Chapman Explains GTE Changes To City Council

The Muleshoe City Council met Tuesday morning and accepted bids for a new refuse truck, discussed service from General Telephone of the Southwest and talked over legislation concerning city-related legislation at the 1981 Legislature. Bids for the new truck were accepted from Muleshoe Motor Company for a Ford chassis ($22,424.19) and from Packmore for a body ($17,140). Don Foard, representing Packard, provided information on the Packmore motor.

City Manager, Dave Marr, discussed possible ideas for improvement and maintenance for existing equipment once the new unit is in service. "We are hoping this unit will be our big mileage unit and will be a great improvement to our service with less downtime."

Bruce Chapman, representing GTE, provided information and answered questions from the council concerning telephone service.

Chapman stressed that "we are constantly trying to improve our service. One thing we are trying to do is investigate all calls within 24 hours."

Max King questioned what changes have been made in the last year to improve service. "We have added one serviceman, two central office personnel, and my position for a total of ten employees in Muleshoe alone."

Chapman added that recent problems, such as the thirty minute cut off Friday have been traced to the line between here and Lubbock and where not Lubbock and were not due to the local system. "Muleshoe is not an isolated area. Other lines which go through Lubbock are having the same problem with long distance calls," he said.

Marr replied that he had noted "attitude adjustments" at the company

Rotary Hears Plans For New Math Program

A new math management program planned for Muleshoe schools was the topic for the Rotary weekly meeting.

Carol Horne, director of special education, and Elizabeth Watson, assistant superintendent, presented information on the new math teaching procedure for the first through the fifth grades. This program will be implemented in the fall.

According to Ms. Horne, students will be grouped by skill levels according to test results. Math courses throughout the system will be taught at the same time in order for the students to participate in the skill level they need and to utilize all teachers.

This program will be designed "to get teachers out of the same old rut and motivate children to learn," said Ms. Watson. Each skill will be taught for two weeks followed by a test. If a score is above 80 percent the student will advance to the next skill level. If below 80 percent, the student will receive supplemental instruction in that particular skill.

Both Ms. Horne and Mrs. Watson have seen this type of program in use in San Antonio and were pleased with the results. The planning for this program will be made this summer, in order for it to be implemented in the fall.

Donaldson, Bell Receive Top Awards

The annual Jaycees' Bosses Banquet brought several smiles as awards were given to area residents and signs of disappointment as Galen Bock handed over his gavel as club president.

described the recipient as one who typified the ideals of the Jaycees by helping the community.

"Without the cooperation of our bosses, Jaycees would not be possible," commented Chuck Smith who presented the Boss of the Year Award to his boss, Dwayne Lloyd of the Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association.

Smith characterized his boss as active in both church and community activities and as "no better person in the world to work for."

Children Need Understanding

Children of divorce need to understand the arrangement of relationships in their lives and have help in knowing how divorce will affect them, a family life education specialist says.

Like death, divorce has been treated as "an unpleasant subject to which children must adjust" -- often without help, Diane Welch stresses.

Mrs. Welch is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & N University System.

It may not be easy for parents to provide the needed help, either, she admits.

Parents are trying to get through their own personal upheaval. Objectivity and patience may be lacking.

Keeping the lines of communication open is one key to helping children understand what is happening.

Parents should make a special effort to provide their children with generous doses of love and warm affection -- along with consistency in behavioral guidelines, routines, and expectations.

All of these are major needs of children. They cannot be overlooked during divorce.

Adolescents sometimes exhibit more obvious reaction to divorce than children of other ages.

Teenagers have a clearer understanding of what a family is and the mutual love and understanding it can provide for its members.

Divorce may shake the foundation of this belief.

Because adolescents are prone to pass judgement quickly, they may cut themselves off from their parents or side with one.

Sometimes loss of self-esteem and the emergence of self-blame are special problems the teen of divorce faces.

Parents must recognize these and other special problems and help their teens deal with them.

Another worthwhile way of helping teens cope with their parents' divorce is outside help from a support group.

An experimental program sponsored by the Family Court of Allen County, Indiana, offered a workshop for children of divorcing parents.

Small group sessions were led by trained and responsive adults.

Children in the group learned about divorce through non-threatening films. They explored the effects of divorce in terms of emotional response, and they had time to discuss their thoughts with their peers.

Most of the youth were pleased with the workshop and said they felt it was helpful to them. Most said they would come again if they had it to do over.

In Texas, most communities have the resources to conduct such workshops for youth, Mrs. Welch says.

County Extension agents who coordinate educational programming based on county residents' major needs are available for group organization

Water Inc. Membership Meeting

Members of Water, Inc. will converge on Lubbock February 21 for the Annual Membership Meeting. U.S. Representative Kent Hance will lead off the program of distinguished speakers with an address at a breakfast session. Representative Hance has recently taken up duties on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

All activities of the annual get-together will be conducted at South Park Inn of Loop 289 South near Indiana Avenue. The dutch treat breakfast gets underway at 7:45 a.m.

Keynoting the meeting will be Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton and Dr. Sam Curl, Dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech, will be featured in the annual meeting - concluding luncheon session. Other speakers include Dr. Herbert Grubb, Director of Planning, Texas Department of Water Resources; and, Bob Nichols, partner in Freese and Nichols, Consulting Engineers. Nichols is the past president of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

"Although this is our annual meeting of members, the public is not only invited but encouraged to attend," said Lloyd Calhoun, Hobbs, president of the non-profit group representing West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. "We have arranged an outstanding program dealing with the area's future water," he said.

Water, Inc. was founded 14 years ago by concerned area residents. It is a true grassroots effort to assure future water for all interests. In recent years attention has focused on water importation as the solution. Currently, a six-state study of the Ogallala aquifer is underway and included in the study findings will be recommendations for water import routes.

Yogurt Ice Cream

Simply freeze plain yogurt in popsicle molds, or make homemade yogurt ice cream.

To make yogurt ice cream, follow directions for ice cream but substitute yogurt for milk.

For each quart of yogurt, add three cups of fruit.

Then freeze in an ice-cream freezer. Store in airtight containers in the freezer.

Fruits that combine well with yogurt include strawberries, apples, raspberries, dewberries, pineapple and oranges. Also, lemon juice makes a zesty flavor partner. Don't overlook canned fruits, either.

Muleshoe Singing Group Meets

The Muleshoe Singing Group met Saturday, February 14. Cecil Rundell was in charge of the meeting, due to a death in the family of J.C. Shanks. Thirty one were present.

There were several numbers given by different groups and congregational singing.

The group will meet Saturday, February 26 at 6:30 p.m. in the Trinity Baptist Church.

Become A 'Doer' In '81 Overcome Procrastination

Overcome procrastination in 1981 and become a "doer", suggests Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

"Procrastination is an effectiveness killer, and to some degree, we all do it.

"However, procrastination becomes a problem when you neglect or delay doing those things that are important to you," she points out.

Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Procrastinators pay a high price for indulging in this habit, she continues.

Perhaps the greatest price is the lack of enjoyment of the present while dreaming about the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Other costs of procrastination are lack of accomplishment at the end of the day, boredom, anxiety caused by working under pressure, continuous frustration and a life of indecision.

Why do procrastinators do it?

Several reasons are continually used to explain why. Among the most common is to escape an overwhelming or unpleasant task, the specialist explains.

Procrastinators always convince themselves that a more suitable time will come to get the job done or that there is something more pleasant to do.

Other reasons for procrastination are to gain sympathy from peers and supervisors, to get someone else to do the job, lack of adequately defined goals and overcommitment of time or unrealistic time estimates.

How can procrastinators overcome this problem?

First, acknowledge the futility of procrastination, Mrs. Piernot advises.

Think positively about time and life. Success, enthusiasm and energy are Recent U.S. Department of Agriculture studies indicate that yogurt is superior in nutritional quality to other fermented milk products, such as buttermilk -- and to fresh milk.

However, many of the frozen yogurt products do not measure up to this superior quality.

Additives and preservatives used by individual manufacturers seem to make the difference in nutritive value of frozen yogurt products. The nutritive value is dependent on the amount of these products used.

TROPHY WINNER.....Cary Skaggs received a trophy February 15 in a trout fishing contest held at Green Acres in Clovis. He caught the first trout over six inches long, in the 11 year old and under group. This was the first time for the Sertoma's to sponsor the contest. Cary is the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Skaggs.

For years Steel belled radials have been the established standard of the industry...now Aramid — the space-age tire cord material has been developed by Dupont laboratories to replace steel as a belt material in radial tires. Aramid is the ideal material for tires because it combines the toughness and durability of steel at one fifth of the weight with the comfort and smooth ride of a fabric belted radial.

which have improved such as contacting the local radio station in order to provide information about problems.

The water ordinance was discussed in relation to its impact on commercial water usage and a possible rate reduction for demand users. Councilman Finney felt the option should not exclude residences. Mayor Bratcher tabled the subject until City Manager Marr could talk with commercial users.

Marr discussed with council members two key city-related legislations pending in the 1981 Legislature. One proposal concerned the electric utilities jurisdiction over all rates, operations, and services. The Texas Municipal League is pressing for a provision that allows the cities to represent the consumer's interests even in court cases.

The second bill of concern before the Senate concerns closing loopholes in the State Unemployment Compensation Law. Enactment of the measure would curb abusive practices such as benefits to someone who quit a job because of being "tired of working". This could possibly cure major problems by denying benefits to those fired for misconduct or leave jobs voluntarily without good cause. A return to work provision would require such persons to work at another job for at least six weeks before they are eligible for unemployment compensation. The meeting was adjourned.

place and an investigation made. The Ag Secretary has the power to do this under a bill passed December 15, 1980.

Block promised Meek last week that he would send fact finding teams to Texas, Georgia and Alabama to determine just how serious the problem is.

Regarding farmers unable to pay back loans, Meek said, "Government policy and the drought put them there. Some farmers have six loans to service their debt before they get operating money. The loans are second liens on worn out equipment. The only way the government can come out is to let them farm their way out."

Meek's idea has gained support from the head of the House Ag Committee, Texan Kika de la Garza, who sent out a "Dear Colleague" letter supporting the 120 day freeze on foreclosure proceedings.

Meek will talk about this problem and bring a first hand view of what Washington politics may mean for farmers in the next few years.

Anyone connected with or interested in the agriculture scene is invited to attend the meeting which will include a supper catered by Southern Seas. The meal will be served at 6:30 p.m. for $5 per plate.

The whole equation changes. The few hundred you can save buying a cheaper pivot can be eaten up in the first year by rising energy costs alone. That's why the right match-up of power, pipe sizes and pressure can make all the difference in the world.

A Good Start

President Reagan has begun impressively in the area which was most critical to the security, economic health and future of the nation—in money matters. He has, as he promised, begun to reduce wasteful or extravagant federal spending. He has stopped new federal hiring, eliminated some offices.

He seeks to stimulate the private sector of the economy with tax cuts and other actions, which in the future will mean more revenue for the treasury, from greater business profits. And he is moving to beef up the nation's armed forces.

None of these efforts can succeed without congressional cooperation. And Mr. Reagan has already very effectively cultivated a host of influential legislators; thus prospects for his economic policies are very good in both the Senate and Democrat-controlled House.

That approach contrasts sharply with the first days of the Carter Administration, when the White House infuriated one key member of Congress after another. As a result, Carter, a Democrat, got little cooperation from the Democrat-controlled Congress.

And it's probably true, as a result of this and other failures, that the economy today is in a worse mess than most people realize, as Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn) said recently.

The hour is late, almost too late, but President Reagan is at last tightening the free spending nozzles of government and reducing the octopus arms of the federal government. All Americans should hope he succeeds, for the survival of the American system of government is at stake, no less.

Guest Editorial

The Budget Man Cometh

AS "D-DAY" approaches on President Reagan's economic reform package, destined to cover everything from tax cuts to budget slashes, part of the overall picture is emerging.

It is on which, if implemented as planned, will touch the lives of every American in the next few months, and if successful, could go a long way toward turning around an economic system which seems headed for disaster.

The President's program, to be presented to the nation and Congress Wednesday night, is geared primarily to two major premises—a possible 10 percent across-the-board tax cut in each of the next three years, and a multi-billion dollar reduction in federal spending during the same period, and in the years ahead.

And while the tax reduction will bring smiles to faces of inflation-plagued wage earners across the land, the President's proposals for sharp cuts in federal funding for many ingrained and "pet projects" will bring howls from special interest groups to powerful members of Congress.

IF MR. REAGAN and his whiz-kid head of the Office of Management and the Budget, David Stockman, have their way, more than one sacred cow will be slaughtered, or at least put on strict rations in the months ahead.

High on the "hit list" prepared by Mr. Stockman, are such things as Food Stamp excesses, Aid to Cities, Medicaid, certain Social Security benefits, CETA, the Farmer's Home Administration, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, unemployment insurance extended benefits and others.

The spotlight no doubt will center on the proposed changes in those and similar programs. But, it also is in the tax reform area that we think the President and his planners could go a long way in fighting double-digit inflation and helping the much-maligned "Average American."

IN ADDITION to the tax relief plan, there are numerous other tax changes in the works, from those which would encourage plant and business modernization through stepped-up investment credits to those which would aid the small businessman and average wage earner.

But, if we had one "pet project" to plug in the tax reform area, it would have to do with the way Americans are "double-taxed" on their savings and dividends, or so-called "unearned" income.

As things now stand, for the person who may be able to put something from his wages or salary and then reinvest it in a straight savings account, the popular Certificates of Deposit of money market funds, there is a "penalty."

In addition to already having had Uncle Sam dip into his or her paycheck to take out withholding taxes, the IRS comes along and demands another percentage of the savings or dividends. Often, the such savings push the saver into the next tax bracket, thus penalizing him or her with an even higher income tax rate. This can run, for those in a 50 percent tax bracket, up to 70 percent on so-called unearned income.

IT WOULD not only be fair, but would go a long way toward helping keep excess funds out of the inflationary stream, by encouraging investments for savings purposes by allowing a meaningful amount of the returns from such savings to be tax free.

For instance, it would make sense, it seems to us, to grant an exemption on income from savings, dividends and such, now called "unearned income", up to a total of $2,000 for each person or family. Anything above that would be taxed at the individual's regular rate.

Along this same line, we feel that in those families where only one of the two-person household works, the other should be able to fully utilize the so-called IRA "put-back" tax shelter. That is, a housewife who does not work should be able, with whatever means, to build a tax-free base of up to $1,500 a year for her old-age under the Individual Retirement Act to supplement the inflation-eroded pension the other wage-earner might or might not have.

THERE IS no doubt but that certain portions of Mr. Reagan's tax reform package will be met with cries of "the rich get richer and the poor get poorer."

No doubt those with money, in an economy where

Burger said statistics show that in 1980 there were more criminal killings among 650,000 Washington, D. C., residents than among the 12 million residents of Sweden and Denmark.

ATTITUDES & CANCER
NEW YORK -- Pessimism, myths and misinformation about cancer keep black Americans from seeking early treatment and contribute to the high cancer death rate among blacks, according to an American Cancer Society survey released recently.

COUNTERATTACK
MOSCOW -- Soviet news media have launched a massive counterattack on U.S. foreign and domestic policies following charges from the Reagan administration that the Kremlin promotes international terrorism, is immoral and will commit any crime to achieve its goals.

REAGAN & POLL
NEW YORK -- Americans think Ronald Reagan is the kind of person who can get things done, but they're split over whether the new president will be able to put a rein on inflation or balance the federal budget, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says.

SIGNS 1ST BILL
President Reagan signed his first piece of federal legislation recently, increasing the government's authority to borrow money.

money talks, will be able to take advantage of certain opportunities. But, thus far, the President has given every indication of seeking to make any benefits and sacrifices apply equally among all segments of the population.

In that respect, the biggest hassle over Mr. Reagan's program no doubt will be the proposed cutback in Food Stamps and Aid to Cities. Both are highly emotional issues, affect minorities and are subject to political "playing to the masses."

But, it is a proven fact that there is waste and fraud in not only the Food Stamp program, but in numerous other federally funded "Uncle Knows Best" efforts.

As the President and numerous knowledgeable economists have warned, we either start turning it around now, or the day where there will be no room to turn will arrive sooner than many expect.

Student Big Weekend Celebration

"University Discovery '81", an updated version of Student's Foundation's annual Big Weekend celebration, will welcome prospective students to the Wayland Baptist College campus this Friday and Saturday, February 20-21.

Over 100 high school students from Texas and New Mexico are expected to begin arriving on the Wayland campus Thursday evening for the annual activities, designed specifically to give future Wayland students an early taste of campus life.

Farrell and Farrell, a husband-wife contemporary Christian music duo will be featured during this year's event, which was adapted from Student Foundation's seven previous Big Weekend efforts. The concert will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in Harral Memorial Auditorium and is sponsored by Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Tickets are $5 for reserved seats and $4 for general admission and are available from 1-7 p.m. this week through the Harral Box Office (293-3515). Several changes in the "Big Weekend" format have been made since last year's event because of the many changes taking place at Wayland, according to Foundation spokesman David Begin. "We felt that since we're moving to the university status right now (Wayland Baptist University will become official on June 1), we needed to make a special emphasis along those lines," said Begin, a sophomore from Clovis, New Mexico who is serving as co-chairman of "University Discovery" along with

Hale Center sophomore Brenda Gaus. "We also feel that it will be a discovery, not only for the new freshmen but for the current student body as well," Begin added, noting that Big Weekend previously held in April. Activities will get underway at 7 a.m. Friday with registration in the lobby of Owen Hall, women's dormitory. Visitors will meet with professors and regular classes at their convenience all day Friday. Following lunch in Cooper Hall, prospective students will be treated to tours of the Wayland campus, courtesy of Omega phi Alpha service sorority. Also scheduled for Friday afternoon are tryouts for scholarships in music and business.

The entire weekend of activities is open to all prospective Wayland students free of charge, except for the cost of the Friday night concert. For more information contact Barbara Rhodes, Student Foundation president, at 296-5521, extension 27.
