Spring did arrive, in spite of the cold weekend, and the last couple of beautiful days have made green thumbs itch all over town.

Many pesticides will be used by gardeners the next few weeks. Most of these materials used to control plant disease and insects are highly toxic. Usually the more effective the pesticide, the more danger is involved in handling it.

We received a list of recommendations for handling toxic insecticides this week from the State Health Department, which we would like to pass on to you.

First, follow the instructions on the manufacturer's label to the smallest detail.

Store toxic sprays and dust away from children and irresponsible individuals, as well as foods and animal feed.

All regular handlers of phosphorous insecticides should have cholinesterase tests at intervals not greater than 10 days during the periods they are working with the materials.

All users should avoid breathing dust, vapors, or spray from the insecticides.

Respirators which meet the specifications of the U. S. Bureau of Mines or Dept. of Agriculture should be worn when handling or working around highly toxic insecticides.

Freshly laundered protective clothing and gloves should be worn when sprays and dust are being applied.

If toxic insecticides are spilled on the skin or clothing, the person involved should bathe and change clothes.

Individuals handling toxic insecticides should bathe and change clothes immediately after completing jobs or during an extensive break.

Keep these instructions in mind so you will be in good health to enjoy the fruits of your labor.

I got quite a surprise this week when I found that the historical markers you see in various places cost from $85 to $400 apiece.

So if you are one of those history enthusiasts, who would like to see a marker on every old house and building, I am compelled to tell you that the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee is allotted exactly $300 a year for markers. Check this amount against the cost and you will find that it doesn't go far.

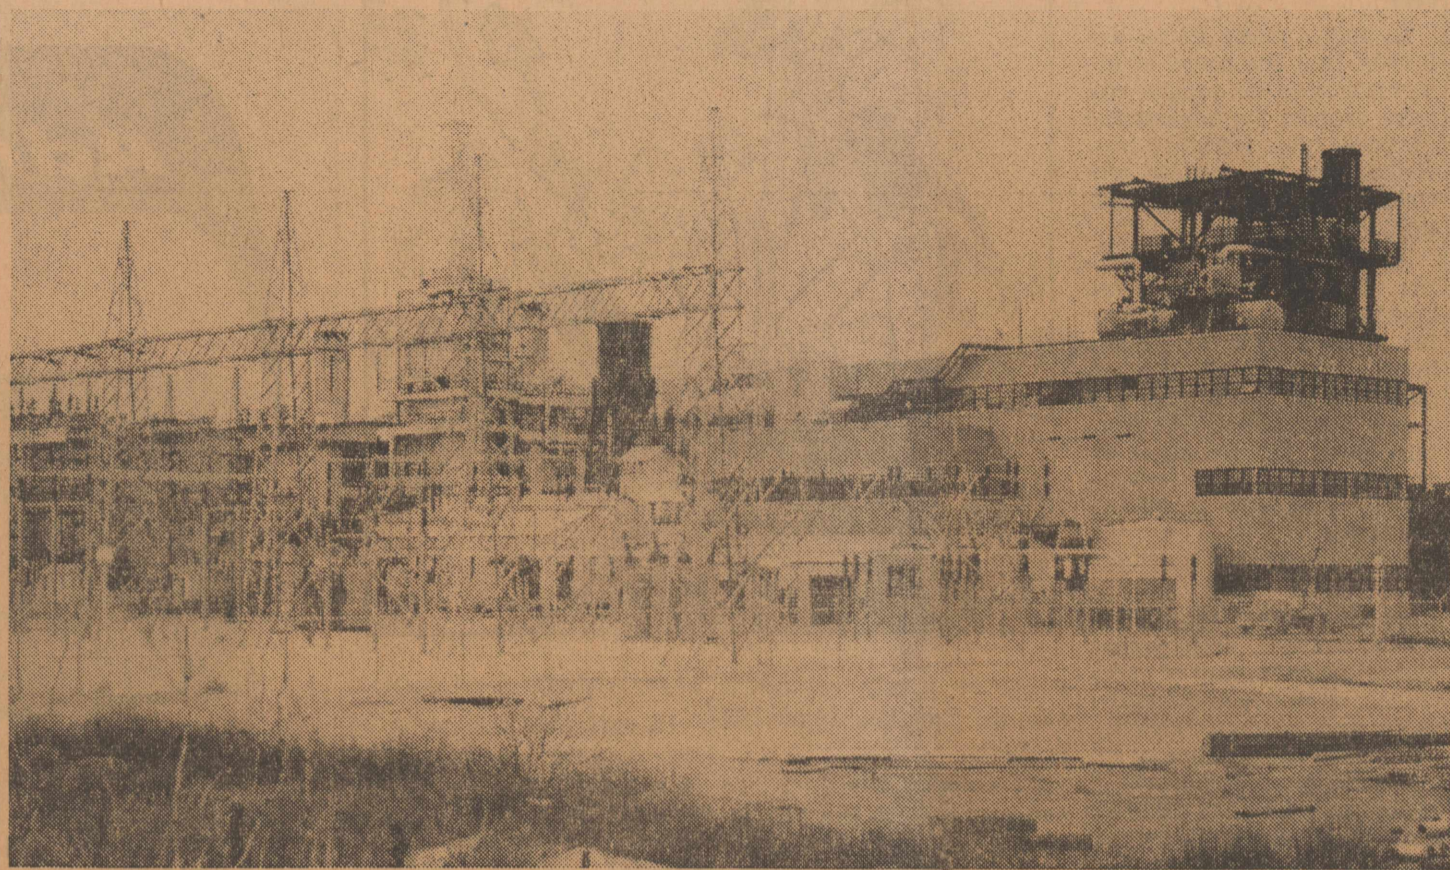

Having been in various Texas towns with markers all over the place, I checked and found that most were paid for by individuals.

If you have the money and your historical site meets the requirements of the State Historical Survey Committee, you're in business. Just check with Mrs. R. A. Harrell, chairman of the local committee, and she will give all the information you might need.

I'll tell you, last Thursday noon the town was up in arms. That is the fans of the noon soap opera were up in arms, and that takes in most of the town. The television sets went off just before the end of the show and the telephone lines to the Ozona T-V System were so busy that some people gave up trying to call and got in their cars to drive down and find out what the trouble was.

As it turned out, they were working on the electrical line, and it wasn't the cable (Continued on Last Page)

READY FOR TEST RUN — A new 95,000-kilowatt steam generating unit at West Texas Utilities Company's Rio Pecos Plant in Crockett County near Girvin, will have preliminary test runs in the next few days. The new $7.5 million addition to the plant is scheduled for operation the last of April.

$7.5 Million Addition To W. T. U. Generating Station In Crockett Co. Complete; Test Run Next Week

The current $7.5 million construction program at West Texas Utilities Company's Rio Pecos Generating Station in Crockett County, approximately 10 miles west of McCamey, has been completed. Testing of the new 95,000 kilowatt reheat steam turbine generating system is under way. "The initial start-up and test run of the new generating unit," John Hutchison, WTU Vice President and Chief Engineer said, "is planned for the last week in March." Commercial operation is scheduled to begin the last of April.

When this new turbine generator goes on the line, the station will have a total generating capability of 136,500 KW, according to Aubrey Carroll, Plant Superintendent.

West Texas Utilities District Manager, Kirby Dawkins of McCamey, points out that the Rio Pecos Plant is one of seven major generating stations which the Company operates to supply electric energy in 166 towns and communities in 50 West Texas counties. The Company's service area extends from north of the Red River in the Texas Panhandle, to the Rio Grande at Presidio.

To accommodate the new generator, a 76x108 ft. brick addition was built to the existing plant and a new boiler was installed. The boiler, which can generate 700,165 pounds of steam per hour, operates at a temperature of 1,005 degrees at 1,570 pounds or pressure per square inch. Water for a new cooling tower is supplied by 12-inch water line from wells in Pecos County.

The Bechtel Corporation of San Francisco were design engineers, and Templeton Construction Company of San Angelo served as the general contractor.

Chamber Members Attend Workshop In Big Spring

Three members of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce attended the West Texas Chamber of Commerce workshop held yesterday in Big Spring.

Grady Elder, manager of the San Angelo BCD, presided over the all-day sessions, which dealt mostly with chamber responsibilities in the community.

Local men attending were Hubert Baker, manager, Bill Cooper and L. B. T. Sikes, members of the highway committee.

Awards Presented For Conservation Essay Contestants

Awards were presented in assembly Wednesday morning to the high school students who won places in the annual Fort Worth Press Conservation Essay Contest. The contest is sponsored locally by the Crockett County Soil Conservation Dist.

Winners in the senior division were David Hoover, Sherry Saunders, Mary Jane Martinez and Susan Owens in the order given. Junior division winners were Georganne Janes, Pat Fitzhugh, David Williams and Karen Mosley.

Awards were presented by Joe Couch, district supervisor, assisted by District Conservationist Sam Fitzhugh. The awards were checks, $5 for first place, $3 for second, $2 for third and $1 for fourth.

House To House Canvass Planned For Red Cross

Red Cross volunteers kicked off the 1969 fund drive with a coffee at the Hi-way Cafe Tuesday morning. Bill Cooper, chairman of the Crockett County Chapter, spoke briefly to the group before handing out supplies for this year's drive.

Much of the money collected this year will go toward helping wounded servicemen in Vietnam. A $10 donation will provide comfort supplies for 15 servicemen wounded in Vietnam and a $5 donation will make it possible for three military patients evacuated from Vietnam to place "home phone calls" to their next of kin immediately upon arrival in the United States.

Representatives from all the service and civic clubs in the city were on hand for the meeting. Each person was given supplies and an area of the town to canvass during the meeting. No particular date was set for volunteers to work their assigned areas, but all contribution packets must be turned in by April 1.

Little League Program In Need Of Adult Leaders

With around 200 Ozona boys ready for Little League tryouts, a lack of interest is being shown on the part of Ozona adults. At this date only two managers have been secured for the four little league teams and the same number for the four minor league teams.

Rex Fenton will manage the Flying W team and Harold Shaw the Moore Oil team. Little league teams without managers are Ozona Oil and B&B.

In the minor league, Bill Ivy will lead the Giants and Felipe Castro will head up the Astros. So far the Yankees and the Dodgers have no managers.

Anyone wishing to assist with the summer program this year may call Bill Lewter, local LL president. Another meeting will be held within the next two weeks. Date and place will be announced next week.

Hoped-For Final Thrust of Winter Brings Moisture

Freezing temperatures, rain and frost highlighted the Ozona weather picture this week as old man winter hopefully made his final stand.

Rain fell in the county Friday night and Saturday morning after a cold blustery front passed through the area, dropping temperatures to the freezing point and below. The official gauge recorded .69 of an inch of moisture by noon Saturday and another .11 of an inch early Monday morning.

Frigid weather held the area in its grip until Tuesday morning when the sun (Continued on Last Page)

AND NOBODY HURT — Two California youths escaped injury when this 1959 Chevrolet convertible went out of control, jumped a culvert and overturned in the bar ditch two miles east of Ozona Saturday morning. The two youths, Terry Felsch and Don Wiensuer, both of Vacaville, Calif., were returning home from a visit in Houston. The car was a total loss.

DISCIPLINED RABBLE

On March 10, Vice Admiral John V. Smith, the senior member of the negotiating team at Panmunjom when the USS Pueblo was captured, told the Navy's board of inquiry that the North Koreans were "Mongolian savages . . . disciplined rabble . . . and one step above animals."

Admiral Smith is a veteran of 35 years in the US Navy. He is perhaps, more mindful than most that the Navy mascot is a goat. It is possible to speculate that he doesn't appreciate the "goat" symbolism in this affair. He termed his six months of what was called negotiating with the enemy "a most unpleasant experience." "It eventually," he said, "turns one's stomach."

A few days earlier, another top-ranking military man spoke to the Rotary Club in Taipei, seat of the Republic of China. Major General Richard G. Ciccolella is the chief of the US Military Assistance Advisory Group.

General Ciccolella made it clear very quickly that he was speaking only for himself, which is the kind of disclaimer that the Reuther Memorandum and the pressures of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee make incumbent upon our military leaders these days. Nonetheless, General Ciccolella left no blank spaces as to where he stood:

"Although we have defeated the military campaign of the enemy in Vietnam, our military commanders cannot deliver the type of military victory our people have so long been accustomed to. This is due in large part to the limitations we have placed on the level of power permitted, the fact that US commanders are not permitted to pursue the enemy to effect his total destruction, the sanctuaries we permit the enemy to operate from and the very nature of the guerilla campaign."

And then he pointed to the one glimmer of hope in the Paris end of the war: "We can win in Paris," he said, "and we can get concessions from the Communists so as to arrive at a just and honorable peace only if we apply the full range of pressures available to the free world — political, economic and military."

Perhaps General Ciccolella, and Vice Admiral Smith should be dispatched to Paris to sit with Ambassador Lodge at that famous table of disputed design. We doubt that either of these gentlemen would be awed by the enemy's "disciplined rabble," and, moreover, some Americans combat soldiers might be spared. The painful pattern of the Korean War is reappearing. While the talk continues, too many American men are dying.

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

"There's a man going 'round taking names" was the title of an Ozark ballad of by-gone days, referring to the census takers. The decennial nose-counters will be back in action next year, asking more questions than ever.

In fact, many of us are fearful that the scope of information to be sought will have evolved far beyond the purposes intended when provision for the census was written into the Constitution.

As now planned, the Census Bureau will use two questionnaires — a short form for three-fourths of households, which will contain questions on 21 subjects; and a long form which will contain about 120 questions on 67 subjects. It would take a half hour or more to fill out the latter.

A few samples of questions to be used: Your income, from all sources; the educational, marital, employment and military history of every citizen; with whom the bathroom and kitchen facilities are shared in each home; an enumeration of household appliances; a automobile owned; did you work at any time last week? And on and on.

It is planned to use a mail-out, mail-back procedure in the big city areas next year. Failure to answer, and as correctly as possible, could subject one to a fine of $100 and 60 days in jail.

I have joined with 108 other members of the House in legislation which would make answers mandatory to only a half dozen questions. Those queries would relate to name, address, age, sex, head of household, and persons in the home at the time of the census. Answers to any additional questions would be purely voluntary, with no penalties applicable to them.

By limiting the questions and penalties to the few essential subjects, we believe the purposes of the census will be served. This would simplify the procedure, make the operation more palatable to the people, and achieve better cooperation on the part of all. It would save time and expense, and would avoid delving into personal and private matters.

The census every 10 years is highly essential. It provides the basis for proportional representation in the Congress, and elsewhere. Beyond that, we feel answers to any additional questions should be on a purely voluntary basis.

WE DIG THIS IDEA!

By Patsy Pearl

The Ozona A and B teams traveled to Crane Monday night to play their third district game. The B team lost both their games with the same score in each game, 15-1.

The A team had hard luck the first game and lost by a score of 15-3. In the second game, the Lionettes did better and nearly tied the Cranes at one point in the game but still lost by 15-11.

The Volleyball teams will travel to Stanton to play their next district game this Thursday.

RESEARCH PAPERS

By Simply Garza

"Just hearing the word 'research' sends a chill up my spine! I'd rather do homework every day than write a research paper! Sound familiar? Sue it does. That's all one hears in the halls when research-paper time comes. Many students dread writing research papers because writing one is hard work. By writing such a paper, a student gets the opportunity to work by himself and not copy from others. He gets to choose his own topic and to say just what he thinks about that particular subject. Right now, high school students are writing research papers. They will be writing them all through high school and college. The ability to write these papers will also come in handy in the future. The skill a person receives from them will have an effect in his career. For example, if one is asked to make a report on a particular topic and has had experience in writing such a report in school, it won't seem like a hard task. If he hasn't had any experience, he will have lots of trouble.

In writing a research paper, the student must first find some information on the topic he has chosen. He must then make an outline and start taking notes. Af-

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

How Far Inflation?

Somewhat akin to one of Mark Twain's well known remarks, everybody talks about inflation, yet no one seems to do very much about it.

It thus, will be interesting to see what steps the new administration takes in this direction.

There are some people of considerable stature, who feel that the inflationary spiral will never be corrected unless wage and price controls are decreed.

But this is an unwholesome remedy to the American principles and it is doubtful, barring an extreme emergency, that such laws could be passed.

It is a known fact that before the Congressional elections of 1968 plans were already underway for the issuance of ration books in January of 1967.

However, the results of the Congressional elections caused a hasty retreat from this position and nothing more was done to advance this program.

Of course, the reasoning behind this all was that the Vietnam war created what is known as a "demand-pull" inflationary spiral, which merely means that too many dollars are chasing too few goods.

However, as it was plainly evident at that time, and is even more apparent now, des-ter the notes have been taken, the student must put all of his information together, thus making a rough draft. Writing or typing the final draft is the last step. The research paper is ready to hand in! Most students get a real kick out of walking into the class room on deadline day with a completed research paper. They feel good for they know their teachers will be interested in reading papers that express their own opinions.

LIONETTES DEFEATED

By Patsy Pearl

The Ozona Lionettes played Big Lake here and were defeated last Thursday, Mar. 13. The Junior High Girls played first and won their first game by a score of 15-10. The second game they were not so fortunate. They were defeated 15-12. Because both teams each had won a game, they played a third game, which the Junior High Girls lost 15-9.

The second game played was by the B team. Big Lake won both games by scores of 3-15 and 2-15.

The varsity teams played last. The Lionettes were able to defeat the Owls by a score of 15-11 the first game. The second game, the Owls out did the Lionettes and won by a score of 15-0. The third game was won by the Owls with a score of 15-7.

BEAUTY NOMINEES ARE SELECTED

By Doug Blanton

After much balloting and many hours dedicated to the counting of votes, the Most Beautiful and Most Handsome nominees have been selected. There are four nominees competing for the titles, but if there is a situation where the voting is too close and no one person gets the majority, an added nominee will be included in the list. This is the case in the boy's group.

Following the first day of voting, Marsha Moore, Debbie Moore, and Patsy Pearl were chosen as three of the four girls. Randel Clepper was the only boy who received a majority of the vote. The next day the run-off included Becky Cervantez, Chris Clegg, and Nannette Bailey, and the boys were Donald Huff, David Huff, Rodney Rutherford, Marlin Farris, Fleet Coates, and Johnny Barbee. The students then chose Becky Cervantez, Donald Huff, Marlin Farris, Fleet Coates, and Johnny Barbee.

These nine students will now have an 8x10 glossy print made of themselves. To prevent popularity from deciding the Most Beautiful and Most Handsome girl and boy and their runner-up, the pictures of the nominees will be sent to a college in Texas. The college then has the final decision of selecting the beauties for O. H. S. When their selection is made, they will send the pictures back and we will then find out who the college picked as the winners.

DRESS-IN '69

By Deena Vargas

Fancy pants are in and will go farther than ever, this spring, I'm sure. The crazier and wilder they look, the more fun it is to wear 'em.

In dresses, the look of the forties will definitely be it. With short dresses, dresses with boleros or pinafores added, and skirts with Navy T-tops or polo shirts, you're bound to have a smart wardrobe. You can even mix and match some of them to widen your wardrobe.

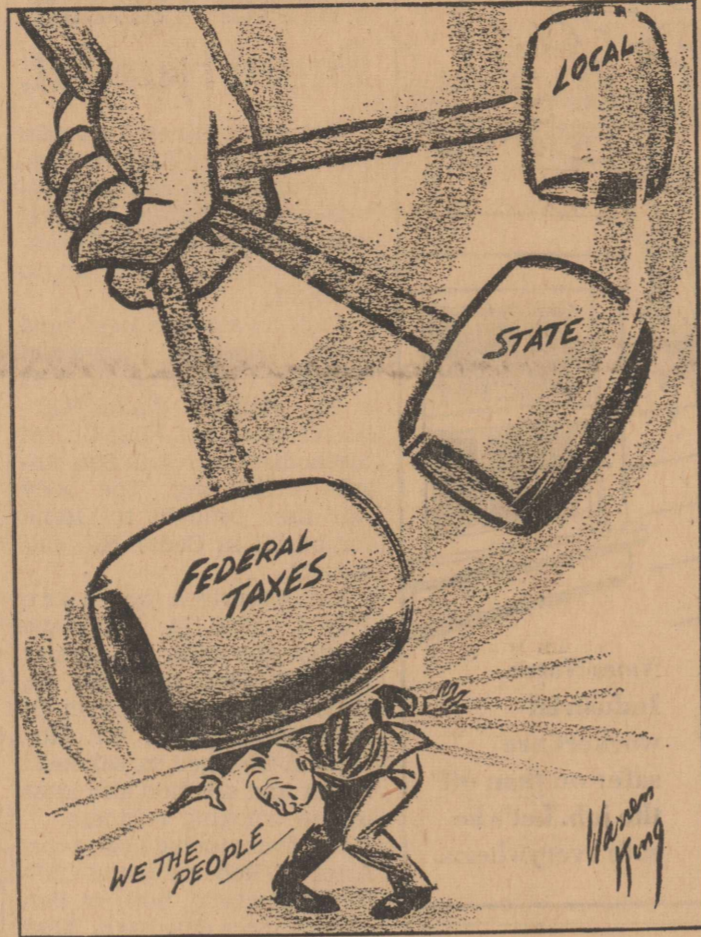

Shoes are a big craze now. Most popular for the sporty look are sandals, Oxfords (two-tone), open toe and heel, and the straight-heel shoe, can be counted on for spring. They come in the wildest and most exciting colors there are, so you can be sure to match any of your clothes.

In materials, every possible design can be considered in. The polka-dots, daisies, and even designs from Moroccan tile are some of the popular designs now. They've even gone as far as to design your own print for materials. So you can look for just about anything in fabrics.

Colors are no longer a problem to match, now they can be worn all mixed-up and never be considered wrong. The worse the match, the better the look. This spring's colors will be sky blue and other soft pastels. But, you can look for anything to come up.

Accessories are one of the important additions to your wardrobe. Big rings, crazy bracelets and pins, and long necklaces can add a lot to a simple outfit. A good thing is you can make your own out of wood, paper mache, tin can lids, and just about anything. Aside from jewelry, hats, berets, and purses can be considered good accessories.

TAXPAYERS, HOW LONG?

expecting you

On a busy night in New York—or any other city—it pays to be expected. After our wanderings we crave welcome.

There is somewhere else we are expected... and welcomed!

Here is an aspect of religious concern which isn't emphasized enough: Whatever you've done about it, you are conscious of the fact that you need God. But are you aware also that God needs you?

Or, putting it another way, do you realize that one of the churches in our community has been expecting you—waiting for you to add your strength to that of your neighbors, your brothers in faith?

You don't need a reservation. Only a reverent heart.

Sensing The News

By Thurman Sensing

Executive V. P. Southern States Industrial Council

Is Nixon Neglecting Conservatives?

Richard M. Nixon is President of the United States today because the electorate wanted a meaningful change in the policies of the U. S. government. The voters were alarmed at the mistaken policies adopted by the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and saw in Mr. Nixon an instrument of effective change. They believed that he would bring new people into government with strong, conservative convictions, who would have fresh ideas about dealing with the Soviet Union and the other enemies of freedom.

To accomplish change, however, requires a re-staffing of the key federal operating units. The President depends on the counsel of skilled advisers in the White House and at the Department of State. The old crowd in power during the last eight years, has given proof that it is intellectually defunct and unable to produce programs and policies geared to the real needs of the nation.

It was a shock, therefore, to learn in early February that the National Security Council, the advisory group with a responsibility for integrating military, foreign and economic policies, has been re-staffed almost wholly with Kennedy and Johnson administration holdovers. Only one well known conservative, Dr. Richard V. Allen, has been named to the National Security Council staff.

The man responsible for staffing the NSC along lines that would please Hubert Humphrey and Teddy Kennedy is Dr. Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's chief security affairs adviser.

When Dr. Kissinger was given his post, it was assumed that he would draw on the talent that had been outside the government for the last eight years — the many realistic scholars who take a hard line on world affairs and who, therefore, were excluded from policy-making posts under the Kennedy and Johnson administrations. This has not been the case, however. Instead, Dr. Kissinger assembled a staff made of people who had served the McNamara-Rusk-Rostow regime.

To name only a few: Dr. Morton Halperin, a former Harvard professor, was chief of policy planning and arms control at the Pentagon under Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Viron P. Vaky, specialist in Latin affairs, was coordinator of the Alliance for Progress under the Johnson administration.

Daniel I. Davidson was a member of Ambassador Averell Harriman's staff at the Paris peace talks. Lawrence S. Eagleburger was a special assistant to former Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, a Kennedy clan favorite.

Given the fact that Mr. Nixon is a Republican and was elected by the conservative vote, Dr. Kissinger's choices are nothing less than fantastic. He has chosen aides as though it were Hubert Humphrey who was elected.

President Nixon is engulfed in the myriad tasks of the Presidency. It may well be — one hopes this is the case — that he doesn't realize Dr. Kissinger has assembled a National Security Council staff that can only alienate him from the conservative constituency that elected him and give him the same tired advice that led to the mistakes of the last two administrations.

There is alarming evidence that the conservative realistic viewpoint is being neglected by the new administration in several areas. One of the most important of these is the State Department. Candidate Nixon promised to give the Department a real housecleaning. But Human Events, a reliable Washington newsletter, reports that "there is no evidence available to suggest that such a housecleaning is in the works." Indeed Human Events reports that the top assistant to the Undersecretary of State "is considered a congenial Liberal in the field of foreign policy."

In the absence of the appointment of realists to the State Department, and with the continuation in power of holdovers from the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, concern is deepening among conservatives who supported Mr. Nixon.

Some conservatives fear that they "dropped the ball" after the election, that they didn't make a sufficiently strong pitch to the then President-elect, and didn't insist on appointment of known realists to top positions in the State Department and on the White House staff. The people associated with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York apparently moved very fast to get positions of influence in the new administration, while conservatives sat back and congratulated themselves on having elected a new team.

It is not too late, of course,

TAKE SAFETY HOME!

News Note:
Industrial workers are safer on than off the job. Let's be safe everywhere.

for the conservatives to make an impact on the new administration. President Nixon, as an experienced political leader, knows that he was elected by the conservatives in the West, Middle West and South, not by the Liberal Republicans in the Northeast. Administrations go through many phases, and strong pressure from the conservatives at this time might be what's needed to secure appointment of realists to key policy-making jobs and to revise staffs already appointed. Dr. Kissinger and his aides, for example, could be quietly downgraded and a new team of realists given the real authority for furnishing the President with vital information.

Hiway Department Has New Folder On Texas Wildflowers

Austin — "Flower of Texas" — a spectacle of bloom and blossom — introduces some 60 species of Texas' most beautiful flowers, shrubs and trees in all seasons.

The Texas Highway Department, which released the lavish new color folder today, expects it to be one of the most popular items among the family of recreational and travel literature produced by the Department.

The new folder was designed for two purposes — to erase any notion held by out-of-State residents that Texas is an arid, barren wasteland — and to enhance the pleasure of both Texans and visitors by identifying some of the State's most common and colorful plants.

Far from being a wasteland, the folder points out that Texas leads the nation with an abundance of blooming plants — more than 5,000 species of wild flowers alone. Closeup color photographs illustrate tropical plants of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, with orchids from the Big Thicket, bright plains flowers, and vivid blooms of thorny cacti.

Flower fanciers and garden clubs have recently asked that such a publication be added to the family of travel literature produced by the Texas Highway Department. In response to that demand the new folder lists 56 species by common and botanical names, including facts about blooming season and where they are usually found. Other species are illustrated in landscape views.

Free copies of the new "Flowers of Texas" folder may be obtained at all Highway Department offices and Tourist Bureaus. They are available upon request, and in limited quantities to garden clubs and similar organizations. Requests by mail should be directed to the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78703.

system at all. Anyway, I feel like it will be quite some time before the electricity goes off at that particular time again, unless, of course, it's an act of God. That won't set very well either.

Thought for the week: Everybody in the world should be forced to work for the public at least once in their lifetime.

The weekend fall brought the total rainfall for the year to 2.84, considerably under the total for this time last year.
