INTRODUCES SILO IN LA SALLE.

Three Are Being Erected on Ranches of J. G. Childers
---Farmer's Great Need.

The first silos to be brought in La Salle county was shipped in this week. Two of them are to be erected on the Cochina ranch, owned by J. G. Childers and the other on what is known as the Burnes ranch, East of Millett, also operated by Mr. Childers.

Within the last two years something like 200 silos have been erected in Texas, and a majority of them were put up in West and Northwest Texas, where they have proven a great thing to the stock farmer and ranchman. Last year a few were tried on the big King ranch in the Gulf Coast country and we understand this year a contract has been let for the erection of sixty or more on this ranch.

The introduction of the silo in La Salle will mean much for the ranch and farming interests, as it will demonstrate its value in such a way that a farmer can see his loss every year by not having one, and it will only be a matter of time until every well regulated farm in this community will be making ensilage out of the crops that now often go to waste.

MILLETT BOY KILLED

MAM WITH BREAST YOKE.

Roy Lane, 17 year old son of W. N. Lane of Millett, killed Bob Harkness of Pearsall at Abb Rowland's railroad grading camp in Live Oak county last Friday evening, by striking him over the head with a breast yoke.

Dave Mulholland autoed Mr. Lane and also W. P. Mulholland to the scene of the affair Saturday. Mr. Mulholland stated that from what he could learn the boy and Harkness, who was about 38 years of age, had trouble on the morning of the tragedy while working on the dump, where both were driving scraper teams. Workmen on the dump stated that the boy took considerable abuse. At noon the trouble was renewed in camp and the boy picked up a breast yoke and struck Harkness on the head, causing instant death. Young Lane is at present in the Live Oak county jail. Arrangements are being made for habeas corpus trial.

REPRESENTATIVE RETURNS

W. A. Kerr, representative of Cotulla growers on the Sales Board of the Southern Texas Truck Growers Association, came home Saturday, the Sales Board having finished its duties. Mr. Kerr had no statement, except that the work of the Board had been most satisfactory, and that the growers were familiar with what they had done. Mr. Ruttencutter, the Big Wells representative came down with Mr. Kerr and spent a few days at the latter's farm fishing.

JOHN REYNOLDS PASSES AWAY.

John W. Reynolds died at his home in this city at 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning from hemorrhage of the lungs.

Deceased was 47 years of age. He was born in Live Oak county January 1, 1868, and has lived in La Salle county for 34 years. He was known all over Southwest Texas as "Mocho" Reynolds and in the early days was quite a noted character, having been connected with many of the escapades of the frontier. Although uneducated he was very shrewd, and there are stories of how he often outwitted the most brilliant lawyers.

A few years ago his eyesight began to fail him. His case attracted the attention of some of the wealthy cattlemen of the county and they sent him to the best specialists in the country.

they could do nothing for him, and gradually the optic nerves died and left him stone blind. Notwithstanding this, being so familiar with the town he came and went without a guide, and measured distance so accurately that those that did not know him could hardly realize that he was blind. His health has been failing for two or three years but only two weeks ago, was he forced to his bed.

Deceased is survived by his aged mother and two sons, Sam and Tom Reynolds. The boys were employed by the S. A. U. & G. railroad, but were summoned home in time to reach their father's bedside before death came. The remains were buried in the Cotulla cemetery Thursday evening.

67 MILE HIKE

Reuben and Shelby Cotulla, Guy Trout and James Geer, Boy Scouts of Laredo, made a 67 mile last week, covering the distance from Laredo to Cotulla in two and one half days. The boys carried camping equipment with them and cooked their meals over a camp fire and slept out at night. They arrived here in good shape, and will spend a month or more at the Jos. Cotulla ranch on the Nueces.

Guideless Wonder Outdone.

The guideless wonder pacing horse of county fair fame was outdone during a recent open-air automobile in Lagrange, Texas, by a Studebaker "25" which, for the greater part of a day, circled the sod course about the Studebaker exhibit, with nobody at the wheel. Just to show that it was a bona-fide demonstration of irreversible steering gear and easy control, the car was turned around and ran similarly in the opposite direction, without showing the least inclination to swerve.

FARMERS' PLAN BIG BARBECUE.

Speakers of State Reputation
Will Make Addresses
---Invitation to All.

Under the auspices of the Farmers' Institute of La Salle county a big barbecue is scheduled to be pulled off at the Rock-Daniel dam on the Nueces, Thursday, June 25th.

Matt Russell, one of the committee on arrangements, informs the RECORD that the State Department has promised to have two prominent speakers present who will make addresses on better modes of farming, dairying and stock raising. There will be other speakers present, and County Judge Thomas will be master of ceremonies.

An invitation is out to every man, woman and child to attend this barbecue, and it is especially urged that every farmer in La Salle county attend. Besides the benefits to be derived by the meeting of the farmers, Col. Russell says there will be an abundance of the best barbecued beef, also that fishing is good and the water is fine.

Shill, one of the oldest settlers of this section of Southwest Texas. Several sisters and brothers survive him. The remains were interred in the Millett cemetery last Friday evening.

Join Nearly 6000 Rexall Druggists in Swatting Flies

Flies spread disease. They carry the germs from the sick to the well. You are never safe from danger while there is a fly around. How do you know where the fly that lights on your food or on your baby's face has been? You would not knowingly expose yourself, or one of your family, to smallpox or any other dread disease? Yet how do you know that the seemingly harmless fly buzzing around you is not loaded with these deadly germs? It is not only a matter of cleanliness, it is a matter of safety to Kill Every Fly You Possibly Can.

With nearly 6,000 Rexall Stores all over this broad land, directing the campaign and furnishing the ammunition the result will not only be a vast decrease in the number of flies, with a corresponding small number next year, but it will mean a tremendous benefit to the health and comfort of nearly 10,000,000 people.

10,000,000 Free Rexall Fly Swatters

To every adult person calling for one, we will give a Rexall Wire Fly Swatter with which to kill flies. We want you to join us in this great work. Our offer of the Free Fly Swatters and our agreement to pay 25c a pint for all dead flies brought to us is made in good faith. We want to enlist the children in this campaign. This is your opportunity to give them a salutary lesson in hygiene, and enlist them with you and with us in a great national movement.

Come in and get a Free Fly Swatter and start in at once. There is absolutely no restriction, no string to this offer—Free Fly Swatters to every adult person who asks for one, and 25c a pint for all dead flies brought to us.

LEOPARDS ESCAPE ON SHIP IN STORM

Lures Snarling Beasts Into Room and Yanks Door Shut—Kept There Until Voyage Ends.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 10.—A thrilling tale of the sea, relating how two leopards were released from their cages during a storm on the Mediterranean, was revealed here when the German steamship Rheinfels arrived from Calcutta, India. Along with two giraffes and two antelopes, three leopards were loaded at Calcutta to be brought to a circus now in this city. The leopards were caged on the deck, far from the cabin. The leopards encountered a severe storm.

Two great seas simultaneously mounting the vessel's deck broke the door of the leopard cage. Four of the crew were on deck. As the spotted brutes rushed out upon the slippery deck, howling and snarling, one of the men succeeded in reaching the cabin. The other three sought the mast and rigging for safety. The men were thrown into terror.

Second Mate Hans Hummel, the one who reached the cabin, proved the life saver. His room is an off-side one and has a window connecting with an inner runway. He attached a long rope to the inner knob of his door, and, climbing through the window, yelled at the top of his voice to attract the leopards.

Make for Human Bait. Hearing the mate's voice, the mate made for the room. Spying Hummel, both leopards rushed toward the window, anticipating their quickness, the mate banged shut the sash and jerked the rope which held the leopards captive in his room. The leopards were kept in the mate's cabin until the vessel landed here, when showmen transferred them to a cage.

CROPS GROW TOO FAST FOR TEXAS

Such is the Story a Correspondent Sends In.

Declares Corn Whizzes Through Air at Such Rate That Ears Are Frost Bitten.

The season for big crop stories is opening. Last year Kansas was first to report. Texas appears to be after first honors this year, judging from the following, which is sent in by the correspondent at Overton, Texas: Overton, Texas, June 10.—East Texas is in grave danger of a famine, as the corn is growing so fast that, going through the air at great speed, the ears are frost-bitten.

The cotton is getting so tall that the bolls are knocked off as a result of constant bumping against the sky. And as for the watermelon crop—alas! It is the same old story, the vines growing so fast that they wear out the melons, dragging them over the ground. However, the old story has a new phase this year, as some people are lassooing the vines and staking them down to the ground. The laborers hope that this rescue work will be successful, as their strength depends on the melon crop, and they will need both strength and endurance to climb the cotton stalks. It, by the aid of powerful telescopes, it is possible to discern any cotton clinging to the stalks in picking time.

DIES IN A BARBARIC TEST

Woman Allows Herself to Be Set Afire to Prove Innocence.

Winnipeg, Canada, June 10.—Mrs. Annie Zahrtuk, 29 years old, is dead from burns sustained after kerosene oil had been poured over her and set on fire. Her husband, Stefan Zahrtuk, 22 years old, is accused of the crime and has been arrested.

According to the police, Zahrtuk accused his wife of unfaithfulness and to prove her innocence she consented to the ordeal. If she screamed it would be an acknowledgment of her guilt. She is said to have borne the agony in silence for some time and then rushed out of her home and called for assistance. She died a short time later, after telling her story to neighbors.

CANNIBALS HANGED

London, England, June 10.—Convicted of practicing cannibalism and human sacrifices, forty members of the "Leopard Society," a secret organization, have been hanged in Sierra Leone, a British colony on the west coast of Africa.

Fellow travelers of Sir William Brandford Griffith, chief justice of Gold Coast, who presided at the trials, said on arriving at Plymouth that of 100 members of the society arrested many were sentenced to deportation.

Nature Study Club Would Protect the Warblers at Glen Ridge, N. J.

Glen Ridge, N. J., June 10.—A request to the residents of this borough to feed their cats regularly and to provide each cat with a strong collar and bell as a means of protecting the birds, is the appeal just made by the nature study department of the Women's Club.

Too many birds are killed by the cats, who are permitted to roam at will, the women folks say, all because their owners will not feed them.

LAKE WITHOUT A BOTTOM
Drive Piles Into It for Railroad, But They Disappear—Islands Pop Up.

Tacoma, Wash., June 10.—Railroad engineers are wondering if there is any bottom to Pattison Lake, across which they are trying to construct 3000 feet of the new water grade line between Tacoma and Portland. Great sections of filled grade and piles have dropped out of sight while islands have popped up where islands never existed before.

To begin with, piles thirty feet long were purchased for the construction of the trestle. These went out of sight at the first blow of the hammer. Next in turn piles sixty feet, ninety feet, and finally at 110 feet were used. With the latter bottom was apparently struck and the work trains were able to cross the lake in making the fill.

One day a section of track dropped out of sight. Out in the lake some hundred yards away appeared an island. Pontoons were used for a temporary track for the dump cars, and more dirt and rock was dumped in. Another island has appeared. How long this will continue no one ventures to predict.

Pattison Lake is seven miles from Olympia, and is three miles long.

TAKE ALL CATTLE IN STATE
Available Supply Exhausted by Twenty-seven Car Shipment.

Tacoma, Wash., June 10.—Twenty-seven carloads of Montana cattle that arrived here are said to clean up Montana's present available cattle supply. Montana grazing lands, like those in the Southwest, have been largely divided into smaller farms.

John Frye, one of the two large Tacoma-Seattle packers, denies he has cornered the Pacific Northwest beef market. He says he has only been buying months ahead to maintain a visible supply.

WATERWORKS.

Two gentlemen were in Cotulla this week to look over opportunity for an investment in a waterworks plant, and each of them informed the RECORD that the proposition looked gilt-edge on the surface and that they thought enough of it to go into the matter thoroughly. One of the parties was a Texas man and the other from Ohio. The Texas gentleman will make a proposition to the City Council Monday and if his proposition strikes them as favorable he will at once go into the matter in detail and we believe will put it through. The Ohio man stated that he never saw a better opportunity for an investment and went directly back home with the intention of interesting some of his friends. He took with him photographs of the town and also of the artesian gusher, samples of soil and water, etc.

Carranza has advice from his agent in Paris that the loan the Mexican government was negotiating with French bankers had been turned down on account of the rebels holding so many ports of entry. If this is a fact the Huerta government will soon be a thing of the past.

Rain fell in many sections of Texas this week but this immediate territory the precipitation was very light, and not of sufficient quantity to do any good. The feed crop will be very short; cotton is standing the dry weather well.

The news dispatches about the great forces being sent out by the Federal government from the Mexican capitol seems to be all bosh. At least these forces never reach the points or disturbance.

The canteloupe season is about on and watermelons will be on the market. The crop this year in this section will come from the irrigation farms exclusively unless rain falls very soon.

One of La Salle county's ranchmen is putting up three silos. We are glad to see them get going in this territory, for as soon as the farmers see their great advantage, they will soon become numerous.

The Rice Hotel, costing $3,000,000 was opened at Houston last month. The structure is eighteen stories high and has three complete kitchens. That looks like Texas is doing big things.

The Eastern states had freezing weather this week and even down here in Texas the past few nights have been exceptionally cool.

Behind all successful farming lies, not only a fundamental philosophy, but an undeviating routine of system.

Swat the fly. Swat him every day, and you will find that your work counts.

Says Cotulla Should Have Water.

I. Marks, retired business man of Cleveland, Ohio, was in Cotulla last week looking over the irrigation project and expressed himself as very favorably impressed with the possibilities of such a system as is proposed. Mr. Marks also visited the artesian well on the Cotulla property west of town and after seeing it, could not understand why the business men of the town should lose any time in having a well sunk. "You have the building of an excellent town here", said Mr. Marks, "but it is out of the question to think the work of progress will start until water is had. It is up to the property owners of Cotulla to get busy and blow their horns, for nobody else is going to do it; neither is anybody else going to come in and get the water for them. When Cotulla does this for herself, and changes the now barren appearance then homeseekers and investors will come more often and stay longer. I would like to move to Cotulla myself, but no water supply for the town bluffs me off, and I'll tell you frankly it bluffs nine out of ten that come here with a view of locating. If Cotulla should put in a waterworks system I would stake my life that the population would double in five years time, and with it would bring largely increased values. Sit still and do nothing as you are doing today, and your population may be less five years hence."

Saw Battle Of Matamoras.

W. H. Millikin, owner of the Black Ranch was here Monday, coming direct from Brownsville. Mr. Millikin witnessed the battle of Matamoras last week, that is, as much of it as could be seen from the American side. He was on the bridge when about 75 of the retreating federals came across with their saddles and guns on their backs and surrendered to the United States soldiers. After the battle Mr. Millikin went into Matamoras and talked with General Blanco. He says Blanco is a fine man as also is all his officers. Mr. Millikin was desirous of going to his oil property near Tampico and Gen Blanco offered to give him an escort through the territory he controlled, but as he did not control all of the territory he was afraid to take the trip by that route. He went to Laredo Tuesday and if a pass could be secured from the Federals expected go about ninety miles in an automobile and then take a train for Tampico.

Any marketing plan adequate to meet the situation must give the producer the full benefits of its advantages.

The real problem of the farmer is how to sell his products.

Flies Menace Cotulla.

Doctors Graham & Whitehead Warn Citizens to Beware Household Pest.

The agitation against the housefly grows apace, as the danger of this pest as a carrier of filth and disease germs is realized. Last year's "Swat-the-Fly" campaign was almost national in character. But for some reason little was done in this community to abate the evil. Yet the danger comes close home to every one of us. In order that our readers may understand how the fly transmits disease and why it must be destroyed, a representative of this newspaper interviewed Drs. G r a h a m & Whitehead, two of the best known practitioners in this city, and experts on contagious diseases.

We found the doctors in their office, and we asked them what they thought of the agitation to exterminate the fly. In using the word "swat" we must have smiled a little without meaning to, but the doctors were instantly serious.

"The house fly," they said, "is one of the most dangerous pests in any community. In common with all thinking men, in our profession or out of it, we welcome every effort, to get rid of this evil. "Swat the house fly" we say, for every "swat" as you call it, is a blow in defense of public health. We have said that the fly is dangerous, and we will tell you why. Its whole history is associated with dirt. The female fly lays her eggs in manure, decaying vegetables, kitchen garbage, waste material in city dumps, street carrion, slaughter house waste, human excrement, and anything worse if the fly can find it. The eggs are minute, glistening white, oval, an inch in length, laid in clusters, averaging 120 to 150 to the cluster. The female fly usually lays four clusters in a season, a total of approximately 600 eggs. Thus the killing of a female fly before she has laid her eggs means the destruction of 600 disease carriers.

"The eggs hatch in about eight hours, the period of incubation varying with the temperature.

"When first hatched from the egg the fly is known as a larva, a slender creature which burrows into the substance on which the egg was laid, and which changes in about five days into a pupa, which develops into an adult fly in from three to five days.

"The fly lives but a few weeks (except those that occasionally hibernate over the winter) but there are about nine generations in a year. One female fly, living over the winter and laying 120 (the maximum) eggs in April, will have 5,598,720,000 adult descendants by September, of which one-half will be females ready to perpetuate the evil.

"Every one of these flies is a menace to health. They alight on decomposing matter and, perhaps, on the lips of your baby, with germs gathered in the tagious wards of hospitals, they spread disease and death in the community. Forty-eight hours after feeding on infected material, flies may leave the germs in your sugar bowl or uncovered dish on your table. A single fly may carry from 6,000,000 bacteria. This is proved by actual test made by putting flies in a bottle, pouring into the bottle a known quantity of sterilized water, shaking the bottle to wash the bacteria fly's body, and then determining the number of bacteria in the water. Flies thus tested yield an average of 1,250,000 bacteria and that's what you get when a fly drops in your milk pitcher. "We are glad that the public is waking up to this danger. It's really remarkable how the crusade has extended. Why, right here in this town, Mr. Windrow, the Rexall Druggist, has joined forces with the proprietors of nearly 6,000 similar drug stores throughout the country to "swat" the fly. He is giving away free fly swatters to everybody that asks for one. It's an act of public spirit and every thoughtful man must applaud what druggist Windrow is doing. "It's better to prevent disease than to sell remedies, and Druggist Windrow will have the applause of all thoughtful men in the fine work." Adv.

LAKE WITHOUT A BOTTOM
Drive Piles Into It for Railroad, But They Disappear—Islands Pop Up.

Tacoma, Wash., June 10.—Railroad engineers are wondering if there is any bottom to Pattison Lake, across which they are trying to construct 2,000 feet of the new water grade line between Tacoma and Portland. Great sections of filled grade and piles have dropped out of sight while islands have popped up where islands never existed before.

To begin with, piles thirty feet long were purchased for the construction of the trestle. These went out of sight at the first blow of the hammer. Next in turn piles sixty feet, ninety feet, and finally at 110 feet were used. With the latter bottom was apparently struck and the work trains were able to cross the lake in making the hill.

One day a section of track dropped out of sight. Out in the lake some hundred yards away appeared an island. Pontoons were used for a temporary track for the dump cars, and more dirt and rock was dumped in. Another island has appeared. How long this will continue no one ventures to predict.

Pattison Lake is seven miles from Olympia, and is three miles long.

TEACH OWNERS TO KNOW THEIR CARS.

Purpose of Book, Furnished With Each New Studebaker Automobile

The motorist who today buys one the light, handy and efficient automobiles which have become recognized as staple all over the world, is often amazed at the care and attention he finds he has purchased, along with his car. More and more, manufacturers have gone to realize that lasting sales success is based on the prestige of their cars in the hands of owner-drivers. Skillful service is used increasing as a sales argument by dealers and often, for long periods, no charge is made for the minor adjustments and skilled advice given a novice.

A step still further in advance has been taken by The Studebaker Corporation which believes it a matter of especial importance to have owners of its cars thoroughly familiar with the forces that "make the wheels go round."

With infinite care and at no small expense, the Studebaker engineering department has compiled, in terms, which any layman can understand, an "Information Book" with a separate edition for each three Studebaker models. The book is complete treatise on the car, explaining each detail of the mechanism, giving explicit directions for its care, and making plain in each case the reason for attention, and the result of adjustment. The book starts with a chapter of general instruction for use as soon as the car is delivered. The owner is then told how to start the motor, drive the car and stop it.

There is a chapter devoted to the gasoline system with thorough instruction on carburetor adjustment, and a short treatise on the characteristics of the different grades of fuel. The ignition system is explained by text and diagram, as is the lubrication system, the latter being illustrated by a cut of a chassis in which each oil cup is located, a key denoting the frequency with which it should be oiled.

Studebaker owners are taught how to grind in and adjust the valves of their cars, and to avoid carbon accumulation in the motor. There are diagrams and explanations of the change-gear system, the differential, the bearings and the steering gear. Tire repair and care for the car's finish are also discussed, and there is a separate chapter on the electric starting and lighting device with which the Studebaker "35" and "Six" are equipped. The final chapter is a treatise on motor car pathology. The entire work covers more than sixty pages.

Many a motorist likes to be dependent on no outside aid for the care of his car. The aim of this book has been to make this course easy for the owner of every Studebaker car.

CITY BUILDING.

T. C. S.
"Build while you boost" is the motto of the ideal booster.

Sticking together is better than sticking the other fellow.

Paint and prosperity are synonymous in city building.

Encourage the young man and the small merchant—either may become a master of industry in a day. Remember the adage of the little acorn.

It is the height of folly to seek immigration less your town grows on its promises.

Investor arrives. All towns all have appropriate use of "acting" them at a little. This is a mighty good tonic to go along with the "talking."

It will pay the bankers, the merchants and mechanics to assist the farmer in solving his problems by lending their heartiest co-operation.

Invite the farmer to participate in the activities of your commercial organizations. You will find them substantial business men.

Wage your publicity campaign along lines based upon facts. The truth in city building is stronger than fiction.

Make your town a magnet that not merely attracts the business of the surrounding territory but is strong enough to hold it.

Adequate transportation facilities are necessary adjuncts to the successful growth of every town and city.

Don't forget that the acorn adage applies to the small town.

The "knights of the grip" are among the liveliest wires that visit your city. Get acquainted with the traveling men that make your town.

This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, harmful injections, treatments of prescriptions. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. All charity cases without charge, or if any interested call he will be glad to show the truss without charge or fit them if desired. Any one ruptured should remember the date and take advantage of this opportunity. adv.

Graduates at Baylor.

Miss Kathryn Bowen, formerly Cotulla girl graduated at Baylor College, Belton, this year. Commencement exercises were held there May 30 to June 1st. Miss Bowen has numerous friends in Cotulla who extend to her congratulations. The Belton Journal issue of May 22, gives a lengthy write up of a play "The Egyptian Princess," in which Miss Louise Bowen played a leading role. An extract from the article: "The entrance of the Queen, Miss Louise Bowen, of the Princess Alva, and her attendants, was one of marked splendor. The Queen was all that could be desired, carrying out her part in a most pleasing manner."

Resting ears are plentiful but few of them are coming from the dry and farms. We heard one farmer who couldn't irrigate say he had some corn but thought it cost him about one dollar per ear.

A Torpid Liver is a fine field for the Malarial Germ and it thrives wonderfully. The certain result in such cases is a spell of Chills.

HERBINE

Is a Powerful Chills Tonic and Liver Regulator.

It puts the liver in healthy, vigorous condition and cures the chills by destroying the disease germs which infest the system. Herbine is a fine anti-periodic medicine, more effective than the syrupy mixtures that sicken the stomach; because it not only kills the disease germs, but acts effectively on the liver, stomach and bowels, thus putting the system in condition to successfully resist the usual third or seventh day return of the chill. Herbine is a cleansing and invigorating medicine for the whole body.

WOMAN IN JAIL AS HUSBAND'S SLAYER

HER 19-YEAR-OLD ADMIRER ALSO ARRESTED.

Children Say Mother Killed Wealthy Stockman as He Lay Asleep. She Had Accused Son.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 10.—After she had tried to fasten the crime on her 12-year-old son, Mrs. Mary Muncey, 28 years old, and Horace Peters, 19, were formally charged with the murder of the woman's husband, J. W. Muncey, a rich stockman of Lockney, near here.

Both were remanded to jail without bond. Peters is a school teacher. He is accused as an accomplice and Mrs. Muncey as the actual murderer. The pair had been together frequently, it is said, and a short time ago Muncey had warned the school teacher to leave ockney, but he took the warning with ill grace.

At the hearing before Justice of the Peace Moon at Lockney, the most important testimony was given by Judge Stalbird, who said he was passing the Muncey home early in the morning when he heard a shot within the house.

Mrs. Muncey, her 12-year-old son and 8-year-old daughter ran screaming into the yard, and Stalbird entered to find the stockman lying on the bed with several bullet wounds in his head.

The woman declared her son had killed her husband.

Afterward the boy reluctantly confessed he did the killing, but conflicting stories told by his mother aroused suspicion of the authorities and they pressed the boy further and he then repudiated his confession and the arrest of Mrs. Muncey followed.

At first she declared she was absent at the time of the shooting, but was unable to establish an alibi. Both children at the coroner's inquest declared their mother had killed Muncey and that they had seen her do it as he lay asleep in bed.

The boy took on himself the crime, he said, to save his mother and the mother thought by so doing, it is also alleged, that both would escape.

ALMOST LUNCH FOR HIPPO

Asleep in Mouthful of Hay Grabbed by Miss Murphy.

New York, June 10.—Jim, a large "ratter" cat that lives in the lion house in the Central Park menagerie, was a sleep on a pile of hay in the stall of Miss Murphy, the mother hippo, when that colossal creature descended upon the hay and, not noticing the cat, neither the hippo's keeper, until jumped out of his dangerous place just as the hippo tossed into his mouth the bundle of hay the cat was sleeping on.

There was a shout from some of the women and children as Jim sailed through the air and landed safely out of reach of the yawning jaws that it miraculously escaped. Jim lost several lives from terror.

INFLUENCE OF GOOD BOOKS

(By J. T. Mann.)

Books, like high explosives, are very valuable if properly handled and wisely selected, but dangerous and degrading in their effect when indiscriminately perused and read. Do you know that 80 per cent of wasted lives, lawlessness and crimes can be traced directly to the reading of improper literature? Actuated solely by mercenary motives, there are hundreds, yea thousands, of unprincipled publishers whose presses are running night and day flooding the world with "yellow back" magazines and books of unmentionable morals and, often, like the Biblical wolf in sheep's clothing, these books and magazines steal into our homes and do their awful damage before we realize their vicious natures. Such books are easily procured and eagerly read by children and those innocent persons whose early training has not familiarized them with authors and books of the delectable sort. Therefore the books that are placed at the disposal of children, whose habits and intellects are largely influenced by what they read, should be most carefully selected and should be of known literary value. Deep concern should be given the moral phases. The intellect of the average child may be accurately likened unto concrete. When properly mixed, you may mould or shape it unto whatever form you desire, and whether it be a thing of beauty or the most hideous object imaginable, it retains, indefinitely, its first impressions—so it is with the child. It is just as easy to create in the child a desire for wholesome, good books as it is to allow him or her to saturate their growing minds with the baneful sort. The harm done by the latter is unlimited, while the good that is done by the former is immeasurable.

A Texan whom I know, whose philosophy has delighted hundreds of his friends and acquaintances, once said to me, "There is never a human being born in this world that lives to an age of understanding but what he or she is an especial sort of lunatic"; in other words a fanatic on some one subject or another. While I do not agree with my friend in such a broad assertion, at the same time I do know there are never two children with temperaments and mental callings precisely alike, and that which will appeal to one child, may carry no interest whatever to another. Therefore, in making up the school library, the books should be widely diversified, but in every case they should be selected with the view of establishing the growing minds of the children a love for purity and honesty, inspiring them to higher endeavors in life. I often envy the teacher as he or she sits gazing each morning into the happy care-free faces of the children, and thinks to me there is nothing under God's blue heaven that appeals so strongly as do romping, happy children. Sometimes it seems to me that I can catch a faint glimpse of what the humble Nazarene meant when he said to the peasants who stood in silent adoration about him: "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." I see some of you smile. No doubt you are recalling in your mind how little like the Kingdom of Heaven that red-headed, freckle-faced, barefoot boy is, whom you keep seated on the front desk, in order that you might carry on your day's work in the school with some degree of dignity.

Children are not angels, but children; and each one of those rosy little faces that gaze trustingly or furtively into your eyes each morning is a human being, equipped by an all merciful God with a mind which, for a time, is given into your keeping, to make of it what you will. And who knows but that very boy whom you have in mind at this moment may some day carry into the business, professional or political world the memory of you and gratitude to you, for having given him a proper start, and surrounding him with proper environment during his most impressionable age.

The impressions that they are receiving in your schoolroom each day are the ones which will cling to them throughout life, no matter what their future environment might be. The responsibility of the teacher is indeed great. All children are not sent to school to learn. Some parents are indifferent as to whether their children learn anything or not. The school merely furnishes them an opportunity to get rid of their children for a certain period of the day. Such parents are a discredit to the community, and if their children amount to anything in after-life, the credit is due the teacher, and not the parents. Can you estimate the gratitude of any boy or girl who has been raised under such an influence and yet comes forth into the world to lead a life of purity and usefulness? That gratitude belongs to you, and will live in the heart of that child so long as the life blood animates him.

Another class of parents in every community are those who, not having had the advantages themselves—and are for that very reason undelighted, or non-progressive citizens) believe that children of today should be no better equipped than they were in their day, and are therefore never willing to lend aid to any progressive movement in the community. Thank God such people are in the minority. A third class is composed of honest and progressive people—those who have not had advantages, yet see the importance of providing every opportunity for their children. These are willing to deprive themselves, as probably many of them have been doing all through life, to place within the reach of the children and the community, books, buildings, school furnishings, and any other thing that will help to raise their own offspring to a higher plane than that which they occupy.

Such a family lived in the year 1817 in what is now Spencer County, Indiana. Their humble station in life prevented them giving their son even the meager advantages that the public school system then afforded, which was merely "readin', writin' and cipherin'", to the rule of three." The boy, however, was not content to remain a mere woodsman. His aspirations soared far above this honest but humble calling. The father, seeing that the boy was ambitious, never sold anything at the settlement but what he managed to squeeze out a coin or two with which to buy that boy a book. In the long winter evenings upon the floor and pour over the contents of these books until the wee small hours of the morning. Often half frozen and with eyes blinking from the long concentration, he would, without removing his clothes, throw himself upon the bunk, built into the wall, to catch a few hours' rest before the call to the duties of the day in the field. That boy was preparing himself for one of the most strenuous careers that ever a man lived on the North American continent. He knew in his own mind that the call would come, and when it came he was not found wanting. He became President of the United States and during his administration there was precipitated that awful struggle between the North and the South, at the close of which the fetters of slavery were removed from the blacks, and Old Glory floated triumphantly and protectively over a United Commonwealth. Who knows but what there is an embryo Lincoln or Lee in your schoolroom, or perhaps a Byron, a Shakespeare, a Hugo, a George Elliot or a Florence Nightingale.

In the daily papers not long since was an account of Woodrow Wilson's first teacher, who early predicted that her pupil would some day be the President of the United States. So firmly did she believe that her prediction would be realized during her lifetime, that she kept a photograph of him, to be presented to him upon his nomination. This was recently presented. Woodrow Wilson's success in the political world is due as much to the training received in the primary school as to the experience which he gained after leaving college.

Teachers play a very prominent part upon the stage of life; and if it were but known, the success of many of the best men and women on earth today is due directly to the influence of their teachers, at some period during their school life.

EDUCATIONAL BANK OF TEXAS AMONG STATES.

Some figures compiled by the Hogg committee for the enlargement and extension of higher education in Texas are of value at this point.

As compared with North Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, California, Colorado, Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan, Kansas and Missouri, Texas ranks third in population; thirteenth in income for higher education; fourteenth in number of teachers per 100 students; tenth in income for higher education from state taxes; ninth in income from endowment; eighth in value of educational plants. The value of the educational buildings of Texas amounts to $3,213,000. Those of California are worth $9,488,000.

Texas has 6.1 teachers to every 100 students. North Dakota has 13. Texas has an annual income for higher education of $41,000. Michigan has an income of $2,134,000.

Every time a wise man makes a mistake he learns something.

THE ACADEMY OF THE INCARNATE WORD

Conducted by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word. Teachers Who All Hold Degrees from the Highest Universities in the Land.

Located on Alamo Heights in a beautiful suburban villa, stands one of San Antonio's largest and best equipped educational institutions. The College and Academy of the Incarnate Word. This college and academy is conducted by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, those sweet and patient helpers in the Lord's Vineyard who work incessantly and untiringly at the great task of uplifting humanity and making this world the better for having lived in it.

This school is situated on a spot where Nature has poured forth her bounty with prodigal hand. The lovely San Antonio river, which has its source on the villa grounds, serenely pursues its course through the woodlands, and on all sides, alternating stretches of forest and open lawn complete the beauty of the picturesque scene, justly entitled the charming spot to be called "The Garden of Texas."

These beautiful grounds are further enhanced with lovely flowers and shrubbery, and the well-kept walks and driveways give convenient access to the beautiful stretch of lawn on which the students romp and play their games. The great college building and adjoining which is the magnificent and imposing chapel, are of red brick with stone and granite trimmings; designed in all the simplicity of the most fitting and in keeping with the surrounding splendor of nature. The class rooms, sleeping apartments, music, recreation, dining and study halls, gymnasium, the long and cheerful corridors, are all arranged with a view to health, comfort and convenience, in a corresponding equipment for the cultivation of heart, intellect and taste. The buildings are well ventilated for the coolest of summer breezes have unrestrained access, while in winter a modern heating system assures complete comfort with ample facilities for hot and cold water baths. The College has its own steam laundry, electric light and ice plant. The college auditorium, with seating capacity of four hundred and fifty persons, supplies an excellent means of training the students in vocal and instrumental music, as well as in elocution.

The extensive grounds, comprising 23 acres, covered with greenward and shaded by lofty trees, are most beautifully adorned. The entire surroundings seem to breathe an air of peaceful seclusion, which exerts a powerful influence over the moral, physical and intellectual life.

The health of the students being of paramount importance, the sanitary regulations enforced are of the most practical nature. Special attention is given to the choice and preparation of food, the hours for eating and retiring, for meals, study and recreation. This conscientious regard for health extends to every individual pupil. The results are most forcibly illustrated by the unusually small percentage of ill health at the college.

Should a student become ill, more than a trifling indisposition, the parents or guardians are immediately notified, meanwhile the invalid is cared for by a trained nurse from the Santa Rosa Infirmary. The plan of education followed at the college is practical, solid and refined. The training given to the disposition and character is designed to qualify the young ladies to do credit to themselves and others, in the position destined for them by God.

Difference of religion is no obstacle to admission of students; no influence is brought to bear against the religious convictions of any student, but for the sake of uniformity all are required to be present at the public religious exercises.

The most assiduous care and attention is given to the moral and christian training of the students. No pains are spared by the sisters to mould the character of the young ladies, to instill the great guiding principles of honor, rectitude and piety, and to cultivate those virtues which are the happiest results and best reward of christian education. To preserve the integrity of the system, the students who aim at honors or degrees, must conform strictly to the prescribed courses as noted in the curriculum. This should prevent students who can spend only a part of their time at school, or whose health will not permit them to take the entire course, from pursuing it in part. Among the many means of promoting emulation, are the Table of Honor, monthly reports to parents, monthly competitions, and the awarding of certificates of merit, medals, diplomas, no one will

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. Riddle was the recipient of a delightful surprise Wednesday evening on the lawn of the Gilmer Hotel, where twenty of her special friends had congregated, to tender her a luncheon and say their good-byes for the summer. (as Mrs. Riddle was leaving Wednesday night for Nebraska to be gone for several months.) A delicious lunch was spread on the lawn in picnic style that was much enjoyed by all present, and highly complemented and appreciated by the honoree.

These evening parties given a la "fresco" on lawns, roof garden and etc., are becoming all the rage in the cities this season and in many cases are spoken off as bare-foot parties, and while this was not a bare-foot party the fortunate twenty enjoyed the games and fun on the lawn after luncheon, as much as if they had been care-free bare-foot children.

Mrs. Riddle was presented with a handsome travelling toilette case, for which she thanked her friends most heartily: Quite a few friends stayed up for the 12 o'clock Boll-Weevil and bade her good bye at the station.

PHILATHEA CLASS

Miss Imogene Lacey was hostess to the Philathea girls Wednesday afternoon.

A large number of the young ladies were present, and noted with pleasure that they had as visitors Mrs. Steffens and Miss Binkley. The new set of by laws were read and approved, and the reading of one committee was heard, this the social committee was as follows: Miss Wheeler, Miss Sullivan, Mrs. Johns.

After the business period the guests discovered that their young hostess had provided well for their pleasure. A lively contest was had Mrs. Steffen provided herself an adept in the guessing of advertisements from the pictures. Miss Binkley rendered several piano selections and applauded as was the sweet singing of Mrs. Steffen. The hostess served ice cream and cake, and this merry group had a most delightful afternoon with Miss Lacey.

Mrs. Coleman and Miss Alma served home made cake and refreshing Ice Tea.

GIRLS PARTY

Mrs. H. B. Stedham entertained her Sunday School class of little girls Wednesday afternoon. There are 8 little girls in this class 6 of them were present, the other two were unavoidably absent.

Mrs. Stedham gave the little girls a candy pull when they first arrived, and after this frolic and games on the lawn, the little Misses were invited into the dining room, where they were served to delicious ice cream and cake.

Children appreciate these little attentions, and it is an inspiration to watch them in their unaffected joy. Mrs. Stedham was made to feel their pleasure.

Mrs. T. H. Poole entertained the Presbyterian ladies Thursday afternoon: A large number of the members were present; and were pleased to greet Mrs. Poole's house guests, Mrs. Davenport of San Antonio, Mrs. Jack Hill of Laredo, also Mrs. Poole's other guests, Mrs. Miller, Rogers, Smith, Graham, and Douglass, and Misses Christine Hill and Edna Earl Douglass.

Mrs. J. H. Gallman lead the devotions, and Mrs. Wichmann conducted the regular Bible lesson. There were several selections of splendid merit on various topics that were well read by Mesdames Gallman, Whitehead, and Wichmann and Miss Jessie Copp

These occasional readings are well selected and prove helpful and instructive: Two home-made dollars were collected: After all business was dispensed with, Misses Ethel Poole and Christine Hill passed Ice Lemonade and an abundance of home baked cake. The new life imparted by the pleasant guests, made the social hour pass very rapidly with not a dull moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fullerton will entertain the ladies together with their husbands and men friends Thursday evening the 19th inst.

The next lesson will be on the 26 inst and will be found in Deuteronomy beginning with question 189 and closing with question 194. Watchword, Shepherd."
