PARKER

NOMINATED.

THE BALLOT WAS TAKEN AT AN EARLY HOUR SATURDAY MORNING.

It Was Necessary to Take Only First Ballot to Determine Matter.

St. Louis, July 9, 5:45 a. m.—The democratic National convention has just adjourned after having nominated Alton B. Parker of New York for president. The first ballot showed that he was only a few votes shy of the requisite two-thirds and before the result was announced there had been enough changes made to assure the nomination and then a motion was adopted to make it unanimous.

The result came after an all night session in which there were incidents dramatic, pathetic, ludicrous.

Just before the ballot was taken W. J. Bryan made an impassioned speech in which he pointed out the dangers of militarism and denounced as untrue certain statements alleged to have been made in New York.

When Wisconsin was called the floor was surrendered to Mr. Bryan, who asked unanimous consent for an extension of time over that allotted to seconding talks, and this was granted.

As he proceeded the great hall became stilled and as silent as a churchyard. The thousands who filled it hung on his every word. No such tribute has been paid any man of all those who have spoken since the democratic convention was called on Wednesday.

The following is the tabulated result of the ballot between Parker and Hearst:

On the completion of the first ballot Parker received a total of 658 votes. Before the vote was announced, Idaho changed her six votes, giving him 664 votes, and West Virginia added 3 votes, giving him the 667 votes, or two-thirds of the whole.

5:45 a. m.—Washington changed from Hearst to Parker. This was followed by motion of Champ Clark to make the nomination of Parker unanimous. Scenes of great enthusiasm followed. A monster American flag was unfurled in the dome of the building. The band struck up "Star Spangled Banner."

Patrick Collins of Massachusetts took the stand to second the motion to make unanimous.

The delegates were then standing on their chairs waving flags in unison with the National air.

Senator Hill was moved to tears when the nomination was assured.

The inscription on the banner suspended from the dome was: "Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by B. F. Chamberlain.

DAVIS FOR VICE PRESIDENT

WEST VIRGINIA MAN NOMINATED FOR SECOND PLACE.

Telegram of Judge Parker Stating Position on Money Question.

Convention Hall, St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Parker and Davis is the ticket. Alton Brooks Parker of New York and former United States Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia. Contrary to all precedents, the nomination of the vice president was made on Sunday, the balloting not having been concluded until 1:12 this morning, after which the convention adjourned.

The feature of the long night session was a third decisive defeat for William J. Bryan, who opposed the sending of a telegram to Judge Parker in answer to one from the nominee defining his attitude on the money question and stating that he would withdraw and permit the nomination of another if his views were not acceptable to a majority of the convention.

By a vote of 774 to 194 the delegates gave permission for the sending of an answer to the effect that the monetary standard was not referred to in the platform because it was not an issue and that there was nothing in Judge Parker's attitude to prevent his standing on the platform.

Judge Parker's action, in the opinion of a very large majority of the prominent men of the party, has immeasurably strengthened him. It has very effectually disposed of the stories that he has no views or, having them, is afraid to express them.

Even delegates and others who are by no means in harmony with the gold standard idea, recognize the fact that no man who is possessed of true manliness and great moral courage would take such action as the chief judge took today when he might have lost nothing by remaining silent.

William F. Sheehan and other New York leaders say it means a landslide for Parker. Texas and the South generally stood squarely by Parker; John Sharp Williams of Mississippi and Senators Daniel and Carmack spoke in favor of sending the telegram and Texas' vote of thirty-six were in the affirmative. The only member who at any time objected to this action was Senator Culberson.

The telegram from Judge Parker stating his position on the money question was as follows:

"Hon. William F. Sheehan, Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis, Mo.

"I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established, and shall act accordingly, if the action of the convention today is ratified by the people.

"As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority, I request you to decline the nomination for me at once, so that some other may be nominated before adjournment.

(Signed) A. B. PARKER."

The remarks of Mr. Williams and of Senator Tillman, who followed, were to the general effect that it was a manly thing in Judge Parker to send the telegram to Mr. Sheehan in order that there might be no misunderstanding as to his position and this view plainly impressed the delegates, many of whom had already expressed the same idea when approached by the correspondent.

Handkerchief Shower.

One of the most enjoyable affairs ever attended was the handkerchief shower given Miss Stella Folk by Mrs. S. A. Collom last Monday, July 4th.

The inclemency of the weather proved no disappointment to any; quite a crowd was out.

The red, white and blue color scheme was carried out very prettily. Red, white and blue bunting was gracefully festooned over the arch ways, cut flowers, ferns and palms filled every available spot. In the center of the room hung a bell which was suspended from the chandelier, and at a signal from the hostess the girls crowded around, each pulling a red, white and blue ribbon, showering many beautiful linen gifts on the bride. A very pleasant time indeed was spent over the game played. Each table was furnished with the letters of the alphabet, written on little squares of paper. The hostess called out each subject you were to guess on, first what endearing name will she call the groom? On turning the letter you must answer at once, or pass it to the next, so many ridiculous names were called. Misses Evy and Nan Hail tied for first prize, Miss Evy winning. Mrs. Drew the consolation, Mrs. Northcott and Mrs. Jones tied for booby, Mrs. Northcott winning.

Just before refreshments were served the young men came, the wedding cake was cut, Mr. Avery cutting the ring, Miss Atkins the dime, Miss Scarborough the key to success. A delightful menu was thus served—first chicken salad served in a tomato, with national flag in the center; wafers, tea and almonds—next, pink and white cream kisses, punch and cake. Mrs. Collom proved herself indeed a most charming hostess, every one left feeling indebted to her for a very pleasant afternoon. E. H. Kennard Mills.

IT IS PARKER AND DAVIS.

The Silent Esopus Candidate Nominated Early Saturday Morning After an All-Night Session of the Convention--Davis' Nomination Occurred Sunday Morning at 1:12.

St. Louis, July 11.—Parker and Davis is the ticket. Alton Brooks Parker of New York and former United States Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia. Contrary to all precedents, the nomination of the vice president was made on Sunday, the balloting not having been concluded until 1:12 yesterday morning, after which the convention adjourned.

The feature of the long night session was a third decisive defeat for William J. Bryan, who opposed the sending of a telegram to Judge Parker in answer to one from the nominee defining his attitude on the money question and stating that he would withdraw and permit the nomination of another if his views were not acceptable to a majority of the convention.

By a vote of 774 to 194 the delegates gave permission for the sending of an answer to the effect that the monetary standard was not referred to in the platform because it was not an issue and that there was nothing in Judge Parker's attitude to prevent his standing on the platform.

Judge Parker's action, in the opinion of a very large majority of the prominent men of the party, has immeasurably strengthened him. It has very effectually disposed of the stories that he has no views or having them is afraid to express them.

Even delegates and others who are by no means in harmony with the gold standard idea, recognize the fact that no man who is possessed of true manliness and great moral courage would take such action as the chief judge took when he might have lost nothing by remaining silent.

William F. Sheehan and other New York leaders say it means a landslide for Parker. Texas and the South generally stood squarely by Parker: John Sharp Williams of Mississippi and Senators Daniel and Carmack spoke in favor of sending the telegram and Texas' vote of thirty-six were in the affirmative. The only member who at any time objected to this action was Senator Culberson.

Nominating Session a Very Remarkable One.

St. Louis, July 11.—The old timers say that the convention which nominated Parker shortly before 6 o'clock Saturday morning, after a session which had lasted continuously from 8 o'clock the previous evening, was the most remarkable meeting of its kind ever held. Certainly it is difficult to imagine any gathering of the kind that had in it more unusual or dramatic features, of wild enthusiasm for a new leader and admiration for an old one, of manifestations of a determination to weld the party together in spite of all obstacles and to work for a glorious victory next fall. The session was remarkable in that while the assembled thousands listened attentively to William Jennings Bryan, Mayor Rose of Milwaukee and other opponents of Judge Parker and with more or less patience to the lesser lights who argued or pleaded for the nomination of some one other than the Esopus man, the final result was not changed in the slightest.

Mayor Rose's speech was bitter and Mayor Rose assumed to say that the unknown candidate of Wisconsin, Edward C. Wall, was the only man in the party whose nomination would mean success in November.

William J. Bryan, twice the leader of the party in great contests where in it went down to defeat and for years the idol of 6,000,000 loyal democrats, was honored as few other men would have been honored. When in calling the roll of States for presidential nominations and seconds, the clerk reached Nebraska, Mr. Bryan gave way to Wisconsin and said he would speak for Nebraska when Wisconsin was called.

There is only one State on the list after Wisconsin, and it was 4 o'clock Saturday morning when the Nebraskan arose and forced his way to the platform. Long before that the convention had passed a motion limiting to four minutes all speeches seconding the nomination of candidates, but a request was made for unanimous consent to give Mr. Bryan as much time as he wanted, and when Acting Chairman Bailey of Texas presented it to the delegates there was not a dissenting vote and for nearly an hour or more Bryan shook the tired thousands in the big hall and ceased the clamor that had been so much in evidence during the greater part of the long and weary session. Every word that fell from the lips of the gifted Nebraskan was attentively listened to, for only a few men, even in his circle of close personal friends, had more than a vague idea of what stand he would take.

When he talked harmony, cheers like those that used to greet him when he was the bearer of the party standard rolled up to him from the throng. When, with perspiration standing out in great drops on white face, and with tattered from fatigue and the intensity of his emotions there was a burst of enthusiastic applause which, although by no means as long sustained, was no less spontaneous and enthusiastic than that which flooded the Coliseum when Martin W. Littleton of New York mentioned the name of Judge Parker in his masterly speech of nomination, but not a single vote was changed. The voice that once swayed thousands to the will of the master mind behind it was impotent. The tide had long since turned and even William J. Bryan and all the forces of opposition that he could command were powerless to arrest it.

The balloting commenced, dragged along to its weary end and closed. Not more than one-half of the States had

Then the second largest block of votes in the convention, Pennsylvania's sixty-eight, were added to the Parker total. South Carolina and Tennessee went solidly in the same direction and Senator Culberson of Texas cast the thirty-six votes of that State for Parker amidst wild enthusiasm. The great commonwealth whose decisive contribution to conservative democracy at a critical moment had so much to do with the final result was cheered and cheered again.

That settled it. There were more votes cast for Parker including all of those of Virginia and West Virginia, but the outcome was a foregone conclusion. Those who were making up the totals found that when the lists of States and Territories

JUDGE ALTON BROOKS PARKER

his lips tightly drawn he recalled his past services with pathetic fervor and force, the thousands about him watched and listened as they would have done if they had been witnessing the climax of a great tragedy. And it was a tragedy, for any one who observed the Nebraskan closely and read between the lines of his speech, as it were, knew what his concessions to those of the party who fought him four and eight years ago were costing him. Only when he spoke favorably of William R. Hearst was there shown any disposition to manifest signs of impatience, for by that time the delegates and a large portion of the audience were tired of Hearst and Hearst's crowd. When, after practically putting ex-Governor Patton of Pennsylvania in nomination and then seconding the nomination of Senator Cockrell of Missouri, Mr. Bryan closed his speech with a peroration that was dramatic and effective in the extreme, while the fact that his voice was almost gone and that he literally been called before it was evident that Judge Parker's nomination on the first ballot was a certainty. Alabama and Arkansas started the Parker movement with their combined forty votes. Then came scattering votes from Colorado and Florida. Connecticut's fourteen went into the Parker column. Georgia's twenty-six were cast for the New York jurist and a mighty cheer went up for him, and for the great Southern State that had done so much for him. Maryland, Michigan and New Jersey, all of which the anti-Parker people had claimed to be in doubt, went solidly for him. His own State added its block of seventy-eight. Mississippi, Montana and New Hampshire cast their solid votes for him.

In a moment of silence strangely at variance with the turmoil that had prevailed during the greater part of the night, Ohio's forty-six were given to him. A poll of the delegation, demanded by one of the anti-Parkerites it contained, did not change the result.

was exhausted that Parker had 655 votes, eight and two-thirds less than the number sufficient to nominate.

But before the cheering caused by the announcement of the vote of Porto Rico, the last Territory to be called, had died away, Delaware, Washington, Idaho, Nevada and others changed to Parker and with the yells and shouts of the great crowd almost drowning his voice Governor Dockery of Missouri moved to make the nomination unanimous.

If there was a dissenting voice when Senator Bailey put the question it was not heard. A new party leader and a probable president had been made. The thousands in the hall, bleary-eyed, weary, hungry, white-faced, grimy and reeking with perspiration, began to stream out into the open air. It was broad daylight and a convention session which probably has no parallel in the political history of the United States was at an end.

T. J. Crofford has made the third application of paris green to his cotton, after which he is unable to find a live boll weevil in the field or even a punctured square. On the other hand his cotton is full of blooms and bolls, while cotton in adjoining fields is greatly damaged by the weevil. After giving paris green a thorough trial he is a strong believer in its use and believes that he has saved his cotton crop with it.

Will Enforce Ordinances.

CROCKETT, July 12, 1904.

I hereby give notice that the following ordinances which have been dormant and not properly enforced will hereafter be rigidly enforced and any violation of them promptly prosecuted, namely: The ordinances against burying in the old cemetery without a permit, or the owning a lot, the cleaning of closets and back yards of both residences and store lots, the throwing of rubbish in the sewers or filling up the sewers. It is very necessary for these ordinances to be enforced for sanitary purposes. Yours truly,

B. F. Chamberlain,

THE DRUGGIST.

Crockett stands in need of a good, general cleaning up. Dreadful odors emanate from our back alleys, and our back alleys are not the only bad smelling and unsightly places. Our people may well expect an epidemic of typhoid fever or something worse if the city is permitted to remain in its present unsanitary condition.

A newspaper does much for which it receives no pay, but there are many things for which it is legitimate to make charges. Our rule is to charge for publishing cards of thanks, resolutions of respect and all notices of church and society entertainments where an admission is to be charged or the affair is to raise money.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Folk of Kennard Mills announce the marriage of their daughter, Estelle Louise, to Dr. Albert T. O'Connor, which happy event took place Wednesday, the 6th inst. The bride is well known to the society young people of Crockett, having visited here on more than one occasion and having entertained with a lavish hand at Kennard Mills. Dr. O'Connor is also known here, where he is recognized as a young man of fine qualities and as a rising young physician. The couple are at home at Neame, Louisiana.

Call for Convention.

Notice is hereby given to the members of the Democratic Executive Board to meet at Crockett, Thursday, July 14th, to canvass the vote of the primary election, and declare result of same; and they are also requested to call the primary conventions in their respective precincts on July 16th, to select delegates to the county convention to be held at Crockett July 23rd, to elect delegates to the State Convention and to transact any other business that might come before said convention. And where they have already selected delegates to the county convention, the same delegates can be sent to the county convention on July 23rd. J. W. HALL, Chairman Executive Committee.

Fruit and Vegetable Shipments.

The American Refrigerator Transit company has handled thirty-two cars of tomatoes, peaches, cantaloupes and cabbage out of Crockett during the season just closed. This does not include express shipments in less than car load lots. It includes fifteen cars of cabbage, five cars of peaches, three cars of cantaloupes and nine cars of tomatoes. Besides this, the Pacific Express company handled three solid cars of peaches and two of cantaloupes, making thirty-seven cars in all. To this can be added, the 117 cars of potatoes shipped earlier in the spring, making a grand total of 154 for the season. It must be considered that this industry is only in its infancy here and that the large orchards have not come on yet.

The Barbecue a Success.

The barbecue in the grove in the eastern limits of the city Friday of last week was a big success. While the crowd was not as large as anticipated, it was not small by any means. People began to arrive early in the morning and by 10 o'clock a solid stream of humanity was pouring in from all directions. On that day all roads led to Crockett. The threatening clouds kept some from coming, but from 9 to 10 o'clock the streets were thronged and then the crowds began to move toward the barbecue grounds. There a band, engaged from Groveton for the day, was playing and everything was in readiness. Speaking by local candidates began at 10:30 and at 12 o'clock dinner was announced. The immense crowd was well fed and much was left over. The barbecue feature was not all of the dinner, but cakes and pies, pickles and salads, etc., helped to constitute the bill of fare. During the day all local candidates who wished to be heard were given an opportunity. After the speaking the Crockett gun club had a shoot, foot races were run, the greasy pole was climbed and other sports were indulged in. During the afternoon and evening dancing was had in the pavillion on the grounds. All left declaring the entertainment wholesome and the hospitality unbounded. A more orderly and in every way respectable crowd was never assembled at any time.

The Election.

We publish in another place the election returns in part as they have been brought in from the different precincts. They are not official and it will take an official count to decide the result between some of the candidates. In the matter of district offices it is known that Crook is defeated for judge, but it is believed that Stokes has the nomination for the senate. I. A. Daniel will be the next representative, Porter Newman county judge and Ab Phillips sheriff. The race for sheriff was close, but it was closer between the candidates for county treasurer, and it is not yet decided whether it will be Baker or Cater. Allbright and Brightman are re-elected, but there is some uncertainty as to the result between Nat Patton and J. B. Stanton for district clerk. John Spence is re-elected and John Ellis has defeated Tony Gossett for assessor. The next commissioners will no doubt be Allmond, Ross Murchison, Thomasson and J. E. Smith. J. W. Saxon has defeated Heard for justice of the peace in precinct No. 1 and Deb Hale has defeated Bony Satterwhite for constable. State officers carrying Houston county are: Davidson for attorney general, Stephens for comptroller, Robbins for treasurer and Cousins for superintendent of public instruction. The county executive committee will meet today (Thursday) and canvass the returns in full and the COURIER in its next issue will publish the result as declared by the committee. The vote of the precincts left blank in this issue will be filled in next week and the vote for county officers published in full.

Major J. C. Wootters.

After a lingering illness Major J. C. Wootters died Tuesday afternoon at his home in this city. Major Wootters was one of the oldest citizens of the county and during his day was one of its most useful. Coming to Texas from his native state, Maryland, in the early days, he selected Crockett as his place of residence and soon identified himself with the then sturdy citizenship of the county, of which so few remain. From the time of his arrival he took an active part in the social and political affairs of the county and in business his perseverance soon won for him a competence which has continued to grow during his last days. It can truly be said of him that he was one of the county's best known and most influential citizens. He was always at the head of any movement for the general good and was at one time mayor of this city. He was prominent in church work, being a member of the Methodist church, and was perhaps the oldest Mason in the county. During his late illness the Masonic order asked permission of the family to nurse him and some of them were continually by his bedside.

The funeral services will be conducted today (Thursday) at the Methodist church, participated in by the Masonic order, after which the Masons will take charge of the remains and escort them to Glenwood cemetery, where interment will be had according to the rites of the order.

Major Wootters leaves two sons and a daughter, besides many relatives and friends, to mourn his death. His children left are A. H. and R. H. Wootters and Mrs. R. E. Morris.

As a tribute to the memory of the deceased, a citizens' meeting was held at the court house Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock and appropriate resolutions passed, which will appear in the next issue of the COURIER.

PARKER'S MOTHER

Happy That Her Son is to Be Honored.

Derby, Conn., July 8.—Mrs. Harriet Parker, mother of Judge Parker, who lives in this city, has all along been confident of her son's nomination and election.

Mrs. Parker is 80 years old, but she looks and acts younger. She said today: "My son's nomination will be particularly pleasing to me, because it will have come to him unsought. But I take even more comfort in the knowledge that the neighbors and friends at Esopus—persons who know him best—all have such high opinion of him."

Mrs. Parker attributes much of her son's success to the fact that she disciplined him with a liberal application of the switch in early years. She says the children of the present day have not as good manners as those of half a century ago, a condition she ascribes to a general abandonment of corporal punishment.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

Adopted by the National Convention at St. Louis.

The democratic national platform, adopted at St. Louis last week, is too long for our columns if published in full, so we publish it only in part:

THE TARIFF.

The democratic party has been and will ever continue to be the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted, through congressional favor, to draw a heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities which our political institutions were established to secure have caused what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known.

These special favorites of the government have through trust methods been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition which was the only alleged check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, through the financial assistance they can give, now control the policy of the republican party.

We denounce protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few and we favor a tariff limited to the needs of the government economically administered, and so levied as not to discriminate against any industry, class or section, to the end that the burdens of taxation shall be distributed as equally as possible.

We favor revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common wealth and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate ends of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities," and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation, to support of the Federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity.

TRUSTS AND UNLAWFUL COMBINATIONS.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations, designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor, and which have been fostered and promoted under republican rule, are a menace to the beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. Individual equality of opportunity and free competition are essential to a healthy and permanent commercial prosperity, and any trust, combination or monopoly tending to destroy these by controlling production, restricting competition or fixing prices should be prohibited and punished by law. We especially denounce rebates and discrimination by transportation companies as the most potent agency in promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade.

We demand an enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, to the end that the traveling public and shippers of this country may have prompt and adequate relief for the abuses to which they are subjected in the matter of transportation. We demand a strict enforcement of existing civil and criminal statutes against all such trusts, combinations and monopolies, and we demand the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary to effectually suppress them.

Any trust or unlawful combination engaged in interstate commerce which is monopolizing any branch of business or production should not be permitted to transact business outside of the State of its origin. Whenever it shall be established in any court of competent jurisdiction that such restriction exists, such prohibition should be enforced through comprehensive laws to be enacted on the subject.

ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The democracy, when entrusted with power, will construct the Panama canal speedily, honestly and economically, thereby giving to our people what the democrats have always contended for, a great interoceanic canal, furnishing shorter and cheaper lines of transportation and broader and less trammelled trade relations with the other peoples of the world.

EXECUTIVE USURPATION.

We favor the nomination and election of a president imbued with the principles of the constitution, who will set his face sternly against executive usurpation of legislative and judicial functions—whether that usurpation be veiled under the guise of executive construction of existing laws or whether it take refuge in the tyrant's plea of necessity or superior wisdom.

SCHOOLS AND THE RACE QUESTION.

The race question has brought countless woes to this country. The calm wisdom of the American people should see to it that it brings no more.

To revive the dead and hateful race and sectional animosities in any part of our common country means confusion, distraction of business and the opening of wounds now happily healed. North, South, East and West have but recently stood together in line of battle from the walls of Peking to the hills of Santiago, and as sharers of a common glory and a common destiny, we share equally the common burdens.

We, therefore, deprecate and condemn the Bourbon-like, selfish and narrow spirit of the recent republican convention at Chicago, which sought to kindle anew the embers of the racial and sectional strife, and we appeal from it to the sober common sense and patriotic spirit of the American people.

THE REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

The existing republican administration has been spasmodic, erratic, sensational, spectacular and arbitrary. It has made itself a satire upon the congress, the courts and upon the settled practices and usages of national and international law.

It summoned the congress into hasty and extra session and early adjourned it, leaving behind in its flight unfinished calendars and unfinished tasks.

It made war, which is the sole power of congress, without its authority, thereby usurping one of your fundamental prerogatives. It violated a plain statute of the United States, as well as plain treaty obligations, in the usages and constitutional law, and has taken refuge under the pretense of executing a great public policy which could have been more easily effected lawfully, constitutionally and with honor.

It forced strained and unnatural constructions upon statutes, usurping judicial interpretations and abolishing congressional action by decree.

It withdrew from congress their customary duties of investigation which have heretofore made the representatives of the people and the States the terror of the evil doers.

It conducted a secret investigation of its own and boasted of a few sample convictions, while it threw a board coverlet over the bureaus which have been their chosen field of operative abuses and kept in power the superior officers under whose administration the crimes had been committed.

It ordered assault upon some monopolies, but paralyzed by its first victory, it flung out the flag of truce and cried out that it would not "run amuck," leaving its future purposes beclouded by its vacillations.

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by B. F. Chamberlain.

ROW OVER CHAIRMAN.

National Committee Indorses Taggart—Will Meet in New York on Call of Jones.

St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—The National committee, new in its make-up, met at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with the avowed intention on behalf of the supporters of Taggart of Indiana of organizing and electing him chairman.

The early morning meeting was not fully attended and the object aimed at was not accomplished. It was pointed out by Mr. Mack of New York that it would be discourteous to take any action until Mr. Parker, as the candidate, was consulted.

The Taggart men, while not having enough to elect, still suggested that Mr. Hill, Mr. Sheehan and Mr. Belmont, the candidates, adopt a resolution that they be invited to meet the committee this afternoon. When the afternoon came there were new complications in the way of electing.

Chairman Jones of the old committee boldly asserted that such action as contemplated would be unprecedented, and in fact, illegal. It also turned out that at a late hour the convention adopted a resolution authorizing Chairman Jones of the old committee to call the new committee together in New York City at such time as he might suggest.

Then the other thing was that Senator Hill and Mr. Sheehan left for New York at noon and could not therefore attend the meeting.

Senator James K. Jones, the retiring chairman of the National committee, made this statement for the Associated Press:

"The National convention, by specific resolution adopted last night, authorized, in fact instructed, me to call the first meeting of the new committee in New York City. Until I call it the new committee can not organize, and meetings they have are unauthorized. Now let me say, forcibly, if need be, that acting under the convention authority, I call the National committee to meet in New York at such time as Judge Parker shall designate, for before I call it I shall consult him. It would be an unprecedented thing for the new committee to organize without consultation with the candidate. Such a thing was never heard of."

Just after the afternoon session began Mr. Taggart, who was presiding, was asked to retire so that he need not be embarrassed. August Belmont of New York was called into the room and asked to give Judge Parker's views. He said he could not do so.

Col. Guffey insisted that precedent demanded that the committee courteously await Judge Parker's opinion.

"In fact," he said, "the resolution of last night precluded any action until Chairman Jones issued a call for New York."

Senator Bailey of Texas said that the matter should be settled at once. It was customary for the committee to meet immediately after the adjournment and elect a chairman and a resolution was passed last Thursday to that effect by the convention. "I guess," he said, "that we can have Judge Parker's views in a few minutes from his friends here, if they care to give them."

After two hours of debate, Senator Bailey offered to compromise if the committee would adopt a resolution indorsing the candidacy of Thomas Taggart for chairman of the committee. Mr. Mack agreed to this and the resolution was adopted. The committee will therefore meet in New York on the call of former Chairman Jones.
