100th YEAR

Editor's Note: Doesn't everyone love a big bear hug???? Thank God for all the individuals who greet you with a warm hug. Every Monday morning Bob Pipes brings his information for "Breakthru" and gives all of us a big hug that is genuine. It starts the day off right!

While I was watching a movie recently, the lead actor expressed the fact that he hadn't felt a human touch in years. That was just so sad!

It made me truly appreciate those sweet hugs around my legs from my little grandsons on a daily basis.

We need to be generous with hugs, especially to those who live alone. The absence of human touch should not be suffered by anyone. Vanda Anderson

He is in serious, but stable condition at Covenant Hospital in Lubbock. Currently Tommy is in ICU and his doctors say he will remain in the hospital for approximately one month.

The Love Fund has been established to help to the family with the hospital costs and other expenses. Tommy has no health insurance at this time. His wife, Pam, and his mother, Betty, are currently staying at the Guest House Inn.

All contributions and prayers will be greatly appreciated.

The Cross Plains I.S.D. School Board had a long discussion concerning this year's lunch prices. The cafeteria has been losing money due to the rising cost of food. The board voted for the time being, that lunch prices remain the same as last school year, due to the hard economic strain evéryone is dealing with.

They may have to change prices later in the year, depending on how much money they will receive from the government this

God's Healing Power is Evident Following Tommy Phillips' Accident

Tommy Phillips, of Cross Plains, was on 24 hour call in the oil field and worked the night before his accident early Friday morning. He was on the dirt road going toward Highway 36 when he possibly dozed off, over corrected, and rolled his Dodge Durango. He hit the brick fence at Razz Dillard's place on West Highway 36. We will have to wait until Tommy himself is able to tell us what happened.

Currently he is in Covenant Hospital in Lubbock, 3615 19th Street, Lubbock, TX 79410. He is in the I.C.U. Trauma Surgery Unit #8.

His wife, Pam, and his mother, Betty Thomas, are staying at the Guest House Inn, 3815 21st Street, Lubbock, TX 79410, 1-806-791-0433. You may contact Pam by e-mailing tommypam@windstream.net.

Words of encouragement are needed and welcomed.

Pam went for an early morning walk and she became tired and called Tommy on her cell to come pick her up. While she was waitng (approximately 20 minues) she heard the E.M.S. and said to herself "That's not for Tommy." She no more than said that and her son-in-law, Jeff Key, called and said, "Mom what have you heard?" She said, "What are you talking about?"

Jeff handed the phone to his wife Wendy and she told her mother that her dad had rolled his Durango.

Pam took off running to where she heard the E.M.S. and by the time she arrived they had just left with her husband.

Our thanks to Jason Goins for stopping to give aid, not realizing it was Tommy, and then calling 911. Jason's sister just happens to be Tommy's daughter-in-law, wife of Cory Phillips.

When Cory arrived at the Dillard place he was able to talk to his dad and Tommy responded, "Hi, Cory."

prices the same to help families in times of such financial struggle. It was discussed that the school actually receives more money for free and reduced price lunches than selling meals at the regular price. They also considered several ways they could get word out to the community to have families who qualify, apply for free and reduced price meals for their children.

The topic of pay for substitute teachers was addressed, due to the recent increase in minimum wage. The current pay rate for subs is now below the new minimum wage. The board reviewed updated pay rates from surrounding schools, and found an average pay rate among them. Regular substitute teachers will now be paid $55 per day, certified subs will receive $60 per day, and the pay rate will also increase for subs after 10 consecutive days of subbing.

The board voted to raise their mileage reimbursement rate for Cross Plains I.S.D. employees from 40.5 cents per mile to 50 cents per mile-up 9.5 cents.

The board was presented with a bid/proposal from Reed Construction for $9,500 to repair the rock wall located near the ag building. The board voted to take no action at this time, and to advertise for more proposals at a later date.

A discussion about the return policy on electronic devices, such as cell phones was held. Last year, if a students cell phone was taken up, their parent was required to pick it up at the school and not return it to the student until after the end of the school day. This year, if a students' cell phone is taken up, the parent will still be required to pick it up and return it at an appropriate time, but they will also must pay a $15 return fee for the second offense and every offense thereafter.

A few changes to the Student Handbook were offered for consideration. Extended discus-students had 5 consecutive school days to be absent before a doctor's note was required. The debate was over a recommendation that students should present a doctor's note after 3 days. There was some disagreement whether this was a suitable amount of time for a child to recover from typical illnesses. Eventually they compromised and accepted that students be allowed 4 successive days.

The board also agreed that BCIS 2 will no longer listed as an Advanced Class; and new detailing on bullying, harassment and date violence.

One change was made to the Athletic Code of Conduct before voting on its acceptance. The only portion that was not satisfactory to the board was a section stating if a student still decided he/she wished to quit a sport after a standard 24 hour "cooling-off period" that student would not be able to play the sport again for a year. And after the year was up, the coach still reserved the right to not accept the student again. The board felt this was somewhat unfair to the student, especially if the student and coach were not on good terms. They felt that a student could do a lot of growing up in a year and deserved the chance to play in sports again after serving his/her year off the team without being automatically rejected.

The proposals from different suppliers for various items were reviewed, discussed and considered. The board accepted bids from Cross Plains Petroleum for motor fuel; Borden for milk products; Blue Bell for ice cream; and T&L Photo for sports and annual photos.

The motion to keep the schools current insurance provider, Texas Association of Public Schools Property and Liability Fund, was seconded and carried. It was the only company that offered the Burlie Taylor rescinded the motion he made in the meeting held July 24th to sell Charlou Cowan a laptop computer. The motion was seconded by Tommy Ames and carried with a 7 for lot on their plate due to the new vote.

The board entered Executive Session at 7:50 p.m. and was out for approximately an hour and 10 minutes. Upon their return, Vicki Dillard made a motion to employee Cliffadean Hargrove as of 2005. Also, the price of Taylor seconded and the motion carried 7 For 0 Against.

> All board members were present, along with the principal and elementary principal. Guests included Ron Bagley, Nora Odom, Annette Nickerson, Jim Cook, and Kimberlee Lambert.

The Board of Trustees have a school year, and many issues were settled in the meeting. Let's all hope our Cross Plains I.S.D. employees and students have a wonderful and exciting school year ahead.

There was quite a turnout of spectators at Thursday night's "Meet the Buffaloes". The Buffaloes 2008-09 Varsity Football Team scrimmaged against the San Saba Armadillos. The scrimmage lasted around an hour and a half and San Saba was only able to score once against Cross Plains. Spectators commented that given the fact that San Saba is a 2A team, our Buffaloes did an excellent job on defense. Others noted that the Buffaloes did much better in this scrimmage than the one before. This is an optimistic beginning for our team this school year.

Everyone moved from the practice field to the game field and stands to Meet the Buffaloes. The varsity and junior high cheerleaders and mascot started off. the event with a few cheers and made way for the football players, band members, and cheerleaders to be announced.

My apologies to the entire band, I had been experiencing difficulties with my camera and was not able to get a picture. I will definitely get a picture at the next home football game. This year's band members include: 7th graders - Shelby Thomas, Megan Pointer, D.J. Horito, Christa Potter, Jayden Kennedy, Ashia Chambers, Chance Perry, Colton

McWilliams, Taylor Parker and

The Varsity Football Team includes: Cody Self, Reese Allen, Taylor Savell, Cody Ford, Justin Simmons, Patrick Border, Thomas Haile, Allan Wheeler, Zach Hedfelt, Stanley Farris, Tru Avants, Jerrad Eisenbach, Justin Pope, Justin Thomas, Bobby Simpkins, Ryder Foster, Garrett Moenning, Rene Salazar, Walter Pope, Hayden Wyatt and Joe Wyatt. There is no Junior Varsity team this year.

During the event gas cards were given away to a couple of lucky winners. Cheerleaders did flips and skits, and everyone in the stands took pictures and offered an enormous support to all the students.

The crowd enjoyed fresh cookies, homemade ice cream and refreshments while visiting and greeting friends, students and parents.

What a fun evening that was! I am looking forward to spending more time hanging out with our Buffaloes.

Cross Plains Area Genealogy Society Has Made Great Strides

A group interested in learning and developing genealogy discussions, first met as a class in 2000 with a half dozen members. The meeting place was provided by the Cross Plains Library.

The instructors were Sandra Ingram and Sharon Pope of Cross Plains, who both would later serve as president of the newly formed Cross Plains Area Genealogy Society. They applied their skills toward helping the audience visualize how each could gain personal information and encouraging and preparing the group to meet research challenges.

New officers were installed on August 15, 2008. Donna Irby of Cisco will serve as 2009 President.

The society has experienced steady growth and presently has over two dozen regular members. It has been instrumental in creating and advancing a Genealogy Research Department in the Cross Plains Public Library. They meet on the first and third Fridays of each month. Dueling was a rite of passage for male South Carolinians, and at age 28 John Hemphill qualified as a late bloomer.

His quarrel with the local newspaperman grew out of the violent debate over "nullification," the eyeball-toeyeball confrontation between the Palmetto State and the national government. European trade was the lifeblood of the South Carolina economy, which had been hemorrhaging badly under the commercial restraints of the federal tariff of 1828.

The passage of a second and more restrictive tariff four years later provoked unprecedented defiance. In a dress rehearsal for secession, the South Carolina assembly adopted an ordinance declaring both acts "null and void." Andrew Jackson responded with a presidential threat to send in the army to enforce the law of the land.

As an enthusiastic supporter of the nullification movement, Hemphill took personal offense at the pro-Jackson views expressed by editor M.M. Levy. The adversaries met two days later on the field of honor, and the journalist proved the better marksman by winging the challenger in the traditional exchange.

Less than two years after moving to Texas in the summer of 1838, Hemphill was appointed chief justice of the new nation's highest court. He served the Republic and the Lone Star State in that important capacity for the next 14 years.

While widely respected for the impartial way he presided over the supreme court, Hemphill did have his detractors. One critic claimed that when the court was not in session the chief justice would "lie about the places Jan. 6, 1861. The next month appropriated for loafers in a perfect state of torpor like a lizard in the winter."

Hemphill was a judicial activist in the truest sense of the late twentieth-century term. He participated in the famous Council House Fight with the Comanches in 1840 and stabbed a chief to death in the wild melee. The following year, he left the bench to join the Somervell Expedition in pursuit of Mexican invaders, who temporarily terrorized San Antonio.

Legislators met on Nov. 9, 1857 to pick two new senators. James Pinckney Henderson, Texas' first governor, was the nearly unanimous choice to succeed Thomas Rusk, who had committed suicide the previous July. But the selection of a replacement for Sam Houston took ten hours of rancorous wrangling and behind-the-scenes bargaining until Chief Justice Hemphill finally won out over William Scurry on the twenty-second ballot.

The sorest loser in the chamber was the past president of the Republic, who had prematurely booked passage for Washington, D.C. Anson Jones could not believe lawmakers gave his senate seat to Hemphill, a man he accused of having "the practices of a gamester, the habits of a drunkard with a life of licentiousness and incest and a 17-year pensionship upon Texas."

In the United States Senate, Hemphill was an adamant and articulate advocate of southern sovereignty and the right to part company with the Union. In late 1860, he made such a persuasive case for secession that proponents of the pullout distributed 200,000 copies of the spellbinding senate speech in fencestraddling Virginia.

Hemphill and 13 southern HYPERLINK call for "immediate session" on www.twith.com for a visit!

he traveled to Montgomery, Alabama to witness the birth of the Confederacy as the first six states - South Carolina. Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana - to withdraw formed a separate government.

Even after Texas seceded in March and war began in April, Hemphill stubbornly refused to give up his seat in what had become the northern senate. He remained in the enemy capital until his inevitable expulsion that July.

John Hemphill did not live to see the tragic conclusion of the conflict and the punitive postwar occupation of his beloved Texas and South Carolina. After a four-day bout with pneumonia, he died at Richmond, Virginia in January 1862.

The former chief justice had company on his sad journey home. Col. Hugh McLeod succumbed to the same sickness the day before Hemphill, and their remains were transported together back to Austin for burial. The whole town turned out in a cold drizzle to pay their last respects to the fallen heroes.

During his 23-year absence from South Carolina, Hemphill visited his birthplace just once. He had hardly walked in the door, when a particularly pious sister asked if he believed God had forgiven him for fighting the long forgotten duel.

Hemphill would have none of it. "I did not come here to be lectured," he growled through clenched teeth. "Pack my clothes and I will return to Texas."

And that was the last his family ever saw of him.

DSHS Offers Suggestions on Avoiding Rabies Exposure

Many Texans continue to enjoy outdoor activities into the late summer and early fall days. But Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) health officials warn that September and October often have the highest number of laboratory-confirmed rabies cases.

Last year, 114 rabies cases were reported in September, 93 of those in bats. The only month with a higher total was March with 116 cases out of 969 cases for the year. In 2006, 120 rabies cases were reported in September and another 109 cases in October, most in bats. While these numbers can be eye-opening, DSHS health officials say there are things that you can do to keep from being exposed to the rabies virus.

"The most important thing that people can do is to have their animals vaccinated against rabies and keep those vaccinations up to date," said Dr. Tom Sidwa, DSHS veterinarian who heads the department's Zoonosis Control Branch. "State law requires that you have your dogs and cats vaccinated against rabies by a veterinarian.'

DSHS also offers this advice: Keep cats and ferrets indoors and keep dogs indoors or in a fenced yard.

• Spay or neuter pets to prevent unwanted animals that may not receive proper care. Teach children not to play with any animal that they do not know, even if the animal seems friendly.

Avoid animals, both domestic and wild, that appear disoriented, fearless or aggressive. Nighttime animals such as bats, raccoons and skunks that are active in the daytime may be sick.

 Do not touch any wild animal that appears ill or dead. Call your local animal control or local health department for help

• Don't attract wild animals to your yard. Avoid leaving pet food outdoors, and keep garbage in closed containers. Stay away from wild animals, and never keep a wild animal as a pet.

 Prevent bats from entering the home where they might come in contact with people or pets. You cannot, however, get rabies just from seeing a bat from a distance.

 If you find a bat in a room with an unattended child, a sleeping person or anyone who cannot reliably say what happened, leave the room, close the door and call your local rabies control or local health department to capture the bat and have it tested for rabies. Do not touch the bat yourself.

· Have domestic ferrets, wolfdog hybrids and livestock, especially those that are in frequent contact with humans, vaccinated against rabies. Rabies is a viral illness that affects the central nervous system. Once symptoms of rabies occur, it is almost always fatal. However, a series of post-exposure shots, if given in time, can prevent rabies from developing.

Humans and all warm-blooded animals can get rabies. You can be infected with the rabies virus through the bite of an infected animal. Though rare, you also can get rabies if the saliva from an infected animal gets directly into your nose, eyes, mouth or a fresh wound.

Rabies is a medical urgency not an emergency, but decisions must not be delayed. If you or someone in your family is bitten, DSHS recommends that you:

 Wash the wound immediately and thoroughly with soap and warm water. Apply an antiseptic if available. Seek prompt medical care if an animal bites you or you believe that you may have been exposed to rabies. Your health care provider will determine if a series of rabies shots is needed. Report all animal bites to your local rabies control authority as soon as possible so the animal can be quarantined or tested if needed. Be able to describe the kind of animal, its size and color as completely as possible if it has not already been captured.

High-risk animals for rabies in Texas are skunks, bats, raccoons, foxes and coyotes. Rabbits, hares and small rodents such as squirrels, rats, mice, hamsters, guinea pigs, gerbils and chipmunks are rarely found to be infected with rabies and have not been known to cause rabies in humans in the United States. Dogs, cats, horses and cattle are the most frequently reported rabid domestic animals in Texas happening at Rolling Oaks Golf Club. A new course record of 66 (6 under par) was posted by 28 year-old Kobey Morris on Friday, August 15. In addition to being our course superintendent, Kobey obviously shoots a mean game of golf. A native of Rising Star, Kobey sets a quiet example for all our players, both young and old. He always has a word of encouragement and never hesitates to share his knowledge of the game.

Good things just keep on Almost any evening you can find him perfecting his game at the course. And he is a perfectionist. He will chip, putt and drive for hours. An "A" player, he seldom ever misses a scramble. Every once in a while he will try to slip in a "B" player, but after posting a 66 those days are over! Let me repeat that if practice makes perfect or hard work pays off, we are bound to continue to see good rounds from Kobey. Congratulations from all your co-workers. We are proud of you. The rains came, and did we ever need them. Our 3M Company tournament on August 16th was rained out but they are rescheduling it. After they left, the rain stopped for a while and we had a really busy day. This is Texas, and if you do not like the weather, just hang around a few minutes and it will most likely change. On Thursday, August 14, we had only 5 teams in our 2 man scramble. Coming out tied for first were the teams of Korey Morris and Chaz Odom and Kobey Morris and Terry Odom. Tied for second were David Scroggins and Bruce Rivers and Allen Phillips and Charlie Rogers. Terry Odom won closest to the pin on 6 and David Scroggins won on 2. Tuesday, August 19th, we had 18 sign up for the ABCD scramble. The winning team consisted of Korey and Kobey Morris, Jimmy Kelly, David Scroggins, Charlie Rogers and Allen Phillips. Dave Evans was closest to the pin on 6 and it will carry over until Tuesday with 27th on 2. The course is in great shape after the rain. All we need is for you to come out and join in the fun. See you soon.

The Clyde Chamber of Commerce hosted a town meeting last Tuesday morning, August 26th at the Chamber office in Clyde. More than fifty constituents heard Representative Randy Neugebauer, who is in his fifth year in the Congress, present a program concerning federal budgeting.

He also answered questions on these topics: Social Security, the No Child Left Behind program, unfunded educational mandates, the high-school drop-out rate, health-care programs, Medicaid fraud, new energy technologies (such as compressed natural gas for cars), wind tur-

Representative Neugebauer emphasized that as a conservative representing a mainly conservative constituency, he wanted his voting record to reflect that. Concerning economic policy, he said, "Unencumbered market is the best way to address prices on any kind of fuel, as well as agricultural commodities." He said there is no one answer to our dangerous dependence on foreign oil, but that developing many types of domestic energy, together with fuel conservation efforts can turn things around. Holding up his electronic voting card that he uses when voting on Congressional issues, he joked that instead of the card being used like a credit card on borrowed money, he wished it was instead a "debit" card, drawing on a federal balanced budget. At present, counting the 75% of mandatory spending (to keep present, federal programs.operating) and the many unfunded liabilities, out true federal deficit approaches $40 trillion dollars. The remaining 25% of the budget is the only part that is reviewed and voted upon . He has cosponsored a balanced federal budget resolution, which would make government more accountable

Statement on Debate Over LOWERING Drinking Age to 18

From Stephen Wallace, Chairman and CEO of SADD

Marlborough, Mass.—In response to the renewed debate over underage drinking. SADD (Students Against Destructive use. Specifically, this report highlights that:

*An estimated 1,700 college students die each year from alcohol-related injuries;

Decisions) reemphasizes its stance in opposition to lowering the drinking age.

SADD believes that lowering the current minimum-age drinking laws would likely do little, if anything, to reduce problematic drinking behaviors on college campuses and would contribute to the downward age trending of initiation into alcohol use by legally moving it into the high school community. According to SADD's Teens Today research, students in grades 6-12 ranked the drinking age as the number one reason why they choose not to use alcohol.

According to To Surgeon General's Call to Action to Prevent and Reduce Underage Drinking, alcohol use by young people is a leading contributor to death from injuries, plays a significant role in risky sexual behavior, increases the risk of assault, and is associated with. academic failure and illicit drug students are injured while under the influence of alcohol; *Some 700,000 students are assaulted by other students who have been drinking; and

*About 100,000 students are ' victims of alcohol-related sexual assaults or date rapes.

In addition, impaired driving crashes kill thousands of young people each year and injure many more.

As the nation's preeminent peer-to-peer youth education, prevention, and activism organization, SADD provides students with the tools and resources they need to make healthy choices and help their friends and peers to do the same. SADD students abide by a "No Use" policy, which they do not support or condone the use of alcohol by underage young people.
