Improving Environment--The Beauty Texas Council is boosting its efforts to improve nearly all phases of the environment. Formed about five years ago, the council's main aim was to reduce litter. Now its efforts include work against nearly all kinds of pollution according to Jack Jones, Extension resource development specialist and executive secretary of the council. The BTC annually cooperates with the Office of the Governor in sponsoring the Governor's Community Achievement Awards.

State Soybean Meet--The fifth annual meeting of the Texas Soybean Association will be held February 4 at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Beaumont. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. Profits and factors influencing price will be major topics of discussion, says R. J. Hodges, Extension agronomist. Winners of the Texas Soybean Contest will also be announced.

Food-Waste Chain--A small farm in Sydney, Australia is showing that an interlinked food-waste chain is possible, points out Dr. David Mellor, Extension poultry marketing specialist. The food cycle on the farm works its way down through turkeys, cattle, hogs, ducks and fish. The fish are finally ground up and fed back to turkeys and hogs. The farm annually produces 4,000 turkeys, 250 hogs, 25 head of cattle and 500 ducks on only 10 acres of land. Poultry fits in well in the food-waste chain as the feed to food conversion for all poultry is among the best of any animal species.

Hilier, of Texas A&M University and a talk on "Soil and Water Conservation Practices and Benefits Available Under the 1972 Farm Program" by Walter Y. Wells of the Soil Conservation Service Lubbock office.

Dr. Dan Wells, director of the Water Resources Center at Texas Tech, will report on water research at the university and Jim Mertes, another Texas Tech professor, will speak on "Water-based Recreational Potential in West Texas."

James Osborn, agricultural economics professor at Tech, will discuss economic benefits from irrigation and Lyle will be the final "wrap-up" speaker.

Presiding over morning sessions will be Dr. Tom Longnecker, director of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, and Arneal Scott, area conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Lubbock. McBee will preside over the afternoon session.

The drunk sitting at the bar was adjacent to a man and his wife. Suddenly the drunk came forth with a resounding burp.

"How dare you belch before my wife?" thundered the husband.

With that the drunk unsteadily got off the bar stool and making a sweeping bow said, "A thousand pardons, sir . . . I did not know it was the madam's turn."

Auxiliary Plans Workshop On Mental Health

The Muleshoe Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary are very hopeful that the Muleshoe community will take a vital interest in the workshops which will be held in the Nursing Home dining room on February 8, 15, 22 and 29, according to Mrs. Harold Allison, chairman. There will be two, one hour sessions, so those wishing to attend may go to the most convenient session, as the same information will be covered in both sessions. The first session will be from 1:45 to 2:45 p.m. and the second one will be from 3:15 to 4:15 p.m. These workshops will be conducted by a team from the Mental Health and Rehabilitation Center at Plainview. "It is hoped that a greater understanding of hospital patients and Nursing Home residents will result from these training sessions," states Mrs. Allison.

At the first of the sessions of February 8, three members of the Mental Health team will be present: Betty Hayes, a registered nurse and the director of the Day Hospital; Ann Fork, director of occupational therapy in charge of arts and crafts; and Mary Ann McGhee, a social worker.

Mrs. Allison says that the session will begin by telling briefly what they do at the Mental Health Center, then will be bringing practical ideas on helping to make our residents in the Nursing Home and hospital patients feel more a part of our community. The Auxiliary feels that our nursing home residents especially have a great deal to offer us and it is hoped that these workshops will give each of us a new understanding of these residents, according to Mrs. Allison.

"The Auxiliary issues a special invitation to everyone to attend these workshops in the great hope that together we can learn how to tap the large amount of unused capabilities of the residents and help give them the respect which they so richly deserve," concludes Mrs. Allison.

MULESHOE PASTOR ON COUNCIL--Rev. Douglas DuBose, right, pastor of First Baptist Church, Muleshoe, attended an organizational meeting of a Pastors' Advisory Council at Wayland Baptist College on Monday (Jan. 24). The council has been formed to permit a broader path of communication between the college and the area church. With Rev. DuBose is, seated, Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, pastor of First Baptist Church, Spearman, and Rev. Larry Heard, pastor of First Baptist Church, Bovina.

Pastor's Advisory Council Organized

PLAINVIEW, TEX., Special--Bradley, includes Rev. Joe Dee Ray, pastor of First Baptist Church, Borger, Rev. W.H. Pearce, Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church, Perryton, Rev. Bob Beck, pastor of First Baptist Church, Paducah, Rev. Carlos McLeod, pastor of First Baptist Church, Plainview, Rev. C.H. Murphy, Jr., pastor of first Baptist Church, Memphis, and Dr. David Ray, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lubbock.

Following the announcement of purpose and plans for the group led by Dr. McClung, the pastors were asked to complete a questionnaire dealing with Wayland and the institution's relationship to the area.

Introductions were made of Joe P. Wood, vice president of the college, Dr. W. Wayne Alford, dean of the college, Paul Butler, dean of students, and Joe Provence, director of public relations. Wayland was reviewed financially, academically, and spiritually for the group.

Following an informal coffee time, members of the Student Foundation, led by Miss Betty Branton, junior from Grain Valley, Mo., president, gave a presentation on the foundation. Participating were Janice Hudgins, sophomore from Hale Center, Gary Abercrombie, junior from Amarillo, and Ray Spradling, sophomore from Roswell, N.M.

Shirtwaists and skirts are quite the in-thing today.

Dr. McClung, as president of Wayland, feels the necessity of such a board for his personal feedback, counsel and advice. The third reason for the organization is the profit which the pastors on the board can gain through contact with the denominational school of the area.

It was decided at the meeting that the trustee-pastors on the council would serve as a liaison group with the council as a whole. They will call meetings as they are needed. This group, in addition to Rev. Hawkins, Rev. Cone and Dr.

An excellent write-up of the upcoming yearbook of Muleshoe High School is contained in this month's issue of "Photolith Yearbook", a national magazine for school yearbook staffs, published at Houston. Mrs. Horace Blackburn, sponsor for this year's book, is the author of the article, which is profusely illustrated with photographs.

There is a fine picture of the front facade of the new high school building, a shot of Ernest Ware, editor of the book this year; pictures of the senior class officers, Marilyn Gupton, Jacque Bovell, Ernest Ware and Charles Lewis; and some of the teachers, Mrs. Jones, Miss Greta Paul, Mrs. G. HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Most foot troubles have their foundation in childhood and are the result of poorly fitted or out-grown shoes. Don't wait for your child to tell you his feet hurt.

Shoes should be checked every month. It is possible for a child's foot size to change every three months, up to the age of 12.

The construction of a shoe is next in importance to the fit. We like leather shoes best, for they provide the resilient support required by growing feet. Leather also has the advantage of breathing with the foot and allowing foot perspiration to be evaporated.

Never use hand-me-down shoes. No two children have identical feet, even though their sizes may be the same.

Consult your physician if your child shows any sign of flat feet, toeing in, toeing out, or knocked knees.

You can rely on your local shoe retailer to fit your child's shoes if no foot problems are evident. He will probably recommend small-leather shoe construction for comfort and support.

The Farm Front, 1972

What disturbed many Democrats about Earl Butz, and also a number of Republicans who voted for his confirmation as Secretary of Agriculture, was his record as an advocate of big, corporate farming. A former director of agricultural conglomerates and a dean at Purdue University, which works closely with agribusiness, Butz has predicted a million fewer farms in 1980—compared to 1970.

This, of course, would be a continuation of the trend in post-war years. In the fifties a million family-size farms were consolidated out of existence and the same approximate number disappeared in the sixties. Butz feels this is inevitable, that production by conglomerates is more efficient.

It's quite possible this could be true and continuation of the trend nevertheless undesirable. For the human factor and the effects of the elimination of farm jobs is incalculable. Butz says inefficient farmers (from family-size farms) can find "something else useful" but this has not always been easy. Millions have ended up on welfare and in city slums in the past twenty years and their lives, sometimes of crime, have not been very useful.

The greatest human challenge facing Congress concerning agriculture is to care for the small farmer and the farm worker with a humanitarian, imaginative program. Toward this end several members of Congress are seeking remedial legislation. Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis) and several others have introduced a bill which would require corporations owning over $3 million in non-farm businesses to divest themselves of agricultural lands. The idea is to allow the small farmer a chance, to survive, to avoid making all farmers cogs in giant corporate units without any real bargaining power and to avoid pushing farm workers and farmers, many unready for urban life, into congested metropolitan areas.

The Wallace Bid

One of the fascinating political answers which will come out of the Florida primary in mid-March is whether George Wallace still commands the support of ten per cent of the Democratic electorate.

Assuming Wallace enters the primary, which everyone else has entered, he'll be up against middle-roader Democrats like Senator Henry Jackson, liberals like Senator Edmund Muskie, others close to extremist positions and outright radicals.

All these Democratic candidates agree the 1972 Wallace vote is an unknown. Perhaps some are right, that the Alabama Governor's voter appeal is down from its 1968 level—when Wallace netted ten per cent of the votes (and for a time during the campaign was supported by fifteen per cent).

George Wallace thus far has been the most enduring third-party candidate in recent American political history. It may even be true that he prevented Hubert Humphrey from being elected in 1968, as he claims (by drawing away enough Democratic votes in pivotal states as New Jersey, Missouri and Ohio). Wallace currently claims greater popular support at this time of year than he enjoyed in 1968.

40 Billion Red

Secretary of the Treasurer John Connally told the national Chamber of Commerce convention recently business men should applaud the Nixon Administration's forty-billion dollar budget deficit for the current fiscal year because it would restore vitality to the economy.

In short, Connally admits that much pump priming is needed to lick the unemployment problem and other economic problems, which he says are already on the way to a solution.

It may be that a deficit budget of this magnitude is needed. If so, however, that fact is nothing to applaud. The nation has suffered heavily, in many ways, from overspending at home and abroad ever since World War II. That is the main reason inflation has cost so dearly and the cause of the dollar's weakness today.

TREMORS & AMCHITKA

The Commerce Department has reported that the recorded earth tremors from the huge underground nuclear blast at Amchitka Island last November have provided information that may help predict and even mitigate natural earthquakes.

Latest

The latest sensational scandal rocking New York City, scandal capital of the U.S., involves a billion dollar fraud in Medicaid. According to a grand jury, just about everyone involved took part in the crookedness—doctors, dentists, druggists, nursing homes, patients and city agencies.

This scandal follows a major police department scandal, involving commissioners, other high police officials, detectives, patrolmen and underworld figures who paid them off for years. That scandal followed a major welfare scandal, which revealed some welfare patients staying in hotels costing the city $1500 a month, millions being stolen or misused, some paid to non-existent persons, and other general crookedness.

The mayor of New York, John Lindsay, is running for the Democratic presidential nomination. He claims the federal government is in a mess. His qualifications to judge a mess are based on the record.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tries to head off some new scientific progress, his letter this week indicates.

The trouble with some people is they confuse something new with something better.

For example, according to an article I ran across in a newspaper yesterday, some scientists have looked into the future and reported that two-way cable television is going to revolutionize everybody's way of life.

A housewife, they said, will be able to stay at home, tune in a supermarket, look over the items, make her selections, and order them sent out, while a computer at the store rings at her bank which is also plugged into the system. If her baby is sick she turns her home camera on him, dials her doctor, and he makes the examination on his screen, with his prescription being filled by a plugged-in drugstore.

To top it off, the scientists said, the prime use of the system will be to eliminate schools as we know them. Kids stay at home, the teacher instructs them via her television and they answer via theirs. With one fell swoop this ends taxes for school buildings and football fields, ends busing, demonstrations and dress codes. Maybe even the PT-A.

This may have its appeal

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Jackson Hurt—Wallace In Florida—Muskie Gains—Nixon's Stock—

Washington, D. C. — Two developments have hurt Senator Henry Jackson (D-Wash) in his crucial Florida campaign, a campaign that at one stage justified hopes the westerner might emerge number one in the key Democratic primary March 14th.

The most respected senior statesman in Florida, former Senator Spessard Holland, who was supporting Jackson, died unexpectedly several months ago. Holland had powerful friends all over Florida who would have supported Jackson at his urging and his absence has been felt.

Second, George Wallace's entry in the presidential primary January 24th cut into some of Jackson's northern Florida strength. These two blows have made the Florida primary a grim fight for Jackson, who might still do well though he trails both Senators Edmund Muskie and Hubert Humphrey at this time.

Senator Muskie, meanwhile, now threatens to make a runaway of the 1972 nomination campaign. In recent weeks he has picked up key supporters in all parts of the country. Most of the "Irish Mafia" element in the party is behind him. With Governor John Gilligan of Ohio, Senator John Tunney of California and Senator Adlai Stevenson of Illinois in his camp, Muskie may now be unstoppable.

Adlai Stevenson, a Protestant, might be closely eyed for second-spot on the Muskie ticket. Another Catholic would not. In this connection, some in Washington are talking Governor Ruben Askew of Florida as a good second-spot choice—prompting many Floridians to fear Askew may contract national "fever," a fever which has ruined many good Governors.

Private polls taken by the Republican National Committee show President Nixon running well ahead of six months ago and ahead of totals released recently in some public opinion polls.

Republican strategy this year will include a more serious effort in New York State, where Governor Nelson Rockefeller will help. The committee thinks the President will carry New Jersey. It rates prospects in Pennsylvania about the same as in 1968—perhaps a bit better.

United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

Over the past ten days, it has been made crystal clear that a great deal of important work is before the Congress this year. The members of the Congress are hoping to complete their work by the time of the national political conventions in mid-summer, but it remains to be seen whether that will be possible.

The President outlined in his State of the Union address a long list of legislative proposals he believes merit the attention of the Congress this year.

Inflation continues to present a difficult problem and the Congress is being asked to support the current program of controls which are even now being eased. We must find the key to holding down prices while simultaneously expanding employment. The budget for fiscal 1973 which has been submitted to the Congress is designed to increase employment. At the same time, the Congress is being asked, and I think appropriately so, to write into law an overall spending ceiling for the fiscal year. Next month, the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee will begin a review of the Administration's plans to devalue the dollar on foreign markets by raising the price the United States will pay for gold. This is part of an international economic arrangement which is being negotiated with our trading partners and, as top-ranking Republican on the Committee, I intend to see that in return for dollar devaluation we obtain from our trading partners a significant reduction in the restrictions foreign nations have placed on U.S. goods which have placed us at a competitive disadvantage economically.

Another area demanding the early attention of Congress is labor law reform. This week, the Congress was forced to consider a legislative settlement to the dock strike. Such a situation is deplorable in the extreme. The fact that collective bargaining failed to find an equitable solution and in the alternative the economic public interest demanded settlement in some form, simply demonstrates the urgent need for overall reform of our anachronistic labor laws.

Agriculture is a third area requiring the attention of the Congress this year. We must develop sound legislation to encourage rural development as an alternative to the current movement into our metropolitan areas.

Our public schools require alternatives to court assignments of students to specific schools on the basis of race; and they are in need of alternative methods of financing if we cannot continue to support them through property taxes. The Congress must also give some attention to this nation's defense requirements. As we seek to achieve and maintain peace in the world, we simply cannot afford to allow the Soviets to become the dominant world power. Such a possibility is a real threat unless we act this year to bolster our defense posture. As strong defense is the best path to successful negotiations and the achievement of lasting peace. Several of the budgetary matters before the Congress this year are of specific interest to Texans and I wish to take a moment to mention some of these major items.

Contained in the budget for fiscal 1973 are some 165 million dollars for continued production of F-111 aircraft. Prime contractor for production of this aircraft is General Dynamics in Fort Worth and I am hopeful that this and other defense procurement items in the budget will have a positive effect upon the unemployment picture in the defense-associated industries in Texas.

The Veterans Affairs construction budget totals 155 million dollars nationwide, the highest since 1951 and surging forward from the low of only 8 million dollars in fiscal 1969. During the fiscal 1970-73 period, the VA will complete seven new hospitals. One of these will be the Audie L. Murphy Memorial Veterans Hospital in San Antonio and the budget contains almost 36 million dollars for this construction. In fact, almost one-quarter of the whole VA construction in San Antonio, the budget contains funds to begin improvements at the VA hospitals in Houston, Dallas and Kerrville.

The Public Works budget contains more than 78 million dollars for a number of projects throughout Texas. The largest of these is the important Trinity Canalization Project, budgeted to receive more than 12 million dollars.

These are but a few of the items for Texas. The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, for example, is budgeting more than 30 million dollars to help fight crime specifically in our state.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

Austin, Tex.--One adverse federal court decision after another fuels the feud between Gov.
Preston Smith and Lt. Gov.
Ben Barnes.

Smith was quick to blame
on Barnes the failure of a 1971
filing fee statute which threatens to force a special legislative session.

While that issue was still raging, another Dallas three-judge court struck down the legislature's congressional redistricting plan. Once more, Smith accused the lieutenant governor of "reluctance" and
"inaction" on redistricting.

When a third court frowned
on House of Representatives redistricting in major counties
as done by a board Barnes served on, Smith once more leveled at the lieutenant governor charges of "immature action" and lack of leadership.

Single-member districts were ordered for Bexar and Dallas counties.

Sen. J. P. Word of Meridan,
speaking in Barnes' defense,
said Smith offered the legislature no leadership himself and reminded that the governor could have vetoed the congressional redistricting measure if he didn't like it.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin succeeded in getting a temporary postponement of the congressional redistricting order. The U. S. Supreme Court agreed to delay the new plan pending appeal.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who intervened as a friend of the court in support of the stay,
said congressional candidates for this year, at least, can run in the districts given them
by the legislature.

That would be a relief for Congressmen Graham Purcell
of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson; Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Ray Roberts
of McKinney and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo and Abraham Kazen of Laredo who had been bitter against each other in the federal district court plan.

If he has to call a special session on primary election financing, said Smith, he will expect "those responsible for creating this problem" to come up with "workable alternatives."

Governor's Poll Taken-- Dolph Briscoe won another editor's poll last week at the Midwinter meeting of the Texas Press Association. Editors were asked first who they thought would carry their county if the vote were taken on that date (January 24). Forty-eight editors responded to the poll
with this vote: Briscoe, 18;
Preston Smith, 13; Ben Barnes, 12; Barnes-Briscoe tie, 2 and three undecided.

They were asked: "How will you vote in the 1972 Governor's race?" This was the result:

Pollution Hearings Set-- Texas Water Quality Board will hold hearings February 7-11 in Baytown on reduction of municipal and industrial wastes into Houston Ship Channel.

Discharges must be reduced to the level permitted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency following a Galveston Bay shellfish conference. The federal rule requires reduction of oxygen-depleting substances dumped into the channel to 35,000 pounds a day by 1975.
About 100,000 pounds daily is the present level.

cord last year.

veston approved grants totaling

Cotton Council Hears Systems For Handling Seed

NEW ORLEANS--Members of the National Cotton Council here
for their annual meeting heard about newly developed systems for handling seed cotton that can save growers as much as $24 a bale.

The report came from
S. Frank Moore of Raleigh,
N.C., director of the Research and Technical Services Center of Cotton Incorporated, the research and marketing organization of cotton growers.

The new systems allow seed cotton to be stored safely in the field until it can be scheduled for ginning. They are the most important developments in Cotton Incorporated's efforts to help growers increase profit from stalk to bale.

Cotton Incorporated sponsored research to develop the new systems at Texas Tech
and Texas A&M universities.
Other research is conducted at agricultural experiment stations throughout the Cotton Belt
and at the Raleigh center.

Moore spoke to the technical committee made up of producers, ginners, crushers, co-op
representatives, spinners, warehousemen and merchants.

His overview of research programs underway by Cotton Incorporated included reports on product development projects relating to knitting, flammability and durable press.
