First Baptist Church Host 'Yo-Yo' Champ

Everett "Bunny" Martin, the reigning Yo-Yo Champion of the World, Christian humorist, singer, juggler and magician, will be the special guest of First Baptist Church on Sunday morning, June 9.

In 1950, "Bunny" Martin won an expense-paid trip to the first World Yo-Yo Tournament held in Toronto, Canada. He competed with 500 finalists from Japan, China, Canada, Mexico and the United States in a rodeo arena before 5,000 spectators.

The competition began at nine in the morning and ended at five in the afternoon. When the competition came to an end, "Bunny" Martin was declared the champion.

"Truly a champion and talent of our times," said J.E. Meeks, pastor of the First Baptist Church, "he has appeared with such celebrities as Roy Acuff, Roger Miller, Dale Evans and Art Linkletter. As long-time member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, he has performed for the Dallas Cowboys and the New York Jets. He visits about 30 prisons a year with Bill Glass in his penitentiary evangelistic crusades. Recently, he talked with two inmates at Soledad about Christ -- Sirhan Sirhan and Juan Corona.

Inter Club Golf Match Scheduled

Jeff Smith, golf pro at the Muleshoe Country Club said he has scheduled an Inter Club Match on Sunday, July 9.

"I have a commitment from Cannon AFB and one other team will be invited," said Smith. "Each team will have twenty players. The results will be obtained by taking the best ten scores, using handicaps plus the pro's scores. The winning team will keep a traveling trophy as we plan to have several of these throughout the year."

He said tee off time will be at 3 p.m. with dinner and beverage served following the match. The meal will be served and prepared by the professionals from the clubs involved.

Cannon AFB professional Troy Gann commented, "I think this is a great idea and should provide good relations between the two clubs. I know my players are looking forward to it."

Event coordinator Smith added "I return match will be held at Cannon AFB in August. Merchandise will be given to winners or those with outstanding scores."

"My attitude on this event is to see that all players have a good time. The pro shop will be run on a break even basis for this event. At the picnic following the match, all those disappointed with their performance will be able to enter a club throwing contest with a trophy being presented to the winner."

"The event will cost Muleshoe players $6 with the first 20 golfers who sign up representing our club," he concluded.

Early Screwworm Rise Troubles Researchers

A rash of infestation along with favorable moisture conditions across Texas, New Mexico and Arizona has prompted predictions of one of the highest screwworm outbreaks since 1976. The result could cost Texas cattlemen millions of dollars in damage and destroyed livestock.

The Gulf Coast tick, and particularly the screwworm fly, have become a serious threat to the Texas beef industry in the past few years. Adult ticks attack the ears of the cattle causing open wounds in which the screwworm fly lays its eggs. According to entomologists who have been monitoring the problem, screwworm larvae feed in these wounds and in extreme cases can kill the animal.

A Texas Agricultural Extension Service survey, conducted by area extension entomologists, showed that a screwworm infestation can cost a cattleman as much as $81.50 per head. This includes all categories of loss -- death loss, loss of weight, medication expenses and the extra expenses associated with transportation and labor. In the same survey, screwworms produced an estimated $283 to $375 million loss to the Texas general economy during 1976.

"We've already had more cases of screwworm infestation this year than at the same time last season," says E.H. (Elmer) Ahrens, research entomologist with the USDA Screwworm Eradication Laboratory, Mission, Texas. "At the same time, we are seeing a sharp increase in the number of screwworm reports from Arizona and New Mexico. This all points to the possibility of real screwworm problems this summer."

Jesse Cocke, area entomologist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, is working closely with the screwworm eradication program and agrees with Ahrens who points to favorable high-moisture conditions as yet another indication of increased tick and screwworm problems this summer.

"According to weather predictions, many parts of Texas are still anticipating rainfall," Cocke says. "If the rains do come this summer, conditions could become favorable for screwworm and tick infestation."

Ahrens, who has been working with area entomologists, says that cattle from Arizona and New Mexico are particularly to blame for the higher number of screwworm cases in Texas.

Cocke, who works with the "Screwworm Watch" monitoring program from his headquarters in Weslaco, says one of the few methods of protection cattlemen have in the war on screwworms are newly-developed insecticide-impregnated ear tags.

"Really, these tags are the surest safeguard for cattle," he says. "They are economical and labor efficient."

Two manufacturers -- Shell Animal Health and Y-Tex Corporation -- have developed such tags. Both tags are effective against the Gulf Coast ear tick. In comparative tests, government researchers found the Shell Rabon Ear Tag provided 95-100 percent control of the Gulf Coast ear tick for a three-month period. Additionally, the Rabon tag provided equally strong protection against horn flies, a nagging problem for Texas cattle.

Burglaries, Wrecks Show Increase

Burglaries are on the increase in the county with a major burglary reported from the Baileyboro community.

Tom Watson reported Saturday night the loss of an air conditioner from a home at Baileyboro. Then, Monday morning, he reported the loss of additional household and other merchandise.

Missing from the Watson home in the Sunday night burglary were several boxes of ammunition including .223 and .30 caliber, along with shotgun shells and a set of handcuffs.

Also missing were towels, wash cloths, savings bonds, insurance policies, a bedspread and two pillows.

The incidents are being investigated by Deputy Sheriff Monty Phipps.

A burglary was also reported at Muleshoe High School. Missing from the school are socks, jockey straps, shorts, T-shirts and a stop watch.

Gordon Green reported the loss of jewelry and Sheryl Harvey reported the theft of a blue denim purse from the Muleshoe Nursing Home.

An accident Sunday night at 10 p.m. near the corner of Fourth and West American Blvd. sent one man to a hospital for treatment of head and neck injuries.

Delmas Rowton, 33, a passenger on a motorcycle driven by his nephew, Steven Rowton, received head and neck injuries in the accident when the motorcycle struck the back of a stalled pickup. Rowton was taken to West Plains Medical Center by Singleton-Ellis ambulance.

Driver of the stalled pickup was Landra Gipson Hull of Muleshoe.

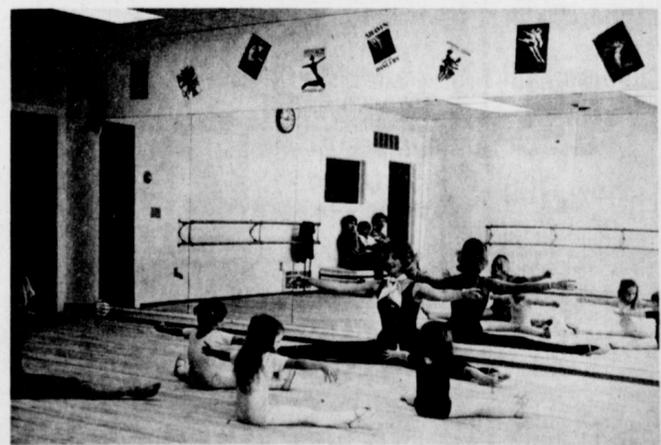

No injuries were reported in a Saturday afternoon accident at a local grocery store. Linda Ruth Allen was the driver of a vehicle which struck a parked pickup owned by Riley Goodnough. No injuries were reported in the Saturday accident.

Arrests during the past several days included three for public intoxication; two illegal aliens; two driving while intoxicated; one for assault and one for driving while intoxicated and no driver's license.

Agriculture Summit To Explore Problems

An agricultural summit, bringing together representatives of agriculture, business, labor and consumer groups from throughout the nation will be held at Texas A&M University Dec. 4-6 to explore farm problems and their effects on the lives of Americans.

The meeting, based on the work of five task force groups which begin sessions this summer, is sponsored by Texas A&M University and the Agriculture Council of America, a non-profit organization formed in 1973 to promote better understanding between farmers and consumers.

Texas A&M President Jarvis E. Miller said the task forces will conduct grass roots meetings and develop reports to be considered at the national meeting, termed a "Symposium on Economic Problems of Agriculture."

Major issues to be addressed include prices, income, international trade, production costs, nutrition and agriculture's role in governmental decisions.

"In terms of agricultural policy, I think we are at the most critical juncture since the early 1930's, and that is why we put such priority on this activity, hoping to make a substantive contribution to better understanding of the basic issues," Dr. Miller said.

"Farmers are living on borrowed money and borrowed affection bends the judgment of her uses," Dante.

"Tis sweet to feel by what fine-spun threads our affections are drawn to together," Laurence Sterne.

"It is absolutely critical that we identify what realistically can be done to ensure that our capabilities in agriculture are not further eroded. We believe the summit will clearly establish areas of agreement within the agricultural community," Miller continued.

"It should show many areas of agreement that far overshadow areas of disagreement."

Miller said the Agricultural Council of America called upon a top level brain trust to develop a format and approach to the summit. The group includes

The five-week ROTC advanced camp provides an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment. Most cadets are fulfilling their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. However, there will be a number of graduating seniors who will receive Army commissions at the completion of camp.

Gunter is a student at West Texas State University, Canyon. He is a 1975 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

who won the men's division, then went on to take the world champion title. Winning the junior division was Russell Magby, while Jama Brown won the women's division. Richard Kimbrough and Jerry Helton won the men's doubles.

A good crowd attended the morning presentation of a crime film which was presented by Officer Wayne Holmes and more crowds were at the annual Old Settler's Reunion. A quick shower just before parade time briefly held up the parade, which turned out to be the largest parade in Muleshoe in several years.

Thousands of people packed the city park for the evening's festivities, which featured a very large crowd at the challenge of the sexes baseball game, which was won by the high school boys.

Another crowd watched the first frisbee golf tournament and more visited and listened to a folk-singing duo and watched the best fireworks display which has been presented in several years.

Many expressions of appreciation to the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture and to the various civic clubs were heard during the evening.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Since 1967, all 50 state legislatures have considered no-fault automobile insurance as a means for reforming this area of insurance. Massachusetts took the lead in 1971 by enacting such a law. Since then, 15 other states have passed no-fault laws with tort restrictions, and eight passed legislation to reform their automobile insurance systems. Variance in state laws is one reason why the United States Congress has tried to pass federally mandated no-fault standards. In 1976, a federal no-fault bill was defeated in the Senate by a mere 49-45 margin. The same basic legislation has been introduced again, and it appears that the possibility of passage is quite strong.

The bills, S. 1381 and HR 6601, would preempt all state no-fault laws in some respects. Tort restrictions would be required of all states; medical benefit standards would change, and other alterations of the auto insurance systems would have to be made. Although the bills provide a period of three years for a state to comply with the standards, a state which does not adopt the federal regulations would have them imposed and administered either by the state or by the U. S. Secretary of Transportation.

There are strong arguments in favor of no-fault and against it. Proponents can point to the reduction in the number of lawsuits prompted by auto accident-related injuries in states having no-fault laws. They can further point to data indicating that a larger portion of each premium dollar goes to the victim of the accident. Opponents point to the rising costs of automobile insurance in state having no-fault, instead of a decline as had been anticipated. They also believe that the low tort liability threshold is a weakness.

It is my opinion that the experience in states which have enacted no-fault laws is not conclusive enough to warrant a federal mandate. While some states report that no-fault is working well, some have amended or plan to amend their laws to rectify problems. It seems that states should be given more time to test the concept since reliable information is not available.

I believe that the most important consideration in this matter concerns state sovereignty. The regulation of insurance is being successfully handled by the states, and Texas, well-respected for its independence and efficiency in the operation of its government, would not benefit from the institution of a federal no-fault insurance program.

I have transmitted my views on the matter to Congress in hopes that our Congressmen and Senators will take heed and will agree that the states can best deal with insurance policy.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek abandons world affairs this week and discusses a personal situation.

Dear editor: There are times when national and international affairs have to take care of themselves while a person concentrates on his own problems at home.

For example, my office out here used to be a smokehouse before science produced hogs that produce bacon already sliced and wrapped in cellophane. It's a fine office, about 9 by 12 feet, has a roll top desk and one chair. A second chair would only encourage a visitor to sit down. It didn't cost two million dollars like a U.S. Senator's office, but on the other hand it's debt-free and wasn't financed with tax money.

There is one thing about it though that bothers the few people who have come by to see me. The concrete floor has buckled a little and the screen door, which opens to the inside, scrapes bottom when it's about half-way open, causing inexperienced visitors to bump their heads. Some people are so set in their ways they expect all screen doors to open all the way back.

"Why don't you have that fixed?" I've been asked. My answer is, the Supreme Court won't allow it. You see, the railroad people who own Grand Central Station in New York, not doing too well with the railroad business, want to convert the historic building into an office building or a parking garage or something, but the city of New York has declared it a Historic Landmark, and the Supreme Court has ruled that, oh, in that case it can't be altered.

My office has been declared a historic landmark. Who did it? I did. By what authority? By the same authority New York City used. Just throw back your shoulders and declare it. Therefore you're not going to catch me defying the United States Supreme Court by sawing off the bottom of my screen door and destroying its historical shape. It opens wide enough to let me in and out, and aside from keeping out flies, that's all a screen door is for.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The estimated farm-level value of the cotton crop from 25 High Plains counties in 1977, according to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, comes to $825.7 million, up from $675.4 million for the much smaller but higher priced crop of 1976.

The 1976 crop totaled 1,986,500 bales of lint and 794,600 tons of seed, valued at almost $300 per bale of lint and $100 per ton of seed. The 1977 crop topped all previous yields at 3,215,400 bales of lint and about 1,286,000 tons of seed. But prices were down for both commodities, to an estimated $228 per bale for lint and an average of about $72 per ton of seed.

Estimates of average lint prices received by farmers on the 1977 crop were gathered by PCG from several knowledgeable sources. Guesses ranged from a 46-cent low to a high of over 49 cents and averaged 47.5 cents per pound.

The all-time high value for a cotton crop in PCG's 25 High Plains counties was reached in 1973 when lint and seed from 2,888,700 bales, plus farm program payments, pumped over $900 million into the Lubbock area economy.

About the 1978 cotton crop, PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson says "It looks now as if we have about as many standing acres as we harvested last year, but the lateness of the crop, generally, and the continued shortage of subsoil moisture make it more than likely that yields will fall well short of those seen last year, and some of our present acreage could still be lost before harvest."

The 25 PCG counties in 1977, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, harvested an average of 424 pounds of lint per acre from 3,638,800 acres.

On price prospects for this year's harvest, Johnson notes that strong cotton exports coupled with doubts about the volume of production in the U.S. and other major producing countries this year "have given the market to date considerable underlying strength."

He cautions however that there is no certainty that current prices will hold or rise for the remainder of the year. "Rumors of poor crops in Russia and China could yet prove false and with the right weather the U.S. crop, including that from the High Plains, could also be a surprise."

"Even so, with the overall supply-demand situation, less than ideal crop conditions and the market's recent resistance to downward pressures, we have to be somewhat optimistic about prices this Fall."

Consumers applying for credit are judged by the "three C's" of credit—character, capacity and capital, says a family resource management specialist.

Character represents the borrowers willingness to repay. Capacity is the financial ability to repay. Dr. Carolyn McKinney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, explains.

Capital reflects the overall financial strength to repay as represented by the resources or collateral available to secure the loan, she adds.

Evangelistic Team To Sing At Nazarene Church

The Calvary Crossroads Singers, composed of two teenagers and two adults, will be presenting the July 9, Sunday evening worship service at the First Church of the Nazarene, 9th and Ave. C., at 6:00 p.m.

The group resides in Amarillo, and is spearheaded by Clinton Weaver and Brenda Green. All the members are laymen in their respective Nazarene Churches in Amarillo. They are not licensed or ordained ministers, but rather, very dedicated young people who have felt the urgent need to proclaim the love of Jesus Christ through their singing ministry to the people in West Texas.

On Sunday morning, July 9, the group will be singing at the Church of the Nazarene in Snyder. They then will be returning to their homes and places of business for the coming week, but felt the need to stop over at Muleshoe in order to minister to those interested people in this community.

The group is not a professional singing team which simply sings for a set fee or contract, but rather a band of consecrated young people who have given their talents over to the Lord so that He might use them in the way He sees fit.

Anyone not actively engaged in the work of the Lord is urged to attend. All denominations and faiths are welcome to attend this service and experience what it feels like to have a little "touch of Heaven" come to them.

Two junior level contests will be staged at the same time as senior competition; these younger 4-H members, ages 9-11 and 12-14 will not compete beyond the district level. For them, the event offers experience and leadership development.

Parents, 4-H leaders, and special guests will be on hand for the occasion. The public is invited to the 2 p.m. dress revue.

The Dress Revue Awards Program Objectives are to help young people build self confidence and poise through developing understanding of 'self' in order that the individual may select and make clothing which is becoming and expressive of the personality, skills necessary to plan, select, and construct clothing for different occasions, the ability to select suitable and becoming accessories, and the appreciation of and skill in the use of the decision making process. To provide young people with an opportunity to make and model a garment that is needed in the wardrobe and one that can be worn proudly.

To help young people develop grace, good posture and habits of good grooming.

Mistress of Ceremonies for the revue was Magan Rennels. She was presented with red roses for her presentation. Nelda Hunt narrated the ceremony. She was presented pink carnations. Keva Roming played piano selections for the revue. Sally Lunsford and Delia Shaw signed in guests. Linda Huckabee and Frankie Lunsford served cookies and punch after the show.

Still Around

The sick man had been delirious with fever for days, but now he regained consciousness and became aware of his comfortable bed and the gentle assurance of cool, loving hands. "Where am I?" he asked weakly. "In Heaven?"

"No, dear," said his wife soothingly. "I'm still with you."

Angeley Reunion To Be Held

The Angeley family is meeting this weekend (July 8-9) for its first reunion. The reunion is being held in honor of Mrs. Bonnie Haberer's 80th birthday. Mrs. Haberer is the only surviving child of the seven children of Henry and Henrietta Angeley, who settled in this area in 1917. It will be held at the Pleasant Valley Community Center. The community center building is a Lamb County historical marker. It was a first school house for the area ranchers' children--and its first teacher was Mrs. Virgie (Angeley) Bearden.

Relatives from as far away as California, Washington, West Virginia, and Minnesota are coming for the occasion which is to be celebrated July 8-9. The family will begin to gather at breakfast at 9:30, Saturday morning. They will spend the day at the community center.

An evening meal of fried chicken and the trimmings will be served to the family in the late afternoon. The old black pots used to cook the meal help to perpetuate the ties of the Angeley family members--they belonged to Granddad Henry Angeley, Jarvis Angeley, and E.K. Angeley.

The family will be attending church services with Mrs. Haberer Sunday morning at the First Baptist Church of Earth. Following the church services the family will visit the Earth cemetery, gravesite of Henry and Henrietta Angeley. The reunion will end with the noon meal served at the community center.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Construction is on the boom in Texas.

New building values jumped to $1.2 billion for the first four months of 1978, with more than half of the amount spent for homes.

Values of new construction run 39 percent above the January-April level of last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

A total of 48,779 new dwellings were recorded during the four-month period.

About half were for single-family residences, 47 percent apartment units and three percent for duplexes.

Mercantile buildings and stores accounted for 26.8 percent of the non-residential construction.

Midland had the highest adjusted per capita values of new construction—$557.

Bryan-College Station reported $351; Amarillo $330, Austin $310, Houston $309, and Dallas-Fort Worth $285.

Program Approved

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission approved a $70.5 million program to improve safety and protect investment in 3,766 miles of state-maintained highway facilities.

Five hundred and 66 projects are proposed in 193 of Texas' 254 counties. Work on the program is divided almost equally between state and U.S. numbered highways and farm-to-market roads.

The program includes resurfacing, widening, base repair and strengthening and spot safety improvements.

Grover Out

In a surprise move, Houstonian Henry Grover withdrew as a potential independent candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Grover's withdrawal brought joy to Sen. John Tower's supporters. Democratic candidate Bob Krueger's backers insisted it didn't make all that much difference, but they conceded (conservatively speaking) that Tower's vote total would be at least two percent higher without Grover on the November ballot luring some old friends among conservative voters.

Grover had an initial bad showing in the polls and difficulty raising money for his drive to get 16,500 signatures necessary to earn him official listing as an independent candidate. But he insisted that wasn't really the reason for his decision not to run.

"I just didn't have my heart in it," said Grover. "Congress doesn't have control of the federal government anymore."

Appointments

Judge Charles J. Murray of Fort Worth was named by Gov. Dolph Briscoe as presiding judge of the Eighth Administrative Judicial District. Murray succeeds the late Louis T. Holland of Montague.

Briscoe appointed Jerry Craft of Jacksboro and Willard J. Still of Meridian and reappointed R.E. "Gene" Chambers of Wichita Falls to the board of regents of Midwestern State University.

Col. J.W. "Jim" Robinson of Round Rock has been named commander of the Texas State Guard's Sixth Military Police group at Camp Mabry.

Courts Speak

The Supreme Court held former wives of retired servicemen can't sue to garnish retirement benefits.

In another case, the court stood firm on its May 7 decision that illegal alien children are not entitled to free public education in Texas schools.

In still another, the court found a San Antonio consumer group could not intervene for gas customers in a suit between the city and its gas supplier.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held failure of police officers to identify themselves before they break down doors does not alone make arrests illegal.

The Court of Criminal Appeals also upheld extradition to Tennessee of Margaret S. Medders on larceny charges. Mrs. Medders and her late husband, Ernest, borrowed money and spent millions a decade ago, claiming to be heirs to Spindletop oil wealth.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill determined that bond money held by a sheriff is subject to audit by the county auditor and must be deposited in the county depository along with other county funds.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—A school district cannot limit a homestead tax exemption grant for senior citizens to those whose income is below a particular amount.

—A justice of the peace may not maintain his office in an adjoining precinct.

—A report of accident insurance claims paid to identifiable students is not public information.

—The state constitution does not bar state agencies from entering into conciliation agreements providing back wages to those who assert valid claims of employment discrimination under the civil rights act.

—A city may transfer a street right-of-way to a county without publication of notice and bids.

Short Snorts

A Railroad Commission examiner recommended approval of Continental Oil Company's application to mine for uranium at 29 sites in six South Texas counties.

Texas Energy Advisory Council is soliciting proposals for a lignite utilization demonstration and a ground-water-heat pump heating, ventilating and air conditioning system.

Retired State Supreme Court Justice W. St. John Garwood of Austin is the new treasurer of the Republican Party of Texas.

Gubernatorial nominee John Hill gave his official backing to Billy Goldberg of Austin as state Democratic chairman. The chairman will be named at the party's state September convention.

Texas Research League says effect of a California Proposition 13-type property tax reduction would be severe in Texas, costing local governments at least $400 million.

Professorships

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — New business professorships in two key areas — the starting and managing of small businesses, and real estate — have been established at The University of Texas.

The Lawrence D. Gale Professorship in Small Business Management and Entrepreneurship will support teaching and research activities of a faculty member who will advance understanding of those subjects as being basic to the private enterprise system.

Likewise, the Texas Real Estate Research Center Professorship will support scholarly activities related to real estate and urban land development. UT Austin has a burgeoning undergraduate program in that field and is the only Texas institution offering a Ph.D. concentration in real estate and urban land development.

CREEPFEEDING CALVES—Before creepfeeding calves, cattlemen should look at the profit potential, suggests a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Creepfeeding is generally unprofitable unless forage is short, feed is cheap and calf prices are high. The cost of gain is usually high due to the poor conversion of creepfeed to added calf weight. A producer should figure on 1,000 pounds of feed to put on 100 pounds of gain. With that feed costing $60, the breakeven price for the added 100 pounds of gain would be 60 cents per pound.

Make Plans For Winter's Feed

Cattlemen usually make sure they have a good supply of hay on hand before the winter season sets in. But what about protein supplement?

"While cattlemen are stocking up on hay, they should also be looking for available sources of protein supplement and paying careful attention to seasonal price fluctuations. Then they should stock up when they consider the price to be right," contends Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Smart and early shopping for supplemental feed can mean long-range production savings. Protein sources hit seasonal lows as pastures green up and then show higher prices in the summer and early fall."

Protein supplement is one of the largest out-of-pocket expenses in a cattle operation, notes the specialist. However, it is generally considered necessary for top production.

Cattlemen may select from supplements of various kinds and price ranges, such as 20 percent range cubes, cottonseed meal and cake, alfalfa hay, and whole cottonseed. When making the selection, Boleman advises cattlemen to calculate the cost on a "per unit of protein" basis and to keep in mind storage needs, labor costs and waste factors for their particular situation.

As far as current feed supplies are concerned, Boleman cites USDA figures which show that cottonseed meal is more abundant than last year. Supplies this season should be about 2.5 million tons compared to 1.6 million tons last year. In addition, high quality alfalfa hay appears to be in good supply. These could lead to some good buys, especially if done early.

"Whatever the decision, cattlemen know they will need protein supplement for their herds. By planning ahead, they may be able to avoid higher prices which are sure to be around this fall and winter," says Boleman.

YCC COMES TO TOWN... Last Friday, the 20 youths who are stationed at the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge as Youth Conservation Corps workers, came to Muleshoe to contribute one day of work to the city. They spent the day working mostly in the parks. Here six of the group loaded onto the back of a pickup to work with irrigation pipe in the city park on West Avenue D. City officials expressed their appreciation to the youths for their contribution to the city.

First MS Clinic Held In Lubbock

"A cherished dream became a reality on Tuesday June 6, 1978 when the South Plains Texas Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society held its first clinic for MS patients from 2-4 p.m. at Methodist Hospital under the direction of Dr. William H. Gordon," said Lonnie Hollingsworth, Chairman of the local Multiple Sclerosis Board of Directors.

Lubbock radio station KILL gave this dream substance by donating the proceeds from their Grand Ole Opry this past winter. With the support of the Board of Directors and the guidance of Jay Wischkaemper, (Chairman), Juanita Kingery and David Dea of the Medical Advisory Board, the Clinic began to take shape. Mr. Wischkaemper said, "We will be able to offer our MS patients medical assistance and counseling which will enable them to have a better understanding of their condition. This will help them to cope with the present and perhaps even look forward to the future. An important factor in dealing with the unknown (and the cause and cure for MS are unknown) is that someone else cares and is trying to help. The fact that our Clinic is opening and took many people with a lot of dedication to bring it about, should certainly say that we all care and we are doing something about it."

Dr. William H. Gordon, neurologist at Methodist Hospital, agreed to conduct and direct the MS clinic. Mr. Royce Meyers, head of Physical Therapy, made all the arrangements for time, space and services at the hospital. West Texas Home Health provided a visiting home nurse at the clinic to discuss problems of the chronically bedridden with each MS-er -- a vital part of day-to-day living. Jane Walker, whose husband Captain Thomas J. Walker is the Bio-Environmental Engineer at Reese Air Force Base Hospital, also volunteered her time. Jane has a Masters Degree in Rehabilitation Counseling and had already been working with those who were the first patients at this clinic.

This clinic, like the Multiple Sclerosis Chapter which sponsors it, will serve 134 patients in a 23 county area. It will meet every other month, with the aim of providing the services of a neurologist and home care nurse at the clinic at least once a year for each patient. The next MS clinic is scheduled for August 8, 1978 from 2 to 4 p.m. at Methodist Hospital.

Multiple Sclerosis is a neurological disease affecting the brain and spinal cord. It is not contagious nor is it a mental disease. It has been called the "mysterious crippler of young adults" because it is usually first diagnoses between the ages of 20 and 40.

Technically, the disease attacks the myelin sheathing of the central nervous system, destroying it in patches. The myelin sheath acts much like the insulation around the telephone wires, and when it is destroyed the flow of nerve impulses to and from the brain is interrupted or distorted. The resultant symptoms from this destruction of myelin can be: paralysis, double vision, bladder or bowel problems, loss of balance, loss of coordination, and speech and hearing difficulties, among others.

No two cases of MS are identical, but the general pattern is for periods of active disease (exacerbations), followed by periods of remission during which symptoms improve significantly, and in some cases disappear. Multiple Sclerosis is usually progressive, with a series of unpredictable attacks, each very often causing further disability. Many MS persons are wheelchair bound, and infrequently become totally bedridden.

As yet, there is no cure for multiple sclerosis, and the cause is unknown. In fact, there is no precise diagnostic test to establish its presence. While there are some treatments which are often beneficial in relieving some of the symptoms of MS, there is no specific commonly effective treatment.

An estimated 500,000 Americans suffer from MS and closely related disorders. Because the disease impacts so strongly on the patient's family and income, an estimated 2 million persons, patients and family members, in the country alone are affected by its severe economic, social and psychological effects.

Farm Income Perks Up For This Year

Things are looking up a bit for Texas farmers and ranchers due to improved farm income prospects. "Net realized farm income in Texas may be up some 15 to 20 percent in 1978 from the depressed level in 1977," believes Dr. Carl Anderson, economist in marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This upturn in farm and ranch earnings should help relieve some of the cash flow problems producers were experiencing earlier this year. "Brisk demand and less-than-expected production have substantially boosted prices and potential earnings for livestock producers," notes Anderson. "Also, prospective earnings of crop farmers have improved from the gloomy outlook several months ago. The improvement reflects larger benefits from government programs, deteriorating production prospects because of drought conditions in some areas and too much moisture in others, and strong export demand." According to the economist, farmers and ranchers are benefiting from a marked climb in commodity prices over the past few months. In mid-May the index of prices received by Texas producers was up almost 17 percent from the January level. Meanwhile, the index of prices paid by farmers for commodities and services, interest, taxes and wage rates rose five percent. Meat prices have risen even more, notes Anderson. Since January, the index of prices received for meat animals in Texas has increased by more than a third. With cash receipts from cattle and calf marketings in Texas typically accounting for 70 percent of all sales from livestock and poultry, sales from livestock and livestock products were up almost a fifth in the first three months of this year over the same period last year. "Livestock sales bolster farm earnings substantially since they account for a little more than half of all cash receipts from agriculture in Texas. Higher prices for cattle and calves, hogs, lambs, broilers and mohair along with increased poultry production point to sizeable gains in receipts from most livestock commodities in 1978," believes Anderson. On the other hand, receipts from crop marketings have not kept pace with year-earlier levels, points out the economist. Texas cotton prices in the first five months of this year averaged a fourth less than in the same period of 1977. However, because market prices fell below target prices for some 1977 crops, farmers have received an increase in government payments.

"As far as the remainder of 1978 is concerned, crop developments hinge on the uncertainty of weather and the level of grower participation in the grain reserve and set-aside programs," contends Anderson. "Greater participation in the feedgrain program, together with increased yield risks from dry weather and late plantings would likely bolster prices and receipts because of the implications for reduced production." Production costs are also expected to rise considerably in 1978, adds the economist. Feed costs will probably increase because of slightly higher grain prices and larger purchases. Expenses for purchases livestock will be sharply higher. A case in point is that the average price for calves in Texas during May was 65 percent higher than a year earlier. Other costs such as interest expenses, depreciation, repairs and hired labor will likely continue to increase.

USDA Plans Conservation State Meet

A public meeting will be held in Austin on July 10 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service to solicit public comments on the Rural Clean Water Program, according to George C. Marks, State conservationist for SCS in Texas.

The Rural Clean Water Program, authorized by the Clean Water Act of 1977, provides assistance to farmers and ranchers in establishing soil and water management practices to control pollution. Written or oral statements on the program's proposed regulations and the draft environmental impact statement may be presented between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. in Conference Room 2.104, Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs (LBJ Library Complex), 2313 Red River, Austin, Texas.

For further information about the meeting, write Soil Conservation Service, Box 2890, Room 5119-3, Washington, D.C. 20013, telephone number (202) 477-2771.
