Paul Harvey, one of America's great columnists, will start appearing in the Bailey County Journal as of August the 25th.

Harvey is the author of three best-selling books, has been honored by many important national organizations and has received honorary doctorates from seven leading educational institutions.

Harvey is best known as a news analyst whose honesty and clear thinking are focused on a wide range of human interests, including politics, philosophy, history, economics, literature and art.

"Remember These Things," Harvey's first book, was widely acclaimed for its forceful and informed comments on the American scene.

"Autumn of Liberty," which followed, was hailed as a triumphant statement of basic Americanism. Freeman Magazine called it "a timely, personal, important book."

Paul Harvey's third book, "The Rest of the Story," is a collection of extraordinary, true stories told in his inimitable style. They show "his feeling for the drama and adventure of life, always so clearly evident... in his syndicated column."

He has received Awards of Merit from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and from the American Legion for his "militant Americanism" and the Freedom Foundation Gold Medal three consecutive years "for outstanding defense and extension of the American Way of Life."

He also holds the bronze Christopher Award. He is equally proud of an award from the Disabled American Veterans, which says: "Paul Harvey is to the veteran returned what Ernie Pyle was to the soldier in the field."

His column will examine current topics with a common sense approach both reassuring and stimulating in these times of embroidered doubletalk and muddled thinking.

Follow PAUL HARVEY NEWS regularly in the pages of the Bailey County Journal and keep abreast of the important developments in American thought.

Football Team Starts Practice

With enthusiastic cries ringing out into the early morning air, more than 40 boys took to the football field Monday morning to begin football practice for 1968.

With an air of optimism, though cautious, Athletic Director Dick Stafford praised the early stages of training. He said that though the boys need much training (or re-training) he is well pleased with the way they are responding to pre-season training.

Six coaches were present at 7 a.m. Monday for the first day of training and most of the time was spent in beginning to learn to tackle and block.

Coach Stafford placed much emphasis on "perfection" while talking to the boys.

Two pre-season scrimmage games are scheduled for the Muleshoe Mules for 1968. First of the games will be played in Benny Douglass Stadium on Tuesday, August 27 at 7 p.m. They will play Morton.

On Tuesday, September 3 at 6 p.m. the Mules will play Lamesa at Sundown in the second scrimmage game. Stafford said Lamesa is a 'strong' AAA school.

Friday, September 13 at 8 p.m. the Mules will play the Dimmitt Bobcats in the Dimmitt stadium. This game is the traditional opener of the 1968 football season.

Haberer Champ Of Tourney

The 20th hole got quite a workout here Sunday but Russell Haberer paid little attention to it as he successfully defended his Muleshoe Invitational golf tournament title with a 214 total.

Haberer, en route to the championship, turned an impressive 74 after bettering the course's par of 72 through the first two rounds.

The 20th hole proved to be the green with the "twist" that put golfers David Tucker and Raymond Schroeder ahead in their respective flights.

Robert Sealing had battled Tucker to a 72 before Tucker captured championship flight consolation on the second extra hole and Schroeder defeated Gholson at the 20th green after both players had turned in 83's in the third flight.

CHAMPIONS--- Champ Russell Haberer, contender and presisting holder of the annual invitational championship golf tournament title, is pictured at right with his close contender for the championship title, Jim Young from Hereford, a student at Oklahoma State, Haberer finished with 214 followed by Young's score of 217. Consolation was Don Gauldin with 223.

MULESHOE INDUSTRIAL TEAMS---Members of the branches of the Muleshoe Industrial Foundation, who form different teams, met at First National Bank last Tuesday evening to review the breakdown and suggestions sent them as a result of a visit from representatives of the Texas Industrial Commission. Members of the commission made a 'pop' appearance here recently and requested Chairman Harmon Elliott to call in team members for the unscheduled briefing. This was to check the preparations made by each of the teams toward being able to present Muleshoe's qualifications and facts for industry. These are scenes of the teams as they gathered to review the final results of the suggested improvements to increase the effectiveness of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation teams. Each team is endeavoring to improve the specific area of which he is in charge. At random, team members are pictured.

Battle of Nature

It could be a surprise to many people that there is such a society as the "American Donkey and Mule Society" and that there is a Journal published monthly by a non-profit organization, which is devoted to the welfare and perpetuation of the donkey and mule and to the best interest of their owners.

"They helped build our country" seems to be the instigation of the publication which originates in Denton, Texas with Paul and Betsy Hutchins as editors and publishers.

The publication contains information concerning the animals, their breeding, habits, stories of interest to the public concerning animals for sale and interested buyers. This is all included along with letters to the editors. They find their way to Denton from all states in the nation.

One of the featured stories in the July edition was written by Barney Thomas, Chelan, Washington entitled "The First Time I Saw a Jack Kill A Stud Horse." It is as follows:

"In 1934, the Taylor grazing act went into effect. The next two years I helped the Mechon boys take most of the wild horses out of the north west corner of Nevada. No one had thought of using airplanes yet, so we did it the old fashioned and hard way. Each one of us has a good string of fast horses. I had the smallest string, 22 head, The Mechon boys were old time mustangers. It was about all they ever did.

Henry and I went in three weeks ahead of the main crew to scout the country. We would sit all day on high ground with good field glasses to take note of the peculiarities of the different bunches.

"There were hundreds of wild horses in the country in those days. It's semi-desert and a long way between water holes. Even in hot weather, some of the bunches would only come to drink two or three times a week. Did you ever sit all day long on high ground with strong glasses and just look and look?"

It is a grand and spectacular as well as an awful sight, the ears flattened down until they are out of sight, the lips skin back till most of the grazing teeth show. He has a peculiar way of snaking his old head down low in a funny weaving motion, and you would never guess that those hideous screams and noises came from a horse!

I've seen tame stud's fight, but it's nothing in comparison to a wild stud's work. One of them little studs can lick any tame stud that ever lived. So to watch that stud that day there at Liman Springs take that little burrow Jack apart was awful, I thought, "Poor little fellow."

It was all so one-sided, The little Jack was slow to even try to retaliate. The stud was doing all the damage, and believe me, it was plenty. But in a couple of minutes, I was vaguely aware of a few funny little things about this fight.

The Jack was making no attempt to fight back yet. What little time he was on his feet, he was in a slow trot in a small circle just near underneath the stud as he could maneuver. All the time the hide and hair was coming off him in big chunks. He was still unhurried and unexcited. The whole front end of the stud was smeared with

To a lover of the outdoors and nature's wonders, it can become a passion. I have spent hundreds of hours at it. I don't even take a lunch, its just that fascinating, especially in wild horse country.

Well, this particular stud and his six mares had been in twice before and each time this little burro jack was trailing behind them a couple of hundred yards. You could see at a glance what was going on. It was spring time and Mr. Jack was going to steal himself a mare! The stud was getting awful mad about it.

Every few minutes he'd snake his old neck down and pull his lips back, let loose an ungody scream and make a short, fast run back at the Jack. When he'd start, the old Jack would just stop and watch him. No excitement, never move a hair. The stud would plow to a stop 30 to 40 feet short, then prance proud-like, back toward his mares. Had worked himself to a lather and was as gaunt as a snake. Evidently his wrath had been going on for days.

However, the little Jack never gave one single inch under these false charges. He was working closer all the time until that last time they came to water, he was only a couple of hundred feet behind. At this water hole, they were only a short half mile below us.

With the glasses we could bring them right up to our laps. We guess that the stud figured he had enough, so finally he didn't halt that last run. He hit the little Jack broadside going full out. They both rolled end-over-end for 50 feet. The stud was big for a wild one, weighed 950 pounds probably, he was all of twice the size, in pounds and inches of the Jack.

After he hit the Jack, he went to work with his front feet and teeth. He was tearing big mouthfuls of hide and hair off the Jack's back and neck. From the first pass we could see the blood stains from where we were. Did you ever see a wild stud fight?

And here is the way he uses it in a fight. After the stud rolled over and stretched out, we could see how deep the Jack's muzzle was buried in his neck. So deep the Jack could hardly breathe. His nostrils were almost out of sight. We were standing 20 feet away and saw the finish in fine detail.

He then spraddled out on his knees beside the studs neck, then he hunched his back up in a high arch. He would hold it there for a second, then let it lower, then repeat the same technique. He kept this up for a second, then let it lower, the arch again. His neck had a swollen and gorged appearance. This lasted for five to six minutes. By so setting the muscle tissue which controls his jaw bone, he can bite through bone and even wood. Once they are set like that, nothing can break him loose... few people know this. He never uses these muscles to eat with, just for fighting, we learned.

When he sat the dead stud out, he got to his feet slowly. Yes, he was a sick little guy, but was sure as the devil unconcerned and unexcited about it. He walked away slowly out to where the mares had retreated to wait for the stud, walked into the bunch, singled out one little old gray mare and disappeared with her out in the sage brush on the big flat, still unhurried.

No, we didn't interfere, the best man had won, the little Jack had won his victory fair and square. I have seen several such fights since that time and they were always repeats of this one.

I have never seen a burro Jack use his teeth on a human. Oh yes, one that is teased will bite, but not to hang in and kill or maim... unless it is a stallion. If you are quite and have enough patience and time, you can catch nature at her worst and best, you have to love her though and be willing to see and appreciate her gifts.

The motion in his front legs by now were nothing more than strangulation spasms.

It was then we witnessed the most peculiar thing anyone will ever see a Jack do. You could never guess it till you see it.

Did you ever notice the peculiar shape of the top of a Jack's neck? It is big and heavy, it looks like he has a small log there just under the skin on the top side. That is muscle and ligament. He doesn't need all that to hold his head up. They fan out paper thin just back of his ears, then spread out over his whole back region. In other words, when you sit on his back, you are sitting on muscle tissue that activates the jaw bone.

crime control and enlightened criminal justice, but the opposite is the truth.

Between 1960 and 1967, the number of felonies committed in Washington has almost tripled. Serious crime has increased 175 percent. In the last twelve months alone, major crimes rose 24 per cent; house-breakings have risen 43 per cent and murders have risen 67 per cent.

Since the April riots more than one thousand felonies are being committed every week. That is at the rate of more than 50,000 major crimes a year in a city of only 800,000 people. The nation's capital has become one of the crime capitals of the nation.

The disorders and crime and the violence that are now commonplace in Washington are more than a national disgrace; they are cause for grave national concern. The withdrawal of Federal troops in the wake of the April violence has seen the city plunge even deeper into the grip of a genuine crime crisis.

Since then, arson has increased 700 per cent. Roving gangs have begun the collection of extortion from downtown businessmen with threats of looting or arson. Four merchants and a bus driver were slain in a period of 18 days.

CRIME AND LAWLESSNESS Washington, D.C., however, the Federal Government is the agency wholly responsible for local law enforcement is a matter. That sound principle was written into the federal omnibus anti-crime bill recently signed into law. In

Nixon's Comeback

The Republican nomination of Richard Nixon for President is the culmination of an unusual political comeback. It was helped by the present unpopularity of the Johnson Administration and its policies and by inept Republican efforts by other potential G.O.P. candidates.

But in the main it is a tribute to the loyalty of Nixon supporters across the country and to the years the former Vice President was the workhorse of his party. And because Nixon did not strike back at his sharpest critics within the party in the nomination campaign he now leads a relatively unified party.

The question at this stage is whether Nixon can win among the electorate, where he lost his last two campaigns. He is helped in this by the fact that the Democratic nominee is almost certain to be less dynamic than some have been and by the fact that the nation is obviously in a rebellious mood.

All in all, keeping in mind the public opinion polls, Nixon seems to have an even chance at this point. That is better than most would have assumed possible a year or two ago, and represents a striking comeback.

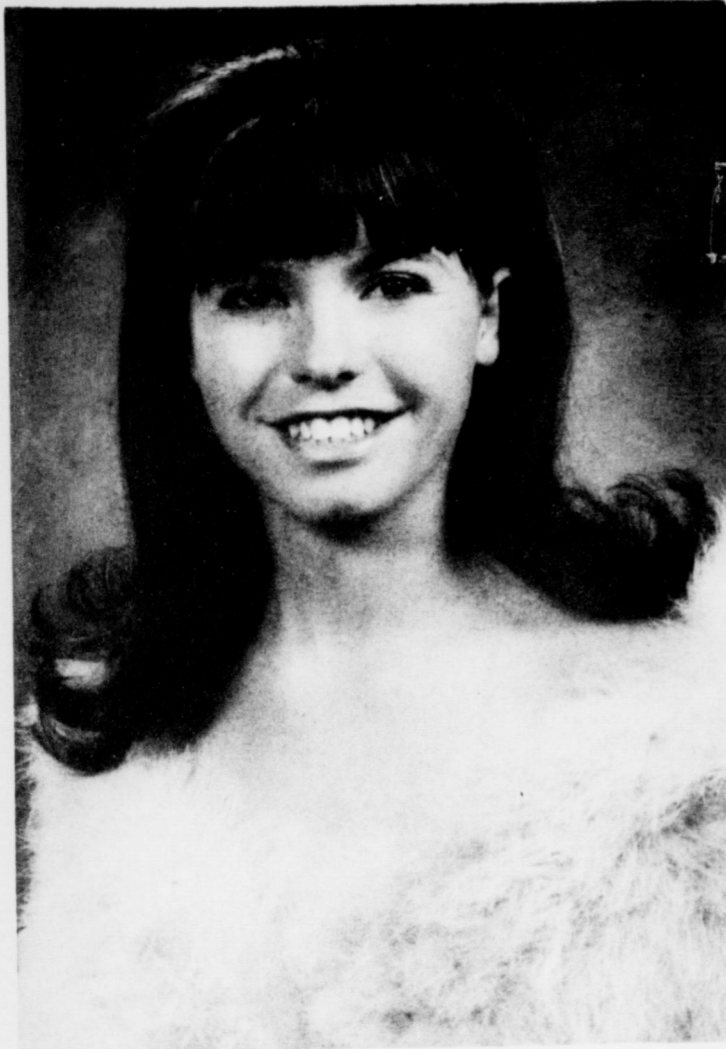

Every minority has a tendency to blame the majority for its own mistakes.

Frederick Vows Unite Couple

Jackie June Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lewis, Frederick, Okla., exchanged vows with Donald Bruce Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.B. (Jack) Little of Muleshoe in an afternoon ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Frederick on July 31.

Mart Hardin, minister, performed the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white street-length dress of linen in an A-line silhouette with a V-neckline. It was complimented with a pearl necklace. Her veil of tulle was attached to a variety of white flowers.

Maid of honor was Donna Lewis, Frederick, Okla. She was her sister's only attendant. She wore a light blue A-line dress.

The couple left for a week's wedding trip to San Antonio immediately following the ceremony.

They will be at home in Lubbock after September 23 where Bruce is a junior student in Agriculture Industry Major and Jackie is a sophomore with Elementary Education Major.

He is a graduate of Muleshoe High School in 1965 and she is a graduate of Frederick (Okla.) High School, 1966.

Kerma Nickels, Gene Mc Guire Wed

Kerma Nickels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Nickels, and Gene McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.R. McGuire, were united in marriage in a small but impressive ceremony in the Chapel of the First Methodist Church in an afternoon ceremony Sunday, August 18. The wedding was attended by immediate family members and members of the wedding and reception parties.

Double ring ceremonies were preformed by D.L. Thompson, minister, Church of Christ of Muleshoe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a princess style gown of cameo lace. It was designed with a bateau neckline and fitted elbow-length sleeves. The slim skirt was complimented by a cascade of ruffles down the back forming a mini-train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was caught in a medallion of lace leaves highlighted in seed pearls and crystals.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of ivory colored roses and English Ivy with two cymbidium orchids in the center and featuring turquoise and ivory ribbon streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jerry Bruns of Lubbock, sister of the bride, and maid of honor was the bride's younger sister, Belinda Nickels. They wore street length, slim line dresses of turquoise silk organza over satin and with long full sleeves. The bridal attendants wore turquoise rosette headpieces attached to nylon illusion, and carried nosegays of cymbidium orchids surrounded by ivory carnations with English Ivy and ribbon streamers in the bride's chosen colors.

Candlelighter was Becky Turner, niece of the groom. Mrs. Doyce Turner, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

Terry Hutton served his cousin as best man and Charles King was groomsman. Ushers were Gil Moutray, Carlsbad, N.M.; Jack Ooley, Plainview; and Dennis Burrows, Lubbock.

An alter arrangement, featuring turquoise-colored gladiolas and ivory carnations with greenery was the focal point of the chapel decorations. Miniature bud vases with carnations and ribbon bows decorated the piano and organ.

Susie Tanner, organist, accompanied Donna Gaston in pre-nuptial selections of "Twelfth of Never" and "Walk Hand in Hand."

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the parlor of the First Methodist Church immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. J.B. Jennings, Mrs. Claude Riley, Mrs. Vernon Bleeker, Miss Susan Gaston, Mrs. Terry Hutton, Miss Tamra Jennings, Mrs. Cindy Short and Miss Sharron Hutton were members of the reception house party.

Strong Yard Spotlights Flowers

10-POUND SUNFLOWERS---These immense sunflowers, which are growing in the backyard at the Willie Strong home, weigh in excess of 10 pounds each. Due to the weight of the sunflowers, they droop and have to have someone hold them up for display.

If your name is Mrs. Willie (Jewel) Strong and you have a lot of patience, and a "green thumb" you may just have a yard and garden like the one at the Strong home just off the Friona Highway northwest of town.

From front to back the entire yard is rampant with a wild riot of colorful flowers of all descriptions.

Mrs. Strong said that it takes much time to have a yard such as her most colorful display around the home.

Carpeted with green grass, spotlighted with stone walkways, and shaded with fruit trees in the back, everything is colorful and well-tended.

Featured in the northwest corner of the front yard is a discarded bathtub filled with floating water lilies. Around the tub of creamy white flowers is a skillfully arranged rock garden. Just to the south of the floating display is a some what unusual flower for this country, brilliant red hibiscus in full bloom. To the back of the hibiscus is white "Snow on the Mountain."

Other flowers in the yard are towering snap-dragons, the ever-popular verbenas, a butterfly bush, althea, blue flyvia, zinnias and amarillas.

Undaunted by being told it would never grow in this part of the country, Mrs. Strong has a beautiful Ponderosa Pine tree as a focal point in her yard. She also has a Limber pine, Arizona Cypress, Spruce, Redbud, Pecan and Pinon trees. Her fruit trees include peach and plum trees.

This year, the vegetable garden belongs to her husband. Mrs. Strong said he planted the garden and it is his. In it he has peas, beans, okra, onions, tomatoes, watermelons and the most unusual of all, hybrid cucumbers. These cucumbers are different as they are long and grow quiet large. It doesn't take very many cucumbers to make several quarts of crisp pickles and the flavor is outstanding.

Mr. and Mrs. Strong spend much of their leisure time working in their yard. They also enjoy playing '42' and visiting with friends.

FLOATING FLOWERS---A discarded bathtub forms the setting for a floating flower garden. The creamy white lilies thrive in their corner of the yard. Almost out of sight is part of a rock garden which surrounds the unusual container.

Social Security

People who sign up for social security only to gain Medicare coverage are often amazed to learn that they will also be drawing some checks for the year, according to John G. Gutton, Social Security District Manager, Lubbock.

For instance, a person entitled to a monthly benefit of $122.90 who expects to earn $3000 in 1968 would draw a check of $17.40 for June 1968 and full checks for the rest of the year.

"This is possible because of the liberalized retirement test under the present social security law," Hutton said.

"A social security beneficiary can earn $1680 per year and draw his checks every month. If his earnings are $2880 or less, an amount equal to one-half the earnings between $1680 and $2880 is subtracted from total benefits payable for the year. If earnings are over $2880, an additional one dollar for every dollar over $2880 is subtracted from benefits payable.

"There has been no change in the provision that a person can draw a check for each month that he is age 72, regardless of his total earnings for the year."

Tax Man Sam Sez:

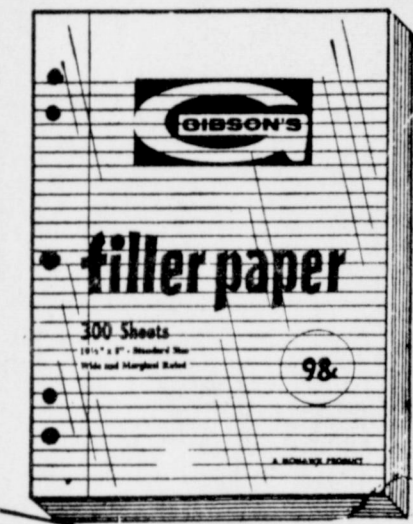

WILL THEY SEND YOU TO JAIL?

A lot of folks talk about Internal Revenue putting you in jail for cheating on your income tax. However, there's not a large number of people who actually end up behind bars as a result of tax fraud. This doesn't mean that it has become advisable to start cheating on your income tax. Internal Revenue does not undertake the investigation of fraud against a taxpayer lightly. Before they present a tax fraud case to the Justice Department and finally to the Grand Jury, and the Judge and the Jury, they must be able to prove that the taxpayer was guilty of cheating on his taxes, and that there was a deliberate intent or malice aforesought involved. It's not unusual to read that the jury found, after trial of a taxpayer, that he was not guilty of criminal fraud. However this taxpayer still must pay his taxes and civil fraud penalties and interest. Those taxpayers who manage to escape detection even though Internal Revenue has all types of records and sources available to them often wish that they had paid the additional tax so they could stop worrying about the tax man finding them out.

O. C. McBride

Dear Turnrow Tunkel . . .

I understand that houseboats are becoming popular in the U.S. Many families live in them the year around.

This would have some advantages, and some disadvantages. It would eliminate mowing the lawn, but it would also eliminate a husband's best excuse to get away from home for a few days. Can you imagine living in the middle of a lake, and telling your wife you were going on a fishing trip?

As things stand now, do you see a trend in favor of any particular candidate in the coming elections?

Yes. If he doesn't make a serious blunder in the meantime, I think the Enco tiger will win in a landslide.

Most labor leaders have endorsed the candidacy of Hubert Humphrey. Since Sen. Yarborough is very much pro-labor, why did he come out for Sen. McCarthy?

It's sort of complicated, but I'll try to explain. Humphrey is a friend of LBJ's, and Lyndon is a friend of Gov. Connally's. This makes Hubert a friend of a friend of Connally, and Ralph wouldn't support anyone that close to the Governor.

According to an article in a household magazine, 50 per cent of American husbands enjoy grocery shopping.

I used to enjoy spending an hour or so browsing around in a supermarket, but not any more. That last 2 minutes at the cashier's counter takes all the fun out of it.

Did you read that the Viet Cong have promised free land to South Vietnamese peasants if the Communists win?

That's a mighty tempting offer, but the U.S. might be able to offset it. We could warn those peasants that if they accept the land we'll send Orville Freeman over there to set up a farm program.

I understand that military and police officials are experimenting with several new weapons to control rioters without causing serious injury.

Figuring out a way to make those people behave without hurting anyone is quite a problem. The Government has already tried bribery, and that didn't work.

IT TAKES A WHILE
Aunt Jenny's small niece, Dolly, came back from her first day at school.
Aunt Jenny said, "Well, dear, what did you learn at school today?"
The little girl pondered and said: "Not much. I have to go back tomorrow."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

By -- Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, -- Texas Democratic party politics are in the national spotlight again -- this time at Chicago during the national Demo convention.

Hearings were scheduled Wednesday before the convention credentials committee on a liberal group's demand that the Texas delegation led by Gov. John Connally be reconstituted to insure proportional representation of ethnic groups.

Texas Democrats for an Open Convention also asked for scrapping of the unit rule under which all the state's delegates are bound to vote as the majority determines. Delegates were instructed at the state convention in Dallas June 11 to vote for Connally as favorite son candidate for president until he releases them. After release, all 104 votes under unit rule probably will go to Hubert Humphrey.

TDOC, in a brief filled with the credentials committee, demands 50 seats -- 48 per cent of the delegation. Proportional representation is asked for Negroes, Mexican-Americans and non-conservative loyal Democrats who have always supported the party. Delegation now includes six Negro delegates and 11 alternates and five Mexican-American delegates and five alternates, but TDOC claims they are "unrepresentative of their communities."

Most active TDOC members are supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president. McCarthy backers also have filed challenges in Alabama, Connecticut, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Georgia and Washington.

Decision of the committee will not be known until next week, and challenges likely will go to the convention floor. Connally forces maintain the Texas delegation is representative and was selected at a fair state convention which they controlled 2,835 votes to 499.

TEXAS REPUBLICAN PARTY POLITICS

Despite the fact that only two Republican presidential nominees have ever carried Texas, Richard Nixon's chances appear to be as high as 50-50--depending largely on whom the Democrats nominate.

First successful Republican in Texas was Herbert Hoover in 1928, carrying the state by 367,000 votes to 341,000. Dwight Eisenhower was the only other GOPer to win a majority of Texans, in 1952 and 1956.

However, there are several factors which could shake up Texas' habit of going with the Democrat. One is the fact that, in 1960, Nixon missed carrying the state by a slim 46,000 votes--and with Lyndon Johnson the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

And since Hubert Humphrey--almost certain to be the Democratic nominee--is known as being even more liberal than John F. Kennedy and Johnson, Texas' traditionally conservative-to-moderate voters could easily find Nixon more attractive.

This should be especially true since Nixon picked Maryland Gov. Spiro Agnew for the No. 2 spot on his ticket, and the two appear to be running a "law and order campaign" to offset the influence of American Party Candidate George Wallace.

Also of course, Nixon will have the challenger's advantage of being able to attack the incumbent administration on touchy issues--in this case, the war in Vietnam, the monetary crisis and the racial situation in big cities.

On the other hand, Humphrey will have several plusses in his column when Texans go to vote in November. One could be his vice-presidential pick, who many think Governor Connally has a good shot at.

Another will be Wallace's candidacy. As an extreme right-winger, Wallace will probably draw considerably more votes away from Nixon than from Humphrey, and some estimates of Wallace's vote are as high as 50 per cent in West and East Texas and 30 per cent in Central Texas.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Connally named Judge Tom Reavley of Austin to fill out the term of Associate Justice James R. Norvell on the Texas Supreme Court. Norvell, who did not seek reelection resigned effective October 10, so Reavley can begin his work at the start of the new fall term. Reavley is unopposed Democratic nominee for the high court post.

Connally appointed Abilene Attorney Tom Gordon to succeed W.D. (Bill) Noel of Odessa as chairman of the State Liquor Control Board.

William Neal Blanton Jr. of Houston is Connally's selection to serve out the unexpired term of the late Judge Ben Moorhead on the 11th district court in Harris County. Blanton is the Democratic nominee for the job and unopposed.

House Speaker Ben Barnes appointed Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, to chair an interim committee to study the relationship between vending-machine operators and taverns. Legislation may be needed to control the takeover of liquor establishments by money-lending vendors, he said.

Barnes also appointed a special committee to study the legal, ethical and moral aspects of human-organ transplants, with an eye to recommending changes in Texas law. Members are Rep. Jack Ogg of Houston, chairman; Dr. Robert D. Bloodwell of Houston; Phillip R. Overton, Austin; Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, Austin; Wyatt H. Heard, Houston; and State Reps. Lamoiné Solland, San Antonio; D.C. Howard, Uvalde; Fred Orr of DeSoto and Carl A. Parker, Port Arthur.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Senate's failure during special session to confirm appointment of J.C. Looney, Edinburg, to the Public Safety Commission did not invalidate his appointment. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held. Martin said Looney remains a member of the body, since the Senate didn't act one way or another on the governor's selection.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

*Rio Grande City Independent School District can issue tax bonds to finance part, but not all, of a new assembly hall-library-classroom-clinic complex with federal Economic Development Administration aid.

*Property owners can't cut the fence of another to gain access to an alleged county road unused for 20 years, except where egress and ingress have been denied to one living in enclosure of fencing. Public roads remain as such although unused, unless rights of public are cut off by county commissioners court, adverse possession by land owner or common law abandonment.

OBSCENITY LAW STANDS U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears has held valid the Texas anti-obscenity law, which uses the "contemporary community standards" of "the average person."

Spears upheld the Constitutionality of the law. He said he felt there was no federal question involved, so he dismissed the suit attacking the law.

Attorney General Martin, whose office defended in the San Antonio suit, said he will ask the next Legislature to strengthen the law, removing exceptions for foreign films and films in interstate commerce. He also wants authority to get injunctions to stop the showing of films which might be offensive.

OIL ALLOWABLE CUT

Railroad Commission again cut oil allowable, to 41.3 per cent of potential for September. Factor will permit maximum production of 3,213,193 barrels daily, compared with 3,414,999 in August under 44.8 per cent allowable. Eight of 14 major purchasers of Texas crude requested less oil next month than in August. Four asked no change. Two requested increase.

VOCATIONAL ED COMMITTEE MEETS

A Senate vocational-technical education study committee heard testimony that industry needs workers who are skilled with tools but who also have sound academic education. Committee is formulating its recommendations to the next legislature.

Meanwhile, Texas Research League has advised that vocational rehabilitation service and management remain in Texas Education Agency framework rather than a separate agency.

SEWAGE-TREATMENT GRANTS

Eighty-five Texas cities have filed applications totaling $12,235,000 for $10 million worth of federal grants to help local government build sewage-treatment facilities.

Most of the grants will be for 33 per cent of the total project price, with the local governments furnishing the remainder of the funds.

Texas Water Quality Board administers the program for the U.S.

COMMUNITY ACTION AGENCIES

U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity will continue to recognize the seven local community action agencies which Attorney General Martin says are illegally constituted until legal action is taken to disqualify them.

County commissioners' useful gifts were received.

Area Farmers To Attend Field Day

In preparation for the Semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees and the 12th Annual Field Day of the High Plains Research Foundation on September 12, the Wheat and Small Grains Commodity Committee recently had its initial meeting at Halfway.

The committee will be hosts at an exhibit during the open house and Field Day showing samples of various types of wheat and small grains, along with information about the crops. Also, the products of these grains will be on display.

A discussion of the 1968 research program was held and recommendations were prepared for the 1969 farm program. These included (1) wheat and barley variety performance studies, (2) a combination fertilizer-irrigation test, with the addition of a simulated grazing study which was instigated by the doubtful economics of wheat for grain alone; (3) wheat stubble burning followed by soybeans and grain sorghum, tilling the stubble followed by both crops, and leaving the stubble with no follow crops for comparative effects on soil composition and structure; (4) a study on young cotton using dead wheat stubble as a protective measure, with the wheat stubble and weeds being controlled by herbicides; and (5) fall planting of some new varieties of barley.

Members of the Wheat and Small Grains Committee are Leo Witkowski, Chairman, Hereford; Dick Brown, Hartley; Cone Donelson, Stratford; Drew Ellis, Perryton; Eddie Joe Fortenberry, Lockney; Joe Foster, Lockney; W.E. Miller, Springlake; Bruce Parr, Friona; R.G. Peeler, Hereford; Jim Wedel, Muleshoe; Asa Willis, Texline; and Donald Wooten, Crosbyton.

They will again be on hand on busy Highway 70 at Halfway to insure your safety when you visit the Research Foundation.

Boat Hunting 'On the Run' Yet Illegal

Shooting "on the run" from boats remains illegal, Director John S. Gottschalk of the Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife said today in explaining new Federal regulations for the waterfowl hunting season.

The amended rules, which appeared in the Federal Register August 2, say that powerboats must be shut down and forward motion from engines stopped before shooting begins, but that motors can remain in place.

Heretofore, hunters were required to detach motors before shooting. This often proved difficult and was especially dangerous in rough waters.

"We think the new regulations will be a convenience to sportsmen and will not make enforcement of regulations more difficult," said Dr. Gottschalk.

Clif Ballenger Visiting Parents

Seaman Apprentice Clifford Wayne Ballenger, U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Ballenger of Lariat, Texas, is home visiting with his parents and friends.

Clifford enlisted in the Navy through the Navy Recruiting Office at Clovis, N.M. under the Navy's "CHICHE PROGRAM". This program allows an enlistee up to 120 days delay prior to the start of his basic training. Clifford is under orders to the USS ELKOMIN (AO-55) upon the completion of his leave. He has just recently completed his basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

VA Assists With Child's Education

The Veterans Administration will pay up to $130 a month to help educate each son and daughter of a deceased veteran who died in service or of a service-connected disability, or one who has been totally and permanently disabled as a result of honorable service.

These payments are usually provided for sons and daughters between the ages of 18 and 26, Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco said. The program is intended for education beyond the secondary school level, he said, but there are some exceptions. Marriage does not bar this benefit.

An eligible person may receive up to 36 months of schooling--or the equivalent of 36 months if enrolled part time. Monthly payments are lower if the enrollment is for less than a full time, and no payment is authorized for less than half time.

Eligible people of legal age may file their own applications with this program with a Veterans Administration office, Coker said. For minor children, the parent or guardian must file, he added.

Special restorative training may be provided to young men or women unable to pursue an education because of some physical or mental disability. It consists of training such as speech and voice correction, lipreading, Braille reading and writing and the like.

In some instances, handicapped children may begin a special vocational or restorative course as early as age 14. More than 125,000 students have been helped in the program since 1956, when it was established.

Robert Bischoff In Reserve Field

AMARILLO -- Robert J. Bischoff, son of Doctor Harold W. Bischoff of Dimmitt, participating in a U.S. Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Amarillo AFB.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers.

Other highlights of the course include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visits to other Air Force bases.

Cadet Bischoff, a graduate of King City (Calif.) High School, is a member of the AFROTC unit at San Francisco State College.

His wife, Betty, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Malto of 480 Siminole Way, Salinas, Calif.
