Library News

By Anne Camp

by Ann Camp, Librarian

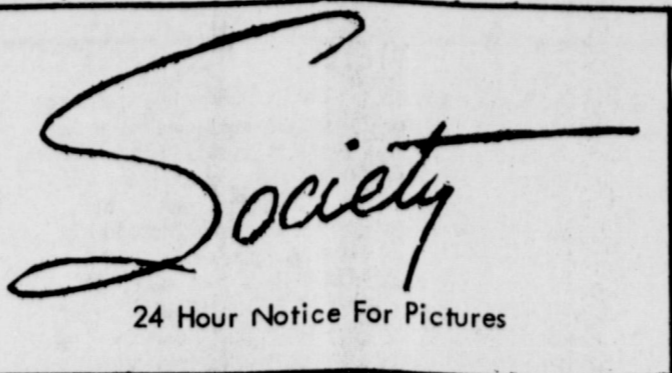

The library has just received a lovely gift of 67 records. This collection is the complete Bible recorded; and beautifully read by Alexander Scourby. This gift was given by one of our loyal library friends and patron, who wishes to remain anonymous. She specified that she wants this to be put into circulation, not only to give comfort and joy to a blind person, but for anyone else to enjoy. She said that she has this in her home, and many times puts a portion of it on to inspire her as she goes about her housework. So, we are very happy to make these records available to the public; and publicly thank her for her gift.

We would also like to express appreciation to the many who helped make our recent Library week a success. A special thanks go to the News Media; the Radio for all the extra announcements, and the fine writeups in the paper... we always need good publicity, and have had the very best kind of support from both.

Thanks also go to all those who brought in their used books and paperbacks for our sale, which we cleared $101.50 - the volunteers who helped from the Study Club, and the Friends group and FOL President, Mrs. Larry Hall - all deserve praise.

The library also would like to give a special Thanks to Magann Rennels who has been Memorial Chairman for two years. She has spent countless hours sending cards, and keeping records on the funds given. The library is receiving new books, and we are very busy getting them processed and ready for Summer reading enjoyment.

Please Do! Garage man: "What's wrong lady?" Miss Newdriver: "They say I have a short circuit: Can you lengthen it while I wait, please?"

ou get? Farm program payments make up the difference between the cost of producing cotton, wheat and feed grains and the prices for which these commodities sell on the market. Without the payments, consumers would pay a much higher market price, or else be obliged to do without these commodities altogether.

Donnell Echols of Lamesa, President of the Lubbock based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and member of the Board of the National Educational Association for Agriculture, recently said "It is imperative that through PCG, NEIA and every other group at our disposal we let the public know the facts about farming and farm programs. In no other way can we repair the damage done by the erroneous and misleading stories being circulated by national magazines, in Congress and elsewhere."

As an example of PCG efforts to combat the false image being painted of agriculture almost daily, Echols points to "rebuttal information" being supplied to Congressman George Mahon (D-Tex.), NEIA and others.

Included in the data being supplied to Mr. Mahon, which hopefully will be inserted in the Congressional Record, is a table showing the investment, production costs, income from crop sales, income from government payments and after tax net profit or loss for six High Plains farmers in the years 1967, 1968 and 1969.

The actual figures, taken from the files of a local accounting firm, conclusively show that no one of the six farmers could have stayed in business and continued to produce over the past three years if he had been solely dependent on crop sales for income.

Without price support payments under government programs, production costs alone, with no regard for return to investment, labor and management, exceeded income from crop sales by an average of $17,193 per year per farm. Crop sales covered production costs on only one of the farms for only one of the three years.

The farms, selected at random from Lamb, Lubbock and Hale Counties, farm an average of 356 acres. Average investment in land and equipment per farm comes to just over $215,000. Government payments per farm averaged $31,678, and when these payments are added to crop sales the average net income after taxes was $13,014 per farm -- a return of less than 5.6 percent on investments, with no allowance for management and labor.

How, then, can farm program payments be characterized as "additions to already sizeable incomes"?

The farms included in the table range from 157 up to 640 acres. Program payments go from below $17,000 up to almost $67,000, and the maximum dollar return to any farmer in any year was $20,649. That was on a 640 acre farm where investment in land and equipment total $209,320.

What Mr. Methvin and other detractors from farm programs should understand is that the present level of farm program payments, without any form of payments limitation, is barely enough to keep farmers farming. Once they understand that fact, Echols says, they should ask themselves whether they or the nation can survive without agricultural products. "And if they give an honest answer to that question they'll be far more inclined to 'tell it like it is' in the future."

The waters that surround prospective farm legislation are still turbulent and "still too muddy to see through" according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

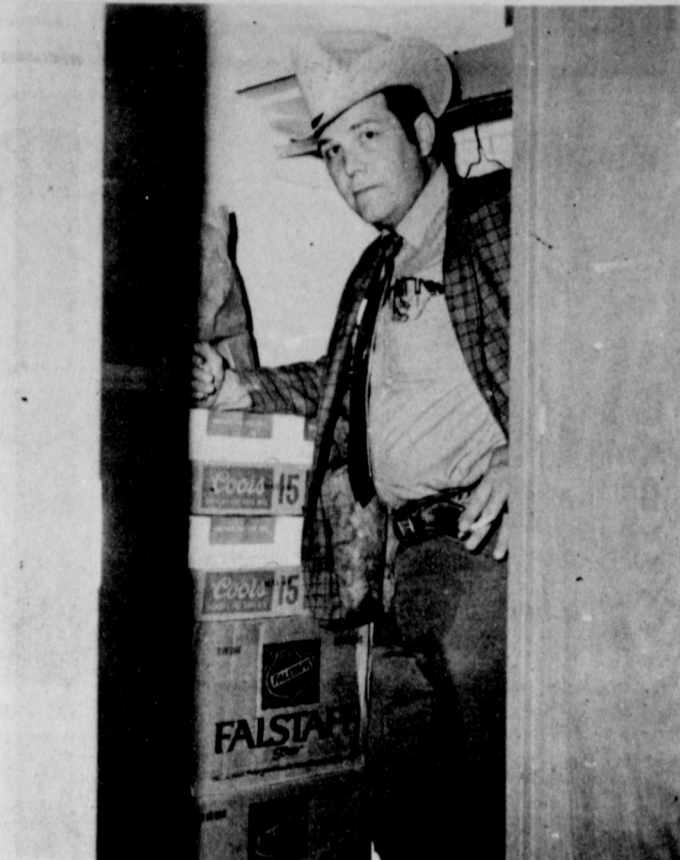

Johnson spent the better part of the past week in Washington and reported on May 21 that "if any progress is being made it is hard to detect." The House Agriculture Committee met on the morning of May 21, took no action, and adjourned. They are scheduled to meet again May 26 and 27, then recess until June 1 when members return from the Memorial Day holiday.

The House Cotton Subcommittee, which has yet to report a cotton bill to the full Committee, didn't meet at all this past week and there are only vague indications as to when they will get together.

The most significant development of late, and the one which appears to have the whole farm bill hung on a snag, was an agreement by the Department of Agriculture to retain the "parity concept" in the proposed wheat program. Reportedly they have agreed to guarantee wheat producers 100 percent of parity on wheat grown for domestic consumption.

This is considered a major concession from the current Administration, and wheat growers will be glad to hear it, certainly.

But it also leaves House Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob

A LONG HAUL--Deputy Sheriff Ken Petree shows some of the liquor he has accumulated during the past month. The Deputy said he had confiscated the equivalent of more than 245 quarts of beer, several containers of wine and whiskey during the month. All the liquor is kept in a locked closet in the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center (D-Tex.) and others on his committee in a difficult position. Their constituents in feed grain and cotton areas also want their income tied to parity and are going to ask "If you could get the parity concept retained for wheat, why not feed grains and cotton?" And that would be a difficult question. This state of affairs was conveyed to USDA officials, but they still turn thumbs down on any parity percentage guarantee for cotton and feed grains.

What ruins many a vacation is the pile of work awaiting you on your return. Of all our faults, the one that we excuse most easily is idleness. -La Rochefoucauld.

Clip this message and keep it handy.

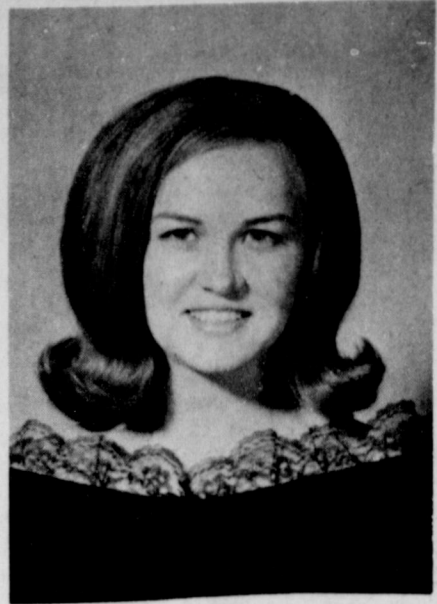

In May of 1919, at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces obtained a copy of some of the "Communist Rules for Revolution." Nearly 50 years later, the Reds are still following them.

- Corrupt the young; get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.
- Get control of all means publicity, thereby:
  - Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books, and plays and other trivialities.
  - Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.
  - Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.
  - Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.
  - By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.
  - Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such disorders.
  - By specious argument, cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues of honesty, sobriety, self-restraint, faith in the pledged word, and ruggedness.
- Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view of confiscating them and leaving the population helpless.

Now, stop to think--How many of these rules are being carried out in this nation today

Bailey County Electric Co-op Pays Dividends

The Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association returned $84,152.49 in Capital Credit checks to member users this week.

Of this amount, checks totaling $52,367.27, went to people who were members of the organization and used its services during 1968. Then checks totaling $33,237.66, which is 1/4 of the net margins of systems operations for 1966, went to members taking service that year. This completes repayment of all capital credits for the year of 1966.

Operating under a State charter, and in accordance with the Internal Revenue Service laws, Electric Cooperatives, being non-profit corporations, do not make a net profit for their organization. Any money taken in over and above the cost of operations, belongs to the member owners, and is assigned back to them according to their prorated usage of electric service each year. The member is issued a capital credit certificate for his share of this money. The capital is held in a reserve fund for emergencies or to insure the continuance of operations. Then when the Board of Directors determines that the Cooperative is financially able, the members' capital is returned to him in cash to replace the certificate he is holding. This is generally done on about a 10-year lag basis.

These checks are not dividend payments; they are sim-

Old Southern Plantation Theme Adds To Prom Festivities

Just as parties at Southern Plantations in Colonial days included formal balls, so Muleshoe High School juniors and seniors included the formal Junior-Senior Prom in their graduation festivities which honored the Class of 1970.

And, just as the rich Southern planters built imposing homes with large porches and tall, graceful pillars, and king-size ballrooms to entertain their guests at social events, so too the brand new Catholic Center was a perfect setting for the pleasing, elaborate decorations of the Prom's Southern Colonial theme.

The second annual Junior-Senior formal social event was held immediately following the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. The event has been sponsored the past two years by parents of both classes for all seniors and juniors, in order that graduating seniors may be honored with the traditional senior prom that is, formal dance, as in other American schools and colleges. Guests, approximately 150 students and 65 adults, entered the Center's veranda-like porch, which was suitably decorated with climbing roses entwined in the lattice work and with hanging baskets of flowers.

The formal parlor decor of a classic ante bellum plantation home converted the handsome paneled entrance hall of the Center into a graceful receiving room. Prom guests registered at a table covered with a full-length green cloth and centered with golden scales weighted with fresh flower bouquets.

The ladies of the prom received a program dance folder, shaped as a soft furry cotton-boll. Each gentleman was honored to be granted ten program dances from the several ladies of his acquaintance, in true Southern fashion.

In the leisurely style of the Old South an informal receiving line included three appropriately dressed parent-sponsors. In his black long-tailed frock coat "the Colonel" Don Bryant was assisted by his charmingly gowned wife, "Missus Mary Anna", in her red taffeta, hooped ball gown. Assisting with the hospitalities and needs of the guests was "Mammy" Mrs. L. C. Brown. Their costumed presence lent a gay reminder of the past days of the South. (It was noted that no other hoops or full-skirted formal ball gowns were in style among the guests, although the long, stylish 1970 formals transformed the young ladies of Muleshoe into present-day versions of "southern belles.")

Continuing the Southern Colonial theme into the ballroom decorations, a white trellis archway covered with roses and greenery graced the doorway into the ballroom. The spacious hall was surrounded by carefully planned and formal gardens with magnolia and cypress trees, roses, honeysuckle, vines, hollyhocks, and blossoms of all seasons. The scene presented was tranquil (until the contemporary music began) and gracious, with the flower-filled gardens, courtyards, patios, box hedges and white picket fences leading toward a flower-filled formal garden area at the far end of the ballroom. White iron grill-work ante bellum reproductions were used in the numerous seating arrangement groupings, which was enjoyed by both chaperoning adults and chatting student-guests.

The spotlighted wall mural depicted a Southern plantation mansion scene with its adjoining formal garden setting. On one side of the garden area, under soft evening-type lighting, a picturesque rock waterfall complete with lily pads and birds was set under a cypress tree. Magnolia trees spread limbs over a golden-toned statue representing one of the four seasons which graced another garden area.

Large bouquets of fresh roses, including white and pink Peace and Sweetheart red varieties, added a fragrance and beauty to the room decorations.

The belles and gents at the gala served themselves "sasperilla" punch which flowed from the "old oaken bucket" in a plantation-type garden wishing well. The well was a George Mayo original. An old-fashioned crock was used for drinking water service.

Music for the evening was provided by the Don Caldwell Quintet. They played from the vine-covered white gazebo set among the rose-blooming trellis setting of the ballroom.

Sponsor-chaperones for the prom included Mr. and Mrs. Don Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wrinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. S.M. Ethridge, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcy Moore, Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Street, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat Wagon and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Roming.

Use Chemicals As Substitute Says Specialist

COLLEGE STATION, May 7--You can spray your way out of the grass and weeds in cotton cheaper and easier than by using hand hoeing, states a Texas A&M University cotton specialist.

Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, adds that post emergence chemical weed control practices in cotton are positive control measures.

In small, young cotton--three inches high--if grasses alone are the problem, Elliott suggests the use of naphtha or DSMA plus surfactant formulations. If a combination of both grass and broadleaf weeds are the problem in small, young cotton, then a combination of DSMA plus Cotoran plus surfactant is suggested.

After cotton is larger and is six to eight inches tall, the continued use of Cotoran plus DSMA plus surfactant is recommended. Also, notes Elliott, a number of other materials can be used with DSMA plus surfactant. These include Diuron, Herban, or Caparol. The cotton specialist emphasizes that any tough grass and weed control situation can be handled without expensive hand hoeing.

He suggests that a copy of B-1029, "Suggestions for Weeds Control with Chemicals," be obtained from the local county agent. He emphasizes that container labels should be read and carefully followed when chemicals are being used for any purpose, including grass and weed control.

An Enormous Success In Cambodia-Nixon

As some American troop withdrawals from Cambodia got under way last week, President Nixon characterized the operation to clean out Communist sanctuaries there as "an enormous success--far exceeding expectations."

In a special briefing for the AFL-CIO Executive Council, the President pointed out that the ammunition captured by allied forces operating in the sanctuary areas amounts to more than has been expended by the enemy in South Vietnam in the last five to six months.

At Newsletter press time, materiel seized or destroyed included:

- * 7,274 individual weapons--enough to equip from 42 to 51 North Vietnamese battalions (400-600 men in a battalion),
- * 1,012 crew-operated weapons,
- * 2,390 tons of rice--enough to feed 105,160 men for a month.
- * 22,256 rocket and mortar rounds--enough to conduct 4,000 attacks on allied bases at an average level of five to six rounds per raid.
- * 8,375,925 rounds of small-arms ammunition.
- * 1,200 land mines,
- * 3,294 bunkers destroyed,
- * 171 vehicles captured or destroyed.

In addition, some 5,097 of the enemy so far have been killed in the operation. The number of United States killed was described as "very, very low."

Summed up House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford:

"I think the operation will wind up when the President said it would, by July 1, and that the President will achieve his goals. I think the operation will be successful; that it will pay the dividends the President expects and that it will pay extra dividends in shortening the war and hastening troop withdrawals."

Meanwhile, the 35-member Executive Council of the big labor federation overwhelmingly endorsed the President's Cambodian operation, with only 3 dissenting votes. Earlier, AFL-CIO President George Meany had commended the President for acting "with courage and conviction" and said he "should have the full support of the American people."

Mrs. J.L. Cox is working this week at the Bula Beauty Shop for Mrs. Pat Risinger, while she is recovering from a tonsil surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bogard and their daughter, Mrs. Ray Kennison of Olton drove to Clarendon Saturday and visited with relatives Mrs. Blanche Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blackman. ## The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets into risky territory this week, but that's his worry.

Dear editor: When you open up a big daily newspaper you never know what you're going to find, excusing the front page, and I was flipping through one which turned up out here yesterday when I ran across a picture of a turtle, his head sticking out as he inched up a hill, hanging on the wall behind some official's desk with the motto under it: "You never get anywhere without sticking your neck out."

I got to thinking about this

Dear Editor:

Yes, the Bailey County hospital to be built with the help of federal funds will be federally controlled. Even the money raised through local taxation will be federally controlled.

Many years ago farmers were told that federal subsidies for their products would not include federal controls. Can any citizen believe that today?

If they do, they might like to know that federal subsidies without controls was tested in the United States Supreme Court in 1942. In the case of "Wickard vs. Filburn," the court stated: "It is hardly lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes." Can we not learn from others' experience?

Now, wouldn't it seem unwise to hand out money without control over its spending? A responsible government can do no less than control federally-funded expenditures. The only way we can avoid federal controls over our activities is to avoid federal financing of them.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Morris McKillip

look any better coming than going.

Say, speaking of students, I'm all for their drive to clean up the environment everywhere except where they've been demonstrating; when they run out of litter in the cities I've got some out here ready to be picked up, but I was just thinking, have you noticed that in their drive to eliminate the cause of litter, such as throw-away cans and bottles, they've been picketing sodawater plants, not breweries? Them kids ain't so dumb.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.--U.S. Air Force Lieutenant Colonel Robert S. Anderson walked through nine-foot-high jungle grass in enemy-infested territory to reach and lead a downed aircrew to safety in Vietnam. For his courageous actions during the recovery operation, the colonel has received the Bronze Star Medal with special "V" device for valor.

Colonel Anderson, son of Mrs. Hugh P. Anderson, 3109 10th St., Chillicothe, Mo., was serving as Air Force deputy during a special combat operation in A Chau Valley when the eventful rescue occurred. Despite heavy enemy concentrations in the area and the possibility of becoming lost in the thick elephant grass, Colonel Anderson located and led the airmen to his helicopter for a safe recovery.

The colonel, who was commissioned through the aviation cadet program and holds a command pilot rating, is now a staff scientist at Kirtland AFB, N.M. He serves as chief of the solid state laser branch at the Air Force Weapons Laboratory.

A 1946 graduate of Dawn (Mo.) High School, he received a B.S. degree in electrical engineering in 1964 from Oklahoma State University.

Low Cost Homes Now Available Through HUD

Austin, Texas--Many families are eligible to buy a new three or four bedroom home with a down payment of only $200, but are not taking advantage of this opportunity because they are not aware of the provisions of Section 235 of the National Housing Act.

"Financial help is available to enable low income families to buy their own home," according to Tom Yager, president of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas, "but many are not familiar with this program. To get complete details on the provisions of this section of the National Housing Act," Yager advised, "see your local lumber dealer."

The program offers assistance in the form of monthly payments by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to the lending institutions to reduce interest cost on a market rate home mortgage insured by FHA if a homeowner cannot afford to make a conventional loan.

THE VALUE OF DISSENT

This weekend we are facing a strange paradox. This weekend we are marking Armed Forces Day. At the same time, we find ourselves in the throes of dissent at home. Much of that dissent is directed toward our military commitments. Yet, to maintain order here at home, we have sometimes been forced to call upon our military components.

One year and one week ago, I noted that the governor of one state had seen the need to call out the National Guard to bolster the forces of law enforcement in dealing with campus disorders. Last weekend, the governors of at least six states took identical action.

Since we are marking Armed Forces Day, it is appropriate for me to note that our Armed Forces are quite literally the watchmen of freedom. I maintain the firm belief that in spite of criticism, we need now to reaffirm our pride and our confidence in our men in uniform who are the first line of defense against our enemies overseas and who are called upon to defend our free institutions.

Men are so made that complete unanimity of opinion is rare. People everywhere, in their hearts and minds, disagree with policies of their governments. But almost nowhere may they so freely speak out and attempt to influence their leaders and their fellows as in the United States. Our Armed Forces are, in a very real sense, defending the rights of those who dissent. If they should fail, the dissenters would, in the final analysis, lose their right to voice divergent opinion.

And so I have determined to talk today of the value of dissent.

Peaceful dissent is a vehicle to be jealously guarded. It is fundamental to our society. Dissent involves expression of ideas, and ideas are the whole cloth of a free society.

Our colleges and universities have nurtured a climate in which many and varied ideas can be heard and considered. Quite appropriately, the campus has become a marketplace for ### ideas.

Dr. Alexander Heard, the Vanderbilt University chancellor recently chosen as a presidential advisor on student thinking, has said that the university's obligation is not to protect students from ideas, but rather to expose them to ideas and to make them capable of handling and, hopefully, having ideas. I fully agree.

Our campus disorders stem from a minority of those who are not interested in an open exchange of ideas. They wish only to impose their own views to the ultimate exclusion of others. In the "marketplace" metaphor, they are unscrupulous monopolists. Some are bent upon expressing their view in ever more forceful terms until, for others, acquiescence is the only peaceful alternative.

In the face of this challenge, we must maintain order. We must protect the right of peaceful dissent, and we must protect the right of the majority. We must protect both these values here at home just as surely as we must defend our society against the threat of attack from abroad. On the homefront, our methods for maintaining order must be conducted in as professional a manner as we seek to maintain on the diplomatic and military fronts overseas.

Free exchange of ideas is a basic part of education. Another basic part of education is the assemblage of knowledge. Our colleges and universities must be administered in a manner which maintains both these important aspects of education.

The idea of a student strike is, to me, a particularly curious one. Students should attend schools to learn, and the school's responsibility is to provide them the opportunity to learn. Any student who aspires to deny that opportunity to his fellows, violates the spirit in which free exchange of ideas can thrive. Any institution which bows to such efforts abdicates its responsibilities. I believe that higher education is not a right but an opportunity to be extended to those who wish to learn and agree that others should also have that opportunity.

It is a sad paradox that while several universities were actually shut down recently due to student strikes, the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges announced the regrettable fact that some 87,000 potential students would be denied an opportunity for higher education next fall because there is insufficient facilities available for the growing number of college applicants.

I believe our college administrators should encourage free and peaceful exchange of ideas. I believe they should maintain the full spectrum of the educational process. I believe they should work to provide a quality education, in every sense of the term, for all those who wish it. I do not believe they should

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--In the space of less than an hour, the State Finance Commission accepted the retirement of "Mr. Banking" himself -- State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner; named a new banking commissioner; fired State Consumer Credit Commissioner Francis A. Miskell; and named a new credit commissioner. These actions brought to an end long-time controversies over Falkner's replacement and Miskell's position. Commissioner Falkner, who has been with the banking department nearly 50 years (23 as commissioner), has been wanting to retire for some time, but the Finance Commission could not agree on someone to take his place.

Falkner wanted his deputy commissioner (since 1965), Robert E. Stewart, to fill the post, but there was dissention on the board. However, the problems were worked out before the meeting, and Stewart was picked unanimously.

In a surprise move, Commission voted six-two to discharge Commissioner Miskell and named Asst. Atty. Gen. Sam Kelley to succeed him immediately.

Miskell weathered one storm threat early this year, when it was rumored segments of the loan industry were out to "get him" because of administrative actions against them. After stern talk, Commission refused to accept Miskell's resignation in February. There was no warning in this latest round. Commission members blamed administrative differences and the fact that four key agency staff positions had not been filled.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court overturned lower courts and held that Texas Aeronautics Commission had full authority to grant the Air Southwest Company of San Antonio a certificate to operate commuter flights linking Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and San Antonio. Three major airlines have fought the application in a two-year-old legal battle.

Court of Criminal Appeals ruled that Amos Gaines of Houston, convicted of murder in

SPECIAL EDUCATION STUDENTS MODEL FOR CIRCLES--Five students of Veta Skogland's special education class at Muleshoe Junior High School were special guests at a joint meeting of the Dorcas and Ester Circles of the First United Methodist Church Tuesday. They modeled dresses and jumpers they had made in the class. Mrs. Skogland said the meeting was held in the home of Mrs. F. B. Pierson, who presented gifts of kleenex holders to the girls. Several hours of work went into the girl's attire. They are left to right, Sylvia Gough, Debra Newman, Rena Edwards, Dora Casanova and Retha Jacobs.

Harris County in 1962 and sentenced to 99 years, should have a new trial. Court said the record of his first trial had been destroyed and the only way to make sure no error was made by the lower court was to have a new trial.

AG RULES

A member of the legislature cannot be paid from funds appropriated by the legislature for goods or services the lawmaker or firm of which he is a member sells the state, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin said in a recent ruling.

Opinion concluded that whether the corporation in which a legislator owns stock is precluded from contracting with the state or county must be determined on the basis of each individual case.

In another ruling, Martin said state agencies may sponsor seminars on appropriate matters and charge registration fees to defray expenses. State employees and officials may be reimbursed for registration expense.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Preston Smith named Sam Kinch Sr. of Austin and John T. Steen of San Antonio chairman and vice-chairman of American Bicentennial Commission of Texas to plan nation's 200th anniversary program. Other members of the commission include Marcella Perry of Houston, Dr. George Woolfolk of Prairie View, Ina May McAdams of Austin, Dr. Charles Ray Ritcheson of Dallas and Frank Tolbert of Dallas, Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. serves as ex-officio commission secretary.

Smith announced creation of Texas Urban Development Commission and named Arlington Mayor Tom J. Vandergriff chairman and Dr. Earl Lewis of San Antonio vice-chairman.

He designated James Goodwin of Austin to represent the state in the Southern Regional Environmental Conservation Council of Southern Governor's Conference.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes named Sens. Bill Moore of Bryan, Jack Hightower of Vernon and David Ratliff of Stamford to the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

Speaker Gus Mutscher named former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr; Harry Hubbard Jr., Texas AFL-CIO; Houston Attorney Searcy Bracewell; and Reps. James Slider of Naples, Jack Ogg of Houston and Joe Hawn of Dallas to the Committee to Study Alternative Methods of Attracting New Industry to Texas.

CHEMICALS

Agricultural chemicals containing DDT will not be accepted for registration by the Texas Department of Agriculture until a study on their effect is completed, Commissioner John C. White announced. Suspension of registration "does not mean that any ill effects from the agricultural use of DDT compounds have been reported or found," White said. He added that household products containing DDT will continue to be registered for use. Governor Smith has appointed an advisory committee to study the use and effects of DDT and other pesticides. It will report its findings, probably before the end of August, White said.

OYSTERING

Parks and Wildlife and State Health Department officials report that tests on oysters, shrimp and fish from state-approved Gulf Coast waters show no significant contamination from mercury or other heavy material. One sample from San Antonio Bay during a period when it was closed to oyster harvesting revealed a trace of mercury. But samples from Chocolate Bay -- also closed to commercial oyster harvesting -- have shown no trace of mercury although borderline amounts of heavy metals were found.

FUNDS APPROVED

A $326,999 Community Action Grant has been approved for Community Committee on Youth Education and Job Opportunities in Corpus Christi. ### TAXES

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has released his end-of-April statement on state income and outgo, comparing income with the same eight months (September through April) of the previous state fiscal year. Report shows that inflation and retail sales are continuing to grow.

In addition, the new fiscal year includes a 0.25 per cent increase in the state general sales tax. But even without the increase, the gain from last year's $222.9 million to this year's $295.5 million would

An estimated 3,000 are homeless. Death toll is figured at 21 and injuries at 500. Property damage, highest in state history from a tornado, may reach $200 million.

SHORT SNORTS
Criminal Justice Council, after some discussion of whether it was usurping power only the Legislature has, voted to give the newly-formed Texas Board of Private Detectives $30,068 (Legislature appropriated only $11,000 for the present fiscal biennium) so it can begin its task of licensing every private investigator and guard in the state.
