

United Fund Reaches 65 Percent: Rural Area Contributions Lag

The Muleshoe Area United Fund thermometer inched upward this week from 60 percent to 65 percent with the rural campaign being slow to come in.

Don Harmon, chairman of the campaign urges all in the rural area to complete their cards, make their contributions and turn them over to the rural division chairman.

It has been pointed out that the youth of the rural area benefits more from the United Fund campaign, over-all than any other group on the list of 14 which make up the roster of United Fund.

Last year, some 300 animals were entered in the Bailey County Livestock show for which $3,495 was given through United Fund. This year, a bigger and better Bailey County Junior Livestock show is being planned and the UF has upped their contribution to this cause to $3,700.

Special Meeting Of MAWSCalled

A called meeting of the MAWS of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday, November 27 at 1:30 in the Muleshoe high school auditorium.

Officers for the coming year are to be elected and plans for the coming year of work will begin to take shape.

All women of the area who are interested in promoting growth of the community in many ways are urged to attend this meeting.

Most of these animals which are shown are raised in rural areas of the county and shown by youth of the rural area.

Second on the list is Boy Scouts of America who are to receive $2,500 this year.

Bailey County Junior Livestock Show is on the few groups on the list who received a boost from the United Fund over that of last year.

Rep. Clayton Asks Daylight Time End

Representative Bill Clayton of Springlake asked Governor Connally in a letter this week to include a Bill to exempt Texas from Daylight-Saving Time in the upcoming special session of the legislature.

Clayton stated that the people of Texas, having tried D.S.T. for one year disapprove of the advanced time.

A Belton poll shows a general disapproval all across the State and several polls taken in this area indicate a great majority of the people here do not like Daylight-Saving Time. Rep. Clayton stated that after a fair trial of D.S.T. and after having an expression from the people in the District by polls and by personal contact that he would support any action to exempt Texas from the time change.

Why A Sales Tax For Muleshoe?

The following is a list concerning the reasons a sales tax is needed:

1. We need to quit growing a block at a time. We must plan ahead -- we are.
2. Let's help build a liveable town for all -- not just one group.
3. "Thinking" about doing something is necessary -- but "action" afterward gets it done. This is "action."
4. Let's help trim the increases that will otherwise be necessary in property tax.
5. We need a water system improvement program. --- Ground storage facilities, and replace old water lines that have rotted out, corroded and do not allow sufficient water pressure.
6. The sewer system needs reworking in old lines and collection lines and new and more facilities are needed at the treatment plant.
7. Storm sewers will be needed soon.
8. City parks and recreation facilities are badly needed for a city at the "crossroads" such as ours.

9. A community center has been requested many times -- and is badly needed -- besides being a tremendous asset to our community.

10. Our city hall is almost by leaps and bounds. 11. We have (fortunately) an excellent volunteer fire department. We need a new fire station and additional equipment.

12. We need entirely new "feeder" roads within our city limits to relieve traffic on our main streets of trucks and trailers.

13. We need more and improved equipment to furnish services such as trash hauling, street cleaning and repairs, garbage disposal as well as added operating costs of these services.

14. At least 50 percent of the sales tax collected will go into capital improvements and the balance into the maintenance fund.

15. The sales tax may not completely eliminate an increase in property taxes in the future, but it will certainly reduce tremendously the amount of that increase. This will depend on two things -- (1) the amount of future bonds issues voted and (2) the final amount of sales tax collected.

16. The sales tax is the fairest

Car Registration Takes Modern Method for '67

"A major change will be in effect when license tags go on sale February 1," Jean Lovelady, tax assessor-collector said today.

Mrs. Lovelady and deputies Evadna Foster and Jo Harmon attended a school of instruction on Electronic Data Processing in the district court room in Lubbock Friday night. This school qualified them to handle the change which will be made in handling of vehicle registration in Texas and the local office.

The Certificate of Title to a Motor Vehicle takes on an all-new look and will be handled with electronic equipment. Once installed and in effect, machines will be used to contact Austin concerning a title and registration and be returned to the local office within two minutes.

All persons who apply for registration must present their title or tags cannot be supplied. Certificates of Title will, from here on be card-type title, thus eliminating the photostatic

Officials Attend Littlefield Meet

Members of the Muleshoe city council, Irvin St. Clair, and Alex Williams, and city manager Albert Field were guests of the Littlefield city council at a public meeting held in the district courtroom there Monday night.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of a city sales tax.

More than 100 persons attended the meeting, with apprehension at first, but were very vocal toward the end of the meeting, Williams said. Some expressed a desire to call an election before December 31, if possible.

Littlefield, Amherst and Sudan have expressed interest of calling an election for sales tax at the earliest possible date, possible date.

Littlefield councilmen said the meeting was called due to the momentum being gained by the tax and the interest shown in area cities. Muleshoe's election is set for December 16, while Lamesa will vote December 9.

To date, 22 cities have voted in favor of the tax and two Cont'd. on Page 3, Col. 8

Weight categories have been reduced on automobile tag prices, with only three categories for the next registration period instead of the breakdown at each 100 pounds in the past. The fourth class is poundage up from 6,001 to which 55 cents per pound will be added to the previous class rate which is $30.30.

This will result in higher price tags for some and lower prices for others, depending upon which category their vehicle falls into and whether it is

Diane Bryant Crowned Queen at Homecoming

QUEEN AND KING---Miss Diane Bryant wears the football crown as homecoming queen crowned during halftime at the Saturday afternoon football game. Bobby Julian was chosen Football King and served as Miss Bryant's escort.

Saturday at halftime in the Muleshoe - Perryton football game, with the Mighty "M" Marching band providing music in the background, Diane Bryant was named "1967 Homecoming Queen." She was escorted by Bobby Julian, who was chosen "Football King."

Other candidates and their escorts were Susan Camp, escorted by Steve Oliver and Billie Lindsey, escorted by Phillip Barron.

Val Moore, senior twirler, presented the new queen with a silver helmet-crown, two dozen red roses and a necklace. Homecoming for Muleshoe High School kicked off last Friday afternoon with a pep rally in the high school auditorium. Friday night, the Mighty "M" Marching band, like many pipers, led a great number of fans down Main Street in a parade and on to Newsom Gin where a huge bonfire was ready to be lit.

L. R. Stegall, high school algebra and trigonometry teacher, spoke briefly to the large crowd of Mule fans who followed the parade to the site of the bonfire. He reminded the fans present to "be loyal to your school, your home, your town and to your government."

Winners of the hall decorating contest were named. They were seniors, first; juniors, second; sophomores, third and freshmen, fourth. David Dillman, Mule's "player of the week" for the week ending last Friday night was asked to address the group.

He had won his honor for gathering in two passes in the Muleshoe - Canyon game the previous Friday night. One, play, he caught a touchdown pass for the Mules only score in the game.

Perryton Rangers Lasso Mules

Fumbles and a Ranger aerial attack kept Muleshoe's Mules off the scoreboard in the Mules homecoming game with Perryton last Saturday afternoon.

On a beautiful, clear fall afternoon with the temperature hovering in the low 70's, Perryton's Rangers took to the air after finding themselves unable to penetrate a tough ground defense set up by the Mules.

This was a technique that paid off as the "passing" Rangers connected with 7 of 14 tries for a gain in the air of 171 yards, and the Rangers captured the game with a score of 40-0.

First quarter of the one-sided tilt ended with no score as neither team was able to penetrate the opposing defensive line enough to go into the end zone for that all-important first tally of the game.

Second quarter ticked off on the clock with both teams maintaining a tight defensive line on the ground. After eight minutes had slipped away in the second, quarterback Dick McWhorter lobbed a long 25-yard ball into the air. Bob Govin was waiting on the 25-yard line to pull it in and lope down the field to put the first tally up for the afternoon. Mike Hargrove toed the pigskin between the goalposts to make it a 7-0 game.

With 15 seconds left to play before halftime, Ranger's pass-whizz Dick McWhorter again took to the air with a long 24-yard pass to Randy Tevis who was over from the one-yard line. Mike Hargrove again booted the extra point to put a 14-0 score up.

Halftime score stood at 14-0. For the first seven minutes in the third quarter, it was once again a see-saw game.

Quarterback Ronnie Barrett knocked down a pass attempt from Perryton's McWhorter, intended for Randy Hendrickson. With five minutes in the third, halfback Steve Simpson scooted over on a seven yard run for the Rangers third touchdown. Mike Hargrove failed with his PAT attempt.

One minute and fifteen seconds after the Rangers third tally, Ben Rupprecht recovered a Mule fumble on the Mules 23-yard line. Steve Simpson made it to the 14-yard line on the next play and Randy Tevis boomed over from the five-yard line for Perryton's fourth touchdown. Mike Hargrove's to made it 27-0.

The hard-luck Mules fumbled again on the kickoff, and with three minutes and fifteen seconds in the third quarter, a 23-yard pass from Mike Hargrove to Richard Traylor led the ball on the five-yard line. Jerry Overby plowed over into the end zone and Hargrove's toe didn't fall. 34-0 went up on the scoreboard.

Fifth and final score in the one-sided tilt came early in the fourth when Hargrove blasted around and into the end zone after a three-yard plunge. The conversion attempt failed and the scoring for the game ended with 40-0. Muleshoe's Mules, who were

In the first quarter and scored two touchdowns. A 19-yard run by Leroy Bradley put the first score on the board and Monte Rogers fled downfield 51 yards for the second touchdown in the quarter. Neither conversion attempt worked so the quarter ended with 12-0.

In the second quarter, the Eagles grimly began working toward the all-important goal line. After working down to the five-yard line, Johnny Ferguson went over for the first Eagle TD. The conversion attempt failed. Bruce Smith tossed a pass in the direction of Wendell Williams who added another tally on the 15-yard throw. Williams ran around end zone for two extra points to put a big 14 up for the Eagles.

A brother act added points for the Panthers. Johnny Graham lobbed a 19-yard aerial to his brother, Steve Graham who scored for the Panthers. Again the try for points failed. Monte Toombs scored again for the Eagles in the third on a 17 yard scramble. The try for PAT failed. Bruce Pruitt plunged across the goal on a 2-yard shove to score the fourth and final time for the Eagles. The point try failed and the scoring ended for the Three Way Eagles with their score at 26.

Monte Rogers loped 18 yards for the fourth Whitarral tally but the PAT failed and the scoring for the game ended in the third quarter and the game at 26-14.

A complete list of exempt items is available from the State Comptroller, Austin.

Q. Who can vote on the one percent local sales tax?

A. Any registered voter in the city. A simple majority is required to put the sales tax into effect.

Q. Why should the local businessman favor the city sales tax?

A. Poor city services mean poor business, while well-financed and efficient municipal services attract new people to live and trade in the city. More people mean more business and a more active economy.

Q. Will a local sales tax hurt business?

A. No. The experience of cities in other states has proved that a sales tax will not hurt the retail sales business in a community. Rather, a clean, attractive, and well-run city attracts people, makes it grow, and makes business better.

Q. Why should a resident property owner favor this kind of tax?

A. Proper police and fire protection will protect the property owner's investment in his home, and high-quality streets, parks and other municipal facilities provide a suitable environment in which to live. The money to support these services must be derived from some source, which has, to this time, been primarily property taxes.

Q. Why should a city dweller who rents his residence favor the local sales tax?

A. For one matter, the person who rents enjoys the same services available to the property owner. For another, if it is necessary for the city to raise property taxes, the increased cost of this tax will be passed along in the form of higher rent charges.

Q. Is the local sales tax regressive -- that is, will it cause a particular hardship for lower-income families?

A. A sales tax has more elements of equity than any other type of tax, and this is particularly true in Texas, since so many essential items are exempt from the sales tax.

Q. To whom will the local merchant report and pay the local sales tax?

A. Reports and remittances will be made to the State Comptroller in Austin.

Q. How is the Comptroller reimbursed for expenses incurred by his office in collecting the local sales tax?

A. The Comptroller is permitted by law to retain two percent of the total in local sales taxes collected.

Q. Who will enforce the municipal sales tax?

A. The State Comptroller is authorized by law to administer and enforce the local sales tax.

Q. What are the State Comptroller's specifications in respect to the city map required to be filed with the local sales tax election canvassing papers and other documents?

A. The Comptroller's office has advised the TML General Counsel that no specific requirements regarding maps have yet been devised. It is, however, understood that the map to be filed is neither to be

Look at this '68 "youngmobile" from Oldsmobile.

Wouldn't it look great in your driveway?

This new Cutlass S has a way of making things look younger. Even driveways. That's because of all the young ideas we built into it. A bigger 350-cubic-inch V-8, for instance. (Or, if you prefer, an Action-Line 6.) And a taut coil spring suspension that makes it easy to cut and turn in tight places. And you can order a whole carfull of young-it-up accessories like bucket seats, stick-shift or stereo. But if you think Cutlass S is young all over, don't forget that it is Olds all over, too. Olds quality, Olds engineering and the new GM safety features are all standard.

Mrs. Horace Blackburn Speaks To DeShazo P-TA

Mrs. Horace Blackburn

Mrs. Horace Blackburn was guest speaker for the Mary DeShazo P-TA Monday November 20 in the cafeteria. Her topic of discussion was the "True Meaning of Thanksgiving." She traced the history of Thanksgiving from 1921 until now. Mrs. Blackburn said, "if we form the habit of giving thanks each day for the blessings of life, then on Thanksgiving Day, our thanks will have a special meaning. Thanksgiving Day is more interwoven into our nation's history than any other American holiday. Let us be thankful for the opportunity of getting an education, for without knowledge people revert quickly to savages."

"The pilgrims voted for the first tax levied in the new world - a tax to obtain the services of a school master. Make up your own list of special blessings, then let us translate our thanksgiving into thanks - living in the eyes of God and the love of our fellowman."

In closing, Mrs. Blackburn said, "Let our prayer be 'Thank You' God for life itself, for without it, the universe would have no meaning."

Mrs. Don Harmon president, presided at the meeting. The fifth grade choir under the direction of Mrs. Mitchell, furnished the entertainment of two patriotic songs and two Thanksgiving songs. Patricia Grogan and Ellen Shafer accompanied on the piano.

Mrs. Roy Wrinkle gave a report of the State P-TA convention held in Fort Worth on November 15-17. Among the guest speakers heard were Dr. John McFarland of the University of Texas at El Paso, the Honorable Tom C. Clark, associate justice (retired) and Mrs. Bernice McCullar, formerly with the Georgia State Department of Education from Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Radie Burleson's room won the room count for the largest number of parents present.

Partners In Progress

By F. W. Armstrong
Soil Conservation Service

In proclaiming the observance of National Farm-City Week, November 17-23, President Johnson said "one of the most vital contributions to the achievements of American agriculture has been understanding and cooperation between farm and city -- an interdependence that has supported and strengthened our national development."

"The production of tomorrow's food and fiber to care for 200 million Americans is everybody's business. The 30-, 176,000 farms operated by farmers in cooperation with industry of the city can meet this challenge. The demands on our natural resources will continue to increase and our consciousness of the conservation needs of our most valuable resources, soil and water, is a giant step forward in the right direction with Partners in Progress, Farm and City, dependent upon each other, working together."

Upland Cotton Program Notes Changes For '68

A portion of the 1968 upland cotton program has changed from that of last year.

Price support payment is up from 11.53 cents in 1967 to 12.24 cents per pound times projected yield, times domestic allotment for the 1968 crop year. Domestic allotment is 65 percent of the farms effective allotment which is unchanged from 1967.

The loan rate for 1968 remains the same as that of 1967, 20.25 per pound.

Diversion payments are changed from 1967 from 10.78 cents per pound to the required diversion payment of 10.76 cents, voluntary diversion pays six cents per pound.

Maximum diversion is 35 percent of allotment. The farmer has a choice of diverting any percentage between five and 35 percent of the allotment, but must divert the percentage signed up to divert.

At least 90 percent of the domestic allotment must be planted to get full price support payments.

For small farms, special provisions continued on farms with allotments of 10.0 acres or less or with a total projected yield of 3,600 pounds or less. Skip-row planting has changed for 1968. Only land planted to cotton will be charged against the 1968 cotton allotment. Acreage planted two rows cotton and one row idle will count as two-thirds cotton and one third idle, planting of two rows cotton and

Congressmen Hit Fiscal Policy

Congressman Bob Price, Amarillo, received an enthusiastic reception from more than 500 persons who paid $100 a plate for a dinner, then waited almost three hours for him and two fellow Republican congressmen to arrive from Washington.

Cong. Price, Cong. George Bush, Dallas and Cong. Gerald Ford, Mich., the House Republican floor leader, were held up in Washington by a "floor fight" that slashed funds for the administration's foreign aid bill to the lowest figure in 14 years.

Once the trio and Mrs. Price arrived, the dinner crowd heard a lambasting of President Johnson's fiscal policies and a credibility challenge of declarations about U. S. finances, from Cong. Ford, who was the principal speaker.

The GOP House leader charged that the current year's fiscal deficit would be "nearer $35 billion than the $8 billion that the administration said it would be." He pointed to a Republican gain of 47 seats in the two rows idle will count one-half cotton and one-half idle.

The idle land in the skip row patterns will not qualify for diverted acreage unless at least four normal rows are idle in the skip row pattern, such as two rows cotton and four rows idle, or four rows of cotton and four rows idle.

Farm Program Status Outlined

A farmer must divert 20 percent of the farm feed grain base to qualify for loans and price support payment. No payment is required on diversion.

The maximum diversion is 50 percent of the farm feed grain base. A farmer has a choice of diverting between 20 percent and 50 percent of the feed grain base. Only the additional diversion, that percentage diverted above the required 20 percent will earn diversion payments. Under the substitution provisions, producers partici-

U. S. House of Representatives in 1966 elections, and promised a majority in 1968.

Price introduced Ford as "the next speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives."

Castors Are Potential Farm Profit Increase

Castors, as a money crop in the irrigated Texas High Plains, have the potential of increased profits to the farmer, especially since the recently announced price increase. However, as with most others, this oil-seed crop is not without problems. One of the most severe of these is the probability of live seed left on the ground after harvest, germinating during the next season, creating a threat to the following crop.

In realizing the potential, and the problems involved, the Texas Department of Agriculture has allocated state funds to do research on controlling volunteer castors. This came about largely through the efforts of Representative Ralph Wayne of Plainview.

The State Legislature appropriated the funds for research on a contract basis, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture and Commissioner John White. White appointed a committee to determine exactly what studies were needed and where the research was to be done. The members of this committee are: Roy Davis, Plains Co-op Oil Mill; Dr. Wayne Domingo, Baker Castor Oil Company; and Don Marble, area Castor producer.

The committee, knowing that the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway had been conducting research on castors for the past ten years, selected this organization to undertake the project.

Dr. Tom Longnecker, executive vice president and director of the Foundation, expressed his appreciation to Representative Ralph Wayne, House Speaker Ben Barnes, Appropriations Committee Chairman Bill Heatly, the Texas Department of Agriculture, Members of the Committee, and all others involved, for their confidence in the Research Foundation.

Because of the poisonous nature of the seed, crops such as cotton, grain sorghum, and soybeans are endangered by volunteer plants. Hand hoeing has been the most commonly used practice to control this problem, but has discouraged farmers from growing the crop because of the expense.

The first step in the investigation procedure for eliminating volunteer castor plants will be to determine the source of the volunteer castor seed. Three possibilities exist: Pre-harvesting shattering, Harvest shattering, Combine carry-over, or any combination of the three. Different varieties may have different sources.

Cultural procedures on castor stubble will be studied. Depth of tillage may be a factor, so land will be deep-broken to a depth of 12 inches contrasted to a disk and chisel operation. Time of seed-bed preparation will be varied to determine its effect, and an irrigation will be applied immediately after harvest in conjunction with the various seed-bed preparations. In order to attempt to destroy the viability of seed, both on the surface and underground, heat and chemicals will be applied before the next crop is planted.

After the following crop is planted, herbicides will be screened to determine their value as control measures. A total of 10 pre-emerge and six post-emerge herbicides will be applied to cotton. On grain sorghum, 11 pre-emerge and eight post-emerge products will be tried, while soybeans will receive applications of 14 pre-emerge and four post-emerge herbicides.

In order to insure a uniform distribution of castor seed over the test area, an area free of castors will be seeded uniformly with castor seed. Castors will be seeded broadcast on the soil surface, immediately after harvest-time, so conditions will approximate regular harvest except that seeding will be uniform. Without this uniform seeding, it would be impossible to statistically compare numbers of volunteer castors remaining after different treatments.

A portion of the research projects will be conducted on the Headquarters farm at Halfway, and the remainder on the Martin Schur farm in Hale County, where several varieties of castors have been grown in 1967. The entire program will be under the direction of Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist, and he will be assisted by Dennis Mooney and Don Staggs.

John Tower

Our Defense Secretary informed us the other day that the Soviet Union is developing an orbital nuclear bomb -- a terror weapon which can threaten the entire free world from its station in space, Defense Secretary McNamara -- to use his words -- is "not concerned." He says the orbital bomb is a Soviet "mistake."

There is a mistake, all right. But it is not being made by the Soviet Union. It is being made by a Defense Secretary who is "not concerned" when our adversary for the first time seizes the strategic-weapon advantage from us. The mistake is being made by a Defense Secretary who has deliberately delayed U. S. defense efforts in space, and who refused for years to develop an American anti-missile and anti-satellite defense system.

Perhaps the most amazing mis-statement by our Defense Secretary was his immediate concession to the Russians that what they are doing with an orbital bomb does not break the treaty on peaceful uses of outer space. Last January President Johnson described the outer-space treaty as aimed toward -- and I quote the President -- "keeping outer-space free forever from the implements of war."

If an orbital bomb is not regarded by the Defense Secretary as an implement of war, then the President should start relying on some new advisors. As a member of the Senate's Armed Services Committee, I found Secretary McNamara's reasoning about the orbital bomb full of holes.

For instance, McNamara said the Soviet's orbital bomb would not be as effective for them as their existing ICBM system. Maybe so. But the orbital bomb is not a replacement for their ICBM system; it is in addition to it. A combined Soviet ICBM and orbital bomb force will be vastly more effective for the Reds than ICBM's alone.

CAT TAIL MILLET---Dee Brown is shown throwing bundles of cat tail millet onto a conveyor belt which takes it to the threshing machine. Dee and his brother, Jackie Brown have raised this crop for several years, but plan to close out this operation with this year's crop.

SEPARATOR---This case separator is one of the last of its kind used in the Muleshoe area. The Brown brothers, Dee and Jackie, farm 10 miles north of Muleshoe and this operation on their farm is the threshing of cat tail millet. Carried on a conveyor belt, the bundles travel to the machine, the grain pours into the truck and the blower spouts straw into a stack beside it. They harvested 600 acres.

The Secretary also says we need not worry because he will build a new radar system to tell us when orbital bombs are launched from Soviet bases, giving us the same 30 minutes warning we now have of incoming ICBM's. In fact, all radar can tell us is that a missile of some sort has been launched. Radar will not tell us an orbital bomb is aboard. Unless we could and would shoot down every Soviet-launched missile we still will have only the few minutes warning an orbital bomb gives when it starts down.

In another instance, McNamara said the orbital bomb would not be worth the money to the Soviets because it would be too inaccurate to hit U. S. Minuteman missile sites. But it could be aimed at cities, or have a huge warhead or multiple-warheads making pinpoint accuracy unnecessary.

In addition, the Defense Secretary never has mentioned to the public the worst danger of the orbital bomb -- its possible explosion not on an Earth target but in near-space over a target country.

Our limited nuclear testing has taught us that nuclear explosions in near-space black-out communications on Earth for vast distances and for a long time. Such space explosions could blind our radar, disrupt our Strategic Air Command communications and render inoperable crucial electronic components of our own missile force.

We, unfortunately, must assume that the Soviets know more about the disruptive effects of nuclear blasts in space than we do, because they have tested more and larger weapons in space than we have.

Over the past five or six years, while the Reds have been developing this orbital bomb, our own attention to the defensive aspects of space have been pigeon-holed on McNamara's desk. He has even been reduced to arguing that we could deal with the orbital bomb if only we had an anti-missile system -- but we don't, because he has delayed a start on such defenses until this year.

We also might know more about the military advantages of space if we had proceeded with our Manned Orbiting Laboratory to place men in space for prolonged periods. We could have had a Manned Orbiting Laboratory in space now, perhaps able to inspect and intercept orbital bombs. We have none because for years the Defense Secretary has allowed the project to lag and lapse.

With this orbital bomb the Reds have upstaged those American planners who contended that if we did nothing military in space the Russians wouldn't either. Meantime, to go with their orbital bomb, the Russians have been adding long-range aircraft, more and bigger ICBM's, and even an aircraft carrier. Obviously, the Soviet Union is methodically planning to extend its power and influence.

The United States had better get into the defense business in space in a big way and in a big hurry. I think we can meet this threat if we act fast. But, I want you to know that I, for once, am very concerned.

The next story hour will be held the first Wednesday in December, which will be December 6, from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and all pre-school children are invited to come to the library and enjoy songs, games and stories.

Mrs. Alan Haley donated 21 books to the library recently, and the Casey's gave seven books. Both of these families are leaving Muleshoe, and we will miss them, but appreciate their thinking of the library and wanting to leave us the good books. We will also miss the pipeline people. Several of the families used the library all during their stay here.

Frank Ellis bought and donated to the library some excellent material on careers in Mortuary science, which we are adding to the other good career books we have.

Bradley On Vietnam

General of the Army Omar Bradley, the soldiers' general of World War II, recently spoke out on the controversial issue of the war in Vietnam. One of nine Americans to receive five-star rank, Bradley says the U. S. is winning in South Vietnam and that we must hold on until the Communists realize we will not give up.

Bradley says Ho Chi Minh should be invited to come to South Vietnam and personally view the immense military establishment this country has built there - as he did recently. "If Ho would take the trip I took he would realize the futility of continuing the war," Bradley said.

"I don't call it a stalemate when, by every measurement, the other side is getting weaker and we are getting stronger," Bradley added.

Bradley says the Communists hope to hold on until the American public, sickened by the losses, force the government to give up and pull out. If we do that, as the French did, he believes it would be a "stigma the American people would have to bear forever."

The former leader of the 12th Army, which drove into Germany in World War II, is convinced Vietnam is a testing ground for the protracted war theories of Mao Tse-tung and that the United States cannot allow this experiment to succeed. He also believes the Communists are hurting more than is generally realized.

Thus Bradley adds his voice to former Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, that the war must be supported, and his words are certain to weigh heavily with many Americans.

What Are Policemen Made of?

Don't credit me with this mongrel prose; it has many parents - at least 420,000 of them: Policemen.

A policeman is a composite of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity.

Culled statistics wave the fan over the stinkers, underscore instances of dishonesty and brutality because they are "news." What that really means is that they are exceptional, unusual, not commonplace.

Buried under the froth is the fact: Less than 5 percent of policemen misfit the uniform.

That's a better average than you'd find among clergymen. What is a policeman made of? He, of all men, is at once the most needed and the most unwanted.

He's a strangely nameless creature who is "sir" to his face and "fuzz" behind his back.

He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

But - If the policeman is neat, he's conceited; if he's careless, he's a bum.

If he's pleasant, he's a flirt; if he's not, he's a grouch. He must make in an instant decisions which would require months for a lawyer.

But - If he hurries, he's careless; if he's deliberate, he's lazy. He must be first to an accident and infallible with a diagnosis.

He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints above all, be sure the victim goes home without a limp. Or expect to be sued.

The police officer must know every gun, draw on the run and hit where it doesn't hurt.

He must be able to whip two mentwice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform or without being "brutal."

If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully. A policeman must know everything - and not tell.

He must know where all the sin is - and not partake. The policeman must, from a single human hair, be able to describe the crime, the weapon and the criminal - and tell you where the criminal is hiding.

But - If he catches the criminal, he's lucky; if he doesn't, he's a dunce.

If he gets promoted, he has political pull. If he doesn't, he's a dullard.

The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead-end, stake-out 10 nights to tag one witness who saw it happen, but refuses to remember.

He runs files and writes reports until his eyes ache to build a case against some felon who'll get dealt out.

The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman.

And, of course, he'll have to be a genius, for he'll have to feed a family on a policeman's salary.

No. 1 Getting Soft?

Guest Editorial

Even in Russia they are saying now that they just don't make things like they used to make them. Before anyone suggests that in Russia that might be good, let it be understood that the topic this time is chess, and Russia long has been noted for the quality of its chess.

Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, carries a complaint by Alexander A. Kotov, a Russian chess grandmaster, that the young Soviet chess players just are not keeping up with the quality their elders showed.

He blames this in part to a change in international rules which he said makes it too easy to gain the title of grandmaster. The young players concentrate on points, he said, and not on winning tournaments. Now, said the grandmaster, they are turning our grandmasters "like hotcakes."

Well, that's the way it works. When the goal is too easy people quit trying. Sometimes people call this apathy. The Communists say the capitalist society is deteriorating and that its own softness will cause it to collapse. We better watch to see that it doesn't happen.

Sometimes No. 1 loses out because No. 2 tries harder. - - - - -Fort Worth Star Telegram

Ridgway's Book

General Matthew Ridgway is the author of a book, "The Korean War," and it is more than a commentary and analysis of that war. It goes into the question of civilian and military authority, the employment of large U. S. armies in Asia, etc.

It also deals with the personalities which made headlines during the Korean War and discusses the late General Douglas MacArthur as few on-the-scene observers have been frank in doing. Ridgway knows his ground because he went out and took command of U. S. forces. He was a fighting general, who restored morale and turned retreat into advance.

For all those who want to be informed on the issues and controversies surrounding the Korean War and the MacArthur strategy and the controversies which surrounded both this book and the man, Ridgway's book is a must reading. Ridgway contributed much to his country as a military leader of men in two wars; his latest contribution as an author and analyst is no less important nor less valuable.

SO MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm offers us a business proposition this week which we'll have to decline.

Dear editor:

Why don't you and me go into the public opinion poll business?

I got this idea last night while I was looking over a copy of the Dallas Morning News which my dog dragged into the yard yesterday afternoon and left there un-torn, didn't like the taste of it I guess, although I don't know why, you ought to see some of the bones he chews on.

At any rate, over on an inside page there was the result of the latest Gallup Poll. After surveying people clear across the nation, the Poll discovered that the "most urgent problem facing the average man and his family today is money." Of all family problems, it found, "the high cost of living overshadows all other worries of the American people today."

This is the reason you and me ought to start our own public opinion poll. I could have discovered the same results without interviewing a single person or using even a five-cent stamp, and if you can sell the poll to other newspapers, everything we take in will be net profit, and I can sure use my part to help meet the high cost of living. You bought any tractor parts lately? Been to the hospital? Re-placed a picture tube? Fed a growing boy? Bought any dog food?

There are some things a man just knows automatically, and one of them is that regardless of how much he earns, his family is always one jump ahead in needing a little more. Every time he gets into a new income bracket, he discovers his family has been there for months already.

Another thing about this poll we ought to start is that we could use it over and over. Not only is it true that the average consumer is in an economic squeeze today, he was in one yesterday, last year, ten years ago, and most likely will be in one ten years from now. By the time you own one car, your family needs two, and when you swing that, color television comes in and the family next door has a speedboat.

Let's get this poll going. My tractor is missing out and my t.v. set is flickering.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WASHINGTON BUREAU NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

LBJ Wins - Bobby Holds Back - Re-election In Doubt - LBJ's Aides -

Washington, D.C. - One of the victories won by President Johnson in recent days is the decision by a group of Senator Robert Kennedy's supporters to advise the Senator not to make an attempt to gain the top nomination of the party at next summer's Chicago convention.

The aides, who met in New York, decided Bobby would probably fail to beat the President in a test of delegate strength at the convention and that failure might be ruinous to him and also badly divide the party. Only one or two thought Bobby might get the nomination in 1968, which is not surprising since Presidents traditionally are renominated and control conventions.

The consensus in the Kennedy circle is that Bobby should make his bid in 1972 and some feel it will be a perfect time. They see a good chance of a Democratic defeat in 1968, although they will support President Johnson.

That would leave it to Kennedy to build something back out of the shambles, with a completely new party organization. In some ways this would be preferable to a 1968 effort, especially since the war in Vietnam might have been resolved by 1972 and would not play an important role in the campaign.

The President has slipped badly in the public opinion polls but a game is currently underway with various leading political figures, who are conducting or ordering their own private polls. The President's aides say several times recently show the Chief Executive ahead of all Republican contenders in several key states.

Kennedy's aides found Bobby ahead of the President in private midwestern polls by a margin as great as three to one. And various Republican candidates are in possession of poll reports which are highly favorable to their chances. (In other words, it's a good season for poll takers.)

Meanwhile, there has been a loyalty crystallization among the top LBJ aides, including Cabinet members. Because the going is getting tough, and because many of the national public opinion polls show Mr. Johnson doing poorly, they have unofficially agreed to stick behind the President from now until after the election come rain or shine.

The President himself, and some of his aides, take a long-term view of the present poll indications and rising problems caused by the Vietnam war. They are convinced that in another year the surge of patriotic support for the President, as commander-in-chief of the armed forces and leader of a nation under trial, will have reversed the recent trend.

AUSTIN -- Gov. John Connally did what very few people in your capital city expected him to do when he announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1968.

About the only person who really felt that he would not run, and said so, was Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, an already-announced candidate for Governor.

Connally's declaration brought forth many reactions. Republicans felt it would add impetus to their 1968 campaign plans, which seem to include former attorney general Will Wilson in the governor's race.

Liberals listened for word from Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Houston lawyer Don Yarborough and other potential gubernatorial candidates.

Conservatives began a sudden guessing game, with former attorney general Waggoner Carr apparently high on their potential list. But not all have given up on Connally. They point out that the filing deadline is not until February 15.

Anyway, 1968 promises to be one of those years when cowboys and Indians both may bite the dust. Things are pointing in that direction.

SCHOOL FUND FATTENED - State permanent school fund gained $4,100,000 as a result of the last oil, gas and sulphur lease sale of 1967.

Bidding averaged $45.27 an acre on 54,950 acres of oil and gas lands. Sulphur leases averaged $547.25 an acre on 3,005 acres.

Nueces County Gulf of Mexico oil-gas lease totalling 1,440 acres brought the top bid of $129,787 from Cities Service Oil Company. Top sulphur lease bid was the $1,056,323 by W. C. Tillet for 555 acres in Culberson County near Van Horn.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reported that the permanent school fund now totals $742,338,369.

Staff aides told the Board that they figured it would take three-tenths of a cent per kilowatt hour to pay for power to bring water needed into West and South Texas. Board members indicated they feared that the estimate was too low.

Texas Water Rights Commission Has Begun Distributing Forms

The Texas Water Rights Commission announced today that it has begun distribution of reporting forms required by the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967.

Persons using public surface water in Texas for any purpose other than for domestic or livestock uses without a permit are required by recent legislative action to file a sworn statement with the Texas Water Rights Commission for recognition of their claim. This must be done no later than September 1, 1969.

The Water Rights Adjudication Act, effective August 23, 1967, provides that all claims of water rights must be recorded with the Water Rights Commission. These claims must be valid under existing laws and will be limited to actual use. All water rights are to be adjudicated and administered by the Commission "to the end that the surface water resources of the State may be put to their greatest beneficial use," to quote the new law. This Act will not affect users of ground water. Users of surface water for domestic or livestock purposes only also will not be affected. The new law applies to and may limit claims to riparian waters, waters diverted or impounded for use other than for domestic and livestock purposes, "...claims to water rights under the Irrigation Acts of 1889 and 1895 which were not filed with the State Board of Water Engineers in accordance with the Irrigation Act of 1913, as amended . . ." and all other claims to water rights for which permits or certified filings have not been granted.

Only the maximum volume of water beneficially used by claimants during any one year from 1963 to 1967, inclusive, will be recognized under the new law. If an individual has expanded his water application facilities prior to this Act but has not fully used the facilities, the volume used without waste from 1963 to 1970, inclusive, will be recognized. These individuals will need to file an additional sworn statement on or before July 1, 1971 to include the additional two years.

Water authorities have explained there will never be enough water in Texas for each individual to have an equal share. Therefore, available public waters must be appropriated to individuals based on priority, necessity and legal right. The Water Rights Adjudication Act is designed to protect the rightful users of public waters from waste and unlawful users.

The Act empowers the Commission to adjudicate water rights in the State. Adjudication of a stream may be initiated upon the Commission's own motion, by a petition signed by ten or more claimants of water rights on the same stream, or upon a petition by the Texas Water Development Board.

The new law contains detailed procedures to insure due process and notice. Judicial review of the Commission's final determination is mandatory.

The eventual determination in every water right adjudication will be final. The Water Rights Adjudication Act provides, "Except for domestic and livestock purposes or rights subsequently acquired by permit, no water rights shall be recognized in the adjudicated stream or segment unless included in the final decree."

Upon final determination of water rights on a stream, the Commission will issue a certificate of adjudication to each person found to have a water right.

All permits for unappropriated water granted after a stream is adjudicated will be administered in the same manner as an adjudicated right.

During drought periods, especially on larger streams, it will be necessary to closely supervise all rights. The Commission will divide the State into water divisions and appoint watermasters to regulate stream flows and water usage. Any person dissatisfied with the actions of a watermaster may appeal to the Commission and then to the courts.

The watermaster and necessary assistants will be paid by the Commission which in turn will be reimbursed by the holders of water rights.

Water users on non-adjudicated streams may enter into a written agreement with the Commission for administration of the stream flow and a special watermaster will be assigned.

The Water Rights Adjudication Act involves three basic premises. The Act provides for up-to-date recording of all water right claims in the State, for the adjudication of these rights on streams upon filing of necessary petitions, and for the administration of adjudicated rights during times of water shortage to insure the rights and priorities are protected.

The Recording Forms may be obtained free of charge from the Texas Water Rights Commission, P. O. Box 12396, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Representatives Attend Meet

The Bailey County Historical Survey Committee was represented at the 1967 annual meeting of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its private affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation.

County committee representatives attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder.

The meeting was held in Galveston at the Moody Convention Center October 26 through 28. About 350 persons from over the state were present.

Principal speaker for the meeting was Ernest Allen Connally, chief of the Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation of the National Park Service, United States Department of the Interior. Connally spoke on the National Historic Properties Act and how it will affect Texas.

Additionally, speakers of state-wide note in various fields of historical endeavor covered "The State Archaeological Program," "Authentic Restorations," the "Texas Travel Trails," "A Comprehensive Museum Program" and a "Progress Report on the Institute of Texan Cultures."

A representative from the Parks and Wildlife Department spoke on that department's plans for the restoration of six Texas forts as well as the $75-million land and historic sites acquisition program.

A scenic and historical tour of Galveston and the surrounding area was part of the meeting activities. Sites visited included the Bishop's Palace, San Jacinto Battleground and NASA.

IN THE MIDSECTION---Mules' Bobby Burge dives headlong into the midsection of a Perryton Ranger to drop him during the Saturday afternoon homecoming game with Perryton. The Mules were defeated after the Rangers launched an aerial attack and went on to win the game with a 40-0 score.

Three Accidents Reported In Rural Bailey County

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated ten accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of October, according to Sergeant Thurman Kaffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of the area.

These crashes resulted in one person killed, eight persons injured and an estimated property damage of $7,785.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first ten months of 1967 shows a total of 54 accidents resulting in three persons killed, 25 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $42,939.

The last two days of October have proved that winter is here. Your vehicle needs winterizing. Get the jump on bad weather by having your vehicle safety inspected by an authorized garage to help assure safe mechanical performance in the months ahead. Then check to see that antifreeze has been installed in your radiator; also, snowtires or tire chains and ice scrapers are handy, for "Today's inspection is tomorrow's protection."

The Sergeant suggested ways to "winterize your driving" during icy and slippery conditions.

- (1) Slow down and leave more space between cars.
- (2) Keep windows clear--turn on lights to help others.
- (3) Drive extra slow on turns, intersections, and crest of hills.
- (4) When braking, pump to avoid locking wheels in skid.

Walking papers for the Windmill...

An electric pump is cheaper to install than the windmill and it pumps water whether or not the wind blows. With the BAILEY COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE offering a dependable low-cost electric service, the modern efficient way to pump water is electrically. You still see friendly windmills over the state but mark them well. Old "high lonesome" has his walking papers. The day is coming when there's no electric power. Such spots are fast disappearing thanks to the member-owned BAILEY COUNTY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE which is brightening the rural scene while Helping Texas Grow.

Veterans Q's and A's

Q -- I work full time and plan to enroll in a correspondence course in radio and television repairing under the G. I. Bill. What will my monthly payments be?

A -- Assuming that you qualify as a veteran for benefits under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1966, administered by the Veterans Administration, you will be paid only the actual cost of the correspondence course. The educational assistance allowance for an approved program of education pursued exclusively by correspondence will be computed on the basis of the established charge paid by non-veterans for the same course or courses. The allowance will be paid quarterly based on the lessons completed by the veteran and serviced and certified by the school. You can obtain information and assistance concerning the correspondence course in which you are interested from your nearest VA office.

Q -- I was honorably discharged from the Armed Forces recently after serving two and one-half years on active duty in the Navy. Am I entitled to re-employment rights with the company for which I worked at the time I entered service?

A -- Yes, if the job you left when entering active duty was not temporary. You would be entitled to restoration in the position which you would have attained had you not been absent, including all benefits which would have accrued by your seniority. You should contact the Office of Veterans Re-Employment Rights, U. S. Department of Labor, in the closest of the following cities: Atlanta, Boston, Chambersburg, Pa., Cleveland, Chicago, Dallas, New York, Kansas City or San Francisco.

Q -- I am receiving a pension under the new pension law for (nonservice-connected) severe emphysema. Recently I suffered a heart attack and was rushed to a local hospital for emergency care. Will the VA pay for this hospital care?

A -- No. The Veterans Administration is not authorized to pay for hospital care in a private hospital for conditions not related to military service. However, there is an additional pension benefit available if your combined disabilities are so severe that they confine you essentially to your home or require the assistance of an aid and attendant. This additional pension may help to pay for your hospital care. Contact your nearest VA office for information and assistance in obtaining this pension.

Washington Report

From Congressmen BOB PRICE - 16TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1322 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. - 223-2704

There is a distinctly hollow ring to President Johnson's latest statements about fighting crime in the District of Columbia. The time for hand-wringing and bombast has long since passed. Washington is the one city in which all Americans have a substantial stake. It is also the one city in the entire nation where the federal government has the sole responsibility for controlling crime and preserving order. An Administration that desires control over the "safe streets" programs of all states ought first to demonstrate the initiative and aptitude for insuring that streets in its own backyard are safe. Thus, the President might well be concerned over crime in Washington and the fact that the situation here is close to the worst in the nation. But his recent exhortations came a little late in the game. We are persuaded that they are nothing more than talk, born more of the realization that he couldn't ignore the problem forever than of any particular interest in ridding the District of Columbia of crime.

For one thing, it is now a year almost to the day since the President vetoed the District of Columbia anti-crime bill which had been passed overwhelmingly by the 89th Congress. If the crime situation had improved any during the past twelve months, there would be less to be said today about that historic non-event. But according to figures compiled by the Metropolitan Police Department, things are even worse, far worse, than a year ago. During the month of September a total of 3,393 index offenses were reported in the District. Index offenses represent seven categories of crime, four against the person and three against property. This figure is an increase of 565 offenses or 20 percent over September 1966 and marks the sixty-fourth consecutive month for which an increase in District crime was noted. Even more startling is the fact that this brought the "trend of offenses," that is, offenses for the preceding twelve-month period, to 36,497, an increase of 33.9 percent from the trend of September 1966, and an increase of 269.8 percent from the low point of April 1957. This is an appalling record. A large measure of the responsibility for it must be laid at the door of the Administration. We have only had a veto and inaction from the President and timidity from his advisers where crime in our nation's capital is concerned.

No one represented last year's crime bill as a cure-all for the District's ills. Nonetheless, it reflected the combined judgment of the members of both Houses of Congress that broader police powers and more realistic rules of evidence in criminal prosecutions were two steps in the right direction. The President's rejection of this partial solution was made doubly unfortunate because it was based upon the dubious advice of the now Attorney General to the effect that "fundamental Constitutional questions" pervaded the bill. Reasonable men can easily differ when it comes to interpreting the Constitution. A great majority of the Congress thought the bill was Constitutional. Ultimately though, the issue is one for the Judiciary. The President would have done well to leave it to the courts rather than to rely upon the predictably negative advice of an Attorney General who frequently seems more concerned over the appearance of the system than he is over whether it actually works.

What has the Administration offered in lieu of the District crime bill? A short month after the veto the President's Commission on Crime in the District of Columbia sent him a report containing more than 200 specific crime recommendations. He has largely ignored these. Early in this session, the Administration did offer a bill which embodied a few of the "easier" recommendations. But it was patchwork legislation bearing no resemblance to an anti-crime package, and if enacted, would have accomplished very little. Fortunately for the citizens of the District, last year's vetoed bill was introduced in the House again. As usual it received bi-partisan support and after absorbing some of the worthwhile features of the Administration's bill, it has again passed the House. It now languishes in the Senate District Committee where it is likely to remain until the next session simply because the President is not in sympathy with it and has taken no steps to push it along.

Similar treatment is being accorded another bill which would enhance the fight against crime in the District. The Federal Magistrates Act long ago passed the Senate by a wide margin, but it is stalled in the House Judiciary Committee, again because the Administration has shown no particular interest in it. The Magistrates Act applied to the entire federal system, but since the judicial system in the District is entirely federal, it would obviously have its greatest impact here. For years it has been recognized that one of the most vexing problems surrounding the administration of justice in Washington has been the ever growing backlog of cases awaiting trial. Delays between arrest and final judgment are interminable. The Magistrates Act would speed up this process by freeing the judges from routine tasks and permitting magistrates to handle not only these but also the trial of minor offenses. This legislation is also bi-partisan. Concededly, it is neither dramatic or exciting, but that is no excuse for letting it wither on the vine.

In recent months the Bail Reform Act has been roundly criticized by District judges and prosecutors, and the President must be aware that the Act itself is badly in need of reform. The "no-show" rate among criminal defendants has jumped alarmingly since it has been implemented as have the number of additional crimes committed by those who have been released under it. The spirit and purpose of the Bail Act are undeniably noble, and it has gone a long way towards curbing inequities in the administration of justice. We do not suggest that it be scrapped. It is clear, though, that amendment is necessary to allow the courts more discretion in denying or setting conditions of the release of those who continue to commit criminal acts or release for those who are a danger to the community and in revoking or cancelling the release of those who continue to commit criminal acts while free. It is further clear that the woefully understaffed District Bail Agency must be expanded and that some machinery must be established to supervise the activities of released defendants or else many of them will continue to run wild. All of these reforms were suggested by the Crime Commission a year ago. If money and manpower are needed, it is up to the Executive Branch to advise the Congress where and how much. So far we have heard nothing. We have no reason to believe the Administration is even slightly concerned over this.

The record of the Administration is equally inglorious when it comes to filling existing vacancies in law enforcement personnel. The President spoke about doubling the size of the Police Department, yet it is an established fact that more than 500 vacancies exist in positions already established. More shameful is the situation in the United States Marshal's office where summons and other court documents remain unserved for months because almost 20 percent of their positions are unfilled. This delay in service recently prompted a federal judge from Northern Virginia to direct his own marshals to handle service of process in Washington where cases in his court were involved. Not too long ago a U. S. Marshal's job was much sought after, but this is obviously no longer the case in the District of Columbia. We also frequently hear how the United States Attorney's office is understaffed and of the enormous case load each prosecutor is required to carry. Surely some lawyers could be spared from the Department of Justice to help ease the load in what is truly an emergency situation, but we see no evidence that this is in the offing either. These last are problems the President could solve without Congressional assistance.

In summary, I would note that crime in the District of Columbia has been on the upswing for a decade. The increase has been twice the national rate. In the face of this, positive action by the Administration has been totally lacking. The streets of Washington are unsafe. The Administration has failed in its own backyard. Congress cannot, in conscience, give it the responsibility for insuring safe streets elsewhere. We ask only for some sign from the President that he recognizes his responsibility towards the nation's capital and that he is going to act about crime and not merely talk about it.

New Variety of Potato Released

COLLEGE STATION--In the future when potato growers talk about the Alamo they won't be speaking of that well-known shrub but about a new potato variety.

The Crops Research Division Service, United States Department of Agriculture, and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have announced that Alamo is primarily a medium-early maturing potato with high yielding ability.

Alamo tubers are oblong to round in shape with shallow eyes and a light cream-white skin. The potato is resistant to common races of late blight, common scab, mild mosaic and net necrosis following leafroll infection. (Necrosis is death of tissue.)

A cross between Kennebec and Merrimack varieties, Alamo was first grown in greenhouses at Beltsville, Maryland, in 1959. It was tested for yield at three locations in Maine in comparison with Irish Cobbler, Katahdin and Kennebec. In Texas, Alamo was also grown in three locations and compared with Norgold Russet, Katahdin and Kennebec.

showed that the Alamo was superior to Kennebec and Katahdin in yielding ability when grown in Texas and similar when grown in Maine. It exceeded the yields of the early maturing varieties, Irish Cobbler and Norgold Russet, in both states.

Alamo is especially adapted for use in heat processed products and for table use.

A limited amount of certified seed will be available to certified seed producers in 1968.
