

CONGRESS OPENED.

Merely a Matter of Routine in the Senate—Reed is in the Chair. Washington, Dec. 2.—The last democratic swan song was sung in the house to-day, when the clerk of the last house called the roll of members and the chaplain of the last house called down divine blessings on the heads of everybody, including Mr. Cleveland, which may not have been at all pleasant to the ears of many silver democrats.

By 10 o'clock in the morning the corridors of the capitol were jammed by the people who had come to see the proceedings. The same people, barring the hundreds of individuals who want offices under the new regime, come to every congress to see the same routine business gone through.

A jam was expected in the house galleries, so the precaution was taken of limiting the number of those who should enter the galleries to those who bore cards from the congressmen. No door to the chamber was opened to any man or woman who did not bear one of these evidences of the friendship or relationship of a congressman.

The result of this was that in the galleries there was a totally different crowd to that which generally assembles there when republicans take possession of the business. One-third of the population is colored. The interest of Washington colored people in a republican congress is intense, and the result has heretofore been that they usually fill about half, if not more, of the seats in the galleries, but on this occasion they were absent. Though the membership of the house is over two-thirds republican and though very many of this two-thirds secured their election by the vote of the colored man, they forgot him on this occasion, when he wanted to be in the galleries and see the fruits of his work at the polls.

His absence was commented on on all sides and made the minds revert to the republican caucus last night, when one of the most eminent colored divines here was a candidate for chaplain and got only two votes, though he was backed up for the place by every colored minister and every colored church in Washington.

Though the colored people could not get in the galleries, they were in the corridors in great force. They did not like the ostracism shown by the leaders of their party but they could not help themselves so they grimly went away after a time, vowing things under their breath, all of which they will forget.

The work of nominating the candidates for speaker—which was done by resolutions to the effect that Reed should be speaker and by a substitute that Crisp should be speaker, and by another, which raised a general laugh, that Bell, the populist from Colorado, should be speaker—was very short.

Crain of Texas created a sensation by refusing to vote for Crisp. When his name was called he voted for David B. Culberson of Texas for speaker. Every one turned to look at him as he made this announcement and the monotonous roll call proceeded.

When it was over Reed was elected, and a committee, composed of Crisp, Grosvenor and Bell, the populist, was sent out to rope and bring him in, and when he came in the door the republicans arose, and in all his life he never received such applause.

Though the man has perfect control of himself, he this time turned pale and looked disturbed. When he took his place in the speaker's stand he had recovered himself, and commenced his speech in that long, peculiar drawl that he alone of all men I have ever seen possess. His speech was moderate and conservative. It was therefore different from any he has ever made before. But as conservative as it is, the coaching, placid and almost pleading way in which he delivered it made it to those who heard it a model of gentleness and peace on earth and good will to man affair. It was short, and when it was done the republicans again testified to their admiration for him by making blisters on their hands in applause. It ceased, too, as all things cease, and then on heard the old familiar whang of his voice calling for order as it did for the first time just six years ago.

In his speech he did not deny that he was pleased with his election. In his deportment when he touched the gavel again after so long a time there was the accentuation of his pleasure. He seemed to feel that he had the reins in his hands again, and as I looked at him I listened to hear him cluck and say "Gee up, there."

The democrats acted sensibly in not having the roll call on the other officers. The combine's men went in on a resolution, and all that part of the business was finished in a jiffy.

A Sad Bereavement. Our little city was grieved and shocked on Sunday afternoon last by the sad and, at the time, incredible announcement that Mrs. Mary Earp was dead. She was on a visit to her parents, Col. D. A. Nunn and Mrs. Nunn, and had been in the city but a few days. Though her health had not been vigorous for some time, she felt, on rising Sunday, better than usual. Dr. and Mrs. Earp, as also Col. Nunn's family, were preparing for church. After a bath about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Earp complained of being sick and lay down. About noon Dr. J. L. Lipscomb was summoned, and, on arriving, found her quite sick. She grew worse and, later, Dr. W. C. Lipscomb was called in. Strong stimulants were administered and every thing done which the tender solicitude of husband and relatives could suggest or medical skill could apply, but all in vain. Her vital powers were fast ebbing away and the fatal moment approaching. She sunk into a condition of unconsciousness, and about 3.30, p. m. died.

This affliction, so unexpected and crushing, prostrated the family. Friends with words of comfort, which have never yet comforted the stricken heart, thronged the house till midnight. Monday witnessed no diminution in the stream of friends bent on the merciful mission of condolence and love. On all sides, not alone within the precincts of the family's home, but on the streets and by the firesides of other families, were heard only expressions of deep and poignant grief, attesting the sincere and universal love in which the deceased young lady was held.

Religious services were held at the residence of the family on Tuesday, at 11. a. m. conducted by Rev. J. S. Mathis, of the Methodist church. A very large crowd was present at these services, and almost the entire city followed to the cemetery when the remains of the deceased were laid to rest, on a day sadly commemorating her happy union in wedlock just five months previous, with her devoted husband. Next week's COURIER will contain an obituary.

Another Sad Death. (Communicated.) Edward C. Ellis, third son of J. B. Ellis, died at the home of his father, last Tuesday, the 3rd inst, from lung trouble, in the nineteenth year of his age. Though not unexpected, his death was a sad one, indeed. He was born in this county, near Crockett, on the 20th day of March, 1877, and in early childhood his parents moved to Crockett where he was reared.

Ed. was one of the most companionable of young men, and because of his cheerful disposition and excellent social qualities, he had drawn to himself a host of admiring friends who will regret to learn of his death. Even those who were not intimate with him, could see in his make up qualities which were the stamp of true manhood. No one ever knew him but to like him, and as he grew older and his real character developed, it was clear to all who came in contact with him, that he was possessed of the noblest traits of character, and was imbued with moral, social and intellectual endowments such as would have made him a most useful and exemplary citizen, and such as had already won the admiration and esteem of his associates, and made him a favorite with a large circle of warm-hearted and devoted friends. He had never united himself with any branch of the church, but it will be gratifying to his friends to know that he was fully prepared to die.

Along with innumerable and sorrowing friends the writer extends to the family his profoundest sympathies and most sincere condolence in this the most trying of ordeals.

Mrs. Mary Simms. (Communicated.) The above named lady departed this life at the residence of her son-in-law, F. H. Hill, in this town, on Friday, the 29th ult. She had reached the advanced age of 78 years. Mrs. Simms has been for many years a resident of the Concord community, in this county, and was a member of the Concord Presbyterian Church. By her quiet life, her hospitable politeness and Christian kindness, she had long enjoyed the esteem of her neighbors. As a mother of a large family, she occupied a position of much influence and usefulness. Before the war she had lived in Florida and Georgia—the latter being her native state. Bidding her good-bye for the present we hope to meet her again in the glorious resurrection of the redeemed.

Notice in Administration. Whereas letters of administration upon the estate of John H. Stuart, deceased, were granted the undersigned by the Probate Court of Houston county on the 10 day of August, 1895, all persons holding claims against said estate are requested to present the same to me duly authenticated within the time prescribed by law.

W. B. PAGE, Administrator estate of John H. Stuart, Crockett, Texas.

Last Tuesday Mr. G. W. Connor who lives near Colthorp, brought into the COURIER office an interesting "find" which he came on by chance, last August, in the bottoms of the Neches river a few miles from his home, and which would make the eyes of an antiquary glisten with pleasure. This "find" is an ancient and very heavy double-edged short sword, a little more than two feet long, which had been encased in leather scabbard almost entirely rotted away, with only the brass mountings left. The blade of the weapon has been corroded with what seems the rust of centuries; the brass hilt and guard of handsome, artistic workmanship, are well preserved, and the surface of the handle has been fashioned to resemble the scales of a fish. Upon the guard are stamped W. A. J. in minute letters, and upon the hilt an eagle with outstretched wings. The weapon weighs four pounds and looks like one of the old Roman short swords with which Caesar's legions hewed their way to glory. No such weapon was used during the civil war nor by the old army, although it was evidently part of the regular equipment of a soldier. This grim and rusted blade seems to tell of ancient wars when men wore armor and Cortez and his iron soldiery were tramping through pathless south-western wilds. Mr. Connor found the sword lying on the ground in a lonely spot, but it had evidently been long buried and probably washed up by river floods.

SHERIDAN. Nov. 29, 1895. Not seeing anything in the COURIER from Sheridan lately, I decided to scribble you a few hints. Everything is rocking along as usual. Farmers are through picking out and are busy repairing fences and clearing land. New comers are finding their way into our neighborhood and we bid them welcome, for we believe them to be energetic and law abiding citizens. Some of our leading democrats are beginning to look forward to the coming election, and among the names is that of J. W. Madden for district judge, which we prefer to all others. We know Mr. Madden to be a true and tried democrat and one who will track the law and will deal out justice to friend and foe, white and black alike. We know that there are men just as true as Mr. Madden, but we think that we have a right to a preference, therefore we earnestly solicit his candidacy to that office. The health of our country is very good at present, so we don't see much of the doctors now. Our school is progressing nicely under the supervision of Miss Willie Beason. Madam Rumor whispers very softly into our ears that some time in the near future there will be some weddings. We are all "silver democrats" here except two or three old cranks. Success to the COURIER.

Big Foot Jm. The Game Supper. LOVELAND, TEX., Dec. 2, '95. EDITOR COURIER: I enclose you a list of game that was turned in by the game hunters on the 25th of November. Capt. Brannan's side came out winner by 16,890 points. The supper was well cooked and the crowd, which was immense, seemed to enjoy it very much judging by the way they ate. Everything passed off pleasantly, and all seemed to have a good time. Net proceeds not yet turned in. List of game: Deer, 4; turkeys, 43; teal ducks, 22; mallard ducks, 13; quail, 123; doves, 74; larks, 130; squirrels, 836; opossums, 55; coons, 13; hawks, 14; owls, 3; jack rabbits, 8; cotton-tail rabbits, 6.

W. J. MURCHISON. Shooting. Bud Laky, of Trinity county, came into Loveland one day this week. The officers there had instructions to arrest him for some violation of law. The arrest was made, but afterwards he escaped amid a perfect fusillade of shots, some estimating that as many as a dozen shots were fired at the fleeing prisoner.

Nearly every day this week there have been immigrant wagons—sometimes several in a train, loaded with robust men and women and household goods, en route to the coast counties, to find a home in Texas.

EXPECTANT "MOTHERS' FRIEND" We Offer You a BUSINESS SURETY Life to Health and Child. Robt. Conditment of the Pain, Horror and What. My wife used "MOTHERS' FRIEND" before birth of her first child, she did not suffer from any particular love, preference or friendship the people have for us, not by sending some one around to persuade a customer out of another mans store, not through any given, borrowed or inherited money for God knows I only had seventy six dollars when I entered the mercantile arena, and sweated over the until for that. Not by any of these I am proud to say, but from the commencement of my mercantile life A Fair, Square, Honest Deal To all both white and black, men women and children. Notwithstanding we have put out all groceries, and carry only a full and complete line of dry goods, notions, ladies and gents furnishing goods, clothing, boots, shoes, hats and millinery. Notwithstanding there are many more houses to do the business, making competition greater. Yet our freight bills and cash sales will show that we are doing the best business of our life. "When to the session of sweet silent thought I summon up reminiscence of thing past" I feel assured that no one can look back over their mercantile career with more gratification than myself. From that Seventy-sixth Amicity Dollar along down the long line of year I can find no dishonorable foot prints in the sands of time, buying only that which I could pay for, enlarging the business as the money was made, incessantly, courageously and assiduously toiling I have gradually, slowly but surely, placed myself among the foremost of the successful. The question is often ask me, "Bill how is it that you sell cheaper than every body else, and seem to be doing better?" and the answer is invariably the same—I take it to lead, keep my shoulders to the wheel and a sleepless eye over my business, never let expenses be more than profits, never employ more help than the business will sustain never "cut off my nose to spite my face," treat every body, both white and black, rich and poor with kindness, courtesy and gentility, measure out to others as we would have others measure out to us, rather miss the sale of an article than to misrepresent it, give the best possible value for the money, buy for cash and sell for cash and to "cap the climax" we sell more goods for cash than any other two houses in town.

The Discovery Saved His Life. Mr. G. Calouette, Druggist, Beaversville Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house either without it." Get a free trial at B. F. Chamberlain's Drug Store.

Crockett has passed from the village to the city stage of its existence, but as yet its streets go nameless. They have all been named, we believe, and the city map shows the names, but calling them by those names is not yet the custom in Crockett. If the city council would take the proper steps to designate the more important streets and people would adopt the habit of referring to them by name, it would be a popular reform.

The New York Store.

No store can succeed and progress which is not faithful to the interest of the purchasing public. The buying must be close, vigilant at every turn, the prices must be in touch with the times. We can sell cheaper than our competitors, because we sell for cash. Our expenses are less and can afford to divide with the public. Only the lowest prices asked. Come and see how much lower our prices are than our competitors and then you will not hesitate in buying from us.

BILL MCGONNELL - - SAYS - -

A gradual increase of business, peep into our store at any time and it will remind you of the bee hive—every clerk busy, the house full of customers passing, repassing, shoving, pushing and screaming my time next. Yes, we have built up a most wonderful trade not by misrepresentation and abuse of competition, not by meeting the dear people ere they have time to alight their horse, and with a bone cracking hand shake affectionately ask about the dear wife and little children, not by writing letters all over the county to what is called cash men, imploring their trade, not through any mercantile learning from others for we were never behind any man's counter, other than our own, not through any particular love, preference or friendship the people have for us, not by sending some one around to persuade a customer out of another mans store, not through any given, borrowed or inherited money for God knows I only had seventy six dollars when I entered the mercantile arena, and sweated over the until for that. The work of putting in 110 yards of new canvas board blackboarding in the public school building in this city, was completed this week. That put in the high school department is fifty inches wide and the remainder forty inches. Winter got here sure enough last Tuesday morning, and doubtless every fat hog in Houston county gave himself up for lost that day and felt that his time had come, for it was ideal hog killing weather. We chronicle with sincere regret the loss sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Mee Langston in the death of their little son, their only boy. The sorrowing parents have the sympathies of friends in a bereavement that none but those who have felt it, can adequately appreciate. H. J. Phillips was in to see us one day last week. He is 74 years old, and his wife 71. They have had twelve children, nine girls and three sons. All but one are living and all of them married. When they were all together in 1893, there were 133 of them. Since then there has been a considerable increase. The entertainment given by the Dorcas Society of the Baptist church, at the opera house in this city on Thursday night of last week, was an unqualified success. A large crowd was in attendance, and the enjoyment was hearty and general. The vocal and instrumental music by Misses Grace Smith, Ethel Wootters and Daisy Custer was greatly enjoyed, and the "Hat Trimming Contest" and other features furnished entertainment. OH IOH Notes. The Houston County Oil Mill in this city is an interesting place to visit during the busy season, and one morning this week a COURIER reporter went down there to see what news items could be gathered concerning an industrial plant which is no inconsiderable factor in the prosperity of Crockett and of Houston county. The superintendent of the mill is Mr. Thomas Self, a courteous gentleman who has a quiet but effective way of doing things which the observant visitor does not fail to notice, and from him the reporter learned some facts of interest concerning the mill and its work. There are about twenty men employed, exclusive of the cotton seed buyers, and the mill will handle this season about fifteen hundred tons of seed. It is noteworthy that this concern has brought Crockett into commercial relations with the off-shore of Germany, for within the past few weeks seven car-loads of cotton-seed meal and three car-loads of oil have been shipped from here to that country. The mill is running on full time and Mr. Self says that the farmers generally are coming to its support with their patronage and are realizing that they subserv their own interests in doing so. Any prejudice against the mill here before existing in certain quarters has about disappeared and its popularity is increasing at a gratifying rate. The new 100 horse power engine set up in October, works admirably, and even those unfamiliar with such things can see that it is a superb piece of machinery and serves its purpose well. The oil mill is a pleasant place to visit, for it is a smoothly running, well ordered establishment and an object-lesson in industrial activity instructive to look upon. It is expected that, because of the short cotton crop, the mill will close down for the season in January, although with an average crop it could be kept going two months longer.

Why purchase a cheap stove when you can buy a Genuine Buck's at Arledge, Kennedy & Co's., for the same price. There is one medicine which every family should be provided with. We refer to Chamberlain's Pain Balm. When it is kept at hand the severe pain of a burn or scald may be promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate attention, before the parts become swollen, and when Chamberlain's Pain Balm is applied it will heal them without matter being formed, and without leaving a scar. A sore throat may be cured in one night. A piece of flannel dampened with this liniment and bound on over the seat of pain, will cure lame back or pain in the side or chest in twenty-four hours. It is the most valuable, however, for rheumatism. Persons afflicted with this disease will be delighted with the prompt relief from pain which it affords, and it can be depended upon to effect a complete cure. For sale by B. F. Chamberlain.

Cards are out for the marriage on the 18th inst. of Miss Mamie Winfree and Dick R. Baker. Ceremony at the Baptist church.

Cure For Headache. As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches yield to its influences. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tonic to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only Fifty cents at B. F. Chamberlain's Drug Store.

Present a Lesson in Economics.

The Pay As You Go Pike.

The aim of every person, whether he be Farmer or Mechanic, is to establish his business on a firm and paying basis. The "SPOT CASH" "Pay As You Go Policy" is the great key to success. It prevents the placing of the galling yoke of DEBT about neck by the LONG CREDIT System. Contrast the spot cash prices with the long credit prices. Then you have Facts beyond contradiction. They are not theories: As the world moves on so does the spot cash system. It leads to success. It can be yours if you will adopt it. It elevates man above want, produces contentment, brings happiness and makes a prosperous people. This policy is now firmly established and the benefits accruing to those who have adopted it are too well known to require argument in its favor here. The first step of those who adhere to this system is to ascertain where the best quality of any given article can be had for the least money. There is a good deal of "clap-trap" advertising these days. A personal examination should be made—not at one place alone but where ever such goods as you want can be found. Examine carefully and buy where you can save money. We are in the field for Trade and we know there is only one way to get it. If we cannot save you money we do not expect your support. We know we can save you money and start you on the royal road to success. The quality of our goods gives security to the purchaser and the prices we ask aid him on the road to prosperity. It has been said by one of our competitors that the Shivers Boys could not last long the way they are selling goods. This Prophecy may come true but the people will be the gainers. We are in it to the finish. Our "Tomahawk" "Cuts keen," stoops and conquers.

And the Moral Law Is: Competition aren't in it when it comes to the list of bargains we are offering this week. Don't let slip the best opportunity you ever had of getting a full supply of winter novelties. Why, get up a d

EXCITING TIMES ON A SLAVE SHIP.

By Captain William Brown. I was in Rio Janeiro the day after Long Pedro was wrecked, and after a long search and a great deal of trouble

Every thing went well and I found the ship as comfortable as any Atlantic liner I have ever seen. Twenty-two

A few days later when the cruiser limits had been passed the grim chain was again stored away, the horrible anchor was taken in, the slaves were

Finally, the thirtieth day, we arrived safe at Rio, where the slaves were picked men all well except the one who had been killed by the shark.

When I was in Rio I saw a number of the slaves who had been taken from the ship. They were all well except the one who had been killed by the shark.
