of the roughest stock, will be held Friday through Sunday, May 19-21, at Tingley Coliseum in Albuquerque during the Jaycee Stampede.

Sanctioned by the Rodeo Cowboy Association, the event will be produced by Walter Aistbaugh of Alamosa, Colorado, whose stock consistently has been chosen for the national rodeo finals.

Rodeo boss will be Jim McCarthy, a Bostonian who fell in love with the west and its rodeos. McCarthy of Albuquerque will be riding in the wild horse race.

Bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, Brahma bull riding, and calf roping will be the major events. Daring trick riding will be performed by J.W. Stocker. Clowning will be by the famous Jimmy Schumaker and Johnny Tatum. Also, Tatum will bring his colorful sheep dogs and bull fighting acts to the arena.

Carthage Rodeo Drawing Top Cowboys

For the exciting wild horse race, six untamed horses with halters and lead ropes will be released from the shoots. The horses must be saddled, mounted and unsaddled.

"Red letter days await visitors to Albuquerque where they can see one of the most outstanding rodeos of the country and combine it with riding one of the world's longest aerial tramways, visiting Indian reservations, and seeing Historic Old Town in the heart of the city, which are all part of Albuquerque's enchanting "Turquoise Trail", rodeo boss McCarthy said.

BAD CORNERS MARKED
MIAMI (AP) - Dade County (Miami) has started marking its most dangerous intersections with eye-catching red and black signs bearing the warning, "Crash Corner."
Traffic engineers hope motorists will use extra caution wherever the signs appear.
