Insulators Being Shot

Reward Offered by Bailey County Electric Cooperative

Because of the increased occurrence of power outages caused by insulators being shot with guns, the management of Bailey County Electric Cooperative is offering a "$100.00 Reward" for information leading to the apprehension of persons guilty of such acts.

"We have always heard that for one to become an expert marksman they must have a target to shoot at, but let us emphasize that electric wires, pole insulators, transformers, and other equipment are not TARGETS, and implore that you please do not shoot them. They are components of a complicated and expensive system that provides electric service to our members," a cooperative spokesman said.

"We would also like to point out that the highlines of this distribution system carries 7200 Volts. Should the energized conductor fall on the sharpshooter, or be let loose from its supports to where it could be contacted by persons or livestock, it is an ELECTROCUTION JUST WAITING TO HAPPEN! So, not only is the person doing the shooting in grave danger, he can create hazards that will endanger the lives of many others. Besides all this is the fact that our members are inconvenienced by being out of electric service and the cooperative is out a lot

Dr. Charles Lewis Among Outstanding Young Texans

Five young men under the age of 36 who have made unique contributions to their professions and communities have been named by the Texas Jaycees as "The Five Outstanding Young Texans of 1967."

State Jaycee President Art Hoera, of Fort Worth, today announced the "FOYT Selections." They are:

Dr. Charles G. Lewis, 33, Muleshoe dentist and civic leader.

Gus Mutscher, 35, of Brenham, state representative from District 29 and heir-apparent to Ben Barnes as Speaker of the Texas House.

Lloyd L. Hayes, 32, Port Arthur businessman who is serving his third term as mayor of Port Arthur.

R. Gordon Gooch, 33, Houston attorney who initiated a far-ranging indigent Defender Program.

Salvador Ramirez, 34, executive director of the 3,500-member El Paso Boys Clubs and a leader in programs to eliminate poverty, delinquency and slums.

These outstanding young men were selected from nominees submitted from across the state. The judging panel included Midland attorney, Tom Sealy; Austin insurance executive, Lewis Timberlake; Snyder rancher-businessman, C. T. McLaughlin; and Southern Methodist University's Director of Annual Giving, Jack Freiderich.

They will be honored at a banquet, January 27, in Midland. More than 700 persons from around the state are expected for the event which also will feature an address by Governor John Connally.

In addition to being spotlighted at the Banquet, the FOYT honorees will participate earlier that day in a luncheon program at which Dr. James H. Granberry of Lubbock, a former FOYT winner, will speak.

Mutscher, a farmer and rancher in Brenham, was elected to the State Legislature in 1960. During his terms as chairman of the Redistricting Committee in both the 59th and 60th Legislatures, acceptable legislation was passed implementing the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote order.

His other legislative accomplishments have included new mental health legislation, a water quality control bill, and the passage of constitutional amendments relating to State Park developments and the Veterans Land Board.

Mutscher has garnered 135 pledges from his colleagues in the Texas House out of a total membership of 150 to be the next Speaker of the House, succeeding Ben Barnes who is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Hayes, manager and co-owner of the Driftwood Motor Hotel in Port Arthur, was elected mayor of that city in 1962 at the age of 27. He inherited indebtedness, corruption in law enforcement and apathy among the citizens.

Hayes also is credited in great part with the fact that more industrial expansion construction currently is under way in Port Arthur than at any time in the last 16 years.

After graduating with honors from the University of Texas Law School in 1961, Gooch was selected to be a law clerk for Chief Justice Earl Warren. Upon leaving the court, he became associated with Baker, Botts, Shepherd and Coates, Attorneys-At-Law, in Houston.

But during his three terms as mayor, the city has begun to operate on a balanced budget, confidence in the city administration has been restored and sweeping capital improvement programs have been initiated with voters approving multi-million dollar bond issues to finance them.

City Council Holds Closed Hearings

Muleshoe City Council met in regular session at City Hall Monday. Attending were Mayor W. B. LeVeque, city manager Albert Field, Councilmen Matt Dudley, Irvin St. Clair, Woodrow Lambert and Alex Williams, also L. B. Hall and Derrill Oliver.

The council heard the request of the Muleshoe Hobby Club for a meeting place and a discussion followed concerning the airport office building. The subject is pending, as the matter will have to be taken up with the lease of the property and building by M. D. Locker.

A general discussion was held pertaining to future city planning with respect to taking adjacent property into the city limits and an additional paving program. These items, as well as a community building were to be discussed further when Larson and Associates present the City Comprehensive Plan report.

The Council held a closed hearing Tuesday, January 2. Those present were Mayor W. B. LeVeque, Councilmen Irvin St. Clair, Alex Williams, Matt Dudley, City Manager Albert Field. Also present were Myrtle Hawkins, a waitress at the Corral Drive In, City Patrolmen R. B. Cunningham, Larry Hensley and Eugene Black. Discussion pertained to the circumstances involved in the arrest of Stanley Black on charges of being drunk in a public place at the Corral on December 31.

Decisive action was not taken at the initial meeting, however reports indicate that statements were made by Black concerning his son's arrest and treatment, a waitress, Myrtle Hawkins, who is employed at the Corral Drive In where the arrest took place and from the arresting officer, City Patrolman R. B. Cunningham.

The second closed hearing was held on Monday at the conclusion of the regular meeting to continue the local level investigation. Outside investigators are being sought to look into the incident.

Young Black is free on $50 bond on the charge.

In relating the incident to the Journal, City Patrolman Larry Hensley, who assisted with the arrest, said he and Patrolman Cunningham went into the restaurant to drink coffee and noticed the youth passed out in the booth.

They noted that two waitresses attempts to wake him failed. Hensley said, "Cunningham asked Don Taylor, a restaurant customer, who the youth was and where he lived so we could take him home."

"Taylor told us he was Stanley Black and he believed that he lived near Progress."

"We got up and helped him up and told him he would have to go with us... that he was too intoxicated to stay here."

This week marks the opening of a statewide newspaper campaign organized by Secretary of State John L. Hill to promote voter registration in Texas. One feature of the registration drive is the publication of an application form which voters may cut out and mail to the county tax assessor-collector, who acts as the registrar of voters. The form is printed on page 3. January 31 is the deadline for registration.

Hill has organized the registration drive in his capacity as chief election officer of the state, a title which the Texas Legislature conferred on the secretary of state last year.

One of the new laws enacted in 1967 makes registration necessary, for the first time in Texas history, for persons over 60 years of age who live in rural communities and towns under 10,000 population. Heretofore, persons over 60 were required to register only if they lived in a city having more than 10,000 inhabitants.

In order to vote in statewide elections, a person must meet the following qualifications on the day of election: he must be over 21 years old and must be a citizen of the United States; he must have resided in Texas for one year immediately preceding the election; and he must have registered for the voting year in which the election is held.

In order to vote in local elections (county, school district, etc.) he must also have resided in the county for six months immediately preceding the election. Residence in the county for six months is required for voting in a city election.

A new law enacted in 1967 permits voters who move from one Texas county to another within the period of six months preceding an election to vote on statewide offices and issues if they have lived in the state for a year. Formerly, a voter was totally disfranchised for a 6-month period following removal to another county unless the county from which he moved was in the same congressional, legislative or judicial district as the county to which he moved.

Texas voters must register annually. The 1968 voting year will begin on March 1, 1968, and will end on February 28, 1969. The registration period for the 1968 voting year began last October 1 and will end on January 31, 1968. Any citizen of Texas who now possesses the necessary qualifications for voting or who will attain them by February 28, 1969, may register during the current registration period.

Except for three limited classes of voters, all persons wishing to vote at any time during the 1968 voting year must register by the January 31 deadline, even though they may not yet possess full qualifications for voting. The only registration permitted after January 31 is (1) by persons who move into Texas after October 1, 1967, (2) by persons who become 21 years old after January 31, 1968, and (3) by former aliens who are naturalized after January 31, 1968.

Any person eligible to register may apply for registration by mailing an application form to the county tax assessor-collector of the county of his residence. Registration certificates will be mailed before the beginning of the voting year on March 1 to persons who apply by mail.

Voters may also register by applying in person at the county tax assessor-collector office.

The husband, wife, father, mother, son, or daughter of a voter may act as the voter's agent in applying for registration if the relative is a qualified voter in the same county. Except for these listed relatives, which do not include those related by marriage, no one may act as agent for another in applying for registration.

Voters who have not already applied for registration are urged to cut out the application form which appears on page 3, fill in all the blanks and mail it to the county tax assessor-collector without delay.

For families needing more than one application blank, additional forms may also be obtained from the county tax assessor-collector.

Besides the Bailey County courthouse, additional places have been designated for voter registration. These additional places include for Bula residents, Claunch Gin; Enochs, Farmers Co-op Gin; Maple, Maple Auto Supply; Goodland, at the Goodland Cafe and the Three Way School.

Twenty Didn't Die

"The Texas Department of Public Safety closed its 'Operation Deathwatch,' inclusive periods of Christmas and New Year's weekends, with 80 traffic fatalities, 20 less than the 100 traffic fatalities estimated prior to the holidays," stated Major Luther Moore, Regional Commander of this area.

These 80 traffic deaths resulted from 71 fatal crashes as compared to 1966's 65 crashes and 90 deaths. Forty-three of these fatal accidents were one-car crashes resulting in 47 deaths as compared to 1966's 34 fatal crashes and 40 deaths. Twenty-five of these fatal accidents were two-car crashes resulting in 29 deaths as compared to 1966's 28 fatal crashes and 45 deaths. Three of these fatal crashes were three-car crashes resulting in four deaths as compared to 1966's two fatal crashes and three deaths.

Of these 80 traffic deaths, 61 were males and 19 were females as compared to 1966's 65 males and 25 females.

The Lubbock Region recorded four of these 80 traffic deaths as compared to three in 1966. One was in Lubbock County, one in Haskell County, one in Parker County, and one in Wise County.

Major Moore said, "No doubt the extensive educational campaign undertaken wholeheartedly by the news media of the state, the cooperation of law enforcement agencies, and the willingness of hundreds of thousands who drove legally and defensively kept the death toll from being higher."

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Employers are required to issue W-2 forms for each of their employees during 1967 before January 31. Getting a correct W-2 from your employer is important for each taxpayer. Internal Revenue has these tips for you: 1) Be sure to get a correct form W-2, that shows the correct wages and tax that you have paid; 2) If you have changed jobs and/or moved, make sure that your former employer knows where to mail your form W-2; and 3) Be sure to get all your Forms W-2 before you prepare your tax return.

He was booked at City Hall at 2:30 a.m. and released to his father at 6:30 a.m.
Attending physician Dr. W. M. Dean's report states that Black had a "black eye" with red spots on the eyeball, but vision was not impaired, a laceration two cm. in length at the right corner of the mouth. The mouth laceration required six stitches. Also noted were small bruises of the left lower back, the lateral aspect of the right thigh and the anterior (front) aspect of the left thigh. X-rays were taken, which revealed a questionable skull fracture of the left side posteriorly, and he was admitted for observation. Further X-rays taken after admission to the hospital revealed no fractures or bony injuries.
Dr. Dean concluded his statement by saying "I do not anticipate any permanent disability in this case."
Concerning the incident, a witness told the Journal that he observed Black in the restaurant and said "He sure seemed intoxicated to me. If he wasn't he sure was sleepy."

In a statement made by waitress Myrtle Hawkins, she related this condition of the youth, "His head was hanging down to his arms which were folded on the table top. The waitress who had served his food said "Hey Boy, it's time to eat."
"He didn't wake up. So I said, 'Margaret, you don't know how to wake somebody up. . . this will wake anyone who is just sleeping because they're tired.' So I got within six or seven inches of his head and yelled "Fire!" But Stanley Black didn't even hear me.
"I made several attempts to get him awake. Finally, I shook him and said, 'Look, boy, this isn't a motel and you're not going to sleep in here. I'll sack your food and you can get your --- out.' He looked up and said 'Oh, baby. . . oh, baby.'
"I went back into the kitchen and while I was there, the policemen took him out," she concluded.
When contacted by the Journal, Eugene Black, father of the youth, said any statement he had to make would be made by his attorney.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD SAYER

Cathy Jean Wilson was married to James Edward Sayer in an informal ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, 210 Granada W., Wilcox, Ariz., at 10 a.m. December 23, 1967.

William B. Johnson, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated at the ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin James Sayer, Sierra Vista, Ariz.

The hearth was decorated with white Christmas trees trimmed in blue ornaments on either side of the candelabra covered with greenery.

Wedding music was furnished by Sally Hinkson at the piano.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Harold Wilson.

The maid of honor was Becky Wilson, sister of the bride. Junior bridesmaids were Carol and Robin Wilson, also sisters of the bride.

The bride wore a white velvet sheath dress, street length. The bell sleeves and rolled collar were embroidered with white pearl sequins.

Her headpiece was of evening blue velvet ribbon and leaves accented with pearl sequins. Her gloves and shoes were also evening blue. Her bouquet was of white roses centered with a cymbidium orchid. For something borrowed she carried a white handkerchief from Sally Hinkson. Something old was a locket belonging to her mother.

The bridesmaids wore evening blue slipper satin sheath dresses with long fitted sleeves, small covered buttons at the wrist, and matching velvet bows in their hair.

The maid of honor carried a nosegay of white roses, and the junior bridesmaids wore wristlets of white carnations.

The best man was Robert Roberson of Sierra Vista, Ariz.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

Pam Plough and Karen Berryman served the wedding cake and punch. Anita Wilson, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The table was decorated with a three-tiered cake, and covered with an antique white lace cloth, hand crocheted by the bride's grandmother, over blue.

Two candles set in greenery and holly completed the arrangement.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sayer, parents of the bridegroom; Mr.

and Mrs. John Sayer, uncle and aunt of the bridegroom, Mrs. Arthur Miller, grandmother of the bridegroom and Ralph Dominaus, all of Sierra Vista; Lorene Wilson, grandmother of the bride, Muleshoe; Annie Boren, grandmother of the bride, Amarillo and Steve Lasky and Clay Sparling, Phoenix.

The influence of the Camelot period is seen in many of the new garments. They are full skirted and tied with ribbons under the bust line. Sleeves are large and flowing.

The more natural look for faces is the present trend in make-up. Gone are the Theda Bara eyes and very light colored lipstick. But the ladies are having a wonderful time with hair pieces and wigs. Some women possess a number of these and are always ready for a date as far as hair-dos are concerned.

Important Feature of Clean Air Act is Local Control

"Probably the most important new feature in the present (clean air) law is the authority vested in local governments to take an active role in air pollution control work."

This statement is one of many emphasized in a recent analysis of the Clean Air Act of Texas, 1967, compiled by officials of the Texas Air Control Board, which is available to anyone interested in the Act.

Charles R. Barden, executive secretary to the Air Board, said the analysis was made to clarify misconceptions stirring in some quarters over the Act, and is meant to give clear picture that the new Act is a much-improved law over the old one of two years past, that it will work toward the benefit of local residents for cleaner air and that its enforcement procedures can and will be carried out.

The analysis report points out that "from the standpoint of local governments, this (authority) enables them (local governments) to establish and prosecute their own air pollution control programs, in addition to enforcing the State program."

"This is very beneficial from the State's standpoint," the report adds, "because it has the effect of directly complementing and supplementing the air pollution control effort on the part of this Board." The report also stresses that the record of the Air Control Board "reflects that the Board has given primary consideration to the protection of the health and welfare of the people of this State, tempered with recognition of the fact that emission controls on the agricultural, commercial, industrial and other activities of our people must not be unjustifiably restrictive if these segments of our economy are to remain viable."

Further, the term "undesirable levels" of pollutants is now defined to bring the Act more in line with the standard definition of air pollution recommended by the Public Health Service of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"It is our view," states the report, "that this strengthens the air control program by eliminating certain phases which were contained in the definition of the 1965 act."

In answer to critics of the state legislation who claim the law fails to give local officials enough authority to act against firms guilty of air pollution, Barden said:

"It is spelled out in the Act that local governments are authorized to bring civil action within their own air control programs. A local government (an incorporated city or town or a county) may go on public or private property to make inspections and may bring enforcement actions under the Act."

"A city may also adopt its own air pollution control ordinances if they are consistent with the Act and the Board's regulations and orders."

Barden said authority is also given to local governments to enter into cooperative agreements with each other for air services and transfer of money between agencies for certain air pollution control activities.

Barden also pointed out that the Board is well aware that a certain portion of the law -- Section 6 (C) -- is restrictive as to air pollution control in some situations, but he further points to the final portion of the analysis which states "it is the opinion of this agency that the Clean Air Act of Texas, 1967, represents a considerable improvement over the former law and . . . provides a very adequate legal basis for carrying out effective air pollution control programs for all areas of the State."

Make Water Go Further

Irrigation is vital to Texas farmers and yet the supply of ground water is seriously declining in several important irrigated areas.

According to C. Wayne Keese, Extension agricultural engineer, the Panhandle - High Plains, the Trans-Pecos area and the Winter Garden of South Texas are areas experiencing a declining ground water level. He pointed out that the Trans-Pecos region was the most seriously affected.

"Declining ground water levels are doubly serious since water costs increase at the same time well yields decrease," Keese said.

This is an important factor because ground water supplies over 80 percent of Texas irrigated acreage. And since farmers irrigate more than seven million acres of cropland or about one third of the state's total harvested acreage, new methods must be found to make the water go further.

Keese said special attention should be given to developing areas and areas facing adjustments caused by dwindling ground water supplies to meet the growing needs for food and fiber indicated by the population growth in the state, the nation and the world.

Irrigation is necessary to Texas farmers if they are to meet the challenge of the future.

Measles Clinic Sponsored Here

Bailey County Medical Society is sponsoring a measles immunization clinic Saturday, January 13.

All children who have not had measles or vaccines are urged to take the vaccine made available to them at no charge. Donations of any amount the parent may make will be accepted, however, in the event the person is not able to pay, there will be no fee for the vaccine.

The clinic will be held at Mary DeShazo School nurse's office that day between the hours of 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Vaccines will be given by school nurse Imogene Tiller and Mary C. Miller, Public Health Nurse, Lubbock.

Effects of the administration of measles vaccine to more than 10 million children were first seen in 1965 when 265,501 cases were reported as compared with 487,819 in 1964. In 1966, a total of 202,886 cases were reported, representing the lowest incidence in 21 years. Reported cases represented only about 10 percent of the number actually occurring, so a better estimate of the incidence of measles in 1966 is about two million cases.

Less heartening are figures to show that more than 150 children suffer post-measles encephalitis, one of the most serious complications of the disease. Additionally, an estimated 250 children died from measles in 1966 while 50 times as many died from polio.

Q. Is measles a serious disease?
A. Yes. It is the most serious of the childhood diseases, causing much discomfort as well as temporary or permanent disability.

Q. Does measles ever cause death?
A. Yes. Before vaccine became available, about 400 measles deaths occurred in the United States each year.

Q. What are the complications of measles?
A. Complications can include ear infections, pneumonia, deafness, blindness, and convulsive disorders or other forms of brain diseases. Encephalitis or brain fever occurs in one case in 1000, and may result in mental retardation. Temporary behavior disorders have been attributed to measles.

Q. What is the difference in measles and German measles?
A. Measles (rubeola) is a serious rash disease of children, and is sometimes called "hard," "red," "7-day" or old-fashioned measles. German measles (rubella) is a mild, three-day infection that seldom leads to complications in children. However, German measles may cause birth deformities in babies born to mothers who are infected with it when they are pregnant.

Q. Which form of measles is the present vaccine for?
A. Licensed vaccines for 7-day measles (rubeola) have been available for nearly four years. German measles (rubella) vaccine is under development but has not yet been licensed.

Q. Who should receive measles vaccine?
A. Healthy children beyond the age of one year who have never had measles or measles vaccine.

Q. Is measles vaccine needed by older children and adults?
A. No. Because nearly all people over the age of 15 have had measles and thus are immune. If an older person definitely has not had measles, he should be vaccinated.

Q. Can every child receive the measles vaccine safely?
A. Yes, with a few exceptions. Children with severe chronic disorders such as leukemia, generalized cancer, tuberculosis, convulsive disorders, or marked allergy to eggs or dog dander should receive measles vaccine only upon advice of a physician familiar with their health problems. Children with high fever should have vaccination postponed until temperature is normal and there is no other evidence of illness.

Q. Is a gamma globulin shot for measles exposure the same as vaccination?
A. No. Children who received immune globulin for measles exposure receive lasting immunity only if they subsequently develop a mild case of measles. Children who did not develop mild measles after receiving immune globulin may still be susceptible and should receive measles vaccine.

Q. If a child has received gamma globulin should he receive the measles vaccine?
A. Not for at least six weeks. However, he should then be vaccinated.

Q. How is the vaccine administered?
A. By injection in the upper arm.

Q. How safe is the measles vaccine?
A. Millions of doses have already been distributed in the United States without serious complications.

Q. Are there any side effects caused by the vaccine?
A. As with other vaccines, some children develop a fever after receiving measles vaccine. A few may even develop a mild rash. These symptoms may occur seven to twelve days after vaccination. They last only a day or two, and the children usually continue to act as if they feel well. Parents of children who develop high or persistent fever or show other obvious signs of illness should consult a physician, since other causes may be responsible.

Q. Is there penicillin in the vaccine?
A. No.

Q. Can children receiving the vaccine spread measles to other persons?
A. No.

Q. If a parent is uncertain whether a child has had measles or measles vaccine before, should the child be vaccinated?
A. Yes. No harm is done by vaccinating a child who has already had measles or measles vaccine.

Q. Will other immunizations interfere with the measles vaccine?
A. Diphtheria - Whooping Cough - Tetanus Immunization (DPT, Baby Shots) will not interfere. However, there should be at least a 14-day interval between the measles vaccination and oral polio (Sabin) or smallpox vaccination.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Norm Sanford

AUSTIN---Vision tests and color photographs are a required part of all drivers' licenses being issued this year.

New regulations make it necessary for all drivers to renew licenses in person at a Department of Public Safety office. Each applicant will be photographed and given a standard vision test.

DPS Director Homer Garrison Jr. says that all licenses will be renewed to expire on the birthdate of the holder. Drivers holding licenses ending in an even number will get new licenses good for four years. If the license ends in an odd number, it will be renewed initially for two years, and thereafter for four years.

New licenses will be about the size of a standard credit card. About 250 full-time license offices will operate over the state to service renewals.

There are some 5,800,000 licensed drivers in the state and the new requirements will affect some 2,500,000 this year, Colonel Garrison says.

EDUCATION AIMS--Performance, rather than spending or teacher pay, should be the basis of a more-efficient school system. So says Glenn H. Ivy, director of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education. His views were expressed to public school administrators at their mid-winter conference here.

Among highlights of Ivy's preview of the most far-reaching inquiry into Texas' education needs ever undertaken were:

"To achieve national leadership in education, the state must seek excellence in performance and super-efficiency. Favored tax status for rural and suburban districts is a "luxury" the state cannot afford.

"Unequal education" -- like pre-school training for the non-English speaking and special programs for migrants -- is necessary to offset disadvantages faced by many children.

"Education must be made "more relevant" to potential dropouts. In particular, those with Spanish-language backgrounds. Obstacles to school attendance must be overcome.

ELECTION LAW SEMINAR SET--Officials responsible for conducting elections in Texas will go to school for a day. They will discuss new changes in voting laws.

Secretary of State John Hill, chief state election officer, called the workshop sessions for January 18 here.

Leading the discussions will be Hill; State Democratic Chairman Will D. Davis; GOP State Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr.; Mrs. Mary K. Wall of Hill's staff; Midland County Clerk Mrs. Rosanelle Cherry; and Dallam County Judge W. D. Henson.

New electronic voting equipment will be displayed at the seminar.

NEW CANDIDATE FILES--Gordon B. McLendon, Dallas radio-television executive, true to predictions, jumped into the governor's race by paying his $1,000 filing fee.

In 1965 he ran unsuccessfully for the U. S. Senate. But he received more than 672,500 votes in his close race with Sen. Ralph Yarborough.

Secretary of State Hill says he plans to announce soon after the January 18 voting law seminar.

AIR POLLUTION REGULATIONS--Cities of less than 5,000 population face new regulations relative to the burning of garbage and rubbish. New regulations were adopted by the Texas Air Control Board and became effective January 4.

Municipalities are regulated in the new rules, as well as industrial plants, businesses and individuals.

Rules permit burning waste outdoors, as long as the burning is outside a defined Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area;

Outside a municipality; Between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Regulations cover emissions of smoke and particulate matter, outdoor burning, sulfur compounds and air pollution from motor vehicles.

Board chairman Herbert McKee of Houston pointed out that two problems are not regulated by the Board rules -- odor and effects of emissions on visibility. City and county health officials will have to rely on the State's General Nuisance Law to control air polluting odors. Nothing can be done about visibility regulations until a Federal study is complete, says McKee.

However, cities and counties will be able to use the Board's regulations to enforce pollution control of other wastes emitted into the air.

AIRLINES--Latest in a series of applications for licenses to operate intrastate air lines in Texas is that of King Flight Service of Wichita Falls.

King asked the Texas Aeronautics Commission to let it fly four times a day between Wichita Falls and Dallas.

MIXED DRINK TAX APPLIED--State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert stirred the ire of some 1,350 private club operators by ruling that as of January 1 their sales of mixed drinks and related services would be subject to state and local sales taxes.

A delegation led by the Texas Restaurant Association called on Calvert urging him to change his mind.

New ruling applies to private social clubs and veteran and fraternal organizations dispensing mixed alcoholic beverages. It covers set-ups, mixes, ice, service charges for mixing and serving -- and even the 15 percent tip most clubs add to the check.

"The entire charges for mixed drinks will be presumed as a part of the taxable gross receipts," Calvert's ruling states.

STATE'S SUIT LOOKS GOOD--Possibility that the State Treasury will be enriched by several million dollars through an anti-trust suit charging price-fixing by five major pharmaceutical companies looked better this week. This after a Federal court jury in New York returned a guilty verdict against American Cyanamid, Bristol-Myers and Charles Pfizer and Company.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin filed charges of price carting in Austin against these three firms and Olin Mathieson Chemical and the Upjohn Company. Suit alleged that State schools, hospitals and prisons paid too much for certain drugs because of a conspiracy and asked triple damages.

A Dallas Federal court has ruled that the Texas case can be processed 60 days after the New York decision.

CIGARETTE AND LIQUOR TAXES--State Treasurer Jesse James reports that Texans smoked less but drank more in December.

Cigarette stamp sales were down from the previous month $282,607 -- to $10,100,000.

Liquor and wine stamp sales were up $263,635 -- to $1,400,000 total.

SOUND OF HAMMERS---State Building Commission has awarded a contract to Lanphier Construction Company of Corpus Christi for $2,896,100 for first-phase construction at the new Corpus Christi State School for the Severely Mentally Retarded. Project was ordered by the Legislature in 1965.

Commission also awarded a $108,224 contract to Troup Lumber Company for Tyler State Park improvements. Contract includes a headquarters building, 30 screen shelters, one group shelter and restrooms and showers. It's a part of this year's program for improving existing state parks.

LICENSES SUSPENDED---State Consumer Finance Commissioner Frank Miskell suspended for six days the licenses of Colonial Finance Corporation of San Antonio for making duplicate loans to the same customers as Credit Plan Corporation of San Antonio.

Like suspensions were also ordered in two other offices of the same owner in Corpus Christi and Houston.

State law forbids related firms from making loans to the same borrowers.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Employment Commission is seeking 1,500 employees for work at HemisFair '68 which opens April 6.

William L. Ferguson, assistant administrator of the Texas Liquor Control Board and former Rusk County attorney, announced his resignation to enter private law practice, effective February 1.

Special Headgear Required by Law For Motorcyclers

The law governing the wearing of protective headgear for motorcycle operators and passengers went into effect January 1, 1968, announced Major Luther Moore, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Major Moore stated, "Effective January 1, 1968, no person may operate a motorcycle on a public street or highway of this state unless he wears protective headgear which has been approved by the Department of Public Safety, nor may any person carry a passenger on a motorcycle on a public street or highway of this state unless the passenger wears protective headgear which has been approved by the Department of Public Safety, nor may any person ride as a passenger on a motorcycle on a public street or highway of this state unless he wears a protective headgear which has been approved by the Department of Public Safety."

The Major also added, any peace officer may stop and detain any motorcycle operator or passenger for the purpose of inspecting his protective headgear to determine if the headgear is of a style and make approved by the Department. A person who violates this law is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 or more than $50.

Veterans Q's and A's

Q -- My husband was a veteran of World War II. I applied to the VA for widow's pension when he died in 1959. This claim was disallowed. Would I now be eligible for pension?

A -- Legislative action has changed the requirements for eligibility to receive widow's pension since you applied in 1959. At that time widows of World War II or the Korean Conflict were eligible for pension only if the veteran had a service - connected disability.

This requirement was eliminated by Public Law 86-211, July 1, 1960. You should contact your nearest VA office and reopen your claim.

Q -- Is a certificate of attendance needed each month for veterans training under Public Law 89-358 in an institution of higher learning?

A -- No. A certificate of attendance will be issued between semesters to the trainee along with his check. This certificate will cover the entire period of his training.

Q -- When a veteran has been notified of overpayment, should he request a waiver?

A -- Yes, if he feels that he is without fault. The request should be made promptly.

Q -- Will the profit I receive on the sale of my home affect the pension I started drawing last year?

A -- No. Proceeds from the sale of personal property are not considered income for veterans receiving Public Law 211 pension.

Pioneer Creates New Positions: C. I. (Stoney) Wall Advanced

AMARILLO--The Board of Directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a special meeting held in Amarillo, announced the creation of two new positions and the advancement of five of the Company's officers.

C. I. "Stoney" Wall, who has been president of Pioneer since 1955, was elevated to the newly created position of chairman of the board. He will also continue to serve as president.

Wall is a veteran of more than 40 years of service with Pioneer. He joined the Company shortly after his graduation from Kansas University in 1927. In 1946, Wall was named vice president of West Texas Gas Company and in 1952 was named president of West Texas Gas Company. Following the re-organization of the predecessor companies, Wall served as vice president of Pioneer prior to being named president.

Another newly created position, executive vice president, was filled by B. P. Smith. Smith was formerly a senior vice president in charge of the Company's financial affairs. Smith joined Pioneer in 1955 in the capacity of vice president finance. He was named vice president and director in 1956 and was elevated to senior vice president in 1965.

In addition to staffing these new executive classifications, advancements were given to

A. F. Cox, K. B. Watson and W. N. Lampe.

Cox was named a senior vice president. He is a director of Pioneer and will continue as president of Amarillo Oil Company, Pioneer Production Company and Amarillo Minerals, Inc., Pioneer subsidiaries. In these positions he is responsible for the Companies' exploration activities.

Cox, who will complete 35 years with the Company this year, has been a vice president of Pioneer since 1954. He was named president of Amarillo Oil Company in 1954 and president of Pioneer Production when the company was organized in 1956. Amarillo Minerals Inc. was organized in September, 1967, with Cox as president.

Formerly administrative vice president and general counsel, K. B. Watson was given a new title of senior vice president and general counsel.

Watson joined Amarillo Oil Company as an attorney in 1952 following several years of service as an Assistant Attorney General of the State of Texas. He was named secretary and attorney for Pioneer in 1955 and was elected a director and elevated to administrative vice president and general counsel in 1965.

W. N. Lampe, of the Company's Legal Department, was named secretary and general attorney for Pioneer.

Lampe has served in the Legal Department of Pioneer since 1955. He was made assistant secretary-attorney in 1962.
