Several Varieties Oats Recommended For Texas Areas

In general, the strains of red oats, or improved varieties derived from crosses on red oats, have been found satisfactory under Texas conditions. The Red Rustproof group is the most widely adapted, says Dr. J. E. Adams, head of the department of agronomy, Texas A & M College System. The early maturing Fulghum varieties are adapted only to spring seeding in certain areas, although newly developed varieties derived from crosses on Fulghum, are adapted to either fall or spring seeding.

The Red Rustproof group are a moderately hardy, winter-type adapted to either fall or spring seeding over most of Texas. They are well adapted to grazing without injury to the crop. While not truly rust resistant, rust develops more slowly and they are usually injured less than most rust susceptible varieties. They are resistant to Helminthosporium blight. New Nortex is a pure line strain grown extensively in the South, and recommended through the North-Central and Rolling Plains areas. Ferguson 922 is a similar strain. Ranger, Rustler, Alber and Camellia are leaf (crown) rust-resistant varieties of this type which are adapted to South Texas. They are lacking in cold resistance and should not be grown north of the Austin area.

The Fulghum group are nearly as winter hardy as the Red Rustproof strains, but are more susceptible to sudden freezes because they respond more quickly to periods of warm weather. Growth is more upright, and they are damaged more by grazing than winter types. Frazier, Kanota and Fulton are strains of Fulghum recommended only for spring seeding in the Panhandle. Fultex is a leaf rust-resistant variety especially suited for combine harvesting. It produces grain of high test weight and is well adapted to fall or spring seeding in the Rolling Plains area, and for spring seeding in North-Central Texas. Victorgrain

Increasing Number Of Schools Offer Driver Training

A sharp upsurge during the past year in the number of high schools throughout the country which teach motor vehicle safe driver training courses, reflecting a rapidly growing public awareness of the need for reducing street and highway accidents, was reported today by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies.

At the same time, the underwriters' organization, which maintains a close watch over motor vehicle accident statistics, announced that a board of leading educators and safety specialists had selected 17 states to receive awards for outstanding achievements in advancing safe driver education in their high schools. The states selected for this recognition are Arizona, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The official reports of 43 states which participated in the award program show that 6,191 high schools in those states offered safe driver training courses during the 1948-49 school year. This was an increase of nearly 44 per cent over the 1947-48 figure of 4,307 high schools. During the same period the number of students enrolled in the courses rose from 333,017 to 481,723, an increase of 45 per cent.

Equally impressive from the safety specialists' point of view were figures on the training of teachers who will instruct driver education courses. During the past year 5,744 teachers received this specialized training. Of that number, 2,633 attended 210 special institutes where instruction was given on a short but extensive basis, while 3,111 were trained in 92 college credit courses. This is the first time that these statistics have been available.

is very similar to Fultex but has not yielded as well under Texas conditions.

The most winter hardy varieties of oats are Wintok, Fulwin and Tennex. They produce prostrate, narrow-leaf winter growth similar to winter wheat. Because of their high susceptibility to rust, they are not well adapted to Texas conditions. Mustang is a new variety, in the winter-hardy group, and is resistant to leaf rust. It approaches Fulwin in winter hardiness and has also yielded well from spring seeding at Denton. (Seed of this variety is not yet commercially available.) Stanton is a yellow-grain variety resistant to leaf rust but susceptible to Helminthosporium blight. It has given satisfactory yields in the North-Central and Rolling Plains areas and is slightly more winter hardy than New Nortex.

These oat variety tests are being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Bureau of Plant Industry, Soils and Agricultural Engineering, USDA, in cooperation with the station superintendents at Denton, Temple, Greenville, Iowa Park, Chillicothe and Stephenville. I. M. Atkins, agronomist at the Denton station is the small-grain research leader.

The county extension agents or the nearest Experiment Station can supply the per acre yield figures for the varieties tested. The information is given in progress report 1164, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, April 1949. Your local county agent can also supply you with information on the prevention and control of rusts, smut and Helminthosporium blight.

Trading Moderate In Spot Cotton Markets

Only moderately active trading prevailed at southwest spot cotton markets last week, reports the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Sales at Dallas, Houston and Galveston totaled 48,691 bales, an increase of 25 per cent over the previous week.

Most of the activity in spot cotton centered around Corpus Christi and the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. However, some sales were ginned as far north as Oklahoma.

Domestic mill inquiries for quick or prompt shipments increased substantially last week. Also, some inquiries were for forward shipments well into the new year. However, a large part of the inquiries received were not attractive to local cotton merchants.

Cotton lost $2 to $2.50 per bale from Monday through Friday with Middling 15-16 inch closing the week around 30.15 to 30.45

No Excuse For Hog Cholera Spread, Veterinarian Says

Hog cholera continues to take a heavy death toll of swine in Texas and there is no good excuse for this loss, says Dr. W. C. Banks, extension veterinarian of Texas A & M College. The disease could probably be eradicated, he continues, if all Texas swine producers followed a program of strict sanitation and used the highly successful vaccinations recommended for the control of hog cholera.

The most widely used method of vaccination is known as the serum and virus or simultaneous method. The live virus of hog cholera and a hog cholera antiserum are injected at the same time. This method produces immunity in from seven to ten days after being administered to healthy pigs. The immunity in normal pigs is usually strong enough to give lifetime protection and the cost is moderate, says Banks.

The big disadvantage of using the serum and virus method is that live virus is introduced on the premises. Carelessness or misuse can cause an outbreak of hog cholera. Once vaccination is done with serum and virus, it is wise, says Banks, to repeat the vaccination year after year on all pigs raised.

The advantages of the "kill" vaccine method are based on the facts that the virus in the vaccine have been killed and it will not introduce hog cholera on clean premises nor can susceptible pigs become infected from it. In addition, this vaccine can be used on ailing or unthrifty pigs without the risk of adding one disease to another.

One disadvantage with this method is that about three weeks are required for the animal to develop immunity. Pigs do not develop a lifetime immunity from this vaccine. For this reason, swine kept for breeding purposes must be given several injections, says Banks. An injection given about two weeks after weaning will give protection until the pigs are fat and ready for market. Breeding animals should be re-injected after about six months and again once each year.

On the basis of available information, Dr. Banks says he believes that the use of the dead vaccine is better suited to the needs of a majority of the swine producers in Texas. Its use will eventually lower the incidence of hog cholera in the state, he believes.

Dr. Banks believes that outbreaks caused from faulty vaccination or from the vaccination of parasite infected animals can be prevented if a veterinarian is employed to do the job. He is in a position to examine the pigs and to determine the proper procedures to follow in safely immunizing the herd.

Farm Bureau Urges Wider Support Program for Cottonseed Producers

Viewing the present cottonseed price supports as only one part of a workable program, the American Farm Bureau Federation is urging Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to take additional action aimed at definitely assuring price protection to all producers in the cotton belt.

In a letter to the Secretary on August 8, AFBF's Roger W. Fleming said that the commodity loan type of support program for cottonseed which was announced by the Department on August 5 "may be sufficient in some areas" but it does not definitely assure price protection to the bulk of the producers.

Consultation with southern producers, Fleming wrote, reveals these producers as believing it is "highly necessary that additional action be taken if the announced support price is to be realized by producers."

He suggested that the program already announced by the Department be supplemented with a purchase program for cottonseed oil, meal, and linters. "We have investigated the probable effects of such a program on the price and demand for soybeans and other oil-bearing seeds," he said. "It would appear that the support of cottonseed oil, meal and linters at prices which will reflect $49.50 per ton to cottonseed producers will not entail insurmountable complications.

"Therefore, unless your technical people in this field have information which clearly points to a different conclusion with regard to this approach, or the department has plans for supplementary action which will reach the objective being sought, we urge that you take such steps as are necessary to launch a workable purchase-type program on cottonseed oil, meal, and linters."

"In working out the details of such a program, every possible precaution should be taken to insure that the benefits actually accrue to cottonseed producers." The Department's Aug. 5 announcement, to which Mr. Fleming referred, stated the Commodity Credit Corporation's intention to support the price of 1949 crop cottonseed at 90 per cent of Aug. 1 parity price of $55 per ton. Loans will be made at the rate of $49.50 per ton on clear, safely-stored cottonseed having a moisture content of 10 per cent or less.

It was stated that non-recourse loans, secured by chattel mortgages on the seed, will be made to farmers on cottonseed stored in structures on or off the farm. The loans will be made through Dec. 31, 1949, payable on demand, and will mature not later than April 30, 1950.

In additions, loans will be made to farmers up to 85 per cent of the cost of acquiring or constructing farm storage facilities for cottonseed. Loans on storage facilities will be made for a period not to exceed five years and will bear 4 per cent interest per year.

Loan applications are to be made by farmers at county agricultural conservation committee offices.

Announcement of the program also stated that if the producer does not repay his loan on or before maturity, he must deliver the mortgaged cottonseed to CCC. After a complete grade determination, credit will be given at the applicable settlement rate, according to grade and quality, for the total quantity delivered from the structure in which the cottonseed under loan was stored. If the settlement is less than the amount due, the deficiency will be paid by the producer to CCC.

Austin, Texas.

Resolution No. 5 is submitted by the press to amend Sections Article 3 of the Constitution will be voted on by Tuesday, November 15. It is a bad, dangerous and should be defeated. Vote No. 5 of the proposal reads as follows:

of the State Senate Representative from the State an annual salary of $6,000 and Six Hundred DOLLARS to be paid in installments on the 15th of each month. Paid in advance to the only public employees who are paid thereof reads: amendments proposed by the people.

shall become effective January first, 1950."

Under these amendments the members of the present Legislature would each receive $3,600.00 more than they agreed to serve in the present Legislature—being the salary for 1950.

When your representative was elected in 1948 he agreed and contracted with you to serve for the salary then fixed by the Constitution—Ten Dollars a day for 120 days and $5.00 for each day thereafter. Except in the case of emergency, their time served would all be in 1949.

But now he seeks to violate this contract made with you by raising his salary $3,600.00 for 1950. The fact that the Amendment becomes effective January 1, 1950 suggests the thought that it was born of and submitted by avarice—one of the two evils, avarice and ambition—which have wrecked most of the governments in the long history of the world.

Section 22 of Article 3 of the Constitution reads:

"A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill, proposed, or pending before the Legislature, shall

Trucking Industry Pays $112,851 Levy In Haskell County

The motor transportation industry was responsible for the expenditure of $112,851 in Haskell County in 1948 for highways, schools and other governmental functions.

"This was made possible by payment of license fees, motor fuel taxes and intangible tax," said Roy Sanderford, President of Texas Motor Transportation Association in releasing a statistical study of the motor transportation industry's share of the cost of state and local government.

Sanderford stated that these figures do not include city and district ad valorem, franchise taxes, or unemployment insurance taxes.

Total taxes and license fees paid by motor carriers for the entire state amounted to more than $50,000,000.

Haskell County's share of the industry's contribution to government was made up of the following: county portion of registration or license fees (commercial vehicles only), $18,271; State highway construction, $24,214; State highway maintenance, $35,865; county and district road debt paid, $12,187; surplus in

Answer Child's Questions, Prof Advises Parents

A child's speech may be impaired if his parents meet his questions with disapproval or indifference, Wendell Johnson, professor of speech and psychology at the State University of Iowa, said.

While the child may grow up to speak fluently and emunciate clearly, he may at the same time confuse, antagonize and demoralize his listeners and disturb and mislead himself.

"It is important that a child learn to distinguish clear and answerable questions for vague and meaningless ones," he said. "If he does not learn this the least of the consequences are likely to be inefficiency and middle-headedness while the graver results may include certain of the more serious forms of personal and social maladjustment."

Johnson added that parents should encourage children to make a habit of asking these two questions: "What do you mean?" and "How do you know?"

road bond fund distributed to county, $5,558; per capita apportion to schools, $16,485; and intangible tax paid to county, $571.

The above facts and figures prove beyond doubt that the motor transportation industry is paying its full share of the cost of government.

Cottonseed Meal And Hulls To Be Plentiful

Farmers, here's a bargain! Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton marketing professor, points out that an exceptionally large supply of cottonseed meal and hulls resulting from an expected bumper cotton crop may offer farmers a bargain in these feeds.

"This is the situation, he says: During the past five years, the wholesale price of three pounds of cottonseed meal and four pounds of cottonseed hulls in Ft. Worth averaged 35 per cent of the wholesale price of a gallon of milk. In some places in Texas this unit of feed can now be bought wholesale as low as 23 per cent of the price of milk.

Research has shown that three pounds of cottonseed meal plus four pounds of hulls fed to dairy cows on pasture will result in the production of one gallon of milk.

In some places in Texas, he says, three pounds of cottonseed meal can now be bought wholesale for nine cents, and four pounds of cottonseed hulls for 6 cents.

declare the fact to the house of which he is a member and shall not vote thereon." More than 100 members of the House and more than 21 members of the Senate disregarded this provision. Every member of the Legislature had a "personal interest" in this proposed Amendment, "pending before the Legislature," and none of them "disclosed the fact to the house of which he was a member and did not vote thereon." Yet he had a $3,600.00 interest.

But, the worst is yet to come. Section 18 of Article 3 of the Constitution, in part, reads as follows:

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the term for which he may be elected be eligible to any civil office of profit under this State, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which may have been increased during such time."

If the Amendment is ratified every Member of the present Legislature will be "ineligible" to hold the rest of his term, and the governor will have to call an election to fill their forfeited terms. This is what the Constitution says

Tooth Decay Found Widely Prevalent Among Children

Tooth decay or dental caries is a destructive, progressive disease of the teeth. A large part of a tooth may be destroyed by decay with little evidence of decay on the surface, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Surveys of large groups of preschool children reveal that 50% of them have decayed teeth at three years of age, 75% at four years of age, and 90% at five years of age. Six out of ten children age 4 and 5 have as many as seven or more cavities.

Decay begins most frequently in the small pits and fissures on the chewing surfaces and at the points of contact between the teeth. Pits and fissures with structural flaws should be filled at once to prevent decay.

Dr. Cox said, "Dental examination and care should begin with the three year old child, and periodic examinations and necessary care should follow, thereafter, as often as the dentist advises. The first or baby teeth should be kept in a healthy condition until it is time for them to be lost."

"X-rays aid the dentist in finding hidden cavities, especially those between the teeth. Many of these beginning cavities are located in areas where they cannot be found in any other way. X-ray pictures are also useful in finding other conditions that require immediate attention such as abscesses, impacted teeth, broken roots, bone destruction due to pyorrhea, extra teeth and other information that is important in treatment of the case."

"With periodic dental examination and adequate dental care for each child, beginning at three years of age, the great majority of the children will reach adulthood with good dental health."

and this is what it means. Having increased the emoluments of the office they are "ineligible"—disqualified to hold it.

For a court to hold the Amendment "ratified" would have to hold Sections 18 and 22 were repealed permanently by implication—taken out of the Constitution. They were put into the Constitution by a direct vote of the people and can only be taken out by a direct vote of the people.

In the long history of parliamentary procedure followed by the English speaking people this is the first time a legislature body ever voted itself out of office.

There are many fundamental objections to this Amendment, not herein noted, which should be pointed out and discussed by man interested in the welfare of the State.

MR. AND MRS. BILL PERRY

Miss Ernestine Bird and Bill Perry Wed In Rites at First Baptist Church Sunday

The First Baptist Church of Haskell was the scene Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage, Miss Ernestine Bird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Bird of Haskell, and Bill Perry, son of Mrs. W. R. Gay of Rule, and Press Perry of Fort Worth. The Rev. Allen O. Webb, church pastor read the services.

An arch of salad and palms, flanked with baskets of gladioli decorated the altar. White ribbon streamers and fern marked the pews. Mrs. Mary Martin furnished the musical background as Miss Carolyn Turner sang Always and Because.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was white slipper satin. Designed with a fitted bodice and yoke of lace, the dress had long fitted sleeves which terminated into deep petal points over the hands. The finger-tip length veil of imported illusion was gathered to a halo of staphanotis. She carried a bouquet of staphanotis, centered with an orchid.

Jean Bird, the brides' sister, acted as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Dorothy Dodson of Haskell and Rita Chaffee of Electra. They wore taffeta gowns of turquoise, rose and orchid, with fitted bodice and a quilted fold completing the low jewelry neckline. They wore hales of flowers similar to their colonial bouquets.

Gerald Bird, twin brother of the bride, served as best man. The ushers were Henry Harris and Rice Alvis, Jr. of Haskell. Mrs. Bird wore a navy crepe

Here's a house that offers the luxury of sweeping contours and the utility of spacious terraces for children's play and adult recreation—all on a lot only 76 feet wide. Fieldstone walls and chimney, harmonizing with gracefully-battered plywood, give the exterior a permanent tidiness. The rear terrace, with sunken sand pit, is sheltered on three sides and has easy access to kitchen window buffet. Each large bedroom has two closets and is cross-ventilated. Four picture windows in the living room and dining ell overlook both garden and front terrace. Sketch plans are available by writing Good Housekeeping magazine.

Plain Talk About TELEPHONE TAXES

Federal excise taxes are increasing your telephone bill—in some cases as much as 25%. There is a 15% Federal tax on local service. On long distance service where the charge is 25c or over, there is a 25%. Other forms of telephone service are from 8 to 25%. This tax is imposed directly on you as a telephone user. Your telephone company at its own expense, acts as a tax collector.

These excise taxes, levied directly upon the user, are in addition to the corporation income taxes which the company pays to the government. These taxes must be included in the company's cost of service and must, therefore, act to increase the price of the telephone bill as a sort of hidden sales tax.

Telephone service is generally regarded as a luxury. Yet the 25% tax on long distance service is higher than the 20% luxury tax on jewelry and furs.

We are sure your Senators and Representatives in Congress would welcome your views as a citizen and helping them to guide future legislation on this unusual peacetime tax on a necessity.

Always an outstanding department of the Fair in reflecting the textile crafts and household arts, the Women's Division of this year's exposition gives promise of being the largest and most diversified ever assembled, with entries and requests for space reservations already being received, department heads reported.

Advance interest of exhibitors in the 1949 exposition is indicated by the large number of entries already received, as well as reservations made for space in the main buildings.

The poultry division, re-established last year after several years lapse, being enlarged this year, and competition in this division is open to the world. Under the direction of H. R. Spain, H. K. Henry, and W. P. Trice a picture of the growth and development of this important West Texas industry will be the theme of this division this year.

Another feature added last year will be continued this year in staging the various special cowboy events. Events scheduled include junior cowboy and cowgirl riding contests, under the direction of Otis Matthews; senior cutting horse contest, with Curtis Thornton and Bob Cousins as directors; jack pot roping contest, under the direction of Brooks Middleton; and the reining horse contest, under the chairmanship of John Wallace.

Several hundred dollars in premiums will be awarded winners in these events, and many additional entries over last year are expected, sponsors have reported.
