Cotton Quota Ballots Mailed Friday

2170 Farmers Decide Referendum for 1969

A varied reaction has been noted in Bailey County since the 1968 quota referendums were mailed last Friday. Charles Daniel, manager of the local Agricultural Stabilization office, says that most farmers seem to favor the increased acreage allowable, however, he said that some farmers will have increased vegetable acreage instead of adding more cotton.

The increase could mean some 30,000 additional bales of cotton within the county under the new program for 1969, an increase of some 35 percent. This has come about due to the fact that there is no diversion required as in past cotton crops.

Total number of ballots mailed was 2170 to Bailey County farmers and Daniel declared that the intention is to let farmers know how the allotment program will affect their farms before the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1969 upland crop. Balloting will be conducted by mail -- or the ballots may be returned to the ASCS county offices in person -- during the period of December 2 through December 6. The law requires a favorable vote by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in order to keep marketing quotas in effect.

If the vote is favorable, Daniel explained, quotas will apply to the 1969 upland cotton crop, with penalties on any excess cotton produced; loans and price support payments will be available to growers who plant within their allotment. The loans will be based on a national average rate of 20.25 cents a pound for Middling 1-inch cotton at average location and price-support payments will be 14.73 cents a pound on the farm's projected yield for the acreage planted within the farm's domestic allotment. No acreage diversion will be required.

The Goodfellows report that they have received numerous applications for assistance from families who will otherwise have to do without Christmas.

Some contributions have been received to date, and other contributions are needed to complete the baskets before the delivery date on December 22.

You are urged to send your contribution to the Goodfellows, at the City Hall in Muleshoe, Texas.

The City Planning Commission met Wednesday morning with Jimmy Crawford, Wayne Williams, M.D. Gunstream, Derrill Oliver, Chamber of Commerce manager and Albert Field, city manager, attending.

The commission voted to recommend that the city council purchase the lot adjacent to the former Alsop Cleaners, located at the intersection of West Avenue C and Highway 214.

It was mentioned that the lot was available for $25,000.

Bill Hart, a student at West Texas State University was a guest this weekend in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Hart. Also visiting here was Miss Sue Hudson, of Amarillo.

Shelton Named 1969 Businessmen Chief

Tuesday morning, the Businessmen's Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce held their final meeting for 1968. The meeting was held by outgoing chairman, Olan Burrows.

Among several reports heard were reports from Harvey Bass and Johnnie Shelton on going to Cloudcroft to secure the 56-foot Christmas tree now at the Mule Memorial site. They reported that there was not as much trouble as they had last year when the first tree broke loose from the truck and rolled down a mountainside, forcing them to obtain another.

Lyndal Murray said that on Monday, there will be a meeting of City Councilmen with bonding people to survey the bonding market. He added that the plans have been worked and reworked for the proposed city hall and that the library planning is working smoothly at this time.

Details are being worked out on the law enforcement complex, he added. "We are thinking in terms of 'real soon' for construction," he said. Work has also begun on the sewer extension, added Murray.

Burrows then gave a resume of activities for the year of 1968. Cont'd. Page 2, Col. 7

SANTA CLAUS HEADQUARTERS NORTH POLE

SANTA SAYS O.K. -- Last Thursday, Olan (deacon) Burrows, president of BAC and Col. Morgan (Ione Eagle) Locker, president of Antarctic Airline Ltd., left in 'The Spirit of Muleshoe' for the North Pole to find Santa Claus. With the assistance of U.S. and Canadian radar, the dauntless pair, flying through ice, sleet and snow, were able to locate Santa at his secluded headquarters and Santa agreed to come to Muleshoe Saturday to visit all the boys and girls in our area.

Santa Claus, Elves To Lead Parade

It's a long way to the North Pole... a long way to Santa's workshop in the cold and blowing snow... but Morgan Locker and Olan Burrows found his hideaway last week and visited in person to ask the old gentleman about appearing in Muleshoe to lead the annual Christmas parade. It took awhile for the two men to fly up there, but they made it and Santa smilingly agreed to come to Muleshoe to lead the parade.

Imagine the looks of wistful thinking on the children's faces as they see the jolly man all decked out in red and white. Some of them may have not seen Santa in person before, and all of them will wonder if their conduct has been good throughout the year so they can merit a visit on Christmas Eve.

Keeping up with progress, Santa Claus will not be in his traditional sleigh with his tiny reindeer. Instead, those who view the parade will see a Jet-Age Santa in his jetmobile waving and smiling and greeting those little children he will visit secretly later in the month.

Although Santa Claus will lead the parade, there will be other parade attractions as well. He will have little helpers, elves, who will be wandering through the crowd dispensing candy as they go.

Riding in the parade will be Miss Muleshoe, Tisha Griffin, Little Miss Muleshoe, Cindy Stafford, Muleshoe High School's recently crowned Most Beautiful, Peggy Williams and Lyla Pitts, outstanding 4-H club member.

Logan Puckett and Jean Haskins will carry the flags as the honor guard and members of the various scout troops will march. There will be the Muleshoe High School Mighty 'M' Marching Band and the Muleshoe Junior High School Band, perhaps drill teams from West Texas State University, Cont'd. Page 2, Col. 8

Dear Santa Letters Arriving Daily

Hey, kiddies! Have you written your letter to Santa? What do you want for Christmas? Letters to Santa are coming in every day now. When Santa receives them at the North Pole, he in turn sends them to the paper so they can be published. Already several letters have been received, but many more are needed so Santa can see what you want for Christmas.

If you haven't written to Santa Claus, sit down and write your letter, mail it to Santa Claus and he will forward it on to the paper.

Also, one of the floats in the parade will be picking up letters to Santa for publication in the paper. If you plan to attend the parade, take your letter along and put it in one of the baskets provided.

Home Tour Slated

Llano Estacado Civic Club will host their annual Home Tour on Sunday December 8. Six Muleshoe homes will be featured in the tour this year. The homes include the Jim Cox home, Rufus Gilbreath home, the Harold King home, the Don May home, the Larry

L. C. Roddam Contest Winner

Hall home and the Roy Whitt home. In each of the six featured homes, decorations and preparations have been going on. In each home, an effort will be made to present an atmosphere of serenity and beauty such as will inspire viewers to use time and talent to bring out every lovely point possible in their own home decorations for the holiday seasons said a spokesman for the Llano Estacado Club.

The tour will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Roy Whitt home on the Plainview Highway. It will conclude at the L.B. Hall home where refreshments will be served participants. Conclusion of the tours will be 5 p.m. and can be made at any time between 2 and 5 p.m. on that day.

Proceeds from the tour will be used by Llano Estacado for civic projects in the Muleshoe area. Last year the proceeds were used to purchase playground equipment for the Muleshoe Goodwill Center, in as-

Special Movie To Depict Plains History

A Texas ranch family-the Solon Higinneses of near Dalhart is one of the four families featured in a new U.S. Department of Agriculture movie released this week.

The 20 minute color movie, 'Heritage of the Plains' will have its Texas premiere on an Amarillo television station, KVII, on Saturday December 7, at 5:30 p.m.

The film depicts the experiences of the four landowners as they plan and carry out a complete soil and water conservation program on their holdings under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

The four owners, all with problems typical of the plains with its recurrent drought, high winds, dust storms, intense rainstorms and other emergencies, began their work under Cont'd. Page 2, Col. 5

Sudan Hornets Go To Quarterfinals

When a buzzing nest of hornets turn loose, out to win, again, and again and again, watch out. That is just what the Sudan Hornets have been doing. Even if these Hornets are a football team, they are quite a football team. Stung hard from the first game of the season, when they lost to Sunday, the Class A Hornet team came winging back and now are in the state quarter-finals.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday they will meet Sonora in Odessa for the quarter-final championship. They clinched the regional title last Friday night when they defeated Gruver in the waning moments of the game after killing a 70 yard Greyhound drive. They saw the Gruver team which was riding on a six game winning streak, outgain the Hornets in total offense, with 275-226 and led in penetrations, 3-2.

Sudan only completed one pass in the game with Gruver, but it was a 40 yard pass from quarterback Steve Martin to end Joe Hines. It carried the Hornets to Gruver's 20. Sudan's first sting came just before the halftime buzzer, when after a 69 yard drive in seven plays, quarterback Martin sneaked the final yard for the TD. Jerry Bellar booted Cont'd. Page 2, Col. 8

Letters, Cards Must Bear Six-Cent Stamp

Postmaster Spencer Beavers reminds postal patrons that all letters must bear a six cent stamp in order to be mailed. This includes Christmas cards, invitations, or any type of mail enclosed in an envelope. He said that many people are still pasting a five-cent stamp on mail and consequently it has to be delivered with postage due.

Longhorns Vie for Regional Title

Riding right on the crest of the wave with 11 straight wins thusfar, the Lazbuddie Longhorns will be out to make it 12 in a row Friday night when they meet Throckmorton at Post at 7:30 p.m. to fight it out for Regional Championship.

Last Friday night, the 'Horns snatched the Bi-District crown from the Groom Tigers at Tulia's Younger Field before a large crowd in chilly, below 30-degree weather.

Considering this feat comes from a small school with a total of 70 students enrolled in high school, too small to even have a band, but with a lot of heart and courage, the Lazbuddie Longhorns continue to amass an amazing record of wins from their small 18-man football team.

Throckmorton will be no push-over for the 'Horns. The school is just back in class 'A' after having been in Class 'B' for two years. During their years in class 'A' their Cont'd. Page 2, Col. 7 necessary and no diversion payments will be offered for the 1969 crops. Special provisions apply to 'small farms.' Growers who elect not to participate in the price support program will be able to apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve and to grow and export all their cotton without Government assistance and without marketing quota penalties.

If the vote in unfavorable, he added, there will be no quotas or penalties for the 1969 upland cotton crop, no price-support payments, no export market acreage reserve, and price-support loans to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotment will be available at 50 percent of parity.

Bailey County received an allotment of 96,383 acres for 1969 as compared to 96,225 for 1968. This represented the county's share of the national allotment of 16.2 million acres, including a national reserve of 200,000 acres to take care of minimum farm allotments.

Daniel pointed out that, while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the total upland cotton supply exceeds normal, the growers themselves decide whether or not quotas shall be used. Previous votes on the subject have been overwhelmingly favorable. Marketing quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop were approved by 95.3 percent of the growers voting.

The possible increase in cotton acreage for 1969 will have no appreciable effect on an additional number of farm laborers in the area due to mechanization of farm labor within the county, according to Daniel. There will be an increase in water usage, due to the irrigation in the county and gins would operate approximately one-third longer in the year, to take care of the additional load of cotton harvested.

Referendum balloting will end Friday, December 6, and at that time, it will be made known the results of balloting for 1969 cotton crops.

record is 15-5. They will come into the game Friday night with a 7-3 record for the year. The three losses were to class 'A' teams, one of them by a 3-0 score. Evidently the Throckmorton team goes for the field goal to cinch a win. Presently, they are averaging 40 points per game, with some high scores behind them during the football season.

The Throckmorton defensive line averages 212, while the Lazbuddie offensive line averages 170, for a 42 pound average difference in the boys the 'Horns will have to run through (or around) to reach the end zone. Once again, Coach Casey's 'Horns will have to depend on their mighty speed and elusive actions to come out with the regional win.

Lazbuddie will lose four senior players at the end of the year. They are Frank Hinkson, Steve Foster, Troy Steinbock and Gary Elliott. All four have been receiving letters and questionnaires from colleges throughout the states of Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas. Monday, Steinbock received a letter from Kansas State College inquiring about his intentions for college following high school graduation.

by the Businessmen's Activities Committee. Included were the plaque for 'Most Courteous Employee,' the George Washington Birthday Sale; Sidewalk Sale; Candy given at the 4th of July celebration; two carnivals; Back to School 'Kid's Day'; Halloween Parade; and the Miss America Comedy Hour from which event, $250 was donated to the senior class to be used toward the purchase of a sound system for Muleshoe High School auditorium.

He also reported that the old Christmas lights will be used to decorate the Bailey County courthouse; the nativity scene and Santa's workshop will be set up on the courthouse square. Johnnie Shelton was named chairman of the Businessmen's Activities Committee for 1969 and he named Olan Burrows, Harvey Bass, Lindal Murray and R.A. Bradley to his executive committee.

Shelton told members present that at present there are no plans for the new year, however, he said he and the BAC would continue with the main purpose of the BAC which is to 'promote Muleshoe.'

He added that there is a possibility the BAC will take over and produce the annual 4th of July celebration.

Several years ago, he was the lucky winner of the two tickets to the bowl game and $50 expense money. This year, he is in with clear sailing for his second sweepstakes win. During last week's contest, he missed two games, The San Diego State-Utah game and the Southern Cal-Notre Dame tie, which was listed as the tie-breaker. In the tie-breaker score, he was only off three points.

Close behind was Pam Calvert with her second-second place win for the year. But she tied with F.W. Jones for that win. Both missed two games and has a five point spread in the tie-breaker score. Mrs. Calvert missed the San Diego State-Utah game, the USC-Notre Dame game and had five points in the tie-breaker. Jones missed the Florida-Miami game, the USC-Notre Dame game, and also was five points off in the tie-breaker.

Ruth Malone also missed the Florida-Miami game, the USC-Notre Dame tie, but was fifteen points off in the tie-breaker to end just out of the money.

Robert Hooten said Dr. Charles Allen, minister of the First Methodist Church in Houston will be guest speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in February.

Instructions for Hunting?

First you need a fast car--so you can beat the other hunters to the best spots. That will give you a chance of being killed before you get out in the woods. And save some other hunter some ammo and the mess of shooting you.

One or two cases of whiskey, four cases of beer, and lots of ammo. Food, tents and sleeping bags take up a lot of space, so get another case of whiskey, instead.

Be sure to shoot anything that moves. If it's not a deer, there's always a chance it might be your mother-in-law.

Now, when you bag a deer, be sure and shoot all the shells and bust all the entrails.

Don't bother to wash or wipe it out, as the blood and manure will improve the flavor. Besides, the locker plant operator will be disappointed if you bring in a clean one.

If you decide to skin it, be sure to roll it around in dirt, leaves and pine needles. Then wrap it in newspapers as they will stick well, and printer's ink has the delicate flavor of burnt rubber.

Now drag it out to the car; throw it over the hood as close to the radiator as possible, so it will get all the heat, dust and so people will be sure to see that you got one!

On the way home, stop at a tavern. So you can tell the other liars how you killed it. And be sure to stretch your kill into at least a mile.

Be sure to stay at the tavern until you are sure the locker plant you want to hang your deer in has been closed for the night and the operator is sound asleep. Call him now and tell him to get right down as you must get your deer hung in the cooler before it spoils.

He will no doubt have a couple hundred hanging around so make sure he cuts yours first, and makes it all into choice steaks and chops. And durned if he won't try.

In interviews at Lazbuddie School Monday afternoon, the boys displayed varied reactions to their good record in football. Frank Hinkson said, "I have been looking forward to my senior year since I was a freshman. Last year, I thought we would win district, but we didn't."

"This year, we made up our minds that this was the year for football for Lazbuddie. Anything we would win over district would just be extra. I'm real proud to be a part of our team."

"Our success during the year has been due to teamwork," said Steve Foster. "We (Seniors) played a big part during the year, but couldn't have done it without the teamwork shown by the rest of the team."

"Lazbuddie hasn't had a great record as far as winning district championships," declared Troy Steinbock, "and I guess our record this year makes us feel fairly important. But," mused Steinbock, "I'm sure proud to be on a team like Lazbuddie has this year."

"I hate for the season to end," said senior Gary Elliott, "because I'm happy that we have gotten this far."

Coach Pat Casey said this Friday night will be quite a decisive game as the Lazbuddie Longhorns are going into the game as the "underdogs." He was cautiously optimistic Monday afternoon, but displayed much confidence in the ability of his players.

the PAT and the Hornets led going into the half 7-0. Bellar romped through on a 75-yard punt return midway in the third and also kicked the extra to make it a 14-0 tilt.

Two minutes and twenty-seven seconds later the Greyhounds retaliated with a one-foot TD and ran the conversion to make it 14-8.

Quarterback Ken Jones then tied it up with a short run, and didn't go into the lead when the PAT boot sailed to the right. With 9:42 left to play, it became a brand new ball game.

Seventy long yards stood between Sudan's Hornets and the elusive end zone when they took the ball. Bellar cut through 20 yards on one dash, shoved 16 on another and finally moved to a first and goal on the two yard line. Only seconds showed on the clock when they moved into scoring position. Larry Manna barreled over to edge out Gruver 20-14.

Vietnam News

as reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents and edited by Cysgt. Bob Montgomery

On November 4, 1965, famed war correspondent, Dickey Chapelle, was killed while covering Marines in action near Chu Lai.

Three years later, near the spot where she died, Marines and Vietnamese in a quiet ceremony paid honor to the small woman correspondent whose face and stories had become familiar to Leathernecks from Lebanon to Chu Lai.

Near the same hills and mountains which three years ago echoed the sounds of battle, and in the hot afternoon Leathernecks of Marine Aircraft Group-12 solemnly presented arms as Col. Rex A. Deasy, group commander, and Doctor Francis Yto, chief doctor at the Dickey Chapelle Memorial Hospital, placed a flower wreath over the monument.

To Doctor Yto and most Vietnamese, Dickey Chapelle is the name of the woman whom they never knew. Yet, her name has in some ways brought them a new lease on life.

It is the Dickey Chapelle Memorial Hospital that treats the sick and injured. Even as the ceremony took place outside, Vietnamese nurses and doctors treated a small baby with a high fever.

SOIL JUDGES--Texas Tech agricultural sciences students and judging teams were honored recently at the 41st annual Aggie Pig Roast on the Tech campus. The 1968-69 Soil Judging team, introduced by Dr. B.L. Allen, professor of agronomy, consists of, from the left, Wayne Hudnall of Texico, N.M.; Jerry Bigham of Lockney; Mike Risinger of Bula, and Gerald Simnacher of Pep. (Tech Photo)

Only after Dickey Chapelle was killed did her name mean anything special to these people. Now the hospital is well established in Vietnamese hands and capable of functioning on its own.

To the Marines, Dickey Chapelle was, in the words of General Wallace M. Greene, Jr., "One of us." The former Marine commandant was on hand for the hospital dedication one year after Dickey died.

It was Col. Deasy who stated, "It is in her honor and the honor of the Marines and Vietnamese who have given their lives, that we place a wreath to symbolize not only their sacrifice, but the continued friendship of the Vietnamese and American people."

The wreath stated, "In memory of Dickey Chapelle, 4/10/65, She was one of us, and we will miss her."

Good Weather Speeds Plains Cotton Harvest

The three Cotton Classing Offices of the USDA in this area classed 216,000 samples of new crop cotton last week ending Friday November 29, 1968. This brought the total for the entire season to 695,000. Five hundred six thousand (506,000) samples had been classed on the South Plains this time last year.

Predominant grades were Strict Low Middling, Middling Light Spotted, and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted. These three (3) grades represented 70 per cent of the total classed.

The average staple length from the South Plains area last week was 1-inch.

Micronaire readings by percentages were: 3.5 - 4.9, 42 per cent; 3.3 - 3.4, 13 per cent; 3.0 - 3.2, 28 per cent; 2.7 - 2.9, 15 per cent; and 2.6 and below, 2 per cent.

The average Pressley tests, which is the breaking strength of the fibers, for the Lubbock area was 83,000 pounds per square inch, for the Lamesa area was 84,000 pounds, and for the Brownfield area was 85,000

Miss Sharron Hutton, Joe Putman Pledge Vows

Mrs. Joe Richard Putman

First Presbyterian Church of Muleshoe was the scene of a double ring ceremony November 28 at 8:30 in the evening at which Miss Glenda Sharron Hutton and Joe Richard Putman exchanged wedding vows. Leon Kessler, of Morton, was the officiating minister.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hutton and Dr. and Mrs. B.R. Putman, all of Muleshoe.

The couple stood under an archway of palm leaves and red and white bows to recite their vows. Baskets of white mums and red carnations, adorned by red and white streamers and a nine-branch candelabra were also used to decorate the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of imported French Chantilly lace and tulle over net and bridal satin. The elongated bodice was designed with an scalloped neckline, embroidered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. The long pointed sleeves were also accented by an over lay of scalloped lace which swept into a cathedral train. Her shoulder-length veil framed her face in a circlet of velvet leaves encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore pearls and carried the traditional penny in her left shoe, a gift of her father. The bridal bouquet was two cymbidium orchids, surrounded by white roses and lilies of the valley, with English ivy and streamers of red and white velvet, atop a white bible.

Mrs. Freddie Parkman, of Maple, was matron of honor. She wore a long fitted sheath of red velvet, with scooped neckline, tiny pearl beads on the long pointed sleeves, a necklace of pearls and a bridal hat of red tulle and velvet. Her bouquet was a cymbidium orchid and white roses, and streamers of red and white velvet.

Princess Parkman, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Michelle Parkman and Traci Hutton, also her nieces, were flower girls. They wore identical long dresses of red velvet, necklaces of pearls and bridal hats of red tulle and velvet.

Ringbearer was Wayne Parkman, nephew of the bride.

Serving as best man was Bill Hart, of Muleshoe and Canyon.

Candles were lighted by Jim Putman and Jerry Putman of Muleshoe, brothers of the groom. Serving as usher, was Jerry Hutton, of Muleshoe, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hutton wore a three-piece knitted suit of winter white, with matching accessories of pearlized calf, and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Putman wore a threepiece suit of navy silk, with bone blouse and matching bone accessories. She also wore a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Miss Jean Haskins, of Muleshoe, offered wedding music and accompanied Paul Poyner, Muleshoe, as he sang "I Love You Truly" and "Whither Thou Goest."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Hutton home on the Friona Highway. Assisting in hospitalities were Mrs. A.R. McGuire, Mrs. Dee Chitwood, and Mrs. Arthur Graves.

The bride's table was laid with white draped net over white satin and adorned with the bouquets of the bridal party. Mrs. Terry Hutton, Mrs. Jerry Hutton, sisters-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Jerry Bruns, and Mrs. Gene McGuire, cousin of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake, coffee and punch, in keeping with the bride's color.

For a wedding trip to El Paso the bride chose a three-piece walking suit of Copenhagen blue, with accents of white. Her accessories were pearlized winter-white kid. She pinned the orchids from her wedding bouquet on the trip.

The bride is a graduate of Muleshoe High school and a freshman student at Texas Tech.

The bridegroom is also a graduate of MHS and is currently a junior student at West Texas State University, where he is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. He is employed by Southwestern Public Service Co.

The couple will be at home in Canyon.

Muleshoe OES Attends School Banquet

A very successful and informative Eastern Star School of Instruction "Reflections" was held in Hereford Masonic Hall, November 26, 1968, under the supervision of Aileen Tilson, Plainview, District Deputy Grand Matron, District 2, and Cortez Dowlen, Canyon, Deputy Grand Matron, District 2, Section 3.

Registration began at 8:00 a.m. with LaVonne Hinkson, Muleshoe Chapter serving as Chairman. Muleshoe was co-hostess for the coffee hour. At 9:00 a.m. "The Pathway of Love" drill by Worthy Matrons and Associate Matrons of the Hostess Chapters was enjoyed. Phyllis Beavers, Worthy Matron and Barbara Lust Associate Matron of Muleshoe Chapter, participated. Mrs. Beavers filled the station of Marshal in the day session and Chaplain at the Fraternal Visit of the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs.

Robbie Yates, Stratford, at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Beavers participated in the Welfare Drill and Mrs. Lust served as Chairman of the Invitation Committee.

Mary Farley, Secretary of Muleshoe Chapter, served as School Secretary. Elbert Nowell filled the office of Sentinel. Hazel Nowell assisted in the Examining Room during the afternoon and gave the response at the "Lighted Pathway" banquet in the evening. Study of the Ritual and Constitution with demonstrations, was enjoyed, by 189 members of O.E.S. from 22 Chapters. 23 Grand Officers were presented and introduced; among them, Mary Farley, member of Time and Talent Committee of Grand Chapter.

Those from Muleshoe receiving "A" Certificates of Proficiency were: Phyllis Beavers; Lavonne Hinkson; Barbara Lust; Mary Farley; Pat Johnson; Jewell Strong and Elbert and Hazel Nowell. Receiving "B" Certificates were: Mrs. Alex Williams and W.F. Creamer.

Others attending from Muleshoe: Mrs. W.F. Creamer, Bill Johnson, Glenn Lust and Spencer Beavers.

Notice-

The Muleshoe high school graduating class of 1958 is planning a reunion for December 23, to be held at the Muleshoe Country Club at 7:00 p.m.

Friends and relatives of these former students are urged to contact them about the reunion. Letters will be sent to as many as can be located.

If you have any information of these former students, please contact Mrs. Jack Dunham, Mrs. Royce Turner or Mrs. Glen Watkins.

Muleshoe Outstanding Young Women

Two Muleshoe young women have been nominated for a distinctive honor. They are Mrs. John Young and Mrs. Royce Turner, whose names were sent in by ESA sorority. Their names will appear in the 1968 edition of the biographical compilation 'Outstanding Young Women of America'. Out of the names selected for this honor one young woman will be chosen by the nonprofit Outstanding Americans Foundation, the sponsor of the program to represent each state as the Outstanding Woman of the Year.

Mrs. Esther Peterson, Assistant Secretary of Labor, says the women included in the 1967 edition are in the tradition of women who combine the best virtues -- vision, vitality, and personal strength. These young women leaders are lighting the way for more and more truly developed women of tomorrow.

The program was conceived by the leaders of the nation's women's clubs. They felt that young women who give their time for community projects should be recognized. The recognition of these outstanding young women can serve to inspire others to give their time to additional civic responsibilities.

Guide lines for selection include unselfish service to others, charitable activities, community service, professional excellence, business advancement, and civic and professional recognition.

Inquiry into the qualifications which prompted the nomination of these two young women revealed many characteristics in common. Both were called "efficient" by friends; both are reported to be devoted to their church and active workers; both were called "dependable" and "sweet."

Of Mrs. Young, a friend said, "When you ask her to do anything you can forget it, knowing it will be accomplished and done well."

The general impression is gained about both young women that they are happy homemakers, well rounded and that both have a sense of responsibility for the welfare of the community and children everywhere.

Mrs. Young is reputed to "keep a beautiful house, entertain well, be an accomplished seamstress, manages her children well and in any area where she accepts responsibility she is totally involved." As examples, a friend cited a revised yearbook Mrs. Young made for ESA, that she is currently working on a float for the Christmas parade, and spoke of original door prizes made by her for the big district workshop held in Muleshoe recently by the sorority.

Mrs. Young, "Vicki" to family and friends is the daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Flatt of Muleshoe and E.A. Flatt of Wichita Falls. She moved to Muleshoe when a sophomore and was graduated from MHS in 1958. She is married to John Young, a farmer. Mr. Young's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Young.

The Youngs are parents of four children: Robbie, nine years old, a fourth grader at Richland Hills; five year old Laurie who attends Mrs. Tate's kindergarten; four year old Denise and thirteen months old Russell.

She is a member of First Christian Church; the CWF of that church of which she is worship director; Muleshoe

Women's Golf Assoc.; Muleshoe Area Women's Service Organization; is very active in Richland Hills P-TA where she is chairman of the Family Education and Relations committee; past-president of Llano Estacado Civic Club and past-president of ESA, an international sorority, is serving as educational director for Epsilon Chi Chapter of ESA and parliamentarian of District 9 ESA. The Youngs enjoy a couples bridge club.

Mrs. Turner is a past president of Llano Estacado Civic Club and was elected outstanding member of that organization; member of Muleshoe Area Women's Service organization; member of Church of Christ where she teaches three and four year old children; is currently serving as president of Richland Hills P-TA and has just returned from the State P-TA convention in Houston; is vice-president of Pleasant Valley Social Club.

A friend spoke of her "strong sense of community" and cited her activities and interest in her own community of Pleasant Valley, where her husband farms.

The Turners have two children, Steve, a second grader at Richland Hills and Jill, who is four and a half.

"Sandy" Turner, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Briscoe of Muleshoe was born in Lubbock but attended all twelve grades in Muleshoe schools and was graduated in 1958. She attended Draughon's Business College and then worked for Texas Tech Ex-Students Association while her husband attended Texas Tech. They moved back to Muleshoe in January, 1963 and have lived here since that time.

Mrs. Derrell Oliver is a sister of Mrs. Turner and they have one brother, Joe Dan Briscoe.

Sandy calls herself an amateur artist and says she loves to work with people in any capacity. She enjoys playing bridge and sewing. Although she is naturally a retiring person, when a movement for the betterment of children needs willing workers, Sandy is there helping. Friends say "her husband is 100% behind her" in this area of her life, that they are community conscious. A dominant characteristic cited by friends of Sandy is that "she is so honest, so candid", a very sincere person.

Again sharing a characteristic, the deep love of their home and family, both young women being honored exhibit an interest in what is happening around them and a concern for the community. Those characteristics, multiplied, add up to a fine place to live and make for a better world.

Miss Harrell Bride of Lt. James Heard III

Mrs. James Richard Harrell III

The sanctuary of the First Baptist Church, Lufkin, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Bennie Sue Harrell and Second Lt. James Richard Heard III on Saturday night, November 16, 1968. Dr. Arthur De Loach, pastor First Baptist Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Harrell, 319 Hoskins St. Lufkin, Texas and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Heard of Muleshoe.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Dan Brazil, who also accompanied Mrs. Cecil Hunt, Jr. as she sang "One Hand, one Heart" and "The Greatest of These is Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected for her wedding a gown of candlelight chiffon silk featuring a high empire bodice of Aelcon Re-embroidered lace.

The neckline and bodice were high lighted with tiny seed pearls. The A-line skirt featured a re-embroidered hemline. The Chapel length train featuring a scalloped hemline of lace, fell from the back waist and was enhanced with lace appliques adorned with tiny seed pearls.

Her silk illusion, full blown, elbow length veil was held in place by pearl edged lace petals. The bride carried atop a white Bible a cascading bouquet of white bridal carnations centered with white orchid streamers of white and green tied in love knots completed the bouquet.

Mrs. Oscar Clayton, of Camden, served as matron of honor. She was attired in an emerald green gown of Elskeene featuring a high empire waistline and A-line skirt. A self-fabric rose accented the back of the gown. Her headpiece was a brief illusion veil held in place by a matching self-fabric rose. She carried a crescent bouquet of white carnations and greenery with white and green streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Ann Harrell, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Robbins of Levelland, sister of the groom. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Lynn Robbins of Levelland, niece of the groom. They were attired identical to the matron of honor and carried nosegays of white and green with white and green streamers. Miss Pamela Birdwell of Zavalla, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress and headpiece were identical to the other attendants, and she carried a basket of white flowers with flowing greenery.

Curtis Burton, of Tomball, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Oscar Clayton of Camden, Robert Robbins of Levelland, brother-in-law of the groom and Larry Robbins of Levelland, nephew of the groom, Mark Robbins of Levelland, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

Ushers were Don Ricks and Dale Frels both of Lufkin, Paul Hayes of Houston and Leo Bullock of Dallas.

Upon entering the church, the guests were registered by Mrs. Jean Burr. The church was decorated with five candelabra holding white tapers. The center candelabra was decorated with white gladiola and greenery. White bows marked the family pews. Greenery was placed at various vantage points throughout the church.

Mrs. Harrell, mother of the bride, chose an azalia silk shantung suit with matching accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Heard, mother of the groom wore a baby-blue knit suit, with matching accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Don Hearne directed the wedding.

Immediately following the ceremony the reception was held at the Hotel Angelina.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin and tulle cloth and held a cut-glass punch service. The three-tiered wedding cake was placed opposite the punch service. The bride's bouquet served as the centerpiece and was accented by two candles.

The groom's table was overlaid with a beige cloth and held a silver coffee service on one end, and a cake on the opposite end.

Alternating at the bride's table were Mrs. Don Kirton, Mrs. Don Harris, Mrs. Betty Garner, Mrs. W.O. Ricks, and Mrs. Dale Frels all of Lufkin. Also assisting were Mrs. Sherry Wolfgang of Houston, Mrs. Leo Bullock of Dallas and Mrs. Don Mc Bay of Bryan.

Serving the groom's table were Mrs. Royce Read and Miss Mary Beth Burton of Lufkin, Mrs. Paul Hayes and Mrs. Robert Lee of Houston, and Mrs. J.A. Fowler and Miss Marlaime Fowler of Nacogdoches.

The bride's book was attended by Mrs. Jean Burr of Kilgore. Out of town guests attending the wedding are as follows: Mrs. Sherry Wolfgang of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bullock of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Simms of Alvin; Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Fowler and Marlaime from Nacogdoches; Mrs. Mary Beardsley of Hurst; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Birdwell and Pamela of Zavalla; Mr. and Mrs. Jean Burr and Laura of Kilgore; Mrs. Don McBay of Bryan; Mrs. Robert M. Lee of Houston; Mrs. Morrell Gresham of Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clayton of Camden; Mrs.

WOULD GREEN BE GOOD HERE?—Mrs. Donald May ponders holiday decorations for her home which is included on the Home Tour December 8 that is sponsored by Llano Estacado Civic Club. Many beautiful addition to her decor are being planned to create a festive air for the Season.

Ruth Clapp of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Heard of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robbins, Lynn, Mark and Larry of Levelland; Mr. Curtis Burton of Tomball, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hayes of Houston. Misses Stephanie Harris of Lufkin and Laura Burr of Kilgore distributed rice bags to the guests.

Mrs. C.R. Burton, Sr. aunt of the groom, directed the reception.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip the bride was dressed in a pink and white suit with grey accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid taken from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will reside at 3132 Cache Road, Apt. 118, Lawton, Okla, where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Heard entertained their son and his bride-elect with the rehearsal dinner at Youngblood's Restaurant on November 15, 1968. Members of the wedding party attended.

On October 25, 1968 the bride-elect was honored with a linen shower given by Mrs. Royce Read and Mrs. Oscar Clayton. Mrs. W.O. Ricks Jr., Mrs.

Robert Hutson, Mrs. Fred Hutson, Mrs. Carol Campbell and Mrs. Judson Coward honored Miss Bennie Sue Harrell with a tea at the home of Mrs. Ricks on October 29, 1968. The bride-elect was presented with a silver party set by the hostesses.

Misses Mary Beth Burton and Carolyn Ann Harrell entertained Miss Bennie Sue Harrell with a rice bag party at the home of Miss Burton on November 10, 1968.

Mrs. I.W. Sowell entertained the bride-elect with a miscellaneous and recipe shower in her home on November 13, 1968.

WSCS Christmas Party Slated December 10

The circles of United Methodist Church will have a Christmas Party December 10 at two o'clock in Fellowship Hall. An interesting program has been planned by Dorcas Circle. A feature of the party will be a money tree for Rev. and Mrs. Calvin Cooper, missionaries to Brazil, the money to be used for hymnals or bibles. Gifts are to be brought for residents of Girlstown and a field trip is planned to deliver them during January or February. Items needed at the Home are lingerie, stationery, toilet articles, (particularly for hair care) knee sox, and hose.

We know that the less one knows, the easier one forms an opinion.

LARGE SUGARBEET--J.W. Crim, who farms in the Lazbuddie community, brought by this large out-of-proportion sugar beet last week. The sugar beet weighed in excess of 15 pounds and is expected to contain in excess of two pounds of sugar. The beet was grown by Max Crim on the farm the elder Crim formerly operated. This is the first year for the Crims to plant sugar beets.

Castor Bean Research In Second Season

This fall season begins the second year of state-supported research on castor problems at the High Plains Research Foundation and becomes a part of a "stepped-up" research program to find solutions facing today's High Plains farmers.

The initial program began in 1967 with a $16,000 grant from the Texas State Department of Agriculture acting on recommendations of members of the Department's Castor Committee.

Members of the committee included Don Marble, South Plains farmer; Roy Davis, Plains Coop Oil Mill, Lubbock; and Dr. Wayne Domingo, Baker Castor Oil Company of Texas.

The committee, meeting with other castor growers, decided that the number one problem was volunteer castors which followed the harvested crop. And it was for a solution to this problem that the initial grant was let.

In November of 1967, Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist, High Plains Research Foundation, conducted a study in castor fields before harvest and found as much as 275 pounds of viable castors on the ground.

"Another 86 pounds were knocked to the ground by the harvester and only two pounds per acre were passed through the combine", Langford said.

To combat the problem, Langford began a study of land preparation practices, more herbicide applications and new irrigation methods to reduce volunteer castors.

In the study on herbicides to kill castors, more than 24 agricultural companies were contacted for information available on effects of herbicides on volunteer castors.

These companies showed very little usable information on controlling castors because most herbicides are approved to kill weeds in castor crops.

Finally, Langford selected nine chemicals for use as castor control in grain sorghum and six herbicides for use in cotton.

To continue the research castor study, the Department of Agriculture, in October, announced a $30,892 grant and expanded the research to determine more efficient irrigation and fertilizer practices to increase production.

Results of the first year's study on reduction of castor volunteers was inconclusive but favorable enough to provide a basis for extended research in use of additional herbicide rates, testing new chemicals, and detailed studies on decreasing pre-harvest losses through cultural practices, such as plant spacings, fertilizers and irrigations, to reduce the disease level.

Langford said that in the 1968 program, five plant spacings from six inches to 27 inches between plants are being studied in solid and skip-row planting practices.

He said this fall, pre-harvest loss data is being compiled from 16 castor varieties and experimental in three area locations. "Through this method, we may discover varietal strains that carry a resistance to the disease causing much of the castor volunteer problem", he stated.

Dr. Tom Longnecker, Foundation Director, pointed out that castor research on production increases through cultural practices and improved varieties had been conducted at the research farm since 1956 and that these programs would not be affected by the state-supported research.

Girls' Tourney Gets Underway Today; MJHS

A basketball tournament is slated this week in Muleshoe. Beginning today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. the tournament will conclude Saturday afternoon with championship playoffs. Featured will be the seventh, eighth and ninth grade girls from Muleshoe in competition with several area schools. Other schools scheduled to play in the tournament are Olton, Lazbuddie, Dimmitt, Farwell, Amherst, Bovina and Springlake. Thursday at 2 p.m. the tournament will get underway when the ninth grade girls of Springlake and Dimmitt collide in Muleshoe Junior High School gymnasium. At 3:15 the Lazbuddie and Dimmitt eighth graders will take to the floor, followed by the seventh grade Lazbuddie and Dimmitt cagers at 4:30 p.m.

At 5:45, Muleshoe's seventh grade girls will meet Amherst; followed by the Muleshoe eighth graders at 7 p.m. versus Amherst. At 8:15, Amherst and Muleshoe ninth grade girls will meet to conclude Thursday's action.

Friday at 2 p.m. the second round of playoffs will begin and will conclude Saturday afternoon.

Lazbuddie News

By Mrs. C. A. Watson

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burnett, Laura and Bart were at Post during the past weekend visiting the Silas Short family. They also visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burnett at Plainview during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The Leon Smith Jr. family from Clovis, Tonie Allen from

Texas Tech and Mr. and Mrs. Dee Smith were Sunday guests in the Leon Smith Sr. home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clint Garlington, Muleshoe, and Sandra from WTSU visited the Charlie Watson home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. (Chunky) Olen Ivy and children from Roswell visited his parents, the Ivys, and other relatives in the area Thanksgiving. Gail Ivy from Texas Tech was home with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Olen Ivy for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harris were feted with a birthday dinner by his son and family, the James HARRISES, at the Corral Drive-In Sunday. The event was in honor of J. R. Harris on his 70th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Bessier and children were in Ft. Worth over the weekend visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin and Terry, Muleshoe, visited Sunday evening in P. E. Cargile home.

The Don McDonald family, Dwain Menefee family and Cargile family were Thanksgiving Day visitors in the Odis Elder home at Hub.

Debra Bullock was home from Austin for the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Wyle Bullock.

Mr. and Mrs. Scotty Windham and children were at Tuscola for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Seaton had visiting them Thanksgiving Day the Fred McKillips from Dekalb. Mrs. McKillip is Mrs. Seaton's sister. Also Mr. and Mrs. Seaton's daughter, Marquita and her fiance Charles Patterson from Lubbock visited in the Seaton home during the weekend. Marquita attends Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Birthday Greetings go to: Lorene Williams, Rhonda Treider, J.R. Harris, Eugene Houston, Terry Parham, Dorris Williams, Joe Fox, Thomas Ritchie, Pete Espenosa, Ruby Bruns.

Many Lazbuddie folks didn't venture for a long distant trip Thanksgiving holidays as they wanted to attend the Lazbuddie-Groom football game held at Tula Friday night. The Horns winning the game 26-6 gave them B-District and will now play Throckmorton Team at Post Friday night. I understand several fans plan to attend the game.

Charles Ramage and Larry Davis were home from Oklahoma college to visit their families and friends here during Thanksgiving.

Mrs. John Counts of Tucumcari, N.M. visited the past several days with her daughter and family the J.C. Redwines. Melinda Greggs from Kapaa Hawaii the Island of Kauai was a guest in the Frank Hinkson home during the Thanksgiving holidays. Miss Greggs is presently a student at New Mexico State University. Other visitors in the Hinkson home were Laurence Lade, Richfield, Nebraska, and Preston Hinkson, Carlo, Nebraska also former school teachers of Lazbuddie school, Mr. and Mrs. James Haynes from Dumas.

SATISFY THE PATIENT

She's a burlesque girl. She told her doctor she wanted to be vaccinated where it wouldn't show. He gave it to her in a spoon.

Preston Smith Sets Gala Inauguration

SMITH PREPARES FOR OFFICE -- Gov.-Elect Preston Smith says Harold K. Dudley, will be his top assistant and that he will beef up the Texas governor's staff dealing with federal programs.

Dudley, 44, Smith's chief campaign organizer, was manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Smith said he "will have to have some additional" staff members to work with rapidly-expanding federal-state relations issues. He revealed that Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, who is Governor Connally's Washington liaison man can stay on if he wants to (as can several other middle-echelon Connally aides), but that the Washington office must be expanded to do an effective job.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo may also be tapped for government duties in the new administration, Smith indicated—though probably not as secretary of state. He is considering "three or four" for that post.

Smith pledged to continue his "open door" policy as governor and to hold regular weekly news conferences.

COCKTAIL CLUBS--Proposed new rules for drinking clubs were shelled in public hearing by 11 bistro operators who urged different categories of regulations for a wide variety of establishments catering to the cocktail trade.

Texas Liquor Control Board took the issue under advisement and will hand down its ruling at an early date. Meanwhile, its proposed requirement that payment for mixed drinks be made in cash and strict definition of club "guests" remains under court attack.

Witnesses at hearing in the state capitol made these principal suggestions:

*That rules be geared to types of operations in 1,335 clubs over the state (344 of which are in dry areas.)

*That record-keeping requirements be kept as simple as possible.

*That they be punished only for "knowing" violations.

"There are obviously several kinds of private clubs, all trying to operate under one broad definition. Comprehensive regulations might include clear-cut definitions of the various kinds of classes of clubs. This would, of course, involve a classification system" testified Royce Chaney of Dallas, representing the Texas Lone Star Chapter Club Managers Association of America.

Other club operators suggested separation on lines of non-profit and strictly-business clubs -- or those which have relatively static membership and the rapid-turnover clubs such as those in motels and hotels.

"No matter what regulations are adopted," maintained the president of a large San Antonio club, "there will be confusion under present laws." He suggested liquor-by-the-drink legalization is the only answer. A new push for that (probably via constitutional amendment) is expected to be made in the next legislative session which starts next month.

COURTS SPEAK -- Federal judge here dismissed the suit by a Fort Hood nuclear weapon repairman to keep his commanding officer from transferring him to Fort Sill, Okla. Employee claimed his security clearance was being taken away without due process of law. Court of Criminal Appeals applied retroactively a U.S. Supreme Court decision that indigents must have legal counsel in all stages of criminal proceedings, and granted a new trial to a San Antonio man sentenced 13 years ago to life imprisonment for robbery by assault.

premise Court decision that indigents must have legal counsel in all stages of criminal proceedings, and granted a new trial to a San Antonio man sentenced 13 years ago to life imprisonment for robbery by assault.

State Supreme Court upheld an injunction against a Lubbock man for engaging in the unauthorized practice of law. Court of Civil Appeals here declined to enjoin Tarry House Inc. from operating as a private club in a Lake Austin residential area.

CANAL SYSTEM PROPOSAL--Texans and their Legislature will be asked to give approval and support to the huge $10 billion Texas Water Plan through legislation and a vote in November of 1970.

Texas Water Development Board plans to reveal details of the plan this month. It is known that it will propose two huge canal systems to carry surplus water across North Texas to the Plains, and down the Gulf Coast to the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Both canals will be federally-financed, if they prove feasible. But state money will be needed to help finance them and companion reservoirs which will be needed to meet the water needs of a Texas with 30,000,000 people in the year 2020.

Board asked a legislative study committee to endorse a proposal to increase the present $400 million water development fund bond program to a figure in the range of $2 to $3.5 billion. It said it wanted advice from legislators on how much state financing, through loans, should be put into the program, before setting a precise figure. But it did suggest that the matter be submitted to the voters for approval or disapproval at the election in November, 1970.

It also asked that the Legislature make a number of policy decisions giving the board and other state agencies the authority, and the direction, to carry out jobs of pollution control, recreation and park development, water rights control, planning and contracting for the massive job which lies ahead.

If the water is to be where it is needed in the years ahead, to allow all parts of Texas to grow and prosper, detailed planning work must be begun in 1969, the board said. The Texas Water Plan will be the biggest public works job ever undertaken, nearly four times as large as the $2.5 billion California water project now under construction.

A legislative committee headed by Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake took the request under study. It will make its recommendations to the Legislature in January.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held House committee probing amusement vending machine operators' connection with taverns is legally constituted and can issue subpoenas for witnesses.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

*Roman Catholic diocese property used for bishop's residence and containing a chapel may be exempt from property taxes.

*There are no statutory requirements for deputy constables or other deputies under the election code.

CONSTITUTIONAL REWRITE DONE -- Constitutional Revision Committee completed work and will report to Governor Connally on December 12.

Under recent changes in the proposals, homestead exemption would be limited to $25,000 for those homes acquired after the new constitution is adopted. Commission wants to allow use of general revenue funds for construction of college buildings.

It also came out for protection of personal property of heads of households and unmarried adults from forced sales.

JUVENILES' DRUG USE CAUSES CONCERN --House Committee on Juvenile Crime and Delinquency spent two of its recent public hearings listening to testimony about teenagers' use of drugs and marijuana. While the committee has been advised that this is not the main juvenile problem, you can bet it will make recommendations to the Legislature on the subject.

Jack Reville, chief of the Criminal-Law Enforcement division of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said the major problem is that the state has only 25 narcotics agents. "Eight of them are in training," says Reville, "and we need to double that to make a dent."

JURY SNUBS CHARGES--Travis County grand jury found no legal basis for action in Republican party charges that employees of the State Agriculture Department were pressured for campaign contributions.

Speaker Ben Farnes and Governor Connally address a national conference of legislative leaders in Honolulu this week. Application has been filed with the State Banking Commission for a Jetero State Bank charter at Westfield in Harris County.

State Securities Commissioner William M. King revoked the secondary trading exemptions of Industrial Instrument Corporation of Austin and American General Resources Corporation, Houston.

Grand jury called five witnesses, including a former state employee who gave the GOP a statement that he was squeezed for campaign contributions but got his money back through bogus expense accounts approved by his superiors.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said he was pleased that the jury had investigated the charges and found them "to be false."

WORLD' LARGEST -- Both UT's scope and its telescope were increased with a formal dedication at the McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis.

Built for the University with support by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation, the third and largest of the University's huge telescopes atop Mount Locke has now been dedicated. More than 200 scientists, University officials and their guests witnessed the ceremonies.

According to Dr. Harry Ransom, UT System Chancellor, the new, 107-inch telescope is expected to play an important role in investigating the atmospheres of Mars and other planets for NASA. With a lens 100 times the size of the amateur cameraman's lens, the scope is housed in a 10-story, steel and concrete domed structure high atop the 6,791-foot mountain.

Population Growth Expands Water Need

It is expected that the population in the United States will double in the next 50 years or less. It is also expected that the rate of population growth in the reclamation states will continue to exceed the national average. The present population of the Western States is in excess of 43 million and is expected to reach 108 million by the year 2000.

This population growth means that within 50 years we will need twice as much food and other farm products to maintain present consumption levels. This increasing population will also need living space and will require more schools, hospitals, churches and libraries.

Much of our present farm land, especially the more productive and level acres, are being lost to urban and other non-farm uses. It is estimated that some 700,000 acres of cropland are lost annually by soil erosion, tree planting and water logging raising the total loss to about 1.8 million acres per year. Technological developments, irrigation developments, and other sources have approximately offset these losses so that harvested cropland has remained fairly constant at about 350 million acres over the last 40 years.

Research and education can be expected to continue to improve the output from existing lands but gains will become more difficult to realize as output increases. Water to develop the West and enrich the nation is needed now. Further development of the economy in the Pacific Southwest depends upon developing new sources of water.

The Senate Select Committee on National Water Resources in its report on the Future up from 1968 when the average was 529 pounds.

Officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service report that individual farm allotments and projected yields will be mailed to farmers about November 27.

Bailey County has a 1969 allotment of 96,283 acres, up 58 acres over the 1968 allotment of 96,225.

Needs for Reclamation in the Western States bears out that statement. The Select Committee made it clear that the increasing needs for food and fiber and for new economic opportunities eventually would require the greatest practical acreage of land in the West that can be reasonably and economically irrigated.

If problems attendant to full efficient utilization of the water resources of the West can be solved, additional reclamation in the West can provide food and fiber for 25 million people through the development of 230,000 family size farms. These could support an on-farm population of 800,000 and a local non-farm population of 2.4 million. This would increase Federal revenue collection by about $900 million annually according to the findings of the Senate Select Committee.

The water crisis in the West is a problem of serious implications and it is expected to grow worse even with the existing and proposed Federal developments which will help but not solve the water shortage problem. It, therefore, becomes imperative that new sources of water supply for the arid and semi-arid West be explored at an early date.

We at Water, Inc. believe the surplus water of the Mississippi will furnish the most practical new sources of water for West Texas and New Mexico. Our efforts are devoted to developments of this source.

Honored On Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa -- Technical Sergeant Bobby J. Whitlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitlock of Ropesville, has been named Outstanding Noncommissioned Officer of the Quarter in his unit at Naha AB, Okinawa.

Sergeant Whitlock, a flight engineer, was selected for his leadership, exemplary conduct and duty performance.

The sergeant, a graduate of Ropes High School, attended the University of Omaha (Neb.) His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Mrs. John Packer of Lincoln, Neb.

Freedom is a gift from the past but it is not at all certain that it will be a legacy to the future.

If there were more followers and fewer sorry leaders, the human race would make greater progress.

The biggest and toughest question to arise out of USDA's recent announcement of next year's cotton program is: "How much cotton will the U.S. produce in 1969?"

The question is big because the answer will have a significant influence on such things as cotton prices, adequacy of cotton supplies, volume of cotton consumption in the U.S., and exports.

It is tough to answer because the 1969 program leaves producers completely free to choose between planting anywhere from 58.5 per cent to 100 per cent of their cotton allotments. It neither encourages nor discourages plantings above the minimum level.

The only payment included in the program is the price support payment of 14.73 cents per pound on projected yield from the domestic portion (65 per cent) of allotments. To get this payment from the full 65 per cent, producers are required to plant only 90 per cent of their domestic allotments, which figures 58.5 per cent of full allotments. Hence the 58.5 per cent minimum.

Production from the acreage planted between 65 per cent and 100 per cent of allotments will get no payment but will be eligible for the government loan of 20.25 cents per pound, basis Midling-inch, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire at average location.

There will be no payment for acreage that is diverted, no penalty for acreage not diverted. The choice is strictly up to farmers.

The national allotment is 16.2 million acres, of which about one million is taken out by land in Cropland Adjustment, Cropland Reserve, Etc., leaving 15.2 million acres available for planting. Producers conceivably could plant that full acreage to drop as low as about 8.9 million acres, 58.5 per cent of the total.

On the Plains the allotment for the 23 cotton producing counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is almost 2.2 million acres, of which about 100,000 is idled by land retirement programs. The possibilities here then range from 2.1 million acres in cotton down to 1.2 million acres.

Obviously the final outcome will be somewhere in between these extremes as each individual farmer takes into account the conditions peculiar to his particular operation.

Among the factors that will have to be considered are the availability of land and water, profitability of alternate crops, expected market conditions at harvest time in 1969, and many others, with perhaps the heaviest influence being exerted by weather conditions in the Spring.

Weldon Gregg, farmer and seed breeder of Plainview, believes that with a few exceptions farmers on the Plains will plant 100 per cent of allotments in late April or early May. If they're lucky and get a good stand that grows off well with good moisture conditions, they'll leave the full acreage in cotton, he thinks. But if they lose a part of their acreage to cold weather, wind, hail or other bad weather, they'll revert to some other crop if there's a reasonable

Fire, Unlimited

Burning trash in his back yard, Harold took note of the fact that the grass was dry and the breeze was blowing. So when the fire had died down, he stomped around the edges and scuffed up the embers with his toe.

But, though Harold didn't know it, the fire smoldered on. During the evening it spread to a neighbor's garage and burned it down.

And in due course the neighbor filed suit for damages.

"But I really did try to put the fire out," Harold protested at the trial.

Nevertheless the court held him liable, blaming him for not taking greater precautions—such as throwing dirt or water on the embers to make sure they were out.

"Always and everywhere since the beginning of civilization," said one judge, "fire has been regarded as a dangerous as well as a beneficent agency, to be handled with care."

That doesn't mean the person who starts a fire is automatically liable for everything that goes amiss.

Thus a farmer who was tending a brush fire—with every reasonable safeguard—was held not liable when a sudden, ferocious wind spread the flames to his neighbor's land. Pointing out that the farmer had done nothing wrong, the court said he could not fairly be blamed for an "act of God."

But once a person has been negligent with fire, then his legal responsibility may be far-reaching indeed. He may have to pay not only for property damage but also for personal injury or death to persons trapped by the fire's spread.

He may even be liable to someone who, while not in danger at first, got hurt rescuing those who were.

Sparks negligently emitted from a passing locomotive set fire to a house in which children were asleep. Their mother, outside the house, rushed in and managed to beat out the flames.

For the burns she suffered, the railroad was later held liable. The court said that, if railroad employees had given proper thought to the spark danger, they could have foreseen not only that a house might be set afire and its occupants jeopardized but also that a rescuer might get hurt too. Said one judge: "Danger invites rescue. The wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim; it is a wrong also to his rescuer."

Nixon's Balance

Despite the somewhat deceiving news that in the third quarter of 1968 the United States managed a surplus in its grim balance of international payments struggle, one of the most difficult and serious tasks faced by President-elect Richard Nixon is getting the annual balance of payments into the black.

In recent years, as the nation financed the costly Vietnam war, the LBJ Administration adopted various temporary techniques to help stop the outward flow of dollars and gold. The Defense Department has been required to buy goods produced in the United States even when it can buy the same products much cheaper elsewhere.

We raised short-term interest rates to help attract foreigners and tried to keep long-term rates low to make it easier to finance the federal deficit. As long-term securities from foreign countries flooded in, we imposed a tax on this better-yielding paper.

We "temporarily" reduced allowances of American tourists. This limitation has now become permanent and tightened, just as have some of the other taxes and interest manipulations imposed to help in the balance of payments fight.

All these administrative policies have been designed as temporary alleviations of a chronic balance of payments deficit but the deficit is still very much with us.

The President-elect must effect rather quickly basic remedies rather than administrative expedients, to build a healthy trade surplus again (the traditional U.S. surplus has been shrinking steadily because of inflation) and reduce the outflow of U.S. dollars and gold. Only through such basic changes can the economic health of the nation, and the stability of the dollar, be assured.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm talks about, or around the world's monetary system this week.

I was telling my wife the reason I was in town instead of being out here plowing was that a man hijacked my tractor and made me drive him in, but seeing I wasn't making any headway with this line of diplomacy I left the house and went out to the barn where I could read my newspaper in peace and quiet. It seems to me more reasonable that a man would force you to drive him to Muleshoe than Cuba. You notice I didn't say Lubbock.

The big headline in the paper reported that France was facing a crisis over money problems and DeGaulle was telling everybody not to panic. And not long ago, England was trying not to panic over trouble with its money, and shortly after that all the world's governments were worrying themselves sick about the price of gold.

You know, it's a funny thing about governments. Let them run a little short of cash and they begin to panic. If you and me panicked every time we ran low on money, along with everybody else, the organized world would have collapsed years ago.

If President DeGaulle or Prime Minister Wilson would come out here and examine the operating cash and financial structure of this Johnson grass farm they'd go back home and declare a national holiday for celebrating how well off they are.

Personally, I've never understood the monetary system, and haven't found anybody else who does. Oh, some experts claim they understand it, but they don't let on what it is they understand.

I don't understand, for example, why people would swap French francs for American dollars, or vice versa, or English pounds for Italian lire, or all of it for gold, when some scientist who ought to know better may come out tomorrow with a formula to mass produce gold by the millions of tons and throw the whole system into a tailspin, with Fort Knox left as nothing but a place to smoke sausage in.

There was one French woman I read about however who understands the monetary system. On hearing that the franc was in trouble, she grabbed a handful of her husband's money and rushed out to put it into something stable. She bought a fur coat.

Yours faithfully

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Nixon's Chance— Looking To 1972— Party Building— The Election System—

Washington, D.C.—Richard Nixon has an excellent chance to rebuild the Republican Party, and its image among minority groups, and to become an eight-year President—if he can accomplish three major goals.

First, he must avoid the trap of international war and ease the nation out of its Vietnamese dilemma honorably. That might take some doing but the task seems more attainable now than it did a year ago.

Second, he must convince most Americans he is trying to be a fair, just President and that he is not the tool of big business, big money or the so-called "entrenched interests."

The second task is vital because the Republican Party has been pictured, and to a degree has been, the party of big business in the past. In more recent years the Democratic Party has attracted to its ranks most Catholics, Negroes, Jews and a majority of certain other minorities on this rallying cry.

Nixon's record doesn't justify rejection by these minorities, though he has never forgotten the majority and has spoken out clearly for law and order against militants and extremists. Even such liberal voices as the New York Times has predicted since the election that Nixon might win back some of the Negro and minority vote for his party.

Third, President-elect Nixon must demonstrate to voters that he can run a responsible economic ship, and do that while maintaining prosperity. He undertakes this task at a crucial moment, facing major obstacles. For example, if expenditures for Vietnam aren't curbed soon, a gold crisis and a dollar crisis may engulf Washington and all the world. He must avoid this and also a recession—which would hurt his and his party's image after many years of good business under the Democrats.

Four years is not much time in which to accomplish these goals, for many expenditures are obligated over long terms. Nixon knows he will probably face Senator Ted Kennedy in 1972, and that the Kennedy name has an appeal to many. If he can realize these goals however, he'll stand a good chance of being reelected, for he will have brought the country out of a war and maintained prosperity—the successful Eisenhower formula.

There is a possibility that he will run for reelection under a different election law, too, in 1972, and that will tend to help him—for if he has done a reasonably good job fence-sitters will hesitate to throw him out. He would have won the 1968 election, of course, either by electoral or popular vote count.

NEWS NOTES

PLANE COST UP

The Pentagon has estimated it will have to pay $1.2 billion more than it had expected for the first 120 C5A cargo planes which are to be used as the backbone of Air Force airlift planning in the next ten years.

A WATER PROBLEM

President Johnson, in an urgent message to Congress, said that Americans within the next 50 years or so will be using more water than nature can provide. He urged Congress to give top priority to the problems of drought, floods and pollution.

ON DMZ FIRINGS

The United States has warned North Vietnam that continued violations of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Vietnam could wreck the Paris peace talks. The warning was made by U.S. representatives in Paris.

ON EMPLOYMENT

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported that the nation's nonfarm employment increased moderately in October. The Government added that the over-all unemployment rate remained at September's 3.6 per cent level.

BAYH ON ELECTION

Senator Birch Bayh, chairman of the Senate Constitution Amendments Subcommittee told a news conference that in his judgement the popular election of the President was the only plan that was going to capture the imagination of the people to stand a chance of adoption.

CUT IN FB-111

The Pentagon has announced it is considering reducing to 90 from 253, the planned production of the FB-111, the Air Force's newest bomber. The reduction was under consideration, as a means of reducing the defense budget for the year starting next July 1st.

ARMY MAKES CUTS

Pentagon officials have announced that 30 basic combat training companies (BCT's) will be eliminated at Ft. Bliss, Tex., one of the Army's 16 training bases, by January. This marks the second cutback in the Army in recent weeks, and the last cutback considered at this time.

Money, Money, Everywhere

BY PAUL HARVEY

The British pound is worth less. The French franc is worth less. The American dollar is shrinking 4 cents a year.

West Germany's money is stable. The West German mark, despite that nation's booming economy, is now one of the most stable and most wanted currencies in the world. How come?

West Germans spend almost nothing outside their country, and inside their country they are frugal, hard working, expect nothing for nothing.

I know that is a "simple" explanation; I meant it to be. The international money market involves such complex considerations that we ordinary people are frequently told to leave such matters to the international bankers and money brokers.

We are told just to sit quiet and tend to business and if our dollars shrink they're "sorry about that" but "inflation is inevitable in wartime."

That explanation is not only overly simple; it's simply not true.

Though Britain and France may have depleted their resources with past wars, most of the extravagant overspending by those governments in recent years was on lavish domestic "welfare" intended to buy peace (and votes) on the home front.

Nor does the U.S. involvement in Vietnam deserve all the blame for the accelerating erosion of our currency. Our social-welfare spending in eight years has increased from $52.3 billion to $112.4 billion—a $13 billion increase this past year alone. Vietnam spending at its peak was $28.2 billion.

If the war in Vietnam should end tomorrow, and all American forces were withdrawn from that country, most of the multibillion-dollar annual cost of "protecting our friends" would continue.

Understand, American troops stationed in other countries amount to a real dollar bonanza for those countries! Where they may harvest only a few million dollars from itinerant American tourists, they benefit from billions spent by our government civilians and servicemen permanently stationed overseas.

The estimated annual cost of maintaining military forces to protect just the NATO nations is $12 billion a year.

So long as most such countries can encourage us to stay, they will.

Indeed, it is an understandable temptation for our "allies" to manufacture crises in order to encourage American troops to stay and spend and spend.

Presently under consideration by President-elect Nixon's advisers is a plan to bring most American troops home while continuing to provide an umbrella of protection for Europe.

With modern transportation what it is, there is no longer any justification for keeping masses of foot soldiers on foreign soil.

Air transport for whole armies to any place in the world now can be accomplished within hours.

Such international organizations as NATO should be advised that they must provide all border guardsmen for their respective countries.

We should continue to backstop those nations against aggression with an airborne expeditionary force. But until needed, we should keep those troops—and the billions of dollars necessary to maintain them—at home.

Muleshoe Area To Be Honored On Special Day

Fort Worth (Sp) The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce has been invited to select a "Special Day" to be honored by the 1969 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, January 26 through February 2.

"Special Days" are our way of showing appreciation to communities and people of Texas and Oklahoma for helping make the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo one of the world outstanding," said W.R. Watt, president-manager of the show. It's a long standing tradition which has created many close friendships for the Fort Worth Stock Show, Watt commented.

The special invitation includes a reservation for a block of rodeo tickets to be sold locally. The seats are in a block to enable all residents to sit together for their spotlighted introduction at the Rodeo. A local riding club may go with the "Special Day" delegation and ride in the Rodeo Grand Entry and a Cowgirl Sweetheart can be selected to ride in the Grand Entry and be introduced during the "Special Day" rodeo performance.

Popular Fess Parker, television's "Daniel Boone" will be guest star of the 1969 Fort Worth Rodeo. Parker now into his fifth year of the NBC-TV series will be accompanied by the New Establishment musical group. In addition a number of outstanding specialty acts have been signed for the '69 Rodeo including Elaine Kramer's six horse Roman Ride and a spectacular performance by Jerry Olson and his trained buffalo.

Rodeo fans will see plenty of action as over 450 of the nation's top cowboys compete for a rodeo purse of $75,000 on some of the world's roughest bucking stock.

Doors open on the 73rd Fort Worth Stock Show at 4 p.m., Friday, January 24. Livestock entries for cattle, horses, sheep and swine close December 15, 1968. Poultry, rabbit and pigeon entries close January 15, 1969.

Daniel Boone Never Drove--

BUNA -- It's not unusual for a hunter to lose his bearings on the 19,247 acre Devil's Pocket Wildlife Management Area while participating in the public squirrel hunt. The lost ones usually find their way back to civilization.

During the recent three-day hunt on the Area, one hunter made it back to civilization okay, but his car didn't.

It took quite a bit of searching, but the car was finally found by late evening, not surprisingly, right where the hunter had left it.

"Well," he said meekly, "I never claimed to be a Daniel Boone."

High Quality Cotton More Than Luck

Dry, high quality cotton at harvesting time is more than luck.

According to B.G. Reeves, Extension agricultural engineer with Texas A&M University, cotton should not be harvested with a moisture content of more than eight percent because extra cleaning and drying in ginning can lower the value.

Cotton should not be harvested before dew had dried from the lint. This means producers should usually wait until about 9:30 a.m. before getting into their fields. At about 6 p.m. the lint moisture will begin to rise and stripping or picking should be delayed until the next day, the cotton ginning and mechanization specialist points out.

"Even on the smallest farms a hygrometer can be important in preserving the quality of the product. For about $15 a cotton producer can get a hygrometer and set it in the field on a stake to observe the relative humidity," Reeves continues.

The instrument, set at about boll height, will give the humidity in the field and will usually correlate directly with the moisture content of the lint in open bolls. Within a humidity range of 60 percent or less, fiber moisture will be eight percent or less, he says.

Taking the reading at boll height in the field is necessary because factors such as wind direction, wind velocity, soil moisture level, stalk size and condition of the cotton itself govern the humidity level in the field and in the fiber moisture.

A good rule to follow is to harvest the cotton as soon after the bolls have opened as possible when recommended conditions exist. Prolonged exposure to excessive moisture can cause cotton fiber to lose strength and gray coloring can develop, Reeves concludes.

Dear Santa,
This year I would like a walking doll, some dishes, and some new boots, and what ever you want to bring me. I will be looking for you, Christmas Eve. I have been real good this year - Don't forget. . . .

SHE LIKES TO READ--Renae Ruthardt, age eight, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ruthardt, was one of the winners in the Summer Reading Program of Muleshoe Area Public Library, with a total of 80 books. She is in Mrs. Henderson's third grade room at Mary DeShazo School.

A GOOD FOUNDATION--Brad Baker, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacque Baker, has demonstrated already that he will know and appreciate the wealth of material contained in good books. He read 100 books during the summer to qualify for recognition in the Gold Buckle awards. He is a third grade student in Mrs. Peugh's room at Richland Hills School.

ENJOYS READING--Gary Davis, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis read a total of 51 books last summer to earn the Gold Buckle certificate. He is in Mrs. Killingsworth's fifth grade room at Mary DeShazo School.

JUNIOR HIGH BEST READER--Craig Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacque Baker, was declared the top man in Texas Readers Club in Junior High school for 1968 at a ceremony November 25 in the school library. He was presented with the Gold Buckle Award.

Water Return Aids Area

What has more influence on High Plains agriculture than irrigation?

In fact, more and more people, agencies, industry and every segment of area economy have taken note that there is a necessity for good irrigation utilization - for the welfare of all.

With an economy geared to agriculture, and an agriculture geared to irrigation, it behooves us to take a long, hard look at the several aspects of irrigation.

One of the foremost ways of prolonging the water supply for you-and for myself and our neighbors - is to get maximum benefit from all our available water.

The proper use of playa lake or tailwater run-off water is a mighty good place to start in prolonging the life of our agriculture economy.

As of 1960, tailwater, pit and lake recovery systems were a rarity in High Plains Counties.

In 1963 the High Plains Water Conservation District began an intensive water management study to determine the actual amount of water each well would contribute to tailwater, also to see how much silt and fertilizer was being lost.

Nor only has your Water District been instrumental in bringing about ways and means of water conservation on the High Plains of Texas, but a lot of folks have recognized the sheer necessity of turning to playa lakes and tailwater as a valuable supply of water as the water table in the Ogallala Formation constantly declines.

The thousands of playa lakes on the High Plains collect about 1 1/2 million acre-feet of water in years of average rainfall, one study revealed.

Proper use of this water, together with tailwater, provides a bonus that cannot be overlooked.

Listed below are some answers found in the intensive studies of the District on tailwater pit and lake recovery systems. It is the hope of the District personnel that this compiled information will be enlightening regarding water conservation. We invite you to join those that are taking advantage of the God-given water resources - with full emphasis on their conservation.

STUDY FINDINGS

Lubbock County
143 lake systems; 13 return systems. 9,782 acre feet of lake water recovered at value of $391,280, annually. PITS: 7,280 tons of silt kept on the land, and 1,040 acre feet of water recovered. Tailwater value alone: $41,600; nitrogen, 31,200 pounds; value of nitrogen: $2,028, plus 150,800 pounds of calcium, and 195,520 pounds of magnesium.

Deaf Smith County
179 return systems, 91 lake

systems, 9,100 acre-feet of lake water at value of $364,000. PITS: 100,240 tons of silt kept on the land annually; plus 14,320 acre-feet of tailwater valued at $572,800. Nitrogen: 429,600 pounds valued at $27,324; plus 2,076,400 pounds of calcium, and 2,692,160 pounds of magnesium.

Parmer County
186 tailwater pits, 121 lake systems. 12,100 acre-feet of lake water at value of $484,000. PITS: 104,160 tons of silt; 14,880 acre-feet of tailwater with $595,200 value; 446,440 pounds of nitrogen for $29,016; 2,157,600 pounds of calcium; and 2,797,440 pounds of magnesium.

Bailey County
4 lake systems, 8 return systems. 268 acre-feet of lake water at value of $10,720. PITS: 4,480 tons of silt; 640 acre-feet of water at $25,600; 19,200 pounds of nitrogen for $1,284; 92,800 pounds calcium; and 120,320 pounds of magnesium.

Floyd County
159 lake systems and 73 tailwater pits. 10,653 acre-feet of lake water valued at $426,120. PITS: 40,880 tons of silt retained; and 5,840 acre-feet of tailwater with value of $233,606. Nitrogen, 175,200 pounds valued at $11,288; 846,800 pounds calcium, and 1,097,910 pounds magnesium.

Castro County
140 lake systems and 135 return systems. 14,000 acre-feet of lake water valued at $560,000. PITS: 75,600 tons of silt; 10,800 acre-feet of tailwater with value of $432,000; 324,000 pounds of nitrogen at $21,060; 1,566,000 pounds of calcium; and 2,630,400 pounds of magnesium.

The High Plains Water District No. 1 is glad to assist in YOUR water recovery system, giving you benefit of the many man-hours of study it has conducted, and spelling out benefits in hard dollars and cents. The findings spelled out in the brief paragraphs above indicate that water utilization is more than a "fringe benefit"-- it is a very real part of a good and necessary over-all water use plan.

Additional and more detailed information on the subject can be obtained from your Water District office, 1628 15th St., in Lubbock. We are glad to join with every one of you in conscientious efforts to solve the problems of irrigation tailwater losses and its recovery.

He'll Know
As a small boy was preparing for his first day at school his pleasure in his new lunch box was being spoiled by concern that he would not be able to identify it. His mother had carefully printed his name on the box, but of course, as yet, he could not read. Suddenly his face lighted up as he exclaimed: "Oh, I won't be using my lunch box until noon, and by then I'll know how to read!"

Fall Hunting Season

Fall bird hunting seasons are as follows:

QUAIL SEASON - Bailey County opened November 9, 1968 and closes January 31. Daily bag limit is 12, possession limit is 36. Lamb County opened December 1, 1968 and closes December 20. Daily bag and possession limits are the same as Bailey County.

THREE WAY SCHOOL Flying Eagles

By Junior Class

The Three-Way Junior High Girls and Boys Basketball team played Lazbuddie Monday, November 18, 1968. The girls won and the boys lost. But the boys are still fighting.

The Three-Way Future Farmers of America are having a fruit sale. The price is $4.95 a crate, less than 12 1/2 cents a pound. The deadline for the December sale is December 2 and the fruit will be back for delivery December 9. There will be another fruit sale in January.

The Three-Way Future Homemakers of America had their Thanksgiving supper Monday, November 25, 1968. The play afterward was very successful and will be given again for the Three-Way school Wednesday November 27. We would like to thank everyone that came to the supper.

The Three-Way High School basketball teams played Bovina, Tuesday, November 26, 1968. The "B" team boys of Three-Way won by a score of 36 to 18. The "A" team boys won by a score of 88 to 30. The Three-Way girls lost by a score of 30-21.

The Three-Way Baptist Church will have a Thanksgiving program, Wednesday, November 27, 1968 at 7:30 p.m. The theme will be the Battle Hymn of the Republic sung by the church choir.

Rudy Nava Is Sad News For Viet Cong

AN HOA, VIETNAM.--It was a sad day for enemy soldiers who started a fire fight with a squad of Leathernecks.

As elements of "M" Co., 3rd Bn., Fifth Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division swept toward a treeline, an estimated platoon of North Vietnamese (NVA) soldiers took them under fire.

As B--40 rockers whirred toward the Leathernecks, Lance Cpl. Rudy Nava 18, Wilson, and his assistant, moved their machinegun into position.

Nava silenced the enemy rocket launcher with a burst of automatic fire as the previously fired missiles exploded harmlessly in front of the Marines.

Shortly thereafter, the Leathernecks opened up with mortars and the enemy began breaking contact.

"It was ridiculous," recalled Nava. "It was almost as if they didn't even expect we'd return fire. Once we did, they didn't want any part of the battle."

While the enemy retreated, four more NVA were killed. There were no Marine casualties.

Dogies Downed By Eight Grade B-Ball Team

by Chuck Smith

Muleshoe's eighth grade football boys opened their 1968-69 basketball season in Hereford. A free shot by Charles Ray Young opened the game. From that point, Muleshoe dominated the game, with the most points made by C.R. Young and Eugene Clemmons.

Charles Ray also led in the rebound department. Other scores were made by James Slaughter, David Faver, Roger Williams and Steve Wright.

Starting line-up for the Mules was Roger Williams, top; Chuck Clemmons and David Faver, wings; Charles Young and James Slaughter at post position.

The Mules came home with a roaring victory over the Hereford Dogies 32-27.

The problems of agriculture cannot be successfully settled by conferences around a desk.
