Hailey promoted to Austin investigative staff position

Sgt. Kenneth Hailey of the Ozona Department of Public Safety, has been promoted to a special internal investigation unit and will be leaving this week for Austin.

After two years with the department in Crockett County, Hailey is being assigned to the staff of Texas Department of Public Safety director, Colonel Jim Adams. Hailey will be one of a five man unit Rock. receiving assignments from Adams in Internal Affairs.

Sgt. Hailey was selected from a field of 30 applicants based on a written exam and interview.

Longview is home for Sgt. Hailey who has been a member of the DPS for nine years. He was assigned to the Kilgore office before transferring to Ozona in November

Hailey, his wife, Roxanne, their children, Brooke, 7, and Amber, 3, will be making their home in Round Replacing Hailey will be Sgt. Glenn Redmon of Big Spring. The Monahans native will be responsible for the Ozona office effective Sept. 1.

Hearing nears on disputed funds

Crockett County officials moved one step closer to retrieving the $600,000 seized during a routine speeding violation on May 11.

According to County Attorney Tom Cameron, depositions, in which "the facts are stated", will be heard Wednesday and Thursday in San Angelo and in Austin Aug. 29.

The final hearing regarding Crockett County's claim to the monies has been scheduled for "sometime in September at the U. S. District Court in San Angelo," Cameron said.

Department of Public Safety Trooper Cliff Babbitt discovered the $600,000 when two Mexican nationals in the car allowed him to search the vehicle.

The money was turned over to the DPS Narcotics Division in Austin following its transfer from Crockett

Crockett County, according to Cameron, has the right to file papers to intervene in a federal lawsuit regarding the monies. The county is maintaining that the confiscated funds were "abandoned, lost or unclaimed in Crockett County. There is insufficient evidence of a drug connection."

A previous case during the early 1980's in Waco was decided in favor of the county involved, Cameron

Ballots mailed to wool producers

Ballots for the Wool Referendum were mailed to wool producers Aug. 15. The referendum will run August 18 through August 29 with ballots to be counted September 3.

The agreement is similar to the one approved in 1982, except it would authorize deductions of up to six cents per pound on shorn wool and 30 cents per hundredweight on unshorn lambs marketed in 1986. Deductions from producer incentive payments for 1982 through 1985 were four cents and 20 cents respectively.

The new agreement will permit USDA to withhold part of any wool incentive payments that might be made to producers on 1987-90 marketings to finance the council's promotion activities.

Deductions will be used by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb and programs to develop and disseminate information of product quality, production management and marketing improvement for wool and sheep.

Lions set goals for upcoming year

The officers and directors of the Ozona Lions Club met Tuesday, August 19, to discuss the direction and activities of the club for the current year.

Garland Davis, the new president of the Lions Club in Ozona, has set "club service to the community and member service to the club" as a general objective for this year.

The Lions Cub will continue its commitment to serve the community as it has in Ozona for years. Members will be particularly interested in those activities that are a positive influence on the youth.

The president and board urge fellow Lions to project a positive image of the club and to promote increased attendance, membership growth and participation in its activities. The club will continue to identify organizations and groups to assist financially through its fund raising events. The club has contributed to a number of worthwhile causes in the community through the years. The eye glass program helps insure all children are given the eye care they need by providing free glasses to those who cannot afford organizations that are committed, among other things, "to encourage service minded men to serve their community without personal financial reward, and to encourage efficiency and promote high ethical standards in commerce, industry, professions, public works and private endeavors".

Lions Clubs are community service

Officers for this year are: Garland Davis, president; Ted Cotton, vice-president; Burl Myers, second vice-president; Stephen Williams, third vice-president; Pete Maldonado, secretary; Jamey Sawyer, tail twister; Bob Falkner, lion tamer; and Doris Haire, past president.

One year term members of the board of directors are Bobby Aycock, Ray Pierson and Ricky Jennings. The two-year directors are J. R. Bhakta, Curtis Keith and Doug Meador.

Thursday, August 21, the Ozona Lions Club members reviewed decisions made by the officers and board members.

The members voted to sponsor the Boy Scout troop in Ozona.

Claytons attend Ranchers Roundup

Mike and Arlene Clayton were in Kerrville last week to attend the International Ranchers Round-Up.

The roundup, now in its sixth year, strives to provide an exchange of information and skills concerning the total ranch enterprise, to provide a exchange of information on a multinational scale, and to provide a proceedings of the information presented for ranchers use.

The program, which is organized by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, included sessions on beef cattle, ranch business, range, wildlife and sheep and goats. Workshops for more indepth question answering were also part of the Tours of three area ranches were part of the program.

The Auerhahn Ranch near Boerne reflected the owners', Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelso, deep interest in wildlife as a part of ranch management. The ranch has an exotic program to sustain several endangered species and raises various species of more common exotics as well as white-tailed deer. Auerhahn is the name for a larger European gamebird.

The range management program on this ranch is an example of reclaiming cedar country and returning the land to productive ranching. Various methods of brush control were shown.

At the Selah Ranch, visitors were told that the past 12 years have been spent with a primary goal of producing a new beef breed of cattle by using the infusion of bison or buffalo blood. This bison hybrid beef animal will be a blend of diverse genetics with up to 19 percent buffalo, 38 percent Zebu and 43 percent European. The name Grassmaster has been copyrighted and trademarked for this breed of cattle.

Work with endangered wildlife species is also an important aspect of the ranch. Owner David Bamberger named the ranch Selah Ranch using a Hebrew word traditionally interpreted as a blessing meaning forever.

Cave Creek Community in Gillespie County near Fredericksburg is composed of landowners with small ranches. A group of more than 50 ranchers organized for management of white-tailed deer. This group effort has been so successful that other groups are beginning to follow a similar approach in that area of the state.

Myers leads Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts of Ozona's Troop #153 will begin their year with a new Scoutmaster. Ray Don Myers will be leading the group this fall.

Myers, an Eagle Scout from Coahoma, which is in the Buffalo Trails Council, is filled with enthusiasm for the coming year.

Troop #153 meets each Monday night at 7:30 p.m. at the Scout Hut. Boys ages 11-18 are eligible to become Boy Scouts, and all are welcome, says Myers.

Anyone wishing further information about joining the troop is asked to call Myers at 392-5243.

The Boy Scouts of Ozona are sponsored by the Lions Club.

Pearson hosts Forum

The Ozona Woman's Forum met Aug. 22 in the home of Louisa Pearson to begin the 1986 - 1987 year. Jewel Bailey, Elizabeth Dudley and Katharine Russell were assistant hostesses.

Lu Ingram opened the meeting by presenting her president's gavel to Alleane Jones, this year's president. Lucille Littleton led an invocation to continue the meeting.

Glenda Henderson was welcomed as a new member.

The theme for this year's program is Remember, Recognize, Anticipate. Lu Ingram spoke on club ethics, and Geniece Childress told "What A Club Woman Is".

Louisa Pearson, yearbook chairman, presented this year's book which pictures and honors Jewel Bailey, a local and state life member for her outstanding work throughout years of unselfish service.

The meeting adjourned, and most of the 26 members present went in several cars to the Sutton County Steakhouse in Sonora for dinner and on to the Sutton Community Arts and Theatre presentation of The King and I.

Members making the trip were: Jewel Bailey, Louise Bunger, Geniece Childress, Rachel Childress, Elizabeth Dudley, Glenda Henderson, Alleane Jones, Mary Lee Jones, Georgia Kirby, Lucille Littleton, Velma Marley, Louisa Pearson, Nora Lou Spencer, Madeline Stokes, Blanche Walker, Barbara Wallace, Mary Agnes Ward, Modene Whitaker, Bonnie Warth, Totsy Hagelstein and Sophie Kyle.

The Fledgling Flies or Cutting the Ol' Apron Strings By Sandy Stark

Minutes...seconds...tick away so-o-o-o slowly. They merge into endless hours. Lo! eleven hours have passed! Only eleven hours since you left the "nest"??? Car packed to the roof, trunk bulging at the seams. Blow dryer...stereo...T.V. "Hey, Mom! Where's my red sweater? You know. The one with the low V-neck?" Frantic searching. Clothes flying. A triumphant: "Found it!" Perturbed: "No, Mom. The 'V' is in the back." So excited. Hurrying to pack and get away. Anxious for independence. To be on your own. I understand it. Yet, I resent it. And I fear it. My heart aches. Such mixed emotions!

Watching you I found myself wanting to squ-e-e-ze in somewhere between your rainbow bag...[Hang onto the rainbows, honey. They help bring the sunshine.]...and the quilt Aunt Gene made for you. Had it REALLY been fourteen Christmas' ago? Let's sing "Here Comes Santa Claus". "Auld Lang Syne" would put me under about now.] Yep! It was in '72. Not even in school yet. Soft curly hair. Little feet running everywhere. There was so much time. Bruised knees to kiss. Skinned elbows to "make well". So much time... "That's about it, Mom." No. There was no room for me. So off you rode into the sunset inside your grey steed. Behind?...an array of empty bureau drawers...(Drawer space I thought I would use?)...Thin skeleton clothes hangers strewn onto the floor, naked without their vibrant colored skins. Another closet?... What will I store in it? Strange I have forgotten what I would place in it. [I would love to just lock you away inside it and keep you near me. But that is abnormal...AND...child abuse...] An old faded blue comfy shirt hangs listlessly...all alone on the rack...Holding it close to my cheek I can feel your nearness...My! How you would laugh! Trying not to lose you...Holding on...

"Bye, Mom! Bye, Dad!" Hurried kisses..."Now I won't be home for two weeks. It's only a couple 'o weeks." Kiss...Kiss...Hug...Hug..."Call 'ya!" (And you HAD BETTER call as SOON as you arrive.) You drove away turning up the stereo; a member of your generation sharing the music with the world!...Sigh!...Relief!...Relief at FIRST!...then...the QUIET!!! How very quiet was the house. Tick...tock...tick...tock...The clock. What is that awful noise? Oh. The refrigerator. It has been years since I could hear the refrigerator run. Guess I had forgotten it even had a motor. Had I really PRAYED for this quiet? And where were the telephone calls? Something must be wrong with the phone. Should I report it inoperable? Your father shakes his head smiling...still, I detect a tear in his eye, also. I dial the operator and report that there are no incoming calls. Robot-like voice: "One moment, please, and I'll try to ring you."...Ring! ...Ring! Loud and clear! "No, ma'am, there doesn't seem to be a problem with the line." Hm-m-m. Strange. I SWEAR that it used to ring twenty times in as many minutes. The quiet...and WHERE'S My M.T.V.?????!!!!! How many times did I shout: "TURN DOWN THAT INFERNAL NOISE!!!!! You'll be deaf by the time you're twenty!" And videos I though unworthy of your sight or mine... Now, frantically I search for THAT channel...Your music...You. It brings you closer somehow Eighteen years...Yes, I knew that this day would come. But it came so very fast. "Sure, Mom. You'll be glad to see me go." Laughingly...Kiddingly...Was it only yesterday??...And, yes, in some ways I WANTED this day to come. Your dad and I would do so many things we had not done in the past years. Normal. At least, I believe that it is. "Cut the apron strings, Mom! A world is out there and I HAVE to be a part of it!" I know...I know...E-A-S-Y! Yeah, sure it is! Wonder who dreamed all that up...I laughed at others...last year...patted myself on the shoulder and told myself that I wouldn't have that problem...I wouldn't be THAT silly. Now I must cut the strings...And I'll have all the free time in the world to do all the things I have not done in eighteen long (?) years...Strange. I seem to have forgotten what those things were...Instead I find myself almost RESENTING your growing up...your leaving...your quest for your "holy grail" in life. I wonder at mothers who must release more than one fledgling into the world...But it can't ever be easy to let any one of them go...But I have only this one...

Ring! Ring! Ring! Run...run!...[Coat hanger catches onto shoe.] At last...'Mom, I made it! Great trip! No. No problems. Tell Dad that the car did just fine. Everything is just great!...(Quickly I pray: ''Thanks, God.'')...I can hardly wait to tell you all about it here...It's just wonderful!! I'll tell you all about it in two weeks. You though I said two months? Gosh, no! I'll HAVE to see everyone at the first home football game!! Tell everyone 'hi'. Love ya!'' Yea! Yea! Only two more weeks!...Two more weeks and she'll be home...

"I Tell You the Truth," Jesus said

Faith Lutheran Church, Ozona Hope Lutheran Church, Sonora

Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, if anyone isn't born from above, he can't see God's kingdom". "How can anyone be born when he's old," Nicodemus asked Him? "He can't go back into his mother's womb and be born again, can he?" "I tell you the truth," Jesus answered him, "if anyone isn't born of water and the Spirit, he can't get into God's kingdom. Anything born of the flesh is flesh, but anything born of the Spirit is spirit." John 3:3-6

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor and Staff.

We had an unusually good Vacation Bible School this year, and the coverage you gave in your paper played a big part. Thank you.

Your attendance at our Parents' Night program and the "clicking camera" and picture in the paper made us all feel so special.

We had an enrollement of 200 some from nearly all the churches and some who attend no church at all. We are already seeing some good results of the school.

Our mission project for the week was to contribute daily toward a list of needed supplies for South Texas Children's Home, where Ginger Glynn works. "Totally awesome" is the description I think of for the tremendous amount of love gifts brought by the children. I'm enclos-what the phrase "born again" means. It is accurately defined and explained in Scripture. It is amazing, therefore, that within Christendom there has developed some confusion as to the meaning of the phrase.

The confusion can be seen in the question "Are you a born-again Christian"? The Bible equates being born again (the Greek says born from above) with conversion. They are synonyms. If a person is born again, then that person is a Christian. If a person is a Christian, then that person is born again. The two are identical. You cannot be one without the other. That is what causes the confusion with the question "Are you a born-again Christian"? The question implies that you can be a Christian without being born again. the implication is that there is one brand of general, "run of the mill" Christians and then another brand of Christians called "born-again" Christians.

As we see "born again" defined in the third chapter of John, verses 3 through 6, and also in 1 Peter 1:23-25, we see that it is taught as a contrasting opposite of unbelief very much in the same way that St. Paul uses the contrast between light and darkness. In passages that speak of being "born again", the contrast is between something born of the flesh, which is human and limited and dies, as opposed and compared to something which is born of the Spirit, which is everlasting and which has its origin in God. The point is that flesh cannot produce something spiritual, and therefore if we are to have the kingdom of heaven, it must come as a result of God's giving us this second birth or conversion.

So the question "Are you a born-again Christian?" is redundant and confusing. Those in the charismatic movement frequently use the question. It is their way of seeking out those who have had a moving experience (such as speaking in tongues). They often claim that their previous Christianity was in question. But now that they have had this spiritual experience (equated with being born again) they feel certain of their salvation. When the phrase "born again" is used in this manner, it implies that there are levels of Christian faith or levels of belief.

While it is certainly true that there are levels of maturity and degrees of commitment among Christians, that should not be confused with the simple matter of belief or conversion. Every one who believes in Jesus the Christ, regardless of how weak their faith or how childish their commitment (not to say childlike), has been born again. Any person claiming a relationship with Christ Jesus as his or her personal Savior is on the exact same "level" as any other person in God's kingdom when it comes to the matter of being dependent upon faith for salvation. Faith is always given to us by the mercy of God. It is the gift of God (Ephesians 2:8-9) - not produced by our experience and not brought about by our decision. It is the work of the Holy Spirit (cf Titus 3:4-8 concerning Holy Baptism).

Decisions, maturities, commitments, increases in good works, discipline, follow that second birth experience and are a result of the 'born again" condition. I believe it would be helpful to refrain from using "born again" terminonlogy for these growth experiences. The phrase should be used among Christians in the way in which the Bible defines and explains it - as a synonym for faith and conversion.

4-H re-enrollment was held in conjunction with regular school enrollment last week. Any youth who is in the third grade through age 19 is eligible to participate in 4-H activities. Youth who failed to register for 4-H last week may still register by contacting the County Extension Office for an enrollment

The following 4-H leaders and youth are to be commended for their assistance during 4-H re-enrollment: Nancy Vannoy, Judy Faris, Tammy Arrott, Randi Thompson, Gary Thompson, Tamel West, Marandy Keith, Carri Chandler, Cullen Curry, Stefny Sutton, Leigh Chandler, Martha Mayfield, Leesa Haire, Bonnie Martin, Robin Myers and Gina Snyder.

On Tuesday, Aug. 12, the Crockett County 4-H horse group met at the County Arena. There, under the instruction of Betty Martin, the group learned how to properly dress themselves and groom their horses for a horse show. They also learned proper showmanship at halter techniques which they then practiced. The members attending along with their parents were: Marshall, Nathan and Ashley Hubbard, Andy and Mindy Coates, Bonnie and Tom Martin, Jeanie and Shane Cooper, Tess and Fleet Worthington, Stacey Grendahl, Whitney and JoLynn Vannoy, Tadpole Tucker and Stephanie Saunders.

The following day Stacey, Tom, Bonnie, Jeanie, Mindy, Shane, Todd Sudduth and Christa Chalmers met at the Shannon Ranch for a workshop to practice for the 4-H Horse Show. They practiced Western Pleasure, Horsemanship, Western Riding, barrels, poles, flags, goat tying and goat roping. At the end of the day the members enjoyed swimming and a barbecue supper.

On Friday night, Aug. 15, the group participated in a Western Pleasure clinic given by Sharon

Management plan calls for wildlife consideration

By Reggie Quiett Soil Conservation Service

Many kinds of birds and animals live on our native rangelands. A management plan should consider practices that improve conditions for wildlife. Different kinds of wildlife have different needs. The local Soil Conservation Service can assist in identifying these needs and selecting the kinds of management necessary.

Crockett County has an abundance of wildlife species such as deer, turkey, and quail which all have the potential of providing a great amount of income to the landowners as well as to the community.

Proper management of the range and the wildlife will not only be beneficial to domestic livestock but will improve the wildlife habitat which in turn will improve the quality of wildlife.

Grazing systems allow livestock and wildlife to harvest the forage without overgrazing if operated properly. This protects the quality of forages, provides wildlife cover, and prevents erosion. Grazing systems where livestock are concentrated and rotated between pastures reduces some of the competition with wild-

Texas crimes increase

AUSTIN - Texas crime statistics compiled for the first half of 1986 exceeded the figures recorded for the same period in 1985. Both the crime rate and volume of index crimes increased, according to the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"The crime rate noted for the first six months of this year rose 15.8 percent to 3,604 crimes per hundred thousand population," said Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director. "The volume of index crimes for the same period was 589,985, an increase of 18.6 percent compared to the first half of 1985."

Adams said all seven major crime categories were up.

"Robbery showed the largest increase in the violent crime listings, increasing 34.6 percent," Adams pointed out.

The number of aggravated assault cases rose 30.1 percent, while rape and murder posted increases of 13.6 percent and 1.1 percent respectively.

"Motor vehicle theft led the three property crime categories, showing a 21.2 percent increase," Adams said.

Burglary was 20.5 percent higher, while an increase of 15.6 percent was recorded in the number of thefts.

Twenty percent of the index crimes reported were cleared by arrests in the first half of 1986. The estimated value of property stolen during the commission of index crimes was over $705 million with $281 million worth of property recovered by police officers.

"There were two Texas law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty by criminal action in the first six months of this year," Adams said. "One officer died in a duty-related accident. Additionally, a total of 2,192 assaults on officers were reported."

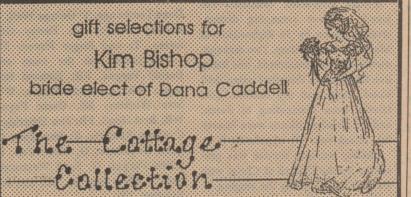

DWI arrests in the first half of 1986 were down 9.2 percent and totaled 62,404. Drug-related arrests decreased 7.4 percent to 29,551.

or teen leader who makes it possible for 4-H'ers to get together as a group to learn and do things that would not be possible to do alone.

A good 4-H leader offers security, suggestions and support. A good leader doesn't dictate, determine and direct all activities of the group. The group is only meaningful when individual members are the doers and learners.

4-H teaches "learning by doing" so 4-H leaders should remember that sibly can to develop their plans and mistakes are learning experiences for 4-H'ers. The "leader" is really a "helper" and "leadership" is "helpership"

As 4-H'ers grow and develop in their 4-H programs, they too can become helpers as outward expressions of their caring and sharing for others. The time that a leader gives to 4-H members can make the world a better place to live and will be multiplied many times over through each as 4-H'ers help others.

A 4-H volunteer leader helps coordinate 4-H project activities for a small group of 4-H'ers. The first and most important step is to get the group together to plan what members would like to do in the project. guidance, but a leader must remember that the plans should be made by the 4-H'ers themselves.

After a general plan for the project is developed, the leader and the group should decide what will be needed and what other leaders will

An effective 4-H leader is an adult be needed. 4-H parents and other adults will be willing to help with specific needs. Assistance may be needed with such things as refreshments, meeting places, transportation, speakers and tour leaders. Although planning takes a little time, it will make the rest of the project much easier and more productive.

> Involvement is the key to happy 4-H'ers. A 4-H leader should let members do everything they poscarry out their projects. They'll learn much more if they do it them-

> Every meeting should be fun in addition to being educational. Parties, picnics, refreshments and other similar activities keep 4-H'ers enthusiastic and active. These often can be combined with the educational activities with just a little creative planning.

The 4-H program offers limitless possibilities because it involves so many different projects. It's exciting to think of the important effect a leader can have on 4-H boys and girls by helping them to develop into good citizens.

Flowers, lace and pinecones adorned the plaques made by residents in Monday morning's craft class. Residents creating these works of art were Tomasa Ramos, Ola Mills. Pauline Clinton. Edna Wallace and Bertha Miller.

Monday afternoon, residents participated in a wheelchair exercise class. A game of ring toss followed. Juana Hernandez was the high scorer for the day. Exercise class was attended by Emma Taylor, Elzy Bishop, Trinidad Alvarado, Jesus Hernandez, Pauline Clinton, Rebekah West, Anselma Limon, Moriama Perez, Virginia Hoover, Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Doris Robnett and Lucia Rios.

Tuesday morning's bingo produced a large number of winners. Pauline Clinton was the first place prize winner of an El Chato's gift certificate. Other winners included Theo Burns, Ola Mills, Rebekah West, Edna Wallace, Minnie Karr, Moriama Perez, Charles Watson and Alice Ross. Volunteers assisting were Nancy Forehand, Dorothy Doll, Mattie Cooper and Lillian Tambunga.

Wednesday's ceramic workshop was assisted by Marie Pierson, Doris Karr and Ruth Hester. Several new pieces were started by Juana Hernandez, Tomasa Ramos, Lucia Rios, Moriama Perez, Edna Wallace, Pauline Clinton and Theo Burns.

Entertaining and educational movies were viewed Wednesday afternoon. They were titled "Adventure in the Swamp", and "Life of a Monarch Butterfly"

Thursday's beauty shop volunteers were Lola Rios, Vivian Hughes, Clara Byrd and JoAnn Williamson. As usual, these ladies did a splendid job. Immediately following the beauty shop activities, Clara B. Freeman and Clara Byrd joined their talents and filled the lobby with delightful music. Clara B. played the organ while Clara played the piano.

Mid-week Bible study was presented by Jim Gray of First Baptist Church. Visitors included Linda Gray and Sammy White. Glenda Henderson played the piano.

Next came the Spanish Hour of Praise with a large number of visitors attending. Hymns were sung and Herbierto Gutierrez played the Thursday's activities ended with a smile and a song, thanks to the Knox Band. Band members present were J. D. Kilgore, Don Kilgore and Jamie Knox. The country music was great and the bits of humor were responsible for the smiles.

A special game was played for a bottle of perfume donated by Anna Bell Patrick. It was won by lucky Emma Taylor. Moriama Perez won the first place prize of a Teacher Store gift certificate. Prizes also went to Juana Hernandez, Edna Wallace, Theo Burns, Anselma Limon and Rebekah West. Volunteers were Anna Bell Patrick, Mattie Cooper and Dorothy Doll.

Friday afternoon, residents enjoyed a flower arranging demonstration given by Jo Richardson of Maxine's Flower Shop. Two arrangements were demonstrated, one using live flowers and the other using drift wood, moss and dry flowers. Jo's talents were fascinating to watch, and the finished pieces were beautiful. Thank you. We appreciate it.

Sunday worship service was presented by the Church of Christ with Gary Vannoy leading the singing.

We would like to thank all the visitors and volunteers for sharing and caring. We appreciate it.

A great big THANK YOU goes out to all our great Friends of the Library volunteers who worked all summer to make our Children's Programs such a big success! We had great attendance every week, and I know this was due to the hard work of all our volunteers planning and making each week's program so much fun for the kids. I have certificates of appreciation for each volunteer.

Please come by the library at your convenience and pick them up.

A reminder to all the kids who participated in the reading contest to pick up their certificates for books read during the summer. Congratulations to Jeffery Ybarra, first place winner; Charlie Branch, second place winner; and also to third place winner Emily Stuart. Please come by the library to pick up your certificates and prizes.

Summer 1986 was lots of fun at the library, but now it's back to school time. We have been getting new books all summer, so remember your public library when you have to have a book report, term paper or project for class. We now have several typewriters in the library available for the public to use. All you bring is your own supplies.

The library will be closed Monday, Sept. 1, for Labor Day.

Ozona teachers return early for in-service training

School bells rang again Monday, Aug. 25, for Ozona teachers as in-service training brought the 1986-87 faculty up to date on the newest developments in Texas education reforms and the local school budget

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Ted Cotton began the week-long program by introducing a new discipline management procedure for Ozona schools. The program contains some changes regarding suspension and expulsion procedures. The plan passed a 72 item check list before finally being accepted by the Texas Education Agency.

Garland Davis, superintendent of schools, discussed budget cuts for the Ozona Schools. About 85 percent of the local school taxes are paid by oil companies according to Davis.

"The oil companies are presently were paying on a year ago. This may drop more in another year."

Davis warned faculty members that "next year may be more traumatic than this year."

More of the tax burden will fall on local taxing entities according to Davis. School taxes are to be raised five cents per hundred dollar valu-

"Be as conservative as possible without cutting quality," Davis said. "Don't ask for special items unless they would be of definite value."

Davis also familiarized teachers and aides with the new Texas Teacher Appraisal System. Each teacher was provided with a 90 page orientation manual for the new

At least two observations are to be barrel," Davis said. "This was semester. One will be an observation negotiated from the $29 a barrel they by the teacher's immediate supervisor. In the case of Ozona teachers, that will be principal of the school. The second observation will be made by some other trained and certified appraiser in the school system. The two observations of a semester will > comprise an appraisal. All four Ozona principals and the assistant superintendent underwent summer training to prepare them to appraise teachers.

> The appraisals will be used in contract renewal considerations, staff development and career ladder decisions. The 1986 fall semester appraisal only will not be used for career ladder consideration.

Unless a teacher scores as clearly outstanding or exceding expectations, a professional growth plan to implement improvements will be developed by the principal and Teachers were urged by Davis and all principals to hold back on requests for additional supplies.

Teachers journeyed to Sonora Tuesday for a cooperative in-service program emphasizing special populations within public schools. Training was provided in motivation and management for the special student, child abuse and neglect, and reteaching for mastery.

Other school districts besides Crockett County and Sonora included Juno, Nueces Canyon, Rocksprings and Schleicher County.

Today Ozona teachers are working on curriculum development in all subject areas taught in the local

What a team!

Marriage grows stronger for Ted Whites

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

Throughout their 56 year marriage, Ted and Jessie White have learned what patience, companionship and teamwork are all about.

The small home wedding took place at Jessie's parents' farm near Bangs following a five year courtship. The 8:00 p.m. wedding on Aug. 16, 1930 was the culmination of many plans for the teaching duo.

"I first met Ted when a girl friend had a picnic supper near a pool and invited Ted to be my date. I didn't fall in love immediately. He was in college, and I was teaching," said Mrs. White.

The wedding was "real exciting. Afterward, we took off a flying. We spent the first night in Abilene and went to church the next morning,"

"The church (United Methodist) has been the basis for our marriage, our family. We always go to church on Sunday. There has never been any question about it," Mrs. White

The second night of their married life was spent in Lubbock, and then the newlyweds traveled to Ruidoso, NM for a few days. The end of the week-long honeymoon was spent in Anthony, near El Paso, visiting White's brother.

During the El Paso phase of the trip, White returned to the baseball diamond for a couple of games with friends and was offered a job by a semi-professional team. "But it was near the first of school, and I had to return to my coaching job in

The Whites first moved to Ozona in September of 1931 where they both were employed by the school

The longtime teachers and ranchers have learned a lot during their marriage. "You don't marry a marriage, you make a marriage," said former junior high school English teacher, Mrs. White.

"It has gotten a little stronger the further it (the marriage) went. We have never had any of her or my money. It all went into the same pot and we have saved some every year, no matter how low the pay. This was the only way we could do it. We just never could afford to have any bad habits," said White.

Mrs. White's teaching career temporarily came to a halt following the birth of their only son, Mark, in 1939. The end of her teaching years finally occurred in 1966, after 30 years in the classroom. White batched on the ranch during the week, and Madama, as she is lovingly called by her husband, and son Mark lived in Ozona where she

"I felt I was a dedicated teacher and interested in every child. One student recently told me that I taught her to pray. We always started the class with a prayer," Mrs. White

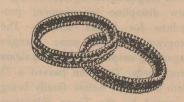

Both were tired of living apart by 1966, and with Mrs. White's retirement, they could now enjoy some leisurely time at the ranch. "Our marriage has gotten sweeter with each new year," said Mrs. White.

"We have always remembered we are in this together. We are not two separate entities," said White.

The years of fun and frolic are not over for the Whites. They have just returned from Hunt from a family reunion at the River Inn.

Their extended family now includes not only son Mark, but his wife, Patsy, and their two children, Ted M., a student at Texas A&M University; and Kay Lynne, an agricultural economics major at Texas A&M University.

The active church and community citizens have always felt an obligation not only to better their marriage with each passing year, but also to better their community through various church and community activities.

Munoz wins tourney

By T. C. Tucker

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce played host to a tennis tournament for the second time this summer. Last weekend's tournament, Aug. 23, about equaled the first event held earlier this summer.

San Angelo's Sam Munoz followed up his winning performance in June with another first place win in the men's singles division, defeating Dan Schaefer 6-2, 6-1.

Arthur Young, who collected three trophies at the tourney, beat Wes Sheffy of Mertzon to win the men's securing second place in mixed Chamber of Commerce. doubles as well.

The mixed doubles champions proved to be Young's partner from doubles who joined with his wife, Carolyn Barber. Carolyn dominated the ladies singles; however, spectators were not treated to the classic championship showdown due to Gloria Garza's absence.

Carolyn Barber and Debra Rushing joined forces to sail to a first place victory over Amy Evans and

Kathy Hardy for ladies' doubles. Dance classes relocate

Classes at Ronda's School of Dance will be held in a new location beginning Aug. 28. The former Big O Theater Building is in the process of being renovated for dance classes and an exercise program.

An aerobic dance class began Monday, August 25, with three or four sessions a week according to demand.

Other classes will include a combination class of jazz and aerobics, and a jazz class for high school and junior high girls.

Children's classes for girls ages three and up will be given in ballet, tap, jazz and acrobatics. Tap and acrobatics will be available for boys ages three and up. Supervised use of weight machines, bicycles, walkers, free weights, and a hot tub will be available in September. An indoor basketball court will also be part of the facility. Use of the equipment and basketball court will be on a monthly membership basis. Exercise sessions will be scheduled with separate times for men and women who do not wish to work out together.

Future plans for the studio include lockers and showers. A playroom for children will upstairs at the studio.

Consolation winners of mixed doubles were Danny Pina and Stacie Helmers who defeated Tommy Tucker and Julie Reagor of Ozona.

Kathy Hardy won her first match, then lost to Carolyn Barber in the championship final of ladies' singles. Amy Evans snared the consolation

In boys' singles action, Mark Sellers endured a three-set match to win the first place spot while Tommy Tucker received second. Mark Sanchez beat Jon Moran 6-4, 7-6 to win the consolation trophy.

As always, the players of the consolation. Young then teamed with Ozona tournament were treated to a Scott Barber to win the consolation in spot of shade and suitable amount of men's doubles competition. Debra Gatorade. #### It only hurts when I punt, Mom

Lots of sympathy and some kidding were dished out to Gary Davis of The News this week after he injured an ankle playing basketball. He is getting about with and without crutches, but will have to forego his early morning racquetball class at ASU this fall.

Gary insisted on coming to work Tuesday because teacher in-service has left the office with a skeleton crew. (Although some would dispute the choice of the word skeleton after a glimpse at Scotty and me.)

After learning that he wouldn't have surgery for the torn ligaments, Gary felt a little better. Having done the same thing twice to each ankle will make him a little more careful.

Boys hospitalized after collision with pick-up

Two nine-year-olds, Brian Valadez of Ozona and Michael Ramirez of Sonora, were hospitalized Aug. 20 following the collision of their go-cart with a pickup. Valadez, the more seriously injured of the two, was transferred to San Angelo for further treatment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eusatalio Valadez.

The Valadez youth was the driver of the go-cart.

The accident occurred when the boys ran a stop sign into the path of a pickup driven by Jesus Guerra of Ozona.

Guerra was traveling west on Besente Street and the go-cart south on Mariana Street when the collision occurred at 1:15 p.m.

Trooper Dale Taylor was the when the driver overcorrected after Taylor was also the investigating officer at a 2:15 a.m. accident Aug. 23 one mile east of Ozona on Hwy.

Driver David Harris, 33, of Houston, swerved his 1984 Chevrolet to avoid hitting a deer, ran off the road and overturned.

Harris and a passenger in the vehicle, Katrina Gilchrist, 21, also of Houston, were taken to Crockett County Hospital by EMS ambulance.

Rolando Ybarra of Robstown received minor injuries Aug. 20 in a one vehicle accident 11 miles west of Ozona on I-10.

The 7:15 p.m. accident resulted driving off the left side of the road while eastbound. His 1977 Cadillac then ran off the right side of the road and struck a delineator post. Minor damage resulted to the vehicle according to investigating officer Richard Barton.

Sun in the driver's eyes was the cause of an Aug. 17 accident on I-10 10 miles east of Ozona according to Trooper Cliff Babbitt.

Minor damage was reported to a 1985 Ford van and a 1980 Chevrolet pickup in the accident.

Basiliso Ramirez of Ozona was the driver of the pickup which struck Brigitte Copeland's van as both were westbound.
