FHA Releases Amount Funds Spent In '70

The rural economy of Bailey County is stronger because loans from the Farmers Home Administration have helped 112 farmers finance real estate or operating expenses, John C. Kennedy, county supervisor of Farmers Home Administration said Monday.

These loan programs, supervised by the rural credit arm of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be repaid, with interest, continued Kennedy.

The farmer programs are one part of a three-point attack on rural problems by the FHA. The other two, also operating in Bailey County, include loans for home ownership and for water and sewer systems.

During the past year, 20 families here have secured loans that will enable them to move into better housing, continued the local FHA supervisor.

He said the agency's wide range of services added a record $1,883,676 to resources available for housing, farming, and farm ownership in this county last year, as compared to $1,498,890 loaned the previous year. At year's end, FHA was providing direct benefits to 207 families in the county.

Farmers Home Administration loan services are extended through a statewide system of local county offices, usually located in the county seat towns, continued Kennedy, and housing loans are made for homes in the rural countryside and rural towns of not more than 10,000 population. Community facility projects may serve rural towns of not more than 5,500.

Farmers Home Administration loan services are carried on in Bailey County through the agency's office at 115 E. Avenue D, Muleshoe. Housing loans may be made for homes in the rural countryside, and in all towns of the county, concluded Kennedy. Community facility projects may include service to rural towns of not more than 5,500 population.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems unalarmed over the new Amendment to the Constitution.

Dear Editor: As everybody knows, the U. S. Constitution now says 18-year-olds can vote in any election in the country and newspaper columnists have been working hard predicting what the results will be.

One columnist, pointing out that most Presidential elections for example are won by very small majorities, sometimes by less than a million votes, says the 21 million new young voters could swing the balance any way they choose.

Another said the youngsters who, he claimed, aren't very interested in material things, will have a widespread effect in sweeping out the old-line politicians and established institutions and heading this country in a new direction. "They have the balance of power and can turn this country around," he said.

I don't know about such things, 18-year-olds may not be any more effective in changing things than women did when they got the vote, but if they all do unite and come out swinging and vote as a bloc and turn this country around, my advice to them is to keep quiet about it. Don't take too much credit for it out loud.

I mean, ten or fifteen years after they reorganize the country and look up from their job of trying to raise a family and pay their taxes and discover there's a new crop of 18-year-olds telling them they've made a botch of things and it's time to turn the country around again, it's going to be embarrassing if they can't put the blame on the generation ahead of them, which means you and me.

If they're smart, they'll just turn the country around and not say anything about it. If they let it get in the newspapers, and 15 years from now the new crop digs through the back issues and puts the responsibility on them for the mess the country may be in, they'll wish they'd thought up some way to classify the papers as Top Secret. They need to be in a position to say "We didn't make this mess, we inherited it." Most of the time, when a country is turned around, most people wind up with the same problems they had before, but nobody expects 18-year-olds to know that.

By the way, speaking of Classified Top Secrets, how did Attorney General Mitchell think he could suppress a whole string of newspapers when he's got his hands full trying to suppress Martha?

Yours faithfully, J. A.

MRS. DANNY LYNN KELLEY nee Miss Rickie Dawn Richardson

Miss Richardson, Kelley Are United

Miss Rickie Dawn Richardson and Danny Lynn Kelley were united in marriage Saturday June 26 at 8 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church, Rev. J.D. Brown of Muleshoe Baptist Church officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Shirlee Richardson of Muleshoe, Jack Richardson of Pinedale, Wyoming and Mr. and Mrs. John Kelley of Bowie.

The candlelight ceremony was performed before an altar arrangement of yellow and white daisies accented by two 12 branch candleabras. In each window of the sanctuary was a candle surrounded by greenery. A large white memory candle was lighted by the couple to symbolize their lasting love and unity.

Pre-wedding music was furnished by Mrs. Smitty Aylesworth pianist and Marshall Cook organist, who accompanied Mrs. J. D. Brown who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt. Background music was "Theme from Love Story" and theme from "Romeo and Juliet".

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather L. E. Evans, wore a gown of white silken organza and appliques in peau d' ange lace. The high rise bodice featured a wedding band neck edged in french lace. The french lace formed a framed effect at the neck and tiny organza buttons dropped from the collar. Beaded pearl appliques of peau d' ange lace accented the bodice and were sprinkled around the skirt and train of the gown. Full blown bishop sleeves repeated the lace and pearl applique and were gathered to wide organza cuffs ringed in rows of french lace. A double row of french lace encircled the hemline and the chapel length train. The bride's veil of silk illusion, was gathered up at the crown by a cluster of peau d' ange lace and seed pearls which flowed down to an elbow length. The bridal bouquet was a cascading arrangement of white daisies and mums atop a white Bible.

For something new the bride chose a diamond watch, gift from the groom. For something blue she wore the traditional blue garter, for something old she carried the Bible which was a gift from her mother when she was a child. Something borrowed was a set of diamond earrings, belonging to Miss Vanda Spurgeon. The bride wore pennies in her shoes minted in the dates of their births.

At the altar, the bride gave her grandfather a kiss to symbolize her love for him. As the bride and groom descended the altar the bride gave her mother a kiss.

Miss Gloria Stephens, of Springlake, cousin of the bride was maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronnie Barrett, Miss Vanda Spurgeon and Miss Susan Wood all of Muleshoe.

The attendants were attired in identical floor length dresses of yellow dotted swiss, with long puff sleeves which were accented with a row of daisies around the bottom of the dress. Each wore nylon wide brim picture hats of yellow, made by the bride's aunt Mrs. Milton Sharp of Burlington, Colo. Each carried a cluster of long stem yellow daisies.

Miss Tammy Evans of Clifton, Arizona and Miss Laurel Gilliland of Muleshoe, cousins of the bride served as flowergirls. They wore dresses and hats fashioned after the bridesmaids. Andrea Gilliland, cousin of the bride and Ronnie Thomas of Earth were ring bearers.

Harley Galloway of Earth was best man. Groomsman were James Thomas of Earth, Brian Dell Vining of Wink and Ronnie Barrett of Muleshoe. Ushers were Robin Richardson, brother of the bride, Randy Williams of Muleshoe, Larry Thomas of Earth and Donnie Galloway of Earth.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of yellow crepe with a skirt of yellow chiffon accented with yellow accessories. The groom's close friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas of Earth, replaced his parents who were unable to attend. Mrs. Thomas wore a yellow knit dress with the accessories to match. They wore yellow daisy corsages matching their costumes.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. A white net cloth covered the crucifix shaped table. A sterling silver five branch miniature candleabra encircled with the bride's and bridesmaids bouquets were

Mrs. Richard Engelking

A surprise shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Andy Rogers was held at the Church of Christ of which Rogers is the minister. The occasion was really a baby shower in honor of Mrs. Rogers but it was indeed a family affair with the men doing lots of the work. Bales of hay were scattered through the fellowship hall on which the gifts were displayed, red, checked table cloths adorned the serving area and a wooden bucket punch bowl (at which Demp Foster presided!), and a horse and wagon with a baby doll inside served as a centerpiece to complete the western decorating theme.

Hostess gifts of a gown and robe were presented to Mrs. Rogers, Hot Wheel set to son Andy Jr. and daughter Jana, a doll, and to Dad Andy, a horse blanket and we understand, it took quite a bit of 'doings' to get him off that horse without suspecting the surprise event.

Hostesses for the occasion were: J. W. and Letha Gammon, Raymond and Tommie McGehee, Demp and Anita Foster, Don and Carolyn Kimbell, Wayne and Patsene Clark, Max and Shirley Steinbock, Jay and Anna Marie McDonald, Billy and Zelma Thorn and Jimmy and Jimmie Frank Briggs.

Congratulations to Mrs. Jack Smith for her $75 prize winnings for first place in water media in the July fourth art show held in Muleshoe. That was a nice picture of Lillian in Sunday's art section of the Lubbock A-J.

Steve Foster spent last weekend in Austin visiting a friend, Miss Kathy Fisher and her parents, the T. L. Fishers.

Mrs. Loma Gustin has been enjoying the company of her grandchildren, Ronnie's two daughters have spent the past two weeks and now visiting are Leland's son and daughter.

Last week they visited some at the ranch at DeKalb with Loma's sister Cora Belle and Joe Bates Jennings and their son Derrell and Glenda Jennings. Loma reports their son, Darren Jennings, who you will remember has been very ill is now doing real good, his temperature has subsided and he is enjoying riding his horse once again.

Mrs. Rheiney Steinbock has returned home from a three week visit in Eugene, Oregon with her mother, Mrs. Opal Bewley who is very ill.

The teenage class of the Church of Christ journeyed to Palo Duro Canyon Tuesday night to see Paul Green's production of "Texas".

They stopped to eat at "The Only Place" in Canyon. Those enjoying the trip were class members: Tracy Mimms, Danny Clark, Susan and Karen Mimms, Renee Moseley, Evelyn Darling, Loy Dale Clark, Arelia Moseley, Clay Mimms, Cindy and Mark Gammon, Johanna, Sherri and Garvin Thorn, Sarah Gammon and Jeanne McGehee.

Guests were, Jeff McGee, Ricky Martin, and Jimmy Mills. Others present included: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clark, Mrs. Irma Templar, Terri Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Billy John Thorn, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McGehee.

Lazbuddie Longhorns Major League baseball team closed the season Friday night tied for third place. In appreciation for their coaches hard work, they gave Scotty Windham and Elvis Powell windbreaker jackets and a card which each team member signed in their own artistic manner. Mothers served ice cream and cake at the ball park after their last game.

All star players selected from this team were Kent Winders, Ronnie Powell and Mike Mimms.

Selected to play in the all-star Babe Ruth tourney in Plainview July 19 is Donnie McDonald and for the 13 year old Babe Ruth team is Jimmie Robinson and Davey Engelking.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Isham were visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Engelking. The Ishams live in Plains and were returning from a Colorado vacation.

Market Report

COLLEGE STATION--Follow these marketing tips this week to make the most of your food dollar, suggests Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Plan on serving salads this week as supplies of green peppers, tomatoes, celery, and cucumbers increase. Green onions, head lettuce and radishes also continue in good supply.

Other vegetables that rate consideration include eggplant, cabbage, potatoes, green beans, yellow onions, okra and purple hull and blackeye peas. Also include corn-on-the-cob in your menus, as supplies of both white and yellow corn are large.

Fresh fruit supplies, including apricots, peaches, seedless grapes, pineapples, nectarines, cherries and plums, are increasing. Cantaloupes are still in good supply with moderate prices. Watermelon supplies are a bit short, so prices remain higher than usual for this time of year. Summer apples are making their appearance, but expect high prices, Mrs. Clyatt says.

In canned goods, look for specials on salmon, especially red salmon. Supply of red salmon is good because of the large catch last year.

Bread specials are featured in many stores, but make sure you can use the bread quickly or can freeze it promptly. Bread keeps freshest at room temperature, but hot humid weather can cause mold growth in one to two days. Storing bread in refrigerator retards the mold growth, but hastens staling. Freezing does not freshen bread but will keep it at the same level of freshness as when frozen.

In most retail meat departments, fryers continue to take the spotlight as the biggest bargain. Many markets are featuring them this weekend. Plentiful supplies of eggs are available at prices everyone can afford. Grade A large and medium eggs are both in good supply and about equal in value.

Retail beef prices are about the same as prices a week ago. Since this is the steak season, look for better beef values on round steaks and roasts, short ribs, ground beef and chuck roasts and steaks.

Pork prices are holding steady at the same level of the past few weeks. Best pork values include hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chons.

the remainder of the summer there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Engelking returned Tuesday from a three week vacation in Arkansas and Oklahoma visiting her two sisters in Rogers, Arkansas and Ike's brother in Newkirk, Oklahoma.

Congressman Bob Price

OBSCENITY LEGISLATION The House adopted legislation last week to prohibit individuals or organizations from using the mails to promote or sell pornographic materials to minors. Although I supported this bill, which would prohibit mailing pornographic materials to a minor's residence unless the material were completely wrapped, sealed and addressed to a person at the residence who is not a minor, much better legislation could have been passed.

What Congress must do, if it really wants to establish effective controls on the smut trade and put the pornographic peddlers out of business, is to adopt a bill such as I have introduced and was passed by the House in the last Congress. My bill would close off interstate facilities, including the mails, to the transmission of salacious advertising, or advertising that would appeal to the lower instincts. The homes of our nation should be freed from the mounting reams of filth being peddled by the smut industry.

DESALINATION Legislation which could prove to be very important to our area was also passed by the House last week by a unanimous vote.

The Saline Water Conversion Act of 1952, which was scheduled to expire next year, has been extended until 1977. The purpose of the project is to develop a low cost method of desalting water. The program thus far has resulted in reducing the cost of desalting water from about $4 per 1,000 gallons to 65 cents per 1,000 gallons.

Industrial and residential water is furnished in Key West and Sesta Key, Florida; Coalina, California; Buckeye, Arizona; and our naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba by means of desalting plants developed as a result of the Saline Water Conversion Act.

I am hopeful that technology advancements during the five year renewal period will make it economically feasible to desalt water for irrigation purposes.

EXPORT-IMPORT BANK The Export-Import Bank, which helps finance the sale of goods to foreign countries by businesses in this country, will be given new tools to help increase American exports as a result of a bill adopted by the House last week.

I was pleased that an amendment was added to the bill during floor debate which continues to prohibit the bank from financing trade with Communist countries and trade with nations engaged in armed conflict with the United States.

The continued activity of this bank is essential if this nation is to maintain a favorable position in world trade. However, I am opposed to using American money to finance exports to Communist countries at a time when our young men are fighting and dying in a war pursued by the Communists in Southeast Asia.

Cotton Producers Facing Decision

Some High Plains farmers, with no real hope for producing anything like a normal cotton crop because of extremely poor stands, are faced with a critical decision between now and the August 1 deadline for "certifying" acreage to the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

They have two choices. They can apply to county ASCS offices for "failed acreage" credit and leave the cotton, or they can plow up the cotton, or they can leave the cotton and harvest whatever crop it may produce.

According to Donnell Echols of Lamesa, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., there are at least three factors that should be taken into consideration before the decision is made, including (1) market price prospects, (2) possible effect on future payment yields and (3) the need for maximum production across the cotton belt to meet market demands.

"And it appears to me that when all three factors are considered the odds are in favor of leaving the cotton for harvest if there is a chance for even a very low yield," Echols said. "The supply-demand situation, current spot market prices and the futures market all point to a strong demand for all qualities of 1971-crop cotton," he continued, "and with higher market prices it will be to our advantage to harvest every acre we can."

As the regulations now read, the effect on future payment yields where sub-normal crops are harvested would be no different from the effect of cotton acreage declared a total failure. In both cases the county ASCS committee is authorized to use up to 80 percent of the farm's 1971 payment yield in calculating payment yields for 1972 and 1973. However in 1969 farmers who harvested a "piece of a crop" were given the 80 percent adjustment while farmers with failed acreage were allowed to substitute 100 percent of their previous three year average yields. And this is the cause of farmer concern this year.

Echols has investigated the matter and does not believe there is any likelihood this 1969 ruling will be revived. He quoted ASCS Administrator Kenneth Frick as saying "We can't give you an ironclad guarantee of anything, but as of now we can see no reason why one situation should be treated any different from the other, and I can assure you I'll be doing everything I can to see that the man who makes an honest effort to produce a crop just as much weather adjustment as anyone else."

to produce every bale of cotton possible from the 12.3 million acres planted across the belt." Texas Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen have a rare opportunity to show their support for Texas agriculture over the next couple of weeks. During that time the Senate will be considering the Agricultural Appropriations Bill sent to them by the House with a $20,000 per crop limitation on cotton, feed grain and wheat payments to producers.

Unless Senators Tower and Bentsen and others in the Senate can be prevailed upon to remove the limitation, all hope is lost. The present limitation is at $55,000 per crop, written into the Agriculture Act of 1970. Senator Tower has issued a public statement deploring the lower limit, saying it would be a breach of faith with American farmers and a catastrophe for agriculture. He deserves a round of applause for that statement. And it is hoped he can impose that view on enough of his fellow senators to carry the day when the vote is taken. Senator Bentsen has made no public statement, but privately has said he will vote against the lower limitation. Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has pointed out that defeating the limitation amendment on the floor of the Senate will not be the end of the battle. The measure will still have to go through a House-Senate Conference Committee, and the Conference Committee's report will still have to be approved by both bodies.

impose that view on enough of his fellow senators to carry the day when the vote is taken. Senator Bentsen has made no public statement, but privately has said he will vote against the lower limitation.

Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has pointed out that defeating the limitation amendment on the floor of the Senate will not be the end of the battle. The measure will still have to go through a House-Senate Conference Committee, and the Conference Committee's report will still have to be approved by both bodies.

'72 Politics Begin To Shape Up Early

AUSTIN, Tex.--The 1972 political campaigns already are beginning to shape up -- 11 months before primary election dates.

William P. Hobby, president and executive editor of the Houston Post, is the first announced candidate for lieutenant governor. State Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall is expected to enter the race soon.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes is seeking advice of supporters on how he should run his race for governor. Barnes announced last month he will be a candidate, and has been busy traveling most of the time since.

Uvalde rancher-banker Dolph Briscoe moved quietly ahead with plans for a gubernatorial campaign event (a youth rally) scheduled for Uvalde July 23-24.

Gov. Preston Smith keeps hinting he may seek a third term, and a lot of folks are convinced he means it.

Former Sen. Ralph Yarborough says frankly he is considering running either for governor or the U. S. Senate. Republican Sen. John Tower has no hope of escaping Democratic opposition in a re-election campaign. Others mentioned as possible Democratic opponents for Tower include Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, State Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso and Houston attorney John L. Hill.

Top Democrats cite the need for a strong united party effort, particularly for the November presidential campaign, convention nominations battles and the U. S. Senate race. That's why they are keeping a close eye on naming a successor to State Democratic Chairman Dr. Elmer C. Baum of Austin.

Baum denied a published report he already had resigned but didn't rule out the possibility he may step aside soon. Two aides to the Governor have been working on selection of a replacement chairman.

COURTS SPEAK--Texas Supreme Court overturned a lower court decision that a Tarrant County charitable institution (YMCA) is not liable for damages to a boy who lost an eye in a camp accident, and ordered a new trial.

In other recent actions, the High Court: * Directed Austin trial court not to issue any more orders to prevent service by the new Southwest Airlines between San Antonio, Houston and Dallas.

* Held Fort Worth and Waco prosecutors must go ahead with pending cases involving Sunday closing laws before they file any more injunction suits.

* Sent back to intermediate court for further consideration a Zabala County widow's suit against a butane gas supplier as the result of the accidental death of her husband in an explosion and fire.

Humble Oil and Refining Company's appeal from lower court findings that it must pay to the state $92,788 in taxes on oil taken from lease on Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, federal property.

* Set a July 21 hearing in a case involving whether corporations can claim exemption from the penalty provision of state security sale laws. Two Lubbock men brought the case.

* Held Exchange Bank and Trust Company of Dallas must pay to a construction concern $25,725 on forged company checks which it cashed by mistake.

Smith named Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., of Lubbock, chief justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont. Appointment removed Dies from speculation as a possible candidate for U. S. senator, lieutenant governor or congressman.

Smith appointed former State Rep. Jack Ray McLaughlin of Fort Worth as commissioner of labor statistics, succeeding Tommy V. Smith.

Other Smith appointees during the past week include Bowie County - Criminal District Attorney Guy E. Jones of Texarkana as judge of the new 202nd district court; N. L. Cooksey of Texarkana as criminal district attorney succeeding Jones in Bowie County; Bell County Court-at-Law Judge Donald L. Busby of Belton as 146th district judge; Dr. William Kenneth Thurmond of Fort Worth and Dr. Charles Max Cole of Dallas (re-appointed) to State Board of Health.

Curtis C. Gunn of San Antonio and Jack C. McKenzie of Corpus Christi are chairman and vice-chairman of the new Texas Vehicle Commission to police auto dealers. Other members are H. G. Andrews Jr., of Stamford, Dick McClain of Houston Fenner Tubbs Sr. of Lubbock and W. O. Bankston of Dallas. Richard Keahey, native of San Angelo, was appointed executive director of Texas Veterans Land Program succeeding W. W. Glass who held the job eight years.

Jack Banner of Wichita Falls Robert L. Templeton of Amarillo and Morgan K. Talbot of McAllen are chairman, vice-chairman and secretary of Texas Bar Foundation. BANK DEPOSITS, INTEREST UP--A recent statewide survey showed bank deposits steadily increasing -- some to record levels at mid-year.

Mid-year records are considered unusual, and the boom is regarded as proof of the basic economic strength in spite of drought, unemployment and other problems.

At the same time, major Texas banks went along with eastern institutions and raised prime interest rates. Increase was from 5.5 percent to six percent from prime loans to quality borrowers.

Eastern banks also raised interest rates on time accounts which may attract even more deposits in savings accounts in the next quarter of 1971. SAFETY PROGRAM STEPPED UP--Governor Smith approved three Texas Alcohol Safety Action projects designed to control abusive drinker-drivers, regarded as the number one traffic safety menace in Texas.

Applications went to National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for federal funding approval.

Projects are in Harris County ($311,200); Dallas ($239,300) and Central Texas (Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam, and Mills counties, $300,700).

Aim is to identify problem drinker-drivers, apply a variety of possible solutions and evaluate results as to the overall effectiveness.

GAME FISH RULES CHANGED Ten county commissioners courts have voted to amend 1971-72 game and fish regulations proposed by Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Legislature this year authorized five more counties to reject proclamations passed by PWC. Similar authority had been given 18 counties, subject to vote of commissioners courts.

Ten counties which disapproved portions of proclamations are Edwards, Dimmit, Hays, Kendall, Kimble, Medina, Real, Robertson, Sutton and Uvalde, Bandera, Coke, Crockett, Frio, Kerr, Kinney, Lampasas, Menard, Reagan, San Saba, Schleicher, Val Verde and Zavala counties approved laws as submitted.

BANKING BOARD TO MEET--State Banking Board scheduled a Thursday (July 15) meeting to consider dates for hearings on 56 new state bank charter applications.

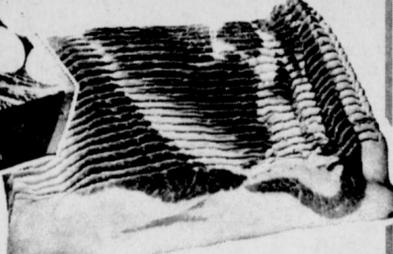

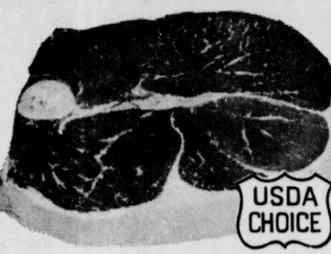

Board also will consider new rules and regulations in accord with recent legislation, charter applications which may be ready for vote, and requests by banks for changes in business locations. Meeting will be the first since Dr. Elmer Baum resigned last May. James Lindsey of College Station was named to the Board to succeed Baum.

SHORT SNORTS Air Force planes began spraying last week to halt the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis, a mosquito-spread disease.

Texas received one of eight major grants in the nation ($370,122) for an area-wide model project on aging, to be located in Houston.

Texas disabled veterans will receive free 1972 auto license plates under a new program.

Agriculture Report Given By Tower

There are many activities at the federal level which directly affect agricultural interests in Texas, and I would like to devote this week's report to some of those which are vitally important to Texas farmers and ranchers.

Agriculture and associated industries play a large and significant role in our statewide economy and matters concerning farmers and ranchers either directly or indirectly affect us all.

I noted that the Agriculture Department's July 1 report on farm and ranch activity showed Texas has some 1.6 million head of livestock in feeder lots. The Texas figure was the second largest in the nation and represents a 30 percent increase compared with one year ago. I am hopeful that most of this increase is due to real agricultural growth in our state. Yet, some of this growth must be attributed to persistent drought conditions in Texas which are forcing ranchers to sell livestock at an accelerated rate.

The federal government must continue to render the drought assistance which is necessary to maintain the viability of the Texas agriculture industry. Much has been done. Yet, I still feel that more assistance is needed.

During the first two days of this month, Agriculture Undersecretary J. Phil Campbell made a tour of the Texas drought area, talking with farmers, ranchers, bankers, agriculture editors and others in 10 cities and small towns from Amarillo to San Antonio. Although less publicized, I view this tour as equal in importance to the April 21st tour of Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin. It was Campbell's assignment to gauge the effectiveness of the federal assistance which has already been made available, and to discover additional specific assistance which might still be necessary.

As a result of federal interest in the drought, Texas farmers and ranchers are now eligible for Farmers Home Administration emergency loans in 235 counties, hay transportation and emergency livestock feed in 166 counties, emergency conservation assistance in 90 counties, and hay and grazing privileges on set-aside acreages in 157 counties. In addition, the USDA no longer requires farmers and ranchers seeking emergency assistance to file the cumbersome financial statement required earlier.

I continue to believe more assistance should be made available. I have urged the Department to allow a 50 percent diversion on non-irrigated farmland with the same rate of payment as in the 1970 program in drought-designated counties, and to encourage the production of forage on cotton acreages with no payment reduction where the crop has been destroyed by natural hazards. These steps would provide additional benefit to drought-stricken farmers and ranchers.

I have also introduced legislation which would establish a student loan program to insure that rural youth are not denied higher education due simply to family economic hardship as a result of drought or other natural disaster. The plight of students from farm families and rural communities suffering economic hardship due to the drought has thus far been overlooked. A young man or young woman, already accepted at a college or university, but who suddenly finds that the drought has taken away educational funding, fully merits an education loan.

Although not directly related to the drought, I was encouraged this week to learn that the Farmers Home Administration is now able to participate with local banks in farm loans to customers who are in need of additional operating funds. Cooperation between the federal government and local banks is required, in my opinion, to provide the financial help necessary to enable a qualified farmer or rancher to deal with today's financial difficulties.

In the Congress, the Agricultural industry is threatened by an effort to further reduce the ceiling on farm payments. The 1970 Agriculture Act carried a $55,000 annual limitation and it constituted a commitment to the farmer that such a ceiling could be depended upon for three full years. Further reduction now would break that commitment and I shall oppose any effort to reduce the ceiling on farm payments in this Congress.

There are several other matters before the Congress of vital interest to Texas farmers and ranchers. Among these are farm credit proposals and additional funding for rural electrification. There is much discussion on these and other Agricultural matters. I am carefully considering these issues in an effort to determine how best to serve Texas interests.

It is important that we realize the vital role played by agriculture in our daily lives. We cannot afford to give the farmer and rancher in Texas short shrift.

Farmers Urged 'Up' Cotton Production

West Texas farmers were urged to achieve maximum cotton production for the 1971 season to prevent a possible shortage in carry-over at a meeting in Lubbock, July 8.

State and national agricultural officials told an audience of producers, educators and industry representatives that the predicted carry-over as of the first of August will be a mere 4.25 million bales; barely enough to meet current consumption requirements before the 1971 harvest is completed in the Cotton Belt of the South and Southwest.

The meeting was directed by Dr. John E. Hutchinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Donnell Echols, president of the Plains Cotton Growers Inc. and chairman of the South Plains Economic Development program. Both men have been appointed to a national task force committee in a concentrated effort to stave off a cotton shortage that could prove disastrous to the industry.

"For the past five years, more cotton has been sold than produced; and there are indications that there will be a minimum of carry-over this year," warned Dr. Hutchinson. He added that factors such as the current drought and reduced planting can result in a cotton shortage, which will in turn force textile mills to increase their use of synthetic fibers and further injure the present cotton markets.

Echols pointed out the danger of further limitations of federal subsidy payments to the cotton industry.

"It is impossible to separate ourselves from the possibility of crop payment limitations," he warned in reference to efforts in Congress to reduce the maximum payment to $20,000 per crop from the current $55,000; which is half the figure of recent years. He further pointed out that lending institutions will be reluctant to make large loans in the face of smaller guarantees in the form of reduced payments.

Dabney Welford of the National Cotton Council said that the estimated 4.25 million bale carry-over is the lowest since 1952; and that much of it is low-quality cotton. He explained the recent rise in cotton prices by reporting that last winter, buyers thought the 1971 crop would meet their needs; but the adverse spring weather changed their minds and the price has climbed steadily since then.

On the regional scene, Dr. Robert Metzger, area Extension agronomist at Lubbock, said there is nothing really new for producers to do the rest of the 1971 season, but that certain problem areas can be emphasized. These include close attention to timing of irrigation and cut-off date.

This was expanded by others to include side-dress fertilization in certain instances and perhaps a longer irrigation season, especially on the later end," warned Dr. Levon Ray, cotton researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock. But he added that extra water to replace subsoil moisture might be beneficial on very young cotton that was planted the last of June.

He said that in addition to proper irrigation, producers should take two more steps to help insure maximum yields; a close watch on the insect situation and careful cultivation to prevent loss of valuable cotton at harvest time.

C of C Manager Gets Release

Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce Manager Jerry Hutton has received a publication from the Alvin (Tex.) Chamber of Commerce concerning a missing 13 year old girl from that community. She is Colette Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. O. Wilson.

According to the release Colette Anise Wilson disappeared on June 17 at 12:30 p.m. at State Highway 6 and County Road 99, West of Alvin.

She had been to band practice and was carrying a clarinet in a black case, serial No. 63982, and sheet music.

Her mother reported she saw a old model black vehicle leaving the area where she normally picked up her daughter. Mrs. Wilson told officials that a white male was driving the vehicle and a dark headed female was in the back seat, but she was not able to determine whether or not it was her young daughter.

When she disappeared, Colette was wearing a white tee shirt with a Mickey Mouse face on front, purple shorts, brown chuca boots. She was also wearing a gold ring, small pearl ear studs and carrying a "rough-out" leather squaw purse with beads and fringe.

A $10,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the supposed abduction. Officers fear foul play is involved in her disappearance.

Any information should be reported to Criminal Investigation Division, Chief J. R. Jones, at Brazoria County Sheriff's Department, P. O. Box 579, Angleton, Texas 77515, or phone (713)849-7504 or (713)849-8646.

Hutton's information was that Dr. Wilson is active in the Alvin Chamber of Commerce and formerly served as a director of the Alvin C of C.

High Plains Starts Amino Acid Study

A three year study of the effects of various cultural practices on the amino acid composition of High Plains grain sorghum has been initiated at the High Plains Research Foundation. The test is being conducted by Joe Wright and Jim Schrib, Agronomists, at the High Plains Research Foundation in cooperation with Texas Tech University and Phillips Petroleum Company.

In the study, eighteen fertilizer levels, two irrigation programs, two row spacings and two rates of propazine will be investigated as to their effects upon the amino acid content of grain sorghum grown in this area.

The eighteen different fertilizer methods will be composed of different combinations of three rates of nitrogen applied preplant and sidedress and two rates of sulfur applied preplant.

The different fertilizer levels will be observed under both limited and optimum irrigation methods, under both single and double row spacings on 40-inch spaced beds, and under 1 1/2 pound and 3 pound per acre rates of propazine.

Wright said that although the primary aim is to study the affect of cultural practices on the amino acid content in grain sorghum, a secondary benefit will be determining cultural influences on yields.
