United Fund Schedules Breakfast Juniors Could Dominate 1970 Varsity Team

The Muleshoe Area United Fund board of directors met on August 11 and approved the budget for 1970-71. The budget was set at $14,886.00 for this year's goal. The kick-off breakfast has been set for October 6, at 7 a.m. in the Corral Restaurant.

This year's United Fund budget and participating agencies are as follows: Bailey County Junior Livestock Show, $3,700; Boy Scouts of America, $2,500; Salvation Army, $1,800; Girl Scouts of America

Caprock Council, $1,600; Babe Ruth League, $700; Senior Babe Ruth League, $200; 4-H Youth Leadership, $150; Texas United Community Services, $100; United Service Organization (USO) $200; Texas Association of Mental Health, $100; Muleshoe Area Senior Citizens Organization, $350; Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, $350; Muleshoe Service Unit of Girl Scouts, $500; American Red Cross, $1,000; Reserve for Contingencies, $700; campaign and operation expense fund, $950.

Last year, throughout a disastrous season, Athletic Director Fred Hedgecock and his assistant varsity coaches James Morgan and Curtis Didway, saw the Muleshoe Mules fall time after time in scoreless games. Muleshoe's only touchdown was a six-pointer late in the season.

After a massive rebuilding and rescheduling program, Coach Hedgecock and his assistants think perhaps the tables may be turned just a little this year. Coach Hedgecock said he thought the boys who stuck with the team, with the determination to make it a top team, and the new members who perhaps just 'admired the spirit of the boys who stuck with their team' may make a lot of difference when the season begins on September 11.

On that Friday, the newly remodeled Mules will travel to Dimmitt to try out the 'Cats in the first game of the season. Gametime will be 8 p.m. and football fans who have been closely following the two-day workouts and scrimmage sessions, will be on hand to see if the Mules have benefited from their low point last year.

Only six players were lost from the 1969 Mules through graduation and Coach Hedgecock's, on Page 3, Col. 5

NO INJURIES . . . Carl Ellington, driver of the truck and an unidentified man from Kansas, driving the pickup, walked away from this wreck that happened at 4:20 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of Highway 84 and Highway 2079. The truck, belonging to Carl Ellington Meat Company of Muleshoe and loaded with beef, sustained some damage when it overturned. The pickup sustained heavy damage to the front end. Two wreckers belonging to Dallas Kinard and Muleshoe Motor Company were called to the scene.

Guidelines Explain Free Lunch Program

Family income, size and qualifying needs are the guidelines for determining eligibility for children's free lunches, program at all Muleshoe schools, Superintendent Neal Dillman announced Tuesday.

The Muleshoe Independent School District policy was established according to requirements set by the Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service in its national school lunch program regulations, Dillman said. The national scale for free lunches is set according to family size, needs and income, he stressed.

Complete details and applications are available upon the parents' inquiry and application with the principal of each child's school, Dillman said. Criteria to be used uniformly in determining the eligibility of children for free meals includes the family's statement of annual income, including rent, home utility and welfare payments, and verification by employer. Also needed in applying is information regarding the family size, number of children in family, in school and out of school, and information of both parents, chronic illnesses or physically handicapped members. Other economic factors considered for approval for free lunches for children include information from parents regarding the model of car and television set owned by the family members and the number in the family working for income.

Steps of procedure to be followed by local school officials for determining eligibility of participants in the free lunch program were set in detail by the MISD board of trustees. All requests must be submitted by child's parents to the appropriate school principal, who will contact parents, complete the application forms and contact references and agencies necessary to make recommendations. Applications will be forwarded to Tom Jinks, Director of special programs, where approval or disapproval will be given.

Appeal from decisions, in individual cases, may be made to the Superintendent of Schools and to the Board of Trustees, through the superintendent.

Each application is to be reviewed every nine weeks by the child's school principal and Director of Special Programs, the policy requires.

Information references are to be checked with teachers, employers, welfare agencies, counselors, ministers, school nurses and physicians.

Requests for the free lunch program may originate with the child's parents or with school nurses, physicians, teachers, employers, welfare agencies, counselors or church ministers.

ASC Ballots Mailed Tuesday

On Tuesday, September 1 ballots for the ASCS community committee elections was mailed to eligible farm voters, according to Charles Daniels of the County ASCS office.

To be elected in each of the three ASC communities in the county are nine community committeemen and six alternates.

Farm Voters may vote for up to five of the candidates listed, or they may write in their choices on lines provided at the bottom of the ballot.

All ballots must be properly signed and returned to the ASCS office by Sept. 11, to be counted. The tabulation of the votes will be Sept. 15 at 8:30 in the office.

The chairman will be the candidate who receives the largest number of votes; the second highest will become vice chairman; third highest, a regular member; and fourth and fifth highest become first and second alternate.

Dr. Jim Tucker New Local Vet

Dr. Jerry D. Gleason, DVM, announced Monday the association of Dr. James Neal Tucker, DVM, to the staff of Muleshoe Animal Clinic.

Athletic Boosters Club Shafer Takes 'Ball'

NEW OFFICERS HUDDLE---Elected Monday night at the Muleshoe Athletic Boosters meeting were booster "captains" for the coming year, Jim Shafer, president-elect for 1970-71 huddles next to last year's president Eddie Beene, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Heathington join in; Aubrey is vice-president and Beverly, reporter. Not pictured is 1970-71 secretary-treasurer Creston Favor.

More than 70 sports-minded citizens and some 45 gridmen, plus seven coaches, met for a Big Huddle Monday night to kick off the new season of the Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club. Following the football-player size covered dish supper, the group elected its own captains to lead the team for the 1970-71 year.

Jim Shafer was elected president of the Athletic Booster, taking the ball from last year's president Eddie Beene. Aubrey Heathington was elected vice-president; Creston Favor, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Aubrey Heathington, reporter.

Commenting on the varsity and sophomore scrimmage film of Friday's bout with Morton Coach Fred Hedgecock said "the kids have improved more than anticipated, and we just hope they will keep coming along" so well all during the coming season. Hedgecock introduced the new coaches and staff of the MHS athletic department following the viewing of the film.

In other business total revenues for the past year from the boosters financial statement showed $4,618, compared with $2,171 from 1968-69, and $3,438 from 1967-68. In addition to the increase in revenue, total disbursements for last year also rose, to $4,522 compared with previous years' $2,790 and $3,023.

"This past year was the best season since records for the Boosters have been recorded," Shafer, retiring secretary-treasurer, said when reviewing the financial statement for the year ending August 31, 1970.

Receipts from program sales and advertising grossed some $2,519 with expenses of after-game food and program printing, plus the major expense of $1,617 for filming of games before the video machine was purchased, netting total football season revenues of some $902 for the club.

Basketball revenues netted $833; the Harlem Stars game revenue net was $211, with other revenues from dues and dona-

Area Crop Outlook Good

Reports from all sections of Bailey County indicates the prospect for a good cotton crop this fall.

Cotton insects have not been a problem all season. Bollworm infestations are generally light throughout the area. However, an increase in bollworm eggs was observed last week. To date damaging infestation have been observed in only a few fields in the area. Producers should continue to check for eggs and small worms.

Most farmers quit watering about mid August. Some sprinkler systems are still going in cotton but numerous showers early in the week made even light sprinkling of doubtful value since it may lower micro-maire.

Ensilage cutters are very busy and trucks are going in a steady stream from field to feed lot and back to field. King Feed Lots will use about 55,000 tons of this year's ensilage it was reported.

Corn that is to be harvested for grain is in the hard dough and early dent stage. Combines in Bailey County will likely be in early maturing corn fields before the month is out. The rest of the nation sustained considerable more northern and southern blight than did Bailey County.

Heavy localized infestations of Banks Grass Mites continued to cause problems during the past week. The heaviest infestation second alternates to serve on the committee if the regular members are temporarily absent or if a permanent vacancy occurs.

Any farm owner, tenant or sharecropper who is a legal voting age may vote if he has an interest in a farm and is eligible to participate in any ASCS program in his community.

Spouses of eligible voters, a minor who supervises and conducts the operation of an entire farm, a legal guardian who manages a farm for a child, and a person representing a legal entity such as a partnership or corporation are others who may vote.

Proxy voting will not be allowed and voters who certify their ballots with an "X" for a signature must do so before a witness and obtain the signature of the witness for the ballot to be counted.

If anyone feels he should have a ballot, and who does not receive one in the mail shortly after Sept. 1, should contact the office to arrange for receiving a duplicate ballot, or to see if he is eligible to vote.

tions were observed in portions of Deaf Smith, Oldham, Lamb and Crosby counties. Control has been fairly difficult in many instances, with indications that some degree of insecticide resistance is present in the mite populations.

Greenbugs are no longer a problem in grain sorghum. The greenbug population has fallen to a very low level during the past three weeks.

Sorghum midge emergence continued to increase during the past week. The greatest number of midges emerged from grain sorghum head samples collected in Floyd, Crosby, Lubbock and Lamb counties. The midge population has been very light in the South Plains area throughout most of the season. A noticeable increase in the population began about two weeks ago. Most of the area grain sorghum is past the susceptible stage and little damage is expected. Some damage may occur in late planted grain sorghum which is just now reaching the bloom stage.

tions adding $515. The athletic banquet deficit was some $241, with other disbursements of prior year's filming $125, weight machine payment, $800; and video machine payment of $1,200. Equipment notes and accrued interest are liabilities for the coming year. Total cost of the video machine purchased by the athletic booster club for the MHS athletic department was $2,527.70, the report noted, with interest at eight per cent per annum.

Muleshoe Athletic Boosters meets each Monday night at the high school cafeteria, for the showing of the previous video televised game shown. Refreshments are served following the film showing and short meetings. The public is always welcome.

All persons interested in athletic activities are urged to become members of the group and attend the briefings, president-elect Shafer said. Membership cards are $5 per couple. Dues may be turned in at any Monday meeting, or to Shafer or treasurer Creston Favor.

Mike Riley said he felt this may be a good omen. Many of the players are underclassmen who were with winning teams in lower grades.

Starting quarterback will be Mike Riley. He finished the season last year as a sophomore quarterback after both quarterbacks, Ronnie Barrett and Lowery Lewis, were injured late in the season. He shared quarterbacking chores in the 1969 season with Dennis Beene.

Riley has been called a good leader by Hedgecock, who added that he has the potential to be a good passer and is fast. He has operated the "Wishbone T" that will form the nucleus for the team this year.

A player who was ineligible last year because he had not lived in the district long enough, Donnie Wheat, is expected to be outstanding in the tailback slot. Tommy Taylor is expected to be a strong contender for that position, Bobby Hayes, who is considered the fastest of the Muleshoe Mules, will fill wing-back position. He lettered last fall and was a starter although he was injured during the season. He was credited with 900 yards on the ground during the season.

In the contest for a backfield berth is junior Randy Field. He is a 170-pound junior and will probably start as a fullback. Don Heathington will perform a dual duty. The junior, who lettered last year, will be on the field as a tackle and also will kick off and try for extra points. He will be sharing the kicking duties with Randy Field.

Keith Turner or Jack Allison, both trying out for the same spot, will play in the tight end position. Turner is a 175-pound senior and Jack Allison is a 150-pounder.

Back-up quarterback will be Johnny Hayes, who will spend part of his time playing in the split end position. He played split end last year.

Ricky Black is a strong contender in the tackle position and guards Jon Cole, Gary Lackey, Ronnie Wright and Ricky Faver; along with Mark Long and Edward Orozco should provide adequate coverage in the guard positions.

Battling it out for the center position are Mark Dillman, who played center last year, and junior Larry Shafer. Both players are strong contenders and are considered 'tops' in their field.

Friday night, the Muleshoe Mules will take on the Littlefield players in a scrimmage at the Littlefield football field. Scrimmage time is 7 p.m. and this will be the final chance to see the players before the season begins on September 11.

After the Muleshoe-Morton scrimmage, during which the much-improved Mules, showing they are coming back, made a top showing, the coaches have been working out 'bugs' noticed on the field during play. Although the boys showed evidence of tiredness late in the scrimmage, the fans present were impressed with their improvement. Bobby Hayes proved he has become more fleet of foot during the season and some outstanding tackles were made which opened 'holes' for the runner to skip through.

Using tapes of the practice sessions and scrimmages, the coaching department is hopeful of having their Muleshoe Mules ready for the new season, and several overdue victories for the players.

Love increases with time among those who avoid the fate of selfishness.

Tax Man Sam Sez

For a number of years the Internal Revenue Service has provided teaching material for more than 25,000 different schools across the country to teach several million students how to prepare a simple income tax return.

In the Dallas District last year about 950 schools ordered IRS's "Teaching Taxes" material to teach over 175,000 students living in the area covering North Texas.

In a few days the school bells will ring again--if in fact they haven't already rung in your community--and IRS will ask principals to order next year's Teaching Taxes material. It might be a good idea for you to give the principal and encouraging word about making sure that Junior gets the Teaching Taxes training, since Dad and Mom may need a little help.

Meat Inspections Should Not Be Cause of Plant Closing

COLLEGE STATION--As the enactment date of the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 nears, many small livestock slaughter plants are going out of business, Woodrow W. Bailey, Extension livestock and meat specialist, reports.

"In December, 1967, Congress passed the Wholesome Meat Act, an amendment to the Meat Inspection Act of 1906," Bailey said. "It provided that within two years from passage, each State must furnish inspection equal to the Federal program in intrastate plants, but the enactment date was extended until December 15, 1970."

Some counties in Texas are having slaughter plants closed by owners that have been serving a substantial number of people as their only source of animal slaughter and processing, Bailey said. Some plant owners, when contacted by the local inspectors, have just decided to go out of business when they were told about the provisions of the new Texas Meat Inspection Law, he added, noting, however, that in most cases, plant owners should find that the regulations can be followed without hardships. Bailey urged plant owners, thinking of closing plants, to thoroughly investigate the new law before making a final decision. He also added that there are definite advantages in having meat inspection.

"The public will have more confidence in the packing plants products, and criticism and complaints will be reduced," he said. "Products will have a longer shelf and storage life, and by observing label requirements, there will be a tendency toward a more uniform product."

"It also furnishes a lever to keep employees following a set procedure, in other words, a supervisor of sorts."

The plant owner will have more pride in his plant and products and will welcome visitors, Bailey said, adding that an inspected plant also attracts better type employees.

"Better products will come out of inspected plants causing more meat and meat products to be consumed; thereby, benefitting the whole livestock and meat industry, Bailey said. "It also gives a good operator a better chance by eliminating requirements, will soon be available for packing house owners who might wish to use them as a guide in modifying their present plants, or as a guide for a commercial architect in developing plans for new slaughter facilities, Bailey said. These plans may be obtained by writing to Bailey at Room 217, Animal Industries Building, Texas A&M University, College Station 77843. All plans, he reminded, must be approved by the Meat Inspection Division of the Texas Public Health Department in Austin.

Lazbuddie Church Sets Revival

Lazbuddie church sets revival. The Reverend James Hester, Crusade Coordinator, Evangelism division of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, of Dallas, will lead a week's revival at the Lazbuddie First Baptist church Sunday, September 13 through 20, Rev. Johnny Tims, Lazbuddie pastor announced this week.

Mack M. Moore, educational director of the Muleshoe First Baptist church, will be song leader for the revival.

Hester has served in foreign mission service in Italy and Lybia, North Africa, four and one-half years. He is a graduate of Hardin Simmons, Abilene and Southwestern Seminary; received a Certificate from University of Perugia, Italy; International Language Institute, Milan, Italy; and received his DD from Linda Vista Baptist College, San Diego, California. His church membership is presently with the First Baptist Church, Dallas, with past pastorates in North Richland Hills, Fort Worth and First Bellaire, Houston.

Three services a day will be held Monday through Friday, with the teen service including a breakfast, at 7:30 a.m., a 10 a.m. morning service and an 8 p.m. evening service.

Sundays, September 13 and 20, regular services are to be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Lazbuddie Baptist church.

A nursery for small children will be provided at all services. The public is invited to attend.

Constitutional amendment number three on Texas ballots November 3 this year, if passed, would authorize the Texas Legislature to establish guidelines for assessing ad valorem taxes on agricultural land based on its capacity for production. Taxes on such land, generally, are now assessed on the basis of market value.

The legislature has established a special "Agricultural Land Assessment Study Committee" to gather information and solicit the public's views on the matter. The Committee will hold its seventh hearing at the KoKo Palace in Lubbock at 10:00 a.m. August 25, and Representative E.L. Short of Tahoka, a member of the Committee, is urging West Texas people to "hear and be heard" at that time.

Short emphasizes that the amendment itself would not change the method of assessing ad valorem taxes but would merely authorize the legislature to make changes should it be determined they are desirable. The amendment appears on the ballot as a result of tax problems experienced over the past few years by farm, ranch and timber interests.

"Neither I nor any other member of the Committee has any preconceived notions about the need for the amendment," Short said, "and it is not our intent to form opinions until all of the people of Texas have had the opportunity to express themselves."

Testimony at the hearing is expected from tax-paying people in agriculture and from officials of schools, hospital districts, water districts, cities and counties which are financed from ad valorem taxes. Chairman of the Committee is Senator Wayne Connally and its membership includes four other Senators, five Representatives and five from outside the legislature.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization, is assisting with arrangements for the hearing.

Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, stresses that this is a matter of great importance to the agricultural sector of the High Plains. "Demands on state and local taxes are increasing at three to five times the rate of other taxing authorities," Johnson notes, "and at the same time current tax rates in some instances have reached a point beyond which property owners would be unable to pay."

Watch For Screwworms

Texas is credited with 78 of 99 screwworm cases so far confirmed in the nation for 1970. While this is a small number of cases, point out officials of the eradication program, it is important that the number be dropped even lower. Stockmen are advised to continue their regular checking of all animals and to treat all animal wounds with a recommended material; to spray the herd when possible with a recommended product and keep right on collecting and submitting worm samples to the Mission Laboratory for positive identification. *

Meat Tenderness Tested By Thumb

College Station--The thumb, according to Webster's New International Dictionary, is the short and thick first or most preaxial digit of the human hand, differing from the other fingers in having but two phalanges and is having greater freedom of movement.

The thumb is used for many purposes, but who would believe that a thumb would inspire the development of an electronic device to test the tenderness of meat?

"Greek restaurateurs developed a method whereby beef tenderness could be determined subjectively," Dr. Gary C. Smith, associate professor of animal science, Texas A&M University, explained. "They would push their thumb into the ribeye of a carcass, and according to the resistance encountered, would rate it according to its tenderness or toughness."

Dr. Leo Hansen of the Armour and Co. Research and Development Center, Oakbrook, Ill., may have considered the principle made popular by the Greeks to develop the "Armour Tenderometer," Dr. Smith said.

"Ten probes, attached to a metal plate, are pushed into the ribeye area by hand force," he said. "A reading is then given on a 'strain gauge' in terms of pounds of resistance."

Choice grades of meat are considered tender when the resistance reading is less than 18 pounds, and Good grades of meat are considered tender when the tenderometer reading is less than 14 1/2 pounds, he said. The difference in resistance requirements for the two grades is related to the amount of marbling in the meat, Dr. Smith explained, adding that carcasses of the Choice grade having a reading of 18 pounds and those of the Good grade having a reading of 14 1/2 pounds are both considered tender, but the additional marbling in the Choice grade causes the higher reading. Over 200 carcasses have been tested at Texas A&M with a tenderometer given to the University by Armour and results are now being analysed, Dr. Smith said, adding that Armour is now using the machine to test beef carcasses, and are selling carcasses to retailers

Insurance Firms Update Policies

An estimated 70,000 persons, the majority of them in Texas, found themselves without insurance this past month when three companies went into temporary receivership.

Court orders cancelled the policies of Pioneer Casualty Co. of San Antonio, Liberty Universal Insurance Co. and Dealers National Insurance Co., both of Fort Worth.

A number of Muleshoe insurance companies were contracted and stated that no one our area was without insurance. As insurance agencies here received word from the companies in receivership, they reported to The Journal that they had changed each policy to "another reliable company".

224,500 First Year Students For Schools

AUSTIN--It's back-to-school time again for more than 2.7 million students in the Texas public schools.

For about 224,500 of them, it will be "first-time-to-school." Most of these will be first graders, but some 30,000 will be 5-year-olds in the new state-supported kindergarten program.

Among numerous changes in Texas schools this year, the teachers will begin work a bit earlier, and students in some localities will begin classes earlier. The school year will have 180 classroom days instead of 175. Teachers will be on duty for 10 more days of non-teaching work during the year to help with school opening and closing, and to receive in-service instruction that will help them to teach better.

Despite these changes, the experience of heading off to school for the first time won't be much different for this year's 6- and 5-year-olds than it was for their parents. It's a giant step for little people.

To help parents make it easier on their youngsters, the Texas State Teachers Association offers some basic tips in a leaflet titled "To Help the Child, and Parents Too!" Here are some of the pointers:

REGISTRATION PROCEDURE

Any child who is six years old on or before September 1 may be admitted for the 1970-71 school year. (Special requirements for enrollment of certain 5-year-old children in public school kindergarten for 1970-71 have been publicized locally.)

The child's birth certificate must be presented at time of enrollment. Some schools, in the interest of good health, require that the child be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus.

Other information which the school will need includes name, occupation, place of work, and phone number of the father; name, address and phone number of the family doctor; and the family's home address and phone number.

HOW PARENTS CAN HELP

When parents meet their child's principal and teacher for the first time, they may offer these suggestions:

- *Teach your child the safest way home.
- *Teach him (or her) to go directly home from school without loitering on the way.
- *Remind him not to go with strangers.

- *Give your child definite duties at home and see that he performs them.
- *Help him to establish good listening habits.
- *See that your child gets enough sleep.
- *Provide your child with a good breakfast each morning.
- *See that he is happy before he leaves for school.
- *Teach your child that policemen are his friends and that he should go to them when he needs help.
- *Teach him to dress himself properly.
- *Teach him to have confidence in his teacher.
- *Provide opportunities for your child to be away from his mother for short periods of time before he starts to school.
- *Teach your child to respect the property rights of others.
- *Allow your child to do as much for himself as he is able to do.
- *Show an interest in what he has to tell you about his work and play at school.
- *Help him see likenesses and differences in objects and forms.
- *Encourage him to have playmates.
- *Help him learn habits of promptness, obedience, and respect for authority.
- *Read to your child.
- *Take him to places of interest such as the zoo, park, and library.
- *Label his personal belongings with his name and address.
- *Praise your child frequently; help him to feel successful.

THE FIRST TEACHER

The child's first teacher has an enormous responsibility and opportunity to help shape his or her future life. The teacher will help the child to:

- *Have opportunities in group learning, work, and play.
- *Think for himself.
- *Become interested in the world about him.
- *Treat others with consideration and fairness.
- *Feel at ease with others.
- *Build a good foundation for future learning.

Parents are always welcome to visit their child's school. When visiting, they should stop first at the administrative office and meet the principal.

When it is necessary to bring a child's lunch or other supplies to school, they should be left with instructions at the school office. Classes should not be interrupted while in session. Arrangements should be made in advance for conferences with the child's teacher.

Parents are invited and urged to join the PTA, attend its meetings, and take an active part in the work it does to support the school.

The TSTA leaflet points out that the parents' attitude toward the school and the teacher will be observed--and often copied--by the child. Parents therefore should avoid criticizing school or teacher in the child's presence. Instead, they should do what they can to solve such school-related problems as conflict with another child, a difficult activity, or a school rule that the child does not understand.

SCHOOL WANTS TO KNOW

The school principal will want to know--in advance if possible--when a family moves to a new address.

A child with a cold, fever, sick stomach or other severe ailment is better off at home than at school; however, parents should encourage and require good school attendance by their children. A written excuse from the parents may be needed when the child returns from an absence.

When child-school problems of any kind arise, the parent should feel free to discuss them with the child's teacher.

Agriculture comprises the largest single market for labor and industry. Agriculture employs five (5) million people, more than the combined employment in transportation, public utilities, auto manufacturing and the steel industry. It is a $50 billion customer of the American economy. Farmers spend more than $4.8 billion annually for tractors and equipment and over $4 billion for transportation for their crops and livestock. Agriculture has an incredible record of performance but they need backing from their urban friends to help get their fair share of national income.

Crime & Pornography

Quite a flap was caused recently when the President's Commission on Obsenity and Pornography recommended the ban on the sale of pornography (to adults) be lifted (though not to minors). The heat became so intense even the White House felt compelled to go on record that it did not necessarily share the view of the commission.

In Denmark, the ban on the sale of pornography was lifted (for adults) in 1969. Minor sex offenses declined by over thirty per cent the year following. Figures just in show that for the second year the rate is remaining down, Danish government officials do not claim too much; they merely say this seems ample proof that making available to adults whatever they wish to buy in the way of magazines and pictures has not increased sex crimes, probably reduced them.

In these days when bikinis, strip-tease, topless waitresses and uninhibited films are in fashion, the argument against the sale of magazines stressing nudity and sex, to adults, is somewhat compromised. The Danes believe when such magazines are easily available, adults lose interest in them, and sales figures show many publishing houses in Denmark which once enjoyed large sub rosa sales in such material now threatened with failure, because their magazines aren't selling--now that they're legal.

Define the Term

We are right in valuing education but we are mistaken in the narrow way that we define what education is.

During the past six months, this country has been going through a painful reappraisal of one of its most cherished institutions -- public education.

The debate continues -- from both sides of the ideological spectrum and from all age groups, comments, arguments, analyses and criticisms thunder back and forth over the subject of education. The debate has involved radical students and conservative politicians, professors and the President, dropouts and doctors of philosophy, Abrasive as it is, this debate is accomplishing something useful.

It is time to question some of the assumptions, formal and otherwise, upon which our education system and our ideas about education have been based. This is a point that many of the militant students have been trying to make. It is a valid point and they have made it, even if they made it in an indirect way.

We have long proceeded in building and supporting our education system to carry out our belief that the more education the young receive, the better. This belief has not been proved wrong, but our willingness to accept a poor definition of education has misdirected our efforts. We have adopted an increasingly narrow definition of "education" until it now essentially means only formal, classroom instruction and the term is usually used by laymen primarily to describe college instruction.

In fact, education encompasses all types of training. Whether it takes place in the classroom or not, it is the imparting and gaining of knowledge, skills and disciplines needed for living in the world faced by the student. The world faced by today's Texas student included a labor force that will require that its membership include only 20 per cent with college degrees.

The state's Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education has found that, of the future jobs in the U.S., only one in five will require a college degree. One in four will require technical education, and more than half will require occupational training.

Yet 75 per cent of the students in Texas are taking college preparatory work. The fact is, our school system is not preparing millions of students for the world they will actually live in, in an inarticulate and sometimes infuriating way, many of today's students have been trying to tell us this.

Though many youngsters have the talents, the interests and the potential for successful careers in crafts, trades and technical fields, too often parental, social and educational pressures push them along toward college training, a liberal arts degree.

It is good to educate the young for living a well-rounded life, but it is also necessary to provide them the education they need to make a living. Not the least important of the avenues to a well-rounded life is the opportunity for the young man or woman to do the work he or she enjoys and does well.

Congressman Price Explains Legislation

In last minute actions before a three week summer vacation, the House of Representatives voted last week to sustain one Presidential veto, override a second, and to present a women's rights constitutional amendment to the states for ratification.

I voted to uphold the President's veto on the Independent Offices appropriations bill which exceeded his budget by $541 million and the Office of Education appropriations bill which exceeded the budget request by $453 million.

President Nixon vetoed these bills on the basis that the amounts in excess of the budget would tend to increase the inflationary spiral and raise the cost of living for the average American.

Those of us who voted with the President on these bills did so for two major reasons. First, because we believe that the increase in the cost of living is the most important domestic problem facing the Congress

Congressman George Bush for United States Senate

Congressman George Bush said last week, "It is time to get tough with persons who have been planting bombs and spreading bomb threats in the

and the administration. I do not think anyone can say that a billion dollar deficit in two appropriation bills is not inflationary.

Secondly, the agencies responsible for spending these funds have indicated that the amount of funds they requested in the President's budget are all they can spend without waste.

The President's Office of Education budget request represented a 28 percent increase over the last budget of the previous Administration. Consequently, his veto of the Congressional bill does not represent a cut in the present level of school funds, it is not a question of whether to increase school funds but simply of how much they are to be increased and for what purposes.

This makes three popular spending bills that President Nixon has vetoed during his 18 months in office, acting in the best interest of the average family struggling to make their incomes meet rising prices.

During the past year, we have continued to develop the Safeguard System and to test its various components. This development and testing has proceeded on an acceptable level and I am confident that the system can work and would work if required to do so.

Additionally, continued development of our ABM capability may help to insure that we will never be forced to depend upon its effective operation. The Strategic Arms Limitation Talks are going forward and I believe the Soviets will be far more likely to come to an acceptable agreement if we continue to demonstrate our determination to protect our retaliatory force.

This was demonstrated last year when the Soviets refused to begin SALT negotiations until after the Congress authorized the Safeguard ABM System.

In the absence of an effective strategic arms limitation agreement, we face a growing threat of significant magnitude. I do not know whether the Soviet Union would actually launch a first strike nuclear attack even if they felt they could do so with impunity, I do not want to find out. But it is apparent that the Soviets are seeking to achieve a first strike capability.

The Soviets are proceeding at a disconcerting rate with deployment of a huge monster weapon called the SS-9. This Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile is capable of delivering a nuclear warhead far in excess of the power necessary to devastate a whole city. In fact, it has the capability to deliver as many as three warheads far exceeding that which would be necessary to devastate a city.

This huge weapon is expensive to build, if the Soviets desired to attack our population without concern for our ability to retaliate, they would not go to the expense of deploying a large number of SS-9s. They would instead concentrate upon massing a high arsenal of smaller and cheaper ICBMs fully capable of destroying our population centers.

There is only one use for the SS-9. That is to attack and hopefully eliminate our retaliatory Minuteman force. These retaliatory missiles are buried in hardened concrete silos, the silos insure an adequate defense from the smaller ICBMs which, although they could devastate a city, could not penetrate the hardened Minuteman silo.

Realization of the single use for the SS-9 constitutes sufficient proof in my mind that the Soviets are seeking to achieve the capability to deliver a first strike nuclear attack, and underscores the need for Safeguard.

The Baptists, Mormons And A Moral

Taken from the Dallas Morning News.

By Dick West
Editorial Director

If you are a doctor and a devoted member of your church, do you feel like kicking the pew on a Sunday morning when your preacher preaches socialized medicine from the pulpit?

Does the preacher have a right to do that and take your money in the collection plate -- which means you are subsidizing your own destruction?

Does a man of God -- or one who says he is -- have a right to get up in the pulpit and advocate that America recognize atheistic Communist China whose only god is the communist state?

C.A. Tatum, one of Dallas' all-time greats who has spent a lifetime in the electrical power industry -- how do you suppose he would feel if a preacher stood in the pulpit and praised the Tennessee Valley Authority, which is nothing but socialization of the power industry?

If you have a definite conviction that legalized abortion is legalized murder, do you squirm when a preacher says the Texas Legislature of 1971 should legalize abortion?

Does a minister have a right to take your money on a Sunday morning and pass part of it along to the Black Panthers who, in his opinion, are seeking "social justice"?

Does a preacher have a right to advocate that a known Russian spy, convicted in this country after a fair trial, be allowed to avoid the penitentiary and roam at will on the streets to destroy a country which permits said preacher to preach such garbage?

These are fair and pertinent questions for a newspaper column appearing every Sunday morning, because they lead to further comment on the nation's religious life in 1970.

Regular church attendance is way down, according to one of the nation's polls. Note that we said "regular."

More than 60 per cent of the American people belong, so they say, to some denomination -- but less than 40 per cent go regularly, and the latter figure is dropping alarmingly.

A recent survey disclosed that the only two denominations which are gaining consistently in both membership and attendance are the Southern Baptists and the Mormons.

Think that over, then ask yourself -- why?

Because more than any other denominations in America, the Mormons and Southern Baptist stick to pure doses of religion without dilutions of politics.

The vast "silent majority" you hear so much about is tired of "social gospel." It wants to hear the real gospel.

The silent majority is fed up with un-American deviations, demonstrations, destruction and disputatious doctrines.

Some Sunday at noon drive up Ervay Street, and you will see hundreds of happy faces coming out of Dr. W.A. Criswell's First Baptist Church -- the largest of its kind in the world.

They will have heard the old-time religion from a master. They will have sung "What A Friend We Have in Jesus."

You're not likely to hear Dr. Criswell tell the C.A. Tatum's of this world that private power companies are no-good crooks robbing pockets of the poor.

Dr. Criswell is not likely to say Christ died on the cross so we could have the Tennessee Valley Authority.

You will not hear him advocate destruction of private medicine -- and take money at the same time from doctors in the sanctuary.

You will hear him preach the practical message of Christianity: That virtue triumphs over evil, that the Bible means what it says.

If you think he is square and his followers are cornballs, how else do you explain the dramatic rise in Southern Baptistdom -- and the gradual decline in those churches which advocate socialism under the guise of the gospel?

Not long ago the Executive Council of the Episcopal Church, in a controversial resolution, advocated the following:

*There should be a special collection on September 20 to support student strike activities.

*All American troops should withdraw from Vietnam -- which means total surrender to godless communism in that part of the world.

*Support of the national student strike against "oppressive actions by the government such as harassment of the Black Panthers and the killing of students on campuses by the National Guard."

The Rev. Dr. Beverly Madison Currin, noted Episcopalian rector in Pensacola, takes a dim view of such resolutions -- adopted on high by a tiny minority who often lend the impression that they speak for every Episcopalian in America.

Dr. Currin challenged, as he should, the right of his church "to take a stand on issues where there is no clear-cut moral distinction."

Those who would have the church become an extension of the political arena, he added, "are simply avoiding the real issues of life and death, of sin and salvation."

It would be interesting if this same episcopal council ever adopted a resolution in behalf of American boys defending the free world; or a resolution against mass murder and genocide by the Soviet Union and Communist China; or a resolution deploring black snipers in Chicago killing police trying to bring peace and order to the black ghetto.

Strange, isn't it, that so many resolutions by so many religious bodies (1) condemn America, (2) praise communism, (3) criticize free enterprise and (4) exalt Marxian socialism.

To conclude, no wonder the annual budgets of so many liberal, social-gospel denominations are almost in the red. No wonder the National Council of Churches -- worst offender of all -- had an operating budget last year of $19,000,000 but expects only $14,000,000 this year.

In the meantime, evangelist Billy Graham has no trouble filling Madison Square Garden night after night with sermons on fundamentalism and Christian charity.

But the place would be bare if he tossed the Bible on the floor and preached on the glories of the United Nations.

Enrollment Hits 1,849 First Day

First day Muleshoe schools' enrollment figures show a grand total of 1,849 students who were present Monday, August 31, at the start of the 1970-71 school year here. This is down 26 from last year's first day attendance of 1,875, MISD Superintendent Neal Dillman noted.

Muleshoe High School Monday enrollment totalled 541 compared with 547 last year. The sophomore class this year listed 159, compared with 138 last year, which outgrew the freshman class' figures of 153 this year, last year 176. The MHS junior class gained, with 125 this year over 117 last year. The Class of 1971 first enrollments were down, with 104 this year, compared with 116 in the Class of 1970's first day of school figures.

Supt. Dillman pointed out that figures of first day enrollments were not indicative of total enrollment, due to late registrations and class placements.

Last year's 1,875 rose to 1,938 in the second week of school; 1,960 in the fourth school week; 1,998 in the 10th week and at the end of the first six weeks period rose to 2,002, then levelled off to 1,966.

At Muleshoe Junior High, the eighth grade this year on the first day listed 165 compared with last year's 152. The seventh grade was down, with 146 this year to 167 last year. Sixth grade figures this year and last year both held to 141. Special education classes were five to 11 last year. Total MJHS enrollment Monday was 457, compared with last year's 471, down some 14 students.

At Mary DeShazo Elementary first day figures show: fifth grade, 66 this year compared with 82 last year; fourth grade, 77, up from 61; third grade, 88, down from 93; second grade, 78, down from 93; and first grade 105, down from last year's 115. Preschool classes enrolled 39 this year compared with nine last year, with special education seven to eight. Total DeShazo enrollment was 437 compared with 450 last year. Richland Hills Elementary totals kindergarten total enrollment rose from 15 last year to 59 this year, a jump of 44 pre-schoolers. However, he stressed that this was not a fair comparison as last year was the first year the local schools established this program and this year parents are generally more familiar with the program. The figures of pre-school enrollment will most probably increase this year, as parents become more acquainted with requirements and educational goals of the program, he said.

MIGHTY MULES . . . The varsity team of Muleshoe High School are shown practicing one play to be used during their first game of the 1970-71 season. The game will be played at Dimmitt on Friday, September 11.

Cost of Bale Is Analyzed

Memphis - (Special) - A total $68.87 is added to the cost of a bale of cotton after it leaves the picker basket, according to a report released by the Cotton Producers Institute (CPI). Part of this cost is paid by the farmer and is considered production expense.

The study, conducted by the Department of Industrial Engineering at Texas Tech in Lubbock, was based on costs in the Texas High Plains area. According to E. Hervev Evans, Jr., Laurinburg, N.C., this added cost amounts to over 55 per cent of what a southeastern mill pays for a bale of cotton from the High Plains. Mr. Evans is chairman of the CPI Producer Planning and Services Committee.

Ginning costs, at $27.70 per bale, contribute most to the added costs, but total gin costs have exceeded gin charges for the last few years. Problems caused by intermittent operation of the gin, low output related to gin capacity, and high percentage of down time contributed to this situation.

These factors combined to result in a high fixed cost per bale as well as an excessive variable cost. But the study shows that ginning costs could be reduced 59 per cent to $11.38 per bale if the gin could be operated 22 hours a day at
.85 per cent efficiency for 100 days.

A system of seed cotton storage is necessary for the farmer to realize this saving. Mecha-cal harvesters that gulp cotton from fields much faster than man have compressed the ginning season from five months to two.

Roy Forkner, a prominent producer and ginner from Lubbock, Texas, participated in the research program last year by storing seed cotton on the ground for up to 11 weeks.
"There was no loss of quality, and the very little significant difference between seed cotton stored on the ground and that taken directly to the gin was in favor of stored cotton."

Mr. Forkner packed his cotton in ricks where it was picked up by the gin on a scheduled basis. "As far as I know at this moment, I'll put all my seed cotton on the ground this year." He cautioned farmers in other parts of the Cotton Belt that different methods of seed cotton storage may be more practical in their areas. The High Plains of Texas is a semi-arid region where fall rains do not provide enough moisture to deteriorate the cotton fibers.

"We have enough strippers here on the Plains to harvest all the cotton in three weeks, but it takes eight to 10 weeks to gin it," Mr. For-kner said. "The purpose of storing seed cotton is to alleviate congestion at the gin, but now we're forced to store it in trailers which is one of the most expensive ways we can store it."

The report shows that storing seed cotton in trailers to await ginning costs an average of $4.33 per bale.

It also shows that traditional practices such as pressing a bale twice before shipment to customers and cutting samples from pressed bales instead of automatically sampling the cotton as it is ginned are operations that increase the cost of the bale but do not add utility value.

Approximately $25 per bale, or five cents per pound, could be saved if the advantages of automatic sampling, gin pressing to final density, and freight rate reductions were combined with the cost savings mentioned above.

Several Shears Between Charges

A new lightweight grass shear, powered by rechargeable nickel-cadmium batteries, will trim up to 900 linear feet of grass without recharging. Weighing only 28 ounces, the unit has a "low voltage design" eliminating the possibility of serious electrical shocks.

We certainly do appreciate the response we have had from the Business Community on our Teacher Appreciation Banquets, with the final Teacher Appreciation Banquet being at Bula Tuesday night. I think we all have been made more aware of the outstanding qualities of the teachers in our area.

We plan to continue our Youth Employment Service for those youths who want to work after school and on weekends.

We will continue to keep an up-to-date listing of available apartments and rent houses.
The BAC and JC Kid's Day will wind up the summer for a number of school kids, with fun and games. Jaycee Bill Dale is Chairman.

Some of the Chamber activities coming up soon are: election of five new board members and officers, membership drive, farm tour, and completion of the sign at Mule Memorial.

The Chamber offices are now sporting a little brown crane (Sandhill Crane); weight nine pounds, one-half ounce-- a joint project of the Chamber and the Jaycees. Come by and see it.

Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Har-
