Reptile Showmen Plan Florida Everglade Trip

Hal Newsom and Roger Simpson are to leave Sunday for Florida where they will spend two weeks in the Florida Everglade National Park visiting the Ross Island of Reptiles.

Ross and veteran reptile handler and catcher will spend some time assisting the local youth in catching a new variety of this type to bring back to Muleshoe to add to those already in captivity and housed at the Reptile House located on American Boulevard.

The most recent addition to the collection came from Illinois where Newsom caught an Alligator Snapper on a trotline and donated it to the reptile house.

The young men are enthused at the prospect of bringing back some rare species from their visit to the everglades.

They are to present an educational and entertaining show with the reptiles, along with a lecture explaining the habits, haunts, and how they are caught and what they eat, at Littlefield Sports Arena Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. They are being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reddick upon request of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the 46 members of the local Rattlesnake Club will present a program at the Littlefield Lions Club at their meeting Wednesday noon.

Several improvements have been made to the reptile house and billboard signs for its advertisement have been donated by Dinner Bell Cafe.

Sorghum, Corn Crops Invaded By New Disease

Bailey County farms were observed closely Monday by Dr. Bob Metzger, area Agronomist and many fields of grain sorghum were observed and found to have reddish brown leaves, indicating a disease new to the West Texas area.

The invader is believed to be maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV) which is also suspected in some corn fields.

Dr. Metzger was accompanied on his inspection tour by Bailey County agent J.K. Adams and Bob Braden, information specialist of the District Two Extension office, Lubbock.

Fields heavily infected with the suspected virus have been found in the Hereford area, Deaf Smith County, as well as in parts of Parmer, Castro, Dallam, Moore, Donley, Hale, Crosby, Floyd and now Bailey.

Dr. Metzger informed County Agent Adams that Dr. Robert Toler had checked the samples sent to Texas A&M and had positively identified the disease as the one described above.

Infected plants show a mottled mosaic pattern of light and dark green on the new leaves as they emerge from the whorl, explained Berry. In grain sorghum, infected plants will turn bright red or reddish-brown in cool weather. In corn, however, the mottling is primarily brown.

Grain does not develop normally in crops infected by MDMV, points out the pathologist. On corn only a few grains may form on the cob while grain sorghum heads may be practically sterile.

This particular virus was first uncovered in South Central Texas last year in sweet corn and losses ranged from 10 to 50 percent.

MDMV overwinters in the rhizomes of Johnson grass and is transmitted by aphids, explains Berry. As the tender shoots of this grass emerge in the spring, the aphids begin feeding, acquire the virus and move to susceptible crops where they transmit the disease.

There appears to be some varietal differences, adds Berry, but all varieties examined in the area are seemingly susceptible to the suspected virus.

At this time, there are not control practices which will be of benefit to susceptible crops, the pathologist explains. Many specimens of infected plants have been submitted to Dr. Toler, virologist with the Department of Plant Sciences at Texas A&M, for positive identification of the disease.

Adams said "Since MDMV overwinters on rhizomes of Johnson grass, this is one more good reason to stamp out this enemy of long standing."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE Growth or Disaster?

An organizational meeting of a committee appointed to recommend re-organizational procedures to the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday morning, July 24, at 10 a.m.

This committee is to make recommendations to the Board on membership dues, re-organization of committees and any other recommendations that might help prevent the complete dissolution of the Chamber of Commerce due to a lack of interest on the part of business, individuals, and city government in the promotion and growth of the city of Muleshoe.

The Chamber of Commerce is in extremely serious financial condition, and this has caused the committee to consider using the Texas A&M report to the Industrial Foundation as a guide for its actions and recommendations to be presented to the Board at their next regular meeting.

The present dues being received by the Chamber amount to only $12,443.00 per year. Overhead expenses of a minimum nature including salaries, taxes, insurance and note payments amount to $14,856.00. This leaves a deficit in the budget in excess of $2,000.00 per month. This budget produces only the minimum activity and does not permit the Chamber to act in any promotional project whatsoever. The Texas A&M Survey recommends a minimum budget of $20,000.00 if Muleshoe is to expect to maintain growth and put the area in a position to attract people and industry of almost any nature.

The committee consists of Alex Williams, Chairman; Eddie Faust, Secretary; Jim Cox, Harvey Bass, Vic Benedict, Don Harmon, M.D. Gunstream and Roy Whitt.

Earth Explorer Found in Box

"Kelly... Kelly, Oh where is Kelly?" This was the plaintive cry of an Earth grandmother last week upon returning to the Co-op gin office she attends.

It seems Mr. Charence Kelly left her young grandson to answer the telephone and oversee operations at the office while she ran an errand.

Upon her return, the young man was missing and the search was on. Mrs. Kelly began to search the surrounding grounds and calling the youth.

Each time she called, she could faintly hear the boy answer, but she was unable to detect his whereabouts.

Finally, she found the young explorer inside a small pit-type box used during ginning season for delivery boys to deposit important papers. He was revived from a state of almost suffocating from his stay inside the box which could not be opened from the inside.

Young Kelly told his grandmother that the box looked interesting, so he climbed inside it and it clanged shut behind him... then there was no way out.

He is reported to be fine, despite his unexpected confinement. However, grandmother Kelly yet has to be considered a bit "shaken up."

WATER, Inc. Sets Dimmitt Meeting

The next meeting of the Executive Committee of Water, Inc. will be held at Dimmitt, in the Community Room of the First State Bank at 9 a.m. on July 27. This meeting will be followed by a Directors Meeting at 2 p.m. at the same place.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring the Board of Directors up to date on the activities of Water, Inc., which includes the Texas Water Development Board's plans for the use of surplus water from east Texas, the Bureau of Reclamation studies on importation routes from the Mississippi River, a report from the Board members who attended the Southern Water Conference at Biloxi, Mississippi, and the appointment of committees.

Congressman To Appear At Rodeo

Tickets for the July 29 barbeque honoring Congressman Bob Price will be on sale outside the Top O' Texas Rodeo gates this week, Jean Martinale has announced in Pampa.

The barbeque will be held from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. July 29 in the County Barn in Pampa prior to the last night of the rodeo.

Following the barbeque, Congressman Price will lead the Grand Entry of the rodeo.

The schedule has been arranged so that people can eat, meet their congressman and see the rodeo, according to Martinale.

The county barn is within easy walking distance of the rodeo grounds, he said.

Tickets will be available at the door, and children under 12 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Tickets are on sale locally at Cashway Grocery, Corner Drug, from Glen Lusk or Mrs. Lester Bruns.

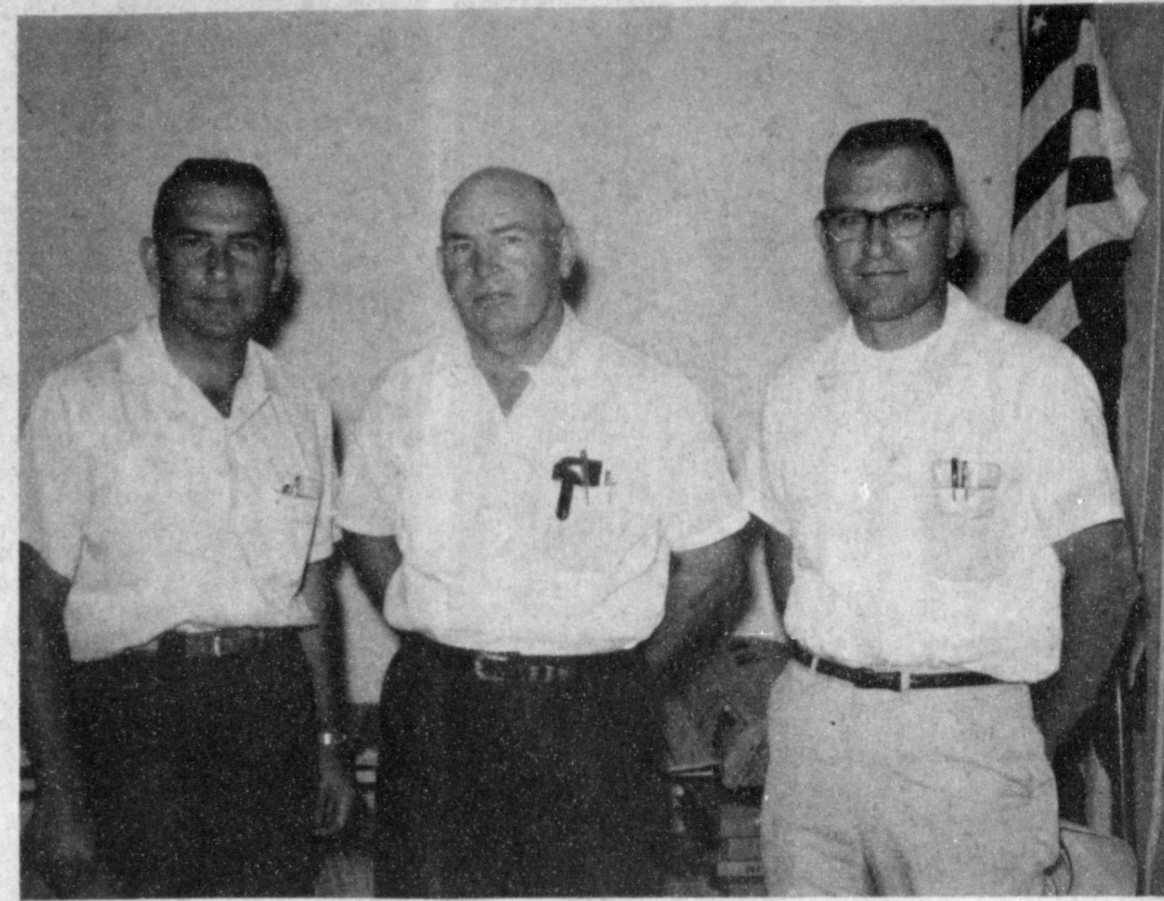

Bailey Has Large Number on Role

Of this figure, 799 are retirement and survivor beneficiaries and 88 are disability beneficiaries.

A total of $1,967,913 is paid monthly in the sixteen counties serviced by the Lubbock office, Hutton said.

Van Roger Appointed To Area FHA Committee

Van Rogers, Circleback, has been appointed to the three man Bailey County Farmers Home Administration Committee, it has been announced by Clinton Kennedy, County Supervisor. The appointment is for a three year term which began July 1.

Rogers succeeds Jerry Ray and will join the other two members of the committee who are Willie Welton, Enoch and Douglas Bales, Muleshoe.

The three member committee serves in an advisory capacity to the County Supervisor and makes determinations as to eligibility for loan advances for the Agency. They are also frequently called upon by the County Supervisor to render assistances in the servicing of loans and the development of other community services.

The Farmers Home Administration does not compete with private lenders in the field of agricultural credit; however, they supplement such sources of credit and make loans on a long-range basis for the development of farms and ranches as well as improvement of community facilities, and provide housing for the rural resident. One of the most important programs is the family-type loan to young farmers in ever-increasing numbers throughout the State. Recent authorizations have been given the Agency by Congress to make loans for recreation facilities for rural residents as well as financing multiple housing for senior citizens and labor housing associations. Another of the more extensive loan programs includes that of making loans for small towns and communities for the establishment or improvement of water and waste disposal systems.

Bailey County is serviced by the Farmers Home Administration office located in Muleshoe at 115 E. Avenue D.

The office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except on legal holidays.

License Get New Look

Texas drivers license are slated for an all "new" look after the first of the year. The new look will be mostly in the form of additional and more positive information concerning the holder of the license with some fanfare concerning expiration dates for some time.

After the first of the year, every person who renews his or her license will be photographed in color, however, full details have not been announced. The picture will be attached to the new license and if it is your first license, your fingerprints also will be placed on the license.

Also, if your present license number ends with zero, two, four, six or eight, your license will be good for four years. If it ends in an odd number--one, three, five, seven or nine, the new license will expire in two years.

After the staggered inauguration, all license will expire in the owner's birthday every four years.

License fees will be double, but so will the time they are valid, so there is no real increase in price.

Drivers under 21 will have a license of a different color to the general license issue, so they can be easily distinguished.

Dove Season Regulations Now Available

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has released hunting regulations for the morning and white-winged dove seasons.

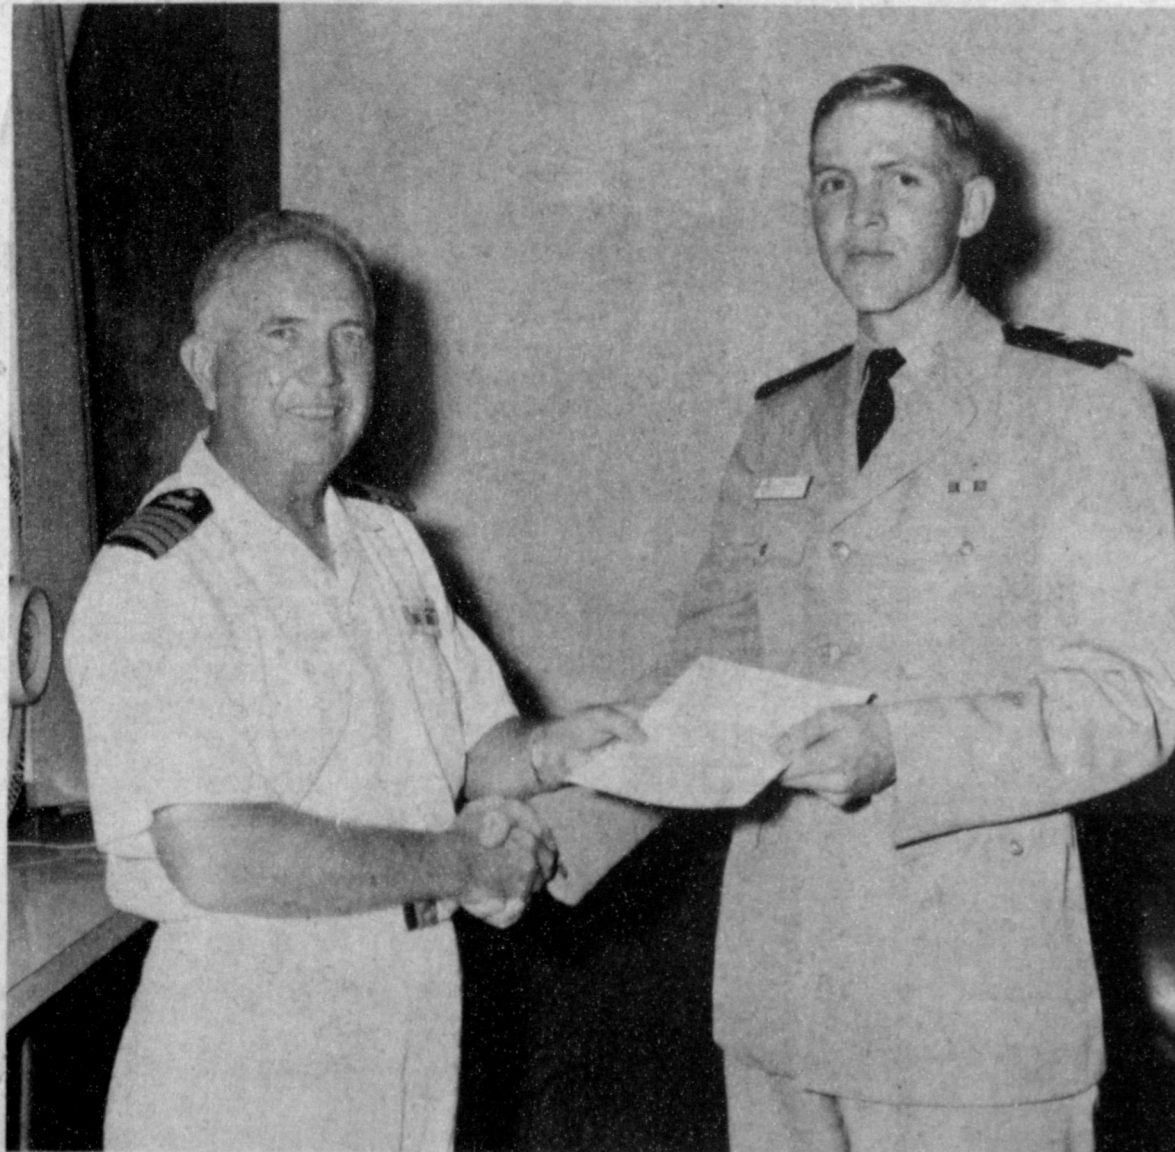

Two basic changes in white-wing hunting have been made since last year. The white-winged dove season has been set to open September 2-3 and September 9-10. The area south of Highway 83 and formerly designated as closed in the southern parts of Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron counties has been opened to hunters.

The retention of one fully-feathered wing on field dressed doves is no longer required except in the 21 counties where the mourning dove and white-wing are hunted concurrently.

Mourning dove hunting in the north zone will begin at noon central standard time (1 p.m. daylight saving time) on Friday, September 1 and continue through sunset Monday, October 30 with a bag limit of 12 per day and 24 in possession.

South zone hunting of the mourning dove will begin at noon central standard time on September 23 and continue through November 21 except in those counties where white-winged and mourning doves are hunted concurrently. In these 12 counties, the season will close at sunset November 17.

Those 12 early closing counties are: Maverick, Dimmitt, La Salle, Webb, Zapata, Jim Hogg, Brooks, Willacy, Kenedy, Cameron, Hidalgo and Starr. In these counties a limit of whitewings and a limit of mourning doves may be taken on each day of the whitewing hunt. See zone map on page six.

Farmers Ponder Wages Imposed for Farm Labor

Chopping time on the plains has many area cotton producers busy trying to determine whether they are required to pay the minimum wage imposed last year by Congress on farms using 500 man-days or more of hired labor in any calendar quarter.

Effective February 1, 1967 the minimum wage for hired workers on such farms was set at $1 per hour. The minimum jumps to $1.15 an hour in 1968 and to $1.30 per hour in 1969.

A man-day is any day during which an employee worked one hour or more.

This year those farms exceeding the 500 man-day limit in 1966 are required to pay the minimum wage. Whether the minimum is required on a farm in 1968 will be determined by this year's labor use.

Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., says the question most in the minds of cotton farmers now is in relation to cotton chopping "crews."

"The law provides that man-days performed by employees of a 'bona fide' contractor are not counted as man-days used by the farm operator, Dean says, "but decisions already made by the Department of Labor on farms in the Rio Grande Valley clearly indicate that both cotton chopping crew leaders and individual crew members will be considered employees of the producer."

"Even when cotton chopping is contracted to a crew leader by the acre it appears that maintenance of records and payment of the minimum wage will still be the producer's responsibility in the eyes of the Labor Department."

He explains that the Department has held that crew leaders fail to qualify as "Bona fide contractors" on two counts. First, according to the Department, the crew chiefs don't have a significant investment in their contracting business. Second, they don't have the final say in management decisions, the Department says.

"We don't all agree with this interpretation of the law," Dean said, "and we've argued long and hard with Department officials to get it changed, but to date this is the interpretation we have to live with."

In figuring the number of man-days used in 1966 farm operators should keep in mind that work done by the producer's immediate family is exempt from the man-day count. Also, hand harvest pieceworkers who commuted daily from their homes and who were employed in agriculture less than 13 weeks of the preceding calendar year can be excluded.

Each period of seven consecutive days when an employee worked one hour or more on one or more days is counted as one week for the 13-week test.

In meeting the $1 per hour minimum, farmers can include as wages the "reasonable cost" of board, lodging and other facilities furnished by the employer for the employee's benefit.

But annual lump sum payments or the proceeds from a given number of acres of crop will not help to satisfy the minimum wage law requirements, Dean cautions.

In a letter from Clarence Lundquist, Administrator of USDA's Wage and Hour Division, PCG was informed that "The minimum wage requirement must be complied with on a work-week basis. Each work-week stands alone, and the employer may not satisfy the minimum wage requirement by averaging work-weeks."

The letter stated further that "A covered farm worker must be paid not less than the applicable minimum wage for all hours worked in each work-week, and this amount must be paid finally and unconditionally on the pay day for that week."

Dean is advising producers to determine as best they can with available records how many man-days of hired labor they used in 1966 and be guided accordingly in this year's operations.

And if there is any doubt about the use of 500 man-days this year, he says producers are required to keep adequate records of the names and addresses of all workers, the hours worked each workday and the days worked in each work-week.

Additional details on provision of the law and required record keeping can be obtained by writing to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., 1720 Avenue M, Lubbock.

The first USDA estimate on the area planted to cotton this year came out 3,724,000 acres. Another acreage estimate, along with the first guess at total production, will be forthcoming on August 3. Acreage is certain to be well below the original figure, as the second report will take into account cotton lost to weather in many sections of the belt.

Industry sources are setting 1967 production at from 8 to 9 million bales, and USDA prognosticators shouldn't be far out of that range.

So the odds in favor of a need for increased production in 1968 are considerably higher than they were two months ago when there were prospects for 10 million bales or more from the 1968 crop.

In fact, most observers believe the question of whether an increase will be needed has been answered, and that the only question remaining is "How?"

Several alternatives have been mentioned, all of which could be accomplished under existing cotton legislation by administrative ruling.

Among them are a revision

Governor Urges Texas Employers to Provide Jobs

Governor John Connally this week urged Texas employers to renew their efforts to provide summer jobs for youth during the remaining weeks of the summer.

"Indications are that there are fewer summer jobs available for Texas youth this summer than last, but the need of our youth for constructive work experience and earnings has not diminished," the Governor said.

Governor Connally revealed that Texas Employment Commission offices placed 13,638 youth under 22 in jobs in June compared to 14,697 in June of 1966. The number of active job applications of job seekers 22 and under in the files of TEC offices at the end of May stood at 49,249 compared to 46,548 in May of 1966.

Total job openings in TEC active files dropped from 81,644 in June of 1966 to 70,368 last month. Shortage of job openings in general and the relatively unskilled jobs youth can fill in particular has been the big factor in the TEC drop in placements of youth, according to TEC officials. Most skill shortages exist in occupations demanding skills which youth and many adult applicants do not possess, they point out.

Governor Connally urged Texas employers to make full use of TEC facilities through the remainder of the summer in providing much needed work opportunities for youth.

"By putting a youth to work, whether for a day, a week or a month, Texas employers can help our youth orient themselves to the world of responsibility and work, thus contributing both socially and economically to the future strength of our state," the Governor declared.

of skip-row planting regulations, reduction of the mandatory minimum diversion percentage, reduction of the payment rate for acreage diverted voluntarily, reduction of the maximum permissible voluntary diversion, and the last we've heard-- an increase in the 16 million acre national allotment, with no changes in other phases of the program.

This last suggestion poses some interesting possibilities. First, it is the only one which would provide a guaranteed and truly predictable increase. With the same minimum and maximum diversion levels and the same payment rates producers could be expected to make about the same acreage choices they have made under the program the past two years.

But there are other considerations.

One leading cotton shipper magazine recently said "everyone is in agreement now that the 1968 acreage figure will have to be raised to at least 14 million..."

USDA's 9.7 million acre estimate for this year is 60.6 percent of the current 16 million acre national allotment. So, to assure plantings of 14 million acres in 1968, on the same percentage basis, the national allotment would have to be raised to about 23,000,000 acres.

While this sounds high, the current cotton program has made the national allotment meaningless anyway, so its size alone should be no argument against this approach.

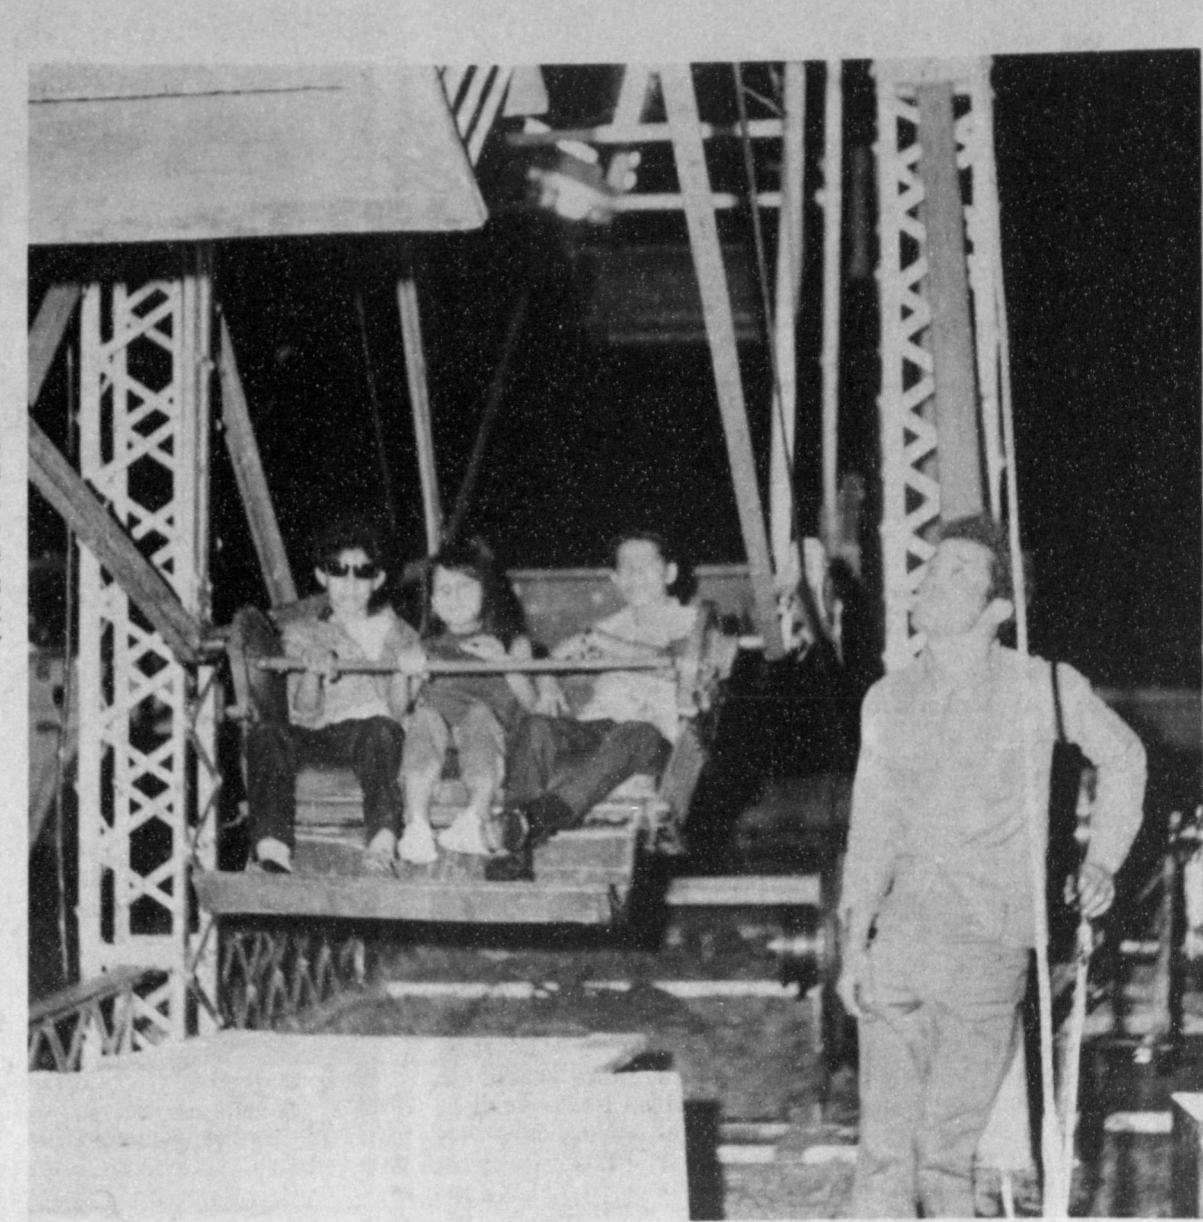

However, with a 23.1 million acre allotment farmers would be diverting over 9 million acres instead of the 4.95 million acres diverted this year. And if the diversion payment rate were left unchanged, a significant increase in the cost of the program would occur.

If the payment rate were reduced, farmer acreage choices would no longer be predictable. And this is only one of many complications that arise in considering this or the other alternatives.

So it is still anybody's guess as to what changes will be made to increase production. Only two things are for certain. First, there will be a lot of head scratching and wrangling before the decision is made. Second, whatever the decision, it won't be to the liking of all cotton belt areas or to all segments of the industry.

Check Soybeans For First Blooms

Now is the time to be checking soybeans for blooms. Although soybeans will tolerate moisture stress prior to bloom-moisture stress prior to bloom-initiation may seriously reduce yields. Good rains over most of the area have kept soil moisture above that required for high yields but there may be isolated spots that will soon require irrigation.

When preparing water furrows for irrigation care should be taken to throw as little soil as possible around the beans. Soybeans set fruit very close to the ground and any additional soil thrown to them may cause harvesting losses and dockage because of dirt and clods picked up by the combine.

Varieties planted the last week in May at the High Plains Research Foundation that are blooming now are PATTERSON, CLARK 63, WAYNE, and KENT. These are all early maturing, short season varieties. The medium maturing Himm, Hill, Dare and Dyer varieties should bloom 7 to 14 days later than the early group. The late maturing Lee, Hood, Pickett and Davis varieties bloom about 5 to 10 days later than the medium maturity group.

Irrigation schedules that have given the best results at the High Plains Research Foundation are pre-bloom, full bloom, and pod set. For soybeans planted the first week in June, the following post-plant irrigation schedule is recommended: PATTERSON - 5 to 6 weeks, 9 weeks and 12 weeks; HINN - 8 weeks, 12 weeks and 16 weeks and HILL - 7 weeks, 11 weeks and 15 weeks.

Veterans Q's and A's

Q-- I wish to apply for training under the new G.I. Bill. Do I have to wait until I am ready to start to apply to the Veterans Administration?

A-- No. The earlier you can apply and give us the name of the school and course the better the VA can serve you by having your approval granted well before you start. This will hasten receipt of the first training allowance check also.

Q-- My father was a World War II veteran who died as the result of a non-service connected disability. He had no service-connected disability. I am 19 years of age and am attending college. Am I eligible for War Orphans' educational benefits?

A-- No, but you may be eligible for death pension until age 23.

Q-- I am receiving military retired pay for disability. I would be entitled to receive disability compensation from the VA if I waived my retired pay. I do not desire to authorize such a waiver. I would like to pursue a program of education as a disabled veteran through the VA. Am I eligible?

A-- You certainly may be eligible. It is not necessary that you waive your retired pay to qualify for VA vocational rehabilitation. We would recommend that you make application to VA.

Miss Adams Speaks To Rotary Club

Joyce Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.K. Adams, who has just returned from an eleven month stay in Tokyo, Japan, gave a very interesting meeting of the Rotary Club about her impressions and experiences during her stay there. She also showed some slides to the college she attended and of interesting places she visited such as Kobe, Nagoya, Kyoto, Nara, Osaka and the Southern Island of Kyushu.

Miss Adams was a student at the International Christian University in a suburb of Tokyo, Japan. She studied under Japanese, German and American Professors, such courses as European Literature, Japanese Art, German Literature, U.S. Journalism, Oriental Philosophy and Japanese Philosophy. She has attended two years at TCU and will return there this fall to complete her education.

One thing that impressed her was every town was different, "each town had a distinctive quality of its own," and until recently when the travel system, was improved, Tokyo was more or less isolated but with the train system improved it has become more accessible to travelers. Tokyo was definitely the most international city.

The college she attended has approximately 1200 in enrollment with varied nationalities represented.

"The Technology and Industry is just booming," which was very impressive to Miss Adams. The department stores in Tokyo are very modern and so are the people. "They are modern outside, but have to remain Japanese inside," said Miss Adams.

Easy-to-Make Hot Rolls

Summertime--when the livin' is easy -- calls for easy meals. Not skimpy, but easy to prepare and full of extra energy.

What is more tantalizing than a plate of hot oven-fresh rolls served with a cool delicious salad? Or barbecued chicken enhanced by a basketfull of hot rolls and sweet honey?

These treats are easy to make, as any 4-H girl engaged in a bread project will agree. Rolls are quick to prepare, and dough can be stored in a refrigerator for several days and used when desired. (see recipe.)

Nearly a half million 4-H members in all 50 states are enrolled in the national 4-H Bread program, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H.

Standard Brands Incorporated, the program sponsor, makes available to 4-H Clubs lesson plans, films, recipe booklets and other educational aids. Also provided are awards for individual members.

The young cooks soon learn the importance of "the staff of life" in the daily diet through the study of nutrition. They also learn some of the scientific aspects of bread making by experimenting with the basic ingredients in yeast dough.

When a bread project is completed, the member fills in a detailed report from which she charts her progress. Members who have devoted three or more years to 4-H and are 14 years or older, can compete for state and national awards given by Standard Brands.

Expense - paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago await the state winners. Scholarships of $500 each will be presented to six national champions during the congress held the last week in November.

Medals of honor may be earned by the top four members in each county.

John Tower

As you may know, one of my major responsibilities here in the Senate lies in the field of housing and urban development. As the top-ranking minority member of the Housing and Urban Development Subcommittee, I have been particularly interested in the future development of our cities and suburbs and in provision of low-cost housing for our citizens.

This matter of renewing blighted city areas and of doing away with worn out houses and apartments has been the subject of much national thought and much congressional legislation. We have gone through a long period of various urban renewal programs. We have torn down a lot of things and built back fewer things. But, we have not solved the problem of urban decay. And, we still search for a better way than the bulldozer.

It is no surprise, then, that my Housing subcommittee has before it this year for consideration more than 30 bills touching on urban problems. Ideas have been put forward on such diverse and varied subjects as rat control, fire prevention, mortgage credit, street lighting, low-income housing, massive research, and others.

The underlying theme running throughout these areas of inquiry is recognition of the urgent need for solutions to the demands of our cities.

Despite the many innovations incorporated in housing legislation in recent years the urban environment in many cities has deteriorated to crisis proportions. This situation demands an extensive inquiry into the factors involved and their practical relationship to existing housing programs. We have had several years of extremely heavy activity in the field of housing legislation and many new federally-oriented programs have been initiated and put into operation. Time would be well spent by this Congress looking into these new programs and giving our main attention to the areas in obvious need of correction. While our urban problems seem overwhelming in many instances, I do not feel that the only solution offered our cities should be that of total surrender to the Federal Government. Likewise, in seeking to arrive at workable solutions legislative process we must restrain the increasingly apparent inclination to solve these massive problems by the sole expedient of massive amounts of legislation. To the contrary, existing laws and programs must be reviewed with an eye to eliminating duplication and injecting workability.

At the beginning of the 90th Congress I was pleased to join with many of my colleagues in expressing our sincere concern over the plight of those entrapped in an environment of slums and poverty. We advanced our intent and desire to inject realism, action and initiative into a problem area long dominated by promises, inertia and theorizing. And we expressed our feeling that the future of our cities depends on how well and how soon we bring about an application of the vast knowledge and resources of our free enterprise system. It has been estimated that some 5 million substandard houses are standing in the blighted areas of U.S. cities today. Additionally, the demand for housing will probably double in the next decade.

Probably the greatest challenge ever faced by America's building industry is that of its participation in blighted neighborhood rebuilding programs. With land and construction costs progressing steadily upward, rehabilitation is becoming the most attractive route to providing decent housing at the lowest possible cost, particularly in those instances where substandard structures are basically sound from a structural point of view but simply are standing monuments to years of neglect and misuse.

Our subcommittee is currently preparing for hearings on the topic of rehabilitation and I hope to propose legislation of my own in this area. A broad inquiry will be made into the concepts and considerations involved in this relatively unexplored subject of rehabilitation.

I am certainly hopeful we can close the gap between the working of our laws on one hand and the practical considerations faced by the industry, on the other.

Rehabilitation means restoration to a state of efficiency, good management and slovenly.

Yet, nothing in this definition can be construed to mean that urban rebuilding can be approached only by first tearing everything down to the ground and then building anew. This "bulldozer syndrome" is present to a distressing degree in many programs today. There is an obvious lack of logic when basically sound structures are razed and no effort is made to apply the rehabilitation skills and ingenuity of the building industry.

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm may have his tongue in his cheek this week. You never can tell. It could be his foot. That's his problem.

Dear editor:

I never have been afraid of a new idea, it's the old ones that sometimes bother me, the same as the known can sometimes be worse than the unknown, and I'll admit I'm fascinated by a new idea I read about in a copy of a newspaper I found in a ditch by the road out here yesterday, weighted down by a load of tin cans and bottles which somebody in town apparently had given me, although I wish you'd tell them I'm not in the market.

According to it, the automobile workers are now asking for a guaranteed annual wage. They want to know at the start of the year what they'll earn by the end, not by the hour but by the year.

What I'm wondering is, why didn't us farmers think of that years ago? It's exactly what we need.

Like it is, we start out on a crop and don't know till it's gathered and sold whether we were working for $2 an hour, $1.25, 35 cents, or just for the fun of it.

Naturally, the first question that comes to mind is, who would get this thing set up by Congress before the end of the year. Look over there behind that stack of papers.

There is one point though I want to steer clear of. The auto guarantee us the annual wage? Naturally, too, the car manufacturers wouldn't be interested, nor would the grocery stores or the housewives or the packing companies or the chamber of commerce or the state legislature.

To be statesmanlike about it, the job obviously falls on Washington, and I will appreciate your using your influence if you can locate it somewhere around there in your office to workers are asking also for a share of the companies' profits. We don't need that provision in our bill. Don't even mention it.

You let somebody suggest we're entitled to a share in Washington's profits and immediately some smart alec up there would suggest we'd also have to share in the losses. It'd ruin us.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 18TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1223 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-3706

I had the honor, along with other freshman Republican Congressmen, of being a guest of President Eisenhower at his Gettysburg farm last week.

General Eisenhower had some very sound advice about some of the nation's problems and particularly about the war in Viet-Nam, a subject on which he should certainly be an expert.

Our former President believes it is high time that Congress takes a better look at the Viet-Nam war and decides whether it is a war or not and what, if any, additional authority President Johnson may need to bring this bloody, frustrating and constantly expanding conflict to an honorable end.

General Eisenhower believes that when a nation applies force, as we have in Viet-Nam, then the force should be overwhelming. This nation has the capability of applying such force and should have done so two years ago rather than allowing the Communists to counter each move we have made by infiltrating more troops into South Viet-Nam.

We have allowed them through the sanctuaries of their ports in North Viet-Nam to keep their ground forces supplied with all the essentials of warfare including the newest and most modern weapons. We have also allowed them to build up a deadly and effective concentration of anti-aircraft defenses around their military bases, airfields, Russian-built missile sites and other strategic points.

It is a sad commentary, as far as I am concerned, to learn from the Department of Defense, that free world shipping, principally British, to North Viet-Nam during the first six months of this year has almost doubled over that carried during the previous six months. This seems utterly ridiculous in view of U.S. cooperation with Great Britain in her embargo against Rhodesia.

Of 28 free world ships arriving in North Viet-Nam during the first 5 months of this year, 23 flew the British flag and of 74 last year, 50 were British.

We now have a cargo ban on ships trading with Cuba and I fail to understand why we should not maintain a blacklist against ships aiding a Communist regime that is daily killing more and more American boys.

Saigon through which the bulk of U.S. supplies reach our forces in South Viet-Nam is no sanctuary as far as the Communists are concerned. Those waters have been mined and American merchant seamen killed. Yet we balk at using the economic weapons available to us to stop free world trade with North Viet-Nam. As long as Americans are fighting and dying in Viet-Nam, no nation of the free world should be permitted to send supplies to their killers.

The Congress has for too long allowed the Executive Branch to chip away at its rightful areas of authority set aside under the Constitutional separation of powers of the three branches -- legislative, executive and judicial.

Under the guise of Presidential emergency powers, mandates contained in Congressional legislation have been ignored. The Secretary of Defense has refused to build the B-70 strategic bomber or to use funds appropriated for the Nike X antiballistic system.

The same controversy has occurred over Congressional urging of an all-nuclear powered Navy but the recently launched super-carrier Kennedy is conventionally powered and according to Naval experts, obsolete even before it is commissioned.

The President ruled the last Congress under its 2-1 Democratic majority with an iron hand and railroaded his Great Society programs through with ease.

Schwartz says that local boards give serious considerations to students receiving at least 25 clock hours of instruction a week. Deferment of students enrolled in graduate schools of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy or optometry now is mandatory. However, they are subject to military service upon completion of schooling. A student may be deferred as long as five years for a doctoral or professional degree or its equivalent. One Month Left For Teal Permits

Duck hunting Texans who would like to get in on the early teal hunt have less than a month to submit their application to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for a special teal permit. Final application date will be August 18. The nine-day early hunt will be held from September 22-30 with a daily bag limit of four and possession limit of eight. This year's hunt climaxes a three-year experiment to determine if the teal population can withstand added hunting pressure. The early hunt gives most hunters their only opportunity to hunt the small, fast duck which migrates through the state to their wintering grounds prior to the opening of the regular duck season. Permits will be issued to all who apply, provided the applicant submits his full name, complete home address and county of residence, on the requests. Applications should be made in writing to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

What Price Beauty?

Skin deep or not, beauty is precious to most people. Both men and women, as a rule, are acutely conscious of their physical attractiveness—or lack of it.

So it is not surprising that people hurt in accidents often seek damages not just for injury to their limbs but also for injury to their looks.

Should that kind of compensation be awarded at all? The law's answer is yes. Even though a scar is not disabling in the same way as a limp or an ache, disfigurement can be a real and serious handicap.

The biggest problem lies in deciding how much the damages should be. How do you put a price on the harm done by a scar?

The courts generally take into account both the characteristics of the victim and the characteristics of the scar itself. Thus, in particular cases, the following facts have lent weight to a damage claim:

1) that the victim was a girl ("scars on the face of a female are ordinarily regarded as more objectionable than on the face of a male");

2) that the victim had a job (as an actor) in which appearance mattered a great deal;

3) that the scar had an unpleasant side effect (distorted a young man's smile).

On the other hand, damages will be less if the scar can be mended by simple plastic surgery—or if it is in a place where it would not ordinarily be seen.

What if the mere display of a scar to the jury would be shocking or indecent? That could improperly inflame the emotions of the jury. Such a display may be forbidden, usually at the discretion of the trial judge.

However, in most cases, the judge will rely on the jurors to draw fair conclusions from what they see.

In one case, involving an injury to a young woman's knee, the defense attorney objected to an inspection by the jury. He noted that the plaintiff was young, charming, and beautiful—and that the jurors were all men.

But the court overruled his objection, commenting: "She is entitled to resort to the same proofs that she might have resorted to if she had been aged, ugly, and repulsive."

Undergraduates May Request Scholastic Rule

AUSTIN -- Scholastic deferment of undergraduate college and university students who meet the requirements of the new draft regulations now is mandatory upon the request of the students.

This was the official advice of Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, Tuesday to the state's 155 draft boards.

Class ranking and test scores in the consideration of student deferments is now "officially immaterial" Colonel Schwartz said Tuesday.

The state Selective Service director said he had advised all college and university registrars that "rank-in-class information is no longer needed in the administration" of the Selective Service law.

Draft boards have been advised officially not to request any student or school in the future to furnish class-rank data.

The boards have been advised officially by Colonel Schwartz to reopen the classification of qualified undergraduate college students now classified in I-A as available for military service, even though they may be under induction orders.

To be qualified, the student must be under 24 years old and must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction toward a baccalaureate degree.

"Such a student must be considered as qualifying even though he may be in summer vacation at this time," Colonel Schwartz said.

"Also, to qualify," he continued, "such a student must have requested deferment in Class 2-S after July 1, 1967."

The state director said that, in cases where these students have not requested deferment, he has advised local boards to postpone induction to give them an opportunity to request it. These students will be advised that their induction orders will be cancelled if scholastic deferment is requested immediately.

An undergraduate student now eligible for statutory deferment must continue satisfactorily to pursue a full-time course of instruction in order to remain eligible, Colonel Schwartz pointed out.

"If he does," the state director said, "he is deferred by law until he completes the requirements for his baccalaureate degree, or reaches his 24th birthday, whichever occurs first."

The new regulations governing the deferment of undergraduate students define a student's "academic year," Colonel Schwartz said. The regulations state that "a student's 'academic year' shall include the 12 month period following the beginning of his course of study."

The regulations also describe the conditions under which a student "shall be deemed to be 'satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction.'" the state draft director pointed out.

"A student pursuing a four-year course," Colonel Schwartz said, "should have earned 25% of the credits required for his baccalaureate degree at the end of his first academic year, 50% at the end of his second, and 75% at the end of his third."

"In the case of a baccalaureate degree for which five years of study are prescribed by the institution," he continued, "a student should earn 20% each year of the total credits required for the degree."

The student, under the new regulations, will have the duty of providing his local board each year with evidence that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at his college or university.
