Tucked away beyond the sand dunes, near the southwest corner of Bailey County is an irrigation operation...although not completely unique, but colossal in its own right.

It is not a new irrigation system, but it is one seldom talked about and rarely seen.

Eleven years ago, J.G. "Dolly" Arnn invested approximately $10,000 in a lake pump irrigation system on his otherwise dryland farm located near the tip of southwestern Bailey County. Water for irrigating his crop comes strictly from water accumulated in a playa lake from rainfall...there is no other way for it to get there.

He has used the system 10

Kenneth Wolf To Address Civic Clubs

A joint meeting of the Lions Club, Rotary Club and Jaycees will be held at noon Wednesday, August 14 in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

A special program has been arranged by the Chamber of Commerce featuring Kenneth Wolf, Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University, who is a small business management consultant.

His talk will deal with solving the problems of management in the small business.

This will be a dutch treat luncheon and all area farmers, businessmen and other interested persons are encouraged to attend.

In order that sufficient food may be prepared, persons planning to attend should notify the Chamber of Commerce.

Band Starts Practice Monday

Practice for the members who will compose the Mighty "M" marching band starts Monday, August 12 at the high school band hall.

Hours scheduled for practice sessions are as follows: Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Friday evenings starting at 7 p.m. Each day's session will last approximately two and one-half hours.

Wednesday has been left free from practice, however, the students have to practice from 2 until 6 p.m. each Saturday.

This schedule will exist until school starts September 2. Jimmy Harvey, band director, urges students not to purchase nor rent instruments out of the 11 years and figures it paid for itself within the first month of operation.

A butane powered Chrysler Imperial motor, running at 80 pounds pressure, gives the farmer an output of 1,500 gallons of lake water per minute.

Pipes, eight inches in diameter, carry the water from the lake to the cotton and grain sorghum crops which look much like those in the irrigated belt of the county.

Lengths of pipe range from 30 to 40 feet and waters approximately 72 rows or about 40 acres per setting. New settings are made each 24 hours. It takes three or only 45 minutes to make a new setting.

One great advantage of using the lake water for irrigation purposes is the temperature. Irrigation well water coming from far beneath the land surface is cold, while the lake water temperature is much warmer, staying in the vicinity from 60 to 70 degrees.

This, Arnn said, causing the crop to continue growth without the 'stock' of cold irrigation water blasting away at the plants.

The farmer will be watering approximately 250 acres from the lake this year which consists of about 350 acre feet of water and runs, over all, about 11 inches in depth. After one week of constant watering, the measurement of the decline in the supply was about six inches.

Arnn said there would be ample water to complete watering out the crops for the season, then some left over.

Another interesting fact to note while visiting the operation is the numerous tadpoles swimming near the surface of the lake. There is also what is called the 'lake shrimp.' The lake shrimp has a hard back light pink shell and the tail resembles that of a shrimp. No one knows where they came from...they just appeared.

Men who operated the irrigation system said they had to watch the channel sacks attached to the conveyor pipes.

EXAMINES COTTON -- J.G. Arnn examines the cotton on his farm which is almost in full bloom. The cotton is being irrigated by a lake pump system he installed several years ago. Besides the cotton, Arnn has an excellent grain sorghum crop on his farm in southern Bailey County which he also waters by this method.

City Enters Blue Ribbon Program

The Board of Directors of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce has voted to enter Muleshoe in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's Blue Ribbon City Awards Program.

This award is presented to those cities in West Texas, whose population is less than 12,000, which achieve a certain standard of excellence in Community Development. Each city competes against standards set up by the West Texas Chamber, signifying excellence in six categories. These categories are as follows: 1. Education, 2. Tourist Development, 3. Industrial Development, 4. Local Government, 5. Beautification, and 6. Parks and Recreation.

Once these standards are met, the city of Muleshoe will be declared a West Texas Blue Ribbon City, which will further indicate to industries and persons interested in locating in Muleshoe, that the City and its citizens are genuinely interested in community progress and development.

Blue Ribbon City Committee Chairman, Robert Alford, held a meeting on Monday, August 5, to organize the committees and chairmen for each category. The committee determined that the basic purpose of this program was to achieve these basic goals: Community Development, Community Growth, Community Involvement, and Making Muleshoe a better place to live and do business.

The following Chairmen were appointed for each area of Development: Neal Dillman, Education; Dr. Jerry Gleason, Tourist Development; Harmon Elliott, Industrial Development; Mayor Wilber LeVeque, Local Government; John Crow, Beautification, and Joe, King, Parks and Recreation.

These men are presently appointing their committees, and will begin work immediately determining what areas Muleshoe must improve in order to achieve this award. The Chamber of Commerce and the Blue Ribbon City Committees strongly urge the citizens of Muleshoe and its trade territory to get behind this effort and push for the achievement of the program.

The August 1 county-by-county High Plains crop estimate adds up to 1,534,000 bales for the 23 counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. despite heavy losses to rain, wind and hail earlier in the year. Good "cotton weather" recently has done much to raise producers' hopes.

The estimate, compiled jointly by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Growers, shows standing acreage as of August 1 to be 1,549,000. However, a new estimate is made the first of each month from August through December.

Last year, from 1,256,000 standing acres on December 1, the area produced 1,187,472 running bales, as compared to the December 1 estimate of 1,169,000 estimated by the two firms.

In Bailey County, the August 1 standing acreage totaled 66,000 acres for 1967 with the final production standing at 47,057 bales.

Again, as of August 1, 1968, the estimated standing acreage of 66,000 acres.

GREAT PROMISE

With the crop more or less ignoring early damage in the 23 - county area promises to produce the biggest crop in three years is running high. The Lubbock Cotton Exchange and Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. released their first official figures Saturday with the estimate of 1,534,000 bales.

Cotton observers figure a crop of that size would pump approximately $329 million into the economy in terms of the gross value of the lint and seed at the farm level and including federal payment growers.

SINCE 1965

Should this situation continue to exist, this would be the largest crop on the South Plains since an output of 2.2 million bales in 1965. The estimated gross value of the 1968 cotton crop includes $153.4 million for the lint, $30.6 million for the seed and $145. million in government payment.

LAST YEAR

The 23-county cotton estimate compares with a crop of 1,203,520 bales last year and a 1966 actual output of 1,293,700 bales. The 1967 crop was the smallest since the severe drought of 1950 when only 800,000 bales were ginned.

The record crop harvested

Ambassador's Banquet Set Friday Night

It has been said "Anything can happen in Muleshoe, Texas...and usually it does."

Muleshoans have no desire to disappoint the author of this statement.

First, this upcoming special event was brought about by the realization that restaurant owners, their employees, service station owners, their employees and motel owners and their employees are the people who first come in contact with tourists stopping in Muleshoe.. the impression they make creates an image in the minds of the tourist and it is usually a lasting one.

Therefore this group of business people have been called Muleshoe's Ambassadors. Owners of all these types businesses and their employees are to be honored as special guests at a banquet to be held at the Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church at 8:30 p.m. Friday, August 9.

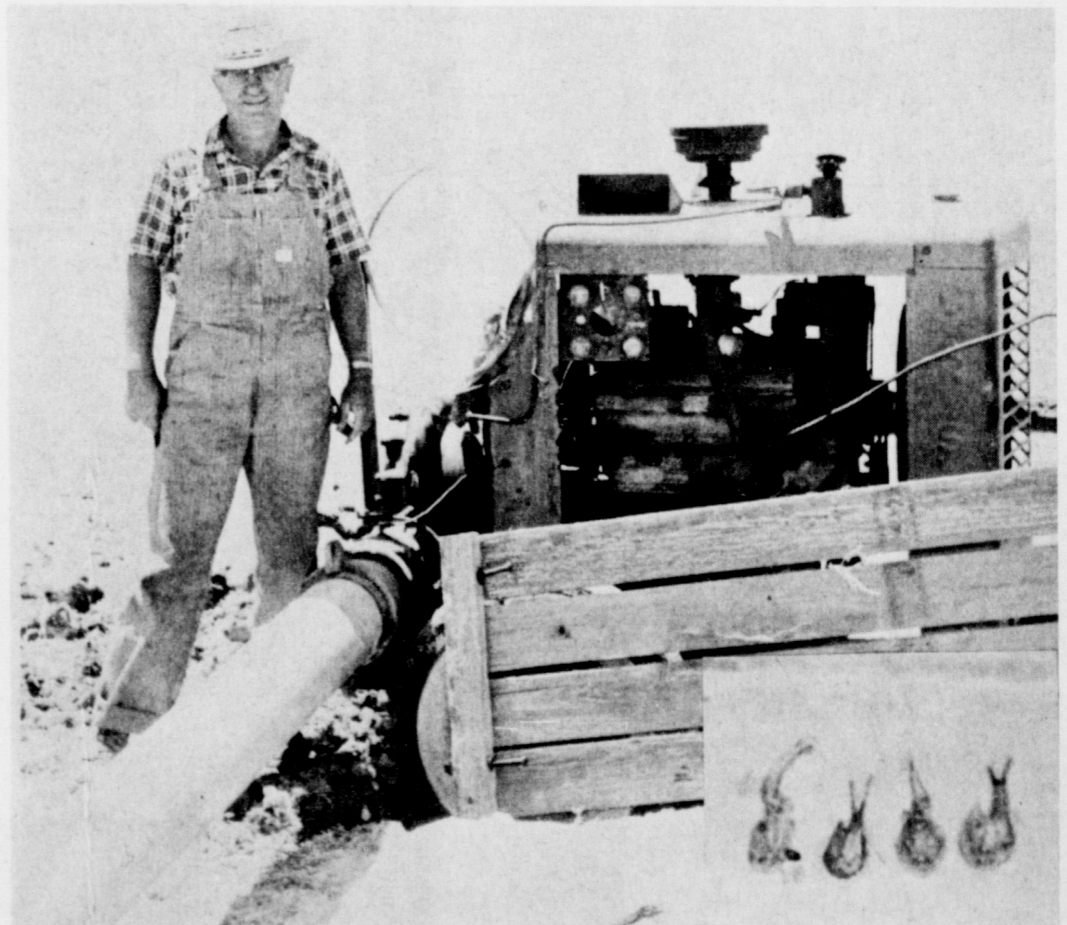

This within itself is neither strange nor unusual...but watch it!-what will make the day complete is the superb service you could possibly get while the banquet is underway.

While the master's of these arts are dining and being entertained, amateurs will be working in their places of business...so what would you order at the restaurant...see that oil does not go into the gas tank and those who seek lodging at TWIRLERS--- These are three of the Muleshoe High School twirlers which will be an added attraction to the Mighty "M" Marching band. They are Tanya Cherry, Junior student; Beverly Evins, a sophomore and Patte Camp a junior. Not pictured is Cindy Crane, a Muleshoe High School senior. Beverly Evins is head cheerleader. The foursome have attended special schools and completed courses during the summer months and are ready for action.

DIRECT FROM LAKE--J.G. Arnn is shown standing beside a lake pump which is used to pump 1,500 gallons of water per minute onto crops on his farm. The water, being warm, is believed to be more beneficial to the growing crops than the cold irrigation water. Inset shows lake shrimp which appeared in the lake water this year. They join the tadpole family which have always been dwellers of the lake. Both are pumped through the pipes and onto the fields, providing an organic fertilizer.

WELL...IT WAS RUNNING---This could just be the plaintiff cry of those who have their cars serviced, eat at restaurants and stay in motels for a time Friday night, until the special personnel of each place of business returns from a banquet being given in their behalf by the Chamber of Commerce at 8:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. One thing about it, as it shows in this picture, plenty of attention will be given the customer. Pictured are Robert Alford, Bob Stovall, Robert Hooten, Olin Burrows and Alfred Flores. the motels might be extra wary to make sure that two families do not wind up with the same room for the night.

Not that the intelligence of the men who will be running the show at the various places is being questioned...but the amount of their experience is likely to show?.....or should we say lack of experience?

To make it possible for these important people of the community to attend this banquet being given in their honor, the following men have volunteered their services to work where they are needed:

Naman Declines Public Debates

Texas Farm Bureau President Sidney Dean today said that he has no intention of taking part in a series of proposed public debates with Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman to discuss Farm Bureau policies. Dean's remark's were in answer to a statement issued by Naman this week.

Naman attacked Farm Bureau policy development, charged the organization as bearing the major responsibility for the low wheat and feed grain prices farmers are now receiving and suggested that Dean answer these charges in public debate.

In regard to Farm Bureau policy development, Dean said, "The 105,653 farm and ranch families who make up the membership of the Texas Farm Bureau are well aware of the method by which all policies of this organization are developed. For it is the members who initiate and adopt the policies through member and delegate action at county, state and national conventions."

The president of the state's largest farm organization termed the remarks blaming Farm Bureau for causing low prices of farm commodities as ridiculous, and said, "The low price of wheat and feed-grain, as well as other commodities, is the result of present supply management programs which have been and continue to be opposed by Farm Bureau."

"In 1963, the Secretary of Agriculture and his supporters promised $2 wheat if given a supply-management program. Having had this program in effect for several years, wheat prices are now at a 26 year low. And after more than thirty years of efforts in supply-management legislation, farm parity income is at its lowest ebb," Dean added.

Grazing Associations Help Develop Income

Farmers and cattlemen are acquiring needed land resources by forming grazing associations and obtaining financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration, the agency's Bailey County Supervisor, John C. Kennedy, said this week.

A grazing association is composed of a group of family farmers and ranchers who join together to acquire and develop land to provide seasonal grazing for livestock belonging to its members. The nonprofit association is owned, operated, and managed by its members.

"Small farmers", Kennedy said, "can increase their incomes, make better use of land and water resources, and develop larger equity in land through use of a grazing association. This program often provides small farmers with their only opportunity to remain in farming on a profitable basis."

Other advantages of an association include providing opportunities to improve livestock quality, gain bargaining power in the market place, build more stable operations and strengthen the rural community.

"Results benefit the entire community", Kennedy said, "because associations accomplish better use of land and water resources and provide expanded tax bases and more local buying power."

The grazing associations now in operation in Texas range in size from 4 to 43 members, depending on the number of livestock to be supported and dimensions and quality of the land.

Eligible to form associations are neighboring farmers and ranchers who operate family size units. Financial and technical assistance is provided by the Farmers Home Administration.

was in 1961 when 2,344,803 bales were ginned.

Farmers and experts are impressed this season with the way the cotton is "fruiting". "June planted cotton, in particular, has been loading up extremely well," Bob Poteet, executive vice president of the cotton exchange said.

"A general rain by mid-August would result in some 'tremendous' yields, especially in the dryland areas," Poteet said.

"Because of the continuing emphasis on quality, we don't expect the kind of high yields we have experienced in the past, he added.

Varieties and cultural practices required to produce top quality cotton often means lower per-acre yields. Heavy irrigation of late cotton, for instance, can result in immature fiber, although it may boost production.

QUALITY UP

"We are looking forward to still more improvements in cotton quality," Poteet said. Advances in cotton quality last year helped to bring unusually large numbers of mill buyers to the South Plains. Poteet believes that 50 percent more of the current crop could pull an inch and longer in staple length. This would be up from 39 percent in 1967, when the proportion of inch and better staples rose sharply from 13 percent level in 1966.

The market outlook is considered favorable, although most observers do not believe prices will go as high as the 42 cent peak paid for some of the better qualities last year. Short staples of desirable micronaire are expected to be in good demand.

Plains Cotton Growers Adopt 1968-69 Budget

Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. adopted a 1968-69 budget of $181,750 at a meeting of the board held Monday afternoon in Lubbock.

The new budget is down $27,200 from the 1967-68 total of $208,950. Actual expenditures during the past fiscal year, however, totaled $168,109.

Don Anderson, Plains Cotton Growers president said "greatly reduced production under the Agricultural Act of 1965 has forced expenditures to be reduced from the 1960-65 annual average of about $202,000.

"And even with these reductions, budgets of the past three years have eaten up some $74,000 of the resources, "the organization head of the 23-county organization said.

"However, it has been the decision of the board each year that the purpose of a reserve is to tide the organization over lean years and prevent drastic reductions in quantity and quality of services rendered to members."

Joe Anderson, Seminole, said substantially this same philosophy was followed in drawing up recommendations for 1968-69.

Illegal drug traffic is put at $400-million.

Safety Measures Should Be Taken For Summer Months

Summer time is fun, usually. If your vacation months are plagued by accidents that seem to occur only during warm weather, maybe you should take a look at a few safety precautions. Hospital officials say most accidents during the summer have two characteristics: they involve children who are outdoors swimming, riding bicycles, and playing. The trouble comes as they have more time than they know what to do with. The result is usually an accident of one kind or another. Avoid accidents by knowing where your children are at all times. Many accidents occur because parents haven't the slightest idea where their children are or what they are doing. When parental attention is low, inquisitive youngsters have a knack of finding trouble.

'Graduate' Music By Top Record Stars Simon & Garfunkel

Simon and Garfunkel, the popular vocal duo who have been hailed for their modern rendition of folk singing, were the logical team to provide the musical background for Joseph E. Levine's Academy Award winning presentation "The Graduate." The lyrics and music of Simon and Garfunkel deal with the current scene and current realities and "The Graduate," starring Anne Bancroft, Dustin Hoffman, and Katharine Ross, deals with the painful dilemma of a young man, fresh out of college after a brilliant undergraduate career, who is never quite sure just what purpose his education was supposed to serve in his life. Produced by Lawrence Turman, "The Graduate," evokes the spirit and problems of young people today and for this reason Nichols chose Simon and Garfunkel to write lyrics and music for the film. Their brand of music and performing, which is termed "Dilemma Singing" in the modern mod-pop idiom, also greatly reflects the doleful problems of the young. The movie, based on a first novel by Charles Webb, tells of a young man, Benjamin, who becomes enmeshed in the spidery net of an older, wiser, more experienced woman, played by Anne Bancroft. The music and vocal sound of Simon and Garfunkel provides just the "right" counterpoint to the movie's adult theme. "The Graduate" features William Daniels, Murray Hamilton, and Elizabeth Wilson. The Mike Nichols-Lawrence Turman production boasts a screenplay by Calder Willingham and Buck Henry.

A War With Many Differences

Captain Walter Arch Gammons

EDITOR'S NOTE. The following story was written and published in the Wellington Times in Australia. It concerns Captain Arch Gammons and a friend who were in Australia relaxing from duty in Vietnam. Gammons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gammons, Rt. 2, Muleshoe, who is expected to visit his parents, bringing his wife and daughter in mid-September.

The special report was written by a person by the name of Harold Humphrey, Warne Street, Wellington, Australia who called Vietnam "A War With Many Differences."

He writes: "This week, I had the pleasure of meeting two American service men, who at the present time are again back in Vietnam with the U.S. Army Forces."

The two soldiers, Captain Arch Gammons and Sgt. Larry Betts, were on R & R leave from Vietnam and spent a day in Wellington, Australia as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hurphy.

Over a typical Australia barbecue luncheon, the two Americans gave some interesting highlights of the struggle in Vietnam which is only about 10 hours from Australia by jet. The Vietnam War is being fought with weapons which are unlike any other weapons ever used in combat by mankind.

The latest combat weapon used by the U.S. Forces is a light weight M-16 made from aluminum. This makes it lighter and easy for the troops to carry.

The North Vietnamese also has weapons in his possession which are very good.

Sgt. Betts said, "There is no doubt that the Vietnamese are ingenious. "If you park a jeep in Saigon, you have to stand guard over it for the entire time it is in the city."

Captain Gammons is in charge of a large signal base at Long Binh.

COMPUTERS IN WAR
It might surprise readers to know that before being posted, he had to attend a special university school on Computers, so he would be fitted for his position at Command Headquarters.

Under his direction, he has three computers, teleprints. The computers can transcribe messages at the rate of 1,500 words a minute.

We have Air superiority and thank heaven we do.

It has been said without Helicopters, we would have been unable to successfully fight the communists in Vietnam. This is probably true.

ONLY 10 HOURS
"There is no doubt that we have air superiority and when one remembers that the communists are only 10 hours away from Australia by jet, then it is just as well we have that superiority."

Both men have rarely contacted Australians during their time in Vietnam.

Captain Gammons, an army career man, comes from Muleshoe, Texas, which is rated to be about the same size as Wellington, Australia.

He is only 26 years old, and is already a Captain and is making the Army his career.

Sgt. Betts who was a college student when he enlisted, will soon complete three years in the U.S. Forces.

Both men stated that they like Australia. Captain Gammons said he elected to come to Australia because he had heard so much about the country and the people.

U.S. troops have a choice of seven countries to visit on R&R leave including Tahiti, but many choose Australia.

Captain Gammons flew into Australia on Friday from Vietnam and this morning he lands again in Vietnam ready for one more month, then he will fly back to the U.S.A. for further schools.

Both men said, they were impressed with Australians, generally their friendly natures and good knowledge of America.

Luther Clegg

Luther Clegg Joins TCU Staff

Dr. Luther Bryan Clegg, who received his doctorate in education at Texas Technological College in June, will join the Texas Christian University faculty in September. He is a former Muleshoe resident.

Announcement of his appointment as assistant professor of education with special responsibilities for the School of Education's audio-visual center was made by Dr. James Newcomer, vice chancellor for academic affairs.

Dr. Clegg, born in Fisher County and graduated from Rotan high school, has served as coordinator of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act program of the Lubbock public schools since 1965. An elementary school teacher in Lubbock prior to that time, he also has been a teacher in the schools in Muleshoe and Fluvanna.

Chemical Committee To Operate Display For Halfway Field Day

Ralph Wheeler, Edmonson, Chairman of the Agricultural Chemicals committee of the High Plains Research Foundation, and his committee will operate a display of the uses of these products at the 12th Annual Field Day at Halfway, Texas on September 12.

Plants will be on display showing the difference between fertilized and non-fertilized crops. Also, excessive and insufficient application of the various chemicals will be shown. A comparison of the uses of herbicides on the various crops, and materials found to be successful in elimination of volunteer castors will be included.

Crops treated with recommended insecticides versus untreated crops will be shown. These crops will include cotton, grain and forage sorghums, castors, soybeans, and corn.

The committee will be assisted in the exhibit by others who handle these products and who are vitally interested in these aids to farmers.

The committee will meet at the Foundation prior to Field Day to complete plans for the display, review the research now underway, and to complete their recommendations for the 1969 research program. These will be presented to the Board of Trustees at the semi-annual meeting on September 12.

Members of the Agricultural Chemicals Committee are: Earl Abell, Ralls; Steve Bavousett, Dawn; R. L. Burgess, Hale Center; Glenn Dowlen, Canyon; J. Frank Gray, Lubbock; Roy Hickman, Morton; Merwyn Igo, Plainview; Troy McNeill, Dumas; Thomas M. Reed, Bartlesville, Okla.; F. M. Smith, Sudan; Henry Snell, Kress; John Thomas, Brownfield; and Chairman, Ralph Wheeler, Edmonson.

The first to meet visitors at the Field Day will be members of the Area One Young Farmers Chapters of Texas. These civic minded farmers assisted in the arrangement of vehicles as guests arrive. Congestion is avoided and visitors are directed to greeters and registration booths.

Tom Garrison, Tulia, President of Area One Young Farmers, and his staff will arrange scheduling of the members of the chapters for their one hour of service, so they, too, enjoy the tours and displays.

THE NEW ABC DAYTIME SERIAL which begins on July 15th will have on its cast Dons Belack who has had roles in two other serials "Edge of Night" and "Another World." The new serial will be entitled "One Life to Live."

The announcement by Senator Edward Kennedy that he would not be a candidate for Vice President on the Democratic ticket, even if asked to run or drafted by convention delegates, removes perhaps the best vote-getting name among Democrats from present possibilities.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey is said to be considering others who were close to the Kennedys, who might attract some of the Kennedy following (and votes) in November but there is no doubt that Senator Kennedy would have been the best drawing card among supporters of the late John and Robert Kennedy.

In one sense, the Kennedy withdrawal adds to the Republican nominee chances because it almost inevitably reduces the emotional potential of a Democratic ticket containing the Kennedy name. Many would have voted for that ticket because of a feeling that the nation owed the Kennedys something.

It would seem that Vice President Hubert Humphrey's task in November is likely to be a bit more difficult as a result of the Kennedy withdrawal. Nixon supporters say the move enhances the former Vice President's chances in November.

Backers of New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller say Kennedy's withdrawal makes it even clearer than before that Rockefeller could win against Humphrey in November. Governor Ronald Reagan's admirers claim the same boost. And thus politicians once again exhibit their flair for interpreting events in an optimistic vein!

Dear Turnrow Tunkel . . .

What is the basis of the trouble between Russia and Czechoslovakia?

As I understand it, the Czechs want to mix a little freedom with their Communism, but Moscow warned them that freedom is like Johnson grass—once it gets started it could spread all over Eastern Europe.

Judging from the present mood of voters, don't you think there will be many new faces in Congress next year?

Yes. We not only need newer faces, but fewer of them. I can think of about 100 members of Congress whose defeat would eliminate 200 faces.

Political observers think the fact that Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller are divorced would cost them support among women voters. Are women more opposed to divorce than men?

Not according to statistics. The latest figures show that just as many women as men are divorced each year in the U.S. What did you think of Senator Yarborough's statement that he will support Preston Smyth in the Governor's race?

That Ralph really knows how to hurt a fellow, Preston is considered a cinch to win in November but with a few more endorsements like this, the race could be close.

Did you read that the FDA has ruled that any product identified as peanut butter must contain at least 90 per cent peanuts?

If the Government is determined to protect us consumers, something should be done about Pork and Beans. I realize that at the price, we can't just mock pork, but I think we're entitled to a little more than just the squeal of the hog.

What piece of farm equipment is most widely used in Texas?

The air-conditioned pickup, equipped with a hitch for pulling a boat trailer.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm comes out this week in favor of the post office department, we think.

Dear Editor: I was working on an idea for having Rural Free Delivery of my mail seven days a week instead of six out here on this Johnson grass farm and on all the other farms and ranches of the nation, when I read in a newspaper which temporarily fell out of my neighbor's mail box while he was plowing and which I have returned in just as good shape as when I found it and just before he got to the turn-row on this side—you don't hurt a newspaper by reading it-- that there is some agitation for reducing city delivery of mail to four days a week as an economy measure and I figured I'd better hold up on my 7-day country plan for a more favorable time.

At any rate, the article went on to say that a committee of private business executives had made a study of the whole post office operation and had concluded the reason it was losing money is that it's not run on modern business principles, and the answer is to turn it over to a corporation under the supervision of the government.

"Like it's run now," the chairman of the committee said, "if the post office business was up for sale, nobody would buy it."

Now wait a minute. If the judicial system of this country was up for sale, would you want to buy it as an investment? The highway department? Congress? In fact, if the entire Federal government was up for sale, would you want to buy it? You want to buy a business that's a hundred and thirty billion dollars in debt and getting in deeper all the time?

Or getting closer to home, would you want to buy the state government? Or the . . . well, that's getting about as close to home as I ought to. We've all got to live around here. The trouble is that some people just don't understand government. Take the post office department for example, it's like farming. It's a public service operation. It's not supposed to make a profit.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

WEST POINT AND DOCTORS TRANSPLANT AID

Representative F. Edward Hebert (D-La) has proposed a military medical academy to train physicians for the armed services and ease the shortage of doctors. Four years of training would be given to qualified candidates who agree to enter military service in return for their medical education.

Cape Town, Africa--Professor H.D. Breda, head of the department of medical microbiology at the University of Stellenbosch, has reported encouraging results in tests using the tranquilizer drug thalidomide. Tests used on animals with transplants showed they lived longer.

Vietnam News

"I've been shot," calmly stated Corporal Charles S. Martin, a rifleman with "Mike" Co., 3rd Bn., Twenty-sixth Marines.

"Are you hurt bad?" one of his buddies asked.

"I'm not hurt at all," Martin, Greenfield, Tenn., said, "but I have five bullet holes in the left side of my flack jacket, and I think one of my M-16 magazines is about due for a survey!"

Minutes earlier, while on a company size operation near Quang Tri, Martin and three others of the 3rd Marine Division spotted movement in some bushes. They went to investigate, and flushed out two North Vietnamese soldiers.

One of the enemy soldiers was armed with a communist AK-47 automatic rifle. His first shot was aimed at Martin and the round struck him in the left side. Martin had a bandolier of loaded M-16 magazines hung over his right shoulder and the enemy bullet tore through one of his magazines, causing four M-16 rounds to explode. The enemy slug then went through the left side of his flack jacket.

The four M-16 rounds also penetrated the flack jacket, but Martin was uninjured. "I just felt this explosion on my left side," he said. "I didn't think I was hurt and I didn't want 'Charlie' to get any more shots at me, so I shot him."

The Marines took the other NVA as prisoner.

A North Vietnamese soldier, tired of fighting, surrendered to the first Leatherneck he saw when he wandered into Marine lines during a combat sweep south of Da Nang.

The enemy was spotted shortly after midnight by Lance Corporal John Harmon, 20, Lake City, Tenn., of "K" Co., 3rd Bn., Fifth Marine Regiment. "He was coming down the path. I thought he was another Marine," explained Harmon, who was on perimeter watch at the time.

Harmon, thinking the enemy was another Marine, asked him where he was going.

The North Vietnamese soldier walked up to Harmon, yielded his SK-S carbine and raised his hands in surrender. "I didn't know what to think," said Harmon, who summoned two Marines to take the prisoner to their commanding officer.

The enemy was questioned by the battalion's intelligence section and said he had considered surrendering for some time. He had become separated from his unit during an air strike and had been lost for two days. He didn't realize he had entered the Marine lines until he spotted Harmon. Once he was aware of where he was, the enemy decided to surrender.

The communist soldier said he was tired, tired of artillery, tired of air strikes and tired of running from American troops.

A Marine sergeant attests that sleeping in bunkers "do strange bed-fellows make."

Sgt. Raymond D. O'Connell, Denver, Colo., a clerk with Force Logistic Support Group Bravo, was awakened at 3 a.m. with a two-and-a-half foot long snake curling up against his arm.

"I just laid there hoping it would go away," related O'Connell. "After what seemed like 10 minutes, but was probably only a few seconds, he started moving toward my head. When I heard him hiss, I was up and out of the bunker."

O'Connell and another Marine returned to the bunker a few minutes later and killed the strange "bedfellow." The snake hasn't been identified, but is believed to be non-poisonous.

Combat Operations centers receive reports dealing with field combat operations. Some are highly technical and classified. Few are humorous.

"I" Co., 3rd Bn., Fourth Marines at Khe Sanh reported: "Discovered one enemy bunker. Search of the area uncovered 40 pounds of rice, five 60mm rounds, one 82mm mortar round, miscellaneous field equipment and one February issue of Playboy magazine with center fold intact."

The bunker, abandoned rice, ammunition and equipment were destroyed. The Playboy magazine, with its center fold playmate of the month was retained as a "war souvenir."

Staff meetings for commanders are straight and to the point with each staff officer reporting about his section's functions for the day.

Lieutenant John A. Ecker (Diocese of Yakima, Wash.), Chaplain Corps, USN, serves with 2nd Battalion, Third Marines as the battalion's chaplain. As such he too is a battalion staff officer. Last Sunday he gave the following report: "We're working to beat hell."

Marines at outposts along the demilitarized zone (DMZ) are watching "underground movies."

The pictures are not the illicit type but the latest Hollywood releases. The Marines call them "underground movies" because they watch them underground. . . in their bunkers.

One film receives several showings a day with 15 to 20 Marines crowded into a bunker making up the audience.

Ask any Marine manning the lonesome DMZ outposts and he'll tell you: "Underground movies are better than ever."

Despite sporadic harassment by local Viet Cong, the 350 students of Thai Lai Elementary School completed the school year and held their first graduation.

Graduation exercises were conducted in the school yard at Hoa Phu Hamlet five miles from Da Nang. During the ceremony, the villagers and students heard the music of the 1st Marine Division Band.

Immediately following, the civil affairs section of 1st Engineer Bn., headed by Gunnery Sgt. Robert Patton treated the children to ice cream and toys as a celebration of their past year's accomplishments.

Also during the exercises, honor students from each of the five classes were presented with school kits. Promising students were awarded General Walt Scholarships, which continue as long as the child remains in school.

Since the school term began last fall, classes were suspended several times due to harassment by local VC. Cpl Mike Medkoff, 19, Wilmington, Del. and Combined Action Platoon, (CAP) 2-1-1 were aware of the problem, and successfully halted the enemy activity, permitting the children to complete another year of their education.

"Since Thai Lai Elementary School is the village's only one, we plan to get some materials and assist in building another in a nearby hamlet," said Patton, Pittsburg, Penn.

"In the meantime, we're constantly repairing the school and supplying CAP members with cement and lumber, soap and clothes," added Patton. "In this way, Marines can distribute goods to those Vietnamese who need them, and they can build and repair as needed."

A seventh Marine Regiment Leatherneck killed four North Vietnamese (NVA) troops during an assault on a fortified village south of Da Nang. Lance Cpl. Marvin W. Clements, 19, Plymouth, Mass., had his machinegun resting on top of what he thought was a mound of dirt after his company had overrun communist positions in an area Marines call "Dodge City."

"I was providing security for the squad I was with while it searched out the area thoroughly," said Clements. "Suddenly I saw an NVA pop up three feet in front of me and fire three shots."

Clements killed the soldier with a burst from his machinegun. Moving to the dead soldier, Clements discovered the "mound of dirt" was a fortified bunker.

"I could hear people talking inside and yelled in and told them to come out. They answered by firing out the entrance."

Clements tossed in two hand grenades.

Three more dead enemy and their weapons were found by the 1st Division Marines as they searched the bunker.

The 3d Battalion, Ninth Marine Regiment has been reinforced. The Marines now have their own "prayer battalion."

Fourteen students and a nun from a women's college in Miami, Fla., are assisting the Marines through prayers and spiritual offerings. The group is called a "Marine Prayer Battalion," and each member offers a part of her daily rosary for the men of the battalion.

Each Friday the "Prayer Battalion" attends Mass in the Barry College Chapel and each month they offer a contribution for a Mass to be celebrated for the men of the 3rd Battalion, Ninth Marines.

The students and faculty of Barry College were told of the Marine unit by Assistant Commandant of the Marine Corps Lt. Gen. Lewis Wait, during his visit to the campus.

Campaigns will be shaping up soon on 14 more amendments to the state constitution. All 14 of the proposed changes in the state's basic laws will be voted on at the general election November 5. Some are far-reaching, others routine.

Here are the amendments in the order in which they will appear on the November 5 ballot:

1. Revising provisions for management and administration of the state employee's retirement system and permitting investment in securities other than government bonds.
2. Raising the state's welfare spending ceiling from $60 million to $75 million.
3. Permitting investment of the Permanent University Fund by UT regents in certain types of securities, within the "prudent man rule."
4. Allowing Dallas County to issue road bonds on vote of property taxpayers.
5. Authorizing a raise in state legislators' salary from $4,800 to $6,400 a year and extending the per diem expense allowance of legislators ($12 a day) to 140 days of a regular lawmaking session, (Present limit is 120 days.)
6. Allowing the legislature to exempt from property taxes equipment installed by industrialists to control air or water pollution.
7. Phasing out the state property tax after December 31, 1976, beginning next year, except that portion for higher education institutions.
8. Eliminating the requirement that the governor, secretary of state and comptroller approve contracts for printing and paper.
9. Providing for contributions to the teacher retirement system on the basis of full salaries. (Contributions now are limited to $504 a year.)
10. Allowing the legislature to provide for refund of state tax on cigars and tobacco products sold at retail in Texas.
11. Authorizing the legislature to permit consolidation of offices and governmental functions in El Paso and Tarrant Counties.
12. Giving the legislature power to authorize cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial development purposes and permit private concerns to operate plants thus financed.
13. Exempting from property tax certain property temporarily stored in public warehouses.
14. Spelling out that legislators will not be ineligible for other offices because their terms extend a few days into January.

DEMOCRATS PREPARING TOO--Democrats are getting ready for their own big powwow in Chicago starting August 26.

Gov. John Connally, Texas delegation chairman and favorite son candidate for the presidency, announced these appointments to convention posts:

Secretary of State Roy Barera of San Antonio, delegation secretary; Cecil Burney of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Roland Boyd of McKinney, resolutions and platform committee; Will D. Davis of Austin and Miss Claudia Brummett of Amarillo, credentials committee; Tom Gordon of Abilene and Miss Julian Couden of Alvarado, rules and order of business; Mrs. Horace Botsford of Corpus Christi and M. J. Anderson of Austin, committee on permanent convention organization.

Also, Rhea Howard, Wichita Falls, committee to notify the presidential candidate of nomination; Mrs. Hilda B. Weinert of Seguin, committee to notify vice-presidential nominee; J. C. Looney of Edinburg, honorary convention vice-president; J. C. Martin of Laredo, honorary assistant vice-president; Ralph McCullough of Houston, honorary secretary; Hunter McLean of Fort Worth, honorary assistant secretary; and John Mobley of Austin, delegation sergeant-at-arms. CONNALLY TRIMS BUDGET--Governor Connally trimmed the 1969 state budget enacted by the special legislative session $1.3 million and sternly lectured lawmakers for setting up $1.4 million in Agriculture Department appropriations as a lump sum item which he could not veto selectively.

FREEMAN ON FOOD STAMPS Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman told Congress recently that he believes the best way to feed the poor because the coupons could not be squandered--as was the case, at times, with welfare money.

Governor also vetoed seven controversial riders including those which sought to cut off funds for policing air pollution control by cotton gins and prevent use of state planes and helicopters to catch traffic law violators. Connally took veto axe to these spending items: $600,000 for temporary building to house the comptroller's department; $275,000 for two new elevators in the capitol; $187,500 for the Port Lavaca causeway state park; $90,000 for Somervell County state park land; $91,000 for legal clerks in 13 courts of civil appeals; $50,000 for insurance claim investigation; $200,000 for Blinn College to operate Old Washington State Park museum; $17,500 for a deputy administrator for the Liquor Control Board; $16,500 for assistant executive director of the state board of control; and $13,000 for assistant director of auditing for LCB.

COURT SPEAKS-- State Supreme Court refused to hear John Robert McClelland's suit to force Harris County COP Chairman Mrs. W. M. Palm and State GPO Chairman Peter O'Donnell to certify him as the Republican candidate for the House of Representatives in the November election.

McClelland got 6,659 votes to his closest opponent's 2,992 in the GOP primary race. But the county chairman refused to certify McClelland, claiming he would not have lived in the district for a full year prior to the November 5 election.

A Dallas golfer who injured his back when he was thrown from a golf cart at Dallas' Riverlake Country Club has won a new trial in his damage suit for $134,000 against the club. High Court approved the move for George A. McRay after a Dallas court had ruled in favor of the club. McRay claims the club was negligent in allowing high grass to obscure a stump off the fairway on the 18th hole. The cart McRay was riding hit this stump and McRay was thrown out.

Court refused to order Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler to erase his forfeiture on a 5,524-acre West Texas sulphur lease claimed by Cobra Oil & Gas Corporation of Wichita Falls. When the Court heard the case

Miller Aircraft won approval for flights between Waco and Dallas and Fleetway Airlines was approved for flights between Tyler and Dallas. Fleetway also won approval for flights between Texarkana and Longview.

AG RULINGS -- Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says that the Supreme Court's ruling that a disputed 305 acres in the Athey Oil Field (near Fort Stockton) is state land will mean recovery of a million dollars for the Texas school fund.

In recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Val Verde county commissioners can transfer Val Verder Memorial Hospital to county hospital authority.

County hospitals can aid in mental health and mental retardation services.

SHORT SNORTS Governor Connally called a special election in Dallas' Third District for August 24 to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman Joe Pool.

Citizens State Bank of Refugio seeks a charter from the State Banking Department.

House Speaker Ben Barnes named a special commission of legislators and laymen to look into the economic problems of employers and employees in Texas, including the merits and demerits of minimum wage legislation.

WASHINGTON BUREAU NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

The Wallace Threat--His Growing Appeal--A Protest Vote--Election In House?

Washington, D.C.--The George Wallace threat is not what most citizens, and most writers, think it is. As of today, it is true Wallace promises to capture a sizable vote in a number of states.

His vote may even affect the outcome of the November election in several non-southern states. But he has, practically, no chance to be elected and even should he force the presidential election into the House, he will have no chance, and little bargaining power to accomplish anything.

Those overly concerned with the Wallace threat, some of whom are proposing a "deal" between the Republican and Democratic nominees, against Wallace, have been alarmed by Wallace's growing strength, and his appeal even in non-southern states.

Yet if he does everything they fear he will do, he won't upset the election and either the Democratic or Republican nominee will be elected in the House. Who but Democrats and Republicans comprise House membership? In fact, southerners in the House are practically all party men, who--more than their constituents as of now--would be inclined to stay with the party nominee for purely selfish motivations.

Wallace will probably have no Independent Party members in the House. It's true that, constitutionally, he could be named Vice President by the Senate (the House must choose a president from the top two) but he will certainly have no Independent Party member in the Senate and it's inconceivable that Republican and Democratic Senators would name him Vice President.

What then can he accomplish? The only power he might demonstrate is in the form of a strong conservative protest, as evidenced by the voters, to present and past policies of recent years in Washington. If this protest is indeed strong, and not confined to the South, could elected officials ignore it in a democracy?

The Wallace protest, then, can only be that of a minority, pressure-group protest. If that protest is supported by enough people in all sections of the nation politicians will heed it, inevitably, in some ways.

But the Wallace threat is not a threat that the former Governor of Alabama will be elected to anything, or have a major voice in a House election should he succeed in forcing the upcoming presidential election into the lower chamber of Congress.

on April 17, the state claimed that Cobra not only waited months too long to pay the first rental, but waited 300 days after filing the lease with Culberson, Pecos and Reeves Counties to file with the Land Office and 100 days is the limit. ACTION SPARKED-- Faced with the January 1 deadline for a regulation prohibiting intrastate shipments of cattle from counties having no certification of brucellosis control, several counties are hurrying into action to secure certification.

Animal Health Department reports three counties--Hemp-hill, Orange and Starr--qualified for certification during June. Cameron and Hidalgo Counties qualified for recertification.

Sixty-eight counties are in the process of testing initial certification. SCREWORM DANGER--State and federal animal health experts are becoming worried at the increase in screwworm infestation cases being filed this year. To date 1,125 cases have been reported in 1968.

After the sterile fly program was inaugurated in 1962, the screwworm count fell below 300 cases by 1964.

The rapid increase in cases this year is blamed on extremely wet weather in South and West Texas which has made a climate especially suited for the worms and their parent screwworm flies.

Ranchers are warned to perform surgical operations (dehorning and castration) only if maximum safety precautions are taken to prevent fly infestation.

NEW AIR ROUTES -- Texas Aeronautics Commission has approved two new airlines for flights into Dallas.

Miller Aircraft won approval for flights between Waco and Dallas and Fleetway Airlines was approved for flights between Tyler and Dallas. Fleetway also won approval for flights between Texarkana and Longview.

AG RULINGS -- Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says that the Supreme Court's ruling that a disputed 305 acres in the Athey Oil Field (near Fort Stockton) is state land will mean recovery of a million dollars for the Texas school fund.
