Commissioners Court Hassled Over Interstate 10 Route the county had anything to do Crockett County Commiswith the design. His answer

sioners Court met in regular session Monday and found that most of their time was taken up with an item which was not on the agenda. Joe Tobar appeared before the court to protest the route of Interstate 10 through Ozona. He claimed that the route of the new super highway cuts off those living in Chandlerdale Addition and thereby discriminates against the Mexican-American popula-

Judge Troy Williams pointed out the fact that when the route through Ozona was approved in 1968, there were no houses in Chandlerdale Addition. Tobar contended that the design had been changed three times since then. Tobar alleged the county was responsible for the design and Texas Highway Resident Engineer Bill Dixon is actually working for the county rather than the state. At this point Dixon was called and asked to appear before the court.

During the interim, com-LOCAL GIRL SCOUTS celebrated Girl Scout Week a little early, presented and may be seen, "that's a lot of Girl Scouts," Troops missioner Jack Williams asked if a change in design would benefit Tobar's land. Tobar admitted that it would. This was in reference to the burned El Chato's Cafe near the IS route. Tobar said he purchased the land nine years ago. Absenting himself from the court for a few minutes, Judge Wil-Held Sunday For liams returned with the deed to the land in question. It was brought to light that the lot was purchased in 1971, three years after acceptance of the highway plan. Dixon arrived at the court and the Judge asked him if was an unqualified "no." Dixon denied the design had been changed when Tobar claimed it had been changed three times.

When asked about building a road under the bridge on the west side, Dixon pointed out that he could not approve or disapprove any construction, but offered to check with the District Engineer to see if the county had authority to do anything along those lines. Tobar complained that the people on the south side would have problems getting north of the Interstate. Judge Williams pointed out the fact that if this was a problem, the people on the north side would also be bothered. One elementary school is south of the proposed highway and the other is north.

In the Civic Center report, Garland Young advised the court that a thorough clean-up was underway to have the center ready for the Woman's Forum Sunday Dinner. This became necessary when it was discovered that many dishes had been put away dirty after previous functions. A request to replace lost silverware was approved and Young was ordered to compare prices before making any purchase. Dudley McCary was present to give the maintenance report. He asked for a raise of 25¢ an hour for Carlos Robledo, which was approved, and advised the court that he had hired Rudy Vargas. McCary was ordered to clean up the draw and to get the ball parks ready for the baseball season.

In the hospital report, hospital administrator Keith Peters brought to the court's attention a complaint from an Ozona doctor of Al Ramirez's excessive speed in driving the ambulance. The doctor felt the excessive speed was dangerous when there was no emergency in transporting the patient. When approached may be seen in the window of about the complaint. Ramirez was very uncooperative. There was some discussion on

THE FORGOTTEN PEOPLE

When Senator James L. Buckley of New York visited the Soviet Union late last year, he not only met with some of the top Communist officials, but he also took time to contact some of the members of persecuted "minority" groups in the USSR, including one of the most resistant dissidents, Andrei Sakarov. Buckley reported that he found not a single one of some dozen families he talked to had a working telephone because all their phones had been cut off. Thus, the families were cut off not only from each other but from any hope of getting messages in or out

The evidence convinced him, Buckley said, that prison conditions are now in many ways worse than those that existed even during the barbarities of the Stalin era. "Instead of the extermination camps of the Stalin years," Buckley said, "there now exist camps dedicated to what might be called 'protracted death': i.e., death on the installment plan."

While in Moscow, Buckley was handed a list of 6,000 Volga German families who have been trying to leave the Soviet Union, and suffering additional torture because of their requests. He was told that 20 or 30 individuals who helped compile the list are now in prison, and that the actual number comprised more than 25,000 men, women and children. The victims are treated as a separate nationality, with the word "German" stamped on their identity papers; they are subject to abuse in schools as "Hitlerites" and "Nazis" and denied opportunities for higher education. Buckley was also given case histories of Soviet persecution of Baptists, Buddhists, and other minority groups.

During this period of celebration of our 200th Anniversary, it is well for us to ponder the difference between living in a nation founded upon atheism and the rejection of God and a nation founded upon belief in God and a system of justice built upon Every American, every night, should praise God that he or she was privileged to have been born here, rather than on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

ARROGANCE OF POWER -- OR PROFIT?

Carl Marburger, a liberal, and former New Jersey Commissioner of Education, is one of the latest authorities to come out in defense of parents who are battling for decent textbooks in public schools.

"Thomas Jefferson," said Marburger, "counseled democracy's leaders to trust in the informed judgment of the people. Sometimes they are wrong, but in the long run common sense and considerable wisdom nearly always prevail. Despite this, our public leaders too often exhibit the attitude that 'the people are children and we know what is best for them.'

"This is not leadership but the arrogance of power, and the entire nation has suffered its devastating results.'

We suspect that in addition to the arrogance of the educational elite there is the factor of money-hungry, profit-seeking book publishers. Poor writers come cheap; and since they do not have the writing skill to hold even a child's attention, the hacks must rely upon "shock value," easily found through vulgar language and sordid themes. A moron can tell a dirty joke; it takes skill and intelligence to tell a funny story.

A similar comparison may be found in television ineligibles, the certificates entertainment. We need not be told of the flood of murder, mayhem, and general debauchery flooding the TV screen these days. But it can be easily shown that none of it is necessary to hold an audience. Not too long ago, an independently produced television thriller ran for three straight years with the highest ratings; at its peak it was on more than twice as many television to be ineligible, mainly by stations as the leading network show on the air; yet not once was reason of having moved, acthe leading star shot at or seen shooting; indeed, in the entire three years, not once did he have a gun, a knife, or brass knuckles in his hands; no women were raped or ravished, or were seen be maintained in the secrewearing skimpy underwear; no blood ran in the streets. NOTED AND PASSED . . .

-- Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's new book, When the Calf Homs the Oak, should be a blockbuster. Just off the press in Paris, and due to be published in English later this year, the true-life story is said to drop a lot of hot Russian names, including some of the tyrants still in power today. There will be much speculation on what Solzhenitsyn has written about Comrade Mikhail Suslov. Suslov is believed to be one of the most sinister Reds in the Kremlin, and is also considered to be the leading anti-Semite in the USSR. There will be much note-comparing when the book appears.

AUSTIN-House members have sent the Senate a bill limiting penalties for speeding up to 70 miles per hour to a maximum $25 fine with no insurance rate penalties.

Representatives also approved extension of the 55 mph speed limit, but did not provide the necessary 100 votes to place it into immediate effect. The present limit, passed more than a year ago in conformity with federal energy-saving mandates, expires at the end of this month.

At issue is whether Texas again goes along with the federally-imposed limit and retains eligibility for allocation of $303 million in federal highway funds this

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he fears "there is a very definite possibility" the fine ceiling for speeds over-55 and up-to-70 (the old limit) may endanger federal funds for the highways.

Briscoe said he would prefer a simple extension of the 55 mph speed bill as an energy saver, as well as a life saver and a highway aid saver.

However, the Governor stopped short of saying he would veto the fine bill, which provides for maximum penalties, including court costs, of $25 without charge to a driver's violation record.

Representatives hope to force the Senate to go along with the fine limitation by withholding 100 votes from the 55 mph bill until both measures are cleared by the upper chamber.

REGISTRATION PLAN PASSED

All Texas voters will have to re-register between October 1 and January 31 under a bill passed by the Senate last week.

The relatively non-controversial bill sets up a new computer - policed permanent voter registration system for the state.

Once all voters are signed up again, local registrars every two years would send out new certificates automatically. To help weed out will be mailed in nonforwardable envelopes so they will be returned if the voter has moved.

Up to 30 per cent on current voter rolls are believed cording to Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

The pace is picking up around the Capitol since my last report. We experienced our first real floor fight of the session with the passage of the Presidential Primary Bill, which I co-sponsored. Contrary to some of the adverse criticism you no doubt read and heard, the bill provides a very workable, reasonable method of selecting delegates to the National Party Convention. 75 per cent will be elected directly by you, the voter, at the May primary. The remaining 25 percent will be selected by the present convention process. This is all subject to

The Agriculture Committee is studying several bills outlawing the use of imported meat by state agencies and requiring stricter labeling of imported meat products. The theory is that these would help our moribund beef industry, but there is a question of run ning afoul of federal statute and international trade agreements and thus being declared unconstitutional.

The three big plans for restructuring Texas' school finance system have been unveiled in the House. About the only feature the three share is an astronomical price tag. They differ, however, in the way the costs and the benefits will be apportioned. I like the Governor's weighted pupil approach. I also think Representative Kubiak's proposal of moving away from reliance on local property taxes bears strong consideration, and certainly public school teachers need a reasonable pay increase. Veteran Legislators agree that what will emerge will be a composite plan. combining the best features from each proposal.

Under the new appropriations process initiated by Speaker Clayton, substantive committees sit in with the Appropriations Committee to hear budget requests by the state agencies with which the substantive committee deals. Thus the Agriculture Committee hears the requests and recommends the amount of money that the House Appropriation Committee should budget for the Texas A&M Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Animal Health Commission, and so on. The Elections Committee does the same with the Secretary of State's budget requests that pertain to elections.

This method broadens the participation in the appropriations procedure and insures that each request for funds is heard by those familiar with the way in which the money will be spent and who can best judge the merits of the requests. The Appropriations Committee then acts as a co-ordinator and ultimate authority, piecing the budget recommendations into the final appropriation bill.

The two bills dealing with rescission of Texas' ratification of the Federal Equal Rights Amendment are stalled in subcommittees and are expected to stay there.

Citrus Crop Forecast Shows Drop

AUSTIN--This year's crop of Texas citrus is forecast at 12.9 million boxes, a drop of 25 percent from the 17.3 million boxes produced during the 1973-74 season.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, February projections estimated grapefruit production at 7.8 million boxes and early and mid-season oranges at 3.2 million boxes. Valencia orange output is forecast at 1.9 million boxes, 14 percent below the 2.2 million boxes harvested last season.

White said a freeze in December 1973 was the culprit in the production decline.

A freeze also hit the Lower Rio Grande Valley last month, but damage was minimal because trees were in a dormant stage. Early and mid-season oranges suffered some fruit damage, but the majority of the crop had been harvested. Little or no damage occured to grapefruit or Valencia crops.

White said overall quality of this year's crop has been. rated as high.

National figures show that citrus production will be at a record 14.1 million tons, six percent above last season. Orange production is up eight percent and lemon production up two percent. The grapefruit crop, however, is expected to decline 10 percent.

Again when the strong and unwelcome March winds hit us full blast, they discourage gardening, but let a beautiful, calm day arrive, and the windy days are forgotten. While driving through our area, observe the beautiful flowering fruit trees, shrubs, redbud at its peak, and the many bulbs in bloom. Too, make note of some of the plants, bulbs, trees, etc. that you want for your garden. The urge to plant is exceeded only by the great variety of plants available for planting. If you don't believe this, get a new catalogue and turn the pages, or go to a good nursery.

Be sure to get your roses pruned by March 15. The them to put on new growth earlier than usual.

Perennials should be divided before new growth is very far advanced. For early blooming, divide, replant and plant new dahlia tubers now. For later blooms, do not plant until April or May, which gives the best results. Others are phlox, daisies, holly hock, poppies and candy tuft.

Why plant dwarfs? Dwarf trees and plants give you quicker returns on your investment. They have been rated more efficient than large ones, using more of their nutrients to make fruit. A dwarf tree is a handy size to care for--no ladder is needed when pruning, spraying and harvesting. They are more interesting, take less space, give a margin of safety in case some variety doesn't do as well as expected one year. Dwarfs are easier to spray and need less. One quart per

As homesewers begin their spring wardrobes, some may consider buying a new sewing machine. Deciding which machine to buy can be confusing. There are some guidelines consumers can use to help make a satisfying decision from the many models avail-

Price Is Important: Machines will vary from less than $100 to more than $600. Knowing exactly what she needs before beginning shopping will help the consumer make the right selection.

Type of Stitches Determines Type of Machine:

A primary factor to consider when determining how much machine to buy is the type of stitches used most often. The least expensive models offer straight stitching with a reverse control. This type of machine is most practical for those who sew very little or are not interested in decorative

A second category of machine offers the same features as the straight stitch model, plus simple zig-zag patterns. The zig-zag stitch provides a distinct advantage for finishing seams, sewing on buttons, blind hemming, making buttonholes and sewing on knits. Another kind of sewing machine is the cam controlled zig-zag which gives great variety of decorative stitches. as well as straight and simple zig-zag stitches.

It is important to weigh the frequency special stitches are used against the increased cost and amount of service these machines will probably require. It makes no sense to pay for features that will never be used.

Gear or Belt Driven Mach-

If two machines offer similar features but differ greatly in price, it is probably due to mechanics. Check to see if the machines are gear-driven or belt-driven.

Although both provide durability, the gear-driven machine runs smoother and quieter and is less tiring to operate than the belt-driven models. Guarantee and Service Center Availability: A last but certainly important feature to check is the guarantee. Look for a minimum of a 90-day guarantee on all parts and labor. Even with the most persistent care, parts replaced. A dependable, convenient service center is also an important consideration. Remember that a sewing

Animal Ag. Conference Slated For April 10-11 At Texas A&M

tion as it relates to animal agriculture will be discussed by swine buildings, breeding in major speakers during the second annual Animal Agriculture Conference April 10-11 at the J. Earl Rudder Center at Texas A&M University.

A featured speaker will be Ken Monfort, president of Monfort of Colorado, and a leader in the cattle feeding and packing industries. He will forage feeding systems to discuss "Outlook for the Livestock Industry. '

"Through the various companies he is associated with, Monfort has personal experience and current knowledge on the lamb and cattle feeding industry, the packing industry, and experiences in developing new markets both here and abroad, " explained L. A. Maddox, beef cattle specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension

Another highlight is expected to be a panel discussion on current economics of animal agriculture, including forces at work in that market that influence the livestock situation. said Maddox, general conference chairman.

Besides the general conference sessions, separate short alternative feedstuffs, physiocourses are set for beef, dairy, swine, horses, forages and pastures, and range and wildlife.

Information presented at the general sessions on outlook for feed, cattle and finance should on horsemanship and horse be of great interest to cattlemen. Additionally, information on range and pasture will help producers feed more economically. Monfort will make a second presentation at the Beef Short Course on the potential to reduce marketing margins from the producer to the consumer.

Other subjects for discussion at the Beef Short Course will be meat quality, retail acceptance, alternative merchandizing methods, management for good herd reproduction,

A telephone call to Pioneer Natural Gas brings an air conditioning specialist to your home for a free survey and cost estimate at no obligation to you. He'll answer all your questions, and tell you what it will take to install GAS air conditioning in your home. It's the first easy step toward having your dependable GAS air conditioning installed before the first hot, windy days are here.

A GAS air conditioning system is ruggedly built to cool quietly and efficiently. There are fewer moving parts, and no compressor to break down or wear out. Heat from the steady blue flame circulates a refrigerant through the system to cool the air. It's this simple principle that gives GAS air conditioning its long life with no loss of cooling capacity and easy maintenance.

Install GAS air conditioning now. You'll avoid the rush, and be enjoying the quiet, cooling comfort of GAS air conditioning while everyone else is waiting. Give us

We've also seen homes and apartments furnished by others whose budgets were very limited, and yet theirs were done very attractively. People of more limited means CAN accomplish so much by the proper selection of styles, color schemes and arrangements.

All furniture dealers and decorators love customers who say, "the sky's the limit," but we give equal time and attention to those whose budget is much lower--and this is where we can really be of service to you. We can give you the benefit of our accumulated experience in accepting the challenge of showing you how to use your dollars wisely.

Start by telling us how much you are able to spend and we can surprise you by showing you how much can be done for any given amount.
