

Equalize Precinct Population

Commissioners Re-District County!

After a suit was filed in District Court on Tuesday, December 30, 1969, requesting the Bailey County Commissioners Court to re-district Bailey County according to population, the commissioners have met frequently and regularly in an effort to comply.

On Monday, January 19, commissioners made final approval of a proposed re-districting plan. The commissioners precincts in compliance with a decision of the United States Supreme Court. The re-districting was to become effective as of its passage on January 19. Commissioner Matt Dudley of Precinct One made the motion to accept the proposed re-districting plan and it was seconded by R. P. McCall of Precinct Four. County Judge Don Cihak reported that all commissioners present voted unanimously to pass the motion. Commissioner W. H. Eubanks of Precinct Three was not present at the meeting, said Judge Cihak.

Lee Pool, a longtime Muleshoe resident and businessman, met with the Bailey County Commissioners court at their regular meeting on December 8, and at that time requested that the county re-district the commissioners precincts.

The request was made at that time through his attorney, John McFall of Lubbock, who is with the law firm of Chapel and McFall.

During the original re-districting request at the December 8 meeting, McFall pointed out to the commissioner's court the unequal population which existed in Bailey County in the commissioners precincts and requested that the situation be remedied. He stated that the 1968 voter registration showed 2,672 voters registered in Precinct One; 280 in Precinct Two; 301 registered voters in Precinct Three and 374 registered voters in Precinct Four. He said this comprised 3,627 registered voters in the county and results in 73.69 percent of the registered voters being in Precinct One; 7.71 percent in Precinct Two; 8.29 percent in Precinct Three and 10.31 in Precinct Four.

McFall also added that it was projected that the existing county population is approximately 10,000 people. Therefore, to comply with a recent 'one-man, one-vote' Supreme Court decision, a precinct division, with approximately 2,500 population in each voting precinct, would be necessary.

The attorney requested at that time, that on behalf of his client, Lee Pool, the county commissioners begin the necessary process to equalize the precincts. He stated that his client's vote was obviously not equal to that of the overall voters in the county.

The suit, which was filed Tuesday, December 30, showed the plaintiffs as Lee Pool, D.O.

Kinard and Ed Edmiston. Named defendants in the suit were Don W. Cihak, Matt Dudley, Lloyd Stephens, W. H. Eubanks and R. P. McCall.

Judge Cihak said that each commissioner will remain in his respective precinct, although the precinct boundary lines have been changed and approved by the commissioners.

Head's Hog Haven New SPF Operation

With the hog industry becoming 'big business' in Bailey County, the announcement of another SPF hog operation for the county was made this week.

Norman and Marshall Head announced that Head's Hog Haven, and SPF hog operation, is in the process of being built three miles south of Muleshoe on Highway 214.

Norman Head will be general manager of the new operation which they say will be very similar to the Muleshoe Swine Breeder, Inc. operation.

Open House Slated Sunday Afternoon

Following months of planning and preparation, a group of local businessmen and farmers constructed a Specific Pathogen Free (SPF) Disease Free Hog Operation near Muleshoe. The new business is a corporation known as Muleshoe Swine Breeders, Inc.

Location of the new operation is three miles southeast of Muleshoe, just off Highway 84, north of the railroad tracks. On Sunday, January 25, from 2-5 p.m., open house for the new pork production operation will be held in the community room of the Muleshoe State Bank. During the afternoon, the open house will be conducted by showing slides and explaining the various phases of operation.

Open House for Muleshoe Swine Breeders, Inc. is being held at the Muleshoe State Bank because of the type of disease-free operation. As it is a disease free operation, stringent precaution must be taken in order to protect the feeder hogs. No visitors are permitted on the premises at Muleshoe Swine Breeders, Inc. without prior permission of the manager and special clothing and shoes are required before going into any of the farrowing houses, nursery, finishing houses or on the grounds of the operation.

Officers and directors of the new operation include Lee Dunbar, president and general manager; Kenneth Nesbitt, vice president; Joe Smallwood, secretary-treasurer; and directors, Jim Davidson, Don Harmon, Dr. Jerry Gleason and Dr. Charles Lewis. Tommy Bratcher is herdsman. Among the officers and directors are two cattle feed lot men, one farmer, one real estate man, a banker, a dentist and a veterinarian.

With an eventual projection of 575 sows, and a yearly production of 2,000-2,500 top finished hogs yearly.

Marlin Mills was named chairman of the banquet committee.

John Black was chairman of the annual Jaycee radio day which was Tuesday.

Monday, during the regular weekly meeting of the Jaycees, zation was given and various projects of the group discussed.

Western '66' SPF Operation Growing

After almost a year in operation, Charles King, of the Western '66' Company's SPF hog operation, said they would like to sincerely offer their own "Congratulations to the Muleshoe Swine Breeders, Inc."

King said, "We feel that their new operation will prove to be a great boost to the swine production in our area. The magnitude and thorough-lay-out of the new operation should greatly add to the enhancement of such industry in this county."

King said the Western '66' operation includes his brother, Joe King, himself and Kearney Scoggin as general manager. Their breeding operation is three miles north of Muleshoe on Highway 214 and two miles west. They farrowed first in February, 1969. He said their present operation has 60 sows, with a projected yield of around 1,000 top hogs a year.

Presently in the operation is a farrowing house, nursery, and finishing pens.

He said they plan expansion. The Western '66' hog production operation is presently on lease land and he commented that once they find a suitable location they will enlarge to at least 500 sows, with an eventual expansion to around 1,000 sows.

There is no feed mill at the present time, but King stated that the pigs are fed from the central mill at their headquarters plant just north of Muleshoe. He said they feed corn and commercial supplements. It is interesting to note one of King's comments. He said Western '66' used approximately 1,000,000 pounds of locally grown grain last year. He commented that the locally grown grains were used mostly for hog feeding, although some was used in cattle feeding. He said they use the grains purchased locally, plus supplements from their own stock to feed at the Western '66' operation.

Finished hogs from the Western '66' SPF operation are moved into Muleshoe where they have holding facilities for 250 head of hogs south of the Union Compress. They also have sow pens with facilities for 200 head at their breeding location.

Charles King, Joe King and Kearney Scoggin of the Western '66' SPF Hog Operation added

The Puzzle Of Pork Production Outlined

by J. K. Adams
Why doesn't the Muleshoe area and the rest of the Texas Panhandle start telling the corn belt pork producer to move over and give em room? They are saying it in no uncertain terms to the beef producer and the beef animal is a much more inefficient converter of grain into meat than is the hogish pig.

We might do well to compare the pork production business in Bailey County with a disassembled jig saw puzzle in a toy factory. In the case of the puzzle in the toy factory, every one is too busy putting out other toys to take out and properly assemble this particular toy.

Our highly productive farm folks in this area are much too busy and involved in the production of one part of the pork puzzle to take out and properly put the other parts together with the mountains of feed grains to solve the pork production puzzle.

We have been told over and over for the last 50 years or so that we have all the parts necessary to produce pork more cheaply than the corn belt can possibly produce this product. What is the big hold up? Where is the bottle neck? A close examination will reveal that the shortage of people with the time, patience and knowhow in the care of sows and baby pigs in the highly specialized field of confinement farrowing is the big bottle neck.

Given an unlimited supply of healthy forty to fifty pound weaning pigs at a reasonable price, and we would find Muleshoe area cotton and feed grain farmers rapidly putting in efficient feed lots for pork production. Without question, they would soon outrun the boom in beef numbers and show a greater return on investment than beef can possibly show.

It is a well known fact that the old steer consumes from seven to 12 pounds of concentrates for each pound of weight he gains. Furnish a local farmer the healthy 50 pound pig and see that the pig is on a proper ration in a proper environment free of disease and parasites and he will put on the pound of pork for less than four pounds of concentrate per pound of gain.

Now that we have found the bottle neck and honestly faced up to it, what are we going to do about it - We must set about the task of doing away with the kind of brood sow care and management that results in twins and triplets when we should be averaging 10 pigs per litter.

We are on the threshold of eliminating hog cholera from the Texas Panhandle. We have the know how of keeping herds free of other diseases and both external and internal parasites. We must have a brood sow caretaker whose number one job is to closely supervise 100 to 200 brood sows. We must admit failure and commit to history that method of pig production that saw the sow being attended to if and when the tractor work was completed in the fields.

The successful pig producer who will fill the commercial farmer and feed lot operators pens with healthy pigs must study the findings of recent research well. He must put his findings to work along with his time and a considerable amount of cash. Hogs in the Muleshoe area suffer much more from heat than they do from cold but neither extreme heat or extreme cold will be tolerated by the man who will boast of an average of ten or more pigs raised per sow.

J. R. Beverly, Texas A&M University Extension Service, reported at a recent state conference of Pork Producers that the high temperature of 95 degrees maintained for the two week period following mating resulted in only 9.4 live embryo per sow while sows kept at a comfortable 75 degrees for the same two week period following mating were found to have 12.6 live embryo per sow. Records were kept on 15 very similar gilts at each temperature. It mattered little whether the temperature was 75 degrees fahrenheit for the two weeks prior to the mating or the third and fourth week after mating. If the pork producer can raise three more pigs per sow by keeping the temperature down two weeks following mating, he could soon pay for evaporative coolers. Pigs cease to gain weight as the temperature exceeds 90 degrees fahrenheit so insulated air conditioned feeding barns will also pay their way in the highly efficient feeding operation of the future. Producers were told at the state conference that buildings should be batt insulated and in addition a 4-mil sheet of polyethylene film should be placed in large sheets over insulation to make a positive vapor barrier.

A fan should be installed in the farrowing house with a capacity of 80 cubic feet per minute per sow and litter. This will be in excess of need during winter but a two speed fan works well if it is provided with an over-riding thermostat that shifts the fan into high gear when the outside temperature warms up. Even better is a three fan system. One fan takes care of minimum needs and may run continuously. The other two fans can be controlled by individual thermostats that will start when inside temperature dictates the need for cool air. Evaporative coolers are highly successful in keeping people comfortable in the Texas Panhandle.

Why not use this wonderful invention to keep the hogs comfortable and pocket the profits? Not many pieces of machinery will pay as much returns on investments as a simple evaporative cooler in a well insulated feeding barn. In summary, many factors limit litter size which spells success or failure in pork production. First we have the inherent ability of the sow. If she is bred to produce the large litter, we must do something to assure proper control of environment to make survival of big litters possible. We still fail if we do not handle the ration properly. This applies to the boar as well as to the sow herd. Closely following in importance is proper management in the mating process. The use of known management practices offers a great opportunity if increasing litter size and profits. Lot mating resulted in only 68 percent live embryos while hand mating produced 82 percent live embryos.

Intelligent use of double mating as compared to single mating may increase litter size by 2 pigs per litter as shown at College Station where 80 sows were divided into equal groups and single and double mating used on the similar groups. The parts of the puzzle are all at hand in the Muleshoe country. Success will come when it ceases to be a side line to be looked after if and when the other work is done. The people who put the puzzle together and make it work will look upon pork production as a number one industry worthy of an investment of much time, talent and cash investment.

Mrs. Brown, wife of a Muleshoe farmer and mother of two children, has been a member of ESA about 2 1/2 years. The children are a daughter, Stephanie, two and a half years old, and a son, Russel, 7 1/2 months. Sharon Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chisholm and has lived in Muleshoe "all my life". She is a 1966 graduate of MHS, a member of Llano Estacado Civic Club, the Ladies Country Club Association, and, of course, ESA.

Mrs. Brown was crowned by the 1968 State Beauty Queen, Mrs. Eugene Howard, also of Muleshoe.

Judges for the contest were Jack Bell and Guy Yates, of the speech department of West Texas State University, and Mrs. Loy Pyeat of Tulia, a charm school instructor.

Participants in the beauty contest were judged 30% on their beauty, 30% on poise, 30% on personality and 10% on their enthusiasm for Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Mrs. Brown will be in competition at the State level in Dallas sometime in May. Attending the Tulia Meeting with Mrs. Brown were Mrs. Eugene Howard, Mrs. Jack Rennels, and Mrs. Marcia Gragg.

And there's the individual who talks, always, about his ailments - imaginary and beloved.

Every special group has special reasons to justify its special demands for special privileges.

At the district meeting, the project for District IX was chosen, furnishing rocking chairs for the Lubbock State School for Retarded Children. There are 90 babies in the Home.

Community Service Recognized

Mrs. Dee Clements

Mrs. Byron Gwyn

Mrs. Lula Gorrell

Mrs. E.W. Johnson

Mrs. Josephine Wenner

It was no easy job...sixteen nominees from seventeen organizations... (one woman was chosen by two organizations) ...the three judges, two from out of town and one local, pondered over the nomination material submitted and then reconsidered before finally narrowing the field down to five noble women, any one of them well qualified to be selected for the DIANA award to be given by Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

The five women selected on the basis of their community service and their general character are Mrs. Josephine Wenner, Mrs. Dee (Ruth) Clements, Mrs. E. W. (Blanche) Johnson, Mrs. Lula Gorrell, and Mrs. Byron Gwyn.

Information taken from the nomination sheets reflects the difficulty judges will have in making a final selection from among the five women.

Mrs. Josephine Wenner, a widow, mother of six children, was nominated by Women's Missionary Society of Trinity Baptist Church.

Her children are Deola Merriott, Deltor Wenner, Reardon Wenner, Ralph Wenner, Gilbert Wenner and Mrs. Ancl

Ashford. During this past year Mrs. Wenner has purchased new material and made 100 dresses for girls who live in Buckner's Orphan Home. She sews for the needy and for orphans all of the time. This past year she sent two boxes of clothing for the distressed people of the Hurricane Camille area.

Another of the nominees to reach the finalist stage is Mrs. Dee (Ruth) Clements, wife of Bailey County Sheriff. She was nominated by Jenny TOPS Club, of which she is a member. She is also a member of Lubbock Christian College Associates and is a graduate of Paducah High School.

Knitting is her hobby, and her chief interest is rearing her own children and making her house a home for the less fortunate. She served four years as the unpaid dispatcher for the Sheriff and friends knew that she denied herself visits among friends homes so that she could be close to the telephone in case she was needed. Ruth Clements is known as a very unselfish person who does not ask "What can I do to help you?" Rather, she already knows what needs doing and does it. She has spent many hours traveling to State institutions with her husband and women prisoners, or to the State Mental Hospital at Wichita Falls.

If asked to serve on a committee, the group knows she will function and she always responds, "Yes, I will". Always aware of the needs of the community, Ruth is known as the perfect neighbor, Friends tell of her concern for the County prisoners, and of how one Christmas when there was only one young man in jail, she took him to church and to dinner in their home. She always insisted her husband bring women prisoners to their home during time county facilities were inadequate.

Her love for her home and her community are Ruth's everyday life. Just now she is involved in helping to care for twin grandchildren born to her son and wife recently. She has also helped to care for her husband's father at Muleshoe Nursing Home.

The Clements are parents of three children, Olan Dee Clements, of Albuquerque, N. M., a son Travis of Lubbock, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Wanda Joyce) Arnold of Nashville, Tenn.

American Association of University Women, Muleshoe branch, was pleased to enter the name of Mrs. E. W. (Blanche) Johnson as their nominee for the DIANA award.

Mrs. Johnson and her husband have no children. She is a retired teacher and librarian from Muleshoe school system. She attended New Mexico Teachers University, Texas Tech University, East Texas State University and did graduate work in library science at Gunnison, Colorado.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of First Baptist Church, Muleshoe Study Club, A. A. U. W.,

Delta Kappa Gamma, Kappa Kappa Iota and Friendship Club.

She is a staunch supporter of Muleshoe Area Public Library in every way possible, worked on the summer reading program through A.A.U.W., She is buying the food for the breakfasts furnished for the special education classes at Richland Hills School for the year 1969-70. She purchases clothing, shoes and food for needy children and it is known that she paid the doctor bill for a short-time housekeeper of hers who had developed cancer of the bone. She visits hospital patients and the nursing home frequently, sends food and flowers to people who are lonely and distressed and will substitute without pay for teachers who need to attend funerals or other meetings. "There is no telling how much she helped when her beautician has illness in the family"...She gave food, clothing and money to a family who lost their home and the man lost an arm.

For 25 years Mrs. Johnson kept an afflicted sister in her home; she has provided for Korean orphans and for the painting of one of the buildings at the orphanage in Korea. Mrs. Johnson knows the invaluable secret of helping without destroying the dignity of the recipient, knows how and when and in what manner to give aid to others. She never tells anyone what she does-not even her husband knows the full extent of her giving.

Mrs. Johnson has known heartaches herself but it does not keep her from serving others in need. She is the youngest child of a large family and has cared for both the afflicted sister and brother. She has helped educate nieces and nephews and is a second mother to all of them. She visits, corresponds with and sends money to nieces in college, furnishes them clothes while growing up, speaks only good of each one and never permits herself to speak ill of any family member.

Ester Circle of United Methodist Church chose Mrs. Lula Gorrell as their nominee for the DIANA award, feeling sure Mrs. Gorrell does an unlimited amount of community service.

Mrs. Gorrell, a widow, is the mother of two children. They are a daughter, Mrs. William Mason and County Attorney Roger Gorrell. She is a graduate of Clearfield, (Pa.) Hospital School of Nursing and is a registered nurse. She is a member of United Methodist Church, American Legion, Ben Richardson Post #403. She was an army nurse during World War I, serving both within the United States and overseas. She has worked as school nurse for ten years in Muleshoe until her retirement at age of 70. Prior to being the school nurse she was a nurse for Dr. L.T. Green, Jr. During all these years she has been especially interested in the sick and needy, always putting the welfare of others ahead of herself. She has helped the underprivileged of the community for years, has taken food and clothing to their homes when they were unable to come after it. She has given shots and medicine without pay to those who were sick and helped make arrangements to get sick people into hospitals at Galveston or Houston when they could not manage without help.

Out of her own funds Mrs. Gorrell has many times paid utility bills for needy persons. She has cleaned the home and done the laundry for a needy family and then taught the children how to do it when the mother was unable to carry the burden. She has gone to grocery stores and asked for perishable food and taken it to hungry families, has supplied paper, pen and pencil to school children and has gone to underprivileged children in high school and encouraged them to stay in school. On one occasion, when a girl had been burned Mrs. Gorrell saw that her bed linens were kept clean.

Just last summer Mrs. Gorrell was observed on several occasions cleaning the yard of First Christian Church as evidence of her love and wish to make a contribution to the congregation.

Mrs. Gorrell has never been known to stop and inquire if the family helps themselves, she just wades in and tries to help the situation, with no thought about contagion, or of race, color or creed. She has worked with delinquents, trying to keep them out of reform school. If they were sent anyway, then she corresponded with them to keep them encouraged.

Mrs. Gorrell's selfless service to the community was recognized by Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce in 1960 when she was chosen as "Woman of the Year". In 1961 she was given a life membership in P-TA by Mary DeShazo school.

Think of Velma Gwyn and instantly one thinks of Latin Americans, the many she works with and for, and of the hours she spends teaching music so some one will be able to play at the Latin American Mission of United Methodist Church. If Velma is not at home she can usually be traced by hunting at the Mission.

Mrs. Gwyn was nominated by Joyce Hill Circle for the DIANA award.

Velma McDorman Gwyn, wife of a Progress farmer Bryon Gwyn, is a graduate of Muleshoe High School and attended Wayland Baptist Church one year, where she received a teaching certificate. She taught school and substituted for many years and later attended West Texas State University and renewed her certificate.

She is a member of First United Methodist Church, where she is an M-1 (missionary from this church for one year, but it has become many years), to the Latin American Mission. She is past chairman of Progress Circle of the Church, is vice chairman of WSCS, past secretary of Spiritual Life Commission of the Plainview District.

Her hobbies are sewing (she has taught sewing classes for the Latin American women), bridge and her family. She is a very capable farm wife and always puts her family first. The only child of the Gwyns is Mrs. Joe Walker of Hobbs. They are parents of two children, a son 16 and a 10 year old daughter. Mrs. Walker teaches piano and her husband is a teacher and Velma is interested in and proud of all their achievements.

Her work with the Latin American children is a living example of the Christian woman. She devotes her time and her heart to people who are less fortunate and is constantly trying to make the community aware of the needy. Velma teaches piano without charge to Latin American children and to Anglo children who are financially unable to obtain this training, always seeking new and little ways to help Latin children understand the Bible, even though she is non-Spanish-speaking. Mrs. Gwyn plays the piano for the Sunday morning worship service at the Mission, counsels with the pastor and his wife to enable them to carry on their work in an English-speaking community, arranges recreation for Latin teenagers, often in her own home, and provides materials for the poorly financed church. She has taught Sunday School classes since she was 18 years old.

Although she spends so many hours working with young people, it is apparent she is always reluctant to speak of her work, it is always just that "their need is so great". She shows her love of God, without interfering or trying to take over. When presented with a problem she counsels. She does secretarial work for the Latin pastor for no pay. The International award DIANA being presented for the first time this year by ESA sororities means Distinguished (as the Goddess Diana) International Academy of Noble Achievement.

A tea honoring the five finalists out of the 16 nominated is to be given Saturday afternoon at the community room of First National Bank from two to four. The public is invited to come and congratulate these women on the honor bestowed upon them. The winner from among the five is to be announced Saturday at the tea.

Contest Winner Shops Muleshoe

Recently winning the junior division of District 6 (including Curry, Quay and Roosevelt Counties) New Mexico "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest, Annette Coston went on to State Competition where she placed sixth.

The district contest was held in Clovis January 3 and the State contest was in Roswell January 10.

Annette is the sixteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.S. Coston of McAllister, N.M. and a junior at House High School. While visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pruitt of 1727 West Avenue D, Muleshoe, in October of 1969, Annette shopped the Muleshoe fabric shops for material for her entry and found just what she needed to make the winning garments.

Grain Institute Slates Meeting

LUBBOCK -- Grain sorghum research and effects on the grain industry of feedlot growth will be two themes for discussion at the 16th annual Grain Institute January 29-30 at the Red Raider Inn Convention Center.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White and a group of industry and educational leaders headline the list of speakers for the two-day event, which will include two luncheon sessions and a banquet.

Ira Williams, Texas Tech professor of agricultural sciences, is chairman of the program, expected to draw about 150 persons.

Registration will open at 6 p.m. January 28, and a hospital-ity hour will follow, with Paul Furr, vice president of Brown and McKee, Inc., as host.

Speakers for the January 29 morning meeting are Bill Clayton, director of Water, Inc., Lubbock; Dr. Jerry W. Johnson, Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, Lubbock; White and John J. Siebert, grain marketing specialist with Texas A&M Extension Service, College Station.

The Texas Tech crops judging team and its sponsor, Prof. Cecil Ayers, will give the luncheon program January 29, and a tour of area feedlots will follow.

Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of the College of Agriculture at Texas A&M, will be speaker for the 7 p.m. banquet January 29.

Editorial The Jersey Lesson

Federal Bureau of Investigation revelations concerning alleged tie-ups between high political figures in New Jersey and Mafia figures should be a lesson to all Americans.

Because in most communities, and in most states, government has been honestly-administered, in general, may have assumed that the Mafia could never get a strong hold in top offices throughout a state.

And while no editor can render a final opinion on the New Jersey scandal before the court has done so, enough has already been revealed to show an alarming power which had been built and exercised in New Jersey by Mafia individuals, reaching up into the highest city and state offices.

Public office is a public trust and whether it be federal bureaucrats spending millions wastefully or state and local officers cooperating with gangsters, such conduct threatens the American democratic system, which depends on the support and faith of the average citizen for its success and survival.

The Population Jump

In 1960 the world population was three billions. Today it is three and a half billion. The gain of half a billion in one decade is a record and experts say we will gain another half billion in the next five years--by 1975.

Even more disturbing, the experts say, world population will grow by a full billion between 1975 and 1980. Obviously, the time has come when serious thinkers and leaders must consider limiting the earth's family to a size comparable with the earth's resources, which are limited.

Realizing the urgency of the problem, President Richard Nixon last year called for broad government action to meet the challenge. The United Nations is also on record in favor of action and policies which would prevent the earth's family from fouling its nest, so to speak, by excessive multiplication. Already in many countries excessive births prevent a rise in the standard of living and invite Communism and other isms.

Pollution of the air and water, the decline of the cities and the failure in many countries to raise the standard of living already stem from uncontrolled population growth. The issue must be faced by progressive thinkers, government leaders and social and population experts and planners or the world might be a much less attractive place by 1980, 1990 or 2000.

New Program To Boost Texas Agricultural Income

COLLEGE STATION -- A new program designed to increase agricultural income in Texas by $1 billion by the end of the 1976 crop year was unveiled here January 14 by Dr. John E. Hutchison, Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, during the third annual Extension Press Day at Texas A&M University.

"3.76 in '76" is the slogan for the new program aimed at upping the state's present agricultural income totals of about $2.75 billion by another $1 billion during the next seven years, Director Hutchison told the approximately 25 mass media representatives from major agricultural magazines, daily newspapers, television and radio stations. Also participating were Extension headquarters and area specialists and district agents.

Dr. Hutchison said that Extension's intensified educational activities directed in this new program envision increases in incomes for producers of the "late." Program efforts, to be consolidated in cooperation with other agencies and organizations concerned with Texas agriculture, will be focused on reaching the full potential of each economically important agricultural commodity producer in the state," he emphasized.

The Director explained that the Extension Service will provide the plan for growth and increased income through production guidelines for each agricultural commodity. "The guides will be based on latest research information relating to increasing production and marketing efficiency. Support of the total agricultural community of the state will be required to achieve full realization of our overall objective," Hutchison said.

As the new program is launched within each county, projections of income potentials will be provided for each economically important enterprise of that county, in an effort to reach the statewide goal. County Program Building Committees then will study the county projections and set an annual goal and longrange income goal to be reached by the target date. "This will serve to make the program a self-regenerating one," Director Hutchison noted.

The director's address highlighted Press Day activities. He set the state for the announcement of the new program by summarizing major factors involved in Texas agriculture from the 1960's to the 1970's, and some of the new thrusts in Extension education.

Progress being made in aquaculture was described by Jack Parker, Marine Advisory program specialist with the Extension Service, who outlined potentials for shrimp farming; and by Dr. H. R. Schmittou, Extension fisheries specialist, who told of the rapidly expanding catfish industry in the state. Both programs have tremendous economic potential for Texas, the specialists said.

Dr. Luther Bird, Texas A&M University professor of plant sciences, described research underway on cotton strains to overcome production problems. Based on research conducted at several locations in Texas, the new SP cotton strains look promising from the standpoint of resistance to blight and other problems, yet insects continue to be a problem for them, he said. He noted that additional gin trial data are needed on these strains.

Tom Davison, assistant State 4-H leader, told the Press Day visitors that plans for the Texas 4-H Center at Lake Brownwood, in Brown County, are moving ahead under the sponsorship of the Texas 4-H Youth Foundation. A three-phase building program is planned at the 78-acre site, on which a 99-year lease has been secured. Facilities to house and accommodate 450 people are envisioned, he said.

The Expanded Nutrition Program of the Extension Service is currently reaching about 100,000 persons in some 21,000 Texas families, and achieving better diets and better health for these families, Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist, told Press Day groups. Progress being made in the ENP Program in San Antonio -- one of 11 such areas where the pilot nutrition education effort is underway -- was described by Mrs. Shirley Johnson, associate home demonstration agent there. Two ENP program aides, Mrs. Mamie Globe and Mrs. Betty Guzman, described some of the educational work they are conducting with homemakers individually and in group meetings to teach them how to have better balanced low-cost diets, how to prepare the foods, and in general manage their total resources more efficiently.

Dr. Hutchison emphasized that the nutrition program also is bringing about changes in attitudes on the part of members of the participating families. They are accepting new ideas willingly, and are becoming more productive citizens, he said.

In regard to increased agricultural income in Texas, Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist, said a big part will be from meat animals. He projected a gain of $473 million from beef cattle, $31 million from swine, while sheep and lambs will level off in numbers so there is expected to be little change in cash receipts in this area. "Total meat animal gain during the past seven years should be $504 million," Uvacek predicted.

Dairy products should bring about an increased income of about $34 million, and poultry should see an income increase of about $66 million by the end of 1976, Uvacek added. Wool and mohair should have a combined increase of $9.1 million. "Total increase from livestock should be $613 million, which does not include the $9 million horse industry of the state, projected to 1976," Uvacek said.

R. J. Hodges, Extension agronomist, also reported projected income increases from crops grown in Texas during the next seven years of approximately $384 million, a 29 per cent increase over current income from cotton, grain sorghum, rice, wheat, peanuts, corn, vegetables, fruit and nut crops, sugar beets, and soybeans, forestry products and ornamentals and nursery crops.

Extension Wildlife Specialist Wallace Klussmann noted that potential increases from wildlife, fisheries and recreation also are tremendous, projected to 1976. On-farm recreation has a potential of $1.1 million by that date, while hunting lease income should rise to $27 million during the next seven years. Fishing lease income should reach the $1 million mark by the target date, as landowners offer bigger lease packages. Fish-farming, on the other hand, should show the most dramatic increase, and may reach $31.5 million by 1976, up from the present $2.6 million income, Klussmann predicted.

New marketing approaches for Texas agriculture to meet the challenge of the 1970's were discussed by Dr. W. E. Black, Extension economist in marketing and policy. "The key to all future growth is marketing," he said, noting that buyers of vegetable crops need adequate supplies on a year-around basis. One approach to meeting this demand would be the initiation of a single marketing agency to handle Texas vegetable products for fresh sales, processing, bargaining and purchasing, Dr. Black said.

He emphasized that the Texas Agricultural Market Research Development Center at A&M, established in February of 1969, is providing marketing assistance to foster growth of agriculture and agribusiness firms by strengthening and improving markets for Texas food and fiber products. Effective Extension education programs in marketing also are helping to find answers to marketing problems, Dr. Black added.

Dr. Hutchison, in summarizing the Extension Press Day presentations, said that complex and sophisticated techniques will be required to give a forward trust to Extension education programs during the 1970's, which are designed to bring about the gains of $1 billion in agricultural income to farmers and ranchers of the state. "We believe that the effect of the newly-launched program will be mutually supporting with other programs already underway to increase agricultural income," he said.

Mass media representatives conducted interviews following the formal program.

Quality of the 1969 cotton crop from the High Plains, compared to the crop of 1968, managed to hold its own in strength and fineness (micronaire), but lost ground in the areas of length and grade.

These points were revealed last week by the final report on cotton quality for the season released by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. The report, issued periodically during the harvest season each year since 1957, is used by PCG as a tool for the promotion of High Plains cotton sales. It is supplied free of charge to textile mills around the world, to the cotton trade and others with an interest in the qualities and quantities of cotton available from the area.

This year's final report shows an average staple length of 31.5 thirty-seconds of an inch, down from last year's 32.3 thirty-seconds average. And while 67.7 percent of the 68 crop stapled an inch or longer, only 46.7 percent of 69 crop cotton was in this longer category. Following a weaker market for cotton stapling over an inch in 1968, many growers selected shorter stapled varieties in the attainment of full staple capabilities.

Adverse weather is also responsible for lower grades this season, when only 23.8 percent of the crop was White, 48.3 percent was Light Spot, 13.6 percent was Full Spot and 14.5 percent dropped into the "Others" range, including Tinged, Yellow Stained, Light Gray and Gray cottons. Last year was not one of the High Plains' better years for cotton grades but it still was considerably better than 1969, with 38.1 percent White, 47.5 percent Light Spot, and 14.6 percent combined in the Full Spot and Others class.

June hail storms, unseasonal rainfall and a killing freeze over much of the area on October 13 combined to bring about the drop in grades and assist with the staple reduction in 1969.

The early freeze in 1969 normally would have been expected to severely restrict the development of fiber maturity, or micronaire. But ideally timed high temperatures earlier in the year are generally credited with offsetting the short growing season to some extent. Average "mike" for the 1969 crop came to 3.7, three tenths of a point above the 3.4 average for 1968.

Pressley, or fiber strength, of this year's crop averaged out to 82,300 pounds per square inch (zero gauge), with 89.8 percent of the total measuring 75,000 pounds per square inch or above. The same figures for last year, respectively, were only slightly better at 82,400 pounds and 90.2 percent.

Elongation, the distance a cotton will stretch before breaking and an important factor in spinning performance, in 1969 came to 7.3 percent, just below the 7.4 percent elongation recorded last year.

Grade, Staple and Micronaire figures on about 10 percent of the crop are supplied to PCG for analysis by the USDA cotton classing offices at Brownfield, Lamesa, Levelland and Lubbock. Pressley and elongation tests are run by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech on "plugs" from these same offices, but because of the time and expense involved these measurements are taken on only about one percent of the crop.

The total figures are compiled and correlations between fiber properties are made at

Lamb County Pushes SPF Hog Operations

By Buddy C. Logsdon
Lamb County Agent

Swine production has been and continues to be a profitable enterprise in Lamb County primarily due to abundance of feed grain.

Approximately 13,000 head of swine are produced annually in Lamb County and various phases of swine production offer an opportunity to increase income.

Indications are that swine interest is increasing with some emphasis on purebred breeding and larger commercial feeder pig operations.

In Lamb County, some of the prominent breeds include: Duroc, Hampshire and Yorkshires. Among the less prominent breeds are Spotted Poland China, Poland China and Berkshires. Crossbreds of the first three are the most prominent in all commercial operations. There are approximately 30 registered swine breeders in the county and swine production is a popular 4-H and FFA project. Several of these boys are producing top quality breeding and show stock.

There is some SPF (Specific Pathogen Free) operation in the county with one of the larger ones belonging to Dr. Clifford Payne and located 10 miles east of Littlefield.

We are for the little man but we have to admit that he makes an awful fool of himself at times.

Yearly Report Shows Arrests High in Area

With a total of 488 persons booked into the Bailey County jail by the five local law enforcement agencies during 1969, activities have proven to be at a peak for the previous year.

The 488 persons were arrested by the Bailey County Sheriff's Department, Muleshoe City Police Department, Texas Highway Patrol, Texas Liquor Control and the constable.

Sharing in this amount, 143 of these persons were handled on charges through the sheriff's office.

A total of 114 adults were handled by the sheriff's office. This breaks down to the following charges: murder, one; aggravated assault, three; burglary, two; fraud, nine; illegal weapon, one; offense against family, three; driving under the influence of alcohol, five; liquor law violation, thirteen; drunkenness, 43; disorderly conduct, nine; vagrancy, five and other offenses, eleven.

A total of ten juveniles were handled by officers from the Bailey County Sheriff's office. The charges included breaking and entering, two; theft, one; liquor law violations, four; drunkenness, two and vagrancy, one.

Nineteen individuals were handled for other counties and states. These included run-aways, eleven; forgery, two; manslaughter, one; destroying property, one; AWOL, one; parole violation, one; felony worthless checks, one and writ of attachment, one.

Our recent adventures in the above three pictures are leading us to more knowledge of how to economically produce swine. We're testing different formulations of supplement. We're testing different manufacturing processes of grain and we're testing hogs and their environments. This work is being done so that when you are growing with the increasing swine industry in this local area, we can help you produce the most economical and highest quality product. To produce quality, you must start with quality and that's Purina Chows and Check-R-Mix rations. Let us help you plan your swine production program to meet your needs.

SPF Hog History Began in Iowa

The Specific Pathogen Free (SPF) swine had its start several years ago when Dr. George Young, working with the University of Minnesota, took pigs by the hysterectomy process in order to gain pigs as free from disease as possible for laboratory work. Dr. Young moved from Minnesota to the University of Nebraska. In order to get hogs for this operation they took animals from several breeders in Nebraska to work on. The men from whom they got their parent stock were to receive back part of the offspring to re-populate their farms. This stock however, remained under the control of the University of Nebraska. The University used these herds as pilot herds and started then to gather data as to the reaction of the SPF hog when he went back to the farm. Quite an elaborate program was set up to gather this data. They have compiled a lot of information on feed conversion, reinfestation, rate of gain, etc.

In the summer of 1959, Dr. Bert Combs, then practicing veterinarian at Conrad, Iowa, after visiting the University of Nebraska and talking with Dr. Young, decided to open the first commercial hysterectomy laboratory. He did custom hysterectomies for farmers in that area. Since the work first started in Minnesota, the University there retained the rights to the hysterectomy process so all laboratories established were licensed by this University to operate. Soon after Dr. Combs opened his laboratory several others started operations but some never opened. Dr. Eaton of Liberty, Indiana was one of the pioneers also. At one time there were eleven licenses issued to the state of Iowa. Secondary stock became available and the demand for custom hysterectomies dropped.

The first SPF pigs went out of the Laboratory at Conrad - then known as the C & G Laboratory (Dr. Combs and Clifford Green an alfalfa and feed processor of Conrad) opened this laboratory in partnership late in the summer of 1959. By December of that year there were in existence some 20 herds around the Conrad area and it was at this time that the Central Iowa Swine Repopulation Association started. This organization was formed by the producers of SPF swine to police the program. It was felt that this program needed someone to regulate it so the SPF hog would not get into the hands of "scalpers." Rules and regulations for accrediting SPF swine were worked out. The first president of the Central Iowa Association was George Hurlbutt of Conrad, Mr. Hurlbutt passed away in December of 1959 and the next man to become president was the Vice President, Mr. William Conrad. It was under his direction then that the SPF accrediting program got started. The Central Iowa association became incorporated in December 1959. Plans were all established to begin issuing accreditation papers by the Central Iowa Association when a veterinarian from Shenandoah, Iowa determined that this should be done from a state level rather than a group of small associations. Discussions were started on a state level with representation from all of the lab areas present. It was decided to use the Central association as a nucleus and to form the Iowa Swine Repopulation Association. This group then issued the first accreditation in Iowa, Mr. William Conrad was the first President and Mr. Willard Dielschneider President elect of this association, both of Conrad.

In June 1962 an all states meeting was held. Invitations were sent to all states, press, radio and Iowa State University staff, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Canada were represented as well as several press members and University staff. This meeting was primarily for the purpose of forming a National Producers Swine Repopulation Association and uniformity in the SPF program as well as interchange of stock between our states. Two other meetings were held by this group in August and November 1962. Since the first of the year, 1963, three states, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Kansas started accrediting through what was then the National SPF Accrediting Agency at Conrad, Iowa. Several other states indicated they wanted to accredit through this agency. The Nebraska program would remain as a pilot organization attached to the national. They would use the same papers and rules except they would continue to gather performance data as they had in the past.

The National Swine Population Association was being formed at about the same time as the Iowa association. Dr. Bert Combs, then of Conrad, headed this association. This was an association consisting entirely of veterinarians, both practicing and laboratory operators. This group had in mind basically the same objectives as the Iowa group, and their by-laws were very similar. It was felt by the producers that if they were to be governed by this group they needed to have a voice in the organization. Several states producers requested representation in the National association. This voice was granted in the form of a National Producers Council to NSRA. This body consisted of two producer members from each SPF state. The board of directors of the National Swine Repopulation Association were to have the responsibility of making rules and regulations pertaining to the health aspect of the SPF herds. The National Producers Council was to be the policing body which was to see that SPF herds were remaining SPF and that stock being sold as SPF was what it was represented to be. With this in mind the National Accrediting Agency was set up to issue certificates and to enforce the rules that were established by the National Swine Repopulation Association and Producers Council. The Producers Council was headed by President Willard Dielschneider, Conrad; Vice President Vernon Eberhart, Deerfield, Kans.; Secretary, Frank Hussey, Lewisville, Minn.; Guy McReynolds, Ashland, Nebr., and Don Vesperman, Lancaster, Wisc. were members at large.

The National Swine Repopulation Association was not an active group and the National Producers Council could never get anything established as to what the producer would have to do and the duties of the veterinarians - so after waiting two years and wondering what the right thing to do to maintain an SPF herd, the Producers Council decided to go on their own and form the National SPF Accrediting Agency and leave the back door open, so to speak, for the veterinarians to join with them. They had their first annual meeting in July of 1963 and Mrs. Marlyne Brindle, who had been the Iowa Swine Repopulation Association secretary and had set up the office for the National also, needed someone to take over the National duties. Mr. Jim McLean, then of Conrad was hired. He hired Mrs. Darlene Reece as his secretary - she had been working for both the Iowa and National associations for Mrs. Brindle. In October 1963 Mr. McLean resigned to take another position. Mrs. Reece continued in his capacity and in August, 1964 the SPF program was incorporated to be the National SPF Swine Accrediting Agency, Inc. As of January 1969 there are members from 16 states and 12 of these have state associations. Approximately 375 members belong with new producers joining regularly.

Tax Man Sam Sez

The good tax folks that work for Internal Revenue in Dallas have figured out a nice little chart that shows exactly how much city sales tax you can deduct in addition to your State of Texas sales taxes. They have the charts made up for all of the 420 cities that had a city sales tax during 1969. There were 60 more cities that passed a sales tax in 1969 but they won't have a deduction until 1970 since their law goes into effect on January 1 of 1970.

If you are itemizing your deductions it may pay you to take a peek at the sales tax chart for your city (provided of course you do have a city sales tax) down at the Post Office. Most banks and post offices have the chart available for you in a convenient spot, or you can drop by an Internal Revenue Service office and pick up a copy of the chart.

LAZBUDDIE SCHOOLS' LONGHORN STAMPEDE

By Mike Casey

The Hart Longhorns journeyed to Lazbuddie January 13 to take on both of Lazbuddie varsity basketball teams. Hart's girls suffered a 45-34 setback. The contest was very close for three quarters. Lazbuddie's big break came in the final period of play as they held Hart to three points and scored 13 for themselves. A 25 point performance was turned in by Theresa Seaton in leading the victory. Debbie Engleking had eight points to her credit and Vicki Robinson seven. Hart's top scorer was Diane Hawkins who tossed in 26 points before receiving five fouls.

The Hart boys also met with defeat. They lost 78-62. Four Lazbuddie players hit in the double figures. Gail Morris registered 20 points, Mike Casey 18, Monte Barnes 16, Charles Lee 12, and Derrell Matthews nine. Jim Averitt was Hart's leading scorer with 28 points. Rex Henderson followed with 10.

The next district opponent on Lazbuddie schedule was Spade. The two teams collided at Spade on January 16.

Spade's girls gave the Lazbuddie girls a 56-38 thrashing. Capturing high point honors for the Horn's was Vicki Robinson who tallied 16 points. Theresa Seaton was next with 13 points. Spade was paced by Christie Adams who collected 28 points and Belinda Thompson with 20.

Spade's boys were handed a 57-49 loss by Lazbuddie. The Horns trailed Spade throughout most of the game but outscored their opponents 24-11 in the final stanza to capture the win. Charles Lee fired in 26 points in leading the victory. Other players figuring into the scoring were Gail Morris with 12 points, Mike Casey 10, Monte Barnes six, and Derrell Matthews, three. Danny Sewell led Spade with 20 points.

January 12, Hart's junior high traveled to Lazbuddie to take on the Longhorns. Lazbuddie's Longhorns triumphed over Hart's Longhorns in the boys game 20-15. David Buentillo led the winners with six points and David Tucker paced Hart with eight points. The FHA girls held their monthly meeting January 19. They held a panel discussion on Economics.

Texas DPS Seeking Hit-Run Information

AUSTIN -- The Texas Department of Public Safety today issued a special public appeal for any kind of information which might lead to the apprehension of a hit-and-run driver whose car struck and killed a young highway patrolman on US 80 east of Weatherford, Parker County, at 2:43 a.m. Sunday, December 7. Patrolman Douglas Thompson, 26, married and the father of a five-year-old son, was killed by the hit-and-run car while standing at the side of the road interviewing a traffic violator. The car sped on at a high rate of speed after the impact without any sign of hesitation.

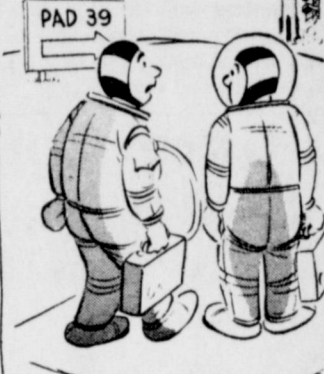

Specifically, the DPS is seeking information that might help locate the killer car which has been identified as a white, 1960 model Ford "Fairlane" or "Fairlane 500" four-door with damage to the front right side. The damage included the loss of the right front fender ornament, which was found at the scene, along with a 43-inch long chrome strip from the right front door. Also found at the scene were the first two letters -- "Fa" -- which had been knocked off the "Fairlane" emblem on the side of the right front fender. Reason for the renewed appeal for assistance in locating this car, said Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS Director, is the belief that several reported "leads" which didn't prove out may have led people to think the death car had been located.

"We again earnestly solicit the help of anyone who might recall having seen such a vehicle in the past four or five weeks on the road, or perhaps being repaired at a repair shop, back-yard garage, or some seemingly inconspicuous place," Speir explained. "We are determined to continue the search for this vehicle and its driver whose wanton act of lawlessness in leaving the death scene should be dealt with accordingly."

The DPS called upon any citizen who might have information he thinks would be helpful in this case to contact either of the following: Bob Andrews, Texas Highway Patrol, Box 329, Weatherford, Texas, 76086 -- Telephone: Area Code 817, 594-6936 or Tom Arnold, Texas Ranger, 300 West Belknap, Fort Worth, 76102 -- Telephone: Area Code 817, 336-9541, or The nearest office of the Highway Patrol or Texas Rangers, which is listed under "Texas Department of Public Safety" in the telephone book.

OUTLOOK FOR THE '70s
 We are embarking upon a new year and a new decade. As we look ahead, it is easy for us to agree that the 1970s may well be the most significant decade for us as a nation and as residents of this world.

Man has probably always had this feeling as he entered a new decade, but the problems before us is the here and now. What we have done in the past has been done. We are now facing the decisions which will govern our future and we must call upon all our wisdom, all our courage and foresight in an attempt to make those decisions which will benefit us all.

Our first goal must be to attain and to keep peace. We must not be willing to follow those who advocate "peace at any price." If the price of peace is domination by another power, we cannot accept it. We are not striving for world domination ourselves but we must insure our own independence and freedom.

As we enter the new decade, we find ourselves in a nuclear world in which ever more devastating weaponry is becoming available to increasing numbers of world leaders. We must act in such a way as to insure our own survival and at the same time continue to seek ways to reduce world tensions, to de-fuse the time-bombs of the world which have hidden their clock faces so that we cannot tell even how much time we have left.

We must also act to keep this nation strong economically. As long as we can attain at least relative peace at the military level, we will find that our struggle for survival, unless our enemies engage in a reversal of their own policy which I fear is unlikely, will evolve to the economic level. This is desirable from our own point of view for this nation and its people are willing to compete in the world market on a fair and equitable economic basis.

But to compete successfully, we must have our own economic house in order. This is a primary reason why we must devote significant attention this year to the fight against inflation in our own economy. A reduction in the cost of living will benefit each of us. We are paying too great a price in time on the job for the goods and services we purchase. But this is only a personal reason for battling inflation. Worthwhile as this reason is, we must reduce inflation also so our dollar can remain sound enough to compete in the world economy and thus contribute in a very practical way to our national defense.

On the domestic front, we are quite likely to see the decade of the 1970s bring us substantial gains in the fields of consumer affairs and protection of our natural resources.

We have already seen the beginnings of a national awakening in these areas and we can expect real action in the next few years in behalf of the many and various consumer needs. And we have been aroused as a nation to the need for decisive anti-pollution steps.

If we fail to provide ourselves with sufficient clean air and sufficient clean water, we will perish as surely if we fail to guard against outside military attack. The same holds true for our other natural resources upon which we depend for survival. We must follow a wise and deliberate policy in the fields of agriculture and oil production to name two of these.

Another field in which we must act in this decade is that of housing. Our growing population demands a vast increase in the availability of good housing at a price we can afford to pay. I believe that "Operation Breakthrough" and other such imaginative housing programs will lead the way to achievement of this most necessary goal. We must go forward rapidly.

We must also devote considerable attention to the nagging problem of crime in our cities. We can not rest in this vital area. We must convince would-be criminals of the old adage that crime does not pay. Delays in our courts and light sentences meted out because of overcrowding in our penal institutions has hinted to a growing cancer in our society that crime does pay and the result is that it is we, the honest citizens, who are doing most of the paying. I wish that we could move forward on all these domestic issues and others extremely rapidly but there is a primary concern which in all honesty may force us to move slower in the '70s than we would like. I am returning to the need of which I spoke earlier for a sound national economy.

Much of the actions we need to take on our domestic scene requires the use of money. But just as we can not spend more than we earn as a family, we can not afford to overextend our credit as a nation.

We must maintain a balanced federal budget. We must reduce spending wherever we can in order to devote funds to our most needed problems.

The problems that we face are legion, but they are surmountable if we remain steadfast in our resolve and if we work together to follow courses of wisdom with precision.

To this end I repledge my efforts in the Senate during this year and during this decade.

BEGGAR LEAVES MONEY

Nayaguez, P.R.--Residents who used to drop coins in Miss Estevania Cintron Curet's pocketbook were surprised to learn that when she died at the age of 72 she had left almost $3,000 hidden away under her bed. Police found the money when they found the body of the old woman who lived alone.

Making Junior Pay

Six-year-old Jeff, playing cow-boys with his cronies, was annoyed by the arrival of a neighbor's four-year-old daughter.

"I'll take care of her," he announced. And gave her a hard shove. The little girl fell over, broke her arm, and later—through her parents—filed a damage suit against Jeff. Despite the boy's tender years, the court rendered a sizeable judgment against him.

It may seem strange to saddle a youngster with such an obligation. But it is no longer rare for a child to be collectible. Perhaps he has money of his own. Perhaps his family has a liability insurance policy that includes coverage for him. Or perhaps the claimant will keep the judgment hanging over the child's head for years, until he grows older and begins to earn wages.

In any event, in the eyes of the law, mere youthfulness alone does not ordinarily prevent liability. Most courts feel that since the loss must fall upon someone, and since parents often cannot be held responsible, it is fairer to let the loss fall upon the guilty child than upon his innocent victim.

Nevertheless, youthfulness may indeed be a defense if the circumstances show a lack of willful purpose. For example:

A four-year-old boy wrapped his arms around the legs of a woman visitor, causing her to topple over and suffer injuries. But in a court hearing that followed, the evidence showed that the hug was a gesture of pure affection. Thereupon the court ruled in the child's favor, because even though his act was intentional, it was not meant to do any harm.

Nor is a child likely to be held liable if the bodily contact is not intentional at all, but simply part of the normal, playful exuberance of childhood.

Thus, in another case, a school-boy was held not liable when he accidentally collided with another pupil while playing tag. The court said:

"We should not wish to make it necessary for children to stand about the schoolyard with folded hands for fear they might negligently brush against one of their fellows, and become liable for heavy damages."

If you make mistakes every day don't feel discouraged; there is no one who doesn't.

What's Important To You...?

When one's activities are limited, there is more time for thinking, and perhaps for thinking of what is most important in life..... To B.H. 'Burrel' Black, recuperating at his home after a heart attack, there is nothing more precious than the gift of life, for himself or for others.....

Because of this realization, he was moved to spark a drive for the necessary funds to complete the Heart Monitor Equipment recently installed at West Plains Memorial Hospital. His letter to the Journal follows:

"As most of you know, I have recently suffered a heart attack. I was permitted to live. Now I have two very urgent jobs to do.

The first is to see all of the Heart Monitor Equipment in our local hospital. We need it NOW, not tomorrow or next year. I don't know whether you or I will need it first, but we must have it there.

Too many of our friends and loved ones have suffered fatal heart attacks. Some of them might have been saved with the proper equipment.

There were a number of my friends and neighbors come to my room, ready to buy this equipment, but I believe what makes any good community project much, much better is for everyone to have a part in it. I have contacted all the folks I am physically able to. We want all of our area represented.

I will be looking for you.

(signed) B. H. Black."

Arrangements have been made to send donations to Don Harmon at Tri-County Savings & Loan, to Jack Young, District Attorney, or to KMUL Radio station.

duction of 9,000-11,000 finished top hogs, the operation is beginning with 120 sows and a yearly production of 2,000-2,800 finished hogs.

In the first phase of the operation is a farrowing house, two sow-pig nursery houses, two finishing houses, a mill where feed will be ground to specification, dry sow sheds and an office.

It was pointed out that slatted aluminum floors are utilized in the farrowing houses, sow-pig houses and two inch oak slatted floors are in the finishing houses. The oak floors will be replaced later with aluminum.

All the buildings are individually built over 24-inch concrete pits and connected to a sewer system for drainage to a central location, where the wastes will be pumped onto alfalfa hay fields.

The buildings are fully insulated and a cooler pad, with an exhaust fan system provides air conditioning for summer. Heat lamps provide heat in the buildings during cold weather.

A spokesman for Muleshoe Swine Breeders, Inc. said, "The primary purpose of the new corporation is to sell a meaty, cross-bred accredited SPF gilt and top finished hogs. Approximately 20 to 30 percent of the pig crop will be available for gilt sales, the balance going for top hog sales.

"The SPF operation will be an accredited enterprise, but many hurdles will have to be passed."

"To qualify," continued the spokesman, "each quarter, from six to ten top finished hogs have to be sent to Texas A & M for a slaughter disease check and a qualified veterinarian has to make quarterly on the premises inspections.

Eagle Scout Information Being Sought

Senator Hightower stated that he would make a formal announcement at a later date.

Blood tests on all breeding stock has to be made yearly. The slaughter information, veterinarian inspections and blood test results are then sent to National SPF headquarters at Conrad, Iowa for approval before the hog operation is an approved SPF operation."

He concluded, "The lack of good quality feeder pigs necessitated the need of a source of good quality meat type breeding gilts.

"It is our plan to provide a top operation in the area. We hope to have every interested individual at our open house at the Muleshoe State Bank Sunday afternoon."

Parmer County Agent Says Good Hog Future

By Ronny F. McNutt, Parmer County Agent

Today the cost price squeeze situation so commonly talked about is bringing about a change in thinking of our farm producers in the High Plains. This change in thinking is encouraging the production of red meats. Swine production has an excellent opportunity in contributing to the growth of this red meat production.

There are two factors that make swine production very suitable for Parmer County and the High Plains.

The first and probably most important factor is the availability of grain. Since grain makes up about 75 percent of swine rations, this availability factor is very important. Parmer County and the High Plains are the leading grain producing county and area in the state. Approximately 18 million bushels of grain sorghum was produced in Parmer County in 1968.

Approximately 3,000 head of and parasites, (6) adequate housing, (7) produce hogs the market demands, (8) raise large litters and (9) feed for rapid efficient gains.

Combining the advantages of having an available feed supply, an ideal climate, and striving to accomplish the nine essentials just mentioned, Parmer County and the High Plains can make swine production a profitable enterprise.

There are many essentials considered to be necessary to profitable swine production. Among these essentials are: (1) a desire to raise hogs, (2) start small and grow into the business, (3) get in and stay in, (4) carry out a complete program, (5) control diseases

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Skyrocketing welfare costs may hit the $1 billion a year mark in Texas within a decade, a State Welfare Board member predicts.

Burton G. Hackney, Welfare Commissioner, sees a very real possibility that his budget for the important "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" program may be exhausted this biennium. If that happens, another cut in AFDC benefits may be necessary.

"The $80 million a year welfare ceiling (approved by Texas voters only five months ago) now seems completely unrealistic (in view of) demands we will have to face within the next four to five years," said Louis R. Sarazan of Fort Worth, Welfare Board secretary.

Sarazan's comments followed reports by Hackney of rising costs in all the major state assistance programs.

Total public assistance payments during the past fiscal year came to $364.3 million, some 25 per cent of which was paid with state funds.

Welfare rolls have increased at the rate of 10,262 a month in AFDC since August. Federal court cases and agency rulings relaxing eligibility requirements, together with increased population, account for most of the growth.

Texas Aeronautics Commission granted five requests for airport construction and improvement grants, each to be matched at least 50-50 by the local entities.

Granted were the applications from:

Brenham—for construction of an additional apron and taxiways and extension of the runway, $27,500 (the maximum allowable grant under the appropriation);

Dumas—acquisition of additional land and removal of a power line, $9,900;

Marshall—restoration of runway lighting and acquisition of additional land for runway extension, $13,200;

Rockwall—acquisition of an additional clear-zone easement and resurfacing of the existing runway, $9,600; and White Bluff (Hill County Water Control and Improvement District)—construction of a new airport, $27,500.

Application from Beeville for a $16,000 grant to construct a taxiway and grade a crosswind landing strip was delayed until the town assures the Commission it will eliminate a power line crossing the end of one runway.

Governor Preston Smith designated Dallas attorney Manuel DeBusk chairman of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. He succeeds Tom Sealy, Midland.

Smith re-established the governmental units (Brownsville Navigation District) are immune from lawsuits for breach of contract.

High court held that a Jefferson County woman who claimed she got scalp blisters from using "New Dawn" hair coloring was not entitled to damages.

Also set for February 11 review is the appeal of a Marshall theater operator from a $31,250 damage verdict awarded a girl who was hit by a liquor bottle thrown from a movie house balcony at a midnight show.

District Judge Herman Jones of Austin denied an injunction to prevent construction of a golf course at Meridian State Park. Federal court earlier dismissed the suit.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a lower court decision that a Houston bus company must get a Railroad Commission certificate for space center tours and other routes outside the city. All three judges wrote their own opinions, one dissenting.

Fraternal and veterans organizations do not have to collect sales taxes on mixed drinks served to members, Attorney General Crawford Martin ruled in a new opinion.

Martin also said that a new law requiring free kindergarten programs during the 1970's did not allow for all "practical problems" and may need adjustments.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

State Board of Insurance is required to fix and maintain fair, reasonable and just insurance premium rates, and auditing may become a means of enforcement, even where the agency obligation under law extends only to approval of forms.

Majority of the members of Burnett County Hospital Authority Board of directors must be appointed by the board and remaining members by the Burnett County Commissioners Courts.

Architects are excluded from provisions of the Texas Professional Corporation Act but may incorporate under the Texas Business Corporation Act.

An application for registration as a professional engineer in the state meets legal requirements of the Engineering Practice Act when the applicant changes the affidavit by marking out the words "sworn upon oath" and writes in "affirmed".

April 15 is the deadline for motor vehicle inspections.

Texas adopted the annual inspection program September 1. Vehicles inspected in January will bear stickers with "No, 1" and won't be up for reinspection before January, 1971. All cars which still have old stickers on the right side of the windshield have not been reinspected in compliance with the new law, and owners have until April 15 to visit an approved inspection station.

February draft call for Texas is 929. No man will be ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 60, says Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director.

February quota is an increase of 573 from January, which will be filled January 16-30 with men who have random sequence numbers no higher than 30, posited $161,600 in anti-trust State quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in February is 9,359, up from 5,800 in January. In filling the call for examination, draft boards will order 1-A and 1-A-O men of 1970 random selection sequence group before men born in 1951. The 1970 group contains men born 1944-1950. National call for February is 19,000.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Smith and Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes will head the delegation of Texas Democrats flying to Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 5 to participate in the Nationwide Democratic Fund-Raising Gala.

Department of Public Safety completed the first phase of its war on dangerous drugs when 61 officers and officials finished an intensive course on combating the problem in their areas.

Republican Congressman George Bush of Houston announces for U.S. Senate pegging crime, fiscal policy and the Vietnam war as foremost issues.

Lt. Governor Barnes named Senators A.M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells to Legislative Budget Board.
