ENORMOUS DEMAND FOR BUILD-ING MATERIAL.

West Have Exhausted Supply. Tide Setting Westward.

The sawing, hauling and shipping of lumber from Crockett has grown to be a big business. There must be from twenty-five to fifty wagons loaded with lumber coming in daily from small country mills for shipment from Crockett. Nearly or quite all of this goes to west Texas points where it is sold. Such crops as that of the present year in West Texas are phenomenal and have given a stimulus and a forward impulse to building and improving that has no parallell in those sections. The demand for lumber all through the Panhandle and Western Texas is so great that is difficult to get it at any price and in sufficient quantities for building purposes. Only a few days ago, according to Ft. Worth newspapers, a canvass of the lumber yards at Amarilla, Texas developed the fact that all of them together could not furnish enough material to build common farm-house cottage. It is the enormous crops all through Kansas, the Panhandle of Texas Western Texas phenomecaused the nal advances in lumber and the phenomenal demands for same. At no time in the past has the demand for building material, such as the present one, ever been known in those sections of the country. And it all argues that a steady stream of immigration of large volume is pouring into that section of Texas, buying land and improving same.

Not again, may be, in half century will the seasons be so propitious for a great crop as the present one has been, and many a homeseeker, now winding his way westward in quest, as he thinks, of that beautiful and bountiful country where land is rich and to hear of Mr. Tom Barnhill and cheap, crops overflowing and without measure, will return to East wish them a long and merry life. Texas, with not one half of the assets he takes with him now. It is almost a daily spectacle to see covered wagons, headed westward drawn by a span of good mules, full of furniture, and commissaries, rosy-cheeked children without number occupying the more prominent points of observation, a yellow dog or two trailing under the wagon and occasionally a boy or two riding superfluous stock in the rear. We are sorry to see this westward movement. They go now full of happy visions and bright dreams of the El Dorado land in the West somewhere, luring them on and on and ever on and never within their grasp or realized. A year hence these same people with perhaps some Lee Barlow is ill. Hope he will few of the accompaniments now be well soon. with them will return; those bright, happy visions which led minstrel at Center Hill Saturday them on to the West this year night. will have been exploded and nothing but the baseless fabric of a at Mt. the far west. And so it will be. Better investigate this Western proposition thoroughly before pulling up and turning that way. Bear in mind the drawbacks of this section. Not again in fifty years perhaps will there be such a Big Crops and Heavy Immigration favorable year for corps. Think of having to pay the lumber yard out there $25 to $30 per thousand for lumber to build a shelter for the family, think of the blizzards in winter and the blistering winds and sand storms in summer. In April, May and June the crop may be ever so promising and then in the next month there will come along a hot wind, a sirocco as fatal as that of Africa. And what was promise and plenty and gave hope and inspiration of a bountiful harvest, in 24 hours becomes a field of dead sea fruit. Don't follow this mirage of a home in the west. It all looks mighty pleasing and attractive at this distance and at this time. But wait. Let there come, as surely it will come, a time when seasons shall fail out there, when every green thing shall wither, when every waterhole goes dry, then these homeseekers who are now following this will-o-wisp of a new empire in West Texas will long for their old homes in East Texas and sorrow over ever having left it. Better stay where there is plenty of timber, plenty of lumber, plenty of water, where fruits of orchard, of field and forest abound and where such a thing as an al around failure is never heard of. It is "Westward-Ho" now with

GENUINE CUBAN ARTICLE GROWN IN HOUSTON COUNTY.

The Expert Opinion of New York Leaf Dealers-Nothing Better in America or So Good.

About a month since Mr. M. Bromberg, Jr., secretary of the Houston County Tobacco Growers' Association received a letter from Geo. M. Wood & Co., of New York, asking for samples of the fully fermented tobacco grown in Houston county. Mr. Bromberg not having any of such grade or degree of finish replied to Wood & Co. and suggested that the entire crop of tobacco grown in Houston county last year was grown by the United States government, under government auspices and directions and was in possession of the government. Mr. Bromberg suggested to Wood & Co. that if they would write the Department of Agriculture, Washington, Chief of Plant Industry, Wood & Co. two or three carats City of Mexico during the month have, of course, kept as closely in be "Eastward-Ho" from every tobacco, of the Abajo Vuelta (Cu- you need a light wrap or overcoat respondence with Mr. Morrison wagon will well forth the warming ban) variety grown in Houston every evening. county in 1904. LABOR DAY PARADE IN NEW

DAMP NO HINDRANCE TO THEM.

Central Federated Union Had to Issue n Order to Keep the Waitresses From Tramping in the Rain.

New York, Sept. 5 .- Fifteen thousand workers marched under streaming umbrellas in New York's Labor Day parade yesterday.

Although the rain poured with tropical precipitation, only strict orders from the union leaders prevented an even larger number from wading the deep puddles which collected on the asphalt on upper Fifth avenue. The members of the Waitresses' Union, who had prepared to march attired in white dresses and shoes and carrying parasols, were so determined to march in the parade that it required a decree of the Central Federated Union declaring that it was not becoming for women to tramp in sloppy streets, to deter them.

Fine Day in Chicago. Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5 .- Ideal weather conditions prevailed here for the observance of Labor Day. The labor party, numbering several thousand marchers, was the chief attraction. Notwithstanding a ruling by the Federation of Musicians requiring a similarity of uniforms for bands, President Kennedy of the Federation said ployed bands from the parade would not be enforced. The entire side of a precipice on a mountain called Cerro Dolores, about two hundred feet square, suddenly took an upward movement, and great masses of rock weighing many tons each, broken loose by the upheaval, fell into the valley with a thunderous noise. For fifteen days the movement was plainly discernible. It was accompanted with great rumbling, subterranean noises, and for two menths slight local earthquakes were of daily occurrence. People who have arrived recently from there declars that the precipice continues perceptibly to rise and portions of the rock to crumble and fall. Of late the stones have been hot and a volcano is believed to be in process of formation.

PEARY'S LATE START B. F. BROWN, M. D.,

DELAY MAY SERIOUSLY INTER-FERE WITH HIS PLANS.

Unable Now to Reach Open Water Before End of Summer and This is Expected to Result in a Whole Year of Inaction-His Hard Luck.

P. T. McGrath of St. John's, N. F.,

who is an authority on northern voyages, writes to The Daily News as follows: "The delay in dispatching Peary's steamer Roosevelt threatens to interfere seriously with his plans for getting to the far north this summer. His original intention was to have her leave New York on July 4 and get away from the Newfoundland coast about a week later, declaring himself in several interviews that any detention after July 10 would seriously handicap him in his endeavor to attain an extreme northing before the polar channels freeze up again, so that he might, if possible, get into the open polar sea and establish himself there before the brief summer months end. However, he only left Sydney, N. S., on July 27, where he had been coaling. He is, therefore, about three weeks latest, and, although his ship is much faster than previous exploring boats, it must be evident that he has no time to spare if he is to reach any far-away point within the frozen zone this year. His hope was that he could get as far up as the Polaris and Thetis went in 1871 and 1882, which ships got season, being favored by a brief spell great advantage to him, as he would have his advanced base within about 500 miles of the pole itself or 300 miles nearer than he could otherwise reach." He would, therefore, be able to make his dash across the paleocrystic ice to the pole next spring and have a second year in which to repeat the effort if he failed the first time. "But if he is unable to reach a very northerly point now he may be doomed to a whole year of inaction and perhaps to the frustration of his best hopes. He had hard luck this spring in that he lacked the money to equip his vessel after he had her built and the time lost in this way it is dimcuit for him to make up now. The explorer who would secure the best opportunities for advance through its ice-cumbered waters should be on the Greenland coast about the middle of July. In the case of the relief of the Greely expedition they were there early in June, and the whole expedition, with the few survivors of Greely's ill-fated party were back in St. John's

"Consequently, Peary has grievous disadvantages to contend with, and, in spite of obstacles which he will sion that "a few babies" may remain surmount or because of exceptionally favorable ice conditions in the north. whereas he should be in a position to avail of normal circumstances and gain his northing by utilizing them. None the less, with his own experience, his splendid ship and his capable erew of hardy Newfoundlanders. nothing will be left undone to carry the stars and stripes beyond the flags of all countries, if not, indeed, to the pole itself."

SIXTH SENSE IN BIRDS.

Experiments with Carrier Pigeons Prove Its Possession.

Although birds are not placed near the summit line of evolution, their ability to fly gives them advantages over nearly all the mammalia. Their mysterious power of changing their polarity or weight, in order to dive in water or fly, has been often discussed, and the almost incredible velocity of their motion when migrating. sometimes amounting to four miles a minute for vast distances, has no parallel among other animals.

A series of careful trials with carrier pigeons shows apparently without doubt their possession of a highly developed sense of direction. In twenty minutes the first bird, dispatched at 10 p. m., reached its roost, a distance of seventeen miles being traversed. Half of the number arrived before midnight and the remainder followed in a few hours.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

ASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First-The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third-It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information. - Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Charles H. Fletcher. Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria-often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory." Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place." 900 Drops

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found" it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent." Dr. Wm. L. Bosserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get

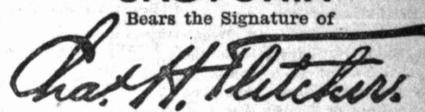

Dr. Wm. I. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castorian has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the modical profession, but I, for one, most heartly endorse it and believe it an excellent remety."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnexious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative, I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartlest recommendation of Castoria."

SIMPLE RULES OF HEALTH

Prevention of Disease, Rather Than Cure, Should Be the Aim

Flies as Carriers of Disease. In an address before the California Health Association, Dr. Cobb called the attention of the medical profession to the necessity of an active crusade against the common house fly.

This pestiferous insect has many chances to communicate disease from one person to another. In cholera epidemics it has been shown that flies are the means of spreading the disease by infecting the food.

Whenever large bodies of men go into camp, typhoid fever is almost certain to break out, even though the water supply is carefully protected from contamination. Such outbreaks are due to fly-infection of the food supply. Scattered cases of typhoid fever in country settlements are more often the result of fly infection than of water infection.

Dr. Cobb believes that tuberculosis s communicated not only through the lungs by means of contaminated dust, out that the greater source of infection is by means of the fly planting sputum on the food from its feet, wings, and excretions. This infection by flies has been proved very clearly. When the habits of the fly are considered, it is not unreasonable to beleve that this insect is an important actor in the spread of disease. They warm upon decaying vegetable mater, manure piles, the filth of the streets, privy vaults, and every possible source of infection. Follow them then to the street venders of fruit and candy, the bakery, butchershop and restaurant, and even to the family table, especially of the poor, and it is not difficult to understand the ease with which germs of all kinds are conveyed to the food.

It may be affirmed, however that in the process of cooking, the bacteria will be killed. This is granted, but it is not here that the danger lies. It is from food which is eaten raw, or which has been cooked and upon which the fly afterward alights that the greatest danger of infection occurs. The longer this food remains uneaten after this contamination, the greater the probability that a colony has grown, thereby increasing the dosage of infection.

It is in the homes of the poor that the greatest danger arises. The poor nearly universally leave their tables set with cold food left from the previous meal. Upon this food flies assemble in great numbers, and from time to time the children help themselves, the remainder of the food being served at the next meal. It is therefore necessary to combine for the extermination of this pest. Housewives especially should be careful to prevent this source of dangerous infec-

High Life.

Sanitorium life, camps in the Adiunuacho and alcombana tont anioning roof dwellings, and various other methods of taking the open-air treatment, have been frequently described The latest novelty in this line is an experiment made by a correspondent of 'Everybody's."

"For some time," he says, "I lived high and dry in the top of a sturdy white oak, where I did my cooking, eating and sleeping, and occasionally entertained as many as fourteen in my tent or house at dinner, seventy feet above terra firma, with only a rope ladder connecting me and Mother Earth. My sleeping bunk was a specially constructed triangular bed, canvas covered, which towered fifteen feet above my living apartments and platform."

The Need for Recreation.

Rest restores again the energy which has ben consumed in work. So ong as one is able to restore his lost energy by sleep and rest, he cannot become neurasthenic. But when a man comes to the point where he can no longer restore by rest or sleep the loss of energy which has occurred, he necessarily becomes neurasthenic, because his nerve cells remain chronically in that exhausted condition.

This is the reason a vacation sometimes does so much for one, completely replenishing the exhausted store of energy and saving one from a complete breakdown. A good many men look forward for months to their annual vacation of three weeks in the summer, as their salvation. For five or six months afterward they enjoy very good health. Then their store of energy is exhausted, and the next six months are simply misery waiting for the breathing spell to come again. When the business man finds at the end of his three weeks' vacation that he has not yet recovered his natural energy, and he has to go back to his work in almost the same condition in which he left it, he has chronic neurasthenia, and is going to have a tremendous, perhaps an ir-reparable, breakdown, if he keeps on in that way. When a man discovers that he has reached that point he ought to stop at once.

Hay-Making for Fun at Eighty. A press dispatch from Bridgeport Conn., gives an interesting account of the oldest twins in the country, Julius and Junius Benham, who recently celebrated their eightieth birthday haymaking on their farm in Seymour.

"Hay-making is great fun," said Junius, "and I feel as if I could mow away hay up in the peak of the peak of the barn as I used to in days long ago, and mowin' away hay is about the hottest work there is to be found in summer.

The Benham twins are remarkable men. They are far from being invalids, though they have arrived at the age when most persons are usually feeble. Beginning life as apprentices to a mason, they worked up and later became builders and contractors.

Some years ago the Benhams gave up building and settled down to the care of the real estate they had acquired in their long residence in Bridgeport.

"We always got up early in the morning," said Junius, when spoken to about the hour of rising, "and we can't get out of the habit."

The twins are in excellent health. "People ought to be cheerful if they want to live to be old," said Julius. "Look at brother Junius and me. No boys of the present day ever had as hard a time to get along as we did when we started, but we had what a good many boys of to-day do not have. Our mother gave to us iron constitutions, the greatest present a mother can give to her boys, and we had been taught to live according to the simple and clean rules of the country. We lived clean lives always. We never drank liquor nor used tobacco. Money spent for such things is worse than money thrown away, but many of the boys to-day seem to think they can't be men unless they drink liquor and use tobacco. Why, we would never have lived to celebrate our eightieth birthday if it had not been that we lived right lives. You can enjoy yourself without going contrary to Nature's laws. There is plenty of harmless fun in the world, but it seems to me that people are looking for the fun nowadays that hurts rather than

Starvation as a means of cure is by no means a new idea. It is very old. Most good things are old, and things altogether new are seldom good. Very few cuginal discoveries are made now-

Long fasting is one of the most effective means of securing thorough going constitutional reconstruction. It compels the body to feed upon itself. In the rebuilding, defects may be left out, and healthy conditions may be re-established.

But this result may be secured by other and generally safer means. It is not so much the withholding of food, but of certain elements of food, which secures the benefits of fasting. It is the proteids, from which the system in diseased condition manufactures the poisons, which give rise to rheumatism, biliousness, neurasthenia and gout. When proteids are withheld, the formation of poisons soon ceases of necessity, and thus the disturbed functions return to their normal state and the health is restored.

By a diet of fruit this condition may be secured as readily as, perhaps more readily than, by any other means. The fruit diet is really proteid starvation, as fruits contain practically no pro-teids. Certainly a fruit diet is far more agreeable than total abstinence from food. Fruits contain predigested food elements which do not clog the system, and which are valuable in sustaining the strength. Fasting is a good thing in certain cases; but long fasts are rarely needed, and a fruit dict is preferable in all essential particulars, except in certain cases in which fruit acids are irritating, as in gastric ulcer.

A Window Tent.

A medical journal describes a window tent devised for the open air treatment of tuberculosis. It consists of a frame to fit the lower half of the window, to which is attached inside the window an awning of water-proof duck, stretched in a quarter-circle. The bed is placed parallel with the window, so that the invalid's head and shoulders are within the awning, entrance being made through a flap in the side of the tent. The lower edges of the duck at the head and side of the bed are long enough to tuck under the mattress, and thus air from the room is thoroughly excluded. The frame of the tent does not quite fill the lower half of the window; for the escape of warm air from the room there is left a space of three inches. which can be reduced at will. For protection from sterms the roof of the tent projects slightly beyond the window, and a roller blind is placed inside

FEVER'S AFTER EFFECTS

Did Not Disappear Until the Blood Was Renewed by Dr. Williams'

Typhoid fever is sometimes called ner yous fever. During the course of the fever the nerves are always profoundly disturbed; and when it is over they are left so sensitive that the patient has to be guarded against all excitement. In the tonic treatment then demanded, regard must be paid not only to building up flesh but also to strengthening the nerves. A remedy that will do both, make sound flesh to repair waste and give new vigor flesh to repair waste and give new vigor to feeble nerves, is the most convenient and economical. Such a remedy is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

One proof of this is the experience of Mr. Charles Worth, of East Vassalboro, Maine. He says: "I had a severe attack of typhoid fever late in the fall which left me very weak and debilitated. My heart palpitated, my breathing beame difficult after the least exertion and there was numbness in both hands. I there was numbness in both hands. I suffered in that way for fully six months As I did not grow out of it, did not in fact see the slightest improvement as time passed, I decided to use Dr. Wil-liams Pink Pills as I knew of some cures they had effected in cases like mine.

"Almost as soon as I began taking them I could see decided improvement and after keeping on with them for several weeks I was completely well. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a most valuable remedy, and Fam in the habit of recommending them to others afflicted

"He's a good mixer," or "He isn't a good mixer," are expressions you often hear. A "good mixer" is supposed to be a man who can associate with people and make business. A poor mixer is one who makes friends slowly, who minds his own business and is not much of a rounder. A man who gives his business close attention is the best "mixer." When people are in need of a certain article they buy where they can get the best and cheapest - where conditions suit them. When people are buying articles they dealer is a "good fellow" or not. Elephants Had Fine Feed.

Five elephants created an extraordinary scene at the goods station of Batignoiles the other day. They are being kept at the station while quarters are being got ready for them, but managed to break loose from their stables. At this time of year the station dispatches enormous consignments of fruit, which the elephants scenting at once began to devour. Cherries, peaches, apricots and strawberries disappeared by the hamperful at a prodigious rate. Some porters sought to stop the dessert, but the elephants, using their trunks like cudgels, simply flogged them away and went on eating until they were literally gorged with fruit. Then they went back to their stables of their own accord. London Globe.

A Graceful Carriage.

A graceful carriage is as necessary to good health as to good looks. Certains exercises will do much for the woman who hasn't always cultivated the habit of standing and walking correctly, says the Brooklyn Times. A great aid in the development of a good position is to raise the crown of the head as high as possible and then try to make the chest meet the chin. This will make a graceful car riage, smaller stomach, a fuller ches and more lung power. To read either above the head as far as po sible or to the floor without bending the knees will decrease the size of the waist and round it; also fill in the hollow in front of the arms.

INCHESTER

BRACELET EMBLEM OF POWER.

Afterward It Was a Reward of Bravery Shown in Battle.

In the most ancient period of history, the bracelet was an ensign of royalty. In later times it has been used in the East as a badge of power.

The bracelet of Rebecca (mentioned in Genesis) weighed 10 shekels, or about five ounces.

Among the ancient Romans the men as well as the women wore bracelets, but the latter never wore them till they were betrothed.

Bracelets were at first properly military ornaments, or rewards, frequently conferred among the ancients, by generals and princes, on those who behaved gallantly in fight. They became afterward arbitrary decorations, assumed at pleasure.

"The emblems," says Fosbroke, "of supreme authority among the British kings were golden bands worn round the neck, arms and knees. Ornamented bracelets of brass have been found round the arms of skeletons in British barrows."

The northern people used to swear on their bracelets to render contracts more inviolable.-Exchange.

Grow Up With the Children.

A busy woman once said that she never knew how much she could accomplish until she became the companion of her young sons, sharing their sports and limiting her own working hours to theirs. To-day they are young men and she looks like There are other young mothers of grown men, and they are rather formidable rivals to younger women. The sons unconsciously make comparisons, generally in favor of mother. It is beautiful to "grow up" in this fashion with one's children, to keep pace with them in new studies and new thoughts, something like a sec-If you have symptoms you don't ond youth. TEXAS NEEDS CAPITAL AND

THE PEOPLE NEED REST. What Texas needs, urgently and imperitively, is capital, factories, railroads, immigrants with money, people of means who want to buy and build. And what the broadminded people of the state want to see is such an administration of public affairs as will attract and draw to our state all these agencies and aids of a progressive civilization. We have been assured time after time that the statutes of the state are ample to protect the people from the exactions and extortions of capital. Only a day or so ago we saw the opinion of an ex-attorney general, now a candidate for governor, that there was not a trust operating in the state; that they had been driven or run out; that the laws against such corporate combinations were sufficient to control them. Such being the case, then why all this charging at imaginary foes by the candidates for governor? There are no trusts in the state as admitted; the laws to control them are sufficient as admitted; then what is there threatening the commonwealth with such dire disaster as to call for all this war on railroads and railroad building! They are bound hand and foot and can't turn a wheel except by persmiles beautiously and gloriously Prosperity sits enthroned despite the ravages of storm and flood, war. EDUCATION A FAILURE

The Saratoga happening wherein the negro, Booker Washington, ate dinner with John Wanamaker and family but confirms another prediction which the COURTER has been holding to and foretelling all these years. And that was this: that the education of that race instead of solving the race problem and the difficulties growing therefrom, has multiplied and intensified the difficulties of the same. If you want to fill a negro's head with dangerous ideas of his own importance, if you want him to think and feel that all lines of race distinction are erased and that he is as good as any other human being, socially and otherwise, the way to do it is to educate him. We have hearkened for the last third of a century to advocates of education as the logical and proper solvent for all the troubles growing out of this race issue. We have shining examples of the consequences to follow the policy of education. We see the effect such a policy has had on negro leaders and if that be the effect of it on the more intelligent, what may we expect from the great mass? As the day on which the emancipation of the negros fades into the dim distance and the interval of time from that date widens with the years, more and more difficult and more and more complicated will grow the questions evolved by and from the race problem and instead of being simplified will be as we have said time and again multipled by the advantages of education. There is no fool like an educated fool. The gloss and glamour of a college or even a public school course overbalances in the eyes of mission of the Commission. Peace of the day. pall of a dark shadow athwart a town's path than all influences combined. People thus engaged could aid materially in changing the conditions they complain of if they would spend all energy thus wasted in disparagement in an honest effort to improve things. If the time expended in "knocking" were devoted to words inspiring hope and confidence in the town's future; if the remarks of detraction they make about those who are trying to do something were uttered as words of good cheer and encouragement things might move along more smoothly, more harmoniously and as a consequence more successfully. Nothing gives a man so good an opinon of his fellowman, of his neighbor, of his townsman as steady, straightforward, honest work; the perspiration that comes of honest toil does more to clear the mind, to purify the heart and to sweeten the soured nature of a growler and a kicker than anything else. A hard day's work and then another hard day's work and several more of them and then a steady job will give the "knocker" a better opinion of his fellowman and his town and they of him than any other influence, be it physical, psychological or what not.
