City asks citizens to save water

The City of Clarendon is asking citizens to help meet a 30 percent reduction in water usage as the Greenbelt Reservoir nears a Stage Four drought condition.

As the ENTERPRISE went to press Tuesday night, the Board of Aldermen were preparing to meeting to discuss adoption of an ordinance to include provisions for mandatory water use restrictions as well as setting penalties for those who do not comply with the law. Any action on that item will be posted on ClarendonLive.com and reported in next week's print edition.

City Administrator Lambert Little told the ENTERPRISE that preserving the city's drinking water had to be a priority for all citizens.

"This is a critical time for the City of Clarendon and all Greenbelt water users," Little said.

"I am certain that the citizens appreciate the seriousness of our water shortage. I know that all citizens will do their parts to achieve a 30 percent reduction of water use without the imposition of harsh penalties."

Renee Betts at Greenbelt Municipal & Industrial Water

Authority said the reservoir was at a depth of 48.91 feet on Tuesday morning, less than one foot away from Stage Four and dropping.

"Everyone needs to conserve water anywhere they can," Betts said. "Quit watering the street would be a good start."

City Hall had several recommendations for reducing water usage that were going before the Aldermen Tuesday night:

1. Limit outside watering to twice-a-week and then only before 10 a.m. and after 7 p.m. Residential customers with odd-numbered street addresses should water on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Even-numbered addresses should water on Thursdays and Sundays, and commercial customers should water on Tuesdays and Fridays.

2. Limit washing motor vehicles, motorbikes, boats, and other vehicles at home to before 10 a.m. or after 7 p.m. on your designated watering day, and then use a bucket and/or hand-held hose with a shut-off nozzle. Commercial car washes are excepted.

3. Avoid filling swimming pools except during the above hours.

4. Avoid operating ornamental fountains unless necessary to support aquatic life or if equipped with a recirculation system.

5. Do not water-wash driveways, sidewalks, or other hard-surfaced areas. Do not wash down buildings or structures except for immediate fire protection.

6. Repair all leaks as soon as possible, and report any leaks or unauthorized usage to City Hall. Night and weekend emergency leaks should be reported to the Donley County Sheriff's Office at 806-874-3533.

Burglar caught Sunday morning

An Oklahoma City man was arrested Sunday after he burglarized a rural Donley County home.

Mike Robert Spence, age 57, reportedly broke into the home of Dan Hall on FM 1260 before noon when a family member returned. Sheriff Butch Blackburn said Hall's daughter saw a white man run out of the house, carrying a backpack. She dialed 911 and reported that the man ran east through some trees.

Blackburn, who lives nearby, said he went through what was formerly County Road 16 and caught the subject as he arrived at a white 4-door Ford pickup. The sheriff arrested Spence and recovered all the stolen property, which included cameras, cookies, and cash.

The pickup also was reported stolen out of Amarillo.

Spence was awaiting arraignment Monday morning on charges of Burglary of a Habitation and Unauthorized Use of a Motor Vehicle.

Blackburn said Spence is wanted in Oklahoma and California and has a lengthy criminal history consisting of mostly theft and burglary charges.

Sheriff Blackburn reports quiet Fourth

Donley County Sheriff Butch Blackburn is expressing his appreciation to local citizens this week for helping to keep the recent holiday safe.

Blackburn said this was the quietest July Fourth his office has ever had, and he particularly thanks people for obeying the fireworks ban.

"We had only two fireworks calls," the sheriff said. "One turned out to be nothing, and the other we issued citations to two people."

Hedley Post Office may face closure

The future of the Hedley Post Office will be the topic of a public meeting next Wednesday, July 20, and many folks are already planning to voice their concerns to postal officials.

Letters dated July 6, 2011, were sent to Hedley postal customers informing them of possible changes in the way they receive mail services and requesting their opinions of those changes. The letter said the US Postal Service would like to provide service in Hedley through rural route services coming from the Memphis Post Office.

Hedley residents are overwhelmingly opposed to any effort to shutter their post office, and many people, like Mary Ruth White, say they believe the USPS is misinformed about how much business goes through the local office.

"Some folks think they haven't done enough research," White said. "The school, for example, does a lot of business with them."

Jedco Leather owner John Dickson agrees with White that the post office needs to consider how closure of the post office will affect local businesses.

"I ship all my goods exclusively through the post office," Dickson said. "I send stuff to all 50 states, and there are other businesses in Hedley - people working from home - who also depend on the post office. A rural carrier can't provide these services. Hedley needs this post office real bad."

Pat White at Hedley Independent School District said she mails things every day, many of which require going to the post office.

"I have to send registered letters and big boxes, and I will have to drive to either Memphis or Clarendon during the day to do this,"

Pat White said. "I think it will hurt our school and definitely hurt a lot of elderly people. Even if it was open half a day, it would be better than closing it."

Residents also said they did not believe that their post office should be shut down if Estelle, Lakeview, Quail, and other smaller post offices remain open.

Hedley folks also bristled at the idea of the USPS recommending they drive to Lakeview for retail postal services. The letter claimed Lakeview is 11.0 miles away, but to drive from Hedley to Lakeview is over 20 miles.

"Apparently, they don't know where Lakeview is," Dickson said.

USPS spokesman Sam Bolen said the service understands there was an error in the letter and said it should have suggested Memphis or Clarendon instead of Memphis or Lakeview.

"We are just currently gathering data for an initial proposal," Bolen said, noting that comments from next Wednesday's meeting will be used to formulate when considering the post office's fate. He said the Hedley Post Office currently has 280 boxes but only about half of them are rented.

Bolen said, in addition to rural carrier service, the USPS would consider expanded access through a local store or some kind of central delivery point as possible alternatives to maintaining the local post office.

According to a USPS press release, the Postal Service lost $8.5 billion in fiscal year 2010 (Oct. 1, 2010 to Sept. 30, 2010) - that equates to losing more than $23 million every single day of the year. Mail volume has declined by 43.1 billion pieces in the past five years -

Live entertainment will be provided, and everyone is invited to bring a friend and bring a dish for potluck.

CEDC awards eleventh improvement grant

The Clarendon Economic Development Corporation Board awarded its eleventh cash award under its Façade Grant Program this week.

The most recent award from the CEDC was for improvements to the building now occupied by Ronna's Creations at 315 S. Kearney, and the total awarded was $685.65.

Property owner San Thompson had previously received a façade grant for a building next door and was therefore aware of the program when he began the process of constructing a new awning and repainting last December.

"I think anyone who doesn't take advantage of [the façade grant program] is crazy," Thompson said. "You improve your building, the CEDC pays for half of it, and it makes a better place for the merchant."

Ronna Newman, who rents Thompson's building for the boutique she has operated since December, says she thinks the improvements have helped the building.

"It looks good and makes it stand out," Newman said.

The CEDC has budgeted $10,000 for this fiscal year's Façade Grant Program, which provides fifty-fifty matching grants up to a maximum of $2,000 per project for properties on a three-block stretch of Kearney Street. Projects eligible for consideration could be anything from a coat of paint to new signage to a complete rehabilitation of a storefront.

This fiscal year ends September 30, 2011, and the CEDC Board may consider changes to the program before renewing it for next year.

Those interested in the grants are asked to apply prior to beginning a project, and applications are available from CEDC Secretary Roger Estlack at The Clarendon Enterprise.

Since the Façade Grant Program began in 2008, the CEDC has awarded $11,099.80.

Certification deadline near

Donley County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Bruce Ferguson, reminds producers that the annual crop certification deadline for spring-seeded crops is July 15, 2011.

Producers who file accurate and timely reports for all crops and land uses, including failed acreage can prevent the potential loss of FSA program benefits.

"I encourage all producers to visit the Donley County FSA office to file an accurate crop certification report by the July 15 deadline in order to comply with FSA program eligibility requirements," said Ferguson.

Considering the current drought situation in Texas, producers are also reminded to report crop losses insured through Federal Crop Insurance and the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) within 15 days of the disaster or after the loss is apparent.

For questions, contact the local FSA office at 874-3561

Voice support for Hedley's Post Office

Donley County residents need to pull together to help the community of Hedley save an important resource to the town — its post office.

The Hedley Post Office has been without a full-time postmaster since last August, and now its customers have been notified that the US Postal Service would like to close up shop there in favor of a rural carrier system. Retail postal services would be available only in Clarendon or Memphis, and the folks in Hedley are not happy about the idea.

Postal customers will get their chance to voice their concerns in a public meeting with postal representatives next Wednesday, July 20, 2011, at 4:30 p.m. at the Hedley Baptist Fellowship Hall, located at 310 N Main, and every interested party needs to be there.

The Hedley school and local businesses depend on the post office for many day-to-day functions, and other local government functions and senior citizens would also be harmed by the shuttering of the post office. With no local post office, life will become a little more inconvenient for the folks in Hedley. Imagine a half-hour round trip just to mail a package. There are also delivery considerations that need to be looked at. For example, when will folks in Hedley get their Clarendon Enterprise each week?

There are huge forces at play here. According to a USPS press release: "The Postal Service lost $8.5 billion in fiscal year 2010 (Oct. 1, 2010 to Sept. 30, 2010) — that equates to losing more than $23 million every single day of the year. Mail volume has declined by 43.1 billion pieces in the past five years — from an all-time high of 213 billion in 2006 to 170 billion in 2010." USPS says it is doing "everything possible to reduce costs and save money — this will involve consolidating operations wherever possible."

By its own admission, the United States Postal Service is in trouble, and rural America is going to take a hit in any attempt to retool the system for the 21st century. Other area post offices have less business than Hedley and may face closure. Right now it is Hedley's post office on the chopping block. One has to wonder if trends continue how long it will be before Clarendon or Claude or Memphis is faced with something similar. We may not lose retail postal services completely here, but it is foreseeable that the day may come when the post office contracts with a private business for these services.

There is a real fear that the postal service in America is headed for obsolescence. More and more people prefer to use e-mail and web-based communications for everything from personal correspondence to paying their bills. Every postage increase drives more business away from the post office, and shuttering rural post offices, in addition to making rural life harder, will likewise force people to look at alternatives. In 10 years, the Post Office as we know it today may be extinct, killed by a combination of apathy, technology, and poor management.

But that certainly does not mean that rural America should just sit by and watch it happen. In fact, now more than ever, it is time to stand up and be counted and let USPS officials know exactly how integral post offices are to rural life.

Max Heath, Postal Chairman for the National Newspaper Association and a friend of your humble editor, has some advice for saving rural post offices that we all need to pay attention to:

1. Provide written comments within the proper time frame, keeping them factual rather than emotional. Remind decision makers that the proposed rules require USPS to "provide a maximum degree of effective and regular postal services to rural areas, communities, and small towns where post offices are not self-sustaining."

2. Be sure local businesses are involved and make their voice heard. Attend the public hearing.

3. Contact your representative and senators and ask their help in applying their clout to the objections of others.

4. If you lose, you have the right of appeal to the PRC within 30 days of the posting of the final determination.

Everyone who has a stake in the Hedley Post Office needs to be at the public meeting next Wednesday, July 20, 2011, at 4:30 p.m. at the Hedley Baptist Fellowship Hall. And everyone also needs to send written comments to: Consumer Affairs Manager, USPS Fort Worth District, 4600 Mark IV Parkway, Fort Worth, TX 76161-9631, before the July 25, 2011 deadline. And remember to keep your comments factual and polite.

Let's make sure every decision maker knows that Hedley needs its post office.

Meanwhile...

Kudos to Chamber of Commerce President Charlie Smith for his work on Clarendon's July Fourth activities. All in all, everyone seemed to have a great time; and while there may have been a couple of hiccups, everything went very smoothly. This is especially true when you consider Smith didn't have much in the way of help and he had never been in charge of the parades and other activities before. Improvements can be made with experience, but for now, the community should thank him for his effort.

Keep energy use down as heat rises

By David Shotwell and Tim Morstad

With temperatures frequently escalating to more than 100 degrees during the Texas summer, high utility costs may seem inevitable. Older Texans on limited or fixed incomes are often hit hardest. Although your bills may become more expensive during this blistering season, raising the thermostat to uncomfortable levels to save money does not have to be your only option.

Fortunately, there are many ways that you can easily reduce home energy expenses.

To start off, keep your curtains, blinds or shades closed to prevent warm air from entering through poorly-sealed windows and the Texas sun from warming up your home. Do you have a fireplace? Be sure that the damper is closed.

Also, turn off lights in unoccupied rooms. Don't forget kitchen and bathroom ventilating fans. If left on, these fans can quickly blow all of the cooled air out of a house.

To save water, take showers instead of baths. Run clothes and dishwashers only when you have a full load. Use the cold water setting on your washing machine, when possible, to save energy. Also in the laundry room, clean your dryer's lint filter after every load, and periodically clean the vent. Lint buildup can waste energy or even cause a fire.

Moreover, unplug block-type chargers, such as those for phones, computers and small appliances, from the wall when not in use. If these chargers are plugged in, they're still consuming energy, even if you aren't charging any devices.

Finally, to keep your air conditioning running at its best, clean your vents and make sure they aren't blocked by curtains, furniture or carpet. Use heat-generating appliances, such as dryers and ovens, during the coolest time of day to keep your air conditioner from working so hard. Turn your ceiling fans to low, and be sure they're set to rotate in the direction that forces cool air near the ceiling down.

Tried all these things but still struggling to afford your bills? There may be help available.

You could also be eligible the federally-funded Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program based on income and other eligibility requirements. Call 1-866-674-6327 to find out more.

By dialing 211, you can reach more than 60,000 additional state and local programs, including several that help with energy assistance and weatherizing your home.

Don't qualify for these programs? Ask your energy provider about flexible payment plans. Deferred payment plans allow customers to pay outstanding bills in installments over a longer period of time. You may need to make an initial payment of 50 percent of the total amount due. Another option is average payment plans, which let customers pay approximately the same amount for electricity each month.

David Shotwell, director of audience and channel strategies, leads AARP's educational and outreach efforts related to housing and mobility options. Tim Morstad, associate state director of advocacy, works on legislative and regulatory issues related to financial security, including electricity affordability, in Texas.

We must be sure to pay our military

With the United States only weeks away from hitting our $14.3 trillion debt ceiling and leaders in Washington divided over deficit reduction, the American people are very concerned and rightfully so. This looming deadline over the debt ceiling certainly underscores a very troubling fiscal reality for our nation. Our soaring national debt is stifling economic growth and job creation. But this budget crisis is also an opportunity for leaders in Washington to make the tough choices that are necessary to put our country back on a path to sustainable prosperity.

Despite some resistance to the true causes and the seriousness of our nation's budget deficit and debt problems, I am undeterred, and remain hopeful that Congress and the White House will come together in the next few weeks on a plan to balance the federal budget and ensure that we will not need to raise the debt ceiling again. But as Congress and the White House hammer out tough decisions on spending, there should be no disagreement nor any question over whether America will pay our troops on time and in full for their services. If there is one thing that all of us in Congress can agree on, it is our tremendous pride and support for our brave men and women in uniform.

As current law stands, if the Congress and the White House were unable to agree on a budget and debt limit plan, and a government shutdown were to occur, our active duty military would not receive a paycheck to support themselves and their families. They would continue to do their patriotic duties and, in many cases, put their lives on the line for our country. But they would not be paid. Until Congress and the President could agree on the debt ceiling plan.

Last April, when we were facing the threat of another government shutdown, I introduced the Ensuring Pay for Our Military Act. My simple and straightforward legislation ensures that in the event of a government shutdown over budget issues, our nation's servicemen and women would continue to receive their pay on time and in full.

Immediately after introducing this bill last spring, I was contacted by a military spouse. Her husband was on his tenth deployment in support of operations in the Middle East. The spouse was at home raising their 1-year-old son. She was very concerned about whether she would be able to pay her bills if the government in fact shut down. And her heartbreaking story is the story of thousands of other military families across our country. We can only imagine the stress of families who have loved ones in harm's way.

Even the threat of an interruption of pay is very stressful for military families. This is unacceptable. The last thing our military families should worry about is not receiving their paycheck on time because Congress and the President have not been able to make the tough choices on the nation's finances.

At a time when our nation has 100,000 troops in Afghanistan and more than 45,000 in Iraq, it is unconscionable to me that we ask our troops to serve on the front lines while worrying about whether the mortgage can be paid on time. From the state of Texas alone, there are more than 28,000 soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines currently deployed, which is second only to California in the highest number of deployed troops from one state.

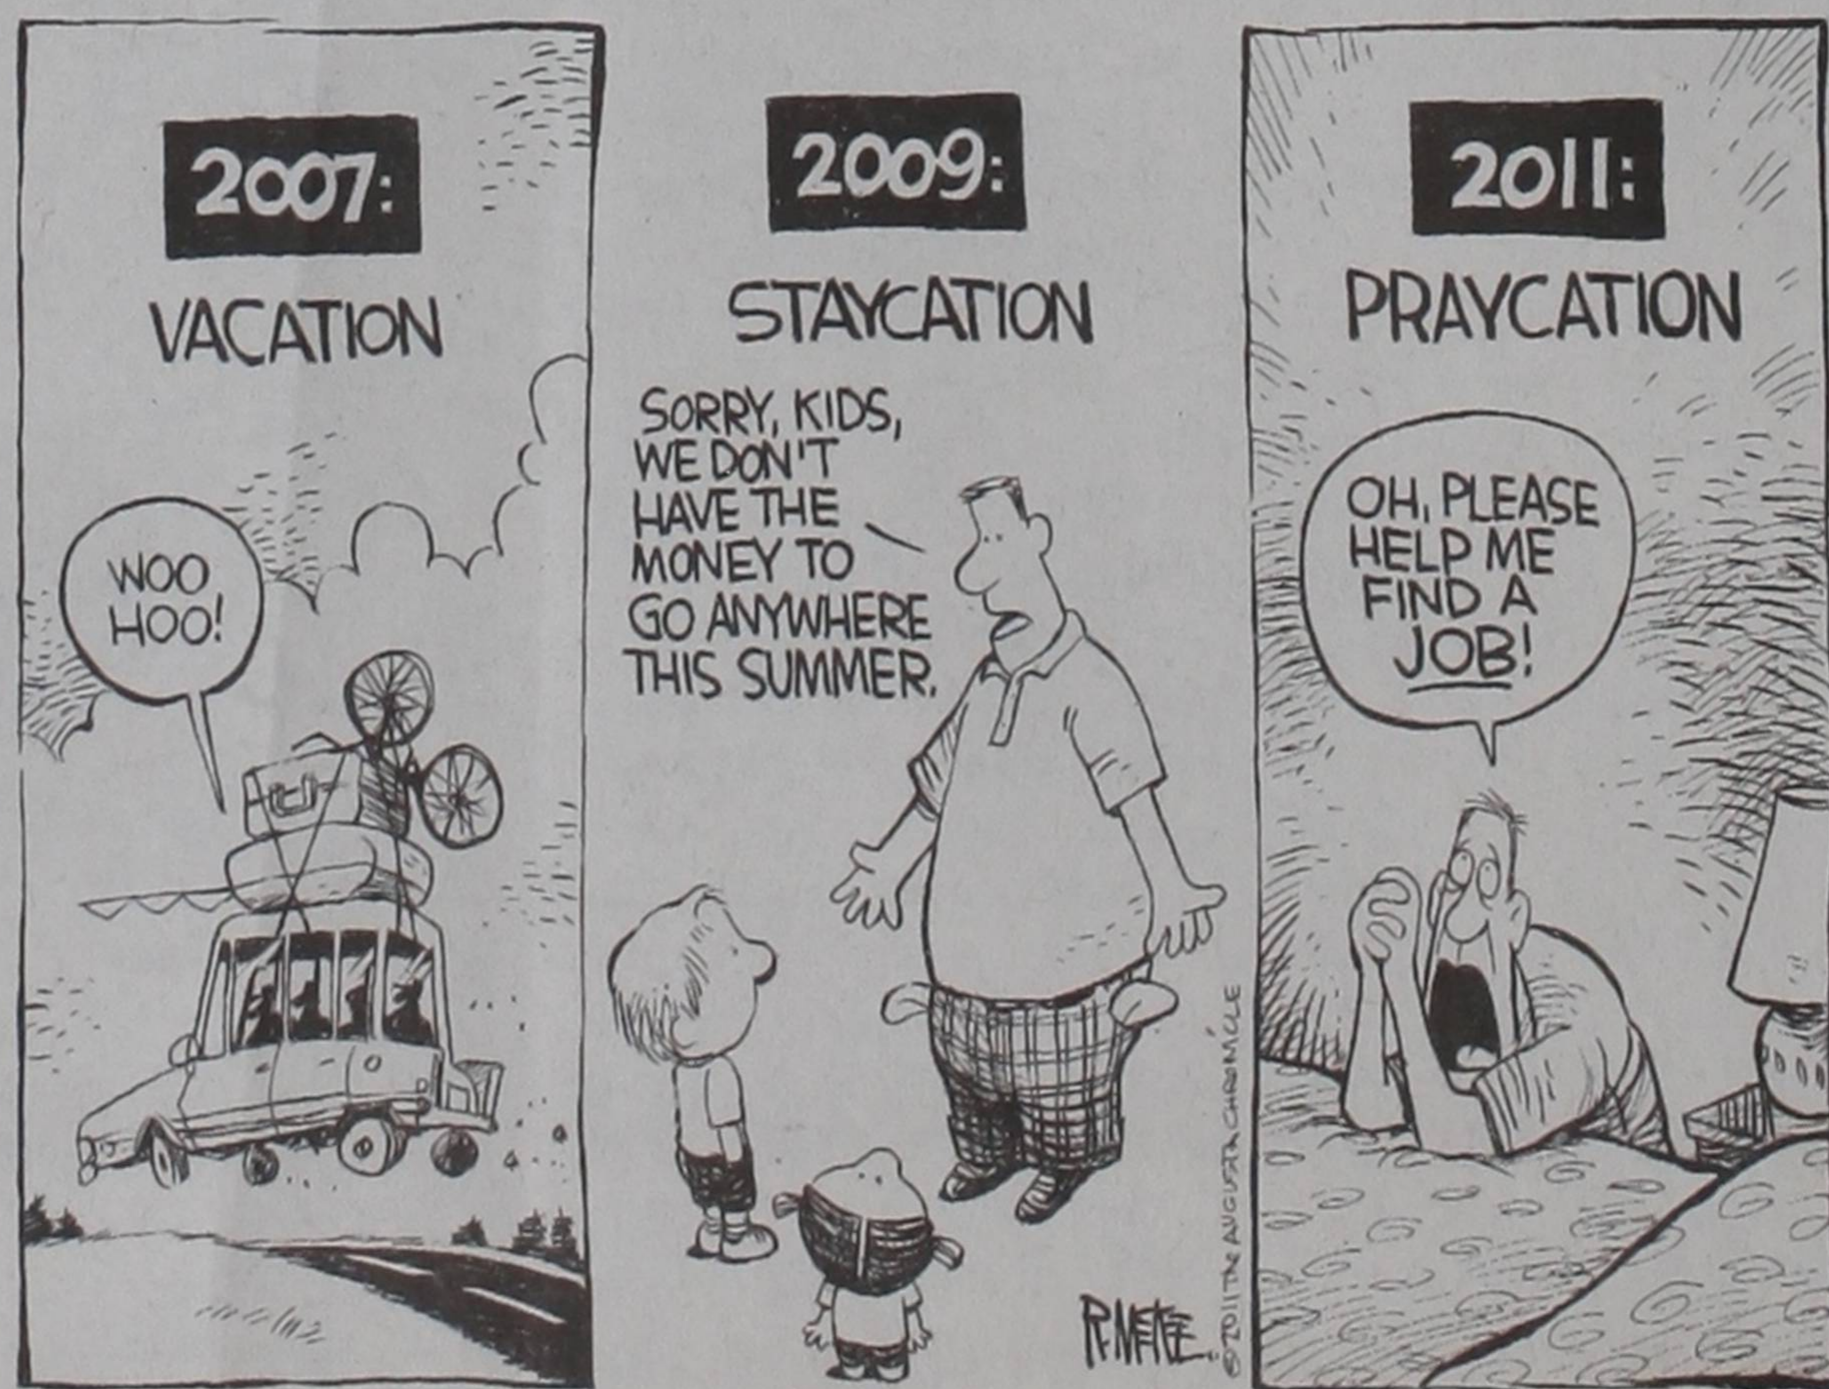

These brave Texans are working long hours in extreme conditions, facing a dangerous enemy, and the most remarkable thing is they all raised their right hands and volunteered. The very least we can do is make sure they get paid in the event of a government shutdown. It would be tremendously damaging for morale to tell our troops to go on long deployments, away from their families, and then not pay them.

My bill currently has 80 cosponsors in the Senate and should sail through both houses of Congress with bipartisan support. Now is the time for Congress to vote to ensure that our troops will not miss a paycheck due to gridlock in Washington. Now. Not at midnight on August 2nd.

Clarendon Church of Christ

WHAT SHOULD YOU EXPECT?

Clarendon is a town that have many "churched" people. What I mean is, most folks around here are God-fearing and outnumber those that aren't spiritually minded. As I look around, there are many churches in our midst. I can only speak for the church where I am minister, but what do people expect and receive during their worship around town?

That is a valid question and important enough that we should all be honest in answering it. There is a growing trend in this country, amongst religious groups, to try and do things that will fill the pews regardless of it's Biblical standing. Biblical doctrine is changed or not preached so as not to offend any who violate God's laws. Biblical doctrine isn't preached but instead, little stories are told just to make one feel good. Pure scripture is not read enough anymore. Many "religious" people won't listen.

This was promised by Paul. (2 Timothy 4:1-4) I charge you therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who will judge the living and the dead at His appearing and His kingdom: Preach the word! Be ready in season and out of season. Convince, rebuke, exhort, with all longsuffering and teaching. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, but according to their own desires, because they have itching ears, they will heap up for themselves teachers; and they will turn their ears away from the truth, and be turned aside to fables.

That pretty well sums up the attitudes of many religious groups today! It happened during Paul's day and continues today. People are people, and most do not want scriptures preached that would "convince, rebuke, or exhort." Instead they want stories (fables). As Paul said, "they will turn their ears away from the truth."

So I ask the question, "What should you expect when you go to worship?" The Bible should be preached and its truths only (Gal. 1:6-9). Shouldn't we expect to hear God's word proclaimed at worship and not stories? Isn't worship to be reverent and in order as we glorify God and praise Him? Do you believe God approves of "gimmicks" to get people to come and worship Him? All over the country, I have seen or read of groups of "religious" people actually trying to fill the pews by: Having clowns, video games, door prizes, an actual professional wrestler come and show how to wrestle, rodeos, bingo, actually pay people by the hour to sit in pews, and on and on the list could go with outrageous things. Hosea 4:6 says, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge...." This happens everywhere that God's word is supplanted by man and his "will worship." (John 4:24) "God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth." This means that one must have the correct attitude and doctrine when worshipping God. He doesn't accept any other kind of worship!

I hope you expect and demand to hear God's word during your worship assemblies. I pray that we would all give up gimmicks to draw people to the pews. An old preacher told me, "If it takes more than the Bible to get them here, it will take more to keep them here." How true.

Hedley Church of Christ turns 100

The Hedley Church of Christ recently celebrated its 100th anniversary with a service and catered lunch at the Hedley Senior Citizens Center on July 11, in which 136 people attended.

"The celebration was very successful," Church of Christ minister Bright Newhouse said. "It was like a family reunion because people we hadn't seen in years were there. The Senior Citizens Center did an excellent job. Hedley is fortunate to have them willing to help."

Connie Debord, who has attended the Church of Christ for 55 years, said the church was built in Rowe in 1902 by Presbyterians. In 1909, they moved the building to Hedley and it has remained that ever since. The Presbyterians stopped using the church shortly after they moved it, so they allowed the Church of Christ to start using it in 1911. The Church of Christ actually bought the church in 1939.

"We're down to about 12 regular members every Sunday, so we're still carrying on," Debord said. "I hope we can continue for a while longer."

Newhouse has ministered at the Church of Christ for 36 years over two different periods.

"We feel really close to the people in the church," Newhouse said. "They're good people and I enjoy it."

Finding a Path through The Great Depression

By Jo Shaller

Some "cutting-back financially" measures are evident in the Pathfinders' Minutes of the 1930s. Our earlier yearbooks had been produced by a local printing shop, but during most of this decade the yearbooks are typed by members.

Also in planning for our 20th anniversary in 1931, members were asked to contribute decorations and refreshments rather than charge all expenses to the organization. Charges were held down to $5.76.

Our founding mothers obviously loved to have extravagant anniversary and Christmas parties in the forms of evening banquets, formal afternoon teas, and an outdoor pretend wedding garden party.

They shared their musical talents as well as those of their children. In January 1932, 'Little Billy Lowe' and Dorothy Ann Kennedy sang Let Me Call You Sweetheart at a club social.

This Study Club was so popular that applicants for membership were plentiful.

Attendance at regular meetings was expected and monitored. Type and number of guests were often designated as ministers' wives, female school faculty members, one child per member, and Les Beaux Arts Club members.

One year over 100 ladies attended the anniversary party. Another year guests of members with surnames A-G were to attend the first hour and H-Z the second hour.

Don't get the idea that these ladies just parties. Their twice a month programs were intense.

A different Shakespearean play was studied in depth every year. One year's programs focused on states such as Florida, Maine, etc., and a facet of Texas history was highlighted each March. Literary and musically based programs were common.

The members did not bring in guest speakers; they prepared and presented their own programs. They were also heavily involved in district and state requirements of federated clubs. Projects for this decade included continuation of the Summer Reading Program (held on the steps of the girl's dorm).

Members rotated reading duties on Tuesdays from 7-8 p.m. and averaged 28-30 listeners.

Our club was instrumental in instituting "Manual Training and Domestic Science in the public school."

We started Clarendon's Little Theater, raised money for a tennis court, beautified the town for the Texas Centennial (1936) by planting trees and flowers all over town, and maintained a loan program for a deserving college girl.

Descendants of our early members have contributed pictures and biographies of their mothers and grandmothers.

You may enjoy reading about them in The Pathfinders' Study Club of 1911 History Vol. 1 at the Clarendon City Library.

The Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday meeting July 12, 2011, with Boss Lion Steve Hall.

We had 15 members, two Sweethearts, and five guests this week - Donna Sheppard, guest of Lion Rick Sheppard; Ben Estlack, guest of Lion Roger Estlack; Scarlet and Nathan Estlack, guest of Lion Russell Estlack; and David Landis, guest of Lion Lambert Little and our program for the week.

Mr. Landis is the city manager in Perryton, and he is also the president of the Texas City Management Association. He is the first person from the Panhandle/South Plains to serve that position in over 20 years.

Community updates were given by Lions Little, Monty Hysinger, and Ashlee Estlack. The club will discuss possible dates for the annual pancake supper next week.

Friendship Club is this Friday

Did you fly the flag, wear red-white-and-blue, think about, maybe read, the Declaration of Independence and pray for our fighting men and women on the 4th of July? If so, you probably didn't miss fireworks. People were cautious and mostly law-abiding this year, maybe the presence of those troopers and deputies kept mischief down this year.

Friendship Club is Friday night. Bring food and a good appetite to City Hall at 6:30 for some fun entertainment. See you there.

It is still so hot and dry even the churches are conserving water; the Baptist are sprinkling, Methodist are using wet-wipes, Episcopalians are giving out rain checks, and Catholics are trying to turn wine back into water. Are you doing your part? My son-in-law caught a catfish that had fleas, and Ole Jim saw a horned toad shaking the water hose, trying to get a drink. Hey, guys, we gotta laugh.

Our condolences to the family of Brace Hicks who died June 28 after a long illness. Brace and wife Joy have lived in Howardwick since 1993. He will be missed in the community. God bless you all.

Speaking from the heart

Dad was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease 10 years ago. Recently, he started suffering from arthritis in his knees, extreme shaking and stiffness. The problem wasn't that he couldn't move, it was that his movement was too small to get anything done. That's when I talked to him about getting treatment from Accolade HomeCare.

Just a couple of weeks into the program and his muscles feel stronger. He's taking bigger steps, walking up and down the stairs and getting into bed without any problems. He can even bend over to pick up the remote. Thanks to the help from Accolade, everything in his life is much better.

Drugs in the News

Advanced Prostate Cancer Drug Approved
A few weeks ago, the FDA approved a new drug for the treatment of prostate cancer that does not respond to other treatments. The drug is called Jevtana (cabazitaxel). It was approved to be given along with prednisone for the treatment of metastatic prostate cancer that does not respond to standard prostate cancer treatment called testosterone deprivation. Results from this trial indicate that while Jevtana did not cause complete remission from the cancer, it prolonged life in men with advanced prostate cancer by an average of 10 weeks over standard treatment. Treatment with Jevtana is administered every three weeks as a one hour intravenous infusion in combination with prednisone taken orally every day throughout the treatment period. Monitoring for drug side effects is recommended.

Prostate cancer is the second most common cancer among men residing in the United States. The American Cancer Society indicates that an estimated 192,280 new cases of this type of cancer were reported in the United States in 2009. According to the society, over 27,000 deaths occurred that same year in men with this type of cancer.

Golf recruit signs with Clarendon College

British athlete Jake Bond is the latest recruit to sign with the new golf program being formed at Clarendon College.

Bond lives in Wanstead, England, located about six miles from the centre of London and about three miles from the new Olympic Park being constructed for the 2012 Games.

"I am thrilled we are landing Jake at Clarendon College," John Green, CC Athletic Director and Golf Coach said.

"This first season will set the tone for the program and Jake will be not only a strong golfer but a leader for our team. He has come highly recommended from my contact in the UK."

"I know Coach Green has a proven track record and I am very excited about the prospect of being a part of what he is putting together at Clarendon College," Bond said.

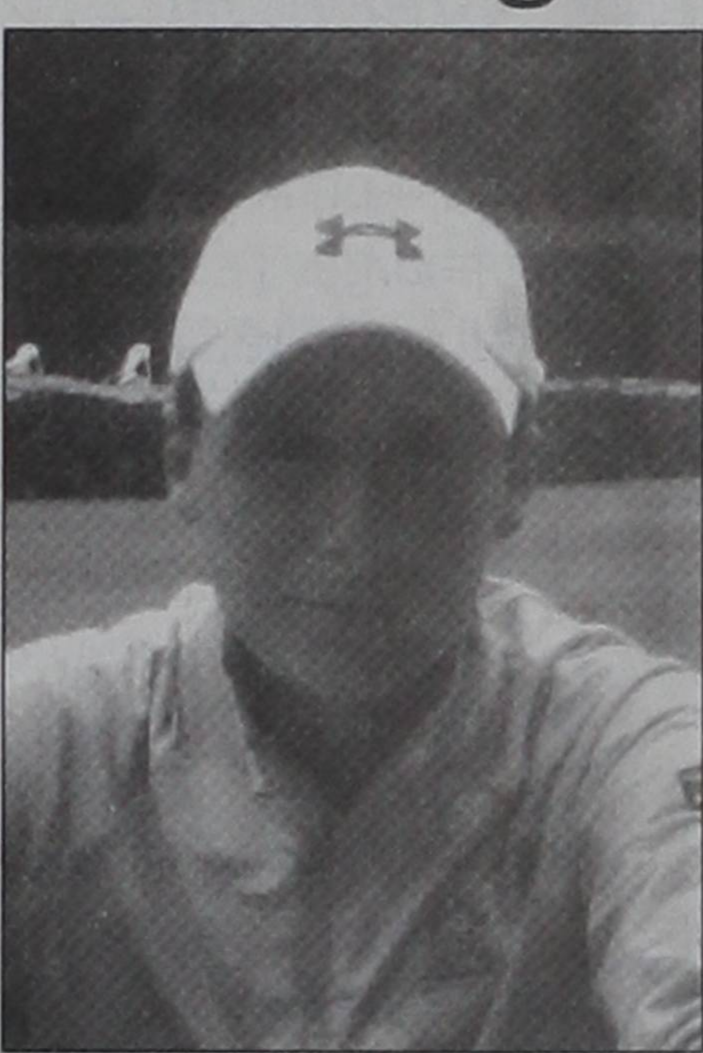

"It will be great to meet new people from the other side of the world and I hope to be able to improve my game whilst at Clarendon yet at the same time achieve my academic goals."

He is a member of Wanstead Gold Club, where people have been playing the sport since 1893, and is currently Junior Club Captain. His Youth Shield team currently sit top of their league having won every match so far winning 18 games and only dropping 2. As a result they are now one of only a few teams expected to battle it out for the Regional Title.

The club's men's team has just reached the last 8 in the prestigious Thornton Cup and Jake is an integral part of this squad.

Individually Bond has recently competed in two major regional events finishing 14th in the Faldo Series qualifier and 30th out of 84 in a large men's amateur tournament.

"I have great expectations from this group and expect them to earn us a trip to the NCAAA National Golf Tournament in May 2012. The players have the talent and the character to do great things in our inaugural season," Green said.

USDA authorizes emergency haying of CRP

In response to drought conditions, USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) authorized emergency haying use of Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres for 73 Texas counties, including Donley County.

"Eligible producers who are interested in emergency haying of CRP must request approval before haying eligible acreage," said Bruce Ferguson with the FSA office in Clarendon.

"It is also important for producers to obtain a modified conservation plan from the Natural Resources Conservation Service that includes haying requirements."

The following counties are approved for emergency CRP haying: Armstrong, Bailey, Baylor, Borden, Briscoe, Callahan, Carson, Castro, Cochran, Coke, Coleman, Collingsworth, Concho, Cottle, Crosby, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Duval, Ellis, Fisher, Floyd, Foard, Gaines, Garza, Gray, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hardeman, Hartley, Haskell, Hemphill, Hill, Hidalgo, Hockley, Howard, Jones, Kent, King, Kinney, Knox, Lamb, Lipscomb, Lynn, Martin, Maverick, Medina, Mitchell, Motley, Nolan, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Pecos, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Runnels, Scurry, Shackelford, Sherman, Starr, Stonewall, Swisher, Taylor, Terrell, Terry, Tom Green, Uvalde, Wheeler, Wilbarger and Yoakum Counties. Haying authorization will end on August 31, 2011.

Upon approval of emergency haying, producers must leave at least 50 percent of each field or contiguous field unhayed for wildlife. For those counties that are eligible for emergency haying and grazing, the same CRP acreage cannot be both hayed and/or grazed at the same time.

For example, if 50 percent of a field or contiguous field is hayed, the remaining unhayed 50 percent cannot be grazed; it must remain unhayed and ungrazed for wildlife.

In addition, participants are limited to one hay cutting and are not permitted to sell any of the hay. There will be a 25 percent CRP payment reduction depending on the number of acres actually hayed.

To take advantage of the emergency haying provisions, authorized producers can use the CRP acreage for their own livestock or may grant another livestock producer use of the CRP acreage for the purpose of haying.

For more information on and to request approval for emergency haying of CRP acres contact the Donley County FSA office at 806-874-3561

Sign up for drop disaster benefit before July 29

Donley County USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director Bruce Ferguson, announced that the deadline to apply for assistance for 2009 crop losses under the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments (SURE) program is July 29, 2011.

"The SURE program compensates producers for production and/or quality losses during times of disaster," said Ferguson. "All producers who have experienced crop production and/or crop quality losses must apply for SURE program benefits by the July 29 deadline," he said.

To meet program eligibility requirements, the farming operation must be physically located in a county that was declared a primary or contiguous disaster county by the Secretary of Agriculture under a 2009 Secretarial Disaster Designation.

Producers located in designated disaster counties must have suffered at least a 10 percent loss on a crop of economic significance and purchased crop insurance through the Federal Crop Insurance Act or the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP).

However, an operation located in a county that did not receive a primary or contiguous disaster designation, can still qualify for SURE benefits if the actual farm production was less than 50 percent of the normal production on the farm due to a qualifying disaster event.

Producers and legal entities collectively cannot, directly or indirectly, receive more than $100,000 in SURE and other FSA disaster assistance payments. FSA disaster programs include SURE, Livestock Forage Program (LFP), Livestock Indemnity Program (LIP), and Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees, and Farm-raised Fish (ELAP).

Producers or legal entities, whose nonfarm income is more than $500,000, are not eligible for SURE program payments.

For questions regarding the SURE program, please contact the Donley County FSA office at 806-874-3561.

NOTICE

The City of Clarendon is nearing Stage 4 Drought conditions and citizens' cooperation is needed to achieve a 30 percent reduction in water usage. Please observe the following guidelines:

1. Limit outside watering to twice-a-week and then only before 10 a.m. and after 7 p.m. Residential customers with odd-numbered street addresses should water on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Even-numbered addresses should water on Thursdays and Sundays, and commercial customers should water on Tuesdays and Fridays.
2. Limit washing motor vehicles, motorbikes, boats, and other vehicles at home to before 10 a.m. or after 7 p.m. on your designated watering day, and then use a bucket and/or hand-held hose with a shut-off nozzle. Commercial car washes are exempted.
3. Avoid filling swimming pools except during the above hours.
4. Avoid operating ornamental fountains unless necessary to support aquatic life or if equipped with a recirculation system.
5. Do not water-wash driveways, sidewalks, or other hard-surfaced areas. Do not wash down buildings or structures except for immediate fire protection.
6. Repair all leaks as soon as possible, and report any leaks or unauthorized usage to City Hall. Night and weekend emergency leaks should be reported to the Donley County Sheriff's Office at 806-874-3533.
