Bill Seales of Austin has appointed Joe Costen of Muleshoe as the Bailey County campaign manager for gubernatorial candidate Francis (Sissy) Parent-hold.

Ronnie Johnson has been listed on the Dean's Honor List for the spring semester 1972, at the University of Houston. He is a pre-veterinarian medicine major and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Johnson of Muleshoe.

Judy A. Lust and David G. Lust of Muleshoe have been granted a junior membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Missouri, Lloyd D. Miller, executive secretary, announced.

This new junior membership entitles the member to register purebred Angus at regular membership rates and to the privileges of the Association until the age of 21. At that time junior members are eligible to convert to lifetime memberships in the Association.

There were 157 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month.

Two Oklahoma State Tech-students from Muleshoe have become charter members of OST's recently formed post-secondary Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) Chapter.

They are Joe L. Mata, automotive branch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Mata, Route 2, and Eddie G. Howard, automotive branch, son of Mr. and Mrs. T.G. Howard, Route 2.

Three students from Muleshoe are among the 248 students listed on the spring Honor Roll at West Texas State University.

Nelda Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Finley, maintained a 2.8 grade point average. She is a sophomore majoring in elementary education with her area of specialization being math.

Jerry S. Putman, son of Dr. and Mrs. B.R. Putman, averaged 2.7 for the semester. He is a freshman.

Junior Lanora E. Allison, Route 4, carried a 2.5 average. Mrs. Allison is an elementary education major with art as her area of specialization.

To qualify for the Honor Roll, a student must maintain a minimum average of 2.5 on a 3.0 basis and must carry at least 15 semester hours.

Survey Shows 22 Texas Counties Without Doctors

By Godfrey Anderson Associated Press Writer
Is there a doctor in the house? That cry goes unanswered all ways in the more remote areas of Texas.

Latest figures of the Texas Medical Association show that 22 of the 254 counties in the state don't have a single physician to call their own.

If you're sick, you'd better be well enough to travel.

Some of those same counties are without hospitals or other facilities even if a doctor could be persuaded to live there. Young, newly qualified men, seeking a place to hang their areas like the plague. They head in herds toward the cities.

PROBLEM DISCUSSED
The problem was discussed extensively by a half-dozen committees during the recent annual session of the association in San Antonio.

Some attention has been given to encouraging residents of sparsely populated areas to take medical training themselves in the hope that they will return in due course and set up practice at home. A few have done so, but others—once having gotten away to the university—fall to the temptation of the bright lights and carry their skills elsewhere.

Dr. Braswell Locker of Brownwood, president of TMA, believes part of the trouble is that medical students now mar-

He or she will be selected for "continuous interest and unselfish service to the community."

Also during the luncheon, the Parade of Pioneers will be held with members dressed in pioneer clothing. Business people of Muleshoe will judge the contestants on posture, pose, attitude and authenticity of the period depicted.

Officers serving this year include C.F. Garth, president; Claude Coffman, vice-president; and Mary Young, secretary.

Governor Preston Smith has proclaimed May as Senior Citizens' Month continuing the 10 year tradition of designating a month to honor older Texans. "Texas values its senior citizens," he said. "They should be commended and respected for their continuing efforts to build a better society for all citizens."

He said there is a need for greater public awareness of the contributions of older Texans, and also "concern for the problems many face as they grow

Poppies On Sale Here This Week

This week the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 8570 are selling poppies in Muleshoe. Mayor Irvin St. Clair signed the following proclamation last week: "Whereas, the sacrifices of those who have lost their lives, their health, or their livelihood as a result of their military service are rightly the concern of all citizens; and whereas, the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars offers an opportunity for the people of this community to express their solicitude for those unfortunate persons who have paid more than their share of the cost of freedom; and whereas, VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising activity so much earlier. "There wives don't want to go to small places," he explained. "Others get used to working in a hospital while training and they won't go where there isn't one. Robert G. Mickey, who heads TMA's office of medical health and manpower at its Austin headquarters, says at least 2,500 more doctors are needed in Texas to make things comfortable. Some counties suffer a moderate to acute shortage of medical care, while others have but a single doctor. Those that have no doctor at all are: Borden, Briscoe, Carson, Glascock, Hartley, Hudspeth, Irion, Jeff Davis, Kenedy, Kent, King, Kinney, Lipscomb, Loving, McMullen, Oldham, Real, Roberts, San Jacinto, Sherman, Stonewall and Terrell. Most are in West, Southwest and Northwest Texas, although San Jacinto is in Southeast Texas and a couple of those named are in South Texas. POPULATION GIVEN The physician population of Texas was given early this year by TMA as 14,953 of whom 1,952 are federal doctors working at military installations in the state and also caring for the dependent families attached to the bases. Of the 13,001 non-federal physicians, 11,654 are concerned with direct patient care while the balance is made up of full-time faculty, administration and research. The greatest need, according to Mickey, is for physicians in the primary care areas. Family physicians—they used to be called general practitioners—are needed most, but there is

At the Saturday luncheon, the guest speaker was U.S. Ambassador to the U.N., George Bush. Ambassador Bush said in his talk, in reference to the blockade of North Vietnam ports that this was "a reasonable response to an unreasonable enemy." Bush also stated that in polls taken by different sources that the least support the President had received on the blockade was 53 per cent. At the afternoon business session, the Texas Jaycee delegates resolved to back the President's actions in Vietnam almost unanimously.

During the awards ceremony at the luncheon, Derrell Oliver was presented the award as the Outstanding State Director in the state of Texas. The Muleshoe Jaycees also received third place in the Blue Chip competition.

At the Saturday night installation banquet, the new incoming president, Authur Oswald from the Pasadena Jaycees, was installed for the coming year. Current President Rick Clayton presented his special presidential awards. ## Neal Dillman Speaks To Rotary Club

Gil Lamb had the program at Rotary Tuesday and presented Superintendent of Schools Neal Dillman who gave a program pertaining to graduation and graduation facts in general.

Dillman pointed out that there are many opportunities awaiting today's graduating seniors. Starting a new life in these times would have interesting directions.

He quoted national statistics and showed the percent of students who will eventually become alcoholics, drug addicts, VD victims and at what age they will die.

"You cannot buy self respect, character or a reputation," the superintendent said. A student must maintain self respect and one of the jobs of the school besides grades is to teach youngsters how to live. One of its major jobs is to prepare these youngsters for life after school. This job should start in the home.

He explained the school's codes and stated that some school's codes had disappeared in respect to dress and deportment. He stated that it was easy to see the break down in other schools when proper codes are dropped.

Dillman also said that this Muleshoe group of kids was the finest of any school he had visited and that he was very proud of the youngsters.

on aging will be planned for older persons.

Mrs. Carter Clopton, Executive Director of the Governor's Committee on Aging said, "Independent living for the elderly is the theme of Senior Citizen's Month this year."

Supportive services which enable elderly persons to remain in their own homes for a longer period of time will be stressed and publicized, she said.

Such services include: Meals-on-Wheels, a balanced meal is delivered daily to elderly persons who can no longer cook for themselves. The nutritional value and the personal contact are both important in this program.

Transportation, seeing a doctor, buying groceries, and even going to church is very difficult for many of the elderly. Transportation programs aimed at meeting these needs can do much to prevent degeneration.

Homemaker Service, Homemakers clean house, buy groceries, furnish transportation to doctor's offices and perform other needed services. A weekly visit from a homemaker also provides a personal contact for many isolated elderly.

Mrs. Clopton said that many communities take the opportunity of Senior Citizen's Month to select and honor an outstanding elderly person.

Local communities are also planning and developing programs to meet the needs of their elderly citizens as expressed at community and regional forums held in preparation for the recent White House Conference on Aging.

Governor Smith is urging communities throughout Texas to select an outstanding older adult for recognition during May, Senior Citizen's Month. "Our older Texans should be commended and respected for their continuing efforts to build a better society for all," he said.

There is a need for greater public awareness of the contributions of Older Texans," he said. "Senior Citizen's Month offers us the opportunity to recognize their talents and abilities."

Guidelines for selecting outstanding senior citizens have been sent to all local committees on aging and County Home Demonstration Agents. An Outstanding Senior Citizen in Bailey County will be selected next week at the regular monthly meeting of the Muleshoe Senior Citizens.

Emphasis is placed on the selection of a person who has achieved independent living and has contributed volunteer service and leadership in the community.

Local committees on aging are formulating the final criteria for selection.

Senator John Tower

On March 30, 1972, North Vietnam launched its most flagrant violation to date of the 1954 Geneva Accords and the 1968 understandings. In an overt invasion of South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese pushed three divisions across the DMZ. Preparations for the invasion, including road-building in the DMZ, had been underway for months prior to the breakdown of the "peace talks" in Paris. Now that breakdown was not the cause of the invasion. Rather, it was clearly a well-planned element of the North Vietnamese aggressive strategy for domination of Southeast Asia. Subsequent to that attack through the DMZ, the communists increased activity in the Central Highlands and in Binh Long province north of Saigon.

In response to this greatly increased threat to American troops and to the President's policy of Vietnamization, bombing has been increased in South Vietnam and resumed over North Vietnam. Additionally, the harbors and waterways of North Vietnam have finally been mined. This last action will not lead to nuclear holocaust as the hysterics would have us believe. It should not destroy progress made on detente with the Soviets because that progress is based on mutual self interest. Mining is the least offensive most effective way of eventually bringing North Vietnamese aggression to a halt. Without replacement of the heavy equipment being lost in their invasion, the ability of the communists to launch large scale operations will be reduced.

Interdiction bombing in North Vietnam has been resumed in conjunction with the mining operation. It is difficult for some to comprehend the importance of interdiction bombing because its effects like those of the mining are long term rather than immediate. Nevertheless bombing does have a significant impact by destroying supplies which eventually would be brought south to support the continued offensive. It does not take long for a truck to move ammunition from the ports of Haiphong or Vinh to the battle zone. But interdiction either destroys that ammunition or makes re-supply more difficult. Thus interdiction bombing is important to the continuing success of the South Vietnamese as they protect our withdrawal.

It is always difficult to predict what, if any, the political effect in Hanoi of any military action will be. It is clearly having some effect, though. Hanoi has appealed directly to the American Congress and through the French government to stop the bombing. The press has reported the possibility of resistance mounting in North Vietnam to Hanoi's aggressive policy. The politburo fools no one when it disclaims the invasion. North Vietnamese mothers, sisters and wives know their men are off fighting elsewhere in Indochina. But the people of North Vietnam have no public forum in which to air their discontent, free from reprisal such as we have here in America.

Hanoi tells its people that the Americans are defeated. But how does it explain, to a people weary of losing its sons on foreign soil the failure of Hanoi to bring the war to a close? The North Vietnamese are not supermen. They do not have an inexhaustible supply of will to win any more than other national groups.

While it is difficult to determine political effects in North Vietnam of the bombing and mining, it was much easier to predict what they would be here in the United States. We hear once again from the advocates of masked surrender. The price of short-term peace could well be the slaughter of hundreds of thousands, perhaps over a million, Catholics and supporters of the South Vietnamese government. The price of short term peace is further Soviet and North Vietnamese adventures, a fueling of the expansionist fires in Moscow and Hanoi. While the package of immediate peace seems inviting we should realize the full price tag of accepting a peace on the terms of the Communists. Acceptance of communist terms on our part would serve to encourage future military adventures on theirs.

This is why I was encouraged this week when my colleagues in the Senate voted, even by the narrow margin of 47 to 43, to refrain from the temptation of enacting legislation to set a legal date for the end of our involvement in Vietnam. I am for achieving peace in Vietnam and I am for withdrawing our armed forces. But the Congress must not tie the hands of the President as he seeks to achieve lasting peace.

Local Cancer Society Seeks Contributions

When cancer takes the life of someone close to us, a relative or friend, the loss is painful. However, many thoughtful persons in Bailey County are turning losses into victories by making memorial gifts in memory of a loved one lost to cancer—a living memorial.

"A gift today may spare others tomorrow," explained Mrs. Dean Sprayberry, Memorial Chairman for the Bailey County

Unit of the American Cancer Society, a national health agency fighting cancer through programs of research, education and service. "The Society seeks in this three-fold way to fulfill one of mankind's greatest hopes—the ultimate triumph over cancer. Each memorial contribution brings the moment of final victory closer."

Donors receive acknowledgement of their gifts and families of those honored receive a handsome memorial card. The amount of the gift, in Muleshoe, contributions are received by Mrs. Dean Sprayberry at the First National Bank.

Goodwill Center Kindergarten Holds Graduation Exercises

The auditorium of the Baptist Spanish Mission was filled to capacity Friday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m. for the graduation program of the Goodwill Center Kindergarten.

The prelude and processional music was presented by Ronnie Gutierrez. The welcome was given by Rev. D.C. DuBose, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The kindergarten children gave the pledge of Allegiance and sang "Deep and Wide," "Bingo," "Ten Little Indians" and "Jesus Loves Me".

Diplomas were presented by Mrs. George Washington and Mrs. Charles Bratcher, teachers of the kindergarten. Room mothers, Virginia Estrada and Mrs. Manuel Trevino, presented each child with a gift. Gifts of appreciation were given to Mrs. Washington and Mrs. Bratcher.

Special music was presented by Frank, Emilo and Virginia Estrada. Speaker for the program was Rev. Juan Jaquez, pastor of the Spanish Mission. He used scripture verses from the sixth chapter of Ephesians, pointing out the responsibility of parents toward their children. In closing, prayer was led by Charles Bratcher.

Following the program, a Mexican supper honoring the graduating class was hosted by their parents in the fellowship hall of the Mission. The tables were decorated in black and white. A "Wise Owl," complete with cap and diploma, was the centerpiece for the head table.

Piano Auditions Held In Muleshoe

The annual National Piano Playing Auditions for Muleshoe and the surrounding areas were held Thursday, May 18 through Saturday, May 20, in the McKinstry Studio at 318 West Avenue J.

A minimum of 40 students is required for a center. This is the fourth year an audition center has been established in Muleshoe. Mrs. Sam McKinstry was appointed as the local chairman. This year some 71 students representing five teachers were heard by the adjudicators.

Miss Jane Ann Henry, who is a visiting assistant professor of piano at Texas Tech, was the judge Thursday and Saturday. Jerry Brainard, assistant instructor of organ, harpsichord and theory at Texas Tech, acted as a substitute for Miss Henry on Friday. Brainard is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music (BM, MM) and the Royal College of Music, London. This is his second year at Texas Tech. This was Miss Henry's second year to act as a Guild judge and Friday was a new experience for Brainard, as this was his first Guild judging. Mrs. McKinstry states that "the teachers and all of our students here at Muleshoe liked Miss Henry and Brainard very much. They were competent judges and very understanding."

Pupils entering the National Piano Playing Auditions are heard and rated by well-qualified examiners. Performance is graded on the following points: accuracy, continuity, phrasing, pedaling, dynamics, rhythm, tempo, tone interpretation, style and technique. These goals are attained through the measurement of individual merit and not in competitive contests. Pupils are classified according to the numbers of pieces they play—all numbers being memorized except for Hobbyist and Social, who play using their music.

Pupils are classified as follows: National with 10 to 14 solos; State with seven to nine solos; District with four to six solos; Local with two to three solos and Pledges with one solo; and Hobbyist and Social.

The following are the names of the students, their classifications and their teachers. Students of Mrs. Evins of Sudan were Linda Evins and Paula Ellison, national Gaylene Rogers, state; Marilyn May and Carrie Ray, district; and Frank Reed, local.

Students of Mrs. W.T. Watson were Curtis Wheeler, Clifford Watson, Janell Garrett and Chana Eutanks, national; Darla Hunter and Debbie Hunter, local; and Jana Garrett and Gayla Hooten, social.

Mrs. Jimmy Milner's students were Keva Roming, Rena Head and Diane McGuire, state; Sharla Henry, Sherri Henry, Leslie Cowan, Tena Landers, Jacinda Gleason, Jo Roming, Brenda Clay, Monica Dale, Leslie Wagner, Scott Baker, Linda Shafer, Sally Lunsford and Jed Davis, all district; and Angela Matthews and Denese Peterson, local.

Students of Mrs. Sam Damron were Shannon Sower, Kelly Gregory and Lisa Brown, national; Marilyn Black, Brent Gunter and Mark Mimms, state; Stacy Campbell, Benton Glaze, Tyree Wagon and Laurie Young, district; and Ellen Shafer, local.

Pupils of Mrs. Sam McKinstry were Lamont Lewis, Lashelle Lewis, Jan Whit, Karen Stovall, Terry Baker, Vickie Hobbs of Farwell, Danann Harmon, Connie Harmon, Mark Harmon, Rayshel Massingill, Rob Hedgecock, Susan Crittenden, Cody Crittenden, Belinda Nickels, Kim Fisher of Sudan, Tanya Ray, Phyllis Ray, Brenda Wimberly, Julia Hettlinga, Elizabeth Isaac, Cynthia Isaac, Terry Shafer, Brenda St. Clair, and Jana Oylar; and Stephanie Bryant and Denise Harrison, hobbyist.

Connie Floyd To Attend 4-H Roundup

Saddle up, podnuh! It's roundup time!

Connie Floyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Auston Floyd, and a member of the Progress 4-H Club will be among more than 1,800 boys and girls from throughout the state invading the campus of Texas A&M University June 6-8 for the 1972 State 4-H Roundup. And they will be bringing a multitude of talents and abilities as they enter into statewide competition in more than 30 contests and demonstrations. Miss Floyd will be representing District II and Bailey County in the Foods Educational Activity, "Let's Speak Out." Miss Floyd will be accompanied to College Station by her mother and Mrs. Robin Taylor, Bailey County Home Demonstration Agent.

In addition to the 4-H'ers, state 4-H officials say that some 600 adults including county Extension agents, 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H, contest donors and members of the board of directors of the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation will also be on hand.

The 4-H'ers attending Roundup have already been named county and district winners in various demonstrations and judging contests. To be eligible to compete at the state level, the boys and girls must have won first or second place in district competition. There are 13 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

This year's Roundup will officially get under way with a general assembly at 5:30 p.m. on June 6 in G. Rollie White Coliseum. Special awards will be presented to 10 individuals.

businesses and mass media representatives who have made outstanding contributions to 4-H work. These awards are provided by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

One of the special activities of the Roundup is an adult leader recognition luncheon on June 7 honoring those who have given strong support to 4-H. Twenty-seven 4-H adult leaders will each receive a special plaque from the 4-H foundations. Contest winners and donors will be honored at a special recognition program that evening.

According to state 4-H officials, the annual Roundup is one of the oldest statewide 4-H gatherings in the nation. It began near the turn of the century before 4-H officially became the youth phase program of the Cooperative Extension Service.

4-H Records Training Held

"4-H record keeping teaches a worthwhile skill and serves as a means of measuring personal progress and improvement," Ed Garnett, area 4-H youth specialist, told Bailey County 4-H members and leaders. This training meeting was held for 4-H'ers, leaders and parents Monday night at the Bailey County Electric Cooperative meeting room. Garnett also pointed out that record keeping was a necessary part of America's free enterprise system and the habit should be encouraged from the beginning of a 4-H career.

Those 4-H members attending this training meeting were Larry, Diana and Pam Vinson, Sherman Presley; Jole Carpenter; Jo Rhonda Rhodes; Gary, Brent and John Gunter III; Connie and Bennie Floyd; Paul Harbin and Craig Kirby. Leaders and parents attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Harbin, Mrs. Reuel Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Auston Floyd, Mrs. John Gunter, Mrs. Betty Carpenter and Mrs. Joe Rhodes. Mrs. Jack Whitehead and the Home Demonstration Agent from Cochran County, Gail O'Neal, also attended, as well as Spencer

Tanksley, Bailey County Agent, and Mrs. Robin Taylor, Bailey County Home Demonstration Agent.

'Sissy' says
 Texas needs
 Real Change
 MRS. FARENTHOLD AND THE ISSUES
 Let's talk over the vital issues facing Texans today.
 First and foremost is taxation. Big Business should start paying its fair share of taxes. A tax on the profits of big corporations would allow us to cut the unfair franchise tax on small business and reduce the sales tax that straps most Texans. Average working people pay too much of the tax bill. It's time Texas joins the 46 states that tax the profits of big business.
 All of us are hit monthly by a big bill for electricity, gas and telephone service. In many instances, this bill is much higher than it should be because the average consumer has little or no protection from the giant utility corporations that monopolize these vital services. A public utilities commission with members interested in helping the public is one thing I will push for Texas.
 Auto insurance rates have gone out of control. I will freeze the rates and appoint a citizen's committee to find out just why these rates have skyrocketed.
 Texas must solve the public school financing problem. Average homeowners and small landowners pay more than their share. We need tax equalization to make sure that big business pays its part of this necessary expense. Our children need and deserve the best education that money can buy.
 Candidates for public office should be willing to file a complete and honest financial statement showing how much money they make and how they have made it. I have filed such a statement for myself and my husband including a copy of our federal income tax return. My opponent has refused to do so.
 It is easy to see that today's issues demand REAL change in our state government. This I can and WILL bring.

Silver Screen Highlight Of Junior-Senior Banquet

This past Saturday evening the Junior Class of Muleshoe High school honored the Senior Class of 1972 with the annual Junior-Senior Banquet.

This year's theme was a tribute to the motion picture industry entitled "The Silver Screen." The decorations highlighted the royal palladium banquet hall from the motion picture "Hello Dolly." The color scheme carried throughout was predominately red with silver, black and white for highlights. Master of ceremonies for the banquet was Brent Blackman. The dinner was prepared by the Junior Class mothers and served by members of the sophomore class.

Entertainment was provided by "Baker's Dozen," a singing group from South Plains College. After the 30 minute performance, the group received a five minute standing ovation.

A special entertainment program was presented as the conclusion to the two and one half hour banquet. A thirteen minute film premiering a day in the life of a junior and senior at Muleshoe High was presented to the 305 guests in attendance. After the film, fun awards were presented. Randy Burris received the film's best actor award; Debbie Blaylock received the best actress and sex awards; Mike Morris was awarded the sex symbol award for his achievements; and Jan Jinks and Alex Ybarra won the glamour awards.

After the comic awards, serious awards were presented.

Mr. and Miss Spirit of 1972 were Tommie Clements and Debby Wheat; Mr. and Miss Spirit for 1973 were Brad Davis and Lizan Gunter; Mr. and Miss Congeniality were Ricky Faver and Judy Woodard; and the sponsors' awards went to Keith Taylor and Mrs. Elizabeth Black.

Suggestions For Making Consumer Textile Complaints

COLLEGE STATION--How should a consumer go about making a complaint concerning textile products?

"It's the consumer's responsibility to let his dissatisfactions be known," said Roxanne Schnorr, clothing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

The specialist suggested that you ask yourself a few questions before filing a complaint. Was the imperfection the manufacturer's fault? Were all instructions on fabric care followed? Was the product used for its intended purpose? Was common sense used in caring for the item? Were expectations of the product performance reasonable?

"If you can answer yes to these questions, you may have a legitimate complaint," Miss Schnorr said. "Make your dissatisfactions known. But keep cool, and curb your emotions."

Begin by returning the product to the local retailer. Be certain the article is clean. The retailer should exchange the product, repair it or take it back and return the money. If this first encounter gets no results, go to a higher level.

Write the product manufacturer. The name and address should be available on the labels and hangtags that came on the article. Explain the complaint. Tell what's already been done in seeking help locally, and give the name and address of the local retailer.

"Make a request for help in your final paragraph," the specialist advised. "Address the letter to Customer Service or the Consumer Relations Department for immediate results. Keep a copy of the letter for future reference."

Miss Schnorr explained that if you don't receive a response within a month, let the product manufacturer know that you're taking the complaint to another level. Manufacturers don't want poor customer relations, nor do they like bad publicity. The next step may be the action that gets results.

The third step is writing to a consumer protection agency. Include a copy of the letter sent to the manufacturer. This may involve local and national publicity particularly undesirable for the manufacturer. These agencies react upon similar complaints received by numerous persons.

For any kind of consumer complaints, write to Mrs. Virginia Knauer, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, The White House, Washington, D.C.

The Better Business Bureau handles complaints involving advertising, poor trade practices and outright fraud. See the listings in the telephone directory for their address.

Trade associations are also becoming involved in reducing consumer complaints. For textile product complaints write to the American Textile Manufacturer Institute, 1501 Johnson Building, Charlotte, N.C. The American Apparel Manufacturers Association, 2000 K Street N.W., Washington, D.C., is also interested in hearing consumer complaints on textile items.

"Remember, your loyalty to brandnames and local retailers is your vote of confidence," Miss Schnorr said. "If you're particularly pleased with a textile product, write a letter expressing your satisfaction."

The resources are available. Now it's the consumer's responsibility to let his complaints and pleasures be heard.

Muleshoe should be well stocked with fish, since nine

WEEKLY RECIPE

Sarah Anne Sheridan

New potatoes are already appearing on the market. However, the spring gardener looks forward to his first harvest of small new potatoes. They are delicious combined with other fresh vegetables or in special recipes.

Savory New Potatoes

- 1 10 1/2 oz. can consomme
- 1 can water
- Few celery leaves
- Few sprigs parsley
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 t salt
- 1 lb. small new potatoes
- 3 slices bacon
- 1 small onion

Bring consomme, water, celery leaves, parsley and seasonings to a brisk boil. Drop in scrubbed, unpeeled potatoes and cook, uncovered until potatoes are tender when tested with a fork. Strain off the liquid. Reserve vegetables. Boil liquid until 1/2 cup remains. Cut each slice of bacon into 4 pieces and fry until almost crisp. Add finely chopped onions to bacon and bacon fat and cook until done. Add potatoes and consomme to onion, bacon mixture. Cook over medium heat, spooning liquid over potatoes occasionally, until heated thoroughly.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
My husband and I were married for five years and got a divorce. We had no children and he and I were not congenial on many things. His business always came first.

Now my problem is this. As a single girl I was very popular and had no trouble getting dates with nice men but for some reason, most of the men who have asked me for a date this past year seem to have only one thing in mind. Why should people think that a woman who has been divorced is such a push-over or has lost all moral sense because she has been married? I get so disgusted with men that I am getting suspicious of all of them. But I am young and I would like a home and family with some nice man. What would you advise me to do?
R.B.-R.I.

Answer:

A divorcee does have one strike against her when it comes to dating. But there are many nice men in this world who are not interested in seduction and the best plan is to try and get into some work-regular or volunteer-where you will have the opportunity of coming in contact with such people.

Be as attractive and well-groomed as possible but do not act desperate or try too hard to please a man. The hard to get is usually more successful in the race to the altar than the girl who tries too hard. And try to be happy or seem to be-for crying and sob stuff does not pay off in the long run.
Louisa.

Frances Farenthold Issues Statement On Agriculture

Frances (Sissy) Farenthold, gubernatorial candidate for governor in the June 3 runoff, has issued the following statement on agriculture:
 "I am deeply disturbed by the declining economic position of Texas's family farmers and ranchers. Our nation lost 123 farms per day last year. This includes many Texas farms.
 "When a man and his family can not live on his land and make a decent living, something is wrong with our society," states Mrs. Farenthold. "Due to big government and big business that controls our state government, the farmer and rancher has suffered along with other Texans, who foot the tax bill for big government."

"To correct this situation I propose:
 "To institute a program of rural economic development to stop the drain of rural population to our over-crowded and polluted cities.
 "To stop raising the sales tax, never consider extending the tax to food and services, maintain agriculture exemptions, and if new revenues are needed, pass a corporate profits tax to balance taxes between big business and consumers.

 "To create a public utilities commission to make sure utility rates are fair, Texas is one of the few states without a commission, I favor territorial integrity for rural electric cooperatives to preserve their tradition of sound service.
 "To develop programs returning political power to local communities and areas instead of running everything from agencies in Austin.

"To have a land use management program for Texas as recommended by the state farm and ranch organizations and other friends of agriculture.
 "To promote research to help rural areas.
 "To provide for better rural schools through a fairer tax system.
 And, "To continue to fight against over control of rural business as I did when I voted against the trailer brake bill."

Trailer Brake Bill Discussed

Austin-- Texas House speaker Rayford Price yesterday moved to relieve operators of most small trailers from controversial "trailer brake" provisions of the Texas Rules of the Road Act (Senate Bill No. 183) passed during the last regular session of the Legislature.
 Price announced appointment of a special interim committee to draft amendments to the Act for submission at the forthcoming special session of the Legislature. Among changes which he personally favors, Price said, are those which would exempt trailers having a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or less from the "brakes on all wheels" requirements, and specifically authorize self-activating "surge brakes" for this same class of trailers. He further recommends enactment of a "grandfather" clause exempting trailers manufactured prior to effective date of the act.

Rep. Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth was appointed chairman of the 10-man committee, and other House members named to serve with him will be Reps. Bill Clayton of Springlake, vice-chairman, and Steve Burgess of Nacogdoches.

Citizen members will be Clark Jarnagin of Euleus, representing the Texas Horse Council; Don King of Fort Worth, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Tony Price, Dallas, Texas Cotton Ginners Association; Cecil Reid, Dallas, Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas; Bruno Schroeder, Austin, Texas Agricultural Council; Bill Sims, San Angelo, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, and J.T. (Red) Woodson, Texas Farm Bureau. The Rules of the Road act was passed to bring Texas into compliance with Federal standards, thereby assuring the state of continued eligibility for Federal road-building funds, Price said.

 As presently written, the new law requires brakes acting on all wheels of trailers weighing more than 3,000 pounds and those weighing less than that figure when the gross weight of the trailer and load exceed forty per cent of the gross weight of the towing vehicle. It also requires for the first time the trailer brakes must be activated by the same device that operates the brakes on the towing vehicle.

"Unfortunately, the bill was one of many which were rushed through the Legislature and failed to receive the consideration it warranted. As a result, inadvertently omitted was a grandfather clause" exempting trailers manufactured prior to effective date of the act. Such a clause appears in several other portions of the act," he said.
 "The stringent braking specifications set forth under the act as now written would be virtually impossible for most operators of small trailers to meet. I think this matter is of such urgency that I have requested Gov. Smith to include its consideration in his call for the next special session of the Legislature, and he has agreed to do so, I have asked the House committee to have its recommendations ready at that time," Price said.

A History Of Bailey County Pioneer Families

FARMED SOUTH OF TOWN...Bertie and C.M. Black, pictured here in front of their Model-T roadster, brought over three hundred head of cattle to Bailey County from Wheeler County, Texas and settled down to farming south of Muleshoe in 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Black

Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Black came to Bailey County from Wheeler County, Texas in 1931. The Blacks settled on a farm south of Muleshoe. They had a definite reason for coming to Bailey County. While in Wheeler County, many of the four hundred head of cattle they owned had died of shinnery oak poisoning. They came here to better land and to get away from the shinnery. Mrs. Black, the former Bertie E. Walters, brought canned goods to her new home in Bailey County. She remembers putting cotton seed around the jars in the back of their truck to keep them from freezing. Mrs. Black was born in Alabama and came to Texas when she was only three years old. For recreation in the early days in Bailey County she remembers that the Blacks and several of their neighbors had their own rodeos and also organized a baseball team. There were very few cars in the county at that time. The open touring cars had curtains that buttoned onto the inside of the car. They all had chain drive at first and some had buggy wheels. Mrs. Black recalls that the first irrigation well dug in Bailey County was fifty feet deep and the second was ninety feet deep. This is one in a series of historical biographies of Bailey County pioneer families who arrived here prior to 1930.

Legislation To Assist Cotton Growers

Tahoka cotton farmer Robert Warren will leave about May 11 on a 19-day trip to Japan, Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong as a member of a "cotton trade team" promoting sales of U.S. Cotton. All four countries are large users of High Plains cotton and the extent of their imports from this country has a significant effect on cotton prices from year to year. Warren was named to represent producers on the team by Agricultural Secretary Earl Butz. The other producer representative will be Robert Squires of El Paso. Two sales teams, the other going to Western Europe, will be traveling at the same time under joint sponsorship of USDA and Cotton Council International. Both include cotton shipper and producer representatives in addition to CCI and USDA personnel. Leaders of the trade missions will be Kenneth Frick, Administrator of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, to the Far East, and Frank McKnight, Associate General Sales Manager of USDA's Export Marketing Service, to Europe.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

Q. When my landlord notified me that he was going to raise my rent, I asked the Internal Revenue Service for an interpretation as to whether the increase was justified and the IRS said it was. Can I appeal this decision?

A. Yes, Within 10 days of the interpretation that his rent increase is justified, a tenant may appeal to his IRS district office and may also request a conference to discuss the case, in any case in which an appeal has been denied in whole or in part by the IRS district conference, the tenant will be notified that he may appeal to the Price Commission.

Q. Are prescription druggists subject to posting requirements for retailers?

A. Yes. The dispensing of prescription drugs is considered a retail activity and, therefore, it is covered by Price Commission regulations requiring that base prices be posted. The fact that a professional pharmacist is employed to dispense drugs is incidental to the sale of those drugs and does not alter the retail nature of the transaction, IRS Publication S-3010, Posting Requirements for Prescription Druggists, provides detailed information on how pharmacists should comply with the posting regulations. Send a postcard to your IRS district office for a free copy.

Q. Will the Internal Revenue Service issue interpretations or rulings with respect to prices to be charged after April 30, 1973?

A. No. The Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, as amended, expires on April 30, 1973, with respect to transactions after that date. Generally, the Internal Revenue Service will not issue rulings with respect to transactions that will occur after that date.

Q. Recently, the legislature in my state increased the per diem amount it pays to citizens who sit on juries. Is this increase permissible under Price Commission regulations?

A. Yes. Because payments to jurors are economic transactions which are not prices, rents, wages or salaries, they are not within the coverage of the stabilization program.

Q. Do I have to wait for approval from the Pay Board to start paying a deferred increase due next month under a pay agreement in effect prior to Nov. 14, 1971?

A. No. Existing contracts and pay practices previously set forth can operate according to their terms except that specific contracts or pay practices are subject to review when challenged by a party at interest or by two of the seven members of the Pay Board.

Q. Do special procedural rules apply to providers of health services who request an exception?

Q. My employer furnishes me with a car for my personal use. Does that count toward the 5.5 percent standard set by the Pay Board?

A. Yes. Such job perquisites awarded to the employees in an appropriate employee unit during any wage year are subject to the 5.5 percent general wage and salary standard.

Q. I thought meat cuts were subject to price controls, but if this is so, why are meat prices rising?

A. Meat cuts are subject to price controls. Live cattle, calves, hogs, sheep and lambs, however, are exempt from controls. If prices rise on these exempt items, retailers are permitted to reflect this increase in their costs by passing on the increase in the form of higher prices for controlled items to the consumer.

Q. I'm not sure whether my business should be classified as a health service or an ordinary service under Price Commission regulations. What should I do?

A. In any case where there is any doubt as to whether a health service is institutional or noninstitutional, the person concerned may apply to the district office of the Internal Revenue Service in which the service in question is located for a determination.
