Trustees approve reduced budget

The Crockett County School Board has approved a budget for the 1986-87 school year calling for expenditures of $5,298,988. This is a reduction from the 1985-86 budget of $351,420.

Revenue to support the budget is estimated to be $4,445,628 which indicates a deficit of $853,360. The deficit will be met through the use of prior year fund balances from the General Fund, the Debt Service Fund and the Building Fund.

The budgeted revenue will include a five cent tax rate increase which will result in a seventy-eight cent tax rate for the school district.

With the rate increase in effect, the estimated school tax revenue to the district will be $515,366 less than it was last year. The decrease is a result of the large value losses incurred by the decreases in oil and gas properties.

The budgeted expenditures will be dispersed as follows: 61 percent for payroll costs; 18 percent for supplies, equipment and purchased services; 12 percent for debt service; and nine percent for capital outlay.

Function comparisons for budget dispersals show 51 percent of the budget to be used for instruction related services; 11 percent for pupil services which are classified as transportation, co-curricular, cafeteria, counseling and health; 19 percent for administration; and 19 percent for plant maintenance.

The 1986-87 school year began with teacher workshops during the last week of August and the first day of student attendance on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Pre-registration indicated student enrollment to be comparable to 1985-86.

School enrollment down this year

Enrollment at Ozona schools was down nine from the previous year when classes began Tuesday. A total of 995 students were enrolled the first day of school this year compared to 1004 in 1985.

Ozona High School has a total of 265 students. There are 56 seniors, 69 juniors, 70 sophomores and 70 freshmen.

Junior high enrollment reached

236. The sixth grade has 101 students. There are 67 seventh graders and 68 eighth graders.

At the Intermediate level, enrollment was 207. There are 76 third graders, 60 fourth graders and 71 fifth graders.

Primary students number 287. Of these, 28 are pre-kindergarten. The kindergarten group numbers 76 with 102 in the first grade and 81 in the second grade.

Only one indigent health applicant

Only one application for the indigent health care program has been received in Crockett County according to hospital spokesperson Jacquie King. Crockett County Hospital is the provider for indigent health care under a program mandated by the State Legislature in 1985. The program went into effect Sept. 1.

Persons who feel they qualify for the care have been urged to go by the hospital and apply before care is needed. Anyone who comes to the emergency room will owe their bill if they have not already signed up and been approved, said Mrs. King. "There will be no free service unless you have already applied and have become eligible."

"The medically indigent in Texas are primarily those persons in a low income bracket who don't have adequate health insurance," said Mrs. King.

Persons who feel they qualify for the program should call the hospital at 392-2671 to set up an appointment. Hospital personnel will assist anyone needing help to complete the application forms. People who qualify will remain eligible for six months depending on changes in residency or income.

Basic eligibility requirements which must be met include:

1. Applicants must live in the county where they apply for assistance.
2. Household size is a determining factor when considering income eligibility.
3. Applicants who receive Medicaid benefits through SSI, AFDC, AFDC Foster Care, Medical Expansion, Medically Needy or Medical Assistance Only programs are not eligible for the indigent health care program.
4. Applicants' household income must not exceed the income guidelines set by the State of Texas Indigent Health Care Act. Actual income is calculated as either countable or exempt. A number of factors are taken into consideration when determining the applicants' income levels. After calculating countable income, two examples of eligible income levels are $158 month maximum income for a single adult with one child, and $487 month maximum income for a couple with ten children.
5. Assets or possessions other than income are classified as resources. Some resources are considered exempt. Total (countable) household resources cannot exceed $1,000.

Lions excited about first game

By T. C. Tucker

The Ozona Lions will experience their first real test Friday, taking on the Eden Bulldogs. As Coach Jim Green said, "After our two scrimmages, it will be nice to light up the scoreboard."

If the board had been lit last Friday, Aug. 29, at the scrimmage with Sonora, the score would have been close as the Lions proved they could play with the big guys.

The Sonora varsity topped the Lions in yardage and first downs, but Ozona stayed even in scoring with both sides tallying one touchdown.

The line blocked exceptionally well, being able to control the line of scrimmage. This allowed the Lions to have continuous drives the length of the field in both varsity and J.V. play. Lions Peter Shacklette, Abel Lara, Ben Rios, Donald Gutierrez, and Rodney Beasley provided the blocking needed for these drives.

Valdo Galindo, Butch Gonzalez and James Sanchez led the varsity offense with a combined total of 78 yards.

The second team varsity did well although Sonora gained almost twice as much yardage as the Lions. Coach Green pointed out that Sonora mounted 90 of their yards off three plays. Sonora also topped Ozona with two touchdowns during the second team battle.

Coach Green commented on Copie Davis' performance as quarterback during play. Leading offensive players were Derold Vargas and Harvey Dominguez. Dominguez had to play in all three interventions due to Bret Hood receiving an injury early in the game.

The J.V. line had a good night as Cody Sutton, Pete Ramirez and Mark Fierro led the way. Backs Sub Fierro, Roger Martinez, and Harvey Dominguez ended the night with 135 combined yards and two touchdowns among them.

The J.V. evened out with Sonora as both scored two TD's although Sonora attained 145 yards with 124 coming off three plays.

This Friday, Coach Green says that the Lions will have to be able to corral Eden's speed and their fullback, junior Jason Dillard. The Bulldogs' good line is supported by 12 returning starters. The Lions will have to do all this while trying not to let the big plays slip by them as has been the case in the scrimmages.

The J.V. has its first game Thursday, Sept. 4, against Irion Co. with the game starting at 6:30. Varsity play will begin at 8:00 the following day, Sept. 5. Both games will be played here.

Mrs. Christine Davee on ballot for JP

A candidate for justice of the peace has been selected for the November ballot, announces Steve Kenley.

Kenley, Democratic Party chairman for Crockett County, and committee members Bobbie Fatout, Arlene Clayton and Louis Martinez met Friday afternoon to make the selection.

Mrs. Christine Davee, acting justice of the peace, was chosen by the committee from among four applicants.

Mrs. Davee was appointed by the Commissioners' Court in May to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Raymond Davee.

Davee, who was involved in a run-off election at the time of his death, was elected, thereby throwing the selection of a November candidate to the Democratic committee.

Deadline for the selection was late August.

Three weeks of frequent rains have been general over the Ozona area. Much of the rain has been the slow, soak-in kind that muddies up the pasture. A few frog stranglers dumped several inches in a few hours, but few complaints are being heard.

David Cooke was proud to report 3.7 inches at his home from 8:00 a.m. Wednesday to 8:00 a.m. Friday.

Rains from three to six inches were reported last week out in the county.

Roads were closed in the Live Oak and Johnson Draw areas last week, and Highway 163 South was also closed.

More rain is in the forecast for this week.

1986 supports announced for wool and mohair

Support prices for wool and mohair for 1986 marketings have been announced by the United States Department of Agriculture. The support price for shorn wool is $1.78 per pound and $4.43 per pound for mohair.

The average price for 1986 shorn wool is expected to be around $.70 compared to $.63 in 1985. Mohair is expected to average around $3.50 per pound for 1986 compared to $3.45 in 1985.

Mohair incentive approved by wide margin

Mohair producers, by a 1,812 to 397 margin, have voted to continue deductions from mohair incentive payments to finance mohair promotion. Deductions of 4 1/2 cents per pound will be made from 1986 through 1990 incentive payments.

Texas mohair producers voted 995 for and 167 against in the referendum. There were a total of 898,526 goats represented. Of that total, Texas had 832,252 head.

Crockett County producers voted 42 for and five against. 102 ballots were mailed to producers in the county.

PAPERBACKS FOR YOUNG ADULTS

Last year we added a new section to the library for the young adults. Since this is a new section, we decided to go with paperback books easy to handle and read - and to shelve. We started out with four categories - Funny Bones, High Adventure, High Points, and Romance. They were all a big hit. We had more circulation and attendance due to these little books than we had ever expected. So...

GOOD NEWS! We have added another four categories and more new books. We have also moved them to the Reading Room onto a revolving rack for more convenience and space. We have added Books to Curl Your Toes, Sports Talk, Making Choices, and the Future and Beyond. We are working on these books now and will be putting them on the rack over the next couple of weeks.

Remember, reading is a great way to improve your skills for school. Get back in the school spirit with a book from your public library.

Marshall Hubbard named All-Around Cowboy

Marshall Hubbard earned the title of All-Around Cowboy in the 10 and under age division of the Lester Miers Rodeo Finals Aug. 24.

The nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hubbard was third over-all in the barrels and third over-all in poles for his age division. He also competed in the calf riding as part of the finals.

Marshall and brother Nathan were among the competitors Thursday and Friday, Aug. 21 and 22, looking for a place in the top eight. Nathan missed the finals by one point and was ninth over-all in poles.

To reach the Lester Miers finals, competitors must qualify in one of his rodeos. This summer the Fredericksburg based rodeo company held 27 rodeos within a 400-mile radius. As a result, Marshall and Nathan were actually in competion with approximately 60 others in the 10 and under division.

The boys have been competing in rodeos for four years. Marshall is a third grader this fall, and Nathan is in the fifth grade.

Knights plan busy month

Knights of Columbus Council #8572 officers have three activities planned for September.

On Sunday, Sept. 7, the K.C.'s will be selling hamburger plates after church services.

A second fund raiser, a private dance, will be held Sept. 27 featuring Ramiro "Ram" Herrera Y Montana Band from San Antonio. The proceeds from the dance will go toward the scholarship fund.

K.C.'s also plan to participate in a 4th degree exemplification in Abilene Sept. 20 and 21.

Well-rounded activity

Dancers shape up

There has been a revival of an activity that hasn't been enjoyed for years in Ozona. A healthful, inexpensive pastime open to young and older, square dancing is happening again.

Since last spring, a class of nine couples and two singles has formed Levis and Lace Square Dance Club. Some of these dancers have traveled to Del Rio, Crane, Eola, Fredericksburg, San Angelo, Eldorado, Iraan, Midland and Corpus Christi to visit and dance with other clubs and attend the state square dance festival. They even became part of the historic sesquicentennial wagon train.

This year's theme, "Shape Up - Square Up", emphasizes the healthful aspect of square dancing, an activity enjoyed by all ages.

September is National Square Dance Month. Levis and Lace offers classes beginning Sept. 15. The club invites you out to open house Sept. 13 to see for yourself how much fun you could have.

United Methodist Church is the location, and the time is 7:30 p.m.

A Loving Father Disciplines

By Rev. Richard Altenbaugh
Our Lady of Perpetual Help
Catholic Church

I wish to begin by sharing a passage from the Book of Hebrews. Hopefully, it will help us appreciate why difficulties, hardships and the like happen to us. The passage has to do with discipline. Discipline, to discipline, or the word discipline, all come from the same root word in Latin. It means "to learn".

The passage is Heb.: 12/5-7, 11.

You have forgotten the encouraging words addressed to you as sons: "My sons, do not disdain the discipline of the Lord nor lose heart when He reproves you; for whom the Lord loves, He disciplines; He scourges every son He receives."

Endure your trials as the discipline of God, who deals with you as sons. For what son is there whom his father does not discipline? At the time it is administered, all discipline seems a cause for grief and not for joy, but later it brings forth the fruit of peace and justice to those who are trained in its school.

From this passage we learn that our Father does not directly set out to punish us in this world. Rather, He does let things happen in order that we may learn to love Him instead of ourselves. For example...

He lets us suffer the effects of our sins in order that we don't sin again...in order that we are led away from our selfishness, pride, lust, envy or greed and led, instead, to scourges every son He receives."

Him, to true peace and true justice.

Another point is that our Father disciplines us because He loves us. He knows better what is for our own happiness. He knows our weaknesses. To do always what we want, when we want, is harmful and will only destroy us. We progress in being "spoiled brats". So, because of His love, He corrects us, He disciplines us in order that we may not destroy ourselves but rather obtain true peace...with ourselves and others. He does so in order that we may obtain justice in all things, with each one, and in all circumstances.

Lastly, He disciplines each of us...gently, but firmly.

We pray that we follow His fatherly care, as loyal, trusting and loving sons and daughters.

Former pastor to lecture at Faith Lutheran Church

Rev. Reinhold J. Mueller will give a lecture and demonstration of the organ this Sunday, Sept. 7., at Faith Lutheran Church at 4:00 p.m.

Recently retired, Rev. Mueller served as pastor of Faith and Hope Lutheran Churches from 1978 through 1980. Prior to that time, he and his wife, Dorothy, served more than 20 years as missionaries in China; two while China was under communist rule.

There is no charge for the program; however, donations are welcome and will be applied to the organ fund in memory of Rev. Mueller's late wife, Dorothy.

Refreshments and fellowship will follow Rev. Mueller's presentation. Everyone is invited to attend.

Alternatives for aging families

Does grandma have to go to a nursing home? Can dad manage in that big house all alone? How can I cope with the demands of raising teenagers and mother's illness at the same time?

These are the kinds of questions faced by many families with aging members.

"Between 80 and 90 percent of the care needed by elderly persons is provided from within the family," says gerontologist Dr. Judith Warren.

"Sometimes these situations become unsatisfactory, either because the elder is not receiving necessary support, or because one member of the family has been burdened with almost all of the caregiving duties," she adds.

Family members may also feel the situation can't be changed, when in fact there are resources they can use to discover alternative approaches to their caregiving responsibilities, says Warren, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economics program.

The gerontologist points out that family members can learn something about coping with their situation by attending courses on caregiving offered through county Extension offices, community colleges, health care or other organizations.

Books and publications on subjects such as coping with senility, the aging process or dealing with an Alzheimer's patient are available from the same sources. County Extension offices have a letter series on "Adult Children - Aging Parents" with information for families.

"Family members can also talk to someone with special knowledge, such as the aging parent's doctor, a geriatric specialist, family counselor or social worker who can help them identify possible solutions to caregiving problems," Warren remarks.

Once you have located available options for caregiving in your community, it's important to have a family conference which includes all family members, not just those who are doing most of the care, Warren emphasizes.

"The elder should be involved, if possible, to express his or her needs and wants," Warren says.

In a family conference, members can discuss and decide on ways to provide needed care and how to share caregiving tasks, along with the financial and emotional demands of caring for an elderly parent.

"This type of meeting may not be easy, and will probably have to be repeated as the aging parent's situation changes," Warren observes. "But it can result in improved care for the elder and better relations among family members who care for and about that person."

Evaluation of Rotation Diet

The popular Rotation Diet, through which residents in many cities in the South and now in Texas hope to drop one million pounds may let dieters drop weight too fast.

One of the problems with the Rotation Diet is that it claims you can lose up to a pound a day. Health professionals at the USDA recommend losing only one to two pounds in a week. Dropping food intake to lose seven pounds a week threatens to disturb the dieter's nutritive balances.

To lose a pound, dieters must reduce their calorie intake by 500 calories each day for an entire week. This is 3,500 calories a week. So to lose seven pounds in a week the dieter would have to eliminate 24,500 calories from their weekly food intake.

The body needs a certain number of calories for basic metabolism.

More calories are needed for work. Women usually need 1,800 - 2,000 calories a day and men about 2,700 depending on build and activity level.

The Rotation Diet drops calories for women to about 600 calories for the first three days, 900 calories for the next four days, then 1,200 for the next week and on the third week repeats calorie intake of week one. For men the diet contains 1,200 calories for the first three days, 1,500 calories for the next four days, and about 1,800 calories for the second week and then repeats week one.

A woman should not reduce calories below 1,200 a day unless under the regular care of a physician. Men are less vulnerable to nutrient deficiencies than women on weight control diets, since they are allowed more food, but weight loss should average only one to two pounds a week.

In general, the Rotation Diet menus for women are low in calcium, iron, some of the B vitamins and in Vitamin A. For men, the menus are low in calcium and Vitamin A. Obtaining enough of the micro-nutrients on a low calories diet is also a problem for both men and women.

When people go on crash diets, they may not only lose fat but protein as well, and when weight is regained, it is regained first as fat. Quick weight loss rarely has any permanent effect and often sends dieters into a cycle of quick weight loss and rebound weight gain when normal eating is resumed, and then even more difficulty losing when the next diet is attempted.

Adapted by M.K. Sweeten from a review of "The Rotation Diet" by Mary Ann Haubenreich and Rose J. Davis, Extension Specialists from Tennessee and South Carolina, June, 1986.

Paying practices for beef production

Cattlemen must pay close attention to efficient management practices to survive financially in today's depressed economic conditions. That means following practices that offer the greatest potential for increased income while keeping risks at a minimum.

Certain management practices can make a difference in total dollars returned to an operation, depending on such factors as weather, market prices and dedication to efficient management, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The following practices offer an expected return on savings per cow. The dollar values shown were taken from result demonstration trials on cattle under "average" environmental conditions. Returns will be variable where cattle are stressed due to drought, disease, and other natural influences.

PRACTICE	REALIZED DOLLAR RETURN PER COW
Pregnancy testing and culling of open cows	$30
Herd Health Program (vaccinations)	$5 to $20
Breeding soundness evaluation in bulls	$3 to $50
Controlled breeding season	$50
Breeding heifers 30 days before the rest of the herd	$10
Use of performance tested sire	$30 to $90
Use of easy calving sire on virgin heifers	$10 to $60
Observing for calving difficulties three times daily	$4 to $10
Use of wormers	$2 to $5
Use of growth implants in calves	$7 to $25
Prescribed range burning	$15 to $40
Rotational grazing	$10 to $20
Use of estrous synchronization	$3 to $12
Use of artificial insemination	$7 to $30
Sorting cows based on feed needs	$8
Use of year-round mineral supplement	$5 to $12
Control of external parasites	$2 to $5
Retained ownership of calves (Stockers and/or feeding)	$0 to $40
Targeted marketing (specialized production, such as F1 heifers, club calves)	$20 to $200
Crossbreeding	$15 to $30

One might think that if all the practices were implemented simultaneously, the result would be increased net income equal to the sum total of all the values in the dollar column. That, obviously, is not true, but certainly a combination of two or three practices would have an additive effect on net income. The actual realized return also depends on the level of production and management that the cows are experiencing when the practices are implemented.

These practices will help a cattleman maximize production with minimum costs, the agent points out. Use of these types of technological advances requires determination and dedication, but the potential for increased profits is real.

In the past, I've actually had poachers, under arrest for killing from the highway at night, tell me that they will do it again next chance they get - that it's cheaper to pay an occasional maximum fine of $200 now and then than to pay for a lease like law-abiding hunters do. But at the end of the '85-'86 hunting season, we surprised 'em with a new law. They got (or soon will get) a letter from the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, backed by the State Attorney General's Office, advising them they now owe for the replacement value of the wildlife that they stole from the people of the State of Texas. Now they can pay the amount specified in the letter, or they can wait to be sued by the State, and if they cause that much trouble, they can expect to pay the maximum - up to $800 in the case of a good buck deer...or $1,000 for an endangered species...or $10,000 for a Whooping Crane or a Bighorn Sheep. Whataysay, Mr. Poacher, is it still cheaper?

The folks writing the book in Austin have set a replacement value on just about everything that walks, flies, hops or slithers in Texas, and it'll apply in any case where wildlife has been removed from the wild and can't be returned thereto. There's been some discussion as to whether a whitetail doe should be replaced in an area where we issue permits for (and actually encourage) removal of surplus animals, but monies collected can sure be used to re-stock in other areas of Texas that need deer. Besides, who's to say that same deer wasn't going to be trapped and moved to just such a place, if Ole John hadn't put a bullet 'tween her eyes!

A sportsman's license entitles him or her to a legal limit of doves or black bass, but if he chooses to take a few extra for the pot, he can expect to pay a fine plus so much for each one over the legal limit. Some might term this a civil penalty, but regardless of what you call it, it's pure justice and a grand idea to all those concerned with effective game law enforcement.

Fish and game and other wildlife belong to all Texans. Some of the critters are there for us to catch or shoot to our heart's content - within the confines of seasons and limits and arrangements we make with the owners of the land. But if we take too much, or something we're not supposed to, or when or where or in a manner we're not supposed to, the TPWD has a legislative mandate to make us pay for our transgressions. If administered in the way it has been set up, the new system will be welcomed by law-abiding sportsmen. Regardless of the feelings of the masses, however, it should complicate matters considerably for those who choose to rob us of our wildlife through flagrant, premeditated game law violations.

Now to lighten up a bit, I'd like to report on the TGWA Youth Summer Camp. You'll remember in last week's issue you saw a picture of a group of young folks from Crockett and surrounding counties that went to a four day summer camp sponsored by the Texas Game Warden Association to learn about gun and hunting safety and wildlife, and have one last fling before school starts.

Well, parents, stand tall and swell up a little, 'cause our kids really distinguished themselves. I was deluged by compliments from other counselors about the courteousness, politeness and eagerness to learn exhibited by the kids from Ozona, Sheffield and Del Rio. Our youngsters walked away with most of the awards for everything from shooting and athletic sports to wildlife identification and All Around Camper. But then we're not surprised, are we...we always knew our kids were the best!

Shane Cooper and Martin Childress were the only campers to make 100 percent on the wildlife identification and All Around Camper. But then we're not surprised, are we...we always knew our kids were the best!

Martin Urbina was named best boy camper and all around camper. He received a second place in shooting.

Maggie Vielma of Del Rio was chosen the best girl camper.

Winner of the clean sweep award, a broom, was John Williams. Williams placed first in shooting and sports.

Terry Willmon was third in the shooting event.

On behalf of the Game Wardens of Texas, I'd like to thank you for sharing them with us.

Dove season opens

Mourning dove season began Sept. 1 in Crockett County and will continue through Oct. 30. The Central Zone will also have a January season.

Shooting hours are 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset, and a license is required of all Texas residents. Exemptions are available for those under 17, those 65 or over and certain disabled veterans.

There are a lot of big-bodied doves this season according to Game Warden Rod Chalmers. A normal amount of dove are present, but additional other birds are already coming in due to cooler weather across much of the nation.

The daily bag limit is 12 doves per day with no more than two white-wings or two white-fronted doves in that number, reminds Chalmers.

Tri-Cities Shrine Club will sponsor circus in Sonora

Officers of the Tri-City Club in 1986 are Bob Halbert of Eldorado, president; R. L. Murph of Eldorado, vice-president; Herb Kerby of Ozona, secretary; and Pete Anderson of Sonora, treasurer. Circus chairman this year is Eddie McReynolds of Sonora.

Shriners are best known for their funding of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, which has been assisting more than 300,000 burned and crippled children since 1922.

During the 63 years the hospital system has been in existence, the Shrine of North America has spent approximately $988 million operating Shriners Hospitals and nearly $214 million on construction costs.

Since the first hospital opened there have been approximately 383,208 operations performed, 7,089,669 physical therapy treatments given, 372,095 braces and prosthesis applied, 4,522,525 x-rays and photographs taken and 3,009,230 clinic visits reported.

Children eligible for the treatment should not have reached their 18th birthday. The treatment is 100 percent free of charge, paid for by the Shriners' various fund-raising activities such as the circus.

"If you know of a child who would benefit from such treatment, please contact any shriners, and please attend our circus," said Kerby.

Ybarra descendants gather

A Ybarra family reunion Aug. 23 and 24 drew 35 families together for a time of sharing memories and having fun.

The reunion began Saturday night with a supper at Granny Miller Hall. The supper was followed by a dance at the fairgrounds pavilion.

Menu after the dance gave participants a chance to catch their breaths and prepare for Sunday's activities. Games, plenty of watermelon and a hamburger cookout highlighted the Sunday gathering.

A trophy was given to the Inez

Ybarra family for having the most present, 43.

Bertha Ybarra received a trophy for traveling the furthest to attend the reunion. She came from Pennsylvania for the festivities.

Trophies were also given to the winners of the sack race, washer pitching, volleyball game, and to the winner of the rock 'n roll contest.

Ybarra descendants came from Carlsbad, NM, Abilene, Miles, Keller, Robert Lee, San Angelo, North Richland Hills, Fort Worth, San Antonio and from Pennsylvania.

Seasonless wardrobe saves money

Although the stores may be filled with fall clothes, you can save money by thinking in terms of a seasonless wardrobe.

Seasonless wardrobe planning simply means buying items you can wear year-round, says clothing specialist Becky Saunders. This maximizes the wear you get from each item and expands your wardrobe.

A seasonless wardrobe is built on clothes made of fabrics appropriate for different climates, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Lightweight wool, for example, is comfortable in fall as well as spring and early summer. Linen fabrics that were once worn in the summer only can also be used throughout the year.

Loose knit sweaters made from natural fibers can be worn over other clothes during cool weather and by themselves in the summer.

The specialist points out that "layering" light to medium weight clothes over one another and mixing different prints and textures are fashion trends that make it easier to develop a seasonless wardrobe.

'Free trial' offer may be costly

Have you ever responded to an ad for a "free trial" offer and then been surprised when you received extra un-ordered merchandise -- and a bill?

Some companies count on fact that many consumers mistakenly believe they are obligated to pay for the merchandise or to return it at their own expense, says Nancy Granovsky, a family economics specialist.

"If you're sent things in the mail that you did not order, you have a legal right to keep the shipment as a free gift, according to Federal Trade Commission (FTC) rules," explains the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Although it's not necessary as a requirement for keeping the merchandise, you may want to write a letter to the company saying you plan to keep it as a free gift, she notes. This may discourage the seller from sending you repeated bills or dunning notices, and from sending you other un-ordered merchandise in the future.

Granovsky says if you don't want to keep the merchandise as a gift, you can write "Refused - Unordered Merchandise" on the package and return it to the sender. You don't have to pay postage to have the package returned.

The specialist points out that some "free gift" offers come with strings attached, that the consumer doesn't find out about until the merchandise has been received.

Under FTC rules, all conditions and terms for receiving a free item must be sent out with the original offer. "Before you sign up for this type of offer, be sure to read the fine print," she advises. "You'll probably find out that you have to pay something or do something in order to get the free item."

The family clock

BY SANDRA HANCOCK STARK

This clock sat on the shelf
Almost always by itself.
The family Bible was on one side.
On the other Mama's snuff box did abide.

Story goes that it was bought
By Grandad--so very proud
Of the shiny pendulum as it struck
So very clear and loud.

The scrolled edges, high and low,
On a firm foundation stood.
And from the floor at age of three
I wished to see it if I could.

The years passed with springs and falls
And crops grew tall and green.
But there were times when the sun grew hot
And those years were very lean.

And when Grandad passed away
The clock did not miss a tick.
It was the only constant thing
That kept going while he was sick.

He saw that it was carefully wound
(Though he usually did it himself).
And before he left he asked Mama
To wind it for him herself.

And so throughout the passing years
It never missed an hour.
And when Mama became ill,
She managed to wind it through God's power.

And now the years have gone on by.
The house no longer stands.
And the clock which stood on the shelf
Now has fallen into my hands.

Its tick is smooth and regular.
Its strike is loud and clear.
I watch as the pendulum swings
And with each hour it grows more dear.

If only it could speak of days long ago and past,
How carefully I'd listen to its tales and many questions ask.
I'm sure each story told to me would make my heart cry
As its swinging pendulum ticks away, my life's blood flowing by.

To include 'innovative tradition'

Yearbook staff plans underway

By Allison Larisa Schoenhals

The Ozona High School yearbook staff had its first formal meeting Friday afternoon, Aug. 29. Rhonda Yarborough, this year's advisor, talked with staff members and urged them to get started on ideas for theme and color scheme.

"I know that this year will be a year of transition and change, I hope to use most of the older, more experienced staff members to do the work, but at the same time, I would like to train the younger ones so that in the years to come there will be a better, high quality yearbook," said Ms. Yarborough. She hopes that the public and student body will look at this new style of yearbook as innovative, yet not straying from tradition.

Staff members include Jena Allen, editor; Michael Glaze, Vickie Reagor, Rodney Beasley, Roger Flores, Isabel Benitez, Larisa Schoenhals, Stacy Lay, Tommy Tucker, Amy Graham, Martin

Childress, Lanessa Porter and Sarah Porter.

The yearbooks for the 1986-87 school year will go on sale in October. Ms. Yarborough and the rest of the staff promise that this will be one book you won't want to miss.

Crockett Co. Teachers hope to hear Clements

The Crockett County Teachers' Association met Aug. 28 in the high school auditorium to plan for the year.

The organization is making an effort to have Bill Clements, candidate for governor, come to Ozona to discuss his plans for this area and its teachers if he should win the fall election.

President Kelly Glaze read the slate of standing committees for the year. They are: programs - Bill Williams, chairman; Sherry York, Alicia Leal, Jill Crawford and Virginia Cotton; social - H. O. Hoover, chairman; Bob Wallace, Kathy Grendahl, Leticia Macias, Judy Bradford, Fred Jones, Glenda Winkley and Ellen Lipsey; publicity - Judy Probst, chairman; Donnie York, Vicky Gonzales, Jan North, Shirley Kirby; nominating - Jim Williams, chairman; Don Payne, Margaret Spiller and Tommie Pena-Alfaro.

Each faculty will be voting on building representatives to serve on the executive committee within the next few weeks.

Lion Band is all wet but still makes gains

By Allison Larisa Schoenhals

Thursday morning was supposed to be a time for extensive outside practice by the Ozona Lion Band, but due to very wet weather conditions, the practice was moved into the band hall. Mr. Kelly Glaze, head band director, used the blackboard instead of the practice field to show bandsmen their field positions for the first half-time show.

"I'm really sorry that we didn't get to go outside; however, I feel that the time we spent inside wasn't a waste, because we did get a lot accomplished," said Mr. Glaze.

The first Friday night performance is still going to be a spectacular sight despite the lack of practice time. Band members invite the Ozona audience to view their first half-time show and get a taste of what the rest of the year has in store.

Season cut short for Lion player

By T. C. Tucker

Before even the first game is upon us, one Ozona Lion's season is over.

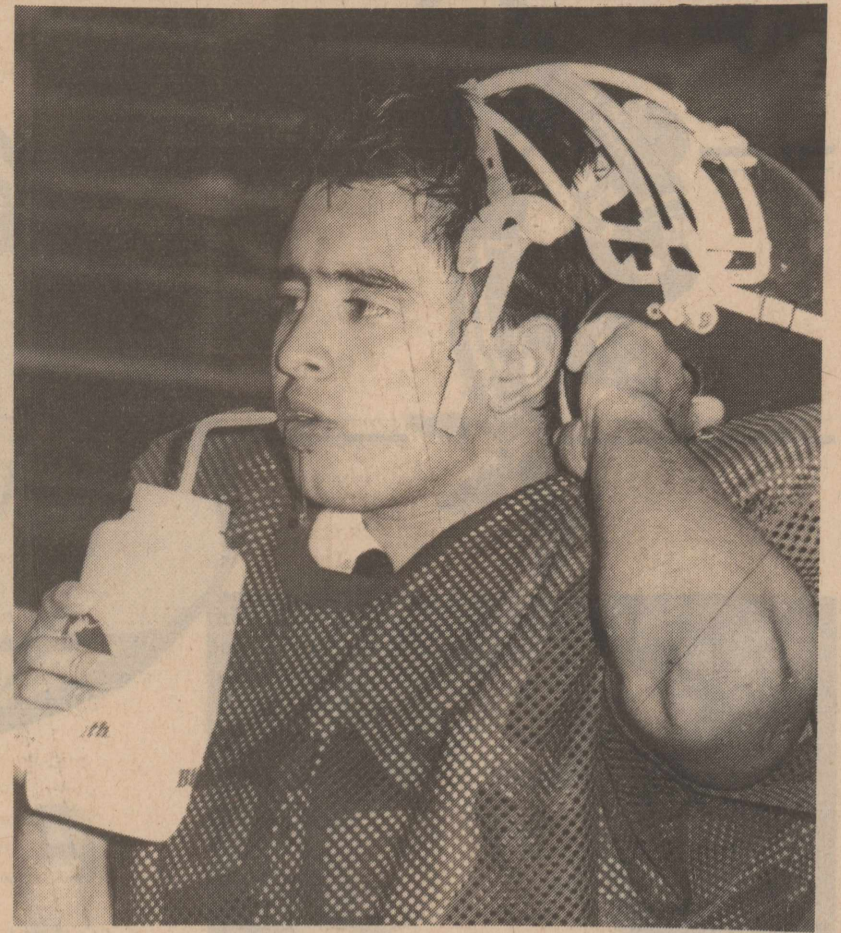

On the first play during last Friday's scrimmage, Bret Hood's football career for the 1986 season was terminated. Spectators watched as he hobbled toward the field house, his leg strapped in a tight brace.

The starting hit-man for the Lions, Hood, underwent knee surgery the next morning to correct torn ligaments.

"You could count on Bret, and it's really going to hurt us to lose him," said Coach Jim Green. "He was a regular utility man, being able to serve as backup to a number of positions if need be."

Due to the loss, Harvey Dominguez will be elevated to the varsity squad to make up for the depth in the hit-man position.

The doctors felt that the surgery proved successful enough that Hood probably will find himself on the court when basketball season starts.

Boy, you gotta be tough to play for Coach Green! says James Sanchez

Now is the time to analyze your credit spending habits

If you have large, unpaid balances on your credit card accounts, now may be a good time to analyze your credit spending habits.

Why now? Family economics specialist Nancy Granovsky says that the tax reform proposals now in Congress call for eliminating the deduction for interest paid on credit cards, so it may be advisable to begin reducing interest expenses this year.

Another good reason for reducing credit expenses is the difference in interest rates for credit cards and for other forms of borrowing.

"Depending on the kind of charge card and where it was issued, consumers are paying annual percentage rates ranging from 12-13 percent to over 20 percent," she says. "Since home mortgage rates are in the 10 percent range, auto loans are somewhat less, and your savings dollars are earning no more than 6-8 percent, interest rates for credit cards seem high."

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home

economist says the quickest way to reduce finance charges is to stop using credit cards until you've paid off the balances fully. Or you may decide to continue using credit cards, but only if you pay the balance in full each month.

"Families often wind up over-extending themselves -- and paying excessive finance charges -- because they don't pay enough attention to how they're using credit cards," observes Granovsky.

She suggests entering each credit purchase in a small notebook, similar to what you would do if writing a check. For example, if you use three credit cards regularly, keep a list with three columns. Each time you use a credit card, write down the amount and what it was for.

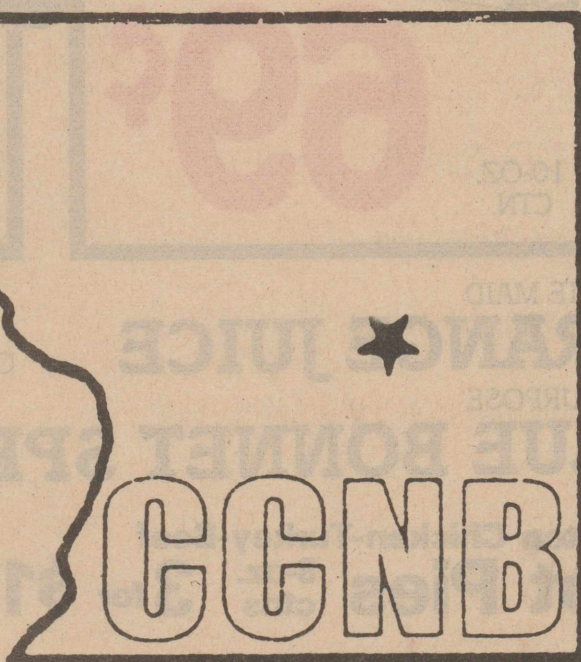

When the credit card bill comes, you'll be able to monitor your spending and make sure all the charges were legitimate ones.

You'll also be able to keep track of how much you're buying on credit, manage your cash flow more easily and therefore reduce your finance charges.
