Library Report Shows Increase In Circulation

The Muleshoe Area Public Library has increased steadily in book circulation during the past year, according to a report issued by Librarian Anne Camp.

Mrs. Camp's report shows that 28,003 books were in circulation in 1969, compared with 19,005 in 1968. She also reported that total books in stock had increased from 5,902 in 1968 to 7,077 in 1969.

The librarian said the terms of three of the library board members will expire during this year. The three are Ralph Douglas, who has served two years; Mrs. Jack (Magann) Rennels, two years and Vic Benedict, who has also served two years.

Other members of the library board and the time their terms expire included David Sudduth, 1971; Mrs. Julian Lenau, 1971; Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 5

Following several years of working and planning, the Muleshoe Jaycees have acquired the Miss Texas franchise for Muleshoe. This will mean that in the future all Miss Muleshoe winners will be eligible for entry in the Miss Texas contest. The winner of the Miss Texas competition enters the Miss America Beauty Pageant in the fall.

Muleshoe's reigning Miss Muleshoe, Treena Bryant, will be the entry this year for Miss Texas. The entrant will enter Miss Texas competition at the end of her reign. Treena is a senior in high school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bryant.

Heart Official Guest Speaker At Rotary Club

Members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club were the third local group recently to host special speaker David Watson, Watson, who is Regional Director of the American Heart Association from Lubbock, spoke to the Rotarians about heart disease and how to reduce the risk of heart attacks during their regular meeting Tuesday.

Prior to the Rotary meeting, Watson had also spoken to the Muleshoe Jaycees and the Muleshoe Lions Club. He reminded that this month is heart month and asked the cooperation of everyone during this time.

He said that some of the contributing factors to heart disease include smoking cigarettes; overweight; eating foods high in saturated fat and cholesterol; high blood pressure; not enough regular exercise and non-regular medical checks.

Watson said cardiovascular diseases are the leading cause of deaths in the United States with 56.4 percent of all deaths caused by those diseases; second are several others; third, cancer; fourth, accidents and fifth, pneumonia and influenza.

Cardiovascular diseases take 27 billion dollars out of the nation's economy each year, he added. If General Motors should go out of business entirely, he said, only 25 billion dollars would be taken out of the nation's economy.

There has been a reduction in heart disease deaths, he commented. In 1950 the death rate was 175 per 100,000 population for persons under 65, while today it is 140 per 100,000 population for persons under 65. Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 5

Symphony Orchestra Slates Performance

One of the main topics of discussion at the Tuesday morning meeting of the Businessman's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was a proposal for the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra to present a 'Pop Concert' in Muleshoe in mid-April.

R.A. Bradley, chairman of the BAC, reported that he was contacted Tuesday morning by Mrs. Jack Rennels concerning the probability of an appearance of the orchestra.

Mrs. Rennels informed Bradley that the concert would be sponsored by the Association of American University Women. Plans were formulated during a meeting of the organization on Monday night. She asked the cooperation of the BAC and said all local civic, social and other clubs will be contacted. She explained to Bradley that it would cost $1,100 plus travel expenses for the orchestra to present the concert in Muleshoe, and that through a grant from the Texas Fine Arts Commission, half the expense would be borne by that group. Bradley explained that this could not be a money-making project.

Registration For Voters Sets Record

The office of Tax Assessor Jean Loveland reports that another record has been broken in Bailey County.

Although the official count has not been tabulated yet, as some registrations from substations have not been added to the total, vote registration for Bailey County for 1970 has shot above the 3,000 mark.

Evadna Foster said this was an excellent registration for an off-election year.

Mrs. Foster also said they have been quite busy with sales of 1970 license tags. She commented that the office was swamped on the first two days of sales, until they did not actually know how many had been sold.

as all monies received over and above the actual expenses are required to be used for further cultural events for the city. It was emphasized by the chairman, also, that the group would present light concert music which will be appealing to everyone in the area.

Robert Hooten asked that the BAC go on record as voting to cooperate fully with the AAUW in securing the performance for Muleshoe. This action came following discussion. The BAC voted unanimously to cooperate with AAUW.

In other action, Bradley announced he has secured Bill Loyd, president of the Muleshoe State Bank, as assistant chairman of the BAC. Loyd will assist Bradley in BAC functions.

The manager of Perrys', Duane Seay, reported on the upcoming George Washington Sale and Leroy Maxwell of Anthonys' reported on a possible Treasure Hunt Sale similar to last years. This sale would be Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 7

Lieutenant Governor Barnes Is Speaker

The full red carpet treatment will be the order of the day in Muleshoe Monday afternoon. Several dignitaries will be in Muleshoe that afternoon for the open house and dedication of two new buildings in the community.

Joint open house and dedication ceremonies will be held for the Muleshoe City Hall and the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center. Both buildings were completed and occupied late last year following a bond election on September 10, 1968.

Among the special guests and speakers to be in Muleshoe on that day will be Lt. Governor Ben Barnes who will give the dedicatory address. Others to be represented will be Senator Jack Hightower, Representative Bill Clayton and Representative Ralph Wayne.

Robert Hooten and Jack Young are chairmen of the committee slated to meet Barnes at the Muleshoe Airport when he arrives at approximately 3:45 p.m. Monday afternoon. Hooten and Young asked businessmen to take cars to the airport as they would like to have a caravan of at least 60 cars to escort the lieutenant governor into Muleshoe, Texas Highway Patrolmen Gene Sisemore and Joe Young will lead the caravan.

The caravan will come into town and turn east past the Mule Memorial site. It will travel down Main Street to Avenue D, turn right at Avenue D and go to West Second Street, where it will conclude at the parking lot on the southwest corner of the courthouse square.

A large truck and speaker system will be set up on the parking lot and Barnes will address the group from the truck. Approximately 80 members of the Muleshoe High School Band, under direction of Bandmaster Jim Harvey, will provide musical entertainment at the dedication.

The truck and two buildings will be decorated by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce. They will also be at both buildings to help with hosting and serving refreshments. City Manager Albert Field said invitations to attend the dedication have been mailed to mayors, city council members, city secretaries and city managers in areas surrounding Muleshoe. He and his staff will Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 6

Area Wrecks Injure Three In Two Days

Two accidents near Muleshoe injured three of the five persons involved on Sunday morning and Monday afternoon.

The first accident occurred Sunday morning around 5:45 a.m. when a 1967 Mercury, driven by Manuel Garcia Rios, Muleshoe, went out of control coming off FM 1760 to Highway 84, just west of the Muleshoe city limits.

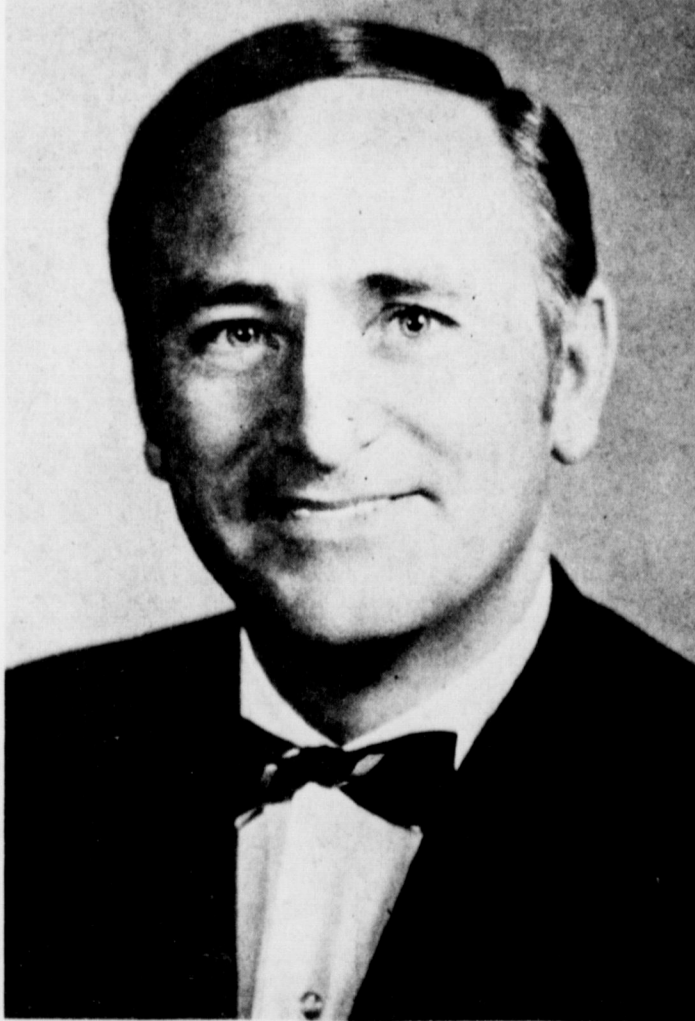

The report of Texas Highway Patrolman Gene Sisemore showed that the Mercury went into a broadsided skid approaching the intersection, skidded across the east bound dual traffic lanes of the divided highway broadside, hit a concrete culvert and flipped into the air. The auto landed on its top in the edge of the west-bound traffic lanes. Strewn along the path were highway signs and markers.

A passenger in the car, Lupe Olivarez, Muleshoe, was thrown from the vehicle and landed in the ditch between the divided highway. Rios was pinned inside the car for awhile. A wrecker summoned to the accident site pulled the door loose from the vehicle, and John Blackwell of Singleton Funeral Home crawled inside the car to release Rios. He was taken to West Plains Memorial Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for broken ribs, lacerations, abrasions and a deep gash in his head. Mrs. Olivarez was also hospitalized for treatment of a head laceration.

One person was injured in an accident about 2:30 p.m. Monday afternoon. The accident involved a pickup and a cattle truck and was 14.2 miles north of Muleshoe on Highway 214.

Benedito Vega Torres, Muleshoe, was the driver of a 1958 Chevrolet pickup which was owned by Dudley Malone. The pickup was in a collision with a 1963 Mack truck driven by Jackie Dale Frost, Hereford.

The investigating officer, THP Hagood, from Hereford, reported that both vehicles were traveling north on 214. Frost, in the cattle truck with a double-tiered load of cattle started Cont'd on Page 2, Col. 4 to go around the pickup which was pulling a trailer load of corn. The driver of the pickup attempted a left turn and was struck broadside by the large truck. The truck pushed the pickup off the highway, up an embankment and into a plowed field where both vehicles came to a stop. The pickup was almost half buried in the soft plowed field when they stopped. Neither vehicle overturned in the accident, which was termed "miraculous" by the investigating officer and others at the scene.

The trailer load of corn broke loose from the pickup and ended at the edge of a field to the right of the highway, which the truck with the pickup almost welded on the front ended in a field to the left side of the highway. The driver of the truck, Frost, and Torres' wife, who was riding with him in the pickup, were not injured in the accident.

Extensive damage was sustained by both the pickup and truck, and moderate damage listed to the trailer.

Complicated communications aided mission.

He added that cardiovascular disease is not one disease but several; heart attacks are down since 1950, 2.2 percent; strokes, 35.3 percent; high blood pressure deaths down 63.1 percent and all other cardiovascular disease deaths are down 27.5 percent. This makes the total deaths down for all ages 20.1 percent.

"Dramatic gains have been made in the surgical and medical fields," stated Watson. "High blood pressure is curable or controllable in 95 percent of the cases; rheumatic heart defects, 99 percent of the cases; congenital heart defects, 90 percent of cases.

"Gains are dramatic," Watson continued, "since these operations have been developed for the most part during the last 15 years. And, a high percentage has been developed during the past seven years."

He reminded that the American Heart Association has funds available to come back to a county to help local heart projects, such as heart equipment and supplies. Mrs. Dean Sprayberry is county chairman for the heart fund and Watson asked that volunteers contact Mrs. Sprayberry at the First National Bank.

John Miller, Muleshoe Rotarian, had charge of the program and guests at the meeting were Bruce Decker and Jack Young.

Mrs. Griffin Hosts Class

The menu was the name of the game.....and it was a fun party.....the Crazy Dinner hosted Friday evening by Rev. and Mrs. Waid Griffin for members of Wesleyan Class of United Methodist Church and their guests.

Seated at tables of varying size, the puzzled guests were given menus for which the Management guaranteed little and recommended nothing. Guests were allowed four choices for each of four courses and, if lucky, by the time they were served the fourth course they had acquired eating utensils and some matched foods. If not so lucky, they found themselves looking at a plate with only a pat of butter, a toothpick and a congealed salad.

Choice insults were hurled at waitresses and sometimes slyly hurled back. Collecting the 'tips' were Mrs. Sam Damron, Mrs. Bernard Phelps, Mrs. Sam McKinstry, Mrs. Sam Fox, and Mrs. Griffin. Presiding in the kitchen was Rev. Griffin.

Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bobo, Mrs. Mary Sweatmon, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allison, Mrs. McKinstry, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Beller, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas, Mrs. Margaret Slemmons, Mrs. Aileen Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gilbreath, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Wood, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Mrs. Don Harmon, Aid to the President, District 14, was in charge of a program entitled "A Trip to the Moon", designed to determine whether decisions can be made better alone or with others in a group.

Those present were given a list of 15 things which were intact and undamaged after landing on the moon some 200 miles from the rendezvous point and the mother ship. They were asked to pick the most critical items for the 200 mile trip, first individually, and then in groups of six or eight. The groups first discussed the items and then agreed on a list for the group. Mrs. Harmon then read the answers as near as the men at Nassau could decide on. It was discovered that the majority of people make better decisions after discussing with others. "It was a most interesting program," said Mrs. Butch Vandiver, reporter.

Mrs. Addie Mae Spence's room received the $5,00 for room count for January as the meeting was at Richland Hills. Mrs. Eloise Wilson's room won room count with the most parents attending the February meeting. West Texas TB Association, The March 2 meeting will feature Mrs. Nancy Gray of the Smoking.

In consideration of a new cotton program officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. continue to point out that adequate supplies are an absolute must if U. S. export markets are not to be lost forever.

In the decade of the sixties, cotton exports for the first eight seasons averaged 4.4 million bales per year. The lowest carryover of cotton at the end of any season during this period was 7.4 million bales on August 1, 1961. Average carryover was about 11 million bales and annual production averaged almost 13 million bales.

In 1968-69, when the beginning carryover was only a little over 6.2 million bales and only 10.8 million bales were produced in this country, exports dropped to 2.7 million bales. And it looks now as if the U. S. may do well to equal that sorry export performance in the 1969-70 season ending August 1 this year. Carryover on August 1, 1969 was only 6.3 million bales and the year's production total is straining to reach 10 million.

At beginning of the current season the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimated that U. S. cotton exports would show an increase over last year. That was when a crop of 11.7 million bales or so was expected.

Later, when it became evident that the crop would fall to around 10 million bales, both Government and trade sources began to say current-year exports might well drop below 2.7 million. Fortunately for U. S. cotton exports, it now appears that adverse developments in other cotton exporting countries of the world may at least partially offset the abnormally low supply of U. S. cotton, and our exports may yet reach the 1968-69 total. Other countries, too, are learning that "you can't do business from an empty wagon."

For example the latest indication is that Russia's crop may be some 3/4 million bales below expectations, and a decline in actual exports from the U.S.S.R. will provide an opportunity for increasing exports from free world countries, including the U.S.

Reports from Mexico show that prospects for the 1969-70 crop there have declined more than 200,000 bales in recent weeks. This, coupled with the fact that plantings in that country this year were down some 320,000 acres, indicates the Mexican crop may come to only about 1.75 million bales, down 700,000 bales from 1968-69 production.

The crop in Central America has also deteriorated recently and that area's production is now expected to be off 200,000 bales or more from last season.

All together the Foreign Agriculture Service of USDA now estimates that total cotton production in free foreign countries may drop slightly below the record 25.9 million bales produced in 1968-69.

And as the foreign cotton supply situation has worsened, price quotations for most foreign growths of cotton have shown significant increases. Prices for many of the growths of medium and longer staple cottons have now moved close to, and some have even gone above, price quotations for American medium staples.

Nearly half the decline in U.S. crop prospects, from 11.6 million bales at the beginning of the season to around 10 million, occurred in areas producing the shorter staple cottons, including the High Plains. Consequently the supply situation pushed prices for these staples above prices at which similar cottons could be obtained from other exporting countries. Since the shorter staples normally account for a major share of U. S. cotton exports, the depressing influence on the export outlook for American cotton appeared particularly strong. And this was responsible for the extremely dire predictions on exports that showed up in late November and early December, 1969.

Over 98 percent of Commodity Credit Corporation stocks, of which there are only 1.8 million bales currently available for sale, staple over an inch. Almost all of the 1969 crop cotton that remains unsold is also of the longer staples. We have little or no short cotton to sell outside the U.S.

It can be hoped, even expected, that the low supply situation in foreign cotton exporting countries will help some of our longer cottons to move into export markets. Even so, the export record for 1969-70 will reflect a miserably poor year. And much of the blame must be placed on an inadequate supply of the cottons most in demand from this country.

For 1970 USDA increased the national allotment from 16 million to 17 million acres -- a commendable attempt to raise total production. But price support payments are still to be made only on 65 percent of each farmer's cotton acreage. And with the loan level at 20.25 cents per pound, farmers have little hopes of getting a price equal to production costs on acreage planted above 65 percent.

So it is anybody's guess whether 1970 production will be sufficient to meet market demands. And it's a good bet the guessing game will continue, year after year, until such time as the industry has a cotton program that gives producers a chance to at least recover expenses on cotton produced to supply the export as well as the domestic market.

It has gotten to the point nowadays that unless you toot your own horn no one else toots it.

Freshmen Girls Win Trophy

Muleshoe's freshman girls' basketball team downed Hart by a score of 78-29 to win a third place trophy during a basketball tournament at Dimmitt last Saturday.

At the end of the first quarter the girls led Hart 15-6 and at halftime the score was Muleshoe 36-Hart 14. A big 61-20 was on the board at the buzzer signalling the end of the third and final score was 78-29.

High pointer in the game was Tani Murrath with 28 and Kathy Pena was second with 24 points.

CITY OF MULESHOE

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, TEXAS -- Texans who registered to vote before the January 31 deadline are assured plenty of action for their 1970 registration certificate.

One of the nation's hottest U.S. Senate races is due to rage on through the November 3 general election.

Senator Ralph Yarborough, 66, of Austin and former Congressman Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., 48, a Houston business executive, are major Democratic contenders for Yarborough's seat. Whoever wins will face Republican Congressman George Bush, 45, of Houston, in November.

Governor Preston Smith, 57, a cinch to win the May 2 Democratic primary nomination in the gubernatorial race, will be challenged by Republican Paul Eggers, 50, of Wichita Falls, in the general election.

Republicans talk freely about million-dollar campaigns for Bush and Eggers.

Attorney General Crawford Martin will be opposed by District Judge David Brown of Sherman in the Democratic primary and Corpus Christi Attorney Edward Yturri, 42, a Republican, in November.

Republicans came up with a surprising number of statewide candidates before the February 2 filing deadline.

In addition, there will be hard fought local contests in many Texas counties.

Long-time conservative leader Bard A. Logan of San Antonio said he was "tired and needed a rest" so he resigned as chairman of The American Party of Texas, Vice-Chairman H. W. Matthews of Conroe succeeds Logan until the election of a new leader at the state convention.

Chief chore of the American Party now is to get 30,000 to attend its May 2 precinct conventions, so it can qualify to place a gubernatorial candidate on the ballot.

And there will be a sizzling November 3 battle over the liquor-by-the-drink proposition on the constitutional amendments ballot. Lines are already forming and campaigns shaping up on that.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler is now distributing free copies of his booklet, "Treasure Tempest in Texas". It's about the Padre Island galleons and their cargo.

At the request of Corpus Christi Rep. Frances Farent-hold, State Auditor George Mc-Niel checked on whether state facilities had been used in printing the booklets. He reported that General Land Office facilities had been employed, but that Sadler had reimbursed the agency $5,000. "It might be in order for me to observe that it is not unusual for general information brochures to be done at State expense," Mc-Niel wrote, saying that Sadler appears to be "leaning over backwards to avoid criticism."

A misdemeanor driver's license case in Wichita Falls must be tried either in the new municipal courts or the justice court, where punishment is by fine only, not to exceed $200. All other misdemeanors so arising must be tried exclusively in municipal courts.

Probate court has no power to approve claims filed under a section of the Probate Code where claims have been rejected by operation of the law under another section of the code.

A justice of peace in Bexar County must run for re-election this year due to mistakes in abolishing six justice precincts and creating three new ones in their place back in 1967.

Austin newsman and businessman Wick Fowler has launched a one-man campaign for a special session of the legislature to enact "emergency laws" dealing with criminals and drunk and careless drivers.

Fowler, known as a humorist, was dead serious when he contended that only in a special session could full attention be focused on the rising crime rate and traffic dangers.

Noting there were 3,580 traffic deaths last year, he said: "Had this number been killed and injured in one incident, day a tornado or hurricane, the state would be overwhelmed by hysteria." Fowler also pointed out that there were 400,000 major crimes committed in the state last year and the crime rate is growing. He urged Texans to petition Governor Smith to call an emergency session of the lawmakers.

Governor's Criminal Justice Council says that 84 per cent of the 1969 federal crime control money received by governments below the state level in Texas is being used in the state's major cities. Remaining 16 per cent is split between smaller cities, towns and rural areas. Largest amounts were Houston, $227,000; Dallas, $201,844; and Fort Worth, $108,750.

At the state level, four agencies received $197,231. They were the Department of Public Safety, Department of Corrections, Adjutant General's Department, and the Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.

Water Meeting Set For Lubbock Soon

Two of the leaders in the field of water resource planning and development will address the third annual Water, Inc., membership meeting February 17, in Lubbock said K.B. 'Tex' Watson, president of the group.

Keynote speaker for the day-long meeting slated at the Koko Palace will be James Smith, Washington, assistant Secretary of the Interior for Water and Power Development. The Bureau of Reclamation comes under the supervision of the assistant secretary.

Luncheon speaker for the membership meeting will be Lt. Gen. Frederick Clarke, also of Washington, Chief of the Corps of Engineers.

More than 800 persons are expected to be on hand for the membership meeting which will be climaxed with a business session. Those attending will select six directors-at-large to serve on the organization's 41-member board of directors. Mailout ballots for 14 district directors will also be tabulated and the results announced at the session.

Following adjournment of the general business session, the board will convene to elect officers.

The meeting will mark the first time the annual meeting has been held in Lubbock.

Water, Inc., was formed at a meeting in Lubbock in mid-1967. Last year the meeting was conducted in Amarillo, and the first annual session was convened in Plainview.

Watson said Water, Inc., is a membership-based, non-profit organization working in the field of water resource planning, development and conservation. It lists more than 2,000 members in West Texas, Eastern New Mexico and in the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Other water notables who will attend the meeting are Judge Otha Dent of Austin, chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission; Howard Boswell of Austin, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board; Hugh C. Yantis Jr., executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board; J.R. Singleton of Austin, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department; Josiah Wheat of Woodville, a member of the National Water Commission and president of the Texas State Bar; Col. R.S. Kristoferson of Fort Worth, district engineer, Corps of Engineers; Harry Burtleigh of Reclamation; Dr. Ernest Gloyna of Austin, director of the Water Resources Center, University of Texas; and Dr. Herb Grubb, a special assistant in the governor's office.

Pollution issue is being spotlighted by candidates from local to senatorial level.

On January 29, Texas Water Quality Board called on the U.S. Navy, seven towns and three industries to explain poor quality discharges into public streams.

Navy said it would keep on dumping raw sewage into the Sabine River until it gets $146,000 for treatment facilities.

Towns invited to answer questions about their sewage discharges were Celeste, Center, Greenville, Hemphill, Newton, Quinlan and Timpson.

County commissioners have discretionary authority to maintain streets which are an integral part of the county or state road system, within a city, if the city consents, says Attorney General Martin.

Editorial The Senate

In the next ten months the two major political parties will be waging a battle to determine which controls the upper legislative body in 1971 and 1972. There seems little chance that Republicans can capture the lower House in November's elections but the Senate offers the minority congressional party its best chance in many years this fall.

The count in the House is 245 to 188. In the Senate it is 57 to 43. But whereas in the House every member is up for reelection in the Senate only ten Republicans face races this year while twenty-five Democratic terms expire. Thus the GOP has more targets to shoot at, and with a Republican in the White House, many more Governors than Democrats, and facing a Democratic Party in disarray and debt, this could be a year of opportunity.

To change control of the Senate Republicans must gain a minimum of seven seats. This would make the count in the upper house 50-50 but since Vice President Agnew would wield the tie-breaking vote on organization, the Republicans could organize, a major gain being that their members would then lead the Senate's committees. Their membership on the committees would also increase and Democratic membership decrease, since it is based on total Senate membership.

The Nixon Administration can hope to gain control of the House in 1972, with Mr. Nixon running for reelection, if the GOP registers notable gains in the lower body this year. If not, it seems unlikely 1972 could produce a Republican House. If Republicans have even the slimmest of majorities in Congress, they can depend upon the support of more moderate and conservative Democrats, often from the South, to operate reasonably effectively.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm lives up to his promise of last week, possibly, Dear editor:

In case you've forgotten, in my letter last week I promised to figure out something for the 50,000 people being let off by the space agency to do.

As you know, the space agency has decided by popular demand that one trip to the moon after another from now on is more than the people are interested in paying for, so it has let off 50,000 of its workers and out back some on its programs.

Now here we've got a fine group of trained, skilled people who have demonstrated, with the amazing success of the moon shots, that they know how to concentrate on a problem and whip it brilliantly.

Why let them scatter to the far reaches of the country and hunt up other jobs that won't challenge their full abilities?

Why not keep them intact and put them to work on something as challenging as the first two moon shots were?

Of course, it has to be something within the realm of the possible. No use assigning them the job say of ending wars. Everybody knows the way to end wars is to change the brand of human beings we've got, which is like saying the way to end hurricanes is to change the brand of weather we've got.

Pollution? That problem is too big too. I figure the answer to pollution is people and the more people you have working on it the more pollution you've got.

Remember, 50,000 is a relatively small figure in a population of over 200 million, so let's put them on a relatively small problem.

I'd like to see them tackle the problem of tin cans and bottles. I've forgotten how many million tons of cans and bot-

DRUG ABUSE CONTROL

I know many of you are concerned, as am I, with the problem of drug abuse in our nation, especially among our young people. The uncontrolled use of drugs for nonmedical reasons has increased substantially over recent years. Arrests for narcotic drug law violations quadrupled between 1960 and 1968. And a survey by the National Institute of Mental Health has indicated that in some areas of our nation as many as half our high school students have had at least some experience with marijuana, let alone more dangerous drugs and narcotics. During this past week, the Senate approved legislation designed to improve the effectiveness of the federal government in dealing with drug abuse. I supported this legislation because I believe it offers a comprehensive and balanced approach to the problem we face.

You may have heard recently of the so-called "no-knock" provision of this legislation. This provision would allow a law enforcement officer to enter premises unannounced, if he has reason to believe such entry would allow him to seize material evidence with which to support a drug-violation conviction, and if he has previously been able to impress these views upon a judge with sufficient support to enable him to obtain a warrant.

While the provision was carefully limited in order to protect the constitutional rights of individuals, it nevertheless provides a valuable tool for law enforcement officials in obtaining legal proof of drug violations. Under present circumstances, a violator can literally flush evidence down the lavatory while the law enforcement officer is knocking on the door, identifying himself and producing his search warrant. The new legislation would enable a law enforcement officer to surprise a drug pusher or user and thus obtain the evidence necessary for conviction.

Like many of my colleagues, I felt that such a provision was needed, but was concerned over the possibility that the Constitutional rights of an individual might be restricted. I was, therefore, pleased that the bill was modified on the floor of the Senate to limit unannounced entry by law enforcement officers only to those situations in which the evidence sought might be easily and quickly destroyed or disposed of.

Thus the judge being asked to grant a so-called "no-knock" warrant must be satisfied that there is probable cause to believe that if notice of entry were given, it would be extremely likely that the evidence needed for conviction would be destroyed. This provision is extremely important in my opinion. It will prevent a police officer from acting on his own unsubstantiated suspicion; yet at the same time, it will enable him to obtain the evidence necessary for conviction.

There are several additional worthwhile provisions in this drug abuse control bill. The legislation seeks to improve the administration and regulation of the manufacture, distribution, importation and exportation of drugs. The legislation also classifies drugs into four schedules according to chemical properties, psychological and physical effects and abuse potential. These schedules correspond to the penalties applicable to violations.

Also, the bill substantially revises the penalty structure which now exists for drug law violations. An effort has been made to provide sufficiently effective penalties for the real criminal, such as the drug pusher and the traffickers in hard narcotics such as heroin; while at the same time limiting the mandatory minimum sentences for first offenders who have been caught in their first experience with the use of drugs. I believe this is a sound approach. It seems unreasonable to impose the same stiff penalties on the professional pusher of hard narcotics as on the young first offender who has made a mistake and may, under present law, spend 10 years in prison regretting every minute of it. I am hopeful that these more reasonable sentences will result in more convictions and act as a more effective deterrent to drug abuse.

The legislation also provides for the creation of a committee which will make an in-depth study of all aspects of marijuana. Marijuana is the drug most commonly subject to abuse by our young people. It accounts for the majority of arrests of persons under the age of 21 for drug violations. Marijuana has been the subject of great controversy. Many have argued that the smoking of marijuana leads to habitual use of hard narcotics which can enslave the user and even lead to death. Some have argued that the use of marijuana is no more, injurious to one's health and well being than the smoking of tobacco. Actually, we know very little about the effects of the use of marijuana on a long-term basis. Does it affect our thought processes or our ability to function? Does it cause cancer or other terminal disease? Does it contribute to birth defects? I believe that a complete study of marijuana and its effects on human beings is vital in order to provide a better understanding of the substantial dangers associated with its use.

Weather Plays Role In Crop Production

Weather plays a significant role in the production of High Plains crops annually and somewhere there should be a key that will permit men to analyze the weather pattern. This is the topic of continuing research at the High Plains Research Foundation as scientists compile yearly weather data to see if weather trends can be established.

One item of interest found in past weather records at the Foundation projects is that good cotton years are preceded by relatively warm months of February and colder months of March.

This was the case in 1969. Jim Valliant, soil scientist, said in looking back over the past year, the high micronaire in area cotton might have been expected.

He pointed out that cotton fiber development takes place when the temperature is above 70 F and that for every 18 degrees above 70 degrees, the rate of fiber development doubles.

"Looking back over our weather chart for 1969, we can see where the mean maximum temperature ranged from 90 degrees beginning in early June to a high of approximately 100 degrees in the latter part of June and stayed at an average of 98 degrees through July and the first part of August," he stated.

"This means we had three months of excellent growing weather and extremely good fiber development temperatures from the first three weeks of bloom," he said.

"Also, the amount of low m'ke cotton in plant tops was reduced due to the early freeze," the scientist added. However, he pointed out, the freeze and cool weather in September accounted for some of the lower grades. The discount

TOO MANY CATTLE?—"Ranchers, are you grazing too many cattle on your rangeland this winter?" asks a member of the Soil Conservation Service. "If you are, your ranch could very likely look like the above picture come this spring. Your Soil Conservation Service welcomes inquiries as to proper stocking rates and invites you to drop by and discuss your particular range problem with them."

of "barky" cotton was due to excessive vegetative regrowth because of a cool wet September.

Cotton was not the only crop helped by the higher temperatures of the early part of the growing season. Valliant said corn sprouted and took advantage of the hotter growing weather to reach a good height to provide ground shading that reduced the amount of irrigation usually necessary for corn production.

Sorghum suffered through the hot weather which occurred at a time of high water requirement and irrigation applications became a critical factor in sorghum development.

Soybeans flowering during this three months "hot" period showed the effects of heat by "shedding" the flowers. Valliant said the cool weather in September was favorable to soybean varieties flowering during the early fall period. Rainfall at the High Plains Research Foundation for 1969 totaled 26 inches, about seven inches more than the average 18 to 19 inches. June and September tied in accumulating the most rainfall at 4.75 inches each. May rainfall totaled 4.05 inches and October was fourth with 3.05 inches.

July rainfall totaled 2.75 inches and March received a total 2.05 inches including 1.75 inches in snowfall. August received a total of two inches of rainfall. November and April were the only two months reporting rainfall at less than two inches, totaling 1.35 inches and 1.25 inches respectively.

As for an outlook at weather for 1970, none of the scientists at the Foundation will venture a guess. However, one of them pointed to an article in "Crops and Soils" magazine entitled, "Climate in the 70's" which pointed out that the 1990's was a period of cool, wet weather and that the 1970's could be entering a period of hot, dry weather.

Principal Stresses Good Study Habits

(Editor's note: The stories below were taken from the latest issue of the F.B.I. (Feed Bag Information) official publication of Muleshoe Junior High School. FROM THE PRINCIPALS DESK
Today I would like to give you some pointers on Developing Good Study Habits.

Have you ever wondered why some of your classmates consistently score grades in the eighties and nineties-while you're often disappointed with your own mark? It is sometimes difficult to pinpoint the reasons for mediocre grades, but a good place to start is to examine your work and study habits.

It's possible that you are doing yourself an injustice. If you have not learned to take full advantage of your abilities and the time available to you, you are very much like an unsuccessful worker who has failed to master the use of his tools. As soon as you learn to work at peak efficiency, you'll find that you have more time to pursue your favorite recreation.

Some ways you can improve your study habits are:

1. Think carefully of what you want to achieve.
2. Have a plan of action. Do not waste time at school by studying math in history or vice-versa.
3. Prepare a plan of action for home study. How much time do you need to complete your homework? After completing your homework set aside additional time for review.
4. Have a proper place to work. Regardless of the physical setup of your home, it is always possible to find a suitable place to work.
5. Make certain you understand the assignment. If you do not, ask your teacher. Cover, and label, all your textbooks and keep them readily available.
6. Last but certainly not the least, take pride in what you do. Once you have developed the proper attitude, locate a suitable place to work, and assemble the proper tools, you will have taken three giant steps on the road to success. The ability to organize your time and skills efficiently will serve you well in any profession that you choose. I cannot emphasize enough the importance of regular attendance.

Extra Farmer Income Talked At Meeting

The realization that farmers are in a great need of diversification in their operations has led to the organization of a Livestock Committee for the High Plains Research Foundation which met for the first time on Tuesday, January 6, 1970. Members of the committee recommended that the Foundation lead the way in evaluating and demonstrating new avenues of income for area farmers through livestock feeding.

Sam Thomas, Amarillo, chairman of the newly formed committee, said farmers in this area have to turn to livestock production to receive maximum production from their land and equipment.

The committee recommended that the Foundation begin work to establish a research study on a 120-sow swine farrow-to-finishing operation. The study would be a total confinement operation with research centering on different types of buildings, equipment, artificial insemination, different methods of waste disposal, feeding rations to be included in the study.

Bob Carter, Plainview cattle feeder, recommended that the Foundation begin demonstrations to illustrate different grazing methods to condition calves weighing up to 600 pounds.

"Farmers also need to learn how to handle cattle," Carter said.

He suggested that the Foundation evaluate different grazing programs and establish a successful cattle-crop rotation program for the High Plains farmer.

The recommendations will be presented to the Foundation's board of trustees during the regular spring meeting, and further action will be dependent on the interest and financial support of area farmers and livestock-related businesses.

Members of the committee present included Fred Breugel, Dimmitt; Troy Pritchard, Plainview; and Bob Carter, Plainview. Other members of the committee are Grady Shepard, Hale Center and A. L. Black, Friona.

People acquire wealth when they restrain their urge to buy what they can't afford.
