Driver killed in module truck crash in Lynn County

The driver of a module truck was killed in a fatal crash that occurred in Lynn County last Thursday, October 27, at 4 p.m. on US 87 and County Road 2.

The crash involved a semi-tractor trailer traveling northbound on US 87, approaching County Road 2 when a module truck traveling west bound on County Road 2 pulled out in front of the semi.

The driver of the semi was identified as 27-year-old Alexander Pritchard of Lubbock. He was transported to University Medical Center in Lubbock with non-incapacitating injuries.

construction zone. Halloween night was a quiet night for county officers, with no calls for assistance regarding any pranks or disturbances.

LCHD hosts Meet & Greet for new Hospital CEO

Lynn County Hospital District Board of Directors invites the community to meet Randy Lee Lindauer, the new Chief Executive Officer for the hospital in Tahoka, at a Meet and Greet reception to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9. The reception will be held in the hospital's meeting room. Lindauer has worked in healthcare for the past 35 years in Indiana, Pennsylvania, Florida, and most recently as CEO of a rural hospital in Kansas.

According to information from Sergeant John Gonzalez with the Texas Dept. Of Public Safety, the semi attempted to take evasive action moving to the left but the module truck failed to yield the right of way. The semi collided into the driver's side of the module truck. Both units caught on fire and the Woodrow and Tahoka volunteer fire departments were able to control the fire.

The highway was closed from 4:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. to allow troopers to complete the investigation and for the cleanup. TXDOT assisted in the road closure and directing traffic.

An abandoned pickup was found at 8 p.m. Oct. 30 near County Road 13 and County Road L, with damage to three tires. Owner of the pickup was Robbie Roberson, who was notified by officers.

During the month of October, LCSO Communications Staff answered 393 calls for assistance, including 146 for the county, 150 for City of Tahoka, 45 for EMS, 33 for Animal Control, 11 for City of O'Donnell, and 8 for fire departments.

The module truck was loaded with cotton, which also caught on fire. The semi was loaded with gravel.

At 11 a.m. on the morning of Oct. 31, Sheriff's Deputies arrested a 29-year-old Odessa man for public intoxication, after he was found walking southbound along US 87, just north of the roadside park in the Elections office here gets calls regarding security of ballots, after some Texas voters claim machines switching their votes

Lynn County election officials have received several phone calls from anxious voters asking about the security of ballots, after a rash of reports emerged during the last week on social media from Texas residents elsewhere who claimed electronic voting machines had switched their votes from Donald Trump to Hillary Clinton, or switched from a straight-party Republican ticket to Democratic.

screen machines available for people to use for marking ballots at polling locations, but all of our voters in the past several elections have chosen instead to mark a paper ballot by hand. Even though we have the auto-mark machines available, our voters seem to prefer to mark paper ballots, and then they personally hand-feed their ballot into the M100 counting machine, which then tabulates the votes," she added.

Lynn County Clerk Susan Tipton is the Lynn County Election Administrator, and she wants to assure local voters that their votes cast on ballots in Lynn County will accurately reflect their choices.

and also different types of machines used to tabulate the votes. We use the M100 for counting ballots, and this machine is not internet-based or web-based, and presents no opportunity for hacking or other electronic access," explained Tipton.

"We follow state and federal guidelines. Each machine is tested three times prior to leaving our office on election day, and the election judge at each polling location also tests the M100 machine to be sure no votes are

She also noted that after every election, the Secretary of State contacts her office and picks a random precinct and race for election officials to hand count those ballots, to be sure they have the same results as the machine that counted them. There has never been a discrepancy between the hand-count and the M100 count, she added.

"Our workers take great pride in their work and strive hard to reassure the public that the election process in Lynn County is followed to the letter of the law," Tipton stated.

Now that's funny! "The only way to keep your health is to eat what you don't want, drink what you don't like, and do what you'd rather not." - MARK TWAIN

A look back at ...
Woodwork

(Reprinted from the past) Dalton Wood

LIKE EVERYONE else, I'm always getting catalogs, brochures and other offerings through the mail, trying to sell me something, and often with the lure of something "free," if I'll just order right away.

Last week I got a card which offered me free panty hose from Victoria's Secret. But, I thought, I'm not tough enough to wear panty hose. The only guy I ever heard of who got away with that was Joe Namath. I don't remember why the former quarterback for the New York Jets wore them, but I doubt that he still does.

I looked a bit closer at the card and discovered it was addressed to "The Wood Family," so I guess it really wasn't just for me anyway.

Many catalogs are mailed out to prospective customers who somehow get on their mailing lists, usually offering items which range from things that might be good to own, through things that probably wouldn't work, to things so ridiculous that only an idiot would order them. A catalog from somebody called Dream Products arrived last week, with all those things in it.

Here are just a few of the things offered:

A ring "that actually attracts money," for just $9.97. "Wear the Good Luck Money Ring...and every day could be your lucky day." How dumb do these people think we are?

There's another ring offered a few pages further on which is billed as "A Ring with Acupressure & Magnetic Benefits!" This is supposed to cause you to lose weight and the advertisement says "Many believe wearing this ring on (1) thumb, reduces fat on the face; (2) index finger, reduces fat on the arm; (3) middle finger, reduces stomach fat; (4) fourth finger, reduces fat of the waist; (5) pinky finger, reduces fat of the thigh. I guess if you ordered five of these it would reduce all of your body, plus the fat of your wallet, and maybe the fat of your head.

Then there is an ad headed "No More Cracked Driveways" which offered for about $20, some driveway repair tape, 9 feet long and 6 inches wide, which "patches, seals and waterproofs in one easy step and lasts for years." Sounds too good to be true, and probably is.

There is a breakfast cooking set which includes some little rings to keep eggs from running all over, plus a non-stick 11-inch square griddle, all for $19.97. This sounds pretty good to me (of course, breakfast always sounds good to me).

There are many other items, including house shoes you wear which dusts the floors while you walk around, toenail clippers and a can opener which cuts from the side, all kinds of tools and things for the garden and lawn, plus hundreds of things designed primarily to get your money.

Of course, I will just throw the catalog away now. But first I may order some of that driveway repair tape.

Local bee-man comes across man from Transylvania

by JACK SCOTT

Here is the story of the man from Transylvania. I met him this October out in the thick tall trees somewhere in Lynn County. It was a fitting location as the word Transylvania literally means: "beyond the forrest".

He came from around the corner while I was trying to coax bees from an old house. He had an interest in bees, so we introduced ourselves to one another. He told me he came from Transylvania, Romania back when his country was ruled by a Communist dictator. He was 24 when he escaped and came to America, speaking not a word of English. He grew very serious when he looked me in the eye and told me, "Information was not allowed in our country. No information! But here in this country, information is in the palm of our hands!" He made a gesture with his hand as if he were holding a cell phone. His eyes were an intense mixture of colors, brown and green gave his sunlit eyes the appearance of a shiny amber honey color.

His eyes flared at me when he perceived I doubted him. He told me to look up (Google) everything he had told me. Sure enough, he wasn't lying. His

Tahoka ISD Board names construction firm for the district's new building projects

Tahoka Independent School District Board of Trustees met in regular session Tuesday, Oct. 25, voting to hire Lee Lewis Construction, Inc. as the district's Construction Manager at-risk for the construction of the new middle school and auditorium, and other improvements authorized by voters in a recent bond election. In a previous meeting, trustees had viewed architectural renderings of the new construction projects from the architectural firm of Parkhill, Smith, and Cooper. The construction is scheduled to begin around May 2017.

In other business, the Board approved changes in the district's wellness policy in FFA(LOCAL), and voted to allow the superintendent to submit a teacher certification waiver to the Texas Education Agency. The board approved amendments to the Four County Co-op Shared Services Arrangement agreement as presented.

The TISD board recognized three local business organizations for their partnerships with the district, presenting certi-ificates of appreciation to First Bank and Trust (accepted by Chuck Senter), First National Bank (accepted by Worth Whitworth), and the Lynn County Ag Extension (accepted by Wendy Scott).

High School Principal Jeff Perez and Middle School Principal Kelly Kieth gave campus reports, and Shelbie Hannum gave an Ag report. Perez recognized his campus' "Difference Maker of the Month" as Angelica Aguirre, the district Technology Coordinator. Ms. Aguirre recognized Joey Herrera as the student of the month in the high school. Mrs. Kieth recognized

Pam Paris as MS teacher of the month, and Mrs. Paris recognized Christian Gates as the student of the month for the middle school. There were no elementary reports or recognitions since they were involved in the Fall Festival which took place at the same time as the board meeting.

Dr. McFarland also recognized principals Kelly Kieth and Jeff Perez, since October is Texas Principals Month, as declared by Texas Governor Abbott.

The Board met in closed session for an hour during the meeting, but took no action upon returning to open session.

The next board meeting was scheduled for November 22 at 6:30 p.m. Prior to that meeting the board will hold a public hearing at 6:00 p.m. for the district's Financial Integrity Rating System of Texas (FIRST) rating which was officially released this week. In the rating, Tahoka ISD received a "Superior" rating, the highest that a district can receive.

All seven trustees were present at the meeting, including Dr. Cathy Box, Board President, Jim Bingham, Scott Dimak, Doug Green, Jon Luna, Clay Taylor, and Matt Woodley.

country, post dictatorship rule, is now flourishing under freedom. The universities there are vigorously researching the substance bees make from tree sap and finding some useful antibiotic and growth stimulating properties of "Romanian Propolis". Google it, if you wish. With pride, the man from Transylvania told of how the learned people of his land, beyond the forrest, were using freedom and new-found information to seek cures for infection, both viral and bacterial, using propolis. He even suggested that propolis could remove cancer. "Dissolve" cancer was the word he used...

I didn't find any claims of curing cancer when I looked up the things he had told me. But the sadness in the eyes of the man from Transylvania was all too real. When I had asked him if he still had family back in Romania, he came close to crying. He said they are all gone. No one is left for him to go home to. He had escaped and came to America for freedom in 1988. A year later, a violent revolution and the public execution of the dictator and his wife brought an end to the brutal repression. An estimated two million had perished due to "genocide by starvation".

The man from Transylvania lives in hopes of being free among us today. He avoids any discussion of who he will vote for. He may still have memories of the men in black and a bloated government in charge of everything.

Will we become informed voters and embrace the freedom to choose our next political leaders? Or will we allow others to limit our information? Then, sadly, they will tell us what to think, do, and believe. -Now that's scary!

Just in time for Christmas, sneaker-maker Nike will start selling the first self-lacing shoes, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens. Sensors inside the shoe tighten the laces when you put your foot in.

But, says AMAC, if you think that's an amazing development, think again. A startup company calling itself Vixole is getting ready to launch a high-top sneaker with an electronic screen that can display stationary or moving pictures that you can control using your smart phone.

Fun at the carnival ... Oh what fun we had at the Wilson carnival on Halloween!

WILSON COMMUNITY NEWS

A couple of weeks ago, I had the opportunity to serve as a peer reviewer during the Texas Education Agency's TTIPS, Cycle 5 grant competition in Austin. When I retired from teaching, there was a whole side of my educational knowledge that I thought I'd never use. My background in planning, executing, and evaluating district improvement "visionary" strategies is enormous. I was able to apply the years of learning and doing, and found that I love and miss it. Fellow reviewers from Wilson were HS Science Teacher, Val Perkins, and retired Wilson teacher, Vicki Oden.

As I left Austin after five days, my thoughts were exactly what I used to say as I'd fly out of Lubbock. "It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there again." Once again, the overwhelming feeling of "being home" came over me, as we made the drive to Wilson. This IS home!

What would fall be without school carnivals and dressing up in costumes? October 31 was Wilson's turn to draw in the crowds. I arrived shortly after 6:00, and was greeted by some of the cutest kids in costume. Parents and family members in costumes made me wish I'd donned one of mine! Following the carnival was "Trunk-or-Treat," which was sponsored by local churches. I was quite impressed with the organization and quality presented. Congratulations, Wilson community and schools, for making fun, fond memories for everyone involved.

Mustangs never give up

Tom Landry was an inspiration on and off the field. After the huge Mustang loss last week, I looked to him to describe the players I've seen this season. "A champion is simply someone who did not give up when he wanted to."

Although Motley County trounced Wilson in every way, statistically speaking, I'm proud to say that our young Mustangs remain champions in the eyes of the late Coach Landry.

One of the all-time greats, Vince Lombardi, said, "The Winner says, 'It may be difficult but it's possible.' The Loser says, 'It might be possible but it's too difficult.'" Fans in the stands will affirm that our young men have a winner's attitude. My husband, Keith, and I were amazed from the first play we saw. The pure, raw talent of our players is amazing.

I love talking with the players away from the field. They're the nicest, most humble guys. Players like quarterback, Bryan Mendez, who threw for 108 yards in two quarters against Motley County, seem to have Mike Ditka's attitude, "You're never a loser until you quit trying."

Wilson got knocked down and lost major yardage, but it didn't kill their spirits. When they were behind 38-0 after the first quarter, they continued the fight for numbers. Motley County ran for 235 yards and never passed. Turnovers haunted Wilson again this week, and our running game was less than ineffective. The final score was 72-13, and ended after the second quarter.

I hope each player knows how much they mean to the fans, and that sometimes they just have to listen to Mike Singletary, who said it best, "Do you know what my favorite part of the game is? The opportunity to play."

Wind turbine burns near Draw...

O'Donnell Volunteer Fire Dept. was paged out at 5:40 a.m. Monday, Oct. 31 for a wind turbine fire approximately 5 miles east of O'Donnell on Farm Road 213 (just west of Draw). According to Mark Royce's information on the OVFD's facebook page, three units and eight men arrived on scene, to a wind turbine fully involved. The location of the turbine was at County Road 88, just South of Farm Road 213. As units arrived two of the three blades were burning and broke loose, falling to the ground. The one remaining blade hung parallel to the tower, which made the area unsafe for entry. Units remained on scene for about hour monitoring the scene. A few small fires on the tower continued to burn, as did the two blades and cone on the ground. The fire was allowed to burn itself out due to the unsafe conditions. Cause of the fire was unknown. Units were back at the station at 7:08 a.m.

November is "Aviation Appreciation Month"

Washington, DC - The Alliance for Aviation Across America applauds Governor Greg Abbott for declaring November 2016 "Aviation Appreciation Month." In Texas, general aviation activities support an annual economic impact of over $14.5 billion.

"Texas' geography makes general aviation and local airports critical for businesses and communities to have access to important services to far-off markets, medical care, and other critical services," said Selena Shilad, Executive Director of the Alliance for Aviation Across America. "We thank the Governor for issuing the proclamation and look forward to working with him in the future."

According to the proclamation: "The Texas aviation industry is critical to our economy and way of life. It brings families together; transports business executives to important meetings; delivers essential cargo; provides life-saving medical evacuation, police search and rescue, utility grid and oil pipeline inspections and border protection; and it helps to control pests that can wreak havoc on farmer's crops."

He's driving me crazy

It's not unusual for an election campaign to use family members to vouch for the candidate in ads, but one Texas politician has taken the practice to a new level, says the Association of Mature American Citizens.

Gerald Daugherty, a Travis County commissioner running for reelection, has created a local TV ad featuring his exasperated wife pleading with voters to put him back in office. It appears he is driving her to distraction at home talking about politics all day long.
